Review: Istanbul to Ankara. Very capable, smiling, helpful, diligent cabin crew. Seat pitch was very good, although seating was not very comfy. I was alone on a three-seat row. Although take-off was a bit delayed, the flight landed on-time. Pre-bought sandwich was pretty good, prices for drinks are reasonable, thumbs up for alcohol on a domestic short-haul and all these on a low-cost experience. Quite unexpected and pleasant surprise for anyone who has seen European low-cost flights.

Route: Istanbul to Ankara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Citilink

Title: "indicate free baggage allowance"

Review: On their website they indicate free baggage allowance for international flights up to 20kg. The airline staff at the airport would not accept this and instead charged me 420 Malaysian ringgit (~£84) for the 15kg baggage, which was more than my actual flight ticket. I tried to dispute but they weren't helpful at all. Then in-between going to a cash point (because yes they don't accept card) to get the money and pay for it, they increased the fee by another 15 ringgit. They claimed the fee/kg increased when I left.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "hand disinfection not provided"

Review: At Condor, there are no security measures regarding Corona Virus. Flights are fully occupied. Masks or hand disinfection are not provided, before boarding, when boarding, or on the plane. The toilets were not cleaned or disinfected during the flight. Zero entertainment program. Uncomfortable and hard seats. All in all not recommended.

Route: Santorini to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "refunded all travel and receipts"

Review: We were part of the mess at the end of December 2022. Got the notice while we were on a cruise. I immediately booked a car one way realising flights were not an option that time of year, and would be super expensive. I feel extremely sorry for stories I've heard. I feel really bad for the employees of Southwest. Someone needs to get their act together for sure. We were refunded all travel and receipts sent in within 2 weeks. We are good. I hold no grudges.

Route: Ft. Lauderdale to Kansas city

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "This was so far the worst experience"

Review: This was so far the worst experience my husband and I had with an airline! We were on our honeymoon and customer service ruined the whole trip vibes. Due to their overbooking nonsense law, we were informed on the spot while checking in that one of us might not get a seat on the plane. I was put on the waiting list. We called customer service and all what they said was: "we cannot do anything for you". Imagine being on your honeymoon and just not get a seat on the plane. It was a 2 hours flight during lunch time and no food was served.

Route: Naples to Santorini

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "airline is not reliable"

Review: The airline is not reliable. They cancelled our flights and offered a flight one day later with arrival time late afternoon. We had to be in Edinburgh at lunch time and therefore had to book a flight one day earlier. We had to stay one more night and they were not willing to pay for the extra hotel costs (Motel One which is not an expensive hotel at all). Whenever I can fly another airline I will avoid KLM!

Route: Bremen to Edinburgh via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "25 hr journey took 45h"

Review: It was the worst trip I made overseas! Booked ticket on Qatar website and on return the luggage from DEL didn't arrive at Doha. The rude staff did not allow me to board flight to DFW! After debating with them that the booking was done by Qatar Airways and any connecting flight was their responsibility, I was finally made to stay overnight. Next day reached DFW and again the flight to my destination was cancelled! They flew me to an airport 2.5 hr away and husband had to drive 5 hr to pick me up. No amount of phone support would help. Very rude staff at Doha making you feel as if it was my fault the luggage didn't arrive. They need better logistics with partner airlines. I trusted Middle East airlines over American but its a mistake. Time tested Delta and American are still dependable. A 25 hr journey took 45h.

Route: Dallas to Delhi via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "few staff are smiling"

Review: Flydubai used to be always the best option for me and my wife among the budget airlines. Where we use to get a convenient and quick service but now felt like it has been downgraded. As a budget airlines we dont expect to get a premium service but always expecting to get at least a friendly and a professional behavior from staff but now that's also has been dropped massively. Only few staff are smiling and willing to help, and thanks for those staff who are willing to help and support.

Route: Dubai to Kathmandu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "I will avoid this airline in the future"

Review: The airline is fine if there is not a problem, if you dont mind many needless indignities and discomforts, but its a terrible airline if anything goes wrong. Just experienced a two hour delay due to a late arriving aircraft and there was no communication from the airline, nothing on the airport screens, and no information available through the app or flight tracking sites. Even the delayed incoming flight could not be found. When arriving at Orly, the buses us into a non-Schengen gate, where we all had to go through passport control despite this being a Schengen area flight. Bags also took a long time to be delivered. The crew is nice, but the seats are cramped and the cabin was filthy. The fare we paid was the same as Air France on the same route, even though its sold on the same website, belies the complete lack of services. I will avoid this airline in the future.

Route: Athens to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Germanwings

Title: "never been treated as badly"

Review: I have been a frequent traveler for 15 years and have flown every distance and cabin from first class to budget. Yet I have never been treated as badly as on today's Germanwings flight from Düsseldorf to Vienna. The purser was outright cruel.

Route: DUS to VIE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "really disappointed with the overall experience"

Review: Brisbane to London Heathrow via Hong Kong with Cathay Pacific Airways. Considering the premium seats cost almost 4 times the economy seats, I was really disappointed with the overall experience. Meal was exactly the same as what you receive in economy, as is the amenity kit. When compared to PE in Qantas or BA, this lacks a lot (you get meals and drink service more in line with business class on those carriers). The only advantage if you are a OneWorld Emerald or Sapphire is getting access to the Pier Lounge at Hong Kong Airport, otherwise if you don't have status and are looking for an upgrade other than just some extra leg room then I wouldn't recommend this. WIFI also didn't work on all 4 return legs of my flight, despite there being a WIFI symbol on the walls. You would be better off spending your money on China Southern Airlines business class seat for a similar cost (and get a lie flat seat) or paying for economy on one leg & business on the other (with any airline). TIP: Also avoid the front row aisle seats in premium - I don't really have long legs (5ft6") and yet the air hostesses still knocked my feet every time they came through the door from business, waking me up at least 4 times despite my legs not sticking out on the aisle.

Route: Brisbane to London Heathrow via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "Highly recommend this airline"

Review: Pleasantly surprised. Staff were fantastic. Very accommodating. Food was ok. Comfortable seat, entertainment much better than Qantas. This was such a better experience than flying with Qantas. Highly recommend this airline

Route: Sydney to Hong Kong via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "so compassionate and helpful"

Review: I flew out from Denver International to Fort Myers, Florida with my 2 young great grand kids. For verification I asked an off duty Flight Attendant what gate we were to fly out of. She looked at my ticket and told me C25 and pointed. We made our way over with me hobbling in horrible pain as it was hard to walk. As it got closer to the time to board I didn't notice any signs of Ft. Myers, Florida so I went to the desk and asked the gentleman what was going on. He looked at my ticket and said I misread it and that my gate was C64 - the opposite end of the airport. We took off at a dead run and ran the whole way even through 3 conveyor walk ways while he radioed ahead that "there's a woman and two children running your way." All I could think about was making this flight. As I got closer I heard 3 times, "Flight 1383 to Fort Myers is fully boarded and if you want to make this flight then you need to come now or the door would be permanently locked." I was frantic. When we got there the gal taking the ticket asked me how I felt and that I was blue around my mouth and she needed me to get stabilized with oxygen before she would let me on the plane. I received oxygen for about 10 - 15 minutes then boarded. Two flight attendants not only held the plane for me but saved me 3 seats together in the back of the plane. I've only flown Southwest except for one time with Frontier. I will always fly Southwest. I love Southwest and their cancellation policy, baggage perks and loyalty points with my membership. Thank you to the flight attendants for helping me in this pinch. You were so compassionate and helpful, above and beyond the call of duty. You are assets to Southwest. Thank you to the Pilot and other crew members. I hope I didn't cause anyone to miss a connecting flight as we were delayed.

Route: Denver to Fort Myers

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "nothing but silly issues"

Review: Right from the get go, nothing but silly issues with this joke of an airline. From rude check in staff to unrealistic baggage size requirements to delayed flights this airline is not worth the reduced ticket prices. We tried to take a personal item on board which is actually designed to fit under an aircraft seat and have flown with it multiple times with many other airlines. They made us check it because it had wheels and a handle, which cost us an extra $100. On the way back they required my duffel bag carry on to be checked due to "size restrictions" even though I had just flown with lynx and used the same bag as a carry on with lynx on the flight in. Pretty sure this is a scam. I've never seen an airline perform this badly.

Route: Halifax to Edmonton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "no response to the reimbursement request"

Review: Not Verified

Route: Amsterdam to Christchurch via Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: Arriving at Orlando airport there was nothing less than disorganized chaos by the check in. Staff were extremely slow for simple bag check-ins as well as unfriendly and unprofessional. Flight was delayed 4 hours because the crew needed time off. Does US Airways only have one crew available? The flight finally got off the ground 4 hours and 45 minutes later than scheduled. Because I was just taking a day trip to Philadelphia to drop off someone who had a 10 hour layover it ended up being a waste of money for me. For my return flight from Philadelphia they announced that there would be a 10 minute delay because - you guessed it - they were short on personnel. The 10 minutes turned into over an hour before they could get a first officer and 2 flight attendants. The service on board on both flights was poor. The attendants were cold and impersonal. The gate personnel at Orlando were the absolute unfriendliest I have seen in over 45 years of flying. US Airways used to be a good airline that I enjoyed flying with, but since the fusion they are just a shadow of what they used to be and even worse than their partner American Airlines. I won't be using them anytime in the near future again.

Route: Orlando to Philadelphia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "Will not book Go-First again"

Review: Worst airline. This is the 2nd time we have experienced, that Go-First cancels the flight at last moment, leaving the passengers with no choice but to book other airline at higher price at last moment. Will not book Go-First again.

Route: Ahmedabad to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "Very nice airline"

Review: Very nice airline, seats were clean, comfortable ground service went well. Cabin crew was very nice. Flight on time. Amsterdam Airport was good. Food in flight was good. WiFi was ok.

Route: Los Angeles to Delhi via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: French Bee

Title: "prevented me to board"

Review: Paris to San Francisco. Customer service is non existant, they send you from one counter to the other hoping youll disappear! I had a reservation on a flight back to San Francisco from Paris and they prevented me to board the flight claiming I refused to pay the penalty fee. I gave the agent my CC on the phone a week prior of flying and if problem there was, they had my cell and was reachable in Paris at all time. I missed X-mas back home and now stuck in France waiting for the next flight, they are asking me close to a full fare to board a last minute flight.

Route: Paris to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "Cabin was not cleaned"

Review: Flights delay, bag destroyed, poor entertainment system quality, poor selection and availability of food on board and grumpy crew. Cabin was not cleaned after each service. The cabin was completely dark even when it was a morning flight. Horrible English PAs.

Route: Vienna to Seoul via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "this flight was still ok"

Review: Check in in Riga was fast friendly. Although noisy ATR is not my favourite aircraft, this flight was still ok. The legroom was decent and you have a nice view if seated by window. Two FAs were super friendly with smiles. One of them spoke Swedish too which is quite rare nowadays. The approach was a little bumpy but such things happen. Arrival on time.

Route: Riga to Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "allows no personal bag"

Review: Marrakesh to Paris. The only airline that allows no personal bag, and makes you check small baggage and then charge you 50 USD for the abuse. No leg room, knees get crushed if over 6ft (182cm) maybe not the worst 3.5 hours of my life, but top 10. I wish that they were in my home country so I could avoid purposely ever using them again, sadly they are not.

Route: Marrakesh to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "Arrogant customer service staff"

Review: Arrogant customer service staff. I was not informed by Malaysia airline that my flight was delayed from 930am to 230pm! When I realised the delay at the airport self check in counter I went to a counter and the lady raised her voice with frustration and repeated, You want info is it? I told her yes I need info on my flight. She just simply told me off that this is not info counter and asked me to head to the info counter in front. The info counter has no idea what's going on with the daily routine and pushed me to seek help from another counter C and D. When I got to the counter, they were puzzled why I am there. The whole ping pong game goes round for another 2 counters. In total I need to go 5 counters just to know my flight is confirmed delay. Really one of the worst airlines that can simply just spoil your trip instantly.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Hanoi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "Never flying them if I can avoid it"

Review: London to Dushanbe via Astana and Almaty. 2.5 hrs delay at Heathrow due to broken brakes. No TVs, chargers or AC on the very old plane. Due to the delay I missed my connection and am stuck in Almaty for 2 nights which I assumed Air Astana were paying for, but the hotel they've just put me up in have just come and asked for payment. Total shambles. Never flying with them if I can avoid it. Staff all very friendly and helpful.

Route: London to Dushanbe via Astana / Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: " the most appalling airline"

Review: Without any doubt this is the most appalling airline I have experienced. Think Jetstar and it's even worse. 3 hours sitting on a dirty run down aircraft before we could get a glass of water. That of course included sitting in the heat on the runway for an hour before leaving. I've now just experienced their check in a return flight. Only 2 people waiting and it took 30 minutes before I got to the counter. If you have any option choose that, even if it is Jetstar.

Route: Brisbane to Port Moresby

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "this new route is promising"

Review: Tanjung Karang to Yogyakarta is actually a new route. I was required to fly from Bandung to Yogyakarta, but as an aviation geek, of course I wanted to fly the longest and farthest. I found that an early flight to Tanjung Karang from Bandung is possible to be connected with Sriwijaya Air's flight to Yogyakarta. So I booked it. How was my flight?

Departure time was 15.20 LT. But when I arrived at 13.20 LT to secure my favorite seat (emergency exit, window), I was told that there would be a delay. I was expected to fly at 17.00 LT. I didn't mind, especially as beside me, there were 150+ passengers of Lion Air who were supposed to fly at 08.00 LT to Jakarta but still stranded at the airport. A 1 hour 40 minutes of delay for me was fine. Check in went smoothly. I got my favorite seat. The ground crew gave me snacks for the delay compensation. I boarded first. The flight went okay. The food was nice (a cup of water and a slice of cheese bun). Getting my baggage was another story. The conveyor belt was merged with NAM Air's flight from Jakarta. It took 35 minutes for me to grab my luggage. Overall, this new route is promising.

Route: Bandar Lampung to Yogyakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "no response to my inquiry"

Review: I was informed of a last minute significant flight change (Date and Departure) 16 days prior to the new flight date. I attempted to speak to a customer service rep as soon as I could, but the line was either busy and magically disconnected while on hold, so submitted an online inquiry to let them know the flight is not to my convenience. Not to mention that all the notifications were made in German. Of course no response to my inquiry at all and I was excited when the line finally put me through today, but this representative told me that only option that I have is to change the flight before the departure, then he hang up on me when I was asking him a question. I even listened to the recorded conversation before writing this review to make sure there was nothing wrong on my end. I am sorry for what they have to go through with the current situation with COVID-19, but it would not justify this kind of poor customer service they provided. I do hope all of their business would change for the better if they survive.

Route: Cologne to Budapest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "Worst experience ever"

Review: Prague to Copenhagen. 1 hour late, No information off why or excuses. Their English Are horrifying. You can't hear what is said in the speakers. Worst experience ever. After Landing on the runway, 3 passengers begin to take their luggage.

Route: Prague to Copenhagen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "lack of doing their jobs"

Review: I booked my flight to Orlando and back to Charleston, SC for a healthcare conference for Thursday, March 24th - Monday, March 27th. It was no problem with Delta to get to Orlando easily and smoothly but once Monday came, Silver Airways was a nightmare and continues to be. First thing, flight got delayed and delayed and delayed so we ended up with an email saying 7:12 pm flight out and then their website saying 6:11 pm the former delay prior to this. (Our flight time out of Orlando was originally 2:35 pm. Thats fine, flights get delayed I get that. No problem. So as we stood in line for over an hour, we began to realize we werent moving and still not moving much and we were going to miss our flight. The people all in front of us were angry because of the lack of service and common sense the Silver Airways staff showed. The lack of simple Im sorry that your flight is cancelled, but heres what you can do didnt exist and when it was our turn and we had just missed the flight, this is about 7:15 pm now, we walk up and speak to the agent who has no idea what to do and says that. Literally says to us I dont know what to do and what you want me to do excuse me? So after asking her what can we do? How do we re-route? She informs us in a nasty tone and attitude that they dont do that. They didnt help. They didnt do a thing and refused to help. Then when I shared that I booked with Expedia, she said thats not their fault or problem. I cannot believe this. The attitude. The lack of help. The lack of doing their jobs and no refund thus far. Weve made a few calls and Expedia stated today at 5:00 pm, I needed to call the Silver Airways phone lines which both lines no one answers on. No one. The 801 # just puts you on hold while the 954 # is disconnected. Silver Airways, you owe me my flight $448.98 and a hotel stay since I had to go find out at another airline (American Airlines) to go home and had to wait the night out the Hyatt Hotel at the airport.

Route: Orlando to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "a stress free flight"

Review: This airline was great for my return trip from Toronto to Edmonton in 2023. The flight left on time. The staff were helpful and friendly. There was no waiting on the tarmac to leave the place. I was allowed to board last cuz Im a bit claustrophobic. Inexpensive ticket price. Staff were so nice! I bought a coffee for about $3 and it was fine! Thank you Flair for a stress free flight and on time.

Route: Edmonton to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "last time I will ever fly Avianca"

Review: I was able to get a digital boarding pass online. When I was able to board, I was told I have to get a physical pass. Why would they issued me a digital boarding pass and then required a physical one. No free food, no free drink for 5 hours flight to San Salvador. Not even one drop of water. You want it, you pay for it. I cant believe for such a long flight, Avianca cant even provide water. I flew back from San José to Los Angeles on Delta. It used 757. It has a screen for every seat. The flight attendants rolled down the cart twice offering snacks and free drinks 1 hour after departure and 1 hour before landing (no alcohol which is fine) for a 5 hours 45 minutes fight. In between a flight attendance has a tray with many cups of water walking down the aisle. I dont like airline that nickel and dime me. That was the last time I will ever fly Avianca.

Route: Los Angeles to San Jose via San Salvador

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "they could not provide any hotels"

Review: Our flight was delayed from for 3 hours it then took off and diverted to a different airport 3 hours later. It stayed here for another two hours due to weather conditions (which happens) what was not acceptable however, was not providing any food. By this point my children hadn't eaten since midday and it was now 9pm. It then finally arrived at Munich at 2230 and we disembarked at 2300. Told to head to the service desk to see what was next, especially since a lot of people including us had missed their connection flight. The queue was huge and the very helpful help desk closed at 0000 before most people could get any information. A tannoy announcement came over saying they could not provide any hotels, but people could either get a hotel and then claim it back or were welcome to stay at the airport, on the floor, and check on the flights at 0600 the next day. No substantial food was offered. A twix and juice carton was provided to substitute the missed meal. We opted to go for a hotel as we had young children. Unfortunately the taxi queue was also huge! To make things worse it was outside in the snow, and well into the minus numbers. What turned this experience from awful to utterly ridiculous was that we had barely any warm clothes as our final destination was South Africa in the summer. We had to wait an hour before we could get a taxi. We were not allowed to collect our baggage which we may have been able to add a few more layers, as it had been transferred to the flight tomorrow. Or so the tannoy said. We were unable to confirm this, as previously mentioned, the help desk closed. I checked on the app and it did appear that we were on the same flight the following day. I was unable to reserve seats to ensure we were sat together as the flight was less than 24 hours away, but that was a task for tomorrow. That morning I discovered that I had in fact been kicked off that re-booking. According to the app I had now reached my final destination and so the seats were now vacant and booked by someone else. I attempted to use the app, online portal, the live chat and calling up the help line number, none of these could help and told me I had to go the the service desk in the airport. I then spent from 0945 till 1205 in a queue to speak to one of the 5 people working in the service help centre (I was number 3538 and when I got there it was at 3342) there were 12 desks for attendants to work from, but Lufthansa decided that the queue trailing the length of the airport only justified half filling those positions. Finally I was told that it was a glitch in the system and that there was nothing they could do about it but would book me in for the following day. So me and my family had to spend another day in mid winter with no warm clothing. Luckily the there was no issues with the next flight, except that our luggage was temporarily missplaced. We did manage to recover it and headed out for our holiday thinking that the worse was behind us. This was just the outward journey. The I was informed on 4pm the day before the flight home. It had been cancelled! I spent 4 hours on hold to get in touch with the ever-so-helpful Lufthansa online chat number 372 in queue! They informed me that the link flight from Frankfurt was cancelled due to bad weather condition and would not find a replacement flight.

Route: London to Cape Town via Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "very easy pleasant flight"

Review: Just returned from Orlando to London Gatwick with Norwegian. This was a last minute booking as we had an emergency back home, I was doubtful about using this airline however due to the issue back home I had little choice so we booked with them. I can honestly state that my doubts were unfounded and we had a very easy pleasant flight, everything went as it should. Food was as expected for airline food. We will definitely use this airline again without hesitation. Well done to you all at Norwegian keep up the good work.

Route: Orlando to Gatwick

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "flight left 50 min"

Review: The flight left 50 min. Early and I now have to pay for another ticket home. Absolutely absurd. Avoid this airline at all cost. As I called home to inform my status the departure time still hadn't arrived and the plane was in the air. Unbelievable. Not a trustworthy company

Route: Vancouver to Edmonton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "One of the best airlines I've flown with"

Review: Tokyo to London Heathrow. One of the best airlines I've flown with. Clean aircraft, very good food and cabin crew at your service, making sure you are comfortable and dont need anything. And I was in Eco class. I had the chance to chat with the crew during the flight, attitude free, very simple, but sharply professional. The inflight entertainment can be improved but the essentials were there. The flight was slightly delayed but the crew on the ground kept constant communication and we ended up landed early. I will definitely fly again with JAL.

Route: Tokyo to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "charge for rescheduling"

Review: Bengaluru to Mumbai. I booked AirAsia India flight for 18th Dec 2019. I wanted to reschedule it. When I called airline to ask for cancellation first they told they can not reschedule it. They are taking 2000 rs penalty charge for rescheduling. This is an unreasonable demand.

Route: Bengaluru to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "entertainment is not what it used to be"

Review: Eva Air's slogan 'Striving for Perfection' is a strong strap line yet standards have fallen since Covid. I have used Eva on the London to Bangkok route since they started flying from Gatwick in 1994. Unfortunately my first post Covid flight there are a number of issues which need to be addressed. The In-Flight entertainment is not what it used to be with limited choice and a really difficult navigation issue where one has to select ones mood before a small choice appears. Food was mediocre and the vegetarian bread roll is served cold yet standard fayre comes with a hot roll. The evening meal was excellent with fresh salmon and potatoes but my breakfast hash was disgusting.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "I would fly with them again"

Review: As someone who does not enjoy flying, Avelo Airlines was a good experience for me. I was worried about being on a cheaper flight but everything seemed similar compared to a non-discount airline. The customer service of the flight attendants was great! They were very personable, friendly, and helpful and made me feel at ease. The only downside was that there is no offer on food or drink on the plane, but it wasn't a huge deal for a short flight. The only other negative comment was that the plane was overbooked, so 3 passengers had to opt out of their ticket. Overall, Avelo was a good experience and I would fly with them again!

Route: West Palm Beach to Wilmington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Algerie

Title: "will not fly Air Algerie again"

Review: I returned on the flight from Algiers to London Heathrow on the 20th December - the flight was over 3 hours late it was scheduled to take off at 10.20am, however 2 hours later no sign of taking off, no information given for the delay, no refreshments offered and worst no apologies specially since the staff where hovering around passengers like zombies. Anyway 2 hours later a call on the speakers said that all Air Algerie passengers should go to gate 16 for an immediate take off which was at the other end of the airport - everybody rushed to the gate thinking that we will be on air in few minutes. When we got there was a long queue and no sign of the aircraft the staff where sitting there like zombies and there was no explanation offered for the delay - about an hour later a very painful and very slow gate checking process started. Still no information on the delay however by that time it was too late anyway, the transfer to the aircraft was by bus and I waited to the last moment to present myself to the gate desk to avoid stuck in the queues unnecessarily. The waiting in the bus was like for ever and to make matters worst it seems the bus did the tour of Algiers to get us to the aircraft because it was at the other end of the runway. When I got in the aircraft I asked why the delay and I was told it was due to the baggage handlers strike. I asked why didn't Air Algerie offer any information, explanation, refreshments or apologies I was told that even the staff didn't know as they where told to carry on with their duties. Still nobody apologised until take off by the captain which was at around 13.30pm. I have championed Air Algerie over other carriers like British Airways but I am extremely disappointed and to add insult to injury I have paid £50.00 more than traveling with British Airways for the same journey. I can promise you that I will not fly with Air Algerie ever again.

Route: London to Algiers

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "what a joke of an airline"

Review: Terrible, terrible airline. We had this flight booked ages ago, night before we get an email advising that this flight has been cancelled and they have re-booked us on a flight the next day! No mention of hotels, compensation etc. We are on a long holiday from Australia so this would mean having to book an extra night in one hotel and losing a nights accommodation at our next one in Lisbon, not to mention losing a days travel. There was a flight earlier in the day with seats available but their system would not let us change to that so we eventually had to cancel our original tickets and I managed to book us on a flight a night earlier, mind you this is whist we are making our way to Milan from San Marino. Luckily we could cancel our hotel near Milan airport and book an extra night in Lisbon at a different hotel to the on were are staying at for a week. We were going Business class as a treat and at the boarding gate the agent who also checked us in at Milan advised us that we would not be getting meals on the flight as we booked too late for them to add meals for us, even though we booked that flight that morning. The agent could have told us this when we checked in and we would have eaten in the lounge but she forgot to tell us! Once on board the crew told us this again. We had to ask if we would be given anything from economy and she came back and told us we could have 3 items from the purchase menu (big of them!). Crew were nice but a bit stand offish when we boarded. We were lucky that one passenger in business class didn't eat so we got their meal which wasn't much but better than nothing. I now know why people in Europe rarely bother paying for Euro business class, it is a joke compared to other airlines. No inflight entertainment and you have to ask the crew for everything like they are doing you a favor! Of course we now have to chase our refund we had to submit even though TAP cancelled our flight. We asked at Lisbon airport and were told we have to submit it online ourselves as they only sell tickets at the airport and there is no one to help you anymore, what a joke of an airline.

Route: Milan to Lisbon

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "I still dont have refund"

Review: Booked flight to connect with my international flight arriving in Manila. Airasia brought forward the flight to a time which I couldnt make due to my flight arriving later than the rescheduled time. Tried many times to get refund but just get invalid claim due to flight not being cancelled by AirAsia. There is no way to get in touch with them to get refund. I still dont have refund.

Route: Manila to Tagbilaran

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "Really disappointing service"

Review: I had a terrible experience with these guys. Flight came 4 hours due to medical emergency as they said we understood but they didnt carry none of our luggage. Whole passengers arrived at destination without luggage. It took 3 days to get out luggage that too we were helped by our friends working in Abu Dhabi airport. No Air Arabia staff showed up or came for help. The only response was from call centres we called, they were asking to email Air Arabia but ended up receiving your situation is handled. Really disappointing service.

Route: Kozhikode to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "they would refund me the tax"

Review: I got covid while visiting my brother for a wedding in Arizona. When I tried to reschedule my flight they refused, stating they would refund me the tax in 2 months time. I now have to spend another $500 for a new ticket on top of the $320 total for PCR tests.

Route: Los Angeles to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: Worst airline ever and Ill never fly with them again. Our flight was canceled and they rebooked us with Jetstar however couldnt provide us with the booking reference number therefore we were unable to check with Jetstar and wasted a whole day at the Hamilton island airport. Their service staff left work at 9:45 am in the morning and contact center staff just kept telling us to ask the airport service desk which is ridiculous. Ill recommend Jetstar as even if they might cancel your flights they can put you on a Qantas flight as long as there are seats available. Leave Virgin alone until they learn how to treat their passengers correctly.

Route: Hamilton Island to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "lost all our luggage"

Review: On the way to Santorini airplane lost all our luggage - 3 bags! They found it after 4 days. On the way back they lost another bag! After 12 days they cannot find it. Lost luggage department at Florence Airport provided us with email address and phone number. All our emails are bouncing back.

Route: Santorini to Florence

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Very bad experience"

Review: Very bad experience. The flight was delayed almost 4 hours. Had to pay for all refreshments which were ridiculously expensive although their policy said the refreshments were free if the flight was delayed more than 2 hrs which was. I will avoid this airline in the future.

Route: Milan to Stansted

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "into defrauding passengers"

Review: Mikonos to Rome. This airline is into defrauding passengers. I bought my ticket with Flight Network on line. When I got to the airline counter I was told that there was a difference between my name in my passport and on my e-ticket. But there wasn't! My name on my e-ticket was as in my passport. I was told that I had to pay additional 50 Euros and sign a document that I agreed with the charge to take the flight, otherwise I would not be able to get on the airplane! I have tried to get the money be refunded to me, but wasn't able to.

Route: Mikonos to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "came late and miss the flight"

Review: Gold Coast to Melbourne. Zero customer service. Staff so rude. First they sell cheap tickets online later they charge money when u check in. Their staff will not help you they will not listen you. We get their on time to board our flight. We was unable to self check in system was not working . We ask for help their staff told us to process to counter where we had a few people ahead they made us wait more then 40 min. And then said sorry you came late and miss the flight.

Route: Gold Coast to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ultra Air

Title: "Nothing to complain about"

Review: Check in at San Andres had to be done at the airport since I had a bag to drop off, the line was very long so I waited about 40 minutes. Since there are no drinks or snacks available for sale on the plane I bought some stuff at the airport to bring along on the plane. Flight back to Bogota was quite smooth, quiet and easy. I flew back on the same plane that had brought me to San Andres. Nothing to complain about. Cheap option to San Andres and very efficient.

Route: San Andres to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "happy with the overall experience"

Review: Windhoek to Frankfurt. After having read reviews I was prepared for bad service and problems during the flight, but luckily everything was fine and I am quite happy with the overall experience. The aircraft is spacious and clean, seats are comfortable and have a pillow and a blanket for each passenger. The crew was 50% very friendly and 50% not so ("good cop, bad cop"). The food was quite good; however, it might have been better, maybe a dessert could be added. Big selection of drinks but only one type of juice (orange). On the long overnight flight, dinner and breakfast have been offered. During the flight, the crew also offered water. The entertainment system is still not working; it seems to be a persistent problem that the airline is not willing to solve.

Route: Windhoek to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "Most staff were indifferent and rude"

Review: Dreadful Business Class - Will never fly with SAA again. Previously one of top three airlines in the world SAA, Swiss Air and Singapore Airlines. Flew Perth to Johannesburg to Perth on old tired planes. The seats folded down and were lumpy like camping beds with a too short thin quilt to lie on, one small pillow and cover. Both seats did not initially work. The seat was much too short for my friend who is approx. 6 ft so he had to sit up most of the way unable to sleep. Most staff were indifferent and rude. Not one piece of fruit. This is not acceptable, we booked on Virgin and were disappointed.

Route: Melbourne to Perth via Johannesburg

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air France

Title: "still fight them for the proper compensation"

Review: My original flight had mechanical problems while in flight, so we diverted to Milan and endured hours of delay in getting to our final destination of New York-JFK. It was an awful ordeal. I submitted a delay compensation request back in January, and they finally approved it in September (more than 8 months to process!), but only for one of the two passengers in the reservation. I supplied them with all of the documentation they requested for both passengers. They have been unfriendly and unhelpful in getting to this point, and now after eight months of waiting, they are making me still fight them for the proper compensation amount. All I'm asking is that they follow the standard regulations set forth by the European Union. Nothing more, nothing less.

Route: Milan to New York via Paris CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "ground service team were so helpful"

Review: Flew Jakarta to Tokyo Haneda with my family on the 23.40pm on GA874. Garuda had arranged a pick up from my home to the airport and two ground support staff were waiting at check in to assist when we arrived. Check in was very quick and we were then assisted through immigration and into the lounge. When time came for boarding the Ground support team were on hand to help and assist us. The ground service team were so helpful all the way from following up with pick up driver, check in support, assistance through immigration and boarding the flight. The service was exceptional, therefore I would like to thank Rebecca and her team who are really dedicated to ensuring that their passengers are well looked after. As it was over night flight we all went to sleep, however prior to bedding down the cabin crew came around and took our meal section for breakfast. They started serving breakfast approx. 1.5 hours prior to landing. The selection of food was excellent and was very well presented. My young daughter woke up late, however the on board chef prepared some hot food to take away as we had a connecting flight and she could eat in the lounge. We landed in Haneda on schedule and we were met by the Haneda Garuda ground support team who helped and assisted us through immigration and check in for our onward flight. Overall it was a great trip due to the outstanding 5 Star service from the Cabin Crew and Ground support teams.

Route: Jakarta to Tokyo Haneda

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "extra $46 to take my carryon"

Review: Melbourne to Brisbane. Worst airline Ive flown with. Ive never seen an airline with a carry on weight limit and they made me pay an extra $46 to take my carryon onto the plane. I will never travel with this airline again.

Route: Melbourne to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jazeera Airways

Title: Jazeera Airways customer review

Review: Kuwait to Mashhad in April 2015, A320 aircraft. Flight on time, seat was comfortable. No personal screens onboard this aircraft. Food was good for 2hrs flight. Return flight was similar standard.

Route: Kuwait to Mashhad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "scramble for seats"

Review: CU977 from Holguín to Havana scheduled for check in at 2100, flight at 2300 on Sunday 17 April 2016. Taxi was early so we arrived to check in about 19:20. At 2100 uproar as about 120 passengers advised that the flight was delayed. About 2230 advised that plane would not be arriving but two other smaller planes would be sent. Allowed to check in then sent to sit in freezing cold departure lounge (in middle of Cuban heatwave) - aircon thermostats set at 16 deg and no amount of requests to staff would persuade them that the thermostats could be comfortably raised to about 21deg. At about 0230 on 18th April a lonely Aerocaribbean ATR 42 arrived and there was a mad undisciplined scramble for seats. The one in front of me was broken and the seat back was down onto my leg. I have a bad knee - not good. The very tired looking Stewardess was helpful and swapped our seats with a mother and short legged child, safety apparently was not a priority - the seat had obviously been broken a long time as were several others! Eventually got to Havana where we waited for luggage. Our booked taxi had long gone home! One good note, the landing in the dark at Jose Marti Havana was superb, hardly felt contact with the runway. Big thanks to pilot for safe uneventful flight in a smelly and poorly maintained cabin.

Route: HOG to HAV

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Germania Airline

Title: "comfortable, clean and punctual"

Review: Manchester to Tromso with Germania. First time my husband and I flew with this airline. Aircraft was comfortable and clean and punctual. We paid £25 each at checkin for extra legroom seats,the only passengers to do so. We would not recommend paying this though as our experience was that once onboard the aircraft extra legroom seats were freely available. We witnessed one passenger shortly after takeoff sit in an extra legroom seat across from us! The airline refused to refund us and the CEO will not deal directly with passenger complaints.

Route: MAN to TOS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "I need to buy a new ticket"

Review: I am flying from Berlin to Istanbul to Tbilisi. My flight Istanbul-Tbilisi is delayed and my initial plan was to reach to Yerevan from Tbilisi with a taxi. So I see on flights board: Istanbul-Yerevan. And I buy that ticket to take care of me. A week passes in Yerevan and when I arrive to Tbilisi they tell me they cannot you check in, because for us you did not fly to Tbilisi so you need to either pay a fine or I need to buy a new ticket. I bought a new one.

Route: Tbilisi to Berlin via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "PAL is a major let down"

Review: PAL is a major let down, what a real shame to the flag carrier. If you need to connect flights, make sure that you book a flexible or refundable ticket because PAL is never on time. Our flight from Manila to Tagbilaran was delayed by 2 hours, and the same on the return sector. We have connecting international flights which are in a different terminal, so surely well be missing them considering the traffic in Manila no matter youre only going to the terminal next door. Take a good look at your operations, when you cancel/reschedule a flight there are tons of inconveniences to us customers, ie. Car rental extensions, pick up schedule changes, time management of people that are dropping us off, hotel checkout time plus missing our connecting flights more importantly. Flying with PAL is like playing the Russian Roulette.

Route: Manila to Tagbilaran

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "the worst experience"

Review: Hanoi to Singapore. Tigerair has been the worst experience in my life. I bought two tickets for a Hanoi to Singapore flight, scheduled on July 13, 2017. Departure time was 4:20 pm. When I arrived at the airport my flight had left at 1:00. I was never notified. During my long trip through Southeast Asia, there were changes in my flights with other airlines. Fortunately, Air Asia, United and Qatar notified me and I took precautions. Tigerair never did. They only sent me an important notification about a meal change from mutton to chicken. Even though I got a signed document by their representative in Hanoi, stating that he will make sure that we took a next day flight, he did not fulfill his promise. When we arrived to the airport, he just washed his hands. I needed to reach Singapore to take a flight to LA. I had to buy two last minute flights with Malindo Air and Malaysia from Hanoi to Kuala Lumpur and then to Singapore. Ended up paying 1,000 dollars. Also, I lost two paid hotel nights in Singapore. After four weeks waiting for a reply from Tigerair they are silent, even when I have a signed document from their representative. Tigerair gives a bad name to Singapore: no ethics and no efficiency. A shame. Avoid this airline at any cost.

Route: Hanoi to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "it was an impressive trip"

Review: My flight was from Shanghai to Toronto, which needed to be transferred at Guangzhou. It was not a carefree journey at all to travel such a long distance especially during the pandemic, however, it turned out to be quite comfortable and relaxing. Guangzhou to Toronto the dinner was quite simple, which made it possible to have meals separately for the passengers. The cabin of 787 was comfortable and the crew member were so nice and careful that they treated me timely enough with warm water. All in all, it was an impressive trip.

Route: Shanghai to Toronto via Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "This is truly unbelievable!"

Review: This airline is indeed a disgrace in the airline industry. I had the worst travel experience of my life in Italy. Upon arrival in Rome, we waited for 2 hours at the baggage claim area, no one did ever inform us that this airline had a strike and no one knows where our luggage was. We had to spend another 2 hours lining up at the customer service to fill out a claim form and we were told that someone will call us when they find our luggage. Ergo, we left the airline empty handed. 3 days had passed, no calls and no one was available to pick up our calls, we decided to go back to the airport. Hundreds of pieces of luggage were everywhere, anyone could freely get any luggage as no one was monitoring it. We only found one of the luggage and the other one went missing. We reported our missing bag via email since as we don't have time to line up for another couple of hours to declare our missing bag as we were headed to our our next destination. Only to be told that they are not responsible for our missing luggage, that it is our responsibility to report it to the police. We were really shocked on how these people handle this situation - as if they are really used to this kind of situation. Their defense is ignore complaints or concerns like there's nothing wrong. The missing bag is not fault of our own! Their crew went on strike, their passengers are innocent with what's going on with their company. It's not fair that they dragged us with their misery and screw up our holiday just like that. As soon as I came back home after our vacation, I immediately called their customer service, their agents were just hanging up on me whenever they hear the purpose of my call. This is truly unbelievable! Until now, no one hasn't gotten back to us about the status of our missing luggage.

Route: Athens to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "I will never fly with them again"

Review: Never had such a poor experience time after time, worst trained agents at the desks and stations to let you into the plane. They dont care about customers nor how much they paid to buy their flights and turn on top of that they penny pinch you for every little thing. Like asking you to pay for your carry on? Then after you pay they have a separate line for those that didnt pay so you can still go in with carry on with out paying makes no sense. I waited in line like any normal customer for boarding, then as about to get in they said I needed that little piece of paper from immigration, its that they didnt have any extras there so they told me I had to leave out of the airport, and then back through security. I told them I had my computer bag stolen a there in Mexico a few days earlier so to just let me fill it out in the plane or when I land in US. They says no, I then took off running like they said, cant back drenched in sweat and they said I couldnt get in because they cut off to board was 1:47 and it was 1:53. Meanwhile people were still boarding as I could see them going up the stairs into plane. Then they sent me to a different gate to get a new ticket for the following day, they charged me an additional $100+ to get a new one. I will never fly with them again.

Route: Guadalajara to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "inflight meal has deteriorated"

Review: Hong Kong to Changsa. Check in was relatively quick. This flight was operated by Cathay Dragon A320-200. Boarding for Cathay Dragon narrow body aircraft are either at North Satellite Concourse Terminal or outside parking bay, this flight was at the North Satellite Concourse. Airport bus was used to transfer from main terminal to North Satellite Concourse Terminal. Marco Polo member can board the aircraft at a special lane for frequent flyers. Cabin crew welcome once boarded. This aircraft has been refurbished with new cabin painted with new livery. IFE is only available by mobile device or smart gadgets by downloading KA studio apps. Soon after take off, the cabin crew distribute paper bag which contains pastry and a packet of lemon tea. Hot meal was not available for economy class passengers. As the load for this flight was light, cabin crew spent most of the time at the galley soon after they collected the rubbish. I noticed Cathay Dragon in flight meal has deteriorated over the past few years. Meal portion for instance is getting smaller. Overall cabin service is satisfactory, though there are still room for improvement.

Route: Hong Kong to Changsa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "a waste of money and time"

Review: The worst airline ever. First, they rescheduled my flight which will be 3 hours later than the original time. It was acceptable. But when I did the online check-in, I realized they had downgraded my seat from premium economy to economy class. So I gave them a call. The customer service just informed me that the transit time of the rescheduled flight is too short, which is 1.3 hours. I will definitely miss the connecting flight. Why did they provide this flight for me in the first place? If I did not call, then I would have missed the flight and been stuck at their airport for a day! As a result, I have to book another flight from another airline which is twice more expensive than the usual fee since I booked it last minute. So please don't ever fly with them. It's a waste of money and time.

Route: New York to Bangkok via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "I didn't purchase the insurance"

Review: I am appalled at the lack of customer service with this airline. I purchased a flight from September 2 to September 13, and received a difficult medical diagnosis which prevents me from travel for quite some time. I realize that I am not able to get a refund and asked if I could receive a travel voucher and extend the trip to one year and be able to use it when I'm well, and they refused to give me any options. I realize I didn't purchase the insurance for the trip, which I wish I had. I even asked if my daughter could go in my place, and they didn't allow a name change with the same last name. All they offered was a refund of $55 for a flight that costs $900! This is beyond unacceptable and I have wasted time calling them long distance as well as emailing back and forth multiple times, and each time, they are offering no options.

Route: Boston to Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "My first time on Icelandair was good"

Review: My first time on Icelandair was good. Thanks to the check-in crew, all my baggage was free for check-in. The seating was okay, but the inflight entertainment was very modest, with little excitement or a variety of options. All I had was nothing but free drinks.

Route: Washington to Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Luxair

Title: "fabulous cabin staff"

Review: Luxembourg to London City. Excellent airline with fabulous cabin staff. Really impressed with the full service that you now don't get on airlines like BA. Old school service with sweets handed out before landing. I highly recommend people from London needing to get to Luxembourg to use Luxair from City Airport. Absolutely well worth it. Our flight was bang on time and the check in was also seamless with a lovely check on agent.

Route: Luxembourg to London City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "no vegetarian food"

Review: Took 4 flights recently on a return trip to Japan. Booked 10 months advanced and requested vegetarian food. First on two flights they had no record of our request. I ended up eating 3 bread rolls as they had nothing else. On the 3rd flight coming home, they somehow had remembered and provided a veggie meal (which was the same as the normal meal, but no meat. Just plain rice!). By this point I had given up hope. Low and behold, the 4th flight was no vegetarian food. How they can let this happen is beyond me, not because of me being a vegetarian, but what happens to those with nut allergies or something? Also, the aircraft's were awful. The final leg home from Beijing to London, we were ferried out into the middle of Beijing airfield, where a lone aeroplane stood, looking very dirty and unused. This plane was from around 1999, with old TV sets, practically no leg room, and uncomfortable seats. Hands down the hardest flight I've had to endure. Will pay more next time and fly with a company like Singapore.

Route: London to Tokyo via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "service was excellent"

Review: The flight was amazing. It was on time and we arrived home 10 minutes earlier. The service was excellent. Will definitely fly Rex again!

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "all business without flat beds"

Review: I flew to New York to work but didn't have the budget for a business class fare so decided to try the La Compagnie. The booking process was truly frustrating: their website would not accept my contact details and then it would not accept my payment card. I had to phone La Compagnie twice. They did answer the phone but the whole booking process took 45 minutes. Once my booking was made I was sent an email advising me to download an app for up-to-date flight info. This app did not work (more time annoyingly wasted). I tried to join their frequent flyer programme but was refused. The online check-in facility didn't work, so I phoned them again and was told that I would have to check in at the airport. My first dread was getting to Luton Airport. This was surprisingly easy. There is a fast train (20 minutes) every hour from St Pancras. The eventual destination of the train is Nottingham (I think), so my point is that people book seats. I was lucky to get a seat - next time I will book. There is less luggage storage space on the train that you would find on an airport shuttle like the Heathrow Express. Then you have to get onto a rather horrible shuttle bus to the terminal (this bus seemed a whole lot more horrible following an overnight flight on the return journey). Once at the terminal I walked to the desk and was checked in within about 30 seconds. A couple of words about Luton Airport: there are more people smoking outside the terminal than there are checking in inside. The company that operate currency exchange at Luton (ICE) offered a rate of USD 1.34 when the actual rate was 1.54 and then charged a whopping 3% commission on top! Luton Airport is currently undergoing remodelling so there were lots of hoardings, walkways and noise. I went through security on the fast track (really quick) and didn't try the business lounge. There was no sky bridge for boarding so we walked downstairs and crossed the tarmac with umbrellas. I quite liked that as it reminded me of my childhood. The plane is a Boeing 757 and looks box fresh. The blue grey colour scheme is soothing. There are 78 seats in a 2-2 configuration. The cabin crew are dressed in super-smart outfits and were welcoming without being overly solicitous. (On the return flight they remembered and greeted me - nice touch). The amenities bag is a stylish canvas job with Caudalie products and all the usual stuff. The IFE is provided by a tablet that you can remove from the back of the seat. No latest releases but every James Bond movie ever made! I imagine that you would soon tire of the selection if you flew regularly on this route. Food was good, simple and fresh. The seats - most important thing. The seats are 'angled' and not flat beds. So, although one can stretch out, getting truly comfortable enough to sleep properly is impossible for me. I propped my feet up on pillows and then bolstered my body with yet more pillows but this assumes an unlimited pillow supply to be comfortable - which would not be available if the flight were full. Why on earth did they not take the opportunity of launching a new, all business, airline with flat beds? I want La Compagnie to be successful and to keep fares low. At a price that wasn't far above BA Premium Economy this is an absolutely brilliant way to travel. However if fares start to climb La Compagnie will not be able to compete on comfort, service or convenience.

Route: LTN to EWR

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "basically an extortion scam"

Review: Bergamo to Tirana. As with other users I was the victim of what is basically an extortion scam. The website at the time I booked had no place to enter middle names. But they will not let you fly without them and then charge you 80 euros to change them. The website has been fixed, but who knows what other scam this airline is dreaming up.

Route: Bergamo to Tirana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "offers excellent service"

Review: We flew Hong Kong Airlines from Chongqing to Hong Kong on a Sunday morning. Check in was fast and friendly, my boyfriend asked for an aisle seat and we got upgraded to exit seats without having to ask for it. Flight left approx on time, flight attendants very polite and friendly, eager to help. Seats were comfortable, plane was quite new. We got a warm breakfast (one choice only) and were served cold and hot drinks. Entertainment was good, no personal screens (not necessary on a 2 hour flight), lots of magazines and even English newspaper. We arrived with a 15 min delay. For flying at such low fares (comparable to low-cost airlines, where you have to pay for your own food and drinks and cramped in little seats) Hong Kong Airlines offers excellent service.

Route: Chongqing to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "the worst experience I have ever had"

Review: Cape Town to Mumbai via Nairobi. I have taken loads of flights in the last few years all across the world and this is by far the worst experience I have ever had. Our flight was delayed for over 10 hours because there was no crew availability. Because of that our connecting flight was missed, and we were rescheduled to a flight, which made us reach Mumbai 25 hours late. When we reached the airport, the system was not working, and we were given hand written boarding passes. The process delayed the flight by more than 4 more hours. The airline staff were clueless as they apparently said that the head office in Nairobi was not picking their calls. I dont know what is up with Kenya Airways. Its better to cancel the trip than to travel with them.

Route: Cape Town to Mumbai via Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "I waited for 6 hours"

Review: They don't allow enough time for passengers to change flights so they end up spending hours at Istanbul Airport. There's no way you can run and catch a flight in 60 minutes, with doing all the security checks. No airport staff available to assist you in fast tracking and definitely no carts that can rush passengers to their terminals. I waited for 6 hours for the next flight; and everyone was clueless what's the boarding gate.

Route: Budapest to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "a very pleasant event"

Review: Whilst my journey from Bishkek to Almaty was short, I found the flight to be a very pleasant event. The aircraft was quite modern and the seating was very comfortable. The safety advisory video was modern, novel and refreshing, rather than the traditional rushed human version. I found the Air Astana staff to be very pleasant and helpful. I would have no hesitation in recommending Air Astana for future flights.

Route: Bishkek to Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "she was efficient and informative!"

Review: My son is flying to his dad's today and I couldn't find his flight. I called Sun Country Airlines on a holiday weekend hoping for help and boy did I get it. Katie was absolutely phenomenal don't ever lose her. Not only was she efficient and informative but she helped calm my nervous mom brain down. Katie thank you so much for making this a seamless and easy process you are amazing.

Route: Asheville to Minnesota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: LATAM Airlines customer review

Review: My wife and I were seated in the third row, with a dividing panel behind us. The cabin crew began to wheel out the service cart from the front of the aisle, took care of the first two rows, and then rolled the cart back to where it was taken from. An unseen person then reached over my shoulder from behind and handed my wife and I each one small bag of nuts. I was waiting for the cart to come back out because I was in the mood for coffee, but it never happened. Everyone past the first two rows weren't even offered water. I looked across the third row and saw someone drinking coffee. I asked why only that person in the third row was served, and I was told that they don't serve coffee to third row passengers because they are in a different flying class. But the first three rows are separated from the rest with a dividing wall. It was only after I had requested for a coffee that I was given one. I thought that this was very inhospitable on their part.

Route: Barranquilla to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tunisair

Title: "my issue is the dirt"

Review: London Heathrow to Tunis Carthage. Plane was at least over 2 hrs late from departure but our return flight was on time. Service was ridiculously slow. Had 2 ask a few time the same staff member for some water. Food was not tasty, however my issue is the dirt and bacteria from a seating position is absolutely disgusting. Filth is not acceptable on that level, especially at the cost of their tickets. Tunisair you should be ashamed of yourself.

Route: London Heathrow to Tunis Carthage

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "dismal to be exact"

Review: The ticketing and flight experiences, both, were not just unimpressive but dismal to be exact. I booked my flight for the family of 4 - 2 adults, 2 children, from ATL to DEL via IST and back from DEL to ATL via IST. In all 4 flights, I made sure to complete seat selection online days before the flight and paid the desired amounts. But both times, Turkish Airlines disregarded my paid selections and decided to change the seats within 24 hours of the flight departure, meaning I did not have a chance to change them online. In ATL and DEL, I had to spend extra time on the check-in counter to have the family sit together because Turkish decided to assign us different seats in different rows of the airplane. The food service as well was very disappointing. While going from ATL to DEL, where we had opted for Asian Vegetarian meals and Hindu Vegetarian meals, we were given boiled spinach, white rice and boiled corn. On the return flight from DEL to ATL, we had not made food selection given the bad experience in our ATL-DEL flight. To our surprise, this time, there were no options in food other than beef. No other meat, no vegetarian options. No apologies from the flight staff, just that "we do not have anything else". The staff was handing over the food with beef to passengers without telling them what it was. A major red flag when it comes to taking care of the nutritional and food habits of passengers.

Route: Delhi to Atlanta via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "a dreadful experience"

Review: Paid for seats so entire family is together. Airline changes aircraft/seats and puts a stranger between us. Not even a single thought goes in this process. Extremely difficult to connect with someone on the phone. Unfortunately the competition is worse. Over the years flying changed from a fun way to travel to a dreadful experience.

Route: Tokyo to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "they refuse to refund the hotel"

Review: On December 16th I was supposed to fly from Hamburg to Brussels. There was a strike so at the airport they rerouted me over Munich on a flight not affected by the strike. No problem, it happens. My flight to Munich, unfortunately, left with delay so I missed the connection in Munich. And then it started. Since it was already late the Lufthansa staff in Munich to just organize your own hotel and they would provide a refund after which they just closed the office. Now they refuse to refund the hotel. Avoid this airline at all cost. If you miss your flight they leave you stranded with no assistance at all.

Route: Hamburg to Brussels via Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "staff is very nice and friendly"

Review: Istanbul to Atyrau. I'm traveling for more than 15 years with this company (I am also a "Nomad Club" member as Gold). I can recommend Air Astana since their prices even better than competitors in the region. The airline is improving. The last flight was a safe, comfortable and pleasant flight. The staff is very nice and friendly the food is good. Topping all that were the good selection of movies on board.

Route: Istanbul to Atyrau

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "very comfortable seats"

Review: Verona to Mahon. Flight at full hour, aircraft slightly dated but maintained better than others, very comfortable seats. In mid flight we were served a very good snack. nice and elegant and above all professional hostesses. volo in pieno orario, aereo leggermente datato ma tenuto meglio di altri, sedili molto comodi. a metà volo ci è stato servito lo spuntino, molto buono. hostess carine e eleganti e soprattutto professionali.

Route: Verona to Mahon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "offers fairly decent service"

Review: Bangkok to Singapore. As mentioned before in previous reviews, Jetstar offers fairly decent service and seats at a competitive price. Ground staff and the air crew are usually very polite and helpful. There was an instance where the crew had actually prepared some candy to be distributed after landing. A really thoughtful gesture.

Route: Bangkok to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "What an awful experience"

Review: What an awful experience. The difficulties began while trying to extend a voucher (COVID 19 cancellation in 2021). Several times I waited an hour on hold before talking to customer service, who were either consciously or unwittingly deceiving. After several months of back and forth I finally got the voucher. The first leg of our flight from Boston to Copenhagen via Reykjavik was one of the most uncomfortable I've experienced. The stewardesses were indifferent at best (the woman next to me sat with her meal for 2 hours before they came by to pick it up). The cabin was improperly ventilated. Hot and stuffy to the extent that my wife and I had headaches and nausea when we touched down. No wonder the stewardesses were grumpy. A day before the return flight Icelandair informs that there will be no Wi-Fi or in flight entertainment available. Which confirms my suspicion that Icelandair is a low budget airline charging high budget prices. I guess they can count on summer traffic from US and Europe to Iceland, so not much incentive to care about quality Never again.

Route: Boston to Copenhagen via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Shenzhen Airlines

Title: "caused me to lose tickets"

Review: I bought return tickets London to Jakarta via Shenzhen. My trip from London to Jakarta in March was alright, yet I could not make it back. Shenzhen Airlines unprofessional gestures have caused me to lose the return flight. I tried to call and e-mail them to resolve the problem, but they never answered. It started with their flight cancellation on the 5th May from Jakarta to Shenzhen. After much hustles and hours waiting at the airport, the airline (through the Travel Agency) confirmed to transfer me with SC for Jakarta - Shenzhen flight on the 8th May, to continue with SA to London on the same day. I came to the airport in Jakarta on the 8th May for my flights, only for getting rejected to board by SC check-in crew because I dont have Chinese transit visa, although I have valid UK Visa. I didnt know that I needed it because according to my previous experience flying from London to Jakarta transferring in Shenzhen, the immigration could give me, Indonesian passport holder, a 24hr entry permit without problem. The officers threatened me that if I wouldve not been allowed to enter Shenzhen without visa by the Chinese immigration, I had to be repatriated and buy my own ticket back to Jakarta. In short, I missed the flight to Shenzhen for this. The next day I called the Chinese Embassy, they said that Indonesian passport holder may enter Shenzhen for 24hr free. I tried to call Shenzhen Airlines to confirm about the correct policy and ask about their procedure in this case, but they never answered my phone or e-mail. Shenzhen Airlines final words to me was given through travel agency, saying that they cancelled my flights for no show and couldnt change or refund it. I think it was an unprofessional gesture from SA since it wasnt my fault to miss the flight. They made a mistake by cancelling their own flights at first place, passed me to an airlines that demanded me a transit visa to fly with them, yet Shenzhen Airlines never instructed it clearly to me, or opened their communication line with the client in trouble. This visa requirement unclear information has caused me to lose tickets, which remains unclear to me up to now. It was such a horrible and traumatising flying experience.

Route: London to Jakarta via Shenzhen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Algerie

Title: "flight attendants were all very friendly"

Review: Very nice cabin, comfortable seats and good entertainment systems. The food tasted very good and there was enough food for the flight length. The flight attendants were all very friendly except 1 steward. (Plane: 7T-VJA, Date: 8 July 2019).

Route: Montreal to Algiers

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "Worst flight I have ever taken"

Review: Flying back from Miami to Toronto. Boarding time was 11.20, waiting and nothing was told to us, boarded at 12.20. Apparently there was a snow storm in Toronto and a 3hr flight turned into a 6hr flight going to Hamilton and sitting on the plane for over 2hrs. Mind you our flight was to land at 3pm. No food was offered to us, only one small cookie and water. Hungry and frustrated for hours sitting on the plane, stating it was gonna leave to Toronto every 15 minutes and never did. Once landed in Toronto around 9pm, had to take a shuttle to customs and baggage claim. Once customs was done, getting our baggage was a hassle. 3 times they told us different areas to pick up luggage, waiting and waiting, my luggage was no where to be seen, finding my luggage in a totally different area, then told. Worst flight I have ever taken and worst experience getting my luggage.

Route: Miami to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: BA CityFlyer

Title: "E190 jets are comfortable"

Review: Edinburgh to Amsterdam via London City, crew were friendly. Sadly the breakfast cut off had been passed so no hot BA breakfast, though I was able to grab some fruit and muesli in the Executive Lounge before boarding. LCY to AMS I was served the best meal I've experienced onboard : balsamic chicken with puy salad and figs. It did feel like a bit of a rush on such a short flight, but its hardly worth complaining. The E190 jets are comfortable. Same seats in business and economy, and large windows. So much better than the Airbus planes normally on British Airways flights. One downside is there is no BA lounge at LCY to wait in when transiting, so you have to make do with one of the cafes or the waiting areas.

Route: EDI to AMS via LCY

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "Flight Attendants very friendly"

Review: SA378, 11 Oct 17, Cape Town to Johannesburg. Nice presentation + ample food. Scrambled eggs tasted like powdered eggs - bland, the rest was tasty. May I suggest that Cabin Services introduces warm bread-rolls on all its flights (Domestic, Regional and International) which is almost standard on all Asian carriers and on BA International. Its the little attention to detail that passengers appreciate. Nothing worse than eating fridge cold bread wrapped in a plastic packet. Check In staff in CPT not overly friendly or welcoming - maybe because of the 04H30 check in? Flight Attendants very friendly. Purser was very attentive. New interior on A320 beautiful. SA190 / 11 Oct 17, Johannesburg to Mauritius. Lunch meal (Fish option) was bland, boring, lacking in flavour and colour. Cold bread roll as above. Lots of drinks on offer. Flight attendants on this flight friendly. Lady Purser was super friendly. One attractive YC FA was abrupt, unsmiling and didn't look like she enjoyed her job. Also noticed many elderly and over-weight crew? Does SAA still apply the BMI weight to height ratio as some airlines? Aircraft A340-300 cabin looked tired with old unresponsive PTV's and in need of refurbishment. Glad it was only a 3H30m flight. SA191 / 22 Oct, Mauritius to Johannesburg. Dinner service (Chicken option). Very nice (warm bread roll would have added an extra touch). Entire crew on this flight very professional and friendly, especially the Business Class stewardess who went out of her way to talk to and offer my American seat mates on honeymoon (New York bound on SAA that night) a bottle of MCC champagne. They were super impressed and the lady is a true asset to SAA. New A320 interior very attractive. SA375 / 22 Oct, Johannesburg to Cape Town. Dinner service (Chicken curry option). Excellent meal and yummy dessert. Very bland and boring starter. No bread roll with this meal which was OK. Same friendly Purser as on SA378 / 11 Oct 17. Male crew member serving Business Class had a great sense of humour. This crew worked as a Team, with all four crew members helping each other in YC. Old A320 cabin looked tired. All boarding Gate staff were friendly in CPT, JNB and MRU.

Route: Cape Town to Mauritius via Johannesburg

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "I am nothing but impressed"

Review: I haven't flown with them for more than a decade because I normally fly with SQ. However the overnight flight to Hokkaido via Taipei is a convenient route. It means transferring in Taipei rather than Tokyo and a transfer in Taipei is pretty comfortable. The website and app is functional but slightly less seamless than the SQ app. It was easy to choose seats and special meals and check details. The service from the crew was excellent. The quality of the food was excellent. The lounge in Taipei is pretty good. The buffet appears small in size but the variety is impressive. Plus the kitchen has a good menu of fresh noodle soups and the like. I'd rank it above almost any other lounge when it comes to quality and variety. Seat comfort was the same as the SQ flat bed seats. They are a bit firm. I found the manual fold down beds to be more comfortable compared to these electronic fully reclining beds. There is in flight wifi included. The in flight entertainment may be less extensive than top ranked airlines. For a 9 hour overnight flight it doesn't matter. I'm yet to take the onward flight to Sapporo so maybe my opinion will change. But so far I am nothing but impressed.

Route: Sydney to Sapporo via Taipei

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "$30 dollars for my tiny carry on bag"

Review: I decided to give Viva air a second chance but it has been one of the biggest mistakes Ive ever made. My last experience was horrible and after complaining I received vouchers for the tickets that I had purchased. It turns out that when paying taxes for those tickets it was pretty much like buying a new ticket. The customer service is horrible! When I got to the airport this time I expressed my concern about not being able to check in online and the answer that I got is that I made a mistake and I would have to pay $25 dollars for them to check us in. Then, I said that I had a small carry on suitcase to bring with me and their trick is that if your personal item doesnt fit in the box that they have designed to measure your luggage you have to pay extra. Well, my bag was too big (for the box) and I ended up paying $30 dollars for my tiny carry on bag to be checked. Am I using this airline again? No way! T

Route: Bogota to Cartagena

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "has been quite a fiasco"

Review: I was scheduled to fly out of Omaha Nebraska on December 26 at 12:45 p.m. My flight was delayed twice, and then eventually canceled. This has been quite a fiasco. Southwest offered no help whatsoever to the people who were on these flights. I waited in line at the airport for two hours to get a refund on my flight. When I finally reached the agent, I was offered a $200 voucher that would expire within 12 months, however, I was told that they could not refund my money at that time. I would have to call their customer service line. I have tried calling, been unsuccessful have been on hold and disconnected six times in total have spent 30 hours on hold. Just trying to get a refund for a flight that this airline themselves canceled. Reason for cancellation was not leather related. It was due to the fact that Southwest agents overbooked flights that they had no crew to fly. I will never in my life flying Southwest again three times I have flown Southwest I have had issues every time. This is an absolutely horrible, horrible airline. The true sadness for myself is that I was going to see my two grandsons that I haven't seen in nearly 4 years. Also going to see my mother who has had stage four cancer. This airline has done nothing for anybody to reconcile the cost, the heartache, the time that we have wasted, and that has been stolen from us. For those future travelers, do yourself a favor and even if you have to pay a little bit more for a different flight also. Do not fly Southwest airlines.

Route: Omaha to Washington DC

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "a refund for 37$ out of $650"

Review: This company is very sketchy and has deceiving practices! Once they took your money - you lost it no matter what. Beware: don't request your refund to be processed through online- there is a trick they don't tell to people about - under "terms and conditions" in fine print it states that you grant them "full amount" and you agree to that. I called their customer service to book a ticket in April 2023 for my 75 y.o. mother and I asked them about refund policy - customer service rep. guided me to the web page and confirmed there is $200 penalty for international flights - economy class. I purchased a ticket for my mother amount of $650 in April 2023. Flight was for June 3 2023. April 30th my mother got into the hospital and May 1st I immediately called Polish airlines to cancel ticket I booked for June 3 2023. LOT Polish Airline agent said I need to go online and complete refund form - which I did. In 10 days I received a refund for 37$ out of $650. It was ridiculous and I called them multiple times, they laughed at me saying that there is nothing they can do and won't even give me a voucher!

Route: Warsaw to New York JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "sad, angry and helpless"

Review: I didn't succeed to take this plane. I reserved two tickets 3 months ago and just 5 days before the flight, I found that the reservation was cancelled automatically because my bank refused the payment at the time of buying. So during these 3 months I didn't receive any email or message that notify me about this. The only email that I got it says "Reservation confirmed". I was really shocked when they told me that I can't find my reservation because it was already cancelled by the system automatically without any notification. After all, they kept blaming me why I didn't check my bank account every day. I have to pay extra 400 euros to book another flight in order to get home in time. Really sad, angry and helpless.

Route: Brussels to Shanghai via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tame Línea Aérea Del Ecuador

Title: "Dont fly Tame"

Review: Quito to Coca. Canceled flight without prior notice, we arrived at the airport and flight was canceled. Second Time on 2 weeks. Dont fly Tame, I heard also from other customers similar experiences

Route: Quito to Coca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "no sign of the promised refund"

Review: At short notice Bamboo Airlines cancelled our flight and proposed an alternative schedule that got us into Hanoi late at night as opposed to early afternoon as originally planned. We rejected the alternative flight and were advised that we would be refunded our flights subject to sending confirmation that we did not want the alternative and card details to facilitate the refund, which we duly did. Over a month on and six e-mails later we have still not had the courtesy of any communications from Bamboo and no sign of the promised refund.

Route: Can Tho to Hanoi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "they dont do refunds"

Review: I called a month ago about our flights being cancelled. Was told to call back no later then July 1st to change flight dates at no cost. Called back that date and they told me I had to pay $2150 More then what I already paid. Asked agent to speak with a supervisor and she refuse to let me talk on one for about 30 minutes stating that my call wasnt important enough for that. Finally talked to supervisor and told me that i still needed to pay and that they dont do refunds so if I want to use my already paid tickets I need to pay evermore then the original tickets. Do not recommend anyone buying from them.

Route: Dallas to Guadalajara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "never fly again with Air Namibia"

Review: We were traveling from Frankfurt to Windhoek in the business class. A night flight. Several screens were not working in the business class. Others could not been switched off. 4 air hostesses, 3 woman (the oldest one was friendly I have to say) and 1 man. Unbelievable behavior of the crew (never seen in any other company) in some way imperious, telling clients to do things, without any courtesy and politeness. No friendly responses to questions either. My daughter politely asked for a second bread roll and there were a prompt and harsh answer without any smile: "no you have to wait that I have given one to everybody!" It was embarrassing. I had the impression that she was angry about her work and everybody in business class. Not willing to do her job and not willing to make people feel comfortable. The man was also very unpolite, he stood in front of passengers with a plastic bag open (to collect blankets), just waiting that you put your blanket by yourself in this collecting bag which is not a problem, but no word, no "please could you" no "thank you" or something polite. It was highly unprofessional. They were all ungracious except the older lady. We arrived at around 7h00 at Windhoek. At around 12h00 we realized that we have had forgotten our computer in the overhead compartment. Aircraft was still in the airport. I called lost and found and a very bored lady said, the cleaner have given nothing to me and I cannot do anything. Later at the airport, ground staff also told me how can you proof that you have forgotten the computer there! Cleaner from the aircraft said that he had found nothing and that maybe the crew took the computer because they do first check to collect forgotten items. At the day of arrival, Air Namibia ground staff was not willing to do any effort or investigation to get the item back. The day after customer care contact told me maybe passengers took it. Just to make things clear: In the business class, the overhead compartment is quite personal. Two seats have their own large overhead compartement. We were sitting completely in front of the aircraft. While leaving the aircraft, no passenger were passing after us and even the computer could not have been seen by other passengers. The overhead compartments are placed very high in the Air Namibia aircraft, computer was not in a bag. Our overhead compartment looked empty, thats why we forgot the computer. We will never fly again with Air Namibia.

Route: Frankfurt to Windhoek

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "My flight has been cancelled"

Review: My flight has been cancelled. I asked for a refund because I had to pay another flight. And it is impossible to get a refund. I tried all the possible way. But I never succeeded.

Route: London to Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: "never fly this carrier again"

Review: US Airways will guarantee you the worst experience you will ever have! In the last 2 weeks I have had to get a rental car and hotel to get to where I was going due to overbooking (2 times in 2 weeks). Even with confirmed seats stated on my boarding pass, I still didn't have a seat according to the desk clerk. And than to be told that they would get you on a flight the next day. However they will not pay for the hotel so your choice is pay for it yourself or sleep in the airport. My job requires me to travel frequently and I understand things happen - but every time with US Air? I will never fly this carrier again.

Route: Albuquerque to Tucson

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "4 hrs delay on same return flight"

Review: 4 hrs delayed leaving, given different reasons hourly, now to be told 4 hrs delay on same return flight. You can shove it Jetstar. Staff are still the best, friendly crew. Management read these reviews and do something.

Route: Melbourne to Hi Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "9 hrs on a overcrowded airport"

Review: Baku to Amsterdam via Riga with airBaltic. The flights were supposedly 6 hrs total, it was 17 hrs: no explanation, rude staff at transfer Riga, they shoved me off with 2 vouchers for 2 coffee. I waited 9 hrs on a overcrowded airport. No lounge seat. During first flight they were assuring me the connecting flight would wait: not so. They did not even offer water or some food as consolation. Handed in my claim : according to EU regulation 261/2004 AirBaltic is accountable and should pay for my loss of time (i missed out on a meeting on top of it) No response whatsoever. so now I have to hand in my claim to get this case settled.

Route: Baku to Amsterdam via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Horrible experience"

Review: Horrible experience, flight was scheduled at night 21:00, received notification in the afternoon that flight is rescheduled to 22:00 hrs and again received notification by evening that flight is again rescheduled to 23:00 hrs. After check in Goa Airport, again further flight is rescheduled to 0000 hrs. First time I am traveling in SpiceJet and it is worst

Route: Goa to Chennai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "I think it is worth the money"

Review: Melbourne to Ho Chi Minh City. Ground service depends which airport your in, with Melbourne its just average, with Ho chi minh it could be really slow or really fast. I think it is worth the money because when I looked it was about the 2nd cheapest airline and with my point of view that is were it should be. Seat was pretty comfortable for a domestic and 1-2 hour flight I wouldn't recommend for any longer flight. The food was okay but only had a very small choice. For my flight only fish and fried noodles but they had a large variety of drinks. The in-flight entertainment the screen was only touch screen and they only had wifi connectivity on the new aircraft.

Route: Melbourne to Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "could not upgrade my seat to Premium Economy"

Review: I was looking forward to this flight as it would be my first time flying with ANA and heard great things about the airline. I chose and paid a little extra for Seat 30A, which turned out to be a mistake. The seat does not recline, and is up against the bulkhead. The seat is also more narrow due to the built-in tray. Most uncomfortable seat for a long flight. Disappointed that I could not upgrade my seat from Economy to Premium Economy. Crew was attentive and courteous. There were two meals served on this flight, which were average at best.

Route: Tokyo Narita to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sichuan Airlines

Title: "There is no customer service"

Review: Helsinki to Copenhagen. This is kind of a disaster. I was suppose to fly with my brother and since Sichuan Airlines is a Chinese air company they dont board those who has 1 entry Schengen area visa, which happened to my brother. Although the flight attendants were extremely rude and mean to us we didnt say a word about that. It was on November, 4. We called to the hotline and got promised to get a full refund. However no one contacted us within 3 days as it was promised. I email them and got an answer that they will contact us within 3 days and I emailed 7 more times already and got the same answer. I called couple times to they got line but they dont seem to speak English because apart from sorry, well contact you within 3 days they cant say anything at all. There is no customer service and people are just being ignored for months.

Route: Helsinki to Copenhagen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "staff have no compassion"

Review: Air Niugini has ruined my Easter holiday. I have a holiday reservation at Walindi Plantation Resort, Kimbe, from 7-10/4. I have booked Air Niugini domestic flight from Port Moresby to Hoskins on 7/4. The 7/4 is canceled with a SMS notification at 10am on 7/4, and rescheduled to 8/4 3.25pm, which is fine as it's only one day difference. I check in again for 8/4, and this flight is further delayed to 4.45pm without any notification during the dropping of my luggage at counter, well, which is also fine for me as it's only 1 hour plus delay. Finally when we are supposed to queue up for boarding, at 4.45pm sharp, the airline makes announcement to cancel the flight, and reschedule to the next day 9/4, for departure at ridiculous 4.55am. If you can't afford to operate the flight, just don't take my booking or notify earlier in case of flight change so that we can manage our travel. For what that you still check us in, and get us waiting in the boarding lounge just for your cancellation announcement, instead of a departure. The customer service counter is full of chaos with the staff having no compassion to comfort the frustrated crowds.

Route: Port Moresby to Hoskins

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: Thai AirAsia customer review

Review: Service was nearly non-existent, both on the ground and airborne. The flight attendant was seriously involved with her hair and was unavailable to assist passengers. I was aware that Thai Airasia was a low cost airline, but I was unprepared for how lacking in service the airline is.

Route: Bangkok to Krabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "told me my bags were too large"

Review: Manchester to Seattle. My worst connecting flight experience ever. They forced me to pay $200 extra dollars at the gate. They told me that my bags were too large to be carried on. I had just got off a connecting flight with SAS. They told me that I could have avoided the $200 bag fee if I would have checked my bags in. There was no where to check your bags in, you literally are just dropped off and go find your next gate. After paying the $200 for two bags, I board the plane and the over headbins are very empty. This is ridiculous.

Route: Manchester to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "Very good flight"

Review: Very good flight. Cabin crew were very attentioned. Priority boarding was a good advantage. We can follow this flight with Volotea wifi on board.

Route: Nantes to Arrecife

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alliance Air

Title: "pathetic customer service"

Review: I had booked a flight with them for Cochin to Lakshadweep in November 2002. I had to cancel the same due to some medical emergencies. I had called them on November 17th, cancelled the ticket and I got an sms confirmation for my cancellation instantly and I was told that I have to do nothing for my refund to be processed. But I mailed them again on the email named just to let them know. Apparently, I emailed from a different email id. I had mentioned the proper PNR and sent a reminder on 25th November. But I got no response. I was told about a refund initially and on Dec 20, I called the customer care again and I was told that the refund amount is much lesser. But whatever the case is, no amount was credited. Again, a junior executive told me that the refund will be made in another 7 to 10 days. But later, a senior executive connected on the same call tells me about another policy, that I should have sent the mail to their help desk and not refunds email mentioned on their website. And that too, it should have been sent from my registered email. They didn't respond in spite of me mentioning PNR and simply coming up with excuses that in spite of their sms that I'll get my money back, they insisted I send an email from my registered email. And when I expressed my dissatisfaction, they offered me some petty rewards in addition to the negligible refund. Never book a ticket with them again and if you do, don't pay extra for flexi. They're simply not a credible airline. I will never travel with this airline. And I would never fly to Lakshadweep until another airline starts service there. I would not recommend anyone to travel with Alliance air. They have such pathetic customer service. And they will keep your money with them unless and until you email and keep calling them. Once you pay, it's their money. You have to beg to get it back.

Route: Cochin to Agatti

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "professionalism displayed"

Review: Seoul to Los Angeles. This was just one leg of our trip which was Los Angeles to Sydney return. However all legs were excellent. We had the same seats for all our flights and the same aircraft as well, the A380. We were in 9E and 9F. Embarkation was smooth and we were warmly greeted as we arrived to the aircraft and directed to our seats. The FA's were all very polite and professional and friendly. The lie flat quadra-smartium seats were fine though I do think they could provide a duvet for extra padding. However we slept well. The food was very good and the selection of wine, beer and spirits was quite good. I like a Scotch and they had an 18 yr old Chivas Regal or a 17 yr old Ballantine's and the cognac was a camp XO, very good! The IFE was fine and we had plenty of movies and other programming to choose from. Most importantly its the high level of professionalism displayed on board by the staff that really sells it for me. I am treated like a most welcome guest.

Route: Seoul to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "Only advice is don't book any flights with this company!"

Review: Because of the pandemic, our trip/flights to Bali was cancelled by the company. They don't give any money back but give travel vouchers. Anyway, we are now in a position to rebook our trips. The voucher says we have till the 20th May to rebook. I tried to rebook on the 12 May and entered the Travel voucher number only to be told that these vouchers had been used already! I have emailed Malindo in the past and it usually takes them a month to reply so it looks like we have lost our money! Over $1000 lost! No point trying to ring them as others say they can't get through! Only advice is don't book any flights with this company!

Route: Brisbane to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "Worst experience"

Review: Chandigarh to Hyderabad. Worst experience, flight cancelled and no one wishes to inform though i got to know they have official working hours 9am to 9pm. You cannot reach to anyone from authority, you cannot seek compensation. They just intimate you on email, operations error flight got cancelled that 24 hours before your journey. No alternative they have. Don't get attractive by there fare price, they are harrassing customers.

Route: Chandigarh to Hyderabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "pay over 900 euros in excess baggage"

Review: Plane was uncomfortable, and my food was inedible. Upon flying home we had to pay over 900 euros in excess baggage. We were not given the opportunity to swap our luggage to carryon as were were told the plane was leaving. We had approximately staff pressuring us to pay and when I asked to take out a backpack which weighed over 8 kgs they would not reduce the price. Once we paid their manner changed and we were escorted to our terminal only to find we had 40 minutes left to board. We will never fly Qatar again.

Route: Athens to Melbourne via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "The most uncomfortable seat and reduced leg room"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Perth. Low cost/no frills - that's OK. However: 1) Malindo performed their own carry on security check prior to boarding - did not allow any personal water for the 6 hour flight. Consequently, water would need to be purchased on board at an inflated price. 2) The most uncomfortable seat and reduced leg room of any flight taken anywhere. In retrospect, would have chosen to pay more for a more comfortable flight.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "exceeded my expectations"

Review: Very affordable, great cabin crew and smooth flight. Comfortable seat. For a no frills airline they exceeded my expectations.

Route: Boston to Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Dragonair

Title: "saw other flight attendants helping"

Review:

Flew Dragonair from Hong Kong to Busan. Before landing in Busan, cabin crews started their checks, making sure if all the window blinds were open and all seats were in an upright position. At that time, I asked one of the male cabin crew to help me clear the meal box away, he shouted at me and instructed me to put the meal box into the seat pocket. Many passenger were looking at me which was embarrassing. I saw other flight attendants helping passengers clear their rubbish and the meal box.

Route: HKG to PUS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "fighting for almost two years "

Review: In May 2018, we had a Madrid to Tel Aviv flight scheduled for 22:25 and was delayed for more than 9 hours!!! The crew did not supply any information on when we would depart, neither the reason for the delay. Due to the lack of information we ended up waiting and staying overnight in a cold, empty terminal. The airline offered no compensation, not even a hotel for the night, just a cold sandwich which was uneatable. When we arrived to our destination, we approached SmartWings to receive the minimum compensation which is set by the European Passenger Rights, stating that we are entitled for 600 euros for a delay of more than 8 hours. The company would not agree to compensate us in any way although the aggravation we had. My travelling companions and I have been fighting with this airline for almost two years to receive the minimum compensation that is required by law.

Route: Madrid to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "flying Garuda Indonesia a great experience"

Review: Jakarta to Denpasar BaliS on 06 January 2021 as part of Family trip to SE Asia. Bali requires a valid PCR Test to enter and we were told to validate our papers at a validation desk at the airport before we can even check-in. Check in was done really quick. We waited at a gate area where there were 3 other airplanes were parked so it was quite crowded and only after other flights took off we were able to get some seats close to the gate. The boarding was done old style, Business class first then Economy all at the same time. However they did not announce to prepare the PCR Test to show at the gate, so after we showed them our passports I have to fish for the PCR Test papers from my rolling bag for the gate agent when we were already at the gate and she asked for it. Or perhaps she just did it randomly because we're not locals, I don't know. The airplane is a 9 year old B738 (PK-GFS) that is still in good condition and clean, however we still sanitize the tray table, seatbelts, screen and armrest with Clorox wipes. The seats are large with ample legroom, and the touch screen even though smaller but still very bright and watchable. They do not have a large selection of movies and music available but more than enough for this short 1.5 hours flight. They still use the two-prong jack so we cannot use our wireless transmitter (3.5" jack) and bluetooth headphones, but have to use the provided free headphones. The FAs were very courteous and polite, they are super friendly and helpful, and also cheerful in their disposition when interacting with passengers. No wonder GA FA's won awards years in a row for being the best FA in the world! Even for this short flight we got a snack box with savory pastry, cake and a granola bar, and a bottle of water. The FA's also offer drink service along with the snack box. They apologized that due to Covid-19 they can no longer offer hot meal but only snack box in this (short) flight. Very good engagement, again, makes me realize why they were the best FAs! We left 27 minutes behind schedule due to some late passengers, but were able to arrive 12:26 PM local time, 14 minutes early from our scheduled arrival. Even in this short flight the service is great, and the spacious seats and (even though rather limited) entertainment makes flying Garuda Indonesia a great experience. Other airlines especially in US should learn a lot from Garuda on how to make a flight that is enjoyed and not dreaded by their passengers.

Route: Jakarta to Denpasar Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "Very good service service"

Review: Very good service service, sandy Cornish was outstanding. Meals we had selected were not available, she went all the way to see that we got our selected meals. We appreciate such dedicated staff in Air New Zealand.

Route: Singapore to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "Cabin crew were friendly"

Review: There was a delay in departure due to late arrival of the aircraft to the airport as a results of bad weather. As a results some of us missed our connecting flights to Jakarta and Kuala Lumpur. Upon arrival in Singapore, a buggy was waiting for us and we were immediately taken to our new gates. We were told that the next flight will be in less than one hour, hence they could not guarantee our luggage would arrive with us. Upon arrival to our final destination, our luggage did not arrive (as expected). We waited for the arrival of another aircraft from Singapore, still our luggage was not delivered. We lodged a report, and our luggage arrived to our home address at 6 pm the next day. Why push us to the next immediate flight when our luggage couldn't 'join' us I wonder? Otherwise the aircraft is comfortable, food was delivered at speed and efficacy. Cabin crew were friendly.

Route: Sydney to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "One of the worst airlines"

Review: One of the worst airlines I travelled on. KQ765 delayed out of JHB with no reason given only left at 02:30 on Sunday morning 25 June in stead of 01:15. Missed our connection flight out of Nairobi to Zanzibar. Ground staff made us wait for 3 hours before we got any assistance in Nairobi. Eventually got a Precision flight to Zanzibar after we had to fight the staff for seats. We were assured that the flight will have our baggage on it as it was scheduled to leave 3 hours after we got our seats. When we arrived in Zanzibar we had no baggage and the ground staff was rude saying it was not their fault we did not have our baggage and that it would be at the Zanzibar airport on Sunday evening with the next flight and if we want it we can come fetch it then. We where on honeymoon and our Hotel is 1 hour 20min away from the airport, as we booked a all inclusive package which included our transfer to and from the hotel, we had no means to get back to the airport to collect our bags. We requested that they please deliver the bags to the hotel. Ground staff said they can only deliver on Monday morning. When we asked for compensation to get some necessities like toothbrush and clean clothes, as we had no clothes or toiletries and had a dinner reservation for Sunday evening, we were told it is not their problem nor their fault our baggage did not arrive and they rushed us out of their office. Needless to say we did not receive our baggage that evening. Monday morning 26 June I phoned the lost baggage office and was told the delivery will only start work at around 10:00 and would need to make a few stops before he gets to us. We ended up getting our baggage at 15:00 Monday afternoon. Missing the whole Sunday and most of Monday of our vacation because of having no clothes.

Route: Johannesburg to Zanzibar via Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Seychelles

Title: "extremely rude and unhelpful"

Review: Johannesburg to Mumbai via Seychelles. Terrible airline to fly with. They will try to scam money out of you any way they can. Staff are extremely rude and unhelpful. Do yourself a favor and pay a little bit more to go with a reputable airline.

Route: Johannesburg to Mumbai via Seychelles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "Don't fall for the cheap prices, you will pay for it in other ways"

Review: I flew Ethiopian Airlines roundtrip from Toronto-Nairobi and back. In Kenya I bought another Ethiopian Airlines to Cairo - roundtrip. My experiences were horrible and despicable to say the least. First, on my return trip to Nairobi from Cairo, a big roach fell out of my food tray. I brought the attention of the cabin crew who took my boarding pass, took a picture and promised to file a report. Nothing happened! Then on my return flight to Toronto, I paid for a seat in premium economy for extra leg room. The money was charged to my credit card. When I got to the airport, they couldn't find my ticket and had to wait 2 hours for them to figure it out. They finally did and I was issued a boarding pass for the flight. In Addis Ababa, I presented my boarding pass and was told there is a seat change. I thought they were upgrading my seat due to the roach incident and the delay in Nairobi. Nope! They rather downgraded me and gave my seat to another passenger. When I protested I was threatened by a very unprofessional, rude and disrespectful agent at the counter. They threatened to unload my luggage from the plane if I do not take the downgraded seat assigned to me. Bottom line, Ethiopian Airlines in the absolute worst airline. Don't fall for the cheap prices, you will pay for it in other ways. Rude staff and poor service. Staff - cabin crew, ground staff etc, all need a lesson in customer service. Now I will try to see if they refund my upgrade fees.

Route: Nairobi to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "improve your carry-on policy"

Review: Tokyo to Osaka. Peach Aviation have to improve your carry-on policy. I can understand if you have security issues that large objects would be an obstruction to go on full flights as carry-on but my object was a fragile guitar and the flight was half full. There was plenty of overhead locker space. Instead of telling the customer the size rules Peach Aviation would be more customer friendly in an agreement on negotiating a reasonable carry-on solution for guitars like most European airlines do.

Route: Tokyo to Osaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "charged me 70 euro for a bag"

Review: Bucharest to Larnaca. They charged me 70 euro for a bag. Because it was bigger than their size by 2 cm.

Also, the personnel in gate control were very very rude.

Route: Bucharest to Larnaca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wingo

Title: "we were not allowed to board"

Review: My husband had a problem with his passport, and so we were not allowed to board. (He is a Venezuelan with an expired passport, and we spoke to the airline MULTIPLE times about this and we were always told it is not a problem as many Latin American countries are letting Venezuelans travel on expired passports for 2 years). Since we were not allowed to board, we wanted to cancel and get a voucher. We were told we had to call the airline to do that. So, after holding for 30 min, we were told we couldnt cancel because it was within the 3 hour window and no cancellations are permitted . (we were at 2 hr and 45 min before takeoff to be exact). I asked to speak to a supervisor and waited another 40 min and guess what! I was told the same thing. Then I wrote them, and guess what! I was told the same thing. I have reached out to them anyway possible and I either dont get a reply or they just tell me its my fault. I understand rules, but we did everything in good faith, and they wont even give us a voucher for further travel.

Route: Bogota to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Do not use this airline"

Review: The flight was not comfortable at all. I have to pay 180 euro on the airport because I have not check in online. We were trying to do online check in a day before but it does not let me do it it say check in closed. The person on the airport say you have to pay or you have to miss your flight. It is all money making business. I have never experience this in any other airline Do not use this airline.

Route: Istanbul to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Buta Airways

Title: "a very poor experience"

Review: Baku to Tbilisi. I had a terrible experience with Buta Airways. Firstly flight was delayed 3 hours for no reason. Then at check-in, I was fined for not checking in online, however there is no mention on the ticket or confirmation email anywhere that you need to do online check-in. I asked for a window seat and was given an Aisle, when I asked to move onboard (as the flight wasn't full), I was told it would cost 25! They also don't allow any hand luggage, apart from a handbag or laptop bag. Not even a plastic bag! Now my return flight is also delayed. All in all, a very poor experience.

Route: Baku to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "disregard for customer service"

Review: New York to Paris. Our 9.30pm flight was delayed one hour, without explanation, then another hour and moved to another gate, again with no explanation. Then the flight was delayed another hour or so again, no explanation. Boarding of the flight began, and then the flight was cancelled - without explanation at 11:45 p.m. The staff asked for patience, but no information was given to the passengers until after 1:00 am. The reason for the cancellation was that the airline overworked the flight crew. This is something that could have been determined by 8:00pm, but the majority of the passengers did not get a hotel until 3:00 am due to the overwhelming incompetence of the staff of this airline. They did not assist, offer information, they were rude, condescending and complained to the rightly frustrated customers that we were somehow ungrateful for their efforts to not get us to Paris on Christmas Eve. I've never seen such an impressive display of incompetence, and such rampant disregard for the most basic notion of customer service.

Route: JFK to CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "Delayed with no explanation"

Review: Delayed flight for over three hours with no explanation. Once on board the flight attendant or the pilot told us the repair of a broken flight attendant seat took longer than expected. All of this after trying to find another flight after canceling my flight after midnight. I happened to look at my phone for the time at 12:15 and saw they cancelled the flight. I spent the next six hours waiting for a human being to book us on a flight from a different airport. Beyond disgusted with the lack of care shown by the airline and the employees. Very little done to convince me to fly with them again. No longer do they go the extra mile. The app is useless. The website is useless. Oops try again. We are unable to complete your request at this time. The return flight is now scheduled for 12:42 AM and totally doesnt sync with connecting flight in Boston. Their attitude is Oh well. I totally feel unwanted by this airline. Not that anyone from Jetblue would read this. They are flailing and failing. Id rate them a ZERO if I could.

Route: New York to Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Volaris

Title: "I found a great deal on Volaris"

Review: I found a great deal on Volaris to take the family (6 tickets - 2 adults AND 4 kids ages 10, 9, 8 and 4) from Tijuana to Acapulco. Both legs initially had a stop in Mexico City. Outbound flights were #Y4 816 TIJ-MEX and #Y4 748 MEX-ACA. Return flights were #Y4 904 ACA-MEX and #Y4 813 Mex- TIJ. I paid just under $1,000 USD for all six tickets. Tickets included 2 checked bags, and on the longer flights (TIJ-MEX and MEX-TIJ) the first row (premium) for more leg room.

Route: Tijuana to Acapulco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "have never seen such unhelpful, frankly lazy, and rude customer service"

Review: The ground crew at check in at the JFK Airport in New York is the worst, without exception, that we have ever encountered! It is unbelievable that an airline could maintain such poor representation of their airline company and in fact they were so bad that somehow there appears to be terrible supervision and management. We flew from JFK-MAD on 6/5/22. The check in process started about 40 minutes after the time on the board and that could be caused by any number of reasons, but despite a long customer line for the full flight and about 6 people milling around behind their counter, no one ever explained anything and didn't even look at any of the passengers in line. When they opened the check in finally and we got to the counter, we were told that there was an additional form to be filled in. We had our passports, COVID shot cards, and had provided all online information on the American Airlines website which is how we booked the flights. We asked for help in understanding what we were to do and the incredibly rudest of the lot, a female actually right in front of us, put her head in her hands and turned to one of her co-workers and said, "and this is how I have to start my day?". We were literally stunned! I have never seen such unhelpful, frankly lazy, and rude customer service ever on other airlines. Hopefully Iberia will start some sort of supervision process. Until then, advise to book another carrier if provided for your route.

Route: New York JFK to Madrid

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bassaka Air

Title: "everything went smoothly throughout"

Review: Flew Phnom Penh to Siem Reap with Bassaka Air. Nice short domestic flight with a very courteous 5B crew, nothing but smiles and the Best of Cambodian hospitality during this 30 minute flight. Was the cheapest option at $24 incl. baggage and an onboard refreshment and everything went smoothly throughout. Would definitely recommend.

Route: Phnom Penh to Siem Reap

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "never travel with Condor again"

Review: Vancouver to Frankfurt. My partner and I flew Condor Airlines last year. There was a documentation issue and we asked to change our departure date, several days prior to the flight. Condor, unbelievably, refused to rebook our ticket over the phone and told us to try to rebook our ticket at the check-in counter, on the day of travel. Of course, the check-in counter could not help us other than to cancel our ticket. After spending several hours on the phone with the accounts department of Condor, we were given new tickets and an apology. The flight went without incident. Then, five months later on December 24th, we received a rude and demanding email that we should now pay for the first flight, which we had asked to be rebooked. We will never travel with Condor again.

Route: Vancouver to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "unreliable and unprofessional airline"

Review: This airline is the worst airline I have ever flown with. I took off work to go to Chicago to celebrate a religious holiday with my family and was met with a bunch of problems. First, my flight at 5:40 was canceled just hours before it was supposed to take off. I decided to go at 3 to wait on standby for the next flight to Chicago at 4:45, which is what was recommended on the phone by United Customer Service. I was 6th in line. The 4:45 one left and I was unable to get in. I waited for one at 7:30 but was also unable to get in. However, by that time, they told me that I am 2nd in line and had to wait 4 more hours for the next flight. I found out about an hour before the next flight at 11 that I was kicked off the waiting list for no reason. I tried to find anyone from United to speak to about this but there was absolutely no one there to help. One of the later flights at 11:30 kept getting delayed till about 1 in the morning, and as for the other flight, I was informed that I was, once again, the 6th in line. I spent 9 hours in the airport yesterday and I am sure United does not care about me or a lot of their other customers in my same situation. This is an unreliable and unprofessional airline who do not care for its customers.

Route: San Francisco to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "an uneventful short hop"

Review: Jakarta to Singapore with Jetstar Asia. Flight left somewhat late. Other than that, it was an uneventful short hop. Seats rather stiff and uncomfortable, staff seemingly somewhat stressed out or tired, but they took us there at a low cost.

Route: Jakarta to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "the worst business class experience"

Review: This is by far the worst business class experience I have ever had. On checking at Singapore, I was told I can only check in for the first leg of my trip and my bags would not be checked through. Ok So what happens then, They check you in and you are expected to go through immigration, pick up your bags and re-check in, that would be great if you had a visa. I was stopped from going through immigration and told to go to the transit counter. At the transit counter, I was told, we can get your bags but we can't check you in for 7 hours (layover was 10 hours) so you will have to wait in the immigration hall, with no seats, no shops, just a room with 10 or so immigration desks, Upon some back and fro with the agent they made a call and said ok ok you only need to wait for 3 hours. Are you kidding me, I did not pay for a self-transfer ticket nor did I pay to stand in a hallway for 3 hours. After more time talking with the supervisor I was told we will check you in, Given a boarding pass, I said what about my bags. We will come and give you a baggage receipt later. Enter the lounge stay there for a few hours, Then told you must leave or pay 45 USD if you want to stay, So I paid as I wanted a shower and had 4 hours left on my Layover. The flight was ok - service standard. My advice do not use this airline if you are a business traveler, Vietnam airlines is far better and worth the extra 200 bucks -

Route: Singapore to London via Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "a really disappointing flight"

Review: This was a really disappointing flight. The plane was extremely old and not clean. I am a huge clean freak but even this didn't disturb me as much as a remark made by one of the flight attendants. I asked her to please retrieve my carry on which was in the overhead compartment. I had my 3 year old toddler on my lap who I had been trying desperately to keep calm and sane for the duration of the flight which is why I requested assistance. If you're the parent of a baby or toddler on an 8 hour flight, you'll understand how stressful that is! Anyway, this flight attendant responded, "that's not my job." How incredibly insensitive. I've had travellers offer help just because they see me travelling alone with a young kid and it definitely wasn't their job! It truly was the worst flight I've ever taken to the states from Europe. The staff overall was mediocre in their "human contact" and the food was not edible.

Route: New York to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "Akasa Airlines is miles ahead"

Review: I travelled many airlines (Air Asia, IndiGo, Akasa) on my recent India trip. Akasa Airlines is miles ahead in Customer service at Airport, Customer Service Call Centre. Very new, comfortable seating and facilities in flight. Flight take-off and landing is also very good, didn't feel that we had landed. Keep up the great work, within no time you'll be India's best airline.

Route: Visakhapatnam to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "record of the transaction"

Review: Cebu to Puerto Princesa. The web site is slow and if you get it to work it will not be transferred to the airline. I paid twice for additional baggage to be told at the counter there was no record of the online transaction.

Route: Cebu to Puerto Princesa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "how outdated business class was"

Review: Having flown on Malaysia Airlines a lot over the years I didn't think twice about booking them for the last leg of our international holiday returning from USA. I was astonished to find the age of the aircraft we were flying on from KL to Perth (MH0125) and how outdated the business class was. The airlines says, business class option offers a world-class offering - I dispute this! Having flown on Cathay, Qatar they are so far behind in offering world class business offering. The old blue reclining seats were well worn, the screen would not hold position was what you expect on an internal flight in economy. We were seated mid way through economy, the meal of choice was not available. For much of the flight the air hostesses were not to be seen. Will not be flying Malaysian by choice again.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Perth

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "LATAM is a complete fiasco!"

Review: I had 3 tickets. I needed to move the date for 1 of them, they insistently said on social networks that the date change could be done on their website, false! Then I called the call-center "in Argentina", they gave me a phone number in Buenos Aires but they answer from Colombia, they hung up the call 4 times, had to buy another ticket on a different airline, they were able to move the date 1 month later. For the 2nd ticket, they simply changed the date without asking the passengers, 2 days before the flight they changed it again. At the airport they didn't accept the PCR test for many passengers, even though it was right on schedule. For the 3rd ticket they just cancelled the flight 4 days before, no chance for refund, no answers in the call center, no answers in social networks, and what is worst, there's no chance to move the flight to a different date in their website. LATAM is a complete fiasco!

Route: Quito to Buenos Aires via Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bahamasair

Title: "staff were very friendly"

Review: Wanted to leave this review for two major reasons: 1) The reviews I read about the company were quite outdated and was not sure what to expect and 2) The number of bad reviews created a wrong source of expectation prior to my flights. My flight was a return one to Havana, Cuba (about 45-50 mins flying time). Even though the feedback for Bahamas Air was quite negative, I must say that it was much better than with other companies I've flown (WizzAir, Ryanair). The only negative thing was that the flight was delayed about 40 mins in each direction which is not something uncommon with flights generally. The staff were very friendly and for such a short fly they also served some snacks. I must outline that the crew even went the extra mile since they don't offer hot beverages on-board but were kind enough to find some for us. There was plenty of seats since the flight was half full. I didn't experience anything mentioned in the previous reviews like bad customer service, safety hazards during the flight, lost or delayed luggage. If this was something that might have been the case in the past, seems that the airline significantly improved.

Route: Nassau to Havana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: UP by El Al

Title: "take any other airline"

Review: Prague to Tel Aviv. If you are traveling to Israel avoid el al up . Questioning for 1.5 hours, treating passengers like theyre criminals, bad service. Will never fly again with them. Avoid anything with them. I dont wish this experience to anybody. Do yourself a favor and take any other airline.

Route: Prague to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "Ground service is non-existent"

Review: If you want to fly cheap, go for it. But beware: planes are 99% late. Ground service is non-existent (like priority boarding. Don't book any extra service, you only will be disappointed.

Route: Tbilisi to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "impressed by the entertainment"

Review: Glasgow to Heraklion. I was really impressed by the inflight entertainment system because I guess I was not expected it. Music during your flight (you have to have your own headphones) and also screens (not individuals but still you can manage to watch without problem) with different programs, mainly for children though (but I love cartoons!). The cabin crew was friendly and so was the pilot and the first officer who was informing the passengers throughout the whole journey about the weather and our estimate time or arrival. The price was incredibly good. Overall I highly recommend this airline and I will definitely fly again.

Route: Glasgow to Heraklion

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "used to be a great little airline"

Review: Davao to Singapore. SilkAir used to be a great little airline with good seat pitch, quality service and food/beverage options. Now I struggle to differentiate it from the low cost carriers. The only value proposition I see now for Silk air is connectivity to Singapore Airlines. Seat pitch seems little different to Cebu Pacific, request a beer and you get it poured half full into a small plastic cup with no refill offer. Food is bland and quantities reduced. I have flown this route periodically for 20 years and have gone from being a devotee of Silk Air to wondering why bother for the dollars paid.

Route: DVO to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "a customer friendly choice"

Review: This was my first flight on Kenya Airways. I was impressed with the service, cleanliness and punctuality at the airport as well as on flight. I would highly recommend the airline as a customer friendly choice.

Route: Nairobi to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "experience was horrendously poor"

Review: This round trip flight experience was horrendously poor, starting with having to board a bus each way, from the tarmac to the aircraft, and climb/ descend a steel stairway in extreme heat. Why can your aircraft not pull up to a gate jetway and board/ deplane normally? What is your malfunction? On the return flight to Riyadh, we were herded like livestock and squeezed on top of each other into busses and made to sit there for 30-40 minutes, in 40+ degree heat, because the aircraft was still being fueled up. Why didnt they just keep us in inside the terminal, at the gate, if the plane wasnt ready, instead of treating us like animals? Passengers were asked to show ID and boarding passes at least 8 times (I counted), from the time we enter the airport, until boarding the plane, which was delayed because it wasnt fueled. This is an understandable delay and does happen, but why subject us to the heat outside? If airport busses are shared by airlines, they werent going anywhere, anyway, overloaded and way over capacity. Is this standard operating procedure on FlyDubai, especially during a pandemic? We had to put our carry on belongings down on the ground when exiting the bus in 40 degree heat and before ascending the aircraft stairway to show ID and boarding pass. Do they think that a random, middle aged white woman just ran up on the tarmac from out of nowhere and is trying to board their plane to Riyadh? I was asked for ID again, for the 8th time, as I finally boarded the plane. They switched our seats, as well. Our boarding passes did not reflect the seats we initially chose, online, and someone was sitting in the seat I purchased, weeks earlier. Put others in the remaining seats. The flight attendants were very obviously in physical distress from the heat and stress of this fiasco and I was concerned about the one performing preflight safety procedures, who looked like she might pass out. As an experienced world traveler, I would not recommend FlyDubai, nor would I fly them again. The well being, safety and quality of flight for passengers is quite obviously, not a priority.

Route: Dubai to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "a trick to scam users"

Review: Prague to Brussels. When traveling with my luggage and a small laptop bag, they tried to charge me 45 and force me to put one of them in the hold. They stated that this policy is clearly mentioned when you but the flight but I disagree. It was not clear and it's completely unfair. The laptop bag fits under the seat so, it's not a matter of space but a trick to scam users. The ironic part is that I was able to put my laptop bag inside the luggage and they didn't have problems me carrying my laptop and a book inside the plane. When I bought the ticket, another Airline (Brussels Airlines) had same prices on the same route and almost identical schedules. It's clear which airline I will fly with next time.

Route: Prague to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "staff members started shouting"

Review: Mumbai to Lucknow on 8 Feb. I was gobsmacked with the way I saw Go Air staff talk to people in general. First, there was no announcement or guidance for business class passengers. Then there was no clarity as there were two very long queues. Suddenly the two staff members started shouting. When I clarified the issue, they understood the problem. Then they started talking to a girl in a way that I am shocked how Go Air management allows this behaviour. Shocking! Something tells me you can buy a good seat but how can you buy quality service or basic professional behavior.

Route: Mumbai to Lucknow

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "Transit was a breeze"

Review: I have flown with KE a few times now. This time around it was less than stellar. Arrived 3hrs and 30 minutes prior to departure. Well, check-in wasn't a pleasant experience. It took me 1 hour to check in luggage due to the fact there was only 2 counters opened and there was a huge line to check in. Transit was a breeze and enjoyable due to the fact that Korean Air uses the new T2 in Incheon. The flight to JFK was good and comfortable, food was good. No complains here. Aside from the 1 hour check in, it was still a good experience. I have read bad reviews about seat comfort, but you get leg room which is around 33-34 and lets remember most airlines comes with a 31-32 leg room.

Route: Cebu to New York via Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: Meridiana customer review

Review: We booked our flight in January. When we called, we requested and purchased an infant bassinet. When we arrived at the airport, we confirmed our bassinet. When we got on the plane, we were not in a bassinet seat. They gave us the option of having our infant sit in front of other people but would not ask the people to switch seats with us. We were then told that the seats that are in front of the bassinets are extra leg room and we need to purchase them in advance. We would have, if we had been told. Instead, I was stuck holding my son for 9 hours. While we were in Italy, we continuously called the airline to confirm our seats for the return flight. We were shuffled around by customer service, left on hold, then hung up on. Because we couldn't speak to anyone to have it taken care of, we went to the airport early to make sure we did not run into any problems again. We booked our bassinet and the extra leg room seats. Row 35. We get on the plane, and again, they messed up. The bassinet was in front of seats a and b and h and l. They gave us seats d and e. Luckily, the people who were in the bassinet seats were nice and switched with us. There was a man with an infant on the plane who ran into the same problem we did on our way out. There was one working bathroom on the whole plane, it was not cleaned at all in the 10 hours we were on board. The crew was notified by many passengers but they did not clean it. They went in to change toilet paper rolls and tissues, so they saw how disgusting it was. If you wanted a drink, you had to go to the back of the plane and get it from the cart, while the flight attendants ignored you. I thought it would be better to fly direct to Sicily and this airline was the only option. In the future, I would rather have a layover than deal with this terrible airline.

Route: JFK to Palermo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jeju Air

Title: "I will definitely recommend"

Review: Clark to Seoul. Smooth flight on Jeju Air and I am impressed. I had to think twice on booking because Jeju Air has a bad review and most of its customers were left unhappy and unsatisfied on their flight. So we took the risk and booked. On the flight day we are expecting to pay for our baggage as the website says our ticket doesnt have a free baggage allowance. Usually, LCCs allow their passengers one check in baggage per person. But in the airport, we were three. The check in agent checked our bags for free - 5 pieces! The flight was very smooth. Though the attendants were not always present on the cabin. They just served the free water before landing. I will definitely recommend.

Route: Clark to Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "no food given, rude staff"

Review: Amsterdam to Lahore via Jeddah. Cancelled 5 days in advance, after a lot searching, translating and arguing finally got to speak to someone(none of the numbers work) via WhatsApp. 3 different people promised me tickets would be refunded every time I spoke someone new apparently the previous person forgot to start the refund procedure. Finally got refunded a little less than half the amount paid, no explanation. No one to complain to or ask for info. Bad service on flight no food given, rude staff

Route: Amsterdam to Lahore via Jeddah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "worst airline experience"

Review: Vancouver to Islamabad via Beijing. One of the worst airline experience. First delayed or lost luggage for 3 weeks. Then 2 piece completely damaged. They are offering free hotel outside Beijing Airport but it's scam since they know that airport would not let you out at all. We were family of 5 and stuck at airport for 24 hours among lot other families. Transit lounge booking is also pathetic. Bad food seats and customer service. No or very few English - great barrier. They offer cheap rates but worst service.

Route: Vancouver to Islamabad via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "missed our connection to Boston"

Review: Catania to Boston via Rome. At Catania Airport when we were informed our flight was cancelled but not given a reason. One person at the service desk said it was the weather-other flights were leaving and arriving, others said it was a transport strike- We needed a written reason to fulfil the terms of our travel insurance. A service person said we could get the answer on line. He tried but could not produce a website with the answer. We were bused from Catania 1.5 hrs to Comiso Airport - we never received new tickets and were simply boarded on a flight to Rome. We missed our connection to Boston and were bused to a 3rd rate hotel in suburban Rome, offered a dinner of pasta and pork (which we don't eat) and told to be up at 6 am the next day for a flight leaving for Boston at 10:55 am. Breakfast was a bag with a bottle of water, dried cracker, stale croissant, and juice box. The flight to Boston was horrendous. The meal choice was gone by the time the attendant came by - she offered me her meal which was very kind. The entertainment offerings were horrible and for me the system didn't work and wifi never worked. When I checked on several flight tracker sites AZ 1724 was listed as departing from Catania!

Route: Catania to Boston via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: LC Perú

Title: "I would recommend this airline"

Review: Flew with LC Peru from Cusco to Lima (1.05H flight). Small Boeing 737-500 (old Lufthansa). Legroom was limited, but okay for the duration of the flight. They offered one drink and a small snack (two cookies). Flight was smooth, the price for the ticket was low (included one piece of baggage of 30KG). Crew friendly, and efficient. Plane was old, it was ok. Overall, good value for money. Short flights are ok, plane looks good, and seats were ok. Don't expect too much, but I would recommend this airline for domestic flights in Peru.

Route: Cusco to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tunisair

Title: "lack of information"

Review: Over 4h delay on a 1h 45 min flight from Tunis to Barcelona. What's more frustrating is the lack of information. No Tunisair representative knows what's going on, what's causing the delay, or when we will take over. Do not take this airline unless you want to be stranded.

Route: Tunis to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "catering is awful"

Review: There is no real point in flying Qantas. Ever since Alan Joyce became CEO of this once iconic airline, it has gone bad to worse. You may as well fly budget and purchase cheese and crackers for five dollars. The flight to Cairns is at 8.15pm, takes two and a half hours, arriving in Cairns around 11.15pm. Good flight but catering is awful - took the cold option of chicken and wild rice salad. Chicken cold and stuck together and rice the same. Whoever is in charge of Qantas catering and came up with the idea of boxed meals needs to be sacked. Qantas charges more expensive fares than ever yet lowers its standards. What a shame.

Route: DRW to CNS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "unpleasant and uncomfortable experience"

Review: We flew Avianca from Washington DC to Sao Paulo, Brazil. We purchased the seats. On our way back, we learned at Sao Paulo airport that our seats are no longer available and sold to someone else. We needed seats with extra leg room due to medical condition. Two different Avianca staff offered two different reasons why the seats were no longer available to us (one staff said we may not have paid, even upon showing him the receipts with our seat numbers, he said he can not see that in the system), with a bit of rude attitude. The other staffer told us that its a different plane and seat selection were no longer valid. Communication in English was a challenge as the Avianca staff at Sao Paulo and Bogota do not seem to speak much of English. Our tickets mentioned in-flight meal as "snacks", but we actually had to buy snacks even water during the flight. Overall, quite an unpleasant and uncomfortable experience. We will never fly with Avianca again.

Route: Washington to Sao Paulo via Bogota

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "Totally appalling experience"

Review: I flew Business Class to Las Palmas from Cardiff. Flights excellent and on-time, I couldn't fault their performance. What overshadowed the whole trip was the way in which I was treated in Madrid Airport by a gate clerk. I entered the wrong line for priority boarding and eventually was able to join the correct line. For some reason this angered the woman at the gate who decided to explode with anger at me for no reason about why I was in the wrong queue etc. I was so shocked by her behaviour. When I told her off for speaking to me in such an aggressive way and I took back my passport with a curt "thank you" she ran down the jetty (leaving her desk and other passengers) to verbally abuse me more. I have never experienced anything quite like it in 15 years of flying Iberia. I put in a complaint about her behaviour but heard nothing back. Totally appalling experience and never again.

Route: Cardiff to Gran Canaria via Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Go First

Title: "Horrible customer service"

Review: Horrible customer service. They rescheduled the flight and sent me an email for the same. But this email had the incorrect time mentioned in it. When we reached the check in counter they simply told me that the flight had taken off and nothing could be done now. No help/solution provided from their staff even though it was their mistake of mistyping the correct flight time. After a lot of struggle with them, they charged us for a layover flight for us which delayed our travel time by more than 24 hrs. They did not provide any accomodation even though we were 3 females and had to wait overnight for the next flight. Our route was Bengaluru to Bombay and the Layover provided to us was Lucknow. Extremely pathetic attitude displayed by the Bengaluru Go First staff. Never travelling by this airlines ever again.

Route: Bengaluru to Lucknow via Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "staff are ultra attentive"

Review: Royal Brunei Airlines Business Class ticks every box. Flew from Melbourne to London via Dubai and Brunei. The Dreamliner is a great aircraft, the BC configuration has only 18 seats that recline to a flat bed, staff are ultra attentive, food is great, inflight entertainment is fine (without being over extensive). It makes top class Business Class travel affordable for so many more people.

Route: MEL to LHR via DXB and BWN

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "Client service is practically non-existent"

Review: Horrible. Client service is practically non-existent. After one of my flights was cancelled, they put me on another flight which left 30 hours earlier, leaving me with 32 hours between my flights. Tried to contact Sri Lankan Airlines for 2 weeks, but only Facebook Messenger replied, and they couldn't help me. Contacted their phone number in Belgium and in The Netherlands, but none of them could help me. Wasted 30 calling to Colombo to stand in the waiting line for over 10 minutes. Finally, just 1.5 days before I was going to fly (and after stalking them on Facebook Messenger), they contacted me and rescheduled my second flight, so I left one day earlier than planned. On board, entertainment wasn't working at first, then, once it "worked", you couldn't watch a film because it froze all the time. Will never fly with them again.

Route: Brussels to London via Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "canceled one day before the actual flight"

Review: I booked a flight to Asia with them from LAX and they canceled one day before the actual flight, changed the flight to another one 10 days later. I had to spend hours just to try to speak to someone on 5 different lines of communication (messenger only), and hours later, they would say "oh as a courtesy, we won't charge any fees to change but you only get one change", despite the cancelation and flight change being 100% their fault, and offered dates that were still 5 days from the original date. No reimbursements, no apologies as the agent kept stating that he would cancel my itinerary instead of answering my questions on alternative available flights as he kept saying "until you have a definite answer". I ended up having to request a full cancelation and refund, so I could book an immediate international flight leaving the next day (costing me much more) and the agent has said that the refund will be completed in 90 days, after initiating the refund request. While looking up more on their policies, there are multiple reviews of customers stating their experiences with sudden cancelations and delays and how they still have not received their refunds. Just do your research and due diligence but I cannot trust nor will use Philippine Airlines again.

Route: Los Angeles to Seoul via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "best airline on the route"

Review: Dili to Denpasar. Citilink has taken over Air Timor's Dili to Denpasar charter and, while not as good as Garuda, they are probably the best airline on the route (probably the most expensive too). They had a shiny A320 but they had packed 31 rows into it and there was no legroom for anyone over 175cm tall. No entertainment but that's ok on a 1.5 hour flight. Staff were quite good, food was ok. Citilink is ranked as a safe airline by our security advisors - possibly just piggybacking on Garuda's rating but I didn't notice any dodgy practices. Garuda's probably trying to position Citilink as the premiere Indonesian regional airline and they seem to be doing pretty well.

Route: DIL to DPS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "the worst major European airline"

Review: . The BA first lounge at Terminal 5 was a zoo at 2pm, dirty tables and used tableware everywhere. Worse than this, the usual atrocious boarding gate service, and boarding started 50 mins late. The flight was operated by a Finnair A320, which is barely low cost standard let alone business class. Hard, thin, uncomfortable seats, poor legroom and the cabin was simply tatty - I remain shocked that BA allow this, and it's time for BA's CEO and management focused on standards rather than bean counting. Finnair cabin staff were fundamentally courteous, but they provide a very trimmed down, budget airline type service, as the whole trip turned out to be - and yet this business class ticket was one of the more expensive on recent trips. I thought post Covid that BA were better for a few months, but with the many cost cuts they are making, they fall well below all other European full service Airlines.

Route: London Heathrow to Malaga

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "worst I've ever encountered"

Review: This airline is undoubtedly the worst I've ever encountered. Prepare yourself for a mind-boggling level of disorganization and sheer incompetence. They take delay torment to a whole new level, making you suffer through agonizing 6-hour delays with zero explanation. And as if that's not enough, they have the audacity to charge you a ridiculous $25 fee just to attempt to reach their so-called customer service phone line, only to have them hang up on you without a care in the world. Picture this: you're already subjected to a mind-numbing 6-hour delay, and on top of that, they have the gall to demand $25 from you for the privilege of contacting them.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Uzbekistan Airways

Title: "cheap seat with extra legroom"

Review: Beijing to Frankfurt via Tashkent. Check in at T2 in Beijing was easy and staff were giving priority to business class passengers. Lounge was okay even so I would not be happy if I was hungry. Boarding and flight were almost on time which in Beijing is almost like a miracle. Flight attendants were not over the top but decent and friendly. Food was not my taste but I guess this is a matter of what you prefer. Transit experience was nice for the lounge but transit staff at Tashkent were not so helpful and for some reason kept me waiting in a corner and could not tell me what for only to tell me then I could walk on now. Lounge run out of beer and food were snacks at best which you have to heat up by yourself. Internet was not working for me. On the leg to Frankfurt last minute change to Boeing 757 rather 767. Plenty of upgrades as a result as economy overbooked. The plane was old not very comfy for sleeping. The 767 before was much better and even so not a full flat seat it was alright to sleep. So seats are dependent on aircraft used. B767 is okay B757 is not. Guess 787 would be okay as well. Things are kept clean, IFE is utterly useless. Transfer in TAS easy if they do or tell you to wait for no good reason. Staff is average, which means like they seem to do their job alright but there was no pleasant surprises in service concept at all. Well considering they were cheap I would say I recommend to fly if all you are really after is a cheap seat with extra legroom. If you want a full business class experience I would avoid them.

Route: Beijing to Frankfurt via Tashkent

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "never been on such an awful flight"

Review: My husband and I have just had the misfortune to fly with this airline. We booked with Thomas Cook and this was the airline they choose to use and we had already paid our deposit before we realised. I have never been on such an awful flight ever! We were rammed in like sardines, my husband who is average height just about had his knees under his chin. The seats were narrow too so you became well acquainted with your neighbour. The aircraft was far too hot and the air conditioning was totally inadequate. There was no in-flight entertainment, not even the usual booklet in the seat pockets. Menus of the food they were selling were not available so the in-flight service took forever which inconvenienced anyone wanting to use one of the two toilets aboard. It was packed with children, I have never known so many children on a flight given it was not school holidays, most of who screamed and cried for all four and half hours. The adults werent much better as they too seemed to have no volume control either. The staff made no effort to ask parents to control their children or to assist with suggestions of how distract them or ease their distress. I have flown with football fans after a long delay at Heathrow and that was far less noisy. We thought the flight out was maybe just bad luck, however the return flight was just as awful. One minor plus, we had none of the much mentioned problems with the online check-in.

Route: Manchester to Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "doesn't care about the passengers"

Review: The flight was canceled from Moscow to Dubai due to technical reasons and postponed to be at 4:30 am and I had a horrible situation with the hotel stating that they need the immigration paper to book me a room in the hotel. After 7 hours from searching they gave the paper and no time for me to rest because of the boarding time opened. The departure time was delayed for another hour. We reached to Dubai but unfortunately they didn't provide the buses until 45 minutes to reach us. Its disappointing to have such a bad airline from my own country carrying the name of Dubai with this awful procedures and inconvenient policies that doesn't care about the passengers. This is my last time to fly from this airline and i will never ever recommend anyone to fly on flydubai to anywhere.

Route: Dubai to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aurigny Air

Title: "cancelling Leeds flight is regular occurrence"

Review: The flight was scheduled from Leeds Bradford to Guernsey at 14.15 on Monday 13 February and was cancelled once we had checked in baggage. No reason was given but we were bused to Manchester where we boarded an alternative flight at 1915. It was notable that there were no adverse weather conditions and regular travellers on the flight indicate that cancelling the Leeds flight is a regular occurrence in order to fill the Manchester flight - this seems a method of marketing the Manchester flight! Surprise surprise the Leeds Flight was also cancelled on Monday 20 February!

Route: Leeds Bradford to Guernsey

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "arrived at the airport only 1 hour before"

Review: We were traveling as a family (5 people). Because of an accident by the airport, we arrived at the airport only 1 hour before the flight. The kiosk was unable to read one of our passports and we had to go to check-in. The lady at the check-in checked the passport and gave us a boarding pass. Because we had no extra time, we headed straight to security and didnt realize the lady gave us a duplicated boarding pass (not of the passport holder). We got stuck in security because of that, couldnt figure out what was wrong. We only didnt miss the flight because we ran through the airport with a 70 year old and a 9 year old included in the party. The staff at the gate was very cordial and helpful once we arrived there.

Route: Gatwick to Venice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flynas

Title: "not covered by any kind of support"

Review: Although there were 9 passengers waiting in the airport, the airline closed the registration, leaving these passengers with no support for the weekend. No available solutions, the only answer I get after two days of complete silence, I am not covered by any kind of support.

Route: Cairo to Medina via Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "do not recommend anyone to fly it"

Review: Air China is the worst airline ever, their customer service is inexistent, they do not answer calls. On hold for over 2 hours each time and half their Phone numbers for customer service do not work / are paying. Their premium economy is a complete rip-off, you basically get the same seat as economy with one seat next to you empty. I will never fly this airline again and do not recommend anyone to fly it. With this type of customer service.

Route: Montreal to Singapore via Beijing

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "plane overbooked, rude staff"

Review: Checked our family in a non existing row in the plane. Row 32 on a 31 row plane. Once at the airport had to check in again with seats all over the plane. One person to assist hundreds of people, let's say as if no one at all. Once at the gate: plane overbooked, rude staff probably fed up on handling the same situation on most flights since there was two other family in the same situation.

Route: Barcelona to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "the violin case was over the length limit"

Review: I travelled with my wife and two daughters. They were in seats row 20 while my wife and I were in row 19 which were in different zones for boarding. My older daughter carried one violin with her, with the case Jakob Winter size 805mm x 208mm x 138mm, weight 1.5kg. My two daughters boarded first with boarding zone 2. When I and my wife boarded with zone 3, we found our older daughter was denied boarding by a cabin crew and stood by the front door of the plane for the reason that the violin case was over the length limit and she demanded us to buy another seat for the instrument or else check it in. We informed that the violin was over 100 years old wood and could not be checked in as it will be destroyed. My daughter also told the cabin crew that she had flown in many airlines and many flights, including the outbound flight on Thai AirAsia (DMK-HDY) without any problem with this violin and the case before. Staff said the flight was full, so there would be no space in the overhead compartment to fit in the violin. We had asked her why the outbound flight (DMK-HDY) was also full but there was no problem. She then called in the ground staff to come talk to us. We had informed him the same, and showed him the violin case. He let us into the seats and we put the case on the overhead compartment without any problem as there was plenty of space. I understand that the length of the case was not under 560mm as required by the airline, however the overall size and weight were much less than a regular cabin luggage, and the fact that many people on that flight were carrying many large luggage and shopping bags onto that flight. I do not feel that we were treated the right way.

Route: Bangkok to Hat Yai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "planes are old, noisy and not clean"

Review: Flew Rome to Larnaca via Fiumicino. I do not think Blue Air should be rated anything more than 2 stars, the planes are old, noisy and not clean. Flight attendants are generally impolite and not professional. Food onboard is best avoided. Their website can not be used for online check in as it keeps crashing over and over, leading you to go to the airport three hours earlier just to avoid the middle seat. The ground staff in FCO and LCA are always friendly, but that is because they are not the company itself. When I am dealing with the ground staff in Bucharest I am only wishing I had chosen another company. I only fly with them due to a lack of a viable alternative, (Aegean flies through Athens, but their comfort does not comes cheap). Overall I even find Ryanair to be more pleasurable.

Route: Rome to Larnaca via Fiumicino

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jin Air

Title: Jin Air customer review

Review: Strictly a ride from one place to another and not a very good ride at that. There were no pillows, blankets, headphones, or TVs. Just a seat. They served a lunch box with cold snacks and a cup of water. They did have was plenty of screaming babies, for 4.5 hours one would start and the others would chime in. So, you folks that had a good flight, good on you. But for my money I will read the fine print a little closer when I book a flight with Korean Air only to have it operated by Jin Air.

Route: Seoul to Guam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LC Perú

Title: "there are still no reply"

Review: It is a return trip from Lima to Cusco. In the outgoing trip, LC Peru cancel the flight and give me the ticket for the next flight (4 hours later) without any reason and explain. In the returning trip. The flight was cancelled. At the boarding gate and ground service, we were told there are bad weather. But in the cancel certification, the reason is operational reason. On that day (Mar. 5 2018), the weather was perfect, and almost all the other airlines operates normally. I have send e-mail for refund or the explain twice, but there are still no reply.

Route: Lima to Cusco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "would not recommend this airline"

Review: First time flying with Air Malta from Frankfurt to Malta and Malta to Berlin TXL using their old A320 and A319. I would say, this airline is worse than low-cost airlines serving the same route. My both flights delayed about 20 minutes. Nevertheless they arrived in-time as scheduled. What I have paid for the ticket was not equal to the service which I got. Drinks and snacks for the economy passengers are for a fee. The seats were dirty. I assume as their Airbus was a lease plane. Hence, I would not recommend this airline to fly to Malta. Better to have a stop-over but good services.

Route: Frankfurt to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "no alternative travel option"

Review: My Go Air flight G8-118 scheduled to fly from Bengaluru to Delhi on 5th June 2020, was cancelled and was intimated to us 24 hours before departure. There was no alternative travel option provided and neither the refund is initiated. This airlines can cancel the scheduled flight anytime and deny the refund. Their customer service does not answer the calls.

Route: Bengaluru to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "Worst airline company"

Review: Montreal to Beijing. Worst airline company, this is the only Chinese airline which refused to provide full refund for tickets cancelled before Jan 28. The government set up policies about refunding but this firm is just playing word games.

Route: Montreal to Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CityJet

Title: "would fly this airline again"

Review: Genoa to Paris. This was an Air France flight operated by local carrier CityJet. Everything was done through the Air France website and I was able to upgrade to business class for around 200. The business class seat was probably one of the smallest seat I ever flown, however the service was fantastic and for a flight that lasted under two hours there is really nothing to complain about. The airplane had four engines thing that I found quite interesting since it was very small aircraft. I was served a full breakfast that was very nice and the presentation was five star. I would fly this airline again without hesitation.

Route: Genoa to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "it is so dysfunctional"

Review: Perth to Bali. It is difficult to know where to start with Tigerair as it is so dysfunctional, from extremely poor customer service to the extent of lying to customers on more than one occasion. Cancelling flights and not informing customers, leaving them to find alternative travel arrangements with not even an apology. Promising a refund and not giving one.

Route: PER to DPS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "service is not worth the headache"

Review: Do not fly Avelo! This has been the worst airline experience of my life and I am a seasoned traveler. Delays both ways in excess of 12 hours total with absolutely no information on why or how long. They just kept saying were boarding shortly which turns into hours. That was after we boarded the first time after a 45 minute delay only to be told we had to get back off and ended up waiting another 5 hours. The desk clerks are rude and there are zero offers or alternatives for reimbursement or accommodations. All they say is call customer service and getting through to is impossible. I recently lost my job so decided to give them a shot since they are so cheap, but never again. Their service is even cheaper and not worth the headache. The only upside was once in the air, it was a smooth flight.

Route: Raleigh to Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "They were of no help"

Review: Horrible, I do not understand why Delta did a partnership with this company. They need to get rid of it. I am a platinum medallion member of Delta and had a duplicate booking with ITA. I spoke with the ITA staff at the airport who told me to call a number to void a booking and receive a refund, it was a Delta operated flight and I had two exact bookings. They were of no help.

Route: Milan to New York

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "I will never recommend this airline"

Review: I needed to send my dog from San Francisco to Medellin and had to use Copa Cargo. During the booking process I was misinformed about a document then I had to be the one to call and figure out what I was missing. They had not sent me the form I needed in the initial email and had I not called I would have never known about said document. When we took our dog to Copa Cargo in San Francisco they did not want to accept said document because it had been printed out by our vet and was not an original copy mailed to us, even tho the USDA website clearly states that a completed signed document can be printed by our vet and accepted. We finally got that figured out and they accepted the printed copy because turns out they were wrong and it was allowed to accept that one. Well then in Panamá on our layover we tried to inquire about the well-being of our dog after the flight and we were told at the Copa Service Center that they did not handle that type of thing and that we had to talk to another department. They didnt even have a phone number or contact for that department tho! The woman at Copa Service Center was no help at all and didnt take my concerns about my dog seriously. We were fed up and exhausted by this point but it got worse. When we finally landed in Medellin we were not informed about the process of what is needed to successfully and accurately check out our dog from Copa Cargo so we spent an additional 4 hours driving back and fourth from the airport to their cargo building trying to figure out everything that we needed to get our dog. Our dog spent more than 24 hours locked in his kennel, with no food or water because of this airlines negligence. I will never recommend this airline.

Route: San Francisco to Medellin via Panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SCAT Airlines

Title: "inflight a nice sandwich"

Review: Astana to Almaty. After A friendly check in with check in luggage allowance without any supplemental charge I proceeded to the gate. This aircraft was quite old, the interior a little worn but OK for the short flight. Sweets were offered before take off, then inflight a nice sandwich with non-alcoholic beverages, and finally tea and coffee. Before landing again sweets. The crew handled the service professionally but in a non smiling manner. For the price paid this airline offers good value for money and to a level that low cost carriers in Europe do not reach.

Route: Astana to Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "seats were incredibly uncomfortable"

Review: Flew Birmingham to Paphos with Thomson Airways. Boarding was carried out quickly and efficiently. Once on board we found our seats, extra legroom seats which we had paid extra for. The plane looked old and tired inside. The seats themselves were incredibly uncomfortable. There seemed to be almost no padding on the back rest which made it a very uncomfortable journey. The other problem I encountered was the noise from the engines onboard, it was without doubt the loudest cabin I have been in for years.

Route: BHX to PFO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "My roller bag was overweight"

Review: Berlin to Oslo. My roller bag was overweight so could not be a carry on and I had to check it at a cost of 90 euros per leg. I have never had a good experience with their ticket counter, they are short with me and seem to be bothered by my mere presence. I would never recommend this airline.

Route: Berlin to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "used to genuinely care about its customers"

Review: Alaska Airlines used to be my go to airline, I have been a loyal customer since 2009. I would fly other airlines only when I had to. Anymore AK air could be compared with Spirit Airline, but more expensive. I never used to worry about delays, cancellations, lost baggage, or rude staff. However, now I can honestly say expect all of those things with every trip. AK air used to genuinely care about its customers, but that is no longer the case.

Route: Tampa to Anchorage via Seallte

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Comair

Title: "Well done on customer service"

Review: Flight BA6314 Durban to Cape Town was a disaster, plane had technical issues and we were not able to use that plane. I was informed via a phone call from BA while on the way to the airport that there would be no Business Class on the new chartered flight. I'm not a snob, but it was a surprise gift for my 74 year old mother. Long story short, we flew on Global Air a chartered plane from JNB. It was late and cramped but comfortable enough, and staff very attentive. We were offered ZAR1000 flight voucher as compensation for no Business class. The difference between the two classes was ZAR3000 each per ticket. Upon return I emailed Comair and was very expertly helped by David who did some bartering regarding refunds. At the end of the day I was given a ZAR6000 Kulula/Comair voucher to be used for 1 year as compensation. Well done on customer service and well handled by all involved.

Route: Durban to Cape Town

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "I missed my connection"

Review: The departure time was 5am, the flight was on time but the plane decided to wait for latecomers. We waited 2 hour in the departure lounge and then another 30 minutes in the plane. The captain tried to reassure everyone that we would make up the time. I missed my connection. Many people were ushered to hotel which took 1 hour before we got there. the reception at Miracle hotel was passable but the restaurant staff were arrogant to the point where they refused access to the Pegasus travellers. We were made to sit and wait.

Route: Karachi to Dalaman via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "disappointed with Jetstar"

Review: Yangon to Singapore. Totally disappointed with Jetstar. Feedback to Jtstar online about their poor management in checking in group check in. On 22 Feb, there is a big group checking in, group calling out to their members to filled up their luggage weight to maximize and not pay extra $$$. The queue is super long and the staff did nothing. I went to online jetstar feedback and told them about having a group check in and not to delay other passengers. The only reply I get from Jetstar is they will feedback to their team leaders. And they shut off my online chat without letting me reply.

Route: Yangon to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "Nightmare airline"

Review: Nightmare airline, avoid at all costs. Our 1.5 hour trip turned into a 17 hour hellstorm. First, none of the check-in machines even acknowledged we had a trip with them. I wouldn't waste your time with those. We were notified our second connecting flight was cancelled while our first plane was taxiing, thus having no recourse. No reason was stated, but judging from the amount of people who were also in line for the hotel, it was clearly underbooked. When we got off the first plane, no gate attendants were there, and the ticketing desks were completely empty. When we asked the information desk, they said they had all gone home for the evening. The notification gave no further details, and despite the website saying otherwise, we were NOT automatically rebooked for a new flight. We were effectively stranded. We called support. She couldn't find our trip for a while, and kept asking us our names over and over again. Once finally found, she put us on hold for five minutes and then hung up. It wasn't a disconnect, because it thanked us for our call. We called again. The second agent refused to speak to my partner in German despite having an accent and the airline being based in Dusseldorf. Luckily, I can, and explained to her our situation. We were booked on a new flight in the morning via Frankfurt, so thus another two flights before we were home. We were informed there were no accommodations provided and that we had to book our own hotel. Further, when I asked for a discount on our ticket, they said we're not entitled to one. We get a hotel for the night and get up to go to our flights. After waiting 30 minutes in the queue for three agents to help what must have been 200 people (the queue nearly going out the airport doors), we get to the booth and find out that the rescheduled flights weren't even with Eurowings but with their parent company Lufthansa, and that they couldn't even check us in. We were directed to a Lufthansa desk that told us they couldn't do compensation, and gave us only our first boarding pass. We had to get our actual boarding passes at the gate for some reason. During our security check, both my partner and I were "selected" for a manual screening. We get to the gate, and after waiting 30 minutes for our first flight's gate desk queue, which was delayed, we find out that we're on standby - for both flights. We had seat reservations on the original booking, and paid more than a "cheap airline" in Europe usually costs to boot. Given that the flight was with Lufthansa and not Eurowings, they were able to find us seats, albeit them being on opposite ends of the plane. Our second flight was also on standby and we were originally told we had to wait, but I think the other gate agent saw us taking a breath to simultaneously demand that we speak to a supervisor, took the tickets out of the other's hand, and found us seats together for our final leg. She was also very nice to boot, something the Eurowings employees were anything but. We now have to fight with the company's terrible website and customer support to be compensated for our overnight stay. Stay away.

Route: Vienna to Berlin via Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Solomon Airlines

Title: "Leg room quite good"

Review: Flew Solomon Airlines from Brisbane to Honiara. We boarded to be greeted by smiling attendants. The flight was not too full so we had 3 seats to ourselves. Leg room was quite good. IFE was just a screen panel lowered from the ceiling, watched a movie. The meal was lunch, we had the beef and it was delicious. Staff came around to check if we needed any more drinks, throughout the flight.

Route: BNE to HIR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "I haven't got any real help"

Review: They lost my baby stroller during the interchange in Dubai. The baby stroller has been delivered in a few days, but as I already went to another city I was not able to get it from the airport. They don't deliver it to your address, you have to pick it up from the airport yourself. When I got a baby stroller, some important parts weren't there. I've contacted flydubai baggage service team and claimed that we can't use the baby stroller without those parts as it's just not safe, but for more than 10 days and more than 4 emails already I haven't got any real help.

Route: Nursultan via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "a miserable experience"

Review: Marrakesh to Malta via Madrid. Most disorganized airline I have had the misfortune of flying!! Our complaint with Iberia airlines began when we were stuck waiting to board at the rear doors of the aircraft on the steps in the hot Moroccan sun for 20 minutes, only to be told they needed to close the rear door so we would have to walk to the front. My mother, with her bad knee, and I walked back to the front doors of the aircraft where we were the last ones on board. At the top of the steps a man begins putting tags on our hand luggage without saying a word to us. I ask if this means they will have to be checked and he just says No space and gestures inside. I understand we are the last ones on the plane (not intentionally) so there is no space left but they could at least tell us what was happening with our bags instead of taking our luggage without a word. Inside the plane, there is no soap in the toilets which we realized after another passenger spilt Coca Cola on top of my mother wearing all white. Now the belt is ruined, shirt stained, and my mother is completely sticky. On arrival in Madrid, we wait to collect our bags next to the plane as the agent in Marrakech had instructed us. One of the flight attendants informed us that our bags were probably en route to the final destination of Malta. We replied that there was no information given, as to our final destination, so we deduced that the bags must be in Madrid. We are then told that most likely our bags were in Madrid but we would have to go outside security to collect them and then come back. After waiting at the baggage claim the bags finally arrived. We narrowly made our next flight and were one of the last on this flight as well. On our next flight we were lied to by two agents saying there was absolutely no space for our bags but once we were inside we found at least 10 empty spaces (as well as numerous empty seats) that we could have used rather than leaving our bags to get lost again. Overall a miserable experience flying with Iberia, I would recommend flying any of the low-cost airlines who have a better standard of service than this. I would have rather swam through the med than gone through this. My mother might not have many trips left and this company certainly ruined one of them.

Route: Marrakesh to Malta via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "Arrived on time, quiet flight"

Review: QF1790, October 22, Brisbane to Townsville. Booked to fly 21 October but got a message flight changed to very late evening so contacted customer service and told original flight cancelled. I asked for the next morning flight and was given that with no extra charge. Checked in on mobile and boarding pass on mobile. Very quick through security but my mobile boarding pass disappeared just before boarding so went to customer service desk and issued with paper boarding pass after being asked for photo ID which is a first at domestic but not complaining. Seat 22c aisle. What I like about this plane is 2-3 configuration. No gluten free meal on this flight but just ask if they have gluten free biscuits and cabin crew have some and drinks served. Arrived on time, quiet flight.

Route: Brisbane to Townsville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Shanghai Airlines

Title: Shanghai Airlines customer review

Review: I fly with this airline regularly between Shanghai and Hong Kong because it's one of the few airlines that lands in Shanghai Hongqiao airport, which is more convenient for me. Convenience is my only motivation, as this airline is bad. Poor food. Staff will tell you to switch off your phone 30 mins before landing, but do not stop customers using phones. Seats are uncomfortable. I really wish there were more options between SHA and HK - but unfortunately I am stuck with Shanghai Airlines.

Route: Hong Kong to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "helpful and friendly staff"

Review: Luton to Newark return with La Compagnie. The deal of business class flight with five nights at a central NYC hotel was right up our street. It turned out to be a very successful and enjoyable. The flights were very good and punctual. Helpful and friendly staff, very comfortable seats, good entertainment but the food was the star. Delicious and well presented. We used the business class lounges and at Newark our boarding card got us 20% duty free discount. Highly recommended.

Route: LTN to EWR

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "I wouldn't trust them"

Review: We checked into our flight Prague to Tallin with a layover in Warsaw. When we arrived to the airport in Prague, we had our tickets printed and saw that we were on standby from Warsaw to Tallin but had seats since early morning for Prague to Warsaw. We we're not okay with this because as it is, we would into Tallin at 11:30pm with a flight to NY at 7am the next morning but then to also be put on standby? When we asked the attendants at the check in, they told us that the flight was overbooked and that we'd have to wait to speak to the LOT transfer desk in Warsaw. While we weren't happy, it was our own fault (I guess; still unsure how we were able to check in fine for Prague to Warsaw but not the end destination from Warsaw) for not paying for selected seats. I called the customer support line to try to upgrade. There are no upgrades available that I have to see the LOT transfer desk in Warsaw. I try to ask the woman at the gate if we can upgrade as well on the off chance maybe the previous agent was wrong. She says no, so I asked if she could tell us how full the plane was, she tells us not full but close to full. This at least gave me hope, though I still didn't understand why we didn't have a seat assignment at check in if the plane wasn't full. But anyway, we get to Warsaw, I go to the transfer desk where there is a huge line and my boyfriend heads to the gate in case someone is there with a shorter line. He comes back because of course no one is at the gate yet, we wait in line at the transfer desk for 35 minutes only to be told that they can't help us. Only agents at the gate. By this point I'm so frustrated because we were told by two different people to go the transfer desk just to be turned away. We run to the gate to be told we have to wait for everyone to board before getting a seat assignment. So we stay standing next to the gate until the agent tells us to sit and we will get a seat after boarding. He was right. But what I do not understand is, the flight was half empty. LOT was telling us that the flight was mostly full, even though it was not even close. We were told some people canceled, but not before leaving Prague. So you mean to tell me 50% of the booked tickets canceled their seats in the 1 hour we were in the air from Prague to Warsaw? Hard to believe. Not to mention the inflight service is laughable. Someone in first class was given a glass of white wine (we were in the row behind first class) but when the person sitting behind me (so 2 rows behind 1st class) was told they don't have white wine on the flight. Which was a clear lie. They caused us so much stress and so much anxiety. I wouldn't trust them as far as I could throw them. They clearly like to lie to their customers about services on board as well as seat availability. I even purchased a new ticket for my boyfriend and I with Ryanair to Stockholm thinking we could catch our connecting flight to NY that way. So now I'm also out $175 because they caused me so much panic, for literally no reason. They are miserable, and not willing to help at all. They tell you to go to different places to seek help just to be told they can't help you and to go somewhere else. I have no clue how they are a star alliance member when this is how they operate. They could have told us it was half full and we would have felt fine and I wouldn't be out the extra money. Instead they caused unnecessary stress.

Route: Prague to Tallin via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "enjoyable and normal experience"

Review: Beirut to Sofia. The flight was okay. It departed on time, the cabin crew did a great job indeed. The food was simple but for a midnight flight it was alright. I was seated on an emergency exit seat and it was very comfortable there. The other seats in front seemed like they have a great legroom too. Calm, enjoyable and normal experience.

Route: Beirut to Sofia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "RAM use COVID 19 excuse to scam customers"

Review: RAM use COVID 19 excuse to scam customers. If they cant provide a service we paid for at lease refund back your client but do not promise to give a fake voucher or rebook and cancel flights whenever they want without letting you know and no proper answers or options. I was supposed to return to Dakar since May 22 and I am still here in Canada.

1 - Bad customer service, they never answer their phone here in Canada, I've tried 100 times a day over these past 5 days and nothing. 2 - Email reply, no accurate answers. 3 - do not provide you a flight option and the voucher that they are saying is valid for 18 months is fake which means you loose you money. Will never use them again and will not recommended to anybody I know.

Route: Canada to Dakar via Cassablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "going down at a surprising speed"

Review: TAP is going down at a surprising speed. In MRS they canceled their lounge agreement. No premium boarding for business class either; food on board was not cold; It was a freezing quiche and a frozen salmon. Lounge in LIS is maybe the worst (or best) example: food was not eatable, just horrible. Coca-cola but no mineral water, etc, etc.....

Premium boarding was not premium as many "friends" could board in priority (they look very intimate). My seat on brand new A330NEO was broken. Fortunately there were empty seats, and we may understand why. IFS was full of old movies. NO games. Food was OK though. During all flights crew was very nice, and tried to provide all efforts to compensate the running down of their airline. A shame. How long will they believe that people will pay the same price for business class tickets (or even more) than before COVID, for a LCC ?

Route: Marseille to Salvador via Lisbon

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "flight to Zurich was uneventful"

Review: Keflavík to Zurich in Saga Class. Despite its uneven standards, Icelandair provides the most comfortable experience for travel between Iceland and Europe. It is perhaps the only airline that provides something like a premium experience in Business Class for inter-Europe travel. The Saga Lounge at Keflavík airport is among the better lounges of its type. Check-in and boarding at Keflavík went without any glitch. Priority boarding was honoured. The new 737 MAX is noticeably quieter than its earlier versions. The flight to Zurich was uneventful. We had requested an Indian/Asian vegetarian meal but what was served had "Indian/Asian" missing from it. But for a 3+ hours flight, no big deal. Wi-Fi is included in the Saga Class ticket on Icelandair. When it works it is the best internet connection in the sky.

Route: Keflavík to Zurich

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkmenistan Airlines

Title: "Great Indian vegetarian food"

Review: Birmingham to Amritsar via Ashkabat. No nonsense air line. Great Indian vegetarian food. There was no flight screens, no seat screens. We stopped at Ashgabat for one hour, its nice modern airport with all facilities. The good thing was that the time at Ashgabat and time in India is only 30 minute difference.

Route: Birmingham to Amritsar via Ashkabat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "Avoid this airline if you can"

Review: On October 13 I take my flight from Paris to Bahrain then Bahrain Bangkok. The Paris Bahrain flight is going very well. Arrived in Bahrain the flight Bahrain Bangkok is delayed the next day at 8.40 am which is 10 hours late and we face a refusal of care . The manager on the ground tells us all the flights of the other airlines are full and they have no hotel rooms available. After 2 hours distribution of good meals, I take mine. An agent from Bahrain airport company calls out to me saying that it is not right to do this. I eat at kfc with my voucher. I take this opportunity to give my boarding pass with his group and we get accommodation at golden tulip. Once out we wait 50 minutes for the driver to take us to the hotel and a staff from Gulf air staff arrives - the minivan can accommodate 15 people but she tried to park 30 of us in it and it made her laugh. Arrived at the 3 star hotel we were treated like cattle. The only sentence I heard when I arrived at the hotel is wait in line. At the hotel counter my passport and my boarding pass are kept and the person from the hotel tells me here is your room number it's this way and we slept barely 3 hours. The next morning I notice that the buffet for passengers of the gulf air flight is downstairs and that the rest of the hotel has its buffet upstairs. At 7 am we leave the hotel for the airport. We get on the plane I tell all this to the purser who has absolutely nothing to do with it. Avoid this airline if you can.

Route: Paris to Bangkok via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "comfortable and a nice experience"

Review: I would thoroughly recommend Vistara. We had excellent an excellent check in experience at Amritsar and flights. At Amritsar, Dominic and his supervisor helped us redistribute our baggage in order to avoid paying baggage excess charges. Thank you. We had a very tight stop over before catching the flight to Goa. The ground staff at Delhi helped us through security to ensure we arrived at the gate on time. Thank you. The flights were comfortable and a nice experience. Thank you.

Route: Amritsar to Goa via Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wamos Air

Title: "was the worst plane"

Review: This was the worst plane we ever flew on. Very little leg room with a fold up footrest that presents an injury hazard in up or down position even at low impact. Inflight entertainment non functional. Some toilets out of order, one with the toilet seat on the floor. We flew out 1 hour 45 minutes late with no explanation. We were put on this plane by Norwegian Air and we will not use Wamos or Norwegian again.

Route: New York JFK to London Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "keep flying this cute airline"

Review: Flew with Firefly on 3 sectors in one day. Firefly notified me by email a month earlier on changes of flight time. To my surprise, they called me 3 days before my flight to remind me the changes. Overall, I love the idea of taking small plane. Everything goes very smooth and fast, from check-in, boarding and taxing etc. Firefly provides more than enough refreshment and drinks onboard. Usually they offered 2 types of refreshment, but on the mid-day flight, they offered three options. Curry puff was the best! Seat quite cramped on -600 plane, but comfy on their old version ATR72-500. Cabin crew professional, well-groomed and approachable. This is my first time to see male cabin crew on Firefly. Too bad it was just a short flight. Will keep flying this cute airline. Hopefully they could revive the jet service.

Route: KBR to PEN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "the flight was delayed"

Review: My flight to Curacao was scheduled for October 05 at 6.40am, however on arriving at the checking counter I was told that the flight was delayed. After waiting for 4 hours I was then told the flight was cancelled. A taxi was offered to take me home and return the next day as the flight was now scheduled to depart at 5.30pm. Again on arriving at the checking counter I was told the flight was now delayed by 4 hours. The flight eventually left at 9.30 pm. Curacao is a very nice island but would not recommend to my friends to visit until there is a reliable option from Trinidad and Tobago.

Route: POS to CUR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "never ever travel by this airline"

Review: Delhi to Bengaluru. Guys, yesterday was the first and the last time that I travelled in GoAir. It wasn't the worst, it is the most third-grade airline I have seen yet in my life including the ground staff and onboard staff. The staff is horribly horrible both at the boarding counter and in the flight. If you dont have an option, better travel by train or bus but not by GoAir.

Route: Delhi to Bengaluru

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "I wont use them ever again!"

Review: Shockingly bad! Just avoid this airline if you care about peace of mind. Their customer service is useless. The only training they have been given is to tell lies, waste peoples time and give meaningless and insincere apologies. I wont use them ever again!

Route: Gatwick to Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "I tried to get compensation"

Review: My outbound flight was delayed by a couple of hours in Manchester, and I missed the connection in Istanbul. On arriving in Istanbul, there was no apology or direction of what to do, I was stuck in the airport for almost 6 hours. There was no food or drink offered, no accommodation, just a new boarding pass. Having sat in an uncomfortable chair for the delay and waiting for the first flight out in the morning, my flight took off and arrived in Kayseri. I had a bad feeling at the luggage collection and just knew my bad luck was to continue. No sign of my luggage and the conveyor belt stopped. I was told to go to another location of the airport as my luggage was there. On arriving, I was told my luggage was still in Manchester and had not been loaded to my original flight. I registered my contact details and was given a reference number and number on Whatsapp. I was told my luggage would be there the next day. One night without my luggage wasn't ideal but manageable. The next day I whatsapped the number, which was Kayseri airport, not Turkish Airlines and they said it had not arrived and to contact the airline. I had to call an international number, costing me money each time, to get information on where my bag was. I was told later that day it would arrive. I got no call and followed up that day, no luggage. I was in Kayseri for 4 days and my luggage didn't arrive there at any point. 4 days without my own clothes, toiletries, shoes, etc. Each day, I received no communication from the airline and had to call them, at a cost, to see where it was. They had no idea and couldn't tell me where it was or when it would arrive. I had to go shopping on Day 3, to buy new underwear, clothes and shoes, as I could not wear the same clothes the whole time. The airline said keep all receipts for costs associated with this and I would be compensated. My luggage finally arrived in Istanbul airport, when I left Kayseri after 4 days and 4 nights without my luggage. It cost me over $200 to buy new clothes, taxis, phone costs, etc. It ruined the 4 days in Kapadokya. On returning home, I tried to get compensation for the lost luggage, which has been a nightmare. They did compensate me for the delay, per EU rules, however they will not meet my costs for the delayed luggage, not even paying me enough to buy new clothes and essential items. They were responsible for ruining my holiday to Kapadokya, yet they will not compensate me for these 4 days, let alone meet the essential costs. No apology, no responsibility, just automated answers about how they love treating their customers as a priority and look forward to welcoming me again. I would avoid TK if there is another option, their customer service is severely lacking, they have no care for customers who want to enjoy Turkey and boost tourism.

Route: Manchester to Kayseri via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "All around disappointment"

Review: The plane was old and dirty, the premium economy seat that I paid for was just as tiny as all of the other seats, and the staff didnt say a word to anyone that boarded the plane. All around disappointment.

Route: Seattle to Cincinnati

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "policy for delayed baggage totally inadequate"

Review: Manchester to Lisbon. Delayed baggage for two days. Paid for suitcase to be put in the hold and it was not sent until 2 days later. Monarch's policy for delayed and lost baggage is totally inadequate. They will not even refund the cost for placing the baggage in the hold.

Route: MAN to LIS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "operated by Miami Air"

Review: Brisbane to Nadi with Fiji Airways. Hidden fees, expensive, cartoons for entertainment and operated by Miami Air. This was booked as a Qantas flight however this is simply a codeshare so don't expect any decent standards of service. When I arrived at the airport I had to pay extra for a surfboard, Qantas allow surfboards for free. Then got on an old plane for this 3.5 hr flight operated by Miami Air which had one screen every ten rows on which they played a video of Tom and Jerry. They served terrible meals. This was not a budget flight nor was it advertised as a budget airline it was advertised as a Qantas flight. So with the additional surfboard charges it cost $800 for a 3.5 hour flight.

Route: Brisbane to Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Boutique Air

Title: "Absolutely horrible in every way possible"

Review: If you enjoy getting furious and having travel plans completely screwed then book a flight with Boutique. Standing at the airport, no notice of cancellation and customer service simply says nothing we can do. Absolutely horrible in every way possible.

Route: Muscle Shoals Alabama to Atlanta GA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "worst experience I've had"

Review: This was the worst experience I've had with an airline. We arrived at the airport 2 hours before our scheduled departure time. We tried as much as possible to prepare before and looked online for baggage policies and any online check-in options. When we arrived at the airport there was an employee in the RwandAir line who was checking baggage weight before we got to the check-in counter. On the RwandAir website it clearly states that baggage allowance is 30kg. We were well under that weight for both bags so we figured we were okay. To our surprise we were told that our bags needed to be under 25kg and that one bag was overweight. We were told we would need to get out of line and go remove some items from one of our bags. We complied and went back through the line which was moving extremely slow. Several people were just going straight to the front of the line which seemed to be okay with the staff. By the time the line finally started to move we were getting extremely close to the check-in close time which was one hour before departure. Even after mentioning this, the staff member moved at the same slow pace and seemed to have no clue how to process my ticket. We had no special arrangements or tickets, yet she spent a total of 18 minutes trying to figure things out. By the time she finally finished processing our boarding pass she tells us that it is 7:18 and boarding closes at 7:20! We luckily were able to cut through the security line and make it there in time. When we arrived for a layover at the Kigali airport the Rwandair staff was no better. The staff member at the Joburg airport told me that I would need to get my boarding pass in Kigali (even though I already had a mobile boarding pass). When I arrived in Kigali the staff member seemed to have no clue why I didn't have a printed boarding pass from Joburg (even after showing him my mobile boarding pass) and took about 20 minutes to issue me another. When we finally got onto the plane our flight ended up being delayed one hour due to us waiting on passengers (who never arrived) from another incoming flight which was also delayed. We waited on a HOT plane for over an hour. Our original flight and e-ticket stated that our flight was to depart from JNB with a layover in Kigali and final destination to Accra. To our surprise, when we were on the plane the captain announced that we were heading to Lagos, Nigeria. I panicked thinking that we were on the wrong flight and asked the flight attendant if we were headed to Accra. He told me that we were but were going to stop in Lagos to drop some passengers off first, so we just needed to stay on the plane. Not once was this communicated either in an email, at the ticket counter or on the airline screens. You'd think that this would be something that was mentioned. We arrived in Accra almost an hour later than our expected arrival time.

Route: JNB to ACC via KGL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "The services was a disaster!"

Review: I had travelled with Ethiopian Airlines several times, always wishing that the same thing that happened to me before will change but it didn't. I travelled long distance with my kids and the 6 times I used Ethiopian the tablets on the seat were never working, a trip with a kid of 5 years old and a 1 year old is very hard, they also never gave any play kits for the kids. I asked many times and they just answered that they don't have any. The light on the top was also on all trip, on my face for 16 hours and it wasn't working as well and of course they couldn't do anything about. The crew from Buenos Aires to Sao Paulo and the other crew from Sao Paulo to Ethiopia were rude, answering in a bad mood, making faces between them and running and shouting at people, it was just terrible. I didn't travel with my husband so I expected some help from the crew but nothing happed, when they saw me carrying my baby and bags and my other daughter was scared, they didn't even try to help me. The services was a disaster!

Route: Buenos Aires to Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "the seats are narrow"

Review: Rome to Los Angeles was the worst flight experience Ive had. The first problems occurred when we tried to check in online, with Alitalias website it took over 3 hours just to check in and print boarding passes. I tried to to call Customer Service for help, to no avail. Onboard the seats are narrow, and theres no leg room. The passenger in front of me kept trying to recline his seat, which almost placed his head in my lap and made it nearly impossible to watch a movie, which may or may not have been a good thing because their inflight entertainment leaves a lot to be desired. The movie screen is only about 4 X 6, and my entertainment system continually crashed. We rarely saw flight attendants throughout the flight and even if you pressed the call button, no one came. The meals/snacks were less than mediocre. The one snack we received was a tuna salad sandwich. When I asked if they had any other sandwich choice, the flight attendant asked if I had requested a special meal due to food allergies. When I told her no, she went and got me 2 small packets of their crackers. Beverage service was lacking, twice I asked for a glass of water, I never received it. About 2 hours into the flight, I used the bathroom, only to find less than 1/4 roll of toilet paper sitting on the sink counter.

Route: Rome to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "the flight itself was provided"

Review: Efficient boarding, it was complete almost 20 minutes before departure time, then we waited in the airplane 45 minutes because of some airspace restrictions. Landing was about 5 minutes behind schedule. Cabin crew stick to the rules and no seat change was permitted. As usual, no free catering and nothing else but the flight itself was provided. The promise to take us from A to B was fulfilled.

Route: Memmingen to Tirgu Mures

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "90% of what they used to be" Kamapin

Review: I had booked this trip as a miles trip due to expiring miles, & the cash tickets for these flights were quite expensive. Since we were ROP gold members, we could use the priority counter, which has been relocated to row H at Suvarnabhumi airport, it used to be at row B. Check in was smooth, & since we were flying to Japan, the agent asked if we had filled out Japan Pass - which made us clear immigration and customs really quickly in Nagoya. During the evening, The Royal Orchid Prestige lounge was extremely crowded, however we did find a corner to ourselves far from the main food area, but close to the bar & Halal food area which had fewer options. There was more than enough food and we weren't hungry when the flight took off - so we could get more sleep. I also used a shower suite, where L'occitane liquid soap and shampoo were provided. Boarding was an absolute mess, the crew was late & some passengers did not get their documents properly checked. This was made worse by the fact that gate C1 had very little seating, and lots of passengers ended up sitting on the floor waiting for boarding. We had paid extra to get extra-legroom seats (about 50 USD each) and they were worth it. The purser suggested that I move to the empty exit row seats in the second cabin so that my mum and brother could have a bit more space and comfort. This made the flight much more comfortable for them. I hate short overnight flights, and a departure time of 00:05 wasn't great - no alternatives either. Most of the passengers were asleep before the flight even took off, but I had stayed awake to get a bloody mary from the crew - who bought me one from the galley. Pre-pandemic, Thai Airways had a policy that they would have to serve their gold frequent fliers first. I am very glad that they kept this policy & I was asked whether I would like Omelette with sausage or Shrimp Pad Thai. I chose the Shrimp Pad Thai - which was very tasty & flavourful. I jokingly asked if I could get a cappuccino - which is normally only available for business class passengers. The FA said that she would try to get one for me - which she did, & I asked to be woken up for the meal service. 2 hours prior to landing in Nagoya after some tossing and turning, I was politely awoken & had my breakfast placed on my tray. The crew were all very nice on both flights. On the return flight we flew out from Sapporo/Chitose. The contract lounge in Sapporo had little in the way of amenities or food. Boarding was much better organised on this flight, and we had our meal orders taken after being seated, stewed chicken with mash potatoes or spicy fish curry with rice. I tasted both on this flight and both were very tasty, albeit the fish used is pangas, which isn't that great. Thai used to serve seabass which tastes much better. The highlight of the meal was the cake - a simple vanilla sponge but really tasty. Before landing we were served a spinach pie, which was also tasty but I would've preferred chicken. There was a small issue I had with the crew, on this flight, I found out the tray table wasn't clean when I looked at it during boarding, & the purser walked through & told me to close it for departure - but I pointed out the wet table to her & she called one of the FAs to wipe it up. Entertainment is slightly lacking - they could do with a few more films. Thai is still a great carrier, maybe not as great as the pre-pandemic Thai Airways, I feel like they're 90% of what they used to be in 2019.

Route: Bangkok to Nagoya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "A350 was new and seat was comfortable"

Review: Sydney to Toronto, transferring at Guangzhou. The A350 was new and seat was comfortable. It's nice to kill the time by watching movies on board when you have so many options. What could be a little frustrating was the jab test at the airport, but the ground staff gave me a lot of help. The aircraft from GZ to Toronto was Boeing 787, which was also new and comfortable, however the price of the flight was not cheap, literally more than 12000 bucks. I'm thankful for the help all the staff provided the way I went back home.

Route: Sydney to Toronto via Guangzhou

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: TransNusa

Title: "cabin crews were just borderline okay"

Review: Jakarta CGK to Yogyakarta YIA onboard their A320. This airline is not new - they only rebrand themselves into an LCC. I have heard good things about this airline, but unfortunately, what happened onboard was an aviation safety disaster class. Ground staff at both Jakarta and Yogyakarta were okay, although the baggage staff members at Yogyakarta were slow as molasses. The cabin crews were just borderline okay. What bugged me was that they completely neglected aviation safety; most of the seats had loose tray table lockers, and during take-off and landing, thanks to the force generated during these two phases, those lockers failed, resulting in the tray tables being flung open, including mine, almost hitting my stomach and breaking my camera in the process. Not once did the crew either notice or attempt to fix the issue. Although I would surely give them a second chance in the hopes that they will improve, my first flight with them was traumatizing. I bet I'll stay away from this airline, at least for a while. At the very least their social media team was apologetic, responsive, and thanked me for bringing up this issue, something you don't experience that often.

Route: Jakarta to Yogyakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "baggage cost was excessive"

Review: Juliaca to Lima. Worst airline ever. Charged me £20 to print my boarding pass. Also the cabin baggage cost was too excessive. I am used to travelling in no frills airlines in Europe, but this was the most excessive and purely intentional fleecing.

Route: Juliaca to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "both legs of the flight I lost my baggage"

Review: I flew with Aeromexico both ways going to Peru, and both legs of the flight I lost my baggage. The first one I was able to receive after 2 days, but the coming back flight it's already been a week and haven't received it yet. They've located it but keeps pending and not sending it to me.

Route: Lima to Vancouver via Mexico

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "cabin crew were quite helpful"

Review: Flew on GA407 from Denpasar Bali to Jakarta. I was swiftly checked in by Sony and he then escorted me through security and into the Lounge. Onboard the cabin crew were quite helpful, however there was only two choices of food, and both were rice therefore, I declined. The cabin crew did offer hot and cold drinks during the short flight. The flight arrived in Jakarta 20 minutes ahead of schedule. Upon arrival I was met at the plane door by Octa and Wisnu from the Garuda Premium Team, and they helped me obtain my baggage and escorted me to my car.

Route: Denpasar Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "2 years for your refund"

Review: London to Havana via Madrid. I have just finished talking to yet another operator and she tells me that unfortunately, she can only check that the file has been sent correctly. Poor thing, I would also be sorry to blame the operators who are not to blame for this situation. I have been waiting for 2 years for your refund on a ticket of nearly 600 GBP. My ticket was for March 2020. Following various complaints due to the pandemic, I was given a voucher that I could reuse for another hypothetical flight. One year later, it was still impossible to travel and think of making another ticket, so following the various complaints, I was able to speak with an operator with whom I would have started a refund procedure (March 2021). I also received an email confirmation for my refund, the operator had announced that it would take 5 months to receive the refund and I accepted the continuation I started to contact Air Europa without ever having an answer or an update nothing at all. It's been 2 years now and I still don't know what happened to my money. I also tried to use the voucher out of desperation but it wasn't even valid anymore. I don't know what to do, this situation has become ridiculous and also very annoying

Route: London to Havana via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "Staff was very unorganized"

Review: Horrible, system was down. Staff was very unorganized. Arrived early just to be cut by priority and people who arrived late, priority line barely moved and was treated to last resort. Fly else where.

Route: Gatwick to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "reliable and recommended"

Review: Danang to Bangkok 9 March 2023 on a narrowbody A321 aircraft. On time. Good deal; less than 100 USD. SKYTEAM privileges were granted in full despite the ticket was shamelessly cheap. Thus, VN overrules competitors on this route, even my favourite well-pampering local airline Bangkok Airways which in this case lose out to VN on price, lounge, and luggage allowance. The LCC carriers are a no go on this route as they end up expensive and/or unreliable. Worse is that they dont provide any luggage transfer in Bangkok, forcing pax to go landside and check it in again. Vietnam Airlines have almost never any delay nor cancellation on this route. Check in could not transfer my luggage to final destination, though at least to next destination (Doha with QR). Da Nang International (T2) is dominated by SE-Asian tourists and a lot number of small airlines. Larger aircrafts cant enter the airport as it is in the middle of the city. The Airport is completely renovated and a pleasure. Check-In fast and easy I was treated with a lot of respect due to SKYTEAM status, despite I was travelling on cheapest ticket possible. I could get my 23x2 kg checked it without any questions and I also had two hand-luggages. The Lotus Lounge, that Skyteam-airlines use, is extremely nice and well maintained; it is a huge, unexpected gem find in a small airport. The Lounge has very good food offerings; cold delicatesses, and at least 7 hot meals in buffet. Drink options are a bit below average and only cheaper, local products (2 cheap wines and 4 beer brands, all alike) are offered. Background music appreciated. The décor is of high standard; even smoking and business rooms exist. The lounge appears underutilised, I found only 5-10 other visitors during the 3 hours I spent there. The flight itself was stable and regular. Crew were courteous; food modest only a sandwich tray and drinks were offered. Without requesting it, I was given a seat in the first row after business class that granted me wide leg space. Luggage transferred correctly as promised and tagged. Good value for money, reliable, and recommended.

Route: Danang to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "used to be an excellent airline"

Review: KLM used to be an excellent airline. Last September we flew Toulouse France to Vancouver with change of planes in Amsterdam. When checking in online, about 18 hours before flight time, I found that the first leg of the flight had been rescheduled to a later time so that we could not make the connection to Vancouver. KLM had never contacted me about this change. I phoned KLM and our Toulouse flight was changed to an early morning departure, so that we could make the connection. This necessitated leaving a family get together and extra charges for an airport hotel, and taxi. I claimed those expenses from KLM. After over three months, KLM replied, saying that as I had booked online on the KLM website, KLM had no obligation to notify me, but I had an obligation to keep checking for changes in the schedule. So it was my fault and I was entitled to no compensation. Every other airline I know, even low cost ones, never fails to email customers about schedule changes. So KLM had the gall to blame the victim, me, for their poor service.

Route: Toulouse to Vancouver via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "told that a GDFRA return permit was required"

Review: On 28 August my wife and I arrived at Istanbul Airport (IST) to check-in for our Gulf Air flight back to Dubai (DXB). We are both residents of the UAE and checked all the return entry requirements to board the flight. This includes a negative PCR Test, residency VISA and a valid passport. This did not include a GDFRA return permit as we had not visited a red zone country in the last 14 days (or in the last six months for that matter). Moreover whilst my wife holds a Dubai VISA, I myself have an Abu Dhabi residence VISA which means I cannot apply for a GDFRA return permit (as these are only for Dubai VISA holders), but instead can apply for an ICA (Identity and Citizenship Authority) return permit, which is applicable to holders of VISAs issued by all the other Emirates of the UAE, excluding Dubai. We approached the check-in counter at which time we were immediately told that a GDFRA return permit was required for ALL passengers flying to Dubai regardless of VISA. Moreover it was explained to us that all passengers in the previous weeks flying to Dubai had all had GDFRA return permits regardless of VISA (please note that this is impossible due to the aforementioned reason). Despite this situation we indicated that we would attempt to complete the application form online. Even approaching the local merchants to make use of their computers. When this failed the Gulf Air staff indicated that we should speak with the Emirates ticketing office and airline check-in staff (located on the complete opposite side of the airport) as they could explain in better detail the requirements to fly to Dubai. We proceeded to walk with all our luggage and no assistance from Gulf Air to the other side of the airport. However after speaking with the Emirates staff they confirmed our understanding that a GDFRA was not necessary in our circumstance, confirming the initial information in this complaint. Upon return to the Gulf Airline check-in counter we explained to the Counter manager what Emirates had said and we were met with severe hostility. She directed two of her staff to accompany us back to the Emirates check-in counter, telling one of them what we had told her, but in an extremely rude tone indicative of a person who believed that we were lying. My wife even tried to deescalate the situation, but the manager was so incredibly hostile and rude that further communication with her became counter-productive. We therefore proceeded back to the Emirates counter with the Gulf Air Staff, one of whom along the way informed my wife that they did not care for our situation and that we were in fact wasting their time and, as indicated above, reiterated that every passenger going to Dubai in the last few weeks had a GDFRA regardless of the VISA they held. This Gulf Air staff member was so rude he actually stopped assisting my wife with her bag and left us half way. Once back at the Emirates counter the Emirates staff explained to the remaining Gulf Air staff member that had not abandoned us that we did not require a GDFRA, however as the Gulf Air staff was apparently insisting on a document that was impossible to obtain, the Emirates staff themselves attempted to assist us in vain. I want to emphasize this point, that another airline's staff attempted to help us more than the Gulf Air staff with whom we had booked our tickets.

Route: Istanbul to Dubai via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "10 kgs free carry on luggage"

Review: Larnaca to Athens. I've travelled with Blue Air many times before and they decided that from now on they will be charging for your purse extra. So i have 10 kgs free carry on luggage and if my purse does not fit in my luggage i must pay 60 euros - not to mention the attitude of the staff! Blue air is the worst company by far and i prefer to buy a more expensive ticket from another company.

Route: Larnaca to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "no smile no nothing"

Review: Rome to Belgrade. This was my first and last flight with Alitalia. I was so excited to get on this flight once we came to the airport the staff were so rude, no smile no nothing. Onboard my seat was taken by someone else and I have asked to sit next to my wife as we already booked our tickets in advance and booked our seats as well. I was told if there is more space you can move to a different seat if not then just need to stay in my current seat. we took off 1hr 45min late, seats were not comfy at all very hard and no space. The service was ok once we took off nothing special. once we were coming to a land into Belgrade the aeroplane kept on dropping and quiet a few passengers were screaming.

Route: Rome to Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Mokulele Airlines

Title: "most incompetent airline"

Review: If you thought Spirit airlines was the worst, Mokulele has outdone it, worst, most incompetent airline I have ever flown. Flight schedule changes, policy changes etc, all with no notice! Right hand has absolutely no idea what the left hand is doing. Save yourself the agony, find any other means to get to your destination if possible. Unfortunately for us, on Lanai, its the only option.

Route: Lanai to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "gate agent was incredibly nasty"

Review: San Francisco to Dallas. Yesterday when I was checking in for my flight today, I decided to spring for the upgrade to the exit row. I was re-assigned seat 9D. I printed my boarding pass at home. At the gate, the agent took my boarding pass from me and handed me a different one. I didn't notice till I got on the plane that my seat had been switched to a non-exit row 7A. When I brought the discrepancy up to the flight attendant she said I had to go back to the gate agent to rectify the problem. It took a few minutes to swim upstream to get there and by that time the gate agent was coming down the gangway and he refused to help me and told me to take it up with customer service. When I went to the seat on my boarding pass 7A, there was a child sitting in the seat next to his mother who was in the middle seat. When I sat down in the aisle seat, the other passenger asked me to move to another row since there were other seats available. There were two open seats in Row 9 so I went to sit in one of those and the gate agent and flight attendant insisted I could not sit there even though I had paid for the exit row. The gate agent was incredibly nasty and threatened me that if I didn't go sit in the back of the plane he would throw me off the flight. At no time did they ask the woman who put her kid in my seat to either move or let me sit in the aisle seat. As I had an important meeting in Dallas, I did find an open seat in the back of the plane. The flight attendant was by this point thoroughly embarrassed and came back to apologize and brought me a glass of wine. She was great but I will never fly Virgin America again.

Route: San Francisco to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "didn't accept our booking ref no."

Review: First, when trying to manage our booking, it didn't accept our booking ref.no., but it accepted the e-ticket number. Our flight is from Phnom Penh to Colombo via Kuala Lumpur (self check-in in KL). It only gave me itinerary for the flight from Phnom Penh to Kuala Lumpur and only for one traveler, although there are two of us. While trying to manage our booking, the booking confirmation was sent to a weird and suspicious e-mail and my contact number was removed and changed into a Chinese phone number. After I changed this strange e-mail to my e-mail address, I received the booking confirmation in Chinese only. All this made us very suspicious and we tried to contact AirAsia office with a number from their website. However, the phone operator informed me that this number doesn't exist. We are now not sure what to do.

Route: Phnom Penh to Colombo via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "Very nice little airline"

Review: Bangkok to Pakse return via Savannakhet. Very nice little airline, friendly crew, standard seats, decent snack for such short flights. All flights were on time, boarding was fast and efficient. Particularly good magazine with up-to-date and relevant information for such a small airline. Good prices as well.

Route: Bangkok to Pakse via Savannakhet

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "bottom of efficiency"

Review: Never make the mistake to fly this airline again. I flew them several times. Making changes with them is a very long process and even flight in the higher class they charge you money. When you want refunds they give you vouchers and it is absolutely impossible to change them or get that money back. I am frequent traveller of many airlines and I can tell for experience LATAM is at the bottom of efficiency and they are absolutely thieves.

Route: Sao Paulo to Rio

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "garbage customer service"

Review: Canceled connector flight, lost luggage to and from London, garbage customer service in Pearson Airport.

Nobody working counters. 2 hours on the phone to find luggage. Disconnected! Another 2 hours on the phone. I would NEVER recommend this airline to anybody. When I fly Delta, its smooth every single time. This experience was pure trash. Heck, Spirit is better!

Route: London to Pearson

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "delayed by more than 3 hours"

Review: Very bad experience with Air india Express. My flight from Doha to Cochin was scheduled for 22.20 but ended up being delayed by more than 3 hours, causing significant inconvenience and frustration. The delay not only disrupted my travel plans but also resulted in additional expenses. I had made arrangements based on the original arrival time, which had to be hastily adjusted due to the unforeseen delay. This situation has caused a great deal of inconvenience, stress, and financial burden. The airline should have offered compensation but was not given. I have always relied on Air India Express for my travel needs, but this had made me a huge loss since I had another flight.

Route: Doha to Kochi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "families are not sat together"

Review: Santa Marta to Medellin. How is it possible that families are not sat together. Empty airplane and they only have emergency seats to sit us together for an extra charge. So rude and want to charge for everything.

Route: Santa Marta to Medellin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "have waited more than 3 hours on hold"

Review: I haven't actually taken a flight with Air Europa because covid travel restrictions smashed my European travel plans. That being said I'm sitting on two round trip business class tickets that I need to cancel or get some type of future credit, but after trying 6 separate times to contact a customer service representative (phone, email, you name it) I am giving up. I have waited more than 3 hours on hold and have yet to have anyone answer. The support line says '24 hours' but on off hours you will just get a recording 'due to circumstances beyond our control, we cannot answer your call right now. Please try again in a few minutes'.

Route: Medellin to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "unhappy about the mix up with seats"

Review: Happy with the flight and service on board but super unhappy about the mix up with seats that I paid for and just realised myself that we were spread all over the plain although I paid 42.000 isk for the seats. They did not give me any refund for the hassle although I had to be the one contacting them for fixing it, I did not sit with the person I wanted on the way back and I was unhappy about that because I paid all this amount for it. Not well done.

Route: Reykjavík to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "it was the worst experience"

Review: This is the worst trip by far. Trip delayed for two hours for unknown reasons and the captain miscommunicated the duration of the flight that took 4 hours and a half instead of the usual 3 hours and a half. Chairs are broken and filthy and very small. Apart from a friendly attendants, it was the worst experience for me and my family and never again.

Route: Dubai to Beirut

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "they could improve the website"

Review: Solid airline for locals. I avoided it until they had a very good prices to fly domestically. However, felt the warm flight staff, seats aren't as small as other domestic flights. I am very happy with the flight itself. I think what they could improve on is the website side and helping people claim their vouchers

Route: Manila to Dumaguete

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Surinam Airways

Title: "I still havent gotten a refund"

Review: They cancelled my tickets when I had already booked a hotel and other flights as well and it has been over a month since the cancellation and I still havent gotten a refund. Whenever I contact the airline they transfer me to a different department but no one seems to know how to help me out, and that is when they even answer the phone. Do not recommend .

Route: Miami to Belem

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "inflight service warm and happy"

Review: London Gatwick to Ponta Delgada. After reading negative reviews I was petrified about our first flying family holiday with our 4 and 9 year old. Spending a week on Sao Miguel and a week on Faial. 4 flights, right down to inter island 36 seater prop job. Best flights we've had, smooth, inflight service was always warm and happy, few delays but they always made it to destination on or before time. Family and kids first policy I thought was really helpful. Could not recommend SATA enough. Clean planes, blue leather seats across all fleet.

Route: LGW to PDL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "service in Premium Economy was first rate"

Review: Flew Thomson from London Gatwick to Mauritius. My first time flying in the Boeing Dreamliner and despite initially being sceptical on all the hype about the airy cabin environment I have to say both outbound and inbound flights were the best I have encountered when flying Premium Economy cabin long haul. Being of 6 foot 2 inches in height and weighing 18 stone I found the premium economy seating extremely comfortable (seat 3G both ways) and even got the passenger in front of me to fully recline their seat to see if it impinged on my comfort, it did not. Both flights were punctual, I believe this had a lot to do with the well administered boarding arrangements at both airports. The service in Premium Economy was first rate, the outbound flight having slightly the edge over the inbound one with the food quality seeming to be of a better standard on the flight out. The cabin staff were very frequent visitors with the drinks trolley, especially during the early stage of the journey and this probably contributed to me spending a large portion of the outbound night flight sleeping. I cannot comment on the cabin media as I did not watch any films but my wife says that TUI could do with updating their film offerings. In summary, very comfortable flights with good service. I would definitely fly Thomson Airways Premium Economy cabin on the Boeing Dreamliner again.

Route: LGW to MRU

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "reconsider my flying options"

Review: Auckland to Melbourne flight on 21 April and encountered several new challenges. Firstly, the economy class seats are quite cramped and lack the option to recline. The headrest cushion pushes your head forward, leaving you in an uncomfortable upright position, with the screen poorly positioned for viewing or resting. The new seats lack low back support and are pretty uncomfortable. There is minimal space under the seat in front of you for a small laptop bag, and the seats above row 28 ABC were reserved for "life craft." A cabin staff informed me that I could only store one bag in the overhead compartment and the other under the seat in front of me. The Works package offers the option to request additional food and drink. I used to be proud of and recommend the high quality, standards and service of Air New Zealand. I don't think I can do this anymore and will reconsider my flying options with this airline.

Route: Auckland to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Avoid at all costs"

Review: This will be the first and last experience with this atrocious airline. Avoid at all costs. Somehow, who would have guessed an airline even worse than Spirit could pop up. I have never seen such nonexistent customer service and horrible treatment of passengers in my entire life flying several times a year on various airlines. To be completely uninformed for hours and have the flight constantly delayed, only to be canceled out of nowhere causing us to lose our entire trip. On top of that, the rude agents at the desk saying "we cannot rebook anyone" after abruptly canceling the flight with no issues to the aircraft. Please be wary of the low cost, it is that way for a reason.

Route: Huntsville to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "I dont eat pork"

Review: Osaka to Taipei. Everything went very well on the ground, despite a delayed departure due to traffic. The ground crew was friendly, polite and patient. We boarded quickly, the cabin crew seemed less welcoming, with no smile for me. I dont eat pork for religious reasons. So I asked twice what the menu was and what were the ingredients used. I have been told by the crew that the menu was seafood with noodles. I started to eat my meal when I noticed that some of the meat was definitely not seafood. I called the crew, requiring more information, and was advised the menu contained pork. A mistake can happen, but what struck me was the insensibility and careless attitude of the cabin crew. I wanted to share my experience with a crew member when I left the plane, the response I received was a thank you bye bye. My first impression of Taiwan has been ruined by this experience.

Route: Osaka to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "staff friendly and professional"

Review: Rhodes to Birmingham. We would just like to say a big thank you to all the crew on our aircraft from Rhodes to Birmingham that brought us back on the 29th September due to Thomas cook not trading anymore. The staff was so friendly and professional. Thank you once again .

Route: Rhodes to Birmingham

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "still disappointed by the poor standard of food served"

Review: After reading so many angry review about Thai refusing to honour previously booked flight credits, we were happy just to finally board and take off after two years. We weren't surprised but still disappointed by the poor standard of food served and by the little things such as packaged towelettes instead of real hot or cold towels. It seems a miracle that the airline is still able to operate. The IFE wasn't too bad especially if you're not a regular cinema goer. Dune was a welcome addition but the line hasn't changed much over the last few years. The service by the cabin crew was excellent as always. The BKK to CDG leg had the new seat configuration where everyone is at an angle. The seat is much harder but on this flight a mattress was provided. I think I prefer the other seat type. The business class lounge at BKK was disappointing. Our flight to CDG left at midnight leaving us with a 7 hour transit. No showers were available then or 7 weeks later! The chairs were comfy for a few hours but not for a long stopover. The food options however were far better than the inflight catering. There was no business class lounge available at CDG due to renovations but I suspect it's another cost cutting measure like the soft drinks only policy prior to take off and alcohol served only during meals. Our main complaint was the number of changes made to our original post Covid booking and the terrible customer service from their Sydney office. Numerous unanswered phone calls, messages and emails.

Route: Sydney to Paris via Bangkok

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "would never recommend this airline"

Review: I have only bad words about this airline. Seats are hard, don't even have a pocket in front to put the water, many flights are delayed and canceled but worse than anything: They don't care at all about customer satisfaction, if there is any kind of problem you will receive no help at all! Been billed without my permission, called customer service and all they have to say "was an automated process so we can't help". Completely useless, I would never recommend this airline to anyone!

Route: Sydney to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "it is clear that they are in a steep decline"

Review: Both me and my wife are frequent business travelers and Gold Miles & Bonus members. Aegean Airlines started off as a promising, refreshing presence in the Greek market but it is clear that they are in a steep decline. We've experienced such poor customer service in the last several years on a number of occasions. Refunds that took 18 months and countless calls and e-mails to process (for flights that Aegean Airlines canceled). Missed connections due to flight delays where they failed to assist us to reach our destination or arrange overnight accommodation for us. We were asked to cover the expenses on our own and then submit the receipts to receive compensation. We've taken trips where we were asked to pay service fees to change Comfort Flex and Business Class tickets. These two categories are their most unrestrictive fares and allow same day changes without a penalty, yet on a number of occasions, when their website failed to successfully change our tickets, we were asked to pay a service fee to proceed with the change. I could go on and on with a number of other disappointing practices but all in all, it seems that they've adopted policies and restrictions that we only find present with the so called low-cost carriers. All while charging full service carrier regular fares. Until they re-adjust their policies to a more customer service oriented level, we will certainly avoid flying with them in the future. Enough is enough.

Route: Athens to Santorini

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "it was a good experience"

Review: Kupang to Jakarta. The check-in and boarding process was smooth and fast. The crew were kind and helpful. For in flight entertainment, the IFE was responsive although limited choice of new movie. The food was okay. The flight departed and arrived ahead of schedule which was good. Overall, it was a good experience.

Route: Kupang to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaColombia

Title: "the worst travel experience"

Review: Bogota to Lima. Avoid at all cost - this is by quite a margin the worst travel experience I have ever had. I am from Europe and half way in I was thinking to myself that this is even worse than Ryanair. I arrived 3 hours and 20 min before take off (with my printed e-ticket) from Kiwi and first they said I had one kilo too much luggage to check in. In fact it was 0,8kg. I then went away and took out a small something and went back. The second time they said that this e-ticket was not enough and that I needed to print a boarding pass but no one spoke english so it was not clear to me what they wanted. I went away to a it-place nearby and printed out a new e-ticket but apparently that was not the right one and when that happened the 3 hour deadline had expired so they charged me 19usd for a piece of paper. This is absurd and has no relation to the actual cost. The people I confronted were without exception unfriendly and unhelpful. For a low cost airline they are not even cheap. On a flight between Bogota and Lima with 95%+ being Peruvians or Colombians the in flight snack bar only accepted cash and USD.

Route: Bogota to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "very pleasantly surprised"

Review: I was very pleasantly surprised with my experience with Norse. The flight was comfortable with ample leg room for a discount ticket. I didn't buy any meals because the flight was in the middle of the night for my time zone, and the flight itself only ended up being 5.5-6 hours total. I have no issues or complaints, I got to Paris from the US for only $180.

Route: New York to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "A truly awful experience"

Review: Riga to Reykjavik. A truly awful experience. We traveled from United States to London and then took airBaltic from London to Riga. No problems. Baggage was accepted. On the return flight from Riga to Iceland, we were required to pay 120 euros because our carry on bags were 1kg over the weight limit. Yes 1 kg. We told the attendant that it was the same luggage and weight on the way over and we didn't have a penalty. She demanded payment in a very loud and militant voice that we must pay 120 euros. She was awful. Militant is the only word I could use to describe her very rude behavior. Take a different airline is my advice.

Route: Riga to Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: QantasLink customer review

Review: The flights to and from Moranbah would have to be the worst value for money and the most changed for full price flights. I pay an average of 600 dollars plus each way for a flight and 7 weeks out of 7 I have had a flight changed or cancelled. Totally unacceptable. Virgin will be my choice from now on and I will encourage more people to fly this route on Virgin as they never cancel or seem to change.

Route: Moranbah to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Flight attendants outright rude"

Review: Not worth the money paid. Business class service similar to that of a public tram. Flight attendants outright rude, havent seen this attitude even in Economy. No bed linen or turndown service, as different from Emirates/Turkish business class. Coffee machine not working, for which I havent received even an apology. Air Dhabi airport is a joke compared to Dubai, Istanbul or Singapore, not fit for a decent layover. Business lounges packed with crying babies and dirty pampers. Literally every sit packed, people playing videos and TikToks on high volume. Staff chit chatting all flight with each other instead of serving customers. Not once has anyone asked whether everything was fine or I needed anything. The chitchat was so loud I had trouble sleeping. I had to ask the staff to keep it quiet, a request that they completely ignored, all for the 3500 ticket price! As if this wasnt enough, the epitome of the flight was at the end. The business class toilet was occupied for a long time, when the door opened, a flight attendant came out. I rushed in to brush my teeth and discovered a thick air of electronic cigarette smoke (you cannot confuse this smell with anything!). So apart from customer negligence, poor service and low value for the money, this airlines own employees are breaking the law and international flight regulations.

Route: Male to Milan via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "we were pleasantly surprised"

Review: Melbourne to Phuket via Kuala Lumpur. Just want to say we were pleasantly surprised. We had not flown Air Asia before but the cabin crew and a special mention to Joyce who was very friendly consistently smiling throughout the 8 hour flight and helpful.

Route: Melbourne to Phuket via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "not aware of a strict weight allowance"

Review: We booked two flights with Tigerair, the first on Feb. 11 from Brisbane to Cairns. We were not aware of a strict weight allowance that only permitted 30 kilos to be checked for 2 passengers and 14 kilos for carry-ons. These restrictions cost us over an hour of moving weight around from checked luggage to carry ons in order to avoid the ridiculous and unnecessary charge of $25 per kilos extra which would have amounted to more than twice the cost of each of our tickets! As it was, we were forced to pay an additional $94 to take the extra 10 kilos on board in two extra carry-ons. This was completely pointless as the flight was half empty and the plane will still take on the extra weight as long as we pay for it. Moreover, the help staff was rude and deceptive. Jan was forced to put her purse on the scale which put us over the limit by .02 kilos and cost an additional $47. We are dreading our next flight on February 19th when we will again have to face this same ugly experience. We are professional travelers on a 10 month journey and most of the weight in our luggage is necessary prescription drugs. All this after this flight has already been changed twice causing us to adversely change our plans.

Route: Brisbane to Cairns

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "totally satisfied with the flights"

Review: I flew round trip from Athens to Kalymnos with Sky Express Airlines. I was totally satisfied with the flights. Only around 10 minutes delay for both flights. Check in luggage was included in the fare. Also at Athens airport after the check in, I was offered a free coffee / refreshment at the lounge bar and I was allowed to use the fast lane for the security check.

Route: Athens to Kalymnos

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "a true fairytale on customer service"

Review: This is a true fairytale on customer service during difficult times for carriers and passengers. . We booked this flight many months ago for a concert in London and were extremely concerned when all the chaos started this summer. Our flight was hit by the air technicians' strike in Norway and our flight was cancelled. Norwegian then told us they were trying to get us another flight but we were not hopeful. Much to our surprise, 1 hour after cancellation, they came up with an alternative via Trondheim where we had to spend the night. Not only did they properly rebook our flight but also arranged a first class hotel for us that was ready on arrival. This was customer service as it should be and they deserve praise. The flight(s) were just like you expected from Norwegian; you get what you pay for; planes that are clean and comfortable with smiling and positive crew. I like their concept; you pay for what you need, no more, no less. If you want additional services, like extra luggage, food, fast track or whatever, you pay extra. Fair enough.

Route: Oslo to London via Trondheim

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "no soap dispensers"

Review: Mexico City to New York. Interjet is such a cheap airline they removed the soap from all the bathrooms (I checked). Not just the soap but the soap dispensers! This was as the Coronavirus had begun to spread. I asked a flight attendant where the soap was. She pulled liquid soap out of her own bag and gave me a squirt. Apparently the flight attendants either carry their own soap or they can't wash their hands well, yet they serve drinks to the passengers. The passengers couldn't wash their hands with soap. What was Interjet thinking to have no soap dispensers in the midst of a pandemic?

Route: Mexico City to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "flight attendants were courteous"

Review: It is a short distance from Tokyo to Seoul (2 hours). Nevertheless, this airline flies an aircraft with full-flat, all-isle business-class seats for this route, which I liked very much. they have spacious lounge with a choice of drinks in Haneda, and flight attendants were courteous. On return at Gimpo airport, the Korean lounge was small and overcrowded. The only thing they should do is to warn business-class passengers not to slam shut their tables, because this annoys their front passengers severely.

Route: Tokyo to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "a good flight experience"

Review: Flight in time, plane arrived sooner then expected, boarding was fast, flight attendants even as it was a not full flight told people before take off that could use vacant rows. Was a good flight experience.

Route: Malaga to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "does nothing to help their customers"

Review: The flight was good, departing and arriving on time. After the HA flight we boarded a flight on another carrier to Michigan, where we found out our luggage hadn't arrived. I called Hawaiian Air and was told by their customer service that it's the airports concern and I need to call there. As I've not experienced this before I followed their direction and after several attempts, reached the lost and found at Honolulu airport, who told me it is not their responsibility and I have to talk with the airline. I went back to Hawaiian Air and was once again told it's not their responsibility and I have to contact the airport. I now resisted this and shared what the airport had told me but the customer service rep was adamant that they don't help with lost luggage. I went back and forth to both parties one more time before filing a police report and filing a complaint with the FAA. If you take the time to read thru the FAA guidelines it is clearly the airlines responsibility to assist with lost luggage, but Hawaiian Air does nothing to help their customers with this. I was going to sign up for their credit card and intend to use them more often, but I will now do what I can to stay away from them.

Route: Maui to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "Very disappointing airline"

Review: San Francisco to Delhi via Reykjavik. Very disappointing airline. They nickel and dime you for everything. Checked in Baggage: $175. Carry-on bag: $75. Water on flight: $3. Snacks: $5-8. Meals: $12-18. Cocktails: $8-12. In flight movies: None. In flight WiFi: None In my attempt to find the best fare from SF to Delhi and back, I found a fare of $1200 via Kiwi.com. But get this. I had to change my flight dates after booking, and Kiwi.com charged me $400 for that. Plus all these charges by Wow, and a ridiculously winding itinerary, my trip has now cost me $2400. Such a lousy experience. A big rip-off. WowAir and Kiwi.com - 2 thumbs down!

Route: San Francisco to Delhi via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air KBZ

Title: "way better than we expected"

Review:

Yangon to Nyaung. My wife and me flew three routes with Air KBZ over our holiday in Myanmar and we got outstanding service every time. The cabin crew all have excellent presentation and are very courteous and attentive. We had a cold snack, tea and coffee, all of which were very tasty, on all flights. Its unusual to be given cream cakes at 8.30 am, but they were very nice. All aircraft used were very clean and in good condition and all flights departed and arrived exactly on time. Air KBZ is way better than we expected.

Route: Yangon to Nyaung

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "well worth the money spent"

Review: The service quality ground and cabin is well worth the money spent. Quality of food is good with 2 choices.

The airline is punctual.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "such a bad customer service"

Review: Flight was ok although delayed. Landed at 2.20am. No luggage. No agent. An officer asked us to go out to departures to enquire. Went to departures, nobody available. Spoke to someone, took a pic of the tag to enquire. 3am. Swoop opened for another flight check in. Spoke to agent. Already 4am. She acknowledged someone called a supervisor and we needed to wait. We asked for a follow up call as it had been 1 hour already. She asked to wait 30 mins more as "there had just been a call" although the call x supervisor had been 1 hour ago. Another swoop agent arrives to check in. We go and tried to speak to her. She is upset asked us to wait. She comes back 15 mins later and asked us to go to domestic flights and wait there. We explained it was an international flight and the reason to go to domestic and wait. She answered I am telling you what I was told. I do not know or can do anything. We reiterate the flight was from Cuba and asked why we need to go tp domestic. She stops and thinks and said she would call supervisor again. It is 5am already and nobody knows anything. We tried to ask several times what we are waiting for there. Both agents are very upset and extremely rude. Supervisor shows up at 5.30 because there was a big issue with another entire flight. She says they know nothing and have no idea where our luggage is in Canada or in Cuba and can't be tracked. So, from 2.30 to 5.30 am they just kept ignoring us and being rude. I have never witnessed such a bad customer service at the airport or with any airline. I'd rather pay more to fly with another airline and get a better service.

And our luggage is still missing.

Route: Varadero to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Volaris refuse to refund us"

Review: Horrible company. Our flights were for our honeymoon Jun 3rd to 6th they changed them 2 days before to the 2nd (the day of our wedding) and had no flights to change. We requested to cancel the flights (we paid for insurance for that) they canceled them but the insurance and Volaris refuse to refund us and I spent 9 hours on the phone with them transferring me back and forth and both saying it's the others job to refund. So here we are a month later $810.00 unrefunded.

Route: Denver to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "cabin staff are very kind"

Review: Hong Kong to Beijing with Hong Kong Airlines. It is a fresh airline company, but the price is cheap and we could enjoy flying with this airline. Their cabin staff are very kind and they could speak Chinese, English and Cantonese.

The food was excellent, especially the dessert.

Route: HKG to PEK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "fully refunded by our travel insurance"

Review: We booked on the BA website, round trip flights from Seattle to Amman with a stop in London, in Business Class. Our first flight was delayed and then diverted to NYC, and enroute my husband experienced a medical emergency. When we landed in NYC we were taken to a hospital and I stayed in constant contact with the airline agent who had arranged for the ambulance transfer. The same evening we flew back home, confirming cancellation of all remaining flights with the agent at the airport. For the next several weeks, we spoke many times with BA Customer Service, trying to obtain some kind of refund we were met with contradictory explanations, excuses and an absence of meaningful customer service. We discovered we had been marked as no-shows for our flight to Amman and that our return flight was still active. We were unable to cancel the return on the website, despite booking on the website. Our phone calls were never returned, we spent a minimum of 40-60 minutes on hold for every phone call we made, our emails received only canned replies without answers or explanations, we were told it was not possible to receive a copy of the ticketing rules and regulations nor to speak with a supervisor, and after several weeks of this abysmal customer service I filed a complaint with the FAA. In response to my complaint I received an email from BA Customer Service explaining that they had reviewed my many requests for a full refund but that could not be accommodated due to the ticketing rules. They would issue flight credits - except for the portion for which we no-showed. They did not state how many credits. We never once asked for a full refund - we asked to read the rules and to receive a partial refund. We will not use the credits - we were fully refunded by our travel insurance.

Route: London to Amman

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "This is a terrific airline"

Review: This is a terrific airline! The low, low price had me wondering but I had a fantastic experience I have flown on many airlines both nationally and inter nationally and this was great!. The check in was fast and the people very friendly. The seats had more leg room than I have had in many years. The under the seat storage was also very roomie probably due to the fact that there are only 2 seats on a side rather than the usual 3 seats wedged in the space. The flight was direct which only took 1 hour and 11 minutes to Long Island, N.Y. rather than the 3-4 hours on other airlines. I paid the small fee to check a large bag and it was worth it. The luggage came out fast after my flight. It's no frills so you have no free drinks or food but come on, for an hour flight at these prices I can do without even though they did sell food and drinks .I would very happily fly Breeze anywhere it goes and will recommend this great airline to everyone.

Route: Norfolk to Islip

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "Terribly unprofessional organization"

Review: Terrible service. Totally unorganized at the check in, we waited 2 hours to get our bags checked in. The lady at the desk still assured us we would not miss any flights. We waited on the plane for 1.5 hours, the pilot said the reason was because they had no fuel! What a ridiculous excuse! So we missed our connecting flight and we were told there was another flight at 6.30 (2 hours later) but there was actually no flight until 9.30. We have to sit around the airport for 6 hours now and wait. Terribly unprofessional organization not being able to refuel a plane correctly, lying to the customers about the situation, letting the connecting flight take off even though they knew there were a lot of passengers to take the flight on the way. Disgraceful, do not use this airline.

Route: Montego Bay to Bogota via Panama

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "provided a great service"

Review: I flew on a Thai Airways Boeing 787-8 from Bangkok to London Heathrow. The crew were very friendly and provided a great service. The catering was on-point, both the Thai and continental options were very good. The entertainment system was good but lacked modernity, as the interface was outdated. The seats were comfortable and had a good pitch and recline. Legroom was also adequate. Cabin was clean too. Very fast check in

Route: Bangkok to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "they hung up on me"

Review: Melbourne to Nadi. Please look at all your paperwork and the fine print, I have had to postpone my wedding due to this COVID-19, the change is by 2 months from May 2020 to July 2020 Fiji Airways are now telling us to change the flight it will be an extra charge per person over $100. When I asked the operator to speak with a supervisor she kept telling me they not available I advised her I was able to hold as I needed to confirm the cost and if there's anything they could do to help us given our situation and help our guests. Instead, they hung up on me. I would not recommend this company based on their customer service

Route: Melbourne to Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alliance Air

Title: "flights keep getting cancelled"

Review: Horrible experience. The flights keep getting cancelled and none of the airlines staff are ready to help. They have no alternative plans lined up for cancelled flights. The notify only just before 20min of departure.

Route: Hyderabad to Goa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "takes advantage of everyone"

Review: Avoid Copa Airlines at all costs, this company takes advantage of everyone, including Panamanians. I had sent some personal effects by cargo from Canada to Panama because I had finished my studies and could not take them all with me in the flight to Panama. On its arrival, I was asked to make a list of every single thing in the suitcase and list its price (mind you that it was clothes I had worn for years and bed linens, school notes, and other personal effects). These people along with the Customs department blatantly scam people. They claimed the Tact Rate in the Air Waybill was how much I had to pay them, yet it is common knowledge for customs people that this is an arbitrary cost used by freight companies and not the actual shipment costs. For reference, the tact rate was $580, while the amount I had actually paid to send the package was CAD$360. In addition, they insisted on us having to hire a customs broker and on having to pay an arbitrary amount to get it out, basically a bribe, but a bribe you can't get away of. Don't do your business with them, as a Panamanian I'm sorry, but please take your business somewhere else where they don't have the audacity and ignorance to scam you and act like that is the law.

Route: Panama City to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "staff were very pleasant"

Review: Gatwick to Pula with Thomson Airways. Flight was on time and all staff were very pleasant. Travelling as a family of 4 (2 adults and 2 children aged 10 and 12). Did not pay to reserve seats. Don't agree with it - nobody should have to except if your paying for extra leg room etc. This business of not being able to sit groups together was never a problem in the past, planes have not changed so why has it suddenly become a problem over recent years? Outward flight we were sat 3 in one row and other person across the aisle. Return flight we were all sat separately (row 20, 25, 29 and 39). Other people were also sat apart and once all on board the flight attendants did a bit of juggling and without having to ask they approached me and had made 3 seats together so at least I could sit with the children.

Route: LGW to PUY

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "We didnt get refund"

Review: Frankfurt to Bangkok via Beijing. We missed our last flight (Bangkok to Phuket) because the flight from Beijing to Bangkok departed 2.5 hours late. We should have arrived at 18.35 but we arrived at 21.00. We didnt get refund for the flight we missed and the hotel although it wasnt our fault.

Route: Frankfurt to Bangkok via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "disappointed with the flight"

Review: Adelaide to Perth. We were very disappointed with the flight. We had booked a flight with Qantas and it was changed to a Qantas Link. The flight was on a Boeing 717 plane - fine for flights intrastate, but we don't think they are acceptable for a 3.5 hour flight. There is no entertainment provided. Qantas should tell you when you book if the flight is going to be changed to this.

Route: Adelaide to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "All around great service"

Review: I was on flight PD2363 on June 8th. All around great service from start to finish. Flight attendants were very accommodating and attentive. My first experience with this airline.

Route: Ottawa to Charlottetown

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "enthusiastic, charming and very efficient"

Review: HX offers very attractive price for business class for destinations such as Okinawa, Bangkok and Denpasar etc. An older ex SIA aircraft was used, the seat was 2x2x2 angle lie flat. For medium to short haul, that's perfectly fine. What impressed me the most are the wonderful set of crew on board, they are enthusiastic, charming and very efficient. For a flight of nearly just 2 hours, they managed to do a full service (welcome drink, hot towel, meal in 2 separate courses). Compared to my recent experience with Thai, who just stacked everything onto one tray for a sector slightly longer than from HKG to Okinawa. HX has a good and extensive duty free catalogue. Boarding was very orderly, and parked at aero bridge. Despite the bad rep and recent financial troubles and rumours for shutting down, things seems pretty ok. They have every reason to stay on the market, and I wish them well, I will continue to chose them for Bangkok, Okinawa and Denpasar.

Route: Hong Kong to Okinawa

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: BA CityFlyer

Title: "Average short haul experience"

Review: Zurich to London City. Average short haul flight experience. Easy and smooth morning flight to London. Cabin was narrow but ok, although not very clean. The business class was half empty and the cabin crew was sometimes friendly, but most of the time enjoying themselves while chatting to each other. BA served hot food on this short flight: it looked not good and it was not good. Otherwise nothing special.

Route: Zurich to London City

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SA Express

Title: "inefficient operations"

Review: Johannesburg to Bloemfontein. A taxi rank operates 10x more efficiently than this airline. SA1003 scheduled departure 08h00. Actual departure 09h45. SA1014 scheduled departure 16h55. Actual departure 19h30. What kind of service is this? Don't try to excuse this by telling me that flights are sometimes delayed, because in your case twice in one day is evidence of poor management and inefficient operations. I paid for convenience and what I get is camping at both airports for my departure and return.

Route: Johannesburg to Bloemfontein

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "the oldest planes ever"

Review: Boston to Lisbon via Ponta Delgado. Worst experience ever. Our first flight from Lisbon to Boston had a 3 hours delay and the seats are tiny. Now is the return, I'm still in the connection flight now and I have time to write this review since they take an hour delay in each step. (Get in the first airplane with delay, taxi and take off with delay, connection in the airport packed so with delay, and now that I'm in my last place, we are still waiting.) The last thing that made me smile, after leaving the airplane I took from Boston to get my connection flight, I got back into the same airplane, yes, the whole airplane did the connection. I'm not even talking about the quality of the aircraft, I think they have the oldest planes ever, Lisbon/Boston without Screens nor Sound system.

Route: Boston to Lisbon via Ponta Delgado

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "had to pay for entertainment"

Review: Flying with Air Canada Rouge from Athens to Toronto was my most difficult experience so far. In addition to pay extra for alcoholic drinks, ear phones, seats designated for mothers and babies, I had to pay for entertainment. The internet is very expensive and charged by hour. The flight was 11 hours. Traveling with an 18 months old baby, I was forced to purchase the WiFi service, $42.50 for the whole flight. There was no written instruction in the seat pocket so the pilot gave us instructions in the beginning. With a baby sleeping on my lap, I had to call for help. The flight attendant gave a brief instructions and left. My credit card was charged but the page crashed. I could not use the service. Again I had to asked for help, the flight attendant came and advised that she cannot troubleshoot and we have to chat with ground. My husband had to spend half an hour just to get the refund for that transaction. I was given a notice to hold my baby when the seat belt sign was on for so long during the flight and there was no turbulence. We were offered hot drinks two times during the flight and due to the turbulence we could not have them, I understand it's because of safety but they should come back after the seat belt sign is off to serve those who wish to have hot drinks. This is a service that it has been paid for. At the time of check-in we asked for a seat with bassinet. Although that there was a free one but we had to pay extra plus since the baby was older than 1 year, he could not use the bassinet due to the safety issue. So what's the use of paying extra if I cannot use the bassinet in this flight. The food was awful. There was absolutely no accommodation for the young children and babies, Unfriendly staff. I chose this flight because I had good experience with Air Canada. I did not know that Rouge is different.

Route: Athens to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SCAT Airlines

Title: "a decent service"

Review: Ust-Kamenogorsk to Karaganda. I recently took a group tour in Kazakhstan and this flight was part of the itinerary. The check-in counters at Ust-Kamenogorsk airport were kinda Soviet-style, but the process was efficient and we were soon in the rather featureless departure lounge (bring coins, there is a coffee vending machine for entertainment). Aircraft wasn't new but was well presented. It was completely full (apparently this flight doesn't run very often) but one flight attendant managed to serve a soft drink to everyone during the short flight. We had an airline pilot in our group, he had been wondering what to expect but in the end, thought the flight was fine. Luggage came quickly and nobody had any loss or damage. Overall, a decent service.

Route: Ust-Kamenogorsk to Karaganda

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "Horrible service by Air India"

Review: We 3 people (2 adults and 1 child) were travelling from London to Kochi via Delhi. We missed the flight 4am) from Delhi to Kochi because of our child was continuously vomiting and it was early morning 4am flight. But we reached airport little late (4:10am) they failed to arrange alternate flight for us and they told us to book new seats. They said you will get email after some time, as PNR is generated no issue. We trusted them and returned back to hotel. We didn't receive the email at all and we contacted the costumer service they also said its okay just go to airport and get the boarding pass. We went to airport little early (2am) with all our luggage, and child. When we arrived they said that in your name no seats book and all seats are full we cannot help you. We showed PNR number, they said but as you didn't get email we cant do anything. We went to manager of the Air India, she didn't show any interest in helping or solving the issue. We checked with other airlines. They had 2 seats, one seat like that so we had to book new tickets again with Vistara next day morning (3am) and we returned back to hotel again with all our bags (25kg bags, hand luggage) and child. Horrible service by Air India. Horrible staff members and irresponsible, non cooperative. They were all laughing making fun of each other and customers, no seriousness and no helping nature. It all happened in Delhi international airport. As we were confused and standing what to do, we were just observing them, they are so careless even for old people who are approaching them and they don't know the language Hindi or English. They are very careless they are not there for helping others they are not serious about their job.

Route: London to Kochin via Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "They made this flight enjoyable"

Review: Took the Southwest flight 2952 from Denver to Ontario and I was lucky that I did. The stewardesses were Taylor, Melissa, and Jennifer and they were fantastic! Special shout out to Taylor, professional, but interactive and attentive. They made this flight enjoyable ... nice work Southwest!

Route: Dallas to Ontario via Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "too late to check-in my bag"

Review: AF 072 flight from Paris Charles de Gaulle to LAX. US passport holders have an extra long line to weigh their baggage. The person weighing the baggage before this flight asked the passenger ahead of me in line to weigh her bags. When the bag was lower than the allowed weight, he asked her to put her shawl and jacket onto the scale. Then he shouted out It is overweight, go and pay 100$ and check it in. I went twice through the line, after removing and throwing away some of my luggage the first time. The second time, he put a red tag and asked me to pay excess baggage. There were some people around the corner, who were in conversation with this person weighing the bags in French. They asked me for cash and told me I had to pay there to get my baggage on the plane. I gave them cash, and a woman then took me to a long line and left me with some strangers saying they will take me in with the luggage. I soon realized this was the line for Business class and I was on the wrong line. By the time I went to the baggage counter to pay for extra luggage, it was too late to check-in my bag as the time for that had lapsed. So they made me throw away most of my luggage to make it a carry-on. The next flight was only two hours away. They could have easily checked me into the next flight if they were only willing to be a little helpful.

Route: Paris to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "a wonderful experience"

Review: Washington to Rome via Casablanca. I had a wonderful experience with this airline. I was slightly worried at first because I hadn't heard of the airline before and I saw a bunch of negative reviews on some websites. Also, I was wondering if this airline was so much cheaper than other flights because it would have really bad service - but that was not the case at all. We saved nearly $300 compared to other flights - even other non-direct flights. The flights were orderly and on-time. The staff was extremely friendly. The meals were actually really great! We had two meals on the longer leg of our flight, plus some snacks and beverages and even had one meal on the shorter 2ish hour flight from Casablanca to Rome (and vice versa). The entertainment was great too - awesome selection of movies. No issues with luggage. If looking for a great value flight without compromising too much comfort or service, this is a great airline to choose! I recommend it!

Route: Washington to Rome via Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "airline is absolute garbage"

Review: This airline is absolute garbage. I have traveled my entire life and have flown between the states to St Thomas and have never felt the need to write a review. Each time I have used this airline there have been hours in delays, baggage loss, and no support or compensation. The attendants rudely yelled at passengers that were confused because they were given no direction getting of the plane on this specific trip as well. It once took me 4 days to reach a representative for my lost baggage. There are plenty of Great airlines to use, never use this as your option.

Route: San Juan to St Thomas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "got delayed 12 hours"

Review: The worst ever, bought a flight and got delayed 12 hours, going back the same thing almost 10 hours. When i was in Newark they said they where late because of weather condition in Florida, now I'm in Florida and they are delay because of the weather in Newark. Then they tell you that airline traffic department wont allow them to land but they will need to cancel because now they don't have an airplane, when people decides to cancel their trip 1-2 hours later they get an airplane, I think they overbook or they put 2 flights into one.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Newark

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Worst flight experience ever"

Review: Worst flight experience ever. Had double booked due to system error. Filed in a refund request for one ticket to AirAsia but seems they don't want to give my money back. The process took so long and no customer service available anywhere to give your complaint directly. D-1 before my scheduled flight, my morning flight got rescheduled to the afternoon without other option available to refund or even reschedule my flight. The system in the check-in terminal is slow. I think the company is facing bankruptcy.

Route: Jakarta to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "would definitely fly with again"

Review: Very impressed. These seats are marketed as Business Class 'Lite' i.e.. you are getting a flat bed seat but not much else for the ticket price. However, I would actually rate the experience with Zip on this flight from Tokyo to Singapore more highly than my experiences with other airlines such as British Airways, who constantly disappoint. The value for money is way better that's for sure. As is the customer service. In summary: Check in process could have been better. Had to wait in queue for about half an hour. I think all passengers are required to manually check in at a desk for this flight. Or at least we were on this occasion. No fast track for business class. On the flight itself, the seats were very comfortable. The blanket provided was especially nice. As were the slippers. The restrooms were very clean and the toiletries provided were ample. Things like mouthwash, hand cream, etc. The staff were excellent. Polite, attentive, courteous. The food was good for what it was. I had spicy chicken with rice. It was basically a microwave meal but still tasty. The fruit was fresh and flavoursome. Free Wi-Fi for business class. Although this is a given on most premium seats, there are still airlines who cash in on charging for Wi-Fi (British Airways for example), so its nice that Zip provide it for free. I would definitely fly with Zip again.

Route: Tokyo to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "structured incompetence"

Review: Where to begin? First leg of flight initially delayed. That is not my complaint. Came in after supposed departure of connecting flight. Was told by gate agent to stand in line that would take at least an hour, while the connecting flight was still boarding but not told that! Found out by going to the gate instead of waiting in line. They let me on. All my bags did not make it however. Filed a claim at airport on Maui. Was provided a number that doesn't work. Still trying to reach a human and when I do they pass me off to another number that starts with thank you for your patience, but we are helping others and then plays music that is from WW2 cabaret with no response while asking me if I would like to participate in a survey after they don't help me. So here I am with 3 lost bags, no one to help track it down and no one at that airline is hired to care. It is structured incompetence, insensitive employees on an airline that has a monopoly on this island for most inter-island travel. Not sure what to do next as no human ever responds on their phone line, which is recorded for training persons. My best guess is they immediately fire anyone who actually helps! Poor people of Hawaii, so little choice in flying one or 2 islands over.

Route: Lihue to Kahului via Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "worst experience with an airline"

Review: The worst experience with an airline. I booked my ticket online. Even though I paid the fee for my luggage, I was told that I have to pay an extra 150 euros because my reservation did not match the reservation on their software. I have shown them the confirmation on my e-mail where it was confirmed that I have already paid for my luggage, but the confirmation was not taken into account. Moreover, the personnel was very impolite. Never flying with this company again.

Route: Cluj-Napoca to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "The most wonderful staff"

Review: The most wonderful staff I have ever met. It was the staff that inspired me to write this review. Because it was an ordinary flight, similar to other flights, but we had one trouble, in which case they usually get off the plane, and it doesn't matter that the problem is not the fault of the passenger. So, all the staff with a great desire to help, solved our problem and we still flew. This is a real concern for passengers, the human factor, which is just on top in this flight! I want to thank each one separately Charito, Murielle, Jelesse, captain Matthew, captain Jay

Route: Calgary to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUIfly

Title: "clean planes and pleasant (young) cabin crew"

Review: Brussels Zaventem - Fuerteventura Return. Slight delay on the outbound flight due to late arrival of the plane at Brussels Airport but final arrival in Fuerteventura was on time. Return flight had a delay of a bit less than 2hrs due to technical problems with the first foreseen plane. We had the nice Boeing Sky Interior on the return plane so that was a plus! In general clean planes and pleasant (young) cabin crew on both flights. Meals and drinks for purchase but nice selections though. We booked and paid for emergency exit seats so that we would have extra legroom, highly recommendable on such longer flights imho! I understood that one young lady on the outbound flight did not speak Dutch...for a Belgian airline this is not acceptable though!

Route: Brussels to Fuerteventura via Lanzarote

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wings Air

Title: "Overall a smooth flight"

Review: Manokwari to Kaimana. Flight was 15 minutes late to depart. Check in staff very lenient about size of hand luggage. On board seats were fine, aircon good, cabin crew helpful. No food or drinks available even for purchase, but who needs them on a short flight anyway? Overall a smooth flight.

Route: Manokwari to Kaimana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "I was sorely disappointed"

Review: Flew Thomson from Birmingham to Cancun. I read a lot of the company's blurb about how good their Boeing 787 was. I was sorely disappointed. My seat and table were filthy, I asked a stewardess for something to clean it with, I was told that they carry nothing to clean with. I said that it wasn't good enough, she agreed telling me that "passengers can be really disgusting!" No apology, no solution. Between the seats hadn't been vacuumed for more than 1 previous trip. Incredibly unhygienic. Staff were rude and disinterested. Thomson should be embarrassed by their seating policy that if you don't pay you won't sit next to people in your party.

Route: Birmingham to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "the aircraft is good"

Review:

Had a short flight from Denpasar to Surabaya, the aircraft is good also with the service. One thing made me a bit disappointed is there was someone sat in my seat even though I've did website check-in.

Route: Denpasar to Surabaya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "Get it together Avelo"

Review: You may be asking yourself why are Avelo flights so cheap? It is because they do not actually get you anywhere. At least I am convinced of this so far in my experience as I am writing this in the airport after my third delay from Avelo. Reasoning? No staff. And before anyone begins arguing about staffing, I realize there are shortages nationwide but honestly, thats cant be an excuse anymore. I work every day with fewer employees than I have had in the past, however, I do not overbook services to the extent that I find myself unable to provide realistic goals for my customers. Get it together Avelo. If you do not have staff, do not continue to book flights! Needless to say, I will never fly Avelo again.

Route: Raleigh to West Palm Beach

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Croatia Airlines

Title: Croatia Airlines customer review

Review: Still waiting to board a flight that was supposed to leave an hour ago. All we have been told by the attendants is "we are still waiting for more information, we can't tell you anything". We will now miss the last ferry to Hvar and have nowhere to stay when we get to Split.

Route: Vienna to Split

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "surprisingly well organised"

Review: Jetstar Pacific from Ho Chi Minh City to Da Nang and return was surprisingly well organised. As usual, boarding is disrupted by passengers taking what seat they like instead of the seat allocated. Maybe a pre-departure announcement would overcome this problem as it delays the boarding procedure in several areas before passengers are re-seated. It is annoying for the other passengers and stressful for the cabin crew to sort out the confusion. Departure was 15 minutes late for the short flight. No tissues or towels in the front toilet was quickly remedied. The A320 aircraft seemed new and the cabin attendants young, friendly and efficient. I understand its a budget airline but charging outlets for phones and ipads would be a real passenger bonus. The return trip was also uneventful, except for passengers again opting to sit where they want instead of following their boarding pass. It was an older aircraft that the outbound trip, but still quite clean. No trolley service on this night flight, but it wasnt missed.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Da Nang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cape Air

Title: "Awful customer service"

Review: Awful customer service, stay away. I traveled with a child and had a bag delayed. I tried to talk to a representative at Logan airport to schedule my bag to be delivered to my local airport since I do not live in Boston and had to catch a train. He would not help me and just said Next and ignored what I was saying. He made me miss my train. I went to a JetBlue representative who found a different Cape Air representative to help me. My issue was resolved in minutes. I missed my train and was left to wait for hours with a child in a train station all because of a matter that could have been resolved in minutes. Unacceptable.

Route: Rutland VT to Boston MA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "rubbish customer care"

Review: I had two connections to make, the first one from Glasgow. Arriving at Naples only to find Jet2 trying to check in 4 flights from one desk! Next the pilot says were on time flight time three hours and five minutes. Take off 11.10 so arriving 14.15. But at 11.30 we are still sitting on the runway. Arrive 14.40 to be told weve been docked at domestic arrivals not international, so you will be transported by bus. Then were told we cant open the front door so you will have to use the rear one. Still sitting on the plane at 15.00. Eventually get to baggage collection only to find other passengers from other airlines trying to collect cases except the carrousel has broken down. I find a Jet2 rep explained my situation re connection she said has your bag got an address tag on it, ye. Ok you go and get your connection we will send it on. Monday get a phone from some very nasty unpleasant Jet2 employee who maintains that no one said that and no one remembers having a conversation with me. Convenient! I ask if they will forward my case to me? The rude woman on the phone says no we wont! What a cow so its cost me £25.08 to get my case sent customer service stinks, TV advert misleading in my opinion. Will never fly Jet2 again in my opinion rubbish customer care.

Route: Naples to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "does not deliver"

Review: Toronto to Boston. Simply put, Porter Airlines does not deliver. They take your money and book flights at specified times but repeatedly cancel and delay flights and bump you to later flights to consolidate flyers, while being slow, robotic, and apologetic. They will tell you its a maintenance issue or weather issue but as a frequent flyer, this cannot always be the case. This is bad business practice in my opinion and they get away with it. They have done Toronto a disservice, and are lowering tourist potential.

Route: Toronto to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Worst flight ever in my experience"

Review: Worst flight ever in my experience, we were advised via email and phone that flight will be delayed. I have organised in advance for more luggage to be able to carry and paid extra. Arrived at Lisbon Airport to check in 2 hours in advance to be told that the check out was closed and there is nothing we can do , even though we understood that the plane was not even landed from previous flight. It was a nightmare, we had to protest to be checked in. That is within the standard two hours before departure. We asked what is the option, they said i had to take the luggage with me at the gate and pay extra for the luggage. Then they verified again our tickets and perhaps they saw that we paid additional fees for additional luggage and they finally checked us in. Then as we went at the gate we had to endure more than an hour for the luggage to be verified for size, and there was a huge line with people corralled like cattle with no option to sit or even use toilet as you would be afraid you'd lose your place in that que. We had to wait a lot to get through there were people with luggage that were made to paid extra. After an ordeal of waiting like cattle standing and being slowly marched through to check luggage size, we were further corralled towards the embarking gate, and after another about 40 min we were marched towards the plane by foot. We got in, we arrived in Bucharest shortly after 1.00a.m. and since then we are waiting at the band for the luggage to arrive. All the passengers are waiting whilst I am writing this review for luggage and it is 2.24a.m. with NO information as to what happened to luggage and when are they going to unload the luggage

Route: Lisbon to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "Absolutely fantastic trip"

Review: Absolutely fantastic trip. The crew put every possible effort to welcome me onboard and to accomodate every possible desire from extra snacks to champagne. Selection of food, presentation and attention are at absolutely highest possible level. Special thanks to the team of Taguchi, Takemura, Jarupoom, Oochi for hosting me aboard and to making this flight as easy as a breeze. Thank you again

Route: Seattle to Tokyo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "bus to and from the aircraft"

Review: This is a generic review for China Eastern. As usual, I need to add 30-49 minutes on each leg at both each airport because China Eastern is too cheap to pay for an actual gate. 85% of the time when flying on MU you will need to take a bus to and from the aircraft which causes so many additional delays.

Route: Singapore to Shanghai via Dalian

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Scoot

Title: "first and last time I will fly Scoot"

Review: Melbourne to Changi Airport, missed connecting flight TR466 to Kuala Lumpur due to delay in checking in and taking off time at Melbourne Airport by 2 hours. Arrived Changi Airport at 6.30 pm. Layover time at Changi Airport was 1 hour. No information regarding Covid Testing for transit. No clear instruction by cabin crew as to whether to proceed to Terminal 1. No staff at Scoot C-counter. Very confused, worried, exhausted and stressful because Air Asia and Thai Airways staff had to contact Scoot. Last flight to Kuala Lumpur was 7.30 pm. Stayed at Changi Airport till 17/1/23 for connecting flight to Kuala Lumpur at 9.30 am via TR453. The journey was supposed to take approximately 9 hours but it took more than 20 hours to arrive Kuala Lumpur. The long delay and uncertainties as to how and when I could arrive at Kuala Lumpur caused great inconvenience for family members to drive 2 days to pick me up at KLIA2. On arrival at KLIA2, lost luggage, waiting more than 2 hours at carousel. I contacted Scoot customer service but they were unable to assist. After numerous calls and emails, suitcase was finally delivered on 19/1/23. Not impressed at all. 27/1/23. From Kuala Lumpur to Changi Airport, the staff at Kuala Lumpur provided better service. The layover time at Changi Airport was 17.20 hours and incurring additional hotel bills. If direct flights, no hotels required. When boarded TR22, the take-off time from Changi Airport to Melbourne was again delayed by 1.5 hours due to transit passengers from Berlin. Cabin crew did not offer to load hand luggage into overhead lockers unless requested. Food was not served earlier and the meal was only served once in very small portion with additional waiting time of 20 minutes to heat up the food. I felt very hungry. No blankets and cushions were provided unless purchase. Total travel duration and layover time was approximately 26 hours. Very uncomfortable seats and the toilet is small. Scoot do not feed adequately and provide comfort to passengers. This is the first and last time I will fly by Scoot.

Route: Melbourne to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "couldn't connect me with a supervisor"

Review: I was not able to take this flight. I canceled and they told me because my flight was non-refundable that they would give me a credit. What they FAILED to mention was that if I accepted the taxes back from the flight, it would WIPE OUT THE CREDIT! So I lost $1800.00USD. I called and spoke to their customer service department. I was disconnected several times, dealt with people whom couldn't connect me with a supervisor, and in one instance dealt with an EXTREMELY RUDE individual who told me to go to the website and complain. I will NEVER FLY with this company EVER!!!

Route: Atlanta to Male via Paris

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "a cheap flight I suppose its great"

Review: Miami to London Gatwick. First time flying with Norwegian, I was very unimpressed how they weigh your carry ons. I had a small pull along suitcase full of my babies essentials for the flight and was told it was too heavy and I would have to pay $15 a kilo my suitcase was over by 3 kilos also and the lady serving us just grunted pointed to the left and shouted go go come back when you sort. The flight was ok the seats were comfy, the TV was actually pretty snazzy and cool but on a long haul flight I was shocked that food is not included free. This is a company that does not strive for positive customer feedback they offer cheap flights and its a take it or leave it scenario. If you need a cheap flight I suppose its great however if your looking to start your holiday off cheery and happy I suggest flying with someone else.

Route: Miami to London Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "we had so much trouble checking in"

Review: First of all the times changed. Then we had so much trouble checking in. Then when we finally checked in we weren't able to get a boarding pass. Now on the airfield they are 45 minutes too late with opening the luggage check-in counters. Their website is horrible. And they have no helpdesk or customers service that is available via the website!

Route: Guatemala City to Panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "the flight was modest"

Review: Overall the flight was modest. The check-in was done using web check-in was smooth. Dropped the luggage at the check-in desk with proper checking on my luggage weight including cabin baggage. immigration security checking was smooth. Boarding was smooth, with proper arrangement/line-up via zone as stated in the ticket. The seat was modest, with good cleanliness. The meal (rice with fish) was good but can be improved. The flight stewardess shows her best performance throughout this flight. Overall, I enjoy the flight.

Route: Osaka to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "my flight has been changed"

Review: I booked a ticket from CMB to BNE via SYD, to return to BNE on 8 July - after burying my mother on 6 July after she lost her battle with cancer. This was a very traumatic time for me & all I wanted to do was get home to my husband after the funeral to start the grieving process. I got to the airport only to find out flight scheduled at 0005 from CMB to SYD was delayed to 0110. I didnt for a moment expect this to have a knock on effect on my connecting flight from SYD to BNE. As apart from the ticket bought online all through Sri Lankan airlines as a package deal, with the international sector being on Sri Lankan airlines & the domestic sector on Jetstar (JQ), the arrival time in SYD (even with the delay) wasnt impacting my flight departing SYD at 1740. I get to SYD & try to check in for my flight to BNE & get a convoluted auto response advising that my flight has been changed - like massively changed - to a completely different date, without verbal information given to me on check in at the Sri Lankan airport, or via telephone, or SMS, or email: Dep SYD 2150 on 8 July & Arr MEL 2320 on 8 July 2. Dep MEL 0705 on 9 July & Arr BNE 0915 on 9 July. Jetstar said theres nothing they can do as the flight from SYD to BNE that I was originally booked on is now full (even though check in was still open). They asked me to call SriLankan airlines & request that I be put on the last remaining seat on Jetstars last flight bound to BNE for the day. I called Sri Lankan airlines and explained the situation to person on the other end of the phone. I got no apology, understanding, empathy or action. I called my husband in Brisbane who was already on his way to pick me up from the BNE airport - to advise him that I would now only be arriving the following day, after being re-routed to BNE via MEL without advance notification. My husband then attempted to call Sri Lankan airlines yet again - still no explanation or action received! My husband jumped online & bought the last remaining seat on any airline for the day. We ended up paying top dollar to buy me a seat from SYD to BNE on 8 July on Virgin.

Route: Colombo to Brisbane via Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: Worst experience ever for my family. I bought 5 tickets for my Mother and children to fly to LAX . Their original flight was on June 17, their flight was cancelled so to a very good reason. I received an email that their flight was rescheduled to 6/18/23. When my family received their ticket they went to the gate that was printed on their ticket. Come to find out there was a gate change and my family wasn't told of it. My Mother was treated so badly by delta in Seattle. My Mother told it was her fault for not having the app on her phone. My family got put on stand by and was separated on the plane. For my 4 year old to not be seated next to someone she knows is unacceptable. It took a passenger to speak up and trade seats with my 4 year old to sit next to my Mother. I am absolutely mortified that my family got treated so poorly and told it was all her fault for not having the app. This is 100% the worst customer service and we will never fly delta again.

Route: Seattle to Los Angeles via San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Excellent service"

Review: Excellent service, starting from check in to inflight service. Seats are quite comfortable with reasonably good leg space. Cabin crew are very polite.

Route: Yangon to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "There was no refund"

Review: I booked my flight back home on Sunday as we have to work on Monday. After checking-in and dropping my bag. I was informed that the flight was cancelled. Which is not the best news to hear of course. There was a long line of passengers that does not move, they wanted us to fly the next day, an offer that normally i won't refuse. However I had several meetings the day after that cannot be simply cancelled. It feels like they are throwing us from one person to another with no respect. I tried to find a reservation to a close airport. However they cancelled all their trips to the north due to weather reasons. There was no refund. My bag still did not arrive after 2 months.

Route: Zurich to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Worst flight I have ever had"

Review: Worst flight I have ever had. The cabin crew were absolutely awful. It was almost unbelievable how rude and unprofessional they were with their tone and manner to the passenger. They spent the entire 2hr 20 minute flight on their phones or behind a closed curtain eating food, to which at one point one of the pilots also joined.

Route: Gatwick to Naples

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "never again Malindo Air"

Review: Bangkok to Bali via Kuala Lumpur. Very bad customer service! Lady at the airport behind the customer helpdesk looked like she was mad at me for not understanding her bad English. Added luggage through their website, but the ticket number was wrong and they would not allow me to check in my bags under my name unless I pay 4 times the normal amount! I refused and had to take stuff out of my bag to get under 7.5 kg and leave it on the airport! Thank you but never again Malindo Air!

Route: Bangkok to Bali via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "food was fresh and tasty"

Review: I have been travelling with CSA Czech Airlines flying to Warsaw. Unfortunately due to lack of aircraft, the flight has been delayed for more than 2 hours. No big deal for me, but I understand that some passengers might have been disgruntled on this short flight. I prepaid their business class menu, which I highly recommend, food was fresh and tasty, plenty of drinks, served in real glass and porcelain. In the aircraft one younger smiley and very nice FA, the second one was just OK. Ground services at Prague ok, in WAW they could have been faster as we waited for 15 minutes till someone came to the aircraft. Except for the delay it was a very ok experience.

Route: Prague to Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "excuses and no compensation"

Review: Amsterdam to Valletta. At check in we were told that the aircraft would be small and different to usual Air Malta airbus, and had to give in our hand luggage in which we had breakables and no locks. There was also no food or beverages you can buy on the plane and as 'compensation' they gave us a 4.95 euro voucher to buy something quickly before. The plane was not Air Malta but GetJet - a Lithuanian airline which operates very old aircraft. None of the crew or the captain were Maltese. I am a nervous flyer- we paid extra money to use Air Malta because we trust Air Malta. Had we gone for a cheaper budget airline we would have saved a lot of money and we still would have had a better experience as at least they offer refreshments on the plane. We also had an hour delay before take-off and when we asked the crew what the problem was they replied that they did not know. Two of our luggages were badly damaged and a rain jacket was missing from a side pocket of my luggage which was found opened. What's even worse than this experience is their customer service - a whole month of sending emails and reminders and calling, only to get nowhere except excuses and no compensation at all.

Route: Amsterdam to Valletta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "food on board was very tasty"

Review: I traveled with them in July 2022 on the Boeing B737-800 from Amman to Cairo (Flight Number: MS702)

Although the flight was short (about an hour and a half), the level of service on board was more than wonderful, the food on board was very tasty. The flight crew was excellent and very nice.

Route: Amman to Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "I recommend Etihad Airways"

Review: Long trip to Thailand for a family of four, including two kids of 12 and 10 years old. I recommend Etihad Airways for professionalism, the friendliness of its crew, and general reliability. All flights on-time, no luggage problem.

Comfortable Boeing 787 with rich in-flight entertainment. The density in economy class is high, but this is understandable given the low ticket price. Abu Dhabi is not the newest and most comfortable airport for a connection, but it's not a big deal.

Route: Geneva to Bangkok via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Germana Airline

Title: "should have chosen Lufthansa"

Review: Friedrichshafen to Gran Canaria. Flight was cancelled due to a desert storm in Egypt so they said there's no aircraft at Friedrichshafen. So they took us to Zurich by coach. New airplane, old reservation unvalid of course. We then arrived 3 hours delayed at Las Palmas with Germana Swiss. When we ask them about compensation and damages they just said it's another carrier and the desert storm has been a higher force. However, staff and food was good. Flight back was also delayed about one hour. We should have chosen Lufthansa from Munich!

Route: Friedrichshafen to Gran Canaria

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "never fly Japan Airlines again"

Review: Okinawa to Tokyo. My daughter and I just took a mini vacation to Tokyo we flew on Japan airlines. After we arrived in Tokyo my daughter was informed that her dog was in the hospital and very sick. She tried with many different employees of Japan Airlines to change our flights to fly back earlier but they refused because she bought the tickets from Expedia. Well these two customers will never fly Japan Airlines again.

Route: Okinawa to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "I wouldnt recommend TAP Portugal"

Review: We missed our flight from Lisbon to Amsterdam because of the long waiting time at the security control line In the TAP office the lady was incompetent and said that wasnt their problem to be late because of the control and I should make another booking and pay for it. The next one was at next day. She didnt offer us a hotel or another ticket. I must book a flight to Brussel with fast track and payed around 800 euros for that! I took a taxi then from Brussel to Amsterdam , so i can join an important appointment at next day. The whole situation was so awful and I wouldnt recommend TAP Portugal.

Route: Lisbon to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Shanghai Airlines

Title: "have the worst customer service"

Review: Shanghai to Kuala Lumpur. My flight is in December and they change the flight early and we dont have enough time to connect. Expedia and myself have been try to contact them for the past week and nobody pick up the phone. They have the worst customer service and if possible do not fly on Shanghai Airlines. I am still waiting for them to answer their phone.

Route: Shanghai to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "The worst Ive ever experienced"

Review: The worst Ive ever experienced. Postponed flight multiple times, sent conflicting text messages, lost bags, no response on their "customer support", 5 days and my bag is still lost. Not one human to be able to contact. Ive driven all the way back to the airport multiple times and still no one can help me find my bags. I wouldnt fly with them again.

Route: Richmond to Hartford

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Below average flight"

Review: Below average flight. Recently I travelled in SpiceJet on 06/July/2022. I have travelled twice with this SpiceJet but I made a mistake giving this airline a second chance. Every time SpiceJet flight is 40-50 min late so as to avoid the 60 min mark so as to evade any penalty. After deboarding, the luggage took forever to come and due to it (delayed flight+ delayed luggage) I missed my connecting train for which I had paid a hefty amount in tatkaal tickets. It's mandatory to pay and choose a seat before web-check in.

Route: Patna to Pune

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "thank the staff of Vistara"

Review: I'd always heard good things about Vistara but never quite understood why and so I couldn't wait for my first flight with Vistara. Not only was the entire journey comfortable with the smoothest landing but I want to especially highlight the service at the checkin counter at Mumbai T2 airport. I'd got the flight timings mixed up and there was a delay at my end admittedly, panic ensued but the staff at Mumbai airport were patient and managed to allow me to board the flight to Kochi. Words can't express my gratitude to Yash, Dolly and especially Sohail sir - a man of few words but your kindness left a huge impact on me. In a sea of horror stories of domestic Indian flights, I want to thank the staff of Vistara for setting an example and keeping the customer at the heart of what you do. Will be singing Vistara's praises for a long time!

Route: Mumbai to Kochi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Egregious, questionable business practices!"

Review: Egregious, questionable business practices! I purposely called customer service ahead of time the day before, due to being unable to register for the flight and I did not want to be charged. So, the day of our flight we arrived at the airport 2 hours in advance. There were 2 people there to check in hundreds of passengers for two separate flights, and the line was not moving. When it was finally our turn (about 20 minutes before the scheduled flight time, the Wizz Air rep insisted we pay 80 euros for not registering ahead of time. I tried to explain of the IT issues I had encountered, but she wouldn't listen to us, and told us that was the "procedure". So we had to run to another terminal to pay - at which time there was 5 minutes left before the flight. When we asked how to get to the terminal, it was listed at the other terminal (3) (which was a good distance away) but the Wizz Air employee told us it was terminal 4. There were other customers from all over the world (Irish, Portuguese) who had the same problem. At this stage in the game I insisted they show us where we should go. But of course, we had to go through security - where they (temporarily) lost our passports! Honestly, I was afraid of having a heart attack. They did not seem at all concerned, as I assume this is the norm for the company. It was infuriating, and so unnecessary! I hope that no one else ever has such a problem. My conclusion - total rip-off, scam operation. We will never take Wizz Air again!

Route: Rome to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "poor quality of the hard product"

Review: We had the pleasure of flying on MAS's new domestic business class. The removal of TVs, reduced legroom, reduced business class luggage compartments (due to the cabin arrangement) and no partition between business and economy class while charging the same price as before does not a premium experience or happy customer make. I can appreciate removing TVs in favour of streaming since everyone has a phone but the IFE didn't let you skip ads until you watched at least 30s. Furthermore, normally no TVs means more underseat storage but not here due to the poor position of the chair leg and IFE box (right in the middle). This is an important point since there's only 2 dedicated overhead bins for business now while 2 bins are shared with economy. Regarding the seat, it was better padded than the previous despite being slimmer. However, it was obvious that MAS has reduced the legroom to stuff in more economy seats. In addition, some buttons were already broken despite it being a new plane according to the stewardess. Sitting in the last row also meant an unpleasant lack of privacy with the removal of the solid partition between economy and business. The only thing that made this flight bearable was our cabin crew who were lovely. They were professional and polite and made up for the poor quality of the hard product.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Kuching

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "delays, lies and narrow seats"

Review: I bought a roundtrip ticket 8 days before departure then a day after that I got an email that my flight from my stop, Hong Kong, to Manila will be delayed. Instead of arriving the same night at 1035PM, I will arrive the next day at 0350. I called the customer service and they gave me an excuse about Volcano ashes issue. If that was the case, why my sister's flight with different carrier is not delayed. We tried to synchronize our arrival time so we could get picked up at the same time. After the plane landed in Hong Kong, I went to The Bridge Lounge for Cathay Pacific and I was told that the delay for the flight CX913 has been happening for weeks now. How come their website is not giving off warning or being updated of the actual flight schedule instead of surprising passengers after buying the tickets. This is ridiculous. They wouldn't even give me a free access to their lounge for the inconvenience. I wouldn't trust or fly Cathay Pacific again. The flight experience was alright and so were the food but if you hate delays, lies and narrow seats, then this airline isn't for you.

Route: Hong Kong to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "free resort flight check in"

Review: Paphos to East Midlands. Will definitely fly Jet2 again. Love the free resort flight check in it was so easy and stress free. All staff encountered where friendly and helpful.

Route: Paphos to East Midlands

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "cabin crew was totally nonchalant"

Review: Its like lightning striking twice when the exact previous comment was also a complaint about whats the point of having Priority Boarding?, because paying for the Space Plus seats, Priority Boarding and overhead cabin bag space turned out to be a complete farce. As such there was no difference being in Boarding Group 1 and by the time we got to our seats the baggage bins were completely full. The cabin crew was totally nonchalant and did nothing about it despite clearly being aware of the situation. What a complete waste of 70. If there was any consolation to go by, the crew got the aircraft airborne really quickly and we landed ahead of schedule. Bags didnt go missing either but thats where the positives end.

Route: Barcelona to Porto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "Worst airline experience"

Review: Flew Newark to Paris. La Compagnie is terrible and a poor excuse for business class. The plane is old and worn, the lounge is cheap and overcrowded and the entire cabin smelled literally of urine. The staff were extremely rude, especially a staff member at Newark airport. Worst airline experience. I will never fly them again.

Route: Newark to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "Transfer experience was awful"

Review: Sydney to Haikou on 4th January, returning Dalian to Sydney via Changsha on 25th January. The A330 seemed very old and the cabin dirty. When I flew Sydney to Haikou, I was given an amenity kit but for some reason on the way back from Changsha sitting in the back I was not given one, but passengers in the front was given it. Crew did not offer headphones, I had to ask. Customer service was great from their staff however I did feel that they were rushed. Transfer experience was awful. I had a transfer from Dalian to Sydney at Changsha with an 8 hour gap but I had to take my luggage and recheck in Changsha.

Route: Sydney to Haikou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Terrible customer service"

Review: Terrible customer service, change our flight schedule from early morning to midnight. Instead of finding an option I was asked if I just want a refund. Disregard whether customers has plan on the day of arrival, or has booked a hotel or rent a vehicle, Air Canada can just change the schedule without letting you know

Route: Vancouver to San Diego

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "penalized for choosing to pack light"

Review: Toronto to Miami. My wife and I had 1 backpack carry amongst the two of us. We were asked to remove it from overhead storage and put it under our seats. I had shoes and towels stored in the backup making it bulky. I could not sit comfortably throughout the flight. When quizzed as to why other travellers with large and heavy carryons were given first priority - the attendant said that was just the case. It is brutal that we were penalized for choosing to pack lightly. Furthermore, we have seen multiple smaller backups and handbags stored in the same bins. I cannot say why our bag was removed. Atrocious!

Route: Toronto to Miami

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Germania Airline

Title: "definitely choose Germania again"

Review: Picked Germania because they offer the only nonstop connection between Berlin Schönefeld and Teheran.

The plane was in very good condition. Legroom was ok compared to other low-cost airlines but still pretty tight for a 5 hour flight. Service was very good with three rounds of free non-alcoholic drinks, a warm meal and a cake along with coffee. They also offered free magazines and newspapers to everybody. Inflight entertainment consistent of maps and one movie. The crew was friendly and the flight almost in time. I would definitely choose Germania again, as they offer good value for money!

Route: IKA to SXF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "Long and messy check in process"

Review: Disappointed with the flagship airlines of a country. The aircraft is very small and seats are not comfortable.

Food on the flights are also not very good. Long and messy check in process

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Doha via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "closed check in 45 minutes before"

Review: I had a connecting flight, the route was Cauyan -> Manila -> Puerto Princesa, the flight from Cauyan was delayed but there was more than enough time to check in. So I went to the check in counters C16-29 and used their self check-in service. In the last step of the check in it said it was unable to check in and that I needed to go to the counter. I reached the counter 43 minutes before the flight was supposed to lift off. They closed check in 45 minutes before, so they just told me I'm too late. I explained that the machine had an error and I did what I was told. I had no baggage to check in so it would cause no issues to check me in. She didn't care at all and she lectured me about that this line and machines was for baggage check in, but I clearly saw people use the check in machines with no baggage and there were no other machines to use elsewhere.

Route: Manila to Puerto Princesa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Arik Air

Title: "a blatant disregard for welfare"

Review: I am quite accommodating as a person and I have clear understanding of flight logistics challenges. But Arik Air showcased a complete lack of class and a blatant disregard for welfare. Its disgraceful and outright incompetent. I arrived 55 minutes before flight time and I was unable to check in to get a boarding pass and thus forced to reschedule and its particularly painful because I had promised my three year old that Id be with her. And they were so rude despite my calm demeanor. Im not one to give bad reviews or reviews in general but here you go. Id fly Max or Airpeace going forward and I employ others to do the same.

Route: Lagos to Warri

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "worst airline I've ever witnessed"

Review: The airline decides to change our original departure/return times, and we call trying to adjust our flights accordingly a normal procedure for most flights. Copa Air is the biggest scam I've witnessed they basically switched one of our flights to profit off of us by giving us an undesirable flight at 2 am and when we called to correct it they tried to charge us an exorbitant fee of "$3000" to return our original departure time of 3pm. This has to be the worst airline I've ever witnessed. Instead I am forced to pay 300 and rebook with american airlines instead. Disgrace of an airline.

Route: New York to Medellin via Panam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "they bumped me off my flight"

Review: Ive flown AA twice in 2023 and each time they have delayed my flight. There is always a connecting flight from Houston to Dallas so my connecting flight is always missed due to delay in Houston. Today, June 15, 2023, I had scheduled a 800am flight connecting to DFW which was delayed to 1000am. I was notified at 357 am of delay by text. When I get to airport the representative tells me the 800am left on time. She is not sure why they changed my flight to 1000am. I do - they bumped me off my flight. So my connecting flight in DFW will be missed because I arrive at 1140am and my connecting flight leaves at 1047 am. The DFW flight I paid for a seat which means nothing to AA. Now Im on standby in Dallas waiting to see if I get on a 500pm or 900pm flight. AA so conveniently change your flight regardless of the fact you PAID for your flight and seat! In 2022, I was bumped off a flight 5 times in one day. AA doesnt care.

Route: Houston to Ontario

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Openskies

Title: "should be ashamed of themselves"

Review: I am writing this on behalf of my wife and her three month battle with British Airways. On January 22, 2017 my wife and her sister were scheduled to return home from Paris Orly to New York JFK on Air France flight 0032 after attending a family funeral in France. Air France cancelled that flight 2 hours before its scheduled departure and offered no options other than to book passengers on a flight the following day. They needed to return to New York on January 22, so they walked over to the British Airways counter at Paris Orly and bought 2 tickets for Openskies flight BA 8005 from Paris Orly to New York JFK. They were prepared to buy 2 one-way tickets since they only needed to travel from Paris to New York, but the ticket sales agent at the British Airways ticket sales desk recommended that they buy round-trip tickets instead, promising that they could easily get a refund for the second leg of the round trip by simply cancelling it at British Airways.com on their return to New York because the tickets were fully refundable premium economy tickets. The agent told them that purchasing round trip tickets and getting a refund for the second leg would be cheaper than buying one-way tickets. What happened afterwards was a nightmare. When they returned to New York and tried to do as they had been instructed, the British Airways website said would not allow them to cancel online and would they would have to call customer service. What followed was a travesty. My wife had multiple calls with British Airways customer service each time with a different person and was told who told me that the second leg of the tickets the agent had sold them were non-refundable, although the first leg of the tickets was fully flexible. She explained to them each time that that they would have had no need for any flexibility on the first leg since they were standing at the ticket counter at the airport getting on a flight that was to leave in 45 minutes. She also explained that the sales agent knew that they needed flexibility on the second leg of the trip which since the agent knew they fully intended to cancel. Indeed, knowing that he was selling them fully refundable tickets, the agent randomly selected a travel date for the second leg of the trip (February 20, 2017) without consulting them. As it happens, he selected a date on which my wife would not even be in New York to get on that flight because she would be out of the country on that date. In the following two months it has been a continuous back and forth correspondence with British Airways customer service culminating in two letters which basically stated that British Airways did not believe my wife and her sister, and saying there would be no refund and no more correspondence. My wife just wanted to move on and let this go, but after watching this on the sideline for the past two months not to mention being stuck with almost $2,000 in non refundable tickets, I felt I have to post this on her behalf. British Airways should be ashamed of themselves.

Route: Paris to New York

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Level

Title: "2 cancelations within 2 weeks"

Review: My flight was canceled, as well as the one on the way to Martinique. So 2 cancelations within 2 weeks. Was trying to get the compensation from the airline but they refuse to confirm the real cause of both cancelations. They gave me a paper with technical issue reason and then tried to get out with weather reasons. Very bad experience with client service. No communication at all. Still waiting (over 30 days) for their response to my other claim from canceled flight. Not helpful at all in fulfilling the contract between us. So be aware. Cheap airline with a very bad service. Their planes are brand new though.

Route: Fort De France to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "Awful behaviour from the cabin crew"

Review: Athens to Rome. Awful behaviour from the cabin crew. Impossible to understand announcements in English. I'm 1.85m and the seat was too small even for a 2h flight. Snacks were good but the beverages less than mediocre

Route: Athens to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "this flight was faultless"

Review: Qantas has not been popular with its home country recently, with some good reasons. Service has been lacking even before Covid. This experience though, has shown what this airline is capable of when it's got it's act together. Once it was underway this flight was faultless, professional and of the highest standard any air traveler in the world could want - and I've traveled on many Business class flights across the world with many airlines. Aircraft was clean, amenities were all there (including pyjamas in Business Class), service was genuine, friendly, helpful, highly professional, menu was perfect and the food was truly excellent. Lounge was very good before departure. Negatives: a long wait (45 mins) for Business class check-in, departure delayed an hour late which meant missed connections and extra long transits. Qantas is relatively expensive. Tip: keep your boarding pass and baggage check long after your flight, just in case. I had to put in claims for missing points.

Route: Sydney to Santiago

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "didn't allow me to enter"

Review: I booked last minute ticket from Canberra to Melbourne. The web check in was not available and they closed their check in even though I reached on time. I waited in the door the flight got delayed and they still didn't allow me to enter. Customers are last priority for them. Not very helpful and friendly.

Route: Canberra to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "Boarding was done fast"

Review: Check in at San Andres airport was a breeze, on the other hand trying to figure out what gate it left on was another story. Boarding was done fast. Service onboard was non-existent due to the pandemic and restrictions by the Colombian Aviation Officials. For a quick 1hr 45 minute flight to Bogota it was okay. Arrival in Bogota was on time. LATAM play was available on your own device so it made the flight go a bit faster and there was a good selection of movies and shows.

Route: San Andres to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "service is substandard"

Review: London to Mumbai. It was my first time experiencing Jet Airways and I think it is appropriate to say I won't be using them going forward. The quality of service is substandard when comparing to other flight providers. The price was the same as other airlines but I chose to use this airline for the hours they were flying. I should have heeded the warning from relatives but knowing that I am not the first to recognise an issue in the services shows that the issue lies within Jet Airways. Their online check in system was ridiculous to say the very least. You're allowed to check in up-to 48 hours before your flight but have to pay for your seat if you want to check in 12-48 hours before your flight? I've never heard of such a far fetched scheme. Of course by the time you wait for free check-in twelve hours before your flight, you can only have free seats in the most unorthodox seats so wave farewell to anyone you decided to travel with. Not to mention that you can only pick your meal and provide your emergency contact information if you check in online, so checking in at the airport means you are given what ever they have left in the back and only told this when you're up in the air and if the situation where an emergency may rise you are screwed. The staff at the check in counters looked like this was the last place they wanted to be and they appear to have an allergy to smiling. I had to take 2 planes: 9.5 hours from London to Mumbai and then transfer to a 2.5 flight to Amritsar, that's 12 hours in total. In this time they only gave one meal, one poor excuse of a meal where I couldn't have more than 3 bites, and I usually enjoy flight meals. The second flight I had to pay for a coffee. Pressing the button to request services from the flight attendant worked in either two ways: waiting 15 minutes until they come, or the flight attendant arriving and pressing the button to cancel the call saying that they will assist you in a moment but surprise surprise, they keep away from until you have to get their attention again. On the first flight where I had to sit nearly 10 hours, I thought to ask for some alcohol to at least relax and make the most of the trip, only to be told that they don't have anymore - this was 3 hours into the flight. I don't even know what I paid for, no food no booze and no sense of the word service. The second flight also gave me the chance of witnessing others lack of being attended to. This poor couple had to ask 3 times for a pillow for their baby. They asked twice for some water, but repeatedly being forgotten about meant the only thing they could do to get through their flight was go to sleep, hopefully waking up to realise this flight journey was just a dream. Now I have been told that my return journey has been pushed up 3 hours, with no choice for an alternative flight. Not looking forward to it since I have to wake up 3 hours earlier than initially planned so I'll have to skip my hotel breakfast only to wait for another 10 hour flight that serves one portion of gruel.

Route: London to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: T'Way Air

Title: "I wouldn't fly T'way again"

Review: I wouldn't fly T'way again. They got me there, but that is the only good thing I can say. I flew with them over the busy Lunar New Year weekend and paid a hefty price. I didn't appreciate that their automated phone system kept hanging up on me 20-30 minutes into the call. When I eventually connected with someone, no one could speak English, so I had to manage a conversation in limited Korean, which isn't acceptable in my opinion for an airline that serves international markets. Their online check-in system also didn't work which was a huge problem for me since the delay in my train connection didn't leave a lot of time for me to check-in in person. Furthermore, the ground staff only seemed to cater to Korean speakers as all gate announcements were exclusively in Korean and other Japanese and international pax were left to guess what was being said. Moreover, I know that this is a low cost carrier, but the premium price they charged for the flight should of at least provided a free beverage and snack (just my opinion). Leg space was also quite subpar. It is clear not much investment has been made to staff training, products and with fostering a service culture that aims to help customers. My bottom line is: the airline failed on nearly all accounts in my interactions with them and I wouldn't fly with them again if it could be avoided.

Route: Seoul Incheon to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "It was so unprofessional"

Review:

New York JFK to Paris. I would not recommend anyone booking a flight with this airline. Two weeks ago, I had a flight leaving from JFK to CDG on Sunday night. When I got to the airport, there was no one from XL airways there. Over 150 passengers were waiting for a flight that never arrived. The worst part is that I tried getting in touch with the airline in New York and in France and there was no answer. The airline did not even have the decency to send me an email or text that there was no flight. The first time I heard from the airline was Tuesday night informing me that my flight will be leaving Thursday afternoon. It was so unprofessional and honestly appalling. The airline did not value any of the peoples time and did not even care to correspond with passengers until two days later. In addition, I lost money on a flight that I had leaving from Paris to another country.

Route: New York JFK to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Panama

Title: "never fly Air Panama"

Review: Worst Airline ever. We flew from Panama City to Bocas and back to Panama City and had a 2,5 hour delay each way. The bad thing about that is not the delay itself but the lack of communication. As there are no displays at the airport we had to ask every 10 min when we will proceed or what the current problem is. The staff first didn't say anything and dissappeared to the back office. A half hour later it was said that the airplane has a "preventative maintenance" - how can you have a planned maintenance when the plane should be in the air? Overall it was a lie, as our plane arrived two hours later with passengers on board. The planes are very old with a "museum smell" in the cabin.

Now we are on our way back from Bocas to Panama City and have a 2,5 hour delay again. This was communicated 10 min before boarding... let's see when and if we arrive. If you can avoid it, never fly Air Panama.

Route: Bocas del Toro to Panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "seats were so congested"

Review: The seats were so congested and they barely had any leg room. The front pockets on the seats were torn so everything would fall down. Twice I had seats where the push back button wasn't working so I could not move my seats a little behind to rest my head. We just got a little decent food once both ways. I asked for coffee, I rang the bell and the attendant came but never came back. My mother asked for coffee once and she got it but we had to call the attendant back because he forgot to give us creamer and sugar. Entertainment wise there wasn't any good collection of movies. I guess since they charge less, you get cheap service.

Route: Dallas Ft Worth to Mumbai via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "I will never fly Cubana again"

Review: Toronto to Cayo Coco. When boarding in Toronto staff at gate were initially very nice and friendly. Once on board what a disappointment. Staff were very stoic, looked unhappy, seemed annoyed when they came around with beverages and you actually wanted to buy one. I purchase a cola and was short changed $4.00. When I politely mentioned it to the stewardess she rolled her eyes, said something in Spanish to her coworker who then laughed and then abruptly gave me $4.00. The plane was very dated and dirty, seats were crammed and sink flooded in washroom.

No smiles from anyone working on the plane. Flight home was worse. We were suppose to fly out on a Sunday evening at 8pm, were notified by hotel that flight changed to 2am! Not a problem cause we were able to stay in the room at no charge. We then get a call flight is delayed to 330am, now annoyed. We finally get to airport to another delay, flight to depart 440 - no explanation, no one has an answer or cares to help. Finally board the flight home, plane was a bit better than first one or maybe because we lucked out and got seats in row 3 that had extra leg room. Again, attendants were cold faced, shoved a paper in your hand as you got on plane and did not smile or say hi. Again they came around with food and beverages and just plopped food in front of you and said nothing. I sat next to a woman who had crutches from an injury she got on vacation, she asked to use the washroom up in the front as it was 2 rows away, attendant refused to let her insisting that only first class paying people use it. They made her hobble to the very back of the plane. When we finally landed they opened the door and stood there looking miserable, not one staff member smiled or said a word. What a miserable group of people. I will never fly Cubana again.

Route: Toronto to Cayo Coco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "surprised how good this airline was"

Review: Paris to San Francisco. I was super surprised how good this airline was after reading all the bad reviews. I flew only with hand luggage so I could do the online check-in and didn't have to go to the counter! During boarding nobody was checking the size or the weight of my luggage! The flight left on time and the staff on the plane were professional, helpful and nice! The plane was normal and I didn't have the feeling the seats were smaller. After 1 hour in the plane we got dinner. It was pasta with chicken, very average but okay we could eat it. Later we got a hot sandwich. There is no screen on the seats but there is a wifi you can log in with your phone and watch some movies. 4 are for free the rest you have to pay for. I slept the most of the time! I would definitely fly with XL Airways again!

Route: Paris to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "incompetence was astounding"

Review: Arrived 1.45 hours before flight. Missed flight due to check in staff unable to process a short line of people in an efficient manner. Watched 6 check in staff unable to process a short line of 20 people in 45 minutes. The incompetence was astounding to have missed a flight due to a simple process of checking people in. Instead they dilly dallied on just a few customers never thinking nor caring that they are making others miss their flights. I don't believe they are unaware of their actions. They simply don't give a damn.

Route: Toronto to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "Really atrocious service"

Review: Really atrocious service, both my flights in the same day were delayed with no solid updates on what is happening. The bus is late and there are no staff at the gate to inform us what is happening. I personally need to get back to my home in Qatar quick and i do not appreciate all my flights being delayed by so long. Air Arabia really need to get their priorities straight and fix these constant delays. Really really bad. Worst airlines I've travelled on.

Route: Chennai to Doha via Sharajah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "Do not trust this airline"

Review: Ponta Delgada to Lisbon. Do not trust this airline. My husband and I booked our trip to the Azores, from there we booked a flight from the Azores to Lisbon Portugal. We booked our flight with SATA airlines. We arrived at the airport to catch our flight to Lisbon only to receive an SMS text saying our flight was cancelled and we were being put on a flight 7 hours later than. Not only did they put us on the last flight of the day to Lisbon but they wouldnt even put us on any waiting lists for earlier flights. We lost a day of our vacation thanks to SATA. Do not book or put your trust in them.

Route: Ponta Delgada to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sky Airline

Title: "paying the US$70 to board"

Review: Santiago to La Serena. When boarding the preferential boarding line for the bank of Chile (whose preferential customers are allowed to carry luggage at no cost), they asked us for the identity card and credit card of the bank of Chile and let us pass, along with Our hand luggage without any problem. That to 6 of us, while 2 of our friends are told that they have to pay for the luggage for not being customers of the Bank of Chile. The rest of our friends board the plane, while I returned with my wife to the boarding counter to try to help our friends thinking that with our benefit from the Bank of Chile, with the Master Card and Visa Infinite Black cards of both, we could also include our other 2 friends who travel under the same reservation of ours. We failed to convince the person at the counter, who finally charged our friends US$35 for each hand luggage. In the meantime they told us to board while they were paying, but we stayed to wait for them. But the worst comes later. The person at the counter, angry because we claim to try to help our friends and recorded the situation, told us that now we also have to pay US$35 for hand luggage, US$70 in total. At that time we showed her again our ID and black cards from the bank of Chile and we explained that we had already passed a while ago, but there was no case. She told us that we should have gone to the check in counter to qualify for the benefit. I have flown about 20 times with Sky Airlines in recent years using the benefit of the Bank of Chile and had never had a problem with my hand luggage using the benefit, having almost never gone through the check in counter. Moreover, one of the main reasons to choose Sky vs Other airlines is for this benefit. Additionally, I mentioned that we tried unsuccessfully to go through the preferred counter to try to change my seat for emergency exit and pass the baggage but there was a huge line of about 30 people and a single counter attending, which made it absolutely unfeasible and we would miss the flight waiting more than an hour at the preferred customers line. After a long discussion with the person at the boarding counter and about closing the door of the plane, they called the supervisor to try to fix the situation. But the supervisor was inflexible, she understood nothing about the situation and told us that if we didn't pay the US$70, the plane would let us down. Even after a couple of payment attempts, the payment machine did not work for them. Even so, she did not want to make the exception, while the gate was already closed. Finally, and with tremendous discomfort, we ended up paying the US$70 to board, while large numbers of passengers, without even being clients of the bank, passed their luggage without paying and without anyone telling them anything. After this I asked the supervisor for her name in order to write a claim. But she didn't want to give me her name, saying that if I insist, she would let me down the flight. One thing is to have no-criteria to handle the situation. But another much more serious is not to be responsible for that non-criteria, without being willing to give the name and abusing the power at that time when the plane was going to let us down.

Route: Santiago to La Serena

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Seychelles

Title: "cancelling flight with 3 days notice"

Review: Mauritius to Seychelles. Nearly ruined my honeymoon by cancelling a flight with only 3 days notice. Had to scramble to book / cancel hotels and transfers. Will never use them again and will advise friends and family not too either.

Route: Mauritius to Seychelles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "Plane was clean and comfortable"

Review: Flight from Newcastle to Sofia was fine, left fairly on time, decent leg room. Only problem was the plane was freezing! Good selection of food and drinks available. Normal airline prices. Staff were friendly and got to work serving drinks etc quickly. Plane was clean and comfortable enough for a 3 hour flight. Anymore and the padding on my seat wouldn't of supported me much longer. It was a bit hard.

Route: Newcastle to Sofia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "ever choose this company again"

Review: They changed our departure time 3 days before departure and when I called to complain (because I had made arrangements for us to be picked up at the airport) they didnt even said that they are sorry which is the least they could do! Of course they did not help us at all and they were very rude. After that incident we went at the airport we did our check in and all we went in the airplane and when we sat they told us that there was some kind of issue with the airport and that we would have to stay in the airplane for an hour and a half and then we would leave. (And have in mind that they changes our departure time 3 days prior) we were all very disappointed and very angry. They could at least tell us that there would be a delay and let us at the airport and not in the airplane doing nothing. I would never choose this company again it is not worth the money and the costumer service is absolutely terrible.

Route: Athens to Thessaloniki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: Stansted to St Petersburg via Moscow. Pobeda cancelled my flight back from Moscow for my trip in October 2018 without giving me a reason despite me asking why it was cancelled. I had already incurred visa and hotel costs based on them providing an acceptable service therefore a refund was not acceptable. I can also not take a refund and book another flight as I booked well in advance and flights are now 4-5 times the price. I also cannot travel on another day as my visa expires and I have important plans the day before. Compensation is also not an option as apparently I would have to send a letter in the post to Russia and wait for a reply in the post. Knowing the time it takes to post things to and from Russia, and the time it takes Pobeda to handle even the simplest requests I would be lucky to hear back from them before Christmas. Therefore I asked them to find a flight for me provided by one of their other group members as any other respectable airline would and eventually after multiple expensive phone calls they reluctantly put the request through. Aeroflot has multiple flights on that day available. However after 10 days I have received no updates. Figuring that 10 days was more than enough time to process such a simple request I rang them once again to find out what was happening. They could still not tell me why the flight was cancelled and apparently it was impossible to find out what was happening with the request or how long it would take. When I asked to speak to someone who could sort the situation out, as their call centre was useless, they promptly hung up on me. I then contacted Aeroflot about the situation and they were quick to deny any liability as Pobeda "is not their problem", despite it being their direct subsidiary. I couldn't possibly imagine receiving that response if I rang Lufthansa up with a complaint about Eurowings for example. This has been the worst customer service I have ever experienced.

Route: Stansted to St Petersburg via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "great value for money"

Review: Check-in process was quick and efficient. The crew were friendly and offered free refreshments for the short journey. On my outbound journey, the weather was very poor but the pilot kept us informed about the situation (as SZB was temporarily closed due to poor visibility) but eventually did get us to the destination. Pilots for both legs were professional and landing was soft. Being able to avoid the hassle of long queues and a shorter travel distance from KL as compared to KL International (KUL), it was great value for money to obtain a ticket that is cheaper than flying SIN-KUL. All these considered, I am happy to fly with Firefly again in the future if flying through KL International is not a must.

Route: SIN to SZB

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "service agent was so rude"

Review: Casablanca to Dubai. I received a confirmation mail after my payment (with SMS proving it) on early July 2022. 2 months later, I tried to check in the day of departure of my flight and I had an error, indicating that I should contact call center. They indicated that they never received the payment and hence never issued the ticket. I checked my bank account and indeed it seems the payment did not go through for some reason. Now what makes me insane is: - WHY does the company send emails to confirm the flight if there is an issue in the payment? - WHY no one at RAM notified me that there was a payment issue? A simple automated email would have sufficed - WHY the service agent was so rude in handling my request. Clearly he did not put himself in client shoes when asking me to pay 3 times the initial price to fix the issue and did not apologize any single time. He did not allow me to speak to his manager. An airline company without an escalation path is a red flag. For those who can, I heavily suggest to avoid them at all cost. Since I could not fly with them, I rated 1 for the handling of my ticket and 3 for the flight related aspects in order to keep a neutral rating

Route: Casablanca to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "This is a really unethical way to stay in business"

Review: We booked a trip through Priceline. They put us on this airline even though we picked another airline. They pulled a bait and switch. As soon as I got the wrong itinerary, I tried to call these people along with everyone else for four days and could not get a response. It wasn't until I disputed the charge that anyone called me back. Sun Country basically told me that I was given a credit even though they do not fly anywhere around me so they basically stole my money. This is a really unethical way to stay in business when you are stealing money from people.

Route: Dallas to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "missed our connecting flight"

Review: On 14 May 2018, my wife and I were booked on Iberia Express flight No 12 3877 from Santiago de Compostela to Madrid. The flight was scheduled to leave Santiago de Compostela at 9.15 am but due to a fault with the de-icing mechanism on the port engine of the aircraft, the flight was delayed and eventually took off from Santiago at 11.26 am, landing at Madrid at 12.20 pm. As a result of the delayed flight, we missed our connecting flight, from Madrid to Bucharest which departed at 12.15 pm. The Iberia staff at Madrid airport were most unhelpful in solving our problem and were rude and dismissive. A large number of passengers on the flight lost connections. The attitude and service was appalling. To add insult to injury, our baggage and 21 other passengers baggage did not arrive in Madrid with our flight. We put in a baggage claim and our two bags eventually arrived late afternoon at Terminal 4 which I had to go searching for and which I found going around and around on a carousel all on their own and which could have been taken by any other passenger. The Iberia baggage claim staff had promised that they would keep the bags for us in their office once they arrived from Santiago, but this was not done. This is shocking service. In the meantime, we had to travel back and forth from Terminal 4 to Terminal 1 on two occasions in search of our baggage. As a result of the delayed Santiago - Madrid flight, we had to purchase two new airline tickets with another airline because we were a no show for the Tarom flight to Bucharest. I phoned Iberia Express in Madrid from Romania on many occasions and at great expense in order to investigate lodging a claim for compensation under the EU Regulations. I was told to lodge a claim online which I tried on numerous occasions but each time I tried to submit the claim, the message I received was that the Santiago flight number does not correspond to any Iberia or Iberia Express flight number. I phoned Madrid again and one of the customer service people said that she could not understand why the website is rejecting my application because the flight number I put into the system was correct. She then told me to send my claim by email to which I did but received a reply that the email address is for internal use only. I once again phoned Iberia in Madrid and the customer service person promised to investigate the problem and get back to me but I have never received a call back from her or anyone else. I have tried on 23 occasions to submit my claim online with the same result, the online system keeps telling me that the flight number does not correspond to any Iberia or Iberia Express flight number. In desperation, I wrote a letter to the CEO of Iberia and sent the letter by email and mailed it to him on 28 June 2018. I have not had the courtesy of a response from him or his staff.

Route: Santiago De Compostela to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "probably the worst experience"

Review: Never used this airline before and will never use it again. Right from the start on boarding from Las Vegas, there was a huge delay caused by staff ineptness, on baggage checking and boarding order announcements and check in. The departure screen was showing as a departed flight 2hrs after the plane was still boarding passengers on the ground. Total mess. It seemed there was a shortage of flight attendants, as they quickly showed up, just to dump some pasta and a dry brownie to each passenger, then in the morning a bread roll with cheese and I never saw them again. Bottled water was not available even for purchase. The premium economy was taken care for way better by a separate personnel, for much higher ticket cost. This is probably the worst experience I ever had in a overnight flight.

Route: Las Vegas to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "not fly with this airline again"

Review: Although we booked and paid for a direct return flight from Toulouse, on the return leg we were delayed from 08:05 AM local to 09:05 and a then to 1:25pm. We were then told the flight would first go to Bordeaux for technical reasons. We then had to wait on the plane for most of the passengers to disembark and new ones to come on: so we also had to take our hand baggage out of the overhead lockers to check nothing was left behind and then put it back again. The staff never apologised for everything we went through and the terrible delays: we were originally due to land in Toulouse at 12:30 pm, but instead we arrived close to 8pm! When we pointed this out, the stewardess was extremely rude saying its not their job to do so. Also my food was beyond awful! We shall not fly with this airline again.

Route: Marrakech to Toulouse

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "extremely impressed"

Review: Sydney to Melbourne. This was the first time my family have flown Rex and we are extremely impressed. Booking online was easy and bag check in was a breeze so quick and easy. The flight on time and smooth flight, the plane was clean and comfortable but the stand out was the team obviously Rex has a great culture of customer service Good old customer service so refreshing, they really care. We will definitely be flying Rex in the future. Some price as the discount airlines but real customer service

Route: Sydney to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "I will not fly Eurowings again"

Review: The only good thing about this flight on Eurowings, is that the flight is direct from Frankfurt to Orlando. For the rest, I have nothing good to say (old aircraft, old seats, inexperienced staff, poor food & service). I cannot even enjoy the frequent flyer mileage program (I am losing 10000 miles). I will not fly Eurowings again.

Route: Frankfurt to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Transavia

Title: "I would recommend this airline"

Review: First time flying Transavia. Flight departed on time and we landed 30 mins earlier so that was great. Boarding went really fast. Flight was quite full but not fully booked. The seats were comfortable but there wasnt a lot of legroom. There was catering on board. Staff was really friendly. I would recommend this airline. I paid 65 without luggage for this flight.

Route: Pisa to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "$100 for one baggage suit"

Review: The worst company I have ever seen. Took $100 for one baggage suit, when their website write it cost $50.

Also small child took a seat a lot of rows apart. Manager was very rude, and said " it's your problem. I can't do something"

Route: San Francisco to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "get the feeling you are valued"

Review: Can never say enough good comments about Japan Airlines. Customer first culture is a winner. From check-in where personalised service starts, taking us to an alternate counter so we do not need to queue, boarding and inflight service. Always attentive, even during night flights. You always get the feeling you are valued.

Route: Tokyo to Sydney

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: SilkAir customer review

Review: Our flight from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur was great. The flight is only 45mins but had a drink service, and WiFi - I didn't expect them to have this option. You can also listen to music, read about the airline and watch a small variety of movies. These seats were comfortable. The only disappointment was there was no snack with the drinks.

Route: SIN to KUL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaColombia

Title: "they will check everyone's bags"

Review: This airline deserves zero stars. The staff is unaccommodating and they will check everyone's bags to make sure they are to the size of there requirements and will make sure to charge you extra at every chance.

Route: Bogota to Medellin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "service was excellent"

Review: Chengdu to Los Angeles. We really enjoyed this flight. The cabin was clean, service was excellent. The food and entertainment were met my expectation. When they handed me a new pajama for sleeping comfort, I was very surprised. I highly recommend this flight and I won't go to Chengdu any other way.

Route: Chengdu to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "price is bit high for what you actually get"

Review: Flight TG910 Bangkok-LHR, 12hrs 40 mins. Boarding needs to be more understandable. The Cabin Crew were outstanding on Customer Service, very polite, friendly. nothing was too much trouble for them, they all worked hard. Food was average, seats were a bit tight pitch, although it is new Aeroplane so I thought there would be more space with a 3x3x3 seat configuration as others Airlines 777 can have 3x4x3 seat configuration. At first the cabin was too hot, no personal A/C to adjust, not comfortable but later in the flight Aircon is better. The Inflight Entertainment was touch screen and very responsive but the content was average, music needs updating. I probably would not fly this direct flight again with Thai Air, better to use an Airline that stops halfway, you can stretch your legs have a break from flying at a Hub and get on another flight for the second part of the journey in my opinion but I thought I would give it a try to see the difference. The price for Thai Air is bit high for what you actually get. Date of experience: 31 March 2023.

Route: Bangkok to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "recommend this airline highly"

Review: London to Manila via Kuwait was possibly one of the best flights we have taken. The plane was quite new, the staff absolutely fabulous, service first class. The legroom adequate, the inflight entertainment excellent. Kuwait airport has a lovely bunch of duty free shops. The fact that its an alcohol free flight was quite refreshing actually, no staying up drinking, everyone relaxed. I do drink alcohol, and it was lovely not to on this occasion). We were given blankets, pillows and all done with such professional smiling charm. I would recommend this airline highly.

Route: London to Manila via Kuwait

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: CityJet

Title: "experienced the same problem"

Review: London City to Bordeaux via Paris. This is the second time I was flying with them, and the second time I experienced the same problem. When I registered, I was told my plane would be 45 mins late. Then, we had successive messages "next info in 30mins", and it ended up with a cancellation of our flight 2 hours after we were supposed to take off. In-between, it was just imposible to get any info from anybody. And we later learnt that our plane had a technical problem and they tried to fix it up. And all this happened in the airport of London City, that was fully packed because all flights were delayed! Awful wi-fi connection and no seat available. Sadly for me, I was the last one to queue in the line for changing my flight and accomodation. There were 2 staff to reallocate 100 passengers : as a result, it took 2 hours before I was offered a flight on the next day! I had to find the flight by myself because they only wanted to offer a flight from the same airport with a via, when there was a direct flight from Gatwick.

Route: London City to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "all my expectations were overly met"

Review: This review is based on my own flying experience. I have never travelled internationally, Japan Airlines 787-8 Dreamliner Flight Number 746 was the first international flight I had. This Airline as a whole is superb. I almost forgot that we are flying thousands of feet above air because of the warm welcome and support by Japan Airlines 746 Cabin Crew on board. We are in a pandemic, but even though the cabin crew were covered with face masks it didn't hinder them in showcasing the real smiles of how we are welcomed and accommodated on board. I worked in customer service for over a decade now, and this JAL cabin crew delivered an exceptional support and service. Thank you JAL Flight 746 for your best among the rest support and service. Don't worry about your ticket, I had the lowest economy ticket but as a customer, all my expectations were overly met.

Route: Manila to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "terrible airline"

Review: Ho Chi Minh to Quy Nhon. A terrible, terrible airline with awful customer service. Due to Covid-19, I could not fly on Jan 2021; I then requested for a refund. They took 2 weeks for every reply email, and they did not respond properly on Facebook, which ultimately take over 1 year and they still haven't refunded my money, despite my official request via email. Bottom line: choose Vietnam Airline or VietJet instead, don't fly Bamboo Airways. They are new to the market and already have a bad reputation.

Route: Ho Chi Minh to Quy Nhon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "cancelled two days before departure"

Review: Our flight was cancelled two days before departure. They claimed this was due to the airport. In fact, the flight was operated, just we were not allowed on board. They said they would offer compensation but have not paid in months!

Route: Dusseldorf to Heraklion

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "service on board was pleasant"

Review: On the 15th December 2017 I travelled from Pattaya, Thailand to Jakarta, Indonesia on Air Asia. I had to change in Kuala Lumpur for my second and connecting flight. The connection was bearable. The service on board was pleasant. We arrived very early in the morning in Jakarta so I had to sleep for a few hours before catching a local bus to Jakarta City. I always try and fly Air Asia.

Route: Pattaya to Jakarta via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "doesn't offer a little snack"

Review: Madrid to Tenerife. I was booked on this flight as connecting from Venice, and this was operated by Iberia Express. I went to the counter as I wanted to change seat, if possible, as my friends had another seat assigned. When I went to the counter there were two people sitting there, one lady which was the first one I went to, which asked me to wait, as she was on her phone, I was upset so I just went to the other hostess which was very kind and bit sarcastic, and he helped me out with the tickets. Once at the gate my friends which were coming from another connecting flight, had a big delay which was almost overlapping with our next flight to Tenerife. I was afraid that they would have missed their flight. When I talked to the hostess, she was looking like she was not caring. When they started to understand what the issue was, they tried to make sure that they could make it, as it was just a little overlapping delay than. Luckily, we made it to the flight and before taking off the flight attendant came to all the passengers to offer some water. Iberia doesn't offer a little snack, which I could almost understand on a 45 minutes flight, but that flight was 2/2.5h long. The flight was basically a night flight, so everything went smooth until we reached the destination.

Route: Madrid to Tenerife

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "The worst flight ever"

Review: Left from Miami with my family including a baby (5 people in total) paid for special seats for both ways, from Miami to Paris the flight was fine. On the way back from Paris we were obligated to pay to bring the baby carseat back 100 euros (I never had to pay to bring a carseat on any airline not even on the way in) and they also changed the airplane and left us in coach seats and all separated including my children. We tried to complain and explain that we had paid a different class of seat and that we had a baby and little kids on the plane they didnt care about at all. The worst flight ever. Horrible plane with no tvs, flight delayed we were in the plane with kids for 12 hrs with no outlets, Tvs. Just garbage.

Route: Paris to Miami

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "seats had been given away"

Review: Sydney to Los Angeles via Nadi. Booked exit seats and paid online, got to counter they had been given away, mind you we were one of the first to book in. After 9 phone calls not understanding the Fijians and 6 weeks later finally got a refund. Food is terrible, seats uncomfortable. Go through all security checks in Sydney bags checked etc etc. Get to Nadi get off a plane and walk straight to security check go through my bag again where they claim you cant have a small roll on Deodorant has to be in a small plastic zip bag. Why is this? I have just carried it off a flight from Sydney its less than 30ml it is unopened. Of course I don't have a zip plastic bag so I have to give it to them they cant tell me why I cant take it. I'm on a 14 hour flight I should be able to stay fresh I have abided by the rules set in Sydney. Walk out and guess what I find in the lounge the same deodorant I asked them do I need to put this in a bag to take on the plane girl looked at me odd. I would go with you get what you paid for, be prepared for the worse.

Route: Sydney to Los Angeles via Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "Will keep flying Qatar"

Review: I flew with Qatar to HKT via DOH (return via BKK-DOH-AMS) using Economy class on the AMS to DOH segment and Business class on the DOH to HKT segment. New interior with plenty of legroom in economy and good service on the ground and in the air. Old business class on the Doha to Phuket segment but still very good with a very nice amenity kit and pyamas provided. Return via BKK, all segments in economy was also good, with a seamless transfer process in Doha. Will keep flying Qatar.

Route: Amsterdam to Phuket via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: NAM Air

Title: "plane has no IFE, no wi-fi"

Review: Yogyakarta to Pontianak. Despite it's not peak season, the flight is full, even for the business class. The boarding was smooth, we departed on schedule, and arrived at PNK slightly ahead on our schedule. I got the expensive class for this flight (about 1,3 million Rupiah). NAM Air is a medium service airline, so they served snack (a little bread, a pack of cookies and a bottled mineral water). The plane is quite old B737-500, and was already need of repair to increase comfort to the passengers since the plane has no IFE, no wi-fi, and no USB charger. The flight was a little bumpy on the cruising altitude although the weather seems calm.

Route: Yogyakarta to Pontianak

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ellinair

Title: "everything went really fine"

Review: I flew Ellinair from Thessaloniki to Verona. The flight had 30 minutes delay, otherwise everything went really fine. A nice meal on board and the baggage (incl 20kg) were included for a really cheap price. The aircraft, a Boeing b737 was a bit old but the seats were really comfortable.

Route: VRN to SKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Winair

Title: "Winair is a terrible airline"

Review: We flew on Winair from St. Maarten to St. Eustatius a few weeks ago. It was supposed to be a 5 day vacation on a beautiful island. Two days into our vacation, we were notified that our return flight had been cancelled. In fact all of the flights the day of our return were cancelled. We were then told we had been rebooked on a flight 2 days earlier than planned. Winair stole 2 days from our vacation which we had been planning on for over a year. We then had to pay additional expenses of $850 to stay in St. Maarten. When I spoke to their customer service and told them how much it cost us and how they stole 2 days from our vacation, they did nothing. No refund, no vouchers for future flights, nothing. Winair is a terrible airline that is managed poorly and does not care about their customers.

Route: St. Maarten to St. Eustatius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "Nothing was working at all"

Review: Rusty old broken aircraft. Ground staff at Vancouver airport misguided me for not upgrading my flight to business so unable to upgrade my tickets and suffered a flight in economy class. Booked seats by paying extra money and seats were the worst. Broken arms broken entertainment system. Nothing was working at all. For 15 hrs of the flight we just sitting looking at blanks screen. Very very poor aircraft, rusty or cushions broken seats, useless entertainment systems. Even though business and economy seats were vacant the crew were not able to provide us alternatives which is a shame. I will never ever travel again on Air India flights and would never recommend anyone using it.

Route: Vancouver to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "very professional cabin crew"

Review: Flight on time, last minute gate change to one at the periphery of Budapest airport. Lounge too small for so many customers, not comfortable. The service in the airplane itself was excellent, very professional cabin crew, customer-orientated, food was delicious. Seat was uncomfortable though (normal Economy with empty middle seat).

Mixed experience overall.

Route: Budapest to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Seychelles

Title: "pay more and go by a reliable airline"

Review: I wanted to bring to your attention the pathetic experience I have recently had flying Air Seychelles and its partner Etihad on the Mumbai-Dar Es Salaam-Mumbai route. I booked a confirmed Air Seychelles Mumbai to Dar Es Salaam via Mahe return flights on January 2016 for July 2016. A month later we were informed that Air Seychelles has stopped flying that route and has shifted us to Etihad flight via Abu Dhabi. I confirmed with the Mumbai office of Air Seychelles and the flight was confirmed. A week before flying I checked with Etihad online and they informed me that my Abu Dhabi to Dar es Salaam sector was not confirmed. Neither Air Seychelles nor Etihad had taken the effort to inform me of this situation in spite of purchasing a confirmed ticket in January! If I had not followed up I would have been stranded in Abu Dhabi. The Air Seychelles ground office in Mumbai was equally clueless. Repeated emails from them to Air Seychelles and Etihad (on highest priority I was told) went unanswered. Only after I threatened to take action did they swing into action and book us on Kenya Airways. As a gesture we were informed that a special request for upgrade to Business class has been put but of course as expected there was no record on the system during check in. Also the complimentary chauffeur service from Etihad was not available as the PNR was 'not registered' in the system. The only explanation that I was offered was 'a system glitch'. This is irresponsible of both Air Seychelles and Etihad. I will definitely not be flying either airline. I would rather pay more and go by a more reliable airline like Emirates or Qatar Airways. Both Etihad and Air Seychelles promise a lot but once the money is exchanged forget their responsibility.

Route: BOM to DAR via NBO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "Not bad at all"

Review: Krabi to Hanoi via Bangkok. Not bad at all. After reading reviews I was surprised. Paying for hold baggage was a pain and took a few phone calls but I managed. Paying at check-in is hugely expensive, which is common for budget airlines. Prepaying is much cheaper. Check in was fast and courteous. Boarding was no less manic than any other airline in Thailand. Flight was short and fine. As expected for an economy short flight. Bit of a Ryanair experience to be fair.

Route: Krabi to Hanoi via Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "landed ahead of schedule"

Review: I took a night flight, QG109. Scheduled to depart 21:40 local time. Started to board the aircraft at 21:10. All processes were smooth. No hurry, no obstacles or anything negative. Took off on time, and landed ahead of schedule. Great team work for Citilink, and I mean it to all crews who handled the flight nicely. Because mid-June 2018 is the peak season for all flights in Indonesia due to Eid al-Fitr.

Route: Yogyakarta to Halim Perdanakusuma

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "frustrating experience of lost bags"

Review: Our family has traveled with Air New Zealand for decades making many trips each year between the US and NZ. It has, in the past been our preferred airline. But dear god, what a complete debacle this last trip has been. From trying to make simple flight changes that took four phone calls and over 8 hours on hold to execute to the latest extremely frustrating experience of lost bags that didn't make the flight. 48 hours later, we are spending over 4/12 hours on hold to try locate, no representative has picked up yet. Seriously poor job Air New Zealand with ridiculously expensive fares charged to boot. Service is worse than a third-world nation. Will we get our bag for Christmas - we hold zero hope we will receive any service or resolution.

Route: San Francisco to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "would not fly Icelandair ever again"

Review: If I had any other option - I would not fly Icelandair ever again. In March they cancelled my flight from Gatwick to Keflavik less than a week before the fly date, rebooked me on another flight which was then cancelled again 3 days before the departure even after I contacted their customer service to make sure that it will not be cancelled (they told me that it will 100% not be cancelled cause they're trying to bring all the natives home because of Covid - I'm Icelandic so was reassured by this which was a huge mistake). I ended up buying a last minute flight with EasyJet to get home to my family. So overall it cost me between £1k-£1.5k with the many train tickets I had to buy cause they kept cancelling and the last minute flight. Didn't get my refund until September and that was after I contacted the CEO directly. During summer and easter I kept calling their customer service which just told me that I'm in a queue to get a refund (complete bollocks since people who got their flights cancelled in July/August were getting their refunds while I was still waiting from March!). Now, I need to get back to the UK since my university is starting again, Icelandair is the only airline flying between UK and Iceland that doesn't have any connections in different countries right now so I had no choice to book with them again. My flight was supposed to be this Saturday and I just received an email from them that it was cancelled - 2 days before departure. They rebooked me for Sunday but I wouldn't be surprised at all if I got an email from them tomorrow or on Sat that, that flight will be cancelled as well. Not to mention, I already booked the train tickets and the hotel for Saturday and changing that to Sunday cost me yet again a lot of money and I had to call my student accommodation and let them now of the change in plans as well. If you have any other option then Icelandair, even if it's more expensive, choose it.

Route: Keflavik to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: Thai AirAsia customer review

Review: My first flight from Khon Kaen to was without any complaints. I had a tight connection and staff even changed my seat to the front of the plane to help me make my flight. Unfortunately once I got to DMK everything went horribly. No one could direct me to domestic transfer flights. Once I missed my flight and went to the counter of AirAsia the woman only told me that I shouldn't have booked such a short connection (even though online allowed me to) and that the next flight she could put me on was on Monday. Told I would have to pay for the new flight, I immediately went to Nok Air for a new flight. Awful service.

Route: DMK to Koh Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "very friendly and efficient"

Review: Flew with Lao Airlines from Hanoi to Vientiane in their A320. The aircraft is starting to show its age. They have a PTV installed at each seat but it was not working. No sign of the PTV controller to be seen too. Service-wise, the whole crew was very young and all of them were very friendly and efficient. A simple snack box consisting of a sandwich and water was distributed followed by a drink round. The seat was okay and everything was good for this short flight of 50 minutes.

Route: HAN to VTE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "did not even put my baggage on the plane"

Review: TSA did not even put my baggage on the plane and i am two states away. very unprofessional and when i tried to contact it took over two hours just to talk to someone. Literally called baggage 84 times.

Route: Tampa to Greenville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "pleasantly surprised by the legroom"

Review: Flew Monarch Airlines from Manchester to Porto. Pleasantly surprised. Booked an extra legroom seat outbound and was pleasantly surprised by the legroom. Inbound however was a standard seat and was tight to say the least (5'10" tall). I would certainly opt for extra legroom on future bookings. Service although buy on board was courteous and efficient and the food quality was actually fine. It puts the budget airline British Airways to shame. Being able to pay cash was a bonus. Outbound was running around an hour late and I received an email from Monarch whilst in the airport to say rescheduled which was a nice touch. Inbound was just as efficient and arrival in Manchester was on time. Overall I would book again providing the flight schedules are suitable.

Route: Manchester to Porto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "worst European budget airline"

Review: Honestly this now has to be the worst European budget airline. Actually booked with Ryanair but Lauda is the carrier. Sat on the tarmac an hour while they tried to fix a fault, then deplaned us all with a Hope you have a nice, and then nothing for hours - nobody to help, no explanations, no updates. Never again.

Route: Zagreb to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "Extremely disappointing"

Review: BCN-FCO-VCE in business class. Extremely disappointing. ITA has no agreement with BCN to offer business class customers lounge access so one important perk gone, ITA in name is a SkyTeam member but you can't earn frequent flyer miles for other SkyTeam programs and you receive no alliance elite benefits so another perk gone. Aircraft are crazy old and in disrepair, seats terribly uncomfortable. On the FCO-VCE leg no difference in snack or meal than economy. So in the end what's the point? On the positive side both flights were punctual and the crews were professional. It's cheap for a reason.

Route: Barcelona to Rome via Venice

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "They are a disgrace"

Review: I flew to the US on the 1st of February and my return flight was booked for the 14th of February. Unfortunately my return flight was cancelled due to Cyclone Gabrielle. The first flight I was able to rebook on was the 20th of February, which means I am stuck in LA with no extra spending money and have had to book another 6 nights accommodation via a credit card. I lost the seat I had booked for my return flight (an Air NZ policy?) and have now been waiting on the phone for 3&1/2 hrs (and still waiting) to book a seat. I am unable to do this online for some stupid reason. I realise Air NZ were not responsible for the cyclone but they are responsible for providing their customers with actual customer service. They should so embarrassed about their shoddy dealing with this emergency. Dont fly Air NZ. They are a disgrace.

Route: Auckland to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "saw no harm in moving up a row"

Review: Chicago to Portland . Terrible customer service by the staff. I was sitting in 4D (aisle seat) on a relatively empty flight, the 3rd which is an upgrade row was completely empty so I saw no harm in moving up a row and making myself more comfortable. But the flight attendant approached me after the doors were closed and in the most obnoxious, loud and embarrassing way proceeded to inquisition me loudly about my assigned seat, and that this was an upgrade row that I have to pay to sit in. The row sat empty the entire flight and the flight attendant continued to be rude to me. Terrible customer experience.

Route: Chicago to Portland

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nature Air

Title: "flight was competently executed"

Review: I flew Nature Air less than 2 weeks ago one way only, from San Jose to Drake Bay. I was lucky not to have any issues with the timing of the flight, nor did I need any assistance. I do not know how that would have gone, but my flight was competently executed, enjoyable and quick. There were 7 passengers, if I remember correctly, and 2 pilots on a small Cessna. It was the first time I ever sat on one, but everything went so smoothly that everyone on the plane spent the short flight taking photos and making videos of the spectacular scenery below. We landed on a jungle strip, which has been paved recently, we learned. There were some private taxis waiting to transport us further in Corcovado. I could not have desired a smoother and more beautiful flight. It was far from cheap but saved me hours of trouble on buses and boats.

Route: San Jose to Drake Bay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "Not one smile or welcome"

Review: Never book and pay for emergency/extra legroom seats in Row 7 on the Airbus 321 aircraft. The seats have no extra legroom and they do not recline. So you pay 50 USD for an inferior seat to the normal free seats. Warning! The so called flagship lounge in Istanbul is like a cheap market food-hall and they only serve wine (self service in hidden areas), it feels like they intentionally hide the wine. Service onboard the plane is fine but at airport IST you feel like you are a nuisance to the surly and moody staff. Not one smile or welcome in two hours connecting there.

Route: Istanbul to Copenhagen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "customer service is horrendous"

Review: Flights are cheap but they get you in checked/carry on bags and seating. Not to mention the overpriced snacks and beverages for purchase during the flight. This isnt even the worst part - their customer service is horrendous. I planned a one day trip to golf with business partners of mine, Spirit never even bothered to load my golf bag onto the plane. I was not given a reason as to why my only checked bag was not loaded. When I expressed my anger with their rep, he called the police on me. I had to cancel my tee time and was not given a refund (had to prepay for the holiday). Upon arriving to the airport to retrieve my bag they had flown overnight, and to check in for my return flight, I was told there was an unknown error while checking me in. I was not given a reason for the error, and the only option they gave me was to refund my return flight and that I should check with other airlines about getting a flight home as there was nothing else they could or would do for me. Spirit has lost me and my families business for as long as they remain in business.

Route: Columbus to Salt lake city via Las vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Etihad cant match the other carriers overall services"

Review: Booked a return flight to Thailand with Etihad. The first leg to Abu Dhabi was with an A350, brand new plane. I must admit that Etihad livery is the best one Ive seen. Along with on time-ish departure, unfortunately they are the only positive things I can think of. Although the plane was new, the seats are cramped, a thing that I noticed to many other airlines with new planes, and I am definitely not a tall person. Theyre just pouring as many seats as possible which is very inconvenient for longer flights. Surprisingly, on the 777 plane from AUH to BKK, although was an older plane, the seats were much more comfortable, thus confirming what I mentioned above. The food onboard was just average, it lacks presentation and quality like you get on Qatar, Emirates or Turkish. IFE was just ok, not too many options to choose from. The crew was not as proactive as the other middle eastern carriers mentioned above. Together with AUH airport experience (an old and tired airport) I must admit that my first experience was not so great with Etihad and I really wanted to love them as they look so stylish (apparently only from outside). I usually fly to Asia only with Qatar and unfortunately Etihad cant match the other carriers overall services, and they are on the same price range.

Route: Dublin to Bangkok via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Cairo

Title: "cheap low profile airline"

Review: Doha to Alexandria. Flight cancellation without notification and a very rude attitude On the 13th May I had a flight from Doha to Alexandria Borg El Arab airport at 11:30 pm (Doha time). I was travelling with my 1 year old baby. I was in the airport at 9 pm and check for our counter station but couldnt find the flight and it was scheduled. I started visiting travel and info offices at the airport to check the flight but they told me it is not registered on the airport screens as it is not scheduled in the first place and they guided me to visit the airlines offices next day at Ras Abou Abboud Street at 8am. I was shocked as I had to return back to my office next day. I spent the night in Doha and next morning and they refused to book me daytime and insisted to travel on the same time 11:30 pm on another airline after a two hours debate The country manager of the airline was very rude and had a terrible attitude and didnt even bother to be a good marketer for his company and was upset to book another flight. This is a cheap low profile airline.

Route: Doha to Alexandria

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "call center is terrible"

Review: Madrid to Lanzarote. Their customer service call center is terrible. It's a scam. They will put you on hold for more than an hour. After one hour they tell you that their system is not working and that you have to call back later. They probably work remote with nobody supervising them and put the customers on hold while they go out shopping. I will never fly with them again.

Route: Madrid to Lanzarote

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "No value in this airline"

Review: cAircraft wouldnt start at Gatwick resulting in a two hour delay and missing my connection to Orlando. I was then rerouted via JFK which was also 2hrs behind getting me into my hotel at 02:30 instead of 9pm. On the return trip from Orlando to Heathrow via Dublin again the flight was 2hrs late resulting in a missed connection again and a late arrival into LHR. I paid extra for legroom and window seating which I lost on two legs. When I asked about the seats they said send an email!! Their check in staff at Orlando spent more time on their cell phones than dealing with customers. Even though the lines were long they didnt care. No value in this airline at all dont waste your money.

Route: Gatwick to Orlando via Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "No apologies, no solutions, no customer service"

Review: Toronto to Orlando. I tried to checkin today for my wife and I and found out that they had put us in separate rows even though we booked these tickets 3 months ago. I called and they wouldnt move us even though there were two emergency seats open. This occurred after they notified us 2 months ago that our flight home was cancelled and we had to choose a different flight. No apologies, no solutions, no customer service, just the arrogance of Air Canada.

Route: Toronto to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "luggage rules/measures are very confusing "

Review: The check-in and security check was perfectly fine, both processing and staff. The hand luggage rules/measures are very confusing and are obviously created to make people pay for an extra fee. Also the construction of seats with a frame beneath doesnt allow regular hand luggage - although this frame (that might be necessary) could most probably have been constructed in a different way. Discussing this matter with the personnel at the gate at Rome (FCO) got very emotional and wasnt professional at all.

Route: Rome to Basel

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "they didn't seem interested to help at all"

Review: I was due to travel with Blue Air to France on the 23rd December but because I got Covid, I was not able to travel anymore. I called the call centre many times to ask for a refund or credit but the only thing they would offer is for me to change my ticket to another date. When I checked which dates I could change my ticket to, the only month, out of the entire year in 2022 I could possibly change my ticket to was in March. I told them that by that time, I will be around 32 weeks pregnant and so might be difficult for me to fly, the only response I got was "I can't help you, nobody can help you". No choice but to change my ticket to March and now, if I want to change my tickets again (if by some miracle more dates pop up), I will be charged to change our flights. For something that is completely out of my control, I am getting penalised for it and I can't even get a refund. Customer service? Ha! I don't think those words are in their vocabulary, they didn't seem interested to help at all and repeatedly told me that they are just the call centre and can't help.

Route: London to Nice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "would never fly with them again"

Review: Purchased a ticket that included one check-in bag (I have written confirmation of this) and was charged 50 Euro for my check-in bag at the airport. The flight was already overpriced but +50 Euro was ridiculous. The flight was not a pleasant experience, I asked the ground staff if I had to wear a mask on board, and they said no, the pilot was very rude to me as I boarded for not having a mask on. Service on board was at the best ordinary, unfriendly crew, my seat was uncomfortable and my tray did not appear to have been cleaned. I can genuinely say I truly dislike Austrian Airlines. From start to finish it was not a nice experience, I would never fly with them again.

Route: Palma de Mallorca to Paris via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "the worst meals served"

Review: Mauritius to Mumbai return. The food is ok on departure but they served stale buns. The seats are comfortable and flight attendants are nice and helpful. The flight delay by 1 hr we were sitting in the plane with kids, nothing served until 23.30, our flight were supposed to take off at 21.20. Returning from Mumbai was the worst meals served on this flight. Priority for meals should be given for kids first, not those who ordered.

Route: Mauritius to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "A valuable carrier!"

Review: A valuable carrier! Good legroom! A very good one. I took a 1 hr flight so I cannot really review the service. Over all was okay. Boarding was fast and efficient. Nice gesture of having a usb port for the economy seats.

Route: Hanoi to Hue

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Complete disappointment"

Review: Complete disappointment. Very poor web system, no possibility to do check-in online, always got error, call center agent advised that it was a system error. For both sectors surprisingly. Traveling with no luggage and infant, with departure 3 am, expected to do check-in online, save time and have smooth peaceful time, unfortunately needed to arrive earlier, go to counter and all the mess at gate after. Was no organized area next to gate, it was impossible to reach gate through narrow rows between seats, already filled with others and their luggage, how could we expect to have priority for boarding if we could not even reach the gate. The worst part. Baby stroller arrived at Rome airport and we needed to look for it, no assistance from any Etihad staff. Stroller was damaged, full of scratches and soft part was cut. This was my first experience flying with Etihad and it was a complete shock. Out trip just for a weekend turned into so many issues : no check-in online, damaged stroller upon arrival to Rome, 1 hour waiting for stroller at Abu Dhabi airport. No possibility to travel easy and be treated really well. staff at AUH airport was not helpful at all, bounced us counter-lift-counter-lift, wait for your stroller there, wait here. Etihad is not family and customer oriented in general.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "not recommend this agency to anyone"

Review: I was with a group of seven to go on vacation together to Iceland. When we found out we were booked at 4 different hotels through Icelandair Holidays, we immediately tried to get some help with making the changes. After multiple phone calls being told no one could help with that part of the trip, and more emails than I could count, we tried to reschedule in hopes we could rectify by selecting another date and starting over. We never once got to speak to an agent and we finally cancelled the trip altogether. Not only did we lose 30% of the booking fee, but our prepaid seats and the prepaid meals for another $177.20 per couple for something that never even got to be used. I don't understand how this was not refundable! Would not recommend this agency to anyone!

Route: Boston to Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "crew was very nice and did their best"

Review: I had an amazing time traveling with Avelo, this was one of my first flight from Fort Myers to New Haven. The check in staff are extremely efficient, they check in every customer with a smile on their face. You can really tell they care about you and your travel experience. Sometimes customers are rude to them but they always handle it so professionally. The check in line was very long but but the staff made it move very quickly. I was at my gate in no time, the plane was running a bit behind schedule but nothing to complain about. The aircraft was clean and they even had music playing when we boarded! The crew was very nice and did their best to make everyone happy. Arrived to New Haven not too late and very happy to say my bags arrived too! New favorite airline!

Route: Fort Myers to New Haven

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "had to buy another flight"

Review: Was not informed of needing a PCR test so attempted to change flight but was not allowed nor was refund even considered and had to buy another flight. Was only refunded "airport services fees" but not the preflight charges paid for and never used which include seat charges, meal charges, and baggage charges. If non Japan resident, you are unable to purchase travel insurance nor is there a toll free number to speak to anyone from the airline; just an outsourced ISA in a non English/Japanese speaking country who does not care about customer retention. Have a magnifying glass handy when purchasing your ticket so you can read the fine print that is meant to benefit the airline and cheat the customer.

Route: Honolulu to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "forced us to weigh our cabin luggage"

Review: We were flying from Riga to Vilnius. The ground staff was rude and forced us to weigh our cabin luggage again which had been approved by the origin airport. They said that the luggage was 11 kg and wanted us to pay 60 eur or throw away our personal items due to excess weight. When we finally left the place and we looked back, both ground staff women were laughing. Even on the aircraft they are rude and impolite. Their English is very poor. Never fly again with this shameful airline

Route: Riga to Vilnius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "seats are too close together"

Review: Staff was great. We landed early on both legs of the trip. The seats are too close together. I am somewhat over weight and could not but the tray table down since it poked me in the belly. You have to pay for all food and water but I was aware of this and planned ahead

Route: Dublin to Baltimore via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "the sooner it goes under, the better"

Review: Milan to Tirana. Same story as most other people on this page, 27th August we turned up at Milan Malpensa airport to fly to Tirana where we had arranged to meet up with our elder daughter flying in from Budapest - so we could not back out of flying. At the check-in the airline agent told us me and my wife had not included our middle names - mercifully our younger daughter hasn't got a middle name - and that we had to re-purchase tickets from scratch at last minute price. In short, we had to pay an extra 638 on top of the 324.86 we had already paid through Opodo. Steer well clear of this airline, the sooner it goes under, the better!

Route: Milan to Tirana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Very bad service"

Review: Brisbane to Melbourne. Pathetic service. Sitting in the plane for the next 20 mins and the air conditioning is not switched on. It is stuffy and when requested to the air hostess, she asks us to remove our jackets. Very bad service.

Route: Brisbane to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Moldova

Title: "the problem was solved within minutes"

Review: Moscow Domodedovo to Chisinau. I've been using services of Air Moldova already for 3 years and I have a very positive impression. Airplanes are in good condition, come on time and the service is great. Especially, I would like to point out excellent work of online help service of Online Booking. I made a mistake choosing the date of flight and noticed it only after order has been placed. The operator gave me a fast reply to my email and was very friendly and helpful, so we could correct the date to the right one. So the problem was solved within minutes. Excellent work! Totally recommend to use this airline.

Route: Moscow Domodedovo to Chisinau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "Very unprofessional people"

Review: I and my wife recently traveled to Tokyo from Bangalore via Colombo. As the connecting flight from Colombo to Tokyo was more than 20+ hours I requested to book the hotel accommodation with them. Airlines initially confirmed the booking through email but when I reached Colombo, the staff said it was only confirmed for my wife, even after showing the email confirmation, they never allowed me to stay and none of the SriLankan Airlines staff members were available to sort out my issue. Please understand this was in the late evening of Nov 17th at 23:00, it really caused me a lot of trouble especially when I am traveling with the family at midnight wherein I had no Internet and local currency available. None of their staff members or local people helped me at that time, they asked me to travel here and there in the midnight but still, the issue was not sorted out. This is a big mistake and I regret using their service. To stay with my wife they asked me to pay another $87 plus tax for four hours as I have already planned the day out to travel locally. Hence, I canceled their hotel booking and took high risk in booking alternate hotel rooms for my family and also local travel wasn't available as it was a presidential election so I had to bribe the taxi driver to allow me to travel to the designated place. Very unprofessional people and poor quality of management.

Route: Bangalore to Tokyo via Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "now its very mediocre"

Review: Mandalay to Bangkok. They seem to have embraced the budget model. Booked our February flights last summer and as these were the only flights on our itinerary which had less than 30kg baggage allowance I had a webchat conversation with customer services about additional baggage. No problem they said, as you are a member of flyer bonus we give you 10kg extra. Fast forward to check in and surprise surprise the check in agent was having none of it and charged us $80 US and refused to get a manager saying pay or leave your bag. Their aircraft interiors have also deteriorated over the years and are not as clean as they once were. This airline used to be unique while now its very mediocre. Such a shame.

Route: Mandalay to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "product quality was good"

Review: Thai AirAsia check-in was smooth and fast at Bali Airport for flight from Bali to Bangkok. Boarding gate was changed from Gate 5 To Gate 4 and boarded with garbarata (Air Bridge). My Pre-booked meals were vegetarian fried rice and green chicken curry both with Green tea pudding and green tea cup. All pre-booked meals were provided with a 100ml mineral water. The vegetarian fried rice did not have that much taste, the green chicken curry was better but still not great, however the green tea pudding was delicious. Merchandise for sale sell on board was good and the product quality was good too. Hot seat 14C price was ODR 120.000. 4 Hour flight without inflight entertainment.

Route: DPS to BKK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "we are stranded in another state"

Review: Before our flight, we saw in the news that over 1,500 other JetBlue flights were canceled. Still went to our flight (because we had no other choice), waiting 4 hours from 8 in the evening to midnight, only to have police come over to tell us our flight was canceled. Turns out, it wasn't just ours; on the board of flights, over 15 other flights were heavily delayed and canceled. We were all told at once about the cancellation, so we all ran against one another to get in line first, which has barely moved as I write this (over an hour wait now). There was an automatic rebooking, which would take us up to New York (which is being hit by heavy storms), then back down to Florida, then finally to California which makes 0 sense. Employees have said all their hotels are booked and no direct flights can come until 2 days, so overall we are stranded in another state with nothing and no compensation. Way to go JetBlue, never flying here again and neither should you.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "FA were courteous and helpful"

Review: Boarding in Munich was a rush, however business class passengers did receive a welcome drink - Greek sparkling wine or water. The lunch had several options and there was a choice between 2 red and white Greek wines. The food was not bad at all. Decent information about the flight was given. FA were courteous and helpful. One of the better business products in Europe for sure. Only luggage was not quite delivered as "priority" despite labelled.

Route: Munich to Athens

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "Terrible service at the transfer desk"

Review: Terrible service at the transfer desk, it took 4 hours and caused me to miss the flight, employees are not skilful and very messy, they not friendly and don't care about passengers.

Route: Los Angeles to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "we will fly with you again"

Review: All went quickly and even before time! We were almost late checking our bag, they packed the plane and we landed ahead of time. Cannot complain because it is rare that airlines run their operations ahead of time. No service but we knew about it so no complaints. Point A to point B, all went well. The pilot was very nice informing us when Kota Kinabalu will pop on the horizon, so we were ready and got some great photos of the beautiful mountain. Weather cooperated as well. Thank you and we will fly with you again.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Sandakan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "Their service is terrible"

Review: The flight leaving Atlanta to Panama, the Atlanta check in line wait was two and a half hours. They only had 2 workers working. They lost my bag by forgetting to put a tag on my bag and then blamed me. Their service is terrible and they never called or did anything to help me. Customer service phone lines we called for 7 hours nobody answered. The claim I filed was 17 days ago, they have done nothing.

Route: Atlanta to Barranquilla via panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "flight staff didnt have any information"

Review: I had the worst experience with Turkish Airlines yesterday as my first flight was delayed by 35min (according Turkish staff), and a promise was made by them: that Istanbul was contacted previously and all the connecting flights will be waiting. In reality there was a 1.5 hours delay for a 2 hours long flight, meaning I missed the connection in Istanbul only with 10 minutes. The connecting flight was still there therefore it would take only a little organization and 10 minutes to 5-6 people from our flight to reach it. The flight staff didnt have any information about our connection before we landed. On arriving in Istanbul, there was no apology or direction of what to do, actually the staff was extremely rude! There was no food or drink offered, just a new boarding pass and deal with the consequences. No phone call was offered to reorganize our trip, just promises the hotel will provide it. Of course the hotel didnt do such thing. I know that delays happens but real customer support, correct and valid information or some kindness would make it easier. Its not a service worthy of a so called quality airline and please dont call it customer care point if you dont care at all.

Route: Budapest to Cancun via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Horrible experience"

Review: Horrible experience with easyJet. 3 hours before our flight we get an SMS that the flight was cancelled. No ground staff offered any assistance or information The only way to find an alternative flight was to get on their app and search for a different flight yourself. We are a family of 4: 2 adults and 2 small children. It was impossible to find any alternative flight on the same day to the same destination with 4 free seats. The app also didn't find any available hotel. Spending a night in the airport with 2 small children is not an option. So we had to find another flight to another destination in another country and pay everything ourselves on the spot. That's not the biggest problem though. The problem is, EasyJet now does not want to take responsibility and reimburse the extra costs, as the circumstances were "out of their control". I understand that bad things happen and flights get cancelled, but as a company, at least offer assistance or reimbursement to those that they leave stranded. I will never fly easyJet again.

Route: Heraklion to Geneva

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "impressed by his devotion"

Review: Tokyo to Gimhae. A few days ago I somehow lost my iPad and personal computer at Tokyo Narita airport after I passed the security gate. I belatedly realized that they were missing from my backpack onboard my flight while taking off. After landing at Kimhae, I was greeted by Mr Kim, a supervisor. He took the loss of my computer into his hands, helping me out from calling L&F at Narita Airport to delivering it to my hotel without much delay. I was hugely impressed by his devotion to his job and professionalism. JAL means now a little different to me after this experience!

Route: Tokyo to Gimhae

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SereneAir

Title: "already delayed 2 hours!"

Review: First time I am travelling with SereneAir and its already delayed 2 hours! I got a text message this morning saying its 15 minutes delayed then when we arrived airport, we found out that actually this flight is delayed 2 hours. Very disappointed.

Route: Islamabad to Karachi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "Thank you to the crew"

Review: Lisbon to Toronto. Thank you to the crew operating flight TS 733 on Monday March 16th. Amazing service. Despite the corona virus fears, this crew worked intensely to maintain a positive attitude. We waited for almost 2 hours in the plane upon arrival due to the high number of passengers at Customs. The Captain kept all passengers informed and calm. Thank you !

Route: Lisbon to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "bad structure of this airline"

Review: Today I had dinner with my company, so i had booked the flight for 9pm. The flight was rescheduled to 7pm. I missed the dinner because of that. Came to the airport on time and the flight was deleted one hour. This seems to be a joke, but it's not. I see this as a bad management or bad structure of this airline. It made my day a very bad day

Route: Xiamen to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: XL Airways France customer review

Review: I booked XL Airways well in advance as we were looking for a great price to fly our family of 5 from San Francisco to Paris in June. I read all the negative reviews and decided to take a chance with this low cost operator. We had an excellent experience. We were prepared for delays and extra charges. What we experienced was excellent cheerful service from check in to arrival. The flights were efficient and on time in both directions. We paid extra to check bags and get better seats, but we still saved hundreds of dollars per flight. If I needed water when service wasn't offered, I simply went to the back and asked. It was good to stretch my legs on a long flight. They even fed us two meals that were included in the price. The seats were uncomfortable, but I was prepared for some discomfort. If you're looking to save some money on a flight to Europe, this is a great choice.

Route: San Francisco to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ravn Alaska

Title: "overall experience was fantastic"

Review: I flew on Ravn Alaska with my girlfriend back in February. We flew from Anchorage to Homer (and back) with ease. The flight was brief and enjoyable. The staff were friendly and welcoming. Check-in: a breeze. Boarding: a breeze. Baggage pick-up: a breeze. The overall experience was fantastic. Looking forward to flying with Ravn again and taking in those unforgettable Alaska sights.

Route: Anchorage to Homer

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "no refund after one year"

Review: Flight was cancelled due to covid. Still no refund after one year and lots of mails asking a refund. I wont ever book Oman Air again.

Route: Milan to zanzibar via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "delightful cabin staff"

Review:

East Midlands to Faro. We always love flying with Jet2 but I thought the flight out to Portugal on the 8th September (LS685 departed 07:40) was particularly enjoyable. This was due to the delightful cabin staff. Not only professional and efficient, but they had a natural pleasantness.

Route: East Midlands to Faro

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Binter Canarias

Title: "check-in easy and smooth"

Review: Lanzarote to Lisbon via Gran Canaria with Binter Canarias. Great airline. First flight with an ATR later a CRJ to Lisbon. Check-in easy and smooth. Connection LPA easy. Both flights great staff. Nice smile. Service on the first flight water and a cookie, second flight a chooice of a snackbox: sweet / tapas / mix. We had the tapas served with canarian red wine, water and later a coffee. Second glass of wine served. Great FA, nice plane as seated 2-2 and uneventfull flight. Would fly them anytime.

Route: ACE to LIS via LPA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "met with such incredible rudeness"

Review: I am sitting on the aircraft right now about to take off from Los Angeles to Newark. It's a real shame because I had such a good experience flying from JFK to LAX, but I have to write a bad review because I was met with such incredible rudeness by one of the stewardesses. I politely asked if I might be able to switch seats to a window seat (the entire row was empty). Instead of politely telling me she had to wait till we took off she aggressively, and extremely rudely commanded two times in a row that I sat down at my assigned seat. I really think it's a shame because Virgin America is generally great, but this specific stewardess should not work in the service industry.

Route: Los Angeles to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "I would avoid at all costs"

Review: First time travelling with TUI, I have to say the service offering for a nearly 6 hour flight was far from adequate. TUI class this route as mid haul so its buy onboard, it would be fine if you had the option to pre-order meals like Jet2 offer but they done. There were 2 trolley services and the cabin crew appeared disinterested and rather unfriendly. Its also a cashless airline, they only allow you to use a credit/debit card and unable to accept pre pay cards like Revolut or Monzo, again not helpful as there is no alternative then to buy onboard. The 737-8 Max whilst nice and new, simply isnt big enough for this length of flight with only 3 toilets and no IFE. The queues for toilets were 10 deep for most of the flight. For the reasons above and it feeling like a cash grab by TUI I would avoid at all costs. They really could learn a thing or 2 from Jet2 (who seem to have got this kind of flying spot on).

Route: London Gatwick (LGW) to Boa Vista (BVC)

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "worst customer service staff"

Review: Frankfurt to Delhi via Kuwait. One of the worst customer service staff. I booked my ticket through skyscanner with a long stopover (more than 8 hours) returning back from Frankfurt and going back to Delhi. On approaching the check-in desk, I was informed that I have to pay 110 euros more to get a boarding pass as I need to have a hotel booking at the Airport hotel. I had no option or no flight for me. I was helpless in a foreign country. I had to pay and the hotel was too bad. Renovation noise disturbed me a lot. Now I have written to Kuwait Airways many times but they won't refund my money. Why nobody on my outward journey bothered to ask me to show the booking for my return? Why before booking my ticket these rules were not in the instructions?

Route: Frankfurt to Delhi via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "Flight attendants are pretty good"

Review: As a first-time flyer, this definitely was a nice introduction to fast travel by airplane. Pros, then cons. Pros 1) Flight boarding time is usually delayed cause airport security or passenger offloading, so if you've arrived with barely an hour to get to the terminal after going through TSA and boarding pass first, you should reasonably make it. 2) Flight attendants are pretty good about making you comfortable 3) Tolerable wait times for taxiing and whatnot. Cons 1) The twin-engine plane (Boeing 737, I believe) economy seating is just enough to be problematic for anyone who has claustrophobia. Additionally, the fold-out for laptops is only big enough for the PC; you want to use a mouse, well, need to use another fold-out on your right. 2) If want additional elbow room, first-class ticket is necessary 3) Lavatories are small enough that anyone significantly fat will feel cramped. I'm skinny, and anyone who's taken care of his/her body should be able to use them without difficulty.

Route: Seattle to St. Louis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "all of the food was truly superb"

Review: Boston to Manila via Tokyo-Narita. The flight from Boston to Tokyo was on a B787-9, and the flight from Tokyo to Manila was on a B787-8. The flight from Boston to Tokyo was scheduled to depart in the middle of a blizzard. Unfortunately, this created some problems regarding preparing the aircraft. We eventually boarded (very quickly, as is Japan Airlines' custom). We then had to wait for a while as our plane was de-iced. We ended up leaving Boston about two hours late. However, the pilots were able to make up for one of those hours in the air, so that we only arrived about one hour late in Tokyo. Another passenger was concerned about making his connecting flight in Tokyo. A flight attendant calmly explained that he would have enough time and that they would hold the flight for him if necessary. This turned out to be unnecessary, as, to my shock, the staff at Narita basically just allowed all arriving passengers with connecting international flights to go directly into the gate area without first clearing security. This was truly a godsend and ensured that people really did make their connecting flights. And since gates weren't supposed to close until just 10 minutes before departure, this meant they did not even have to hold planes for people! As for the inflight experience, it was similar to my experiences from Manila to Boston, except that there was no last-minute snack service just before arriving in Tokyo. Instead, they offered us sweet buns midway through the flight. Again, we were served a full meal on the flight from Boston to Tokyo and on the flight from Tokyo to Manila, as well as a light meal towards the end of the flight from Boston to Tokyo. And once again, with the exception of the full meal from Boston to Tokyo, there were no choices for the meals-there was only one option. However, as usual, all of the food was truly superb. Because I was flying during a different month from my previous flights with Japan Airlines, I noticed they removed from their entertainment system a movie I had begun watching previously and had hoped to finish watching during this trip. That was disappointing. There were toothbrushes and toothpaste available in the lavatories during the flight from Boston to Tokyo, but not until relatively late in the flight. Again, flight attendants and gate staff were fantastic. Another excellent experience on Japan Airlines!

Route: Boston to Manila via Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "refuse to reimburse us"

Review: Flight from Montreal to Marseille in June 2019 delayed 2 hrs due to mechanical difficulties. We finally take off & 3 hrs into flight we turn around & return to Montreal because of mechanical difficulties. Sleep in airport for 4 hours. Board again, and delayed for another 2 hrs. Arrive in France 13 hrs late. We were told to keep our hotel receipts so we could be reimbursed. Not only do they refuse to reimburse us, but they wont even provide name & contact number of a person to speak to - all communications must be done electronically. We went with AC because it was more affordable & between paying for seats & hotel rooms it ended up being significantly more $$.

Route: Montreal to Marseille

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "refund process is horrific"

Review: Boarding and refund process is horrific. Been rerouted to serval ports rather than directly flying to the domestic airport destination which cost time and livid waiting at the gate for boarding. The second flight they have cancelled and rebooked the flight unlimited times like its a game and when you decide to just refund the money, the experience is worse. Refund your money to a closed account and they're claiming it was already credited but can provide the transaction number to help the bank recover the wire transfer.

Route: Manila to Legazpi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "Treated horribly"

Review: Paris to San Francisco. Worst airlines ever. They asked to board 2 hours early and instead of boarding they made us wait at the entrance of aircraft for 1 hour. No special entrance for infants. Not allowed to feed the baby not step out at the boarding gate. The baby was crying continuously but no kind-hearted person. One of the passenger names was reversed from original and was stuck issuing a boarding pass for hours. When I read online it did happen for many other customers. They charged 150 and finally allowed to board. Treated horribly. Would never travel through them again in my life. Tickets are neither cheap we just need to buy each item separately. Unfortunately, there were no other flights for the required days else would have booked some other airlines even though I already paid them money. Felt really bad seeing my 3 months crying for milk and they not allowed to feed or board the flight.

Route: Paris to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: BA CityFlyer

Title: "Very nice flight"

Review: Dusseldorf to London City. Very nice flight, including free Snacks and drinks. Legroom was okay and staff was friendly but seemed a little stressed due to a huge amount of hand luggage in this flight. Inflight magazines were old.

Route: Dusseldorf to London City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "seat was comfortable"

Review: Nadi to Auckland on July 3rd. It was my first time to fly with Fiji Airways. The check-in in Nadi was fast. The staff did Fijian welcome and said "Bula" to every passenger. The aircraft was Boeing 737-800. The seat was comfortable and had enough leg room. The meal onboard was good.

Route: Nadi to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "the worst experience Ive ever had flying"

Review: Hands down the worst experience Ive ever had flying. Crew members were late, delaying our entirely booked flight. Then we were stuck on the plane waiting for maintenance to look at a broken electrical panel cover. Perhaps checking the safety of the plane before filling it with people would have been a good idea. This airline is run by clowns and incompetent imbeciles. If I could give a 0/10 I would.

Route: Denver Colorado to Milwaukee Wisconsin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "I had a pleasant flight"

Review: I have flown Fiji Airways many times and though a bit costly but worth it. I flew Nadi to Hong Kong, and I must say I had a pleasant flight. The seat was comfortable, the IFE was well up to date, and the food was nice and filling. The check in was very efficient given it was a morning flight when most of Fiji Airways flights leave one after the other they still managed to check us in pretty efficiently. We cannot blame the airline if some passengers choose to shuffle their luggage at the airport because some did not read the baggage allowance clearly.

Route: NAN to BOM via HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "have to pay for luggage"

Review: Phuket to Kuala Lumpur. I tried to pay for baggage online. They did not allow to make payment after putting pnr number I have used my mobile as I did or have laptop or PC Then I called them to pay for 60kg for 4 person, they said 15kg per person is included to check in. I was 3.5 hours before my flight at airport they said you have to pay for luggage and the cost is 400 baht per kg per flight.

Route: Phuket to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "Overall the experience was good"

Review: This is a follow up on my review from yesterday. After the technical delay some people insisted on getting off the plane causing a further delay, 2 hours total. The flight itself was smooth, service and food was good. Overall the experience was good under difficult circumstances. Big picture the technical difficulties were spotted and solved on the ground and relatively quickly

Route: Cooenhagen to Krakow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "Next step is waiting for my full refund"

Review: This is a first for me writing a review as I'm very understanding of circumstances that are controllable and not controllable. I've worked in the Airline industry before actually as a Transportation manager for a catering company that actually serviced Spirit Airlines out of LAX. This was my 1st time actually flying on Spirit and I had my reservations about doing so, just based on the reputation but I placed my faith in believing my experience would be different. Yesterday I arrive at LAX for my flight to San Juan Puerto Rico about 2 hours prior to departure. I head to kiosk to print my boarding passes, and when I put in my confirmation #. I received a message that I'm checking in too early and my flight is scheduled to leave tomorrow - please see an agent. So then I must stand in this line to get to an agent for over an hour. I learned my connecting flight to Detroit was cancelled. When I finally got the counter the agent told me that my next flight out is in 2 days. My trip was from Monday to Friday now this issue has caused me to lose 3 days out of my trip and if I flew out Wednesday night I basically would turn right back around. I was looking forward to this 1st time trip to Puerto Rico but it looks like that has been delayed. The only options I had was to take the flight change or refund. Obviously I had to do the refund as I was losing on my reserved hotel room that I had for this 2 days, and honestly there was no way I was going to go through the nightmare of getting home. I cut my losses and then proceeded with a refund. As much as I had planned and anticipated the trip all the joy was lost. At the time I'm writing this I should have already landed and been taking in the island but since my vacation was canceled I returned back to work for a vacation I had planned for months. Next step is waiting for my full refund. When I initially purchased the tickets it wasn't about the price of the ticket but the time of the flights that fit well with my schedule. Spirit mostly likely will not be that option for me in the future.

Route: Los Angeles to San Juan

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "close for boarding passes 1hr 30 mins before departure"

Review: To call it bad customer service, would be the understatement of the century. This was not to be believed. The SNCF train, which took me from mid-France to Paris, was delayed. I still ran like the devil to get to the airport in good time. Went to check in at 1:30PM, exactly 1hr & 20 mins before the scheduled 2:50PM departure. I was in utter disbelief when I was told they were not going to give me a boarding pass because they close for boarding passes 1hr 30 mins before departure. That is only a 10 minute difference! They didnt care that there was plenty of time to get to the gate. When I asked if there was any recourse, I was told that I could go to a customer service line. When I got there, I found dozens of other people in the same situation. The recourse was to buy a new ticket. Forget basic customer service. What happened to the days when they would actually rush you through to get you on that plane? I paid extra to get on the flight the next day, and I also had to pay for a hotel that night.

Route: Paris Orly Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "pay a bit more for another airline"

Review: My itinerary was Manila - Port Moresby - Honiara - Port Vila - Fiji (plus some domestic). Several flight was with Air Niugini First they cancel my flight from POM-HON, which they of course never told me anything about. After today I realised that I shouldn't even have expect that. I then after that realised that I would have to stay 2 weeks in PNG to be allowed to go to Honiara after visiting the Phillipines because of the coronavirus. My next plan is to book a flight direct to Vanuatu. The flight is listed as direct but at the last step I notice a 50 min stop in Honiara for dropping of / unloading passengers. (No disembarking.) I decided to contact air niugini just to make sure this wouldn't become problem. 9-10 days later I still dont have a answer after emailing with 5 people via 8 different emails in 3 different countries. And yes, of we tried to call but never a clear answer. One even said we would be fine but another one said not possible. When checking in at Manila airport for the POM flight I'm almost denied boarding since my onward ticket is cancelled and I couldn't book my next flight because I never received an answer about transit rules. When arriving in POM I ask the Air Niugini office (they are actually friendly when explaining that they cant help you with anything.) They printed loads of the IATA travel restrictions rules that I already have on my phone and I was explaining them about. They said I would not be allowed to have any kind of transit in Honiara. (The Virus is a new thing so that most likely the reason we received so many different answers and no answers from most of them. Then I decide to just skip them both and go to Fiji. I have to choose the more expensive option to stop over in Brisbane. With Carry on 7kg I dont need any tra sit visa since I'm not leaving international gate. My backpack is 9kg. Checking it in (free) results in leaving international gate for re checking since they dint ha e sharevmcode with the next flight and this would result in me having to get a transit visa that obviously would take 8-12 days according to my application. I then asked the counter during one of my domestic flights if they could be so kind to let me go with 9kg and the entire problem would be solved and the guy said ofc, after all this trouble that should not be any problem. Just go over to the sales counter and get it confirmed. Nope, big no. Of course I couldn't bring a 9kg carry on. So now I'm stuck here forced to throw away 2kg of personal stuff to be able to get out of here. I recommend to pay a bit more for another airline.

Route: Port Moresby to Honiara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "never fly Avelo Airlines again"

Review: I will never fly Avelo Airlines again. The flight down to Wilmington was great! We were very excited to have a direct flight to Wilmington, as my brother lives there. Our experience leaving Wilmington, however, was not so wonderful. My son and I arrived at the airport an hour before the flight was supposed to leave. Wilmington is a small airport, so we had plenty of time. The flight was scheduled to leave at 12:00. We arrived at the gate at 11:35 and the gate was already closed. There were no employees anywhere to be seen to help us. My son started waving to the groundcrew of the airport, got their attention and they ran up the ramp to alert the airline crew. He came back down and gave us a thumbs up. We assumed that they were going to come open the gate and let us on. Nope. Next thing we see is the loading ramp pulling away from the airplane. When the gate crew came back into the airport, we asked why they would not let us on and we were told that they were not allowed to reprint the manifestation. They were young kids that clearly did not care about us, or the other two passengers, one of which was in a wheelchair and had been in the bathroom, that they left behind. When we asked when the next flight out was, we were informed not until Monday. This was on a Friday. Needless to say, we could not wait until Monday to fly home. I spent a lot of money to get us on a flight the next day into Boston. My car however was in New Haven! I then called the airline itself and they said that they did nothing wrong, and that they can close the gates a half an hour before the flight is supposed to leave if they want, even if they do not have all of their passengers on board. No offer of a refund or anything.

Route: Wilmington, NC to New Haven, CT

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "I lost the next flight"

Review: Nairobi to Dar-Es-Salam. It was a connection flight, I booked the tickets from different companies separately. This flight was the last resort to avoid losing my next flight and it got delayed more than an hour, so I lost the next flight. In the counter they said it was just not in the contract whatever could happen because of a delay of less than 3 hours.

Route: Nairobi to Dar-Es-Salam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "I will not recommend"

Review: Worst trip in my life. I had an urgent trip to Sydney from Brisbane. I needed to fly to Sydney with Tigerair Australia, stay 3 hours there, and return back with Qantas. I arrived to BNE domestic airport 50 min before the flight, but until i tried to check in, it failed and then i called Tigerair Australia assistance, where he said that I am 2 min late, then he directed me to another staff. The other staff had bad attitude and wanted to book me a flight after 3 hours and get me pay extra $ and keep saying that I should check in before 45min and I am late and blaming me why I did not check in online. Then instead of helping, they called the AFP for me because they suspected I may get angry on them. AFP staff was helpful and helped me. I ended up not flying with Tigerair Australia and booking a flight with Qantas. This airline staff are the worst staff I've seen in an airline. I will not recommend this airline to anyone.

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "a terrible experience"

Review: The worst airline to travel. The staff at airport, especially Amritsar airport the staff don't know any rules for traveling to a country and try to educate others needlessly. I didn't understand their policies, even food was requested on my ticket but i didn't get any food in a long flight. The attendants only served water in small glasses and left the person if he/she was asleep. No entertainment source used while flying. Overall, a terrible experience.

Route: Amritsar to Perth via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "wide bodied jets make business class an attractive option"

Review: The wide bodied jets that Iberia fly on this route (A330-300 and A350-900) make business class an attractive option: lie-flat bed, movies and a lot of space, even if only for 2 hours. The food from Do&Co is also very good, with Guylian chocolates now added with the coffee service. The crew are fairly reserved but ready to assist. This flight was an on-time departure and early arrival. I was connecting through Madrid and used the Dali lounge in T4, where they were making cocktails to order.

Route: London to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Refused to reimburse for hotel night"

Review: Flight was delayed 3 hours leaving HSV. Flight back from Vegas was cancelled, but the airline posted delays one hour at a time all day, then too late to get another price. Refused to reimburse me for the extra hotel night I had to pay for, plus 2 meals. Arrived home over 24 hours later than I was supposed to. Flight crew was excellent and they gave us all a snack box. Really nice plane. I am going to give them ONE more try.

Route: Huntsville to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aircalin

Title: "provided a good service"

Review: Flew Nadi, Fiji to Wallis Island. Aircalin is the flag carrier of New Caledonia and although a small airline, provided a good service. There were no boarding problems and the flight was on time. This was a very short flight and the cabin service was appropriate.

Route: Nadi, Fiji to Wallis Island, Wallis and Futuna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "Never travel by Go First"

Review: I don't understand why do they run an aircraft when their flights are delayed by 6-8 hours on average? The customer care executive told that they have the right to cancel /delay / prepone as per their wish ... passengers have no right to ask question. They are informing us about the delay is a obligation to us. Never travel by Go First.

Route: Bangalore to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "trying to email, call and chat"

Review: My first flight got cancelled and changed to a flight just a few hours away with a stopover of 7 hours. Been trying to email, call and chat for over 24 hours without any help. Probably the worst airline in the world.

Route: Denpasar to Bandar Lampung via Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "Legroom was spacious"

Review: Osaka to Los Angeles. JAL has high quality service, and on the Boeing 777 has only 8 seats per row rather than 9 in economy class, providing additional width space. Legroom was spacious on this flight. All in all a great flight, save the delay (bit less than 1h) and the choice of movies.

Route: Osaka to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Won't fly again with them"

Review: I made the purchase (and paid the difference) for a direct flight Madrid - Monterrey which was modified by Aeromexico with stopover in CDMX. Modified for the second time delaying the scale an hour 17:55 hrs , 3rd 18:00hrs, 4th 20:40hrs, fifth time 23:10hrs, and finally being canceled. During my 8 hrs waiting time, two flights left for Monterrey in my scheduled hour contradicting the reason that the changes were due to weather and we were told BY SPEAKER that we would wait for the staff coming from flight 118 cd juarez, which would land at 20hrs. Making it clear that there was a lack of personnel to take off. The service given by the employees of customer service is very slow, it is deficient and it is incredible that they have so little ability to solve simple questions. Having no refund response, hotel, accommodation, your answer "check customer service", we dial during the stay at the airport and tell us "that is solved at the airport, not with us", you go to the sales module and tell us "here we only sell tickets, we do not know anything about hotel or refunds, call by phone", we approach another employee and his answer is "send an email" that is no one can help you solve anything personally (And don't even think that by email they'll solve something) The bags were delivered to us with all the contents inside wet, not damp, soaked, could squeeze clothes. On the return flight from Madrid, there were no water bottles in the seats, as there are regularly. For a 12 hrs flight. Won't fly again with them. Choose Iberia!

Route: Madrid to Monterrey

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "Perfect flying experience"

Review: Perfect flying experience after horrible years of budget airlines. Loved the plane from Helsinki to London, nice staff and made whole day less stressful. Will definitely fly again. Also no problem with connecting flight, easy transfer in Helsinki.

Route: Tallinn to London via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "The worst experience ever"

Review: The worst experience ever. Unprofessional and takes no responsibility whatsoever. From Paris airport Charles de Gaulle trying to get to Greece didn't let me get on my plane the day I was trying to get to my father's funeral. After a quick early check-in, we had a great delay on the passport control where I repeatedly asked to let us pass to get to my gate and ground attendants insisted we won't miss our flights that the airline companies are informed for the delay. I got to the gate just at the moment they closed, with my two year old child that was crying after all the wait. The ground attendant a really unkind and ironic young woman didn't let me pass. I was begging to let me go to my family in this tragic day she was cold with no feelings and telling me that the company will lose money if she let me pass. Her phone rings and a member for the plane asked if they are more passengers left. And she says no, three didn't come I looked on her screen because I was next to her and I see my name with yellow lining like the two other persons too. I shout that I am here so she let me pass but hangs up rapidly. Her colleague was upset and tell hers to let me pass and she says no. I asked her name so I can make a report but she hide her badge telling me she won't give it to me. I contact the airline call center tells me to sent an email with details and never responded. It's been five days.

Route: Paris to Thessaloniki via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "The flight experience was horrible"

Review: We flew with Air India on 2nd April, 2023 from Narita International Airport to Indira Gandhi International Airport,

Delhi (India). The flight experience was horrible. It was worse than any other budget airline we have travelled with so far. The cabin crew not very responsive and often calls for them fell on deaf ears. Most importantly in flight entertainment system for most of the seats was not functional. "Attempts" to resolve this issue was futile. The entire 9 hours of flight we had to sit idle with nothing to entertain us. We have faced issue with the in flight entertainment system before too, with the handset on the previous flight being broken and unusable. Additionally the food was tasteless. We will surely not recommend this airline to anyone. Frankly, Air India not only failed to meet our expectations but also failed miserably to provide minimal standard of long international flight experience. (However the ground crew is very co-operative and have helped us to resolve many issues with boarding pass and baggage on this trip).

Route: Narita to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "if you can, avoid!"

Review: Foz do Iguaçu to Rio de Janeiro, and TAM Airlines is a prime example of rip-off non-service culture. Overpriced flights, designed to take advantage of tourists, unfriendly staff who pretend they don't understand what you want. Dirty plane. We tried to rebook and they kept us on the phone (via UK mobile) for 17 min without providing any information if it was possible, just asking same questions again and again. Awful attitude all around, but they have monopoly so get away with it. If you can, avoid!

Route: IGU to GIG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "stewards were very attentive"

Review: Weve heard a lot of bad reports about SAA. Nothing could be further from the truth. We left Perth at 23:45 yesterday and am now in Johannesburg awaiting a connecting flight to Cape Town. We left and arrived on time.Had a good dinner & breakfast, not haute cuisine but very edible. Found that stewards were very attentive and quite free with the beverages and they were friendly. Had economy seats that gave a good deal of legroom, enough films to keep you occupied. What more can there be to this business. Well done SAA

Route: Perth to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: Olympic Air customer review

Review: We have flown with Olympic Air twice, once was from Athens to Kefaloania, and the 2nd time was from Zakynthos back to Athens. Both were pleasant. The crew, food, drinks, service and view out the window was great. Would fly Olympic Air again.

Route: Athens to kefalonia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "our flight is closed for check in"

Review: Worst customer service. Will never use again. Not willing to be there for their customers. I was on time but in a long line with a lot of people, by the time we got to the ticket counter we were told our flight is closed for check in. They send us to their customer service across from the ticket counter, which had another huge line. At customer service we were told sorry, you will have to pay additional $260 to re book next flight 4 hours later, and saying we should of came 2-3 hours before the flight. I asked how come you are charging us since we paid for that ticket. They said if i came 10 min ago they would. We paid and re booked. Even their customer service said same on the phone as in person, we are late and should come earlier.

Route: Madrid to Malaga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "never fly Qantas again"

Review: Business class booking, my seat was covered in hairs, pillows and blankets too, food was disgusting, champagne low quality. Cabin crew couldn't care less about customers experience. Arrived at Melbourne Airport my Rimowa bag was totally smashed, unable to use the wheels, couldn't take public transport to my families home 150km from the airport due to luggage damage. I was stuck abandoned at the airport alone a single female traveller No choice but to rent a car at the airport which put me out of pocket $500. Customer responsibility is below 0. Compensation offered 5000 Qantas frequent flyer points to the equivalent of AUD$45.00. This airline needs to take accountability for high paying flyers, I will never fly Qantas again as a tourist visiting Australia.

Route: Incheon to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Interjet

Title: "cancelling or delaying flights"

Review: Lima to Juarez via Mexico. They keep cancelling or delaying flights without any explanation. The reason for cancellation isn't very important to me unless it is force majeure. We did check at the airport and nothing was going on. Like the plane in Lima was supposed to be late, because of bad weather disruptions in Mexico City, which upon checking in Mexico City appeared to not be true.

Route: Lima to Juarez via Mexico

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "Impossible to reach customer service"

Review: Impossible to reach customer service. They canceled my flight but I can't reach anyone to receive a refund. When I did finally get someone on the phone, the call was disconnected before a refund was processed. They didn't call me back and the wait to speak to a representative no matter when I call is almost two hours long. I've tried both chat and text customer service options. They responded over 36 hours later when I was asleep and closed the thread before I responded a couple hours later. This has happened three times! Not even given a chance to respond and I still do not have a flight or a refund!

Route: Honolulu to Hilo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Uzbekistan Airways

Title: "Exceeded my expectations"

Review: Overall everything went well on the 3.25 hour flight to Dubai. A large meal was presented. The small entertainment screen however did not work. But flight was uneventful and arrived on time. Exceeded my expectations

Route: Tashkent to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: Meridiana customer review

Review: Uncomfortable seats, poor drink selection. I asked for a scotch and I was told they do not serve super alcohol. If you are operating business class service you should stock your inflight bar with booze. I know many customers do not like to drink but if you provide service from New York you should cater to your clientele! They don't provide any snacks in business class - not acceptable.

Route: JFK to PMO

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "Good experience"

Review: Good experience, on time departure and arrival, courteous staff, good food, clean and hygienic cabin, comfortable seats. No in flight entertainment system ,they offer Vistara world which can be used in personal mobile/tab/laptop using flight wifi.

Route: Guwahati to Delhi

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: GoAir

Title: "unprofessional and unacceptable"

Review: Highly unprofessional and unacceptable. Today was my flight on 4:30pm Delhi to Ranchi and they cancelled my flight. And you haven't informed me. I reached to the airport asked you to do something. It's an emergency I have to go. You guys should learn from indigo. Very bad experience I ever had. I will never take your service.

Route: Delhi to Ranchi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "staff rude and unprofessional"

Review: Cabin staff service was totally rude and unprofessional. Especially when they serve passengers who cannot speak English. All cabin staff was always angry to someone who did not understand English. I definitely rate this airline is 1 star. Never fly with airline anymore.

Route: Jakarta to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: NAM Air

Title: "won't be treated the same way"

Review: Belitung to Bangka on NAM Air, the ground staff believed it to be an important security matter to prevent me from bringing a bottle of alcohol on the flight. Now, where it gets weird is that my wife and other Indonesian friends were carrying alcohol, but were at no point even asked to get rid of it. Only the foreigner in the group was targeted. When asked about it, the ground staff took over 2 30 minutes to locate some rule stating that alcohol was considered a "dangerous product". So was "perfume", according to the same rulebook (we checked), but no one was deprived of their perfume before flying (I even got to keep my cologne). It becomes even stranger when you consider that the same alcohol bottle had made the journey first from Bali to Jakarta, then from Jakarta to Belitung - and only then was considered to be a "danger" somehow - and this was cabin luggage from start to end. My friends' alcohol bottles were permitted the whole way to and back from Bali, but not mine. Subsequent queries to the airline went unanswered, despite several follow ups (this is two weeks ago, and the only response I got was about my reservation number, then nothing). When asked about whether it was permitted to bring alcohol on flights, or how my bottle was more dangerous than a perfume bottle (or in any way dangerous, as people with common sense would be prone to ask), or how a bottle of alcohol carried by a foreigner was a "dangerous" item but a bottle of alcohol carried by an Indonesian wasn't, I was met with a deafening silence. Which is just to say, you might want to stick to proper airlines rather than NAM Air if you intend on being a foreigner. You won't be treated the same way, even if you paid your fare...

Route: Belitung to Bangka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "first and last time flying this airline"

Review: This is our first time flying KLM and to say that the customer service they provide is fair would be a compliment. KLM made no notification to our flight delay and possibly canceled flight because we are still waiting at the airport. There was no announcement, email, text etc. Technology is advanced enough where we all get notifications of delays on app or the minimum at airport. KLM didnt deliver on either front. This is our first and last time flying this airline, theres more reliable options out there .

Route: Amsterdam to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "All in all very disappointing"

Review: My husband and I booked seats within our premium economy booking. On both outward journey BA015 on 12 February and return on 11 March we were last OR almost last to be served food. Each time they had run out of our choices. On one occasion I did not eat as only available option was curry which disagrees with me. On all flights there appeared to be an undue focus on curry/spicy food. All in all very disappointing and left us with a very poor opinion of British Airways.

Route: Sydney via Singapore to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "lack of any sense of customer service"

Review: Scheduled departure 11:25 am, fully boarded 10 mins ahead of time and then we sat for a full two hours without so much as a single acknowledgment or announcement from the crew, no one walking around with water or any amenities and the attitude of the crew when asked is to merely shrug. The lack of any sense of customer service is truly appalling. Never going to come anywhere near this airline again.

Route: New York JFK to Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Busan

Title: "closed the counter 90 min prior"

Review: Seoul to Kuala Lumpur. When we arrived at the airport 90 min before departure time, the counter was empty. Nobody up there and the automatic check-in was disabled. After walking all over to find their offices, we were greeted by an employee who told us they closed the counter 90 min prior to flight as a company policy. There was no effort on her part to open the door or offering any alternatives. I dislike that attitude in any kind of service.

Route: Seoul to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "really has a lot to improve"

Review: Ontario to Taipei. China Airlines has a lot to improve. The boarding is the slowest I've ever seen. They just kept pausing the boarding. The cabin looks super nice on its official website yet it was actually not as impressive or comfortable. The seat was the crampest I've ever seen on a long haul flight, I kept moving my back cause it was really uncomfortable. The yellow blanket looks super used. As for the food, again, the worst I've ever seen on a long haul flight. Often I don't expect any nice meal on a coach class, but China Airlines really went too far. You don't even get a dessert like cake, only two side dishes. And the salad was a mess. You should not expect much for the snack in between the meals when flying economy class as well, but saltine crackers, what a joke. The restroom was kind of dirty. EVA, ANA, or Asiana all kept their restroom clean so I don't get why can't China Airlines keeps it at least not dirty. The service was okay, they are neither attentive nor rude. One last thing, just when we arrived at 5, I waited for my checked luggage till 6:30. The bottom line is you China airlines really has a lot to improve.

Route: Ontario to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "no compensation given"

Review: I'm writing this on behalf of my mom and dad, who had a trip booked to Vancouver from Las Vegas. Unfortunately, a month before the trip date, they weren't able to fly anymore due to my mother's stage 4 cancer diagnosis. There was no compensation given for the canceled flight. Not a credit.

Route: Las Vegas to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Greenland

Title: "off-hand attitude among the staff"

Review: Flew Air Greenland from Copenhagen to Ilulissat via Kangerlussuaq. Way too expensive in relation to the journey length. Long queue on check-in at Copenhagen Airport. Seems to lack any service minded and professional customer service skills. Using terminal 3 for check-in would be preferable than terminal 2. The A330 was old and indeed outdated, a new interior or replacement of the transatlantic aircraft is needed. There is no Wi-Fi onboard, quality of the food was bad, very poor and old in-flight entertainment. 1 movie was shown and a few playlists were on, there were problems with their entertainment system, it to be reset some times before it worked. There is a very off-hand attitude among the staff, not least on board the transatlantic flight. Seriously, they don't seem to care about their customers! Though the short flight on the small Dash 8, was better. Arriving Copenhagen Airport, the waiting time for your luggage can be very long, this can take as long as up to 1 hour after arrival. Overall I would not fly this airline again if there was other alternatives.

Route: Copenhagen to Ilulissat via Kangerlussuaq

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "cancelled our flight for no reason"

Review: They cancelled our flight for no reason and didn't even email us to let us know. If I hadn't looked we would have been stranded in the airport. The seats are uncomfortable . Literally worst airline ever. Will not be flying them again!

Route: New Orleans to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "adequate snack was provided"

Review: Warsaw to Moscow with Aeroflot. There were no problems at check in which was prompt and without problems. We were late taking off and landing and given slow immigration control and luggage delivery in Moscow I only just managed to catch the last Aeroexpress service to the city centre. Cabin crew spoke adequate English and announcements were in Russian and English. An adequate snack was provided. As expected there was no inflight entertainment.

Route: Warsaw to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "still have not received a response"

Review: My flight was canceled for COVID-19 back in March of 2020. I was approved for a refund, but they refunded to a card that was paid off and closed. My bank refused the refund, so the money was sent back to Air Transat. Air Transat refuses to provide me with a refund through another route, they have stopped answering my chat messages, and "coincidentally" my calls are now dropped every time I call customer service. They had told me getting a letter from my bank confirming the refund was refused would help. I sent the letter via email to the correct address given, checked in two times since, and still have not received a response there either. They have essentially blocked me on all avenues of communication, even though I was never rude or confrontational.

Route: Toronto to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "Service was very good and attentive"

Review: Both flights were very pleasant, both departed a few minutes early and arrived early. The B777-300 was the version with 10 across seating and extra rows added. I was surprised I did not find much difference with the older models. I am of average height and weight and leg room/seat width were perfectly acceptable for short haul. But I would not be keen to spend an overnight flight on these seats. Service was very good and attentive. The meals tasty and plentiful. Lots of different types of IFE programming. The only problem that seems now common with most airlines is that the price for this route has skyrocketed by about 50% since January!

Route: Bangkok to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Viva Air

Title: " worst airline I have ever flown"

Review: Juliaca to Lima. The worst airline I have ever flown with! Terrible service, they try to charge every possible penny out of their clients. I have travelled with my backpack all over the world and never had any problems, not even with low cost such as RyanAir. I had to pay US$36 to travel using the same backpack I have been using for years, and that was not even for shipping but for carrying it the overhead compartment. Such a rip off! The flight was late, the plane was dirty, I don't recommend them for anybody and I for sure will never give them another penny!

Route: Juliaca to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "allowed to operate?"

Review: Milan Bergamo to Tirana. How are these robbers allowed to operate? I was charged a total of Euro 330 at check in just to insert middle names to return tickets for 3 persons. Since when is a middle name legally mandatory? What about people with many middle names? They might as well have a policy of charging for the way you walk and talk. Sure, why not? Call it company policy and happy days.

Route: Milan Bergamo to Tirana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "won't fly with them again"

Review: Bangkok to Tianjin. Our tickets were not especially cheap, however to our surprise they did not include any baggage with them. We had to fork out an additional 15,000 baht to take our two suitcases back to China. The staff laughed at me when I agreed to pay, very humiliating. On the plane nothing is given complimentary. On our 5 hour journey, there was no water, drinks, or food provided. You could order drinks but they were too expensive. We bought our own drinks on the plane but were told we were not allowed to consume them. If you are cold, pay extra to rent a blanket. If you are bored, pay extra to rent earphones and watch the movies. I feel ripped off and won't fly with them again.

Route: Bangkok to Tianjin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "such attitude and negligence"

Review: I was travelling on an Air Niugini PX187 from Mt. Hagen to Port Moresby on 31/3/2017. The check-in was a chaos and in the end flight was cancelled at short notice (as it was time to board), as was the flight on the following day we were transferred to (PX 181). In the end, the total delay was 24 hours. For the whole day on Saturday (8.30am to 5pm), we were made to wait at the airport with no food or water provided and no information on when we might be able to fly. The staff were unwilling to help or offer any kind of assistance or volunteer any information. When I enquired about refreshments for the passengers I was told that it was 'not the airline policy to take care of their passengers even in case of delay which was entirely the fault of the airline. When we finally arrived in POM at 6pm on the 1st of April, our luggage was left behind. Again, no specific information was provided by the airline as to when they would arrive, only an approximate maybe tomorrow. We went back on the following day and received 1/3 of the checked in baggage. The other two bags didnt arrive. My colleague went back again in the afternoon to check but still nothing. I gave up as life is too short for this (no chance the airline will follow up on your behalf). I wrote to the airline but haven't received a response. I have never experienced such attitude and negligence by any other airline in the world.

Route: Mt Hagen to Port Moresby

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "Nice food in economy"

Review: Had and amazing flight with Turkish Airlines on a one way ticket from Antalya via Istanbul to London. Flight was late leaving Antalya to Istanbul but made up time to get my connection to London. Full flight from Istanbul to London where the crew perform well and was calm and professional. Nice food in economy which I ask for seconds. Enjoyable smooth flight and landed in London Heathrow bang on time. Wish I had more time to explore Istanbul new airport. Will definitely fly Turkish Airlines again.

Route: Antalya to London via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "no baggage upon arrival"

Review: This is the second time in a row we travel Business with Austrian and we receive no baggage at arrival. Both me and my wife are Star Alliance Gold members and we choose to fly business. We filed a complaint in January about our delayed luggage . We were attending a wedding in Athens and we had to buy clothes, underwear, shoes personal items from the beginning. Austrian airline is really good to communicate about long waiting list and not solve the problem. No compensation yet. We traveled again yesterday from Larnaca to Stockholm via Vienna. Once again no baggage upon arrival. I am travelling for a course today and i am once again without clothes. Austrian Airlines are constantly humiliating your Gold and Business passengers. We filed a complaint in Star Alliance today. Who is going to pay for their fault in January? Who is going to pay for all the panic the new clothes etc we were forced to buy then? Who is going to pay for all the food (whole 23+ Kg) we carried yesterday which is going to trash when we eventually receive our baggage this time? Who is compensating me when they force me to attend a medical course with training clothes because they chose to depart the airplane before all baggages are loaded in the aircraft ? Who is compensating us for their mistakes and the frustration and anger they caused?

Route: Vienna to Stockholm

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "unethical business conduct"

Review: San Francisco to Mumbai via Beijing. Flight was delayed. They put me on a Lufthansa flight. I had purchased the ticket for 410 usd and paid 166 usd for an extra baggage. However, since they changed my flight to Lufthansa, I had to pay the Lufthansa extra baggage charges which was 287 usd. More than half my ticket price. When I emailed Air China, and requested a refund of 166 usd plus the extra charges I had to pay to Lufthansa beyond the 166 usd, I received no reply to the email. (I received a refund of the 166 usd I had paid them). This is unethical business conduct and bad customer service !

Route: San Francisco to Mumbai via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "very bad experience"

Review: I came from Bangalore to Mumbai yesterday it was delayed half an hour. Today I am going back to Bangalore, which I have booked at 6:30 but its delayed to 10:50pm - again its delayed departure time is 11:40pm. This is first time am using AirAsia India but very bad experience. These people are not professional.

Route: Mumbai to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "our experience was extremely disappointing"

Review: On our departure from Mexico to return to Montreal, we were shocked to find that our seats were not guaranteed on our flight. In fact, when checking in at Cancun airport, we find that we don't have a seat. The letters SBY are indicated as seat. By going to ask the question to the representative of our airline company while going to carry our luggage, he tells us that we do not have a seat yet, that we are on standby and that we will have to present ourselves 10 minutes at our boarding gate before boarding begins to check with another employee of our airline to ask them for a status report. We were so frustrated with the situation and the lack of explanation from our airline. The employee didn't seem convinced that we had a seat on the plane even though we had an outward flight and a return flight when we had booked our trip to a resort in Mexico with our travel agent. Moreover, it was not our first time on a plane. We knew how it worked and we had never experienced such a situation. So we headed to our gate and waited for the right moment. Even when it was time to go see the employee at the boarding gate, she didn't seem to know what to say other than "probably the system" Finally, my partner and I were called to the gate and finally got seats on the plane. So imagine, arriving at the airport and learning that your seats are on standby. First time in my life that I have lived this! Also, it was not the first time we had flown with this airline. On the other hand, positive point, all the flight attendants on the outward and return plane were very nice and professional. Nothing to say on this side! Unfortunately, our experience with the airline was extremely disappointing. Our travel agent did not understand why we did not have a seat on the return plane.

Route: Montréal to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "selection of movies meagre"

Review: Food wise, it was bleah to meh but palatable. The FA were quite fast to attend to general request. The IFE screen was small and the selection of movies was meagre but with the small screen with poor resolution, my handphone (Samsung Note 3) provided better entertainment if I wanted to use it. I pre-ordered an item for Duty Free purchase for my wife on the prior flight and supposed to collect it on this flight. However, they said there was a mistake made by the FA on the prior flight who helped make our pre-order. The response that I got was: "please call us when you reach your destination and we will sort it out." What? Call? I told them they should try to rectify it on their end and when we disembark. Why aren't the FA trained properly? It could have been better managed!

Route: Seoul to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "I recommend ZIPAIR"

Review: I recommend ZIPAIR. My friend and I booked a flight on Zipair because it was cheap. Once we booked we noticed the website was hard to navigate, the app we were supposed to download preflight isn't available in the US yet and there weren't many reviews. We Googled Zipair to make sure it was a real airline. The moment we checked in we realized this airline is real and it's an amazing deal. The customer service reps at check in asked if we'd been to Japan before and what we were excited about doing while quickly and efficiently checking us in. It was a great start but were concerned about seat comfort and inflight Wifi. As we entered the plane we realized seat comfort was not an issue. The seats were a clean, comfortable leather and had more leg space than most American carriers. Once we got in the air the Wifi connected quickly so we could access email and order food. It's not strong enough to download movies or tv shows so do that before you board. Food options are limited, they run out quick if you don't preorder. I suggest eat early or bring your own food. Beverages were comparably priced with other airlines and it didn't seem to run out of any drinks. The inflight staff was very attentive and kept trash out of the aisles and seat backs the entire flight. Our return trip from Tokyo to San Francisco was exactly the same. Friendly staff during check in, comfortable seats, quick WiFi for ordering food and checking email and very attentive flight attendants. My friend and I agreed we'd definitely recommend ZipAir to others and would fly them again.

Route: San Francisco to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Onur Air

Title: "does not provide free water"

Review: Antalya to Munich. This airline does not provide free water, they make you buy small bottles. This airline does not have special baby "beds" or shelves to provide safety for traveling babies. Moreover they did not provide the first row for families traveling with babies. The leg room is minimal and babies DO NOT get any special treatment. We had to stand in a queue for ages even though we were supposed to get to the airplane faster because we had a month year old with us. The attitude of the stewardesses is truly terrible. The announcements made in English are impossible to understand because of the pronunciation. To sum up: never again Onur Air.

Route: Antalya to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "havent been issued refunds"

Review: On the 17th March I purchased a ticket to fly to Istanbul, Turkey from their website. There was no indication Turkey would close its border on the website, google etc due to COVID as its a very fluid situation. On the 18th when I arrived at the desk to check-in my bags I was informed that Turkey had now closed its borders due to COVID. I spoke to the manager and he told me I was due a full refund and to call the customer service hotline to instigate this. This was a major inconvenience as I was hoping for an instant refund and I ended up paying 1700 to fly to Dublin a few hours later. I was assured by their customer service a full refund would be issued and then heard nothing for a few weeks. They tried to claim I didnt show up for the flight/I cancelled it myself and didnt want to fly etc which wasnt the case. Online there is dozens of complaints from other dissatisfied customers who havent been issued refunds and it seems this is the route the company is taking. They issued me with a refund of 23.56 euro which also doesnt make sense? They didn't provide the service which I was entitled to and have absolutely no reason to be holding onto my money. I presented myself at the airport.

Route: Doha to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "mishandling of our baggage"

Review: Yesterday, we encountered a distressing situation with Wizz Air. My sister and I were traveling from Abu Dhabi to Antalya on an early Saturday morning. We each had one free carry-on bag, which we placed under our seats. After checking in, we proceeded to gate 17 for departure. However at the departure gate, we were informed that the flight's cabin baggage capacity was full, and they asked us to leave our carry-on bags there. They gave us tags and assured us we could collect our bags from the airport belt later. Since we only had our carry-on bags with us, my sister and I had packed everything essential, including clothes, undergarments, makeup, toiletries, footwear, and my tablet in those bags. Upon arriving at Antalya Airport, we were dismayed to find that our bags were not on the belt. We immediately filed a complaint, but the response from the complain center was that our bags were still in Abu Dhabi; they hadn't been loaded onto the plane. Now, my sister and I are left with only our small cross bags, containing just our passports and money. We have nothing else to wear or use. Our plan was to continue from Antalya to Trabzon, but without our bags, that seem to be impossible. What was supposed to be a mini-vacation has turned into a nightmarish experience all because of Wizz Air's mishandling of our baggage. We had so many plans, but now we feel lost and don't know what to do.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "Very disappointing experience"

Review: Johannesburg to Lagos via Kigali. My first time flying with Rwandair was a worst experience ever that I received from any airline. On the 21 December 2019 the aircraft had to leave at 3am we ended up leaving OR Tambo airport in JHB at 6:30am. Delays do happen but what was so disappointing not even an sms was sent to notify us about the delay. What was worst as you check in nobody tells you about the delay, as soon as they finished checking us in we were told there was a 3 hour delay. Would it has been more professional if we were told before check in. Besides me and my 2 kids I had another 7 family members on board that I convinced that lets try Rwandair for the first time. Finally we left, as we were collecting our luggage in Lagos some of our luggage was left in JHB, I was on my way to Benin City which costed me to come back the following day for my luggage, all they say we are sorry about the delay. We stayed like fools at OR Tambo. We pay for our fares we need to be treated with dignity and respect. When we finally got to Kigali we were rushed with the announcement this is the final call for Lagos passengers, they could have made arrangements with customs that we go through first because they knew about the delay way early. The immigration slips were not even supplied during flight from OR Tambo we wasted more time completing that upon arrival in Kigali. Very disappointing experience.

Route: Johannesburg to Lagos via Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "the crew was good"

Review: I liked the airline, the crew was good and the food was also good. I liked their internet it was really fast better than my office one. I recommend everyone to use Vistara - though its bit costly but its worth it.

Route: Delhi to Jammu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "not impressed with Tui"

Review: To be fair, I don't know whether this is partly an airport fault. We were booked on a flight due for take off at 2.50pm. The airport board said check in opened 12.20. We joined the queue at 12.15. Check in did not start until 12.30, and then only one desk, not two, for another few minutes. At the departure lounge, the board said gate displayed 2.15. At 2.15 we went to Gate 1, which we had been advised of by Special Assistance. I have a problem with steps so required the lift to the plane. When the flight was announced, we were taken to the lift, which has comfy seats, fortunately. We could see the other passengers queuing in the cold wind and gathering clouds. At 2.30, the fueller was still operating. The Special Assistance guy looked in the cabin through the window, tried the emergency door, but there was no response at first. We could see the cockpit crew in the plane. All I can assume is that cleaning took longer than usual. Given that the flight was supposed to take off at 2.50, the delay in boarding seems odd, but then so does fuelling, when the plane had been standing for about an hour, and the airport was anything but busy. Eventually, about 2.40, the cabin crew opened the door and we were allowed entry. The plane was beautifully clean. The cabin crew were smiley and friendly, but how those poor people with toddlers and babies, who had been standing in the cold were feeling, I have no idea. Incidentally, the stance Tui uses is quite a walk from the terminal, and only part of it is under cover. Given the inclement weather conditions in Aberdeen generally, it's unfortunate, to say the least. BA has covered airbridges from the terminal for its flights. Maybe it's a cost thing for Tui? The pilot announced something about possibly missing our slot, worst case scenario half hour wait. We either were allowed to go late or stole another flight's slot but took off fairly quickly. However, both hubby and myself noticed excessive air pressure change on take off and landing of this flight. It's not something we've noticed before. I can't say it was a different aircraft- it looked like any other Just not impressed with Tui this time around. It has always been my flight provider of choice, but I maybe need to think again.

Route: Aberdeen to Tenerife South

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "talked down to and plain disrespected"

Review: One person in our family was denied boarding at MSP because of some three-month passport rule. My kid's passport expires this Fall and we had there-back tickets that would have been used long before. The manager who apparently doesn't even work for them - just contracted - made a suggestion to leave our child at the airport and for the rest of us to go on! Upon about an hour long discussion, she told me not to worry, just call Icelandair tomorrow and get my tickets changed for another date. I called that evening and their call center closed at like 8 pm CDT. I called the next day, and was told I am out of luck, thank you for your donation basically. Again, I also bought return tickets for end of August and was told those are forfeited also. Altogether it's about 4K. Ok, I am a single parent with two children and this is a lot of money for anyone! I felt lied to by that supervisor at MSP who told me I'd be rebooked and her exact words "you won't have to fight with them". Well, it's been exactly the opposite. I keep calling, I am hung up on, I am put down, talked down to, and plain disrespected. What an awful call center! They make any budget airline or hotel chain look like luxury service. I have been flying over the Atlantic for the past 20+ years pretty regularly and this is the absolute worst. I was lied to and got fake promises, just to get rid of me. They don't sell out every flight, why not allow us to go on a different one if they have seats anyway?! I also was told, by the call center that I should have called them before the flight. Well, they closed 30 min after the plane departed and you have to wait on hold at least an hour to get thru. I was also hung up on that night when I tried. Altogether, what a joke. I thought higher of Iceland prior to this.

Route: Minneapolis to Helsinki via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "the crew was excellent"

Review: Shenzhen to Zurich. I had my leg injured and a crew member carried my hand luggage for me to settle down in the plane. It was midnight flight but the meal was served quickly so that passengers could have time to relax. Food quality was not the best, the crew was excellent. A pleasant trip, helpful crew members, professional attitude and sufficient service for a midnight flight. Food quality needs to be improved.

Route: Shenzhen to Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Cairo

Title: "was delayed 5.5 hours"

Review: The flights of Air Cairo starting from Hurghada were all delayed apart from one national flight. Our flight was marked "delayed" without any further information. Boarding started 5 min before the estimated departure. Passengers were driven to the Aircraft by bus and had to wait in the bus for 15 min. Then the bus drove back to the gate without any information and there was no staff at the gate. Passengers had to wait for almost 4 hours until boarding started again. Again no official information. The flight was redirected to Cologne instead of Dusseldorf. Therefore there a bus transfer to Dusseldorf was offered, which took a lot of time again. In total the arrival in Dusseldorf was delayed 5.5 hours and the only information we got was unofficial: A passenger said the pilot told him, the airline has failed to get a landing permission for the aircraft in Dusseldorf.

Route: Hurghada to Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "friendly, helpful cabin crew"

Review: SYD-PVG then AMS-PVG and PVG-SYD (three long-haul flights) over Feb and March. Each flight left and arrived as scheduled and was a pleasant experience with friendly, helpful cabin crew. Meal options (4) were each very tasty (especially the Asian options) and alcohol generously served throughout the flight. An assortment of self-serve snacks were available between meals. The lie-flat beds were a little tight around the feet, and the cabin a little warm for a perfect sleep on the three overnight flights but nevertheless a reasonable number of hours of Z's were achieved. If requested, the crew will leave you asleep and not wake you for meals. IFE had a reasonable selection of recent release and an assortment of foreign films. Not the greatest in the world, but OK for the average 10 hour sectors. The spoken English standard of the crew was variable, but communication overall was not a problem either in the air or at check-in.

Route: Amsterdam to Sydney via Shanghai

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "support lines are totally overwhelmed"

Review: I purchased a ticket to fly Washington-Nairobi return in business class via Toronto, Frankfurt and Zurich late June/early July 2023. All flights but the first were code shares on other reputable carriers, Lufthansa, Swiss and United. I've had excellent experiences with Air Canada in the past and really looked forward to this family trip. Just before departure, Air Canada cancelled its flight from Washington because of staff shortages. I called Air Canada and, secured a satisfactory booking via Montreal. That was almost immediately cancelled, leaving me trying to call Air Canada support till around 4am. After multiple calls and hours on hold, I was booked on a United flight to Toronto connecting with Lufthansa on to Nairobi. When I arrived at Washington Dulles, United reported that AC had only made a booking, but had not reissued my ticket as required AC staff at the airport said they were only ramp agents, they couldn't sort out the problem. I had to call Air Canada customer support. Eventually, they called AC support, waited 45 minutes on hold, and then had the needed ticket issued. I thought, foolishly, that my problems were over. Alas, AC had only reissued an outbound ticket from Toronto to Nairobi, without replacing the original round trip ticket. When I arrived in Nairobi, my return flight had disappeared from the Lufthansa system on the grounds that I was a no-show for the outbound flight, leaving me stranded in Nairobi. After an entire night and half a day trying to reach Air Canada support, AC staff finally agreed to restore my return ticket. Reaching AC took about an hour and a half on hold on each occasion, and AC dropped most of these calls after a few minutes. Only on arrival at Nairobi airport did I realize that AC had bungled my return ticket, having me depart Frankfurt for Zurich before I arrived in Zurich. Fortunately, the Lufthansa staff in Nairobi were able to sort this out on departure. I understand hat it's tough running an airline right now, resurgent demand, staff and plane shortages, forest fires etc. But the AC system demands that clients call their agents way more than should be necessary. And, at the moment, ACs customer support lines are totally overwhelmed. Having to spend whole nights trying to get through to Air Canada support to deal with repeated errors made by Air Canada staff is totally unacceptable.

Route: Baltimore to Toronto

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "low cost that gives a fair service"

Review: Durban to Johannesburg with Kulula. Nice to be honest, simple planes, old, but crew were nice and not aggressive. Flight on time, a low cost airline that gives a fair service. Fast check in. 45 minute normal flight. Plenty of space for the bags.

Route: Durban to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "nickle and dime you to the extreme"

Review: I used to love flying with United but this will be the last time I use them. I'll fly American over them! They try to nickle and dime you to the extreme, andnot family friendly at all. Customer service wasn't any better, disgusted all around.

Route: Washington to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "lost my checked bag"

Review: Terrible experience! Porter lost my checked bag on my ski trip to Whistler, B.C. Inside the checked bag was over 5000$ worth of snowboarding equipment. The airline has remained silent and has offered no reimbursement to date. Central baggage voicemail is often full and essentially impossible to reach. Customer service is a complete joke. Worst experience I have ever had. Would not recommend to anyone.

Route: Montreal to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "they were all at least 1 hour late"

Review: We took Ryanair for all of our flights within Europe. 3/4 of flights were OK except that they were all at least 1 hour late. I was OK with this and was expecting this based on their reputation. On our flight from Berlin to Venice, we were re-routed and had to land in Verona about 1.5 hours from Venice (Treviso) due to a major storm. Ryanair has no ground staff to assist people which is why they can be 'budget'. We landed late at night and 3 other Ryanair flights also landed in Verona due to the storm. There was a very nice lady employed by Verona Airport who was helping all the Ryanair customers. We were told to wait for buses arranged by Ryanair to take people from Verona to Treviso airport. People were fighting to get on the buses and we didn't understand why anyone would behave that way, considering Ryanair must surely know exactly how many buses they need to send based on how many flights/passengers had landed. Well, we were wrong. We also felt we should have been the last to go on the bus since all 3 other planes had landed before us and waited much longer. There were 40 people still left and we were told that the last bus was coming but it could fit only 16 people. Ryanair informed the airport over the phone that they would reimburse taxi fares for the remaining people. I am here to tell you that after months of back-and-forth email communication with Ryanair, they notified us that they do not need to reimburse us for a natural calamity since it's not their fault. I understand that's their policy, but I wish we were not misled to believe that the taxi cost would be reimbursed. If we had known what we know now, we could have taken a taxi as soon as we landed instead of waiting for 3 hours on the sidewalk outside of Verona airport. If you are flying with this airline, just hope that you don't end up with any special situation needing customer service, otherwise you are probably OK.

Route: Berlin to Venice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "communication is less than poor"

Review: New York to Montego Bay. Flight time was 7 am. After 9 am we were told the flight may not leave as there is a technical problem. The communication between the company and its customers is less than poor. Finally around 1130 we went from not leaving to departure soon. We dont live near the airport, we left at 1 am to make our flight. The only thing Caribbean did was hand out $12 vouchers which most establishments would not take. Steer clear, the flight was no bargain, the plane was old and dated. We tried dealing with Caribbean but would only say they dont take phone complaints.

Route: New York to Montego Bay

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "refund process also very complicated"

Review: The airline cancelled flight few hours before boarding time and than gave option after 2 days which impacted all my tourism plans. Then gave very basic support on hotel accommodation. After that refund process also very complicated, for a simple thing like spend that customer had to do for 2 days before waiting for flight

Route: Cairns to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ural Airlines

Title: "attitude is very unprofessional"

Review: I bought this tickets flight for me and my wife from Paris to Moscow. When I tried to make on-line booking on June 4th I was informed that flight was canceled. I had to make alternative arrangements and instead going directly from Paris to Moscow I had to go through Riga on a much more expensive flight which took additional 5 hours to reach Moscow. Since then I am trying to get refund for my tickets with no luck so far. After few exchanged e-mails with they stop responding and I am losing any hope that I can get reimbursement from Ural Airlines. In my opinion their attitude is very unprofessional and I would recommend everybody to avoid using their services. I know I will.

Route: Paris to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "rude and disrespectful"

Review: Brisbane to Sydney. Our first flight got canceled and My wife forgot to check in online for the other flight. We showed up at the airport 45 minutes before our plane left. They said they couldnt check us in because paperwork has been submitted and she could not alter it, as she can get a $35 fine. Service is rubbish, they dont even try and help. Very rude and disrespectful. Id rather pay $200 more per flight so I dont have to deal with such disrespectful people. Both women were rude and I ended up paying $200 more for another airliner.

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Crew service was very slow"

Review: Seat was not functional. Crew service was very slow and poor. Food quality and overall experience poor. Flight kept delayed but nobody answered over a call for 70 minutes.

Route: Amsterdam to Toronto via Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air China

Title: "Terrible experience"

Review: Rome to Sydney via Beijing. Terrible experience with the unprofessional behaviour with my child who traveled as an unaccompanied minor. After being told our child would be looked after in the Beijing airport we discovered he was made to sit in an office on an office chair for hours on end with no assistance or food. We had booked a lounge and it was not offered. The level of supervision was atrocious. He was let out with an unknown passenger who offered food and water. We will never deal with this airline again. They continue to deny any lack of duty of care towards the child.

Route: Rome to Sydney via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "poor quality offerings"

Review: Phoenix to Honolulu. In order to enjoy a trip from Paradise home, one must pass through the gates of purgatory, which is another word for Hawaiian Airlines within the Daniel Inouye airport in Honolulu. For two seniors traveling with luggage, this was an excruciating experience. The three separate (and long) lines needing to endure just in order to check baggage was senseless. The walk from the main terminal to the gate to the departure area might as well have been from downtown Waikiki, which might have been more pleasant. And then there's the food onboard. Or more precisely, the absence of anything worthwhile to consume. Fortunately we learned our lesson on the outbound flight after going hungry for about eight hours. We packed a good lunch and snacks and were then able to bypass the airline's poor quality offerings.

Route: Phoenix to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "truly grateful to you all"

Review: Just had the most wonderful service from the Wellington crew on Flight 562. we were in row 28 I left my handbag behind a staff member called Wesley allowed me off the plane so my nephew and girlfriend could bring it security and then the rest of the flight the staff were so friendly kind and considerate. I dropped a knitting needle and the hostess got down on her knees to look for it. Thank you for allowing me to get my handbag, we fly to Vancouver on Friday to our sons wedding will need that Visa Card. Excellent experience truly grateful to you all.

Route: Christchurch to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "entertainment system glitched"

Review: Maputo to New York via Johannesburg. The entertainment system glitched throughout the entire flight to JFK and the seat function controls didn't work several times throughout the 17-hour flight (for up to 15-20 minutes per glitch period). Some people were stuck in a reclined position while others were stuck upright when it was time to sleep. On the returning flight, the TV screens were hardly responsive to touch and were very frustrating to use. The seats are hard and uncomfortable, if a passenger is seated next to a window, they can't step around or over their seatmate when the latter is in a reclined position. This means they have to wake up their seatmate to go to the bathroom, etc. The seat spaces are fairly cramped. For both SAA flights, I had to store my handbag in the overhead compartment for takeoff and landing. On the flight to JFK, they ran out of eggs for breakfast. This has never happened to me before. On the return flight for lunch, they ran out of salmon. On the departing flight, the flight attendant took away my untouched serving of butter and then, when I asked for butter later, said that each passenger is allocated only 1 serving of butter. Apart from the desserts, I found the food not that much better than what's served in economy class. For most of the departing flight, there was one overworked flight attendant serving our section, which meant that the service was very slow and they were not always prompt and sometimes forgot to offer hot towels, blankets, etc. I must say that my returning flight was much better in terms of service, quality, food, etc.) The lounge in OR Tambo is okay but a little chaotic, and the food looked unappetizing. The SWISS lounge for SAA business class flyers in JFK is awful. The food was okay, but the atmosphere was cold and staff were rude and distant. In general, the business class experience was certainly not worth the price of the tickets.

Route: Maputo to New York via Johannesburg

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "the legroom was terrible"

Review: The expected hectic experience of flying international post covid for the first time was just fine. Air New Zealand ground staff were excellent and organised and the plane was on schedule. In fact they started boarding 45 minutes before takeoff and we left 15 minutes early, arriving 25 minutes early. It was my first experience on the 787 and apart from the 3x3x3 seating it didn't feel like a wide-body. It was cramped and even with my 180cm frame and a 3 hour flight, the legroom was terrible in economy, a far cry from most 747 and A380 aircraft I've flown on. In flight entertainment choices were well suited to under 40s not older passengers. Good food and beverage choices for an economy cabin. Well done to Air NZ for getting it's act back together after a terrible time - maybe worth considering better aircraft than the 787 and slightly more generous legroom.

Route: Brisbane to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Delayed for more than 2 hours"

Review: Delayed for more than 2 hours. The boarding experience was a nightmare. Delay announcement via sms and flight announcement display. My in-flight experience are the same as my previous flight - very moderate.

Route: Penang to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "advise against using Wizz Air"

Review: I am extremely dissatisfied with the service provided by Wizz Air. I had booked a flight from Ankara to Abu Dhabi, which was cancelled by Wizz Air without any prior notice or explanation just 23 hours before the scheduled departure. I had planned my trip almost two months in advance and had also purchased non-refundable tickets for connecting flights. When I contacted Wizz Air to rebook my cancelled flight and sought assistance with my other airline tickets, I was informed that they would not take any responsibility for my other tickets. Furthermore, they could not provide any assurance regarding the possibility of my connecting flights being cancelled or not. As a result, I had to reschedule all my other tickets and incurred additional expenses for hotel accommodations due to the cancelled flight. I strongly advise against using Wizz Air and do not recommend their services at all.

Route: Ankara to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "refused compensation"

Review: Jakarta to Singapore. Damaged baggage and refused compensation. My baggage is a backpack that I've purchased in USA sometime 12 months ago, which I do not have a receipt and was paid for in cash. But I found a same design but in a different material, that is what I used as proof to claim for the amount of my backpack, but Jetstar insist on every emails, that they have to follow protocol and refused to even understand the situation. I know there are certain protocols to follow, but my case isn't something that can be resolved if to follow strictly to protocol of having a quotation from a luggage repairer and officially on a letter head, or receipt or credit card statement, which I've none to provide. Jetstar is making it very difficult and very much trying their best to avoid any claims for damaging passenger's property. On my numerous emails asking for an clear explanation on how my backpack can be so badly damaged, when there was a FRAGILE tag with special note to take extra care hand written by ground staff? I didn't get a reply.

Route: Jakarta to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Horizon Air

Title: "my mask was not legal anymore"

Review: I was getting on flight from Seattle to Reno on February 25 and was told my Tommy copper mask was not legal anymore. I had worn it from my flight from Maui for 5.25 hours and on Horizon it is illegal. I asked when the rules changed? They said it is illegal to wear that covering. I told her I had not heard that and just come back from Maui and wore it to and back and never was told it is illegal now. She got smart with me and told me to change to another mask and I told her as soon as I set down I would change it. She was not even respectful to me and about 4 other passengers that were told same thing? I asked for her info on the change and she really wasnt happy about me asking for that! I changed to another mask because I respected her job! airline! Thanks

Route: Seattle to Reno

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "insisted on charging me $72"

Review: This is the worst airline I've flown overseas. My bag fit in the carry on size checker and they still insisted on charging me $72 to take it as carry on. When I asked for them to print my boarding pass the woman threatened to call the police.

Route: Oslo to New York JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "very courteous, polite and helpful"

Review: We flew ANA flight NH 12 from Tokyo Narita (NRT) to Chicago O'Hare (ORD) on January 13th 2021 as part of trip home to Houston after a SE Asia Family trip. We connected to NH 12 from another ANA flight so after passing security we go directly to our boarding gate. ANA requires all passengers to keep their mask on all the time while in the airplane and while transiting except when eating or drinking. Several ANA gate attendant were making rounds checking people's documents to ensure everybody can legally enter the US. This is better than the UA process of lining everybody up in just one line and clueless on what is the requirement for entry for different countries like we experienced in SFO on our outbound trip. Boarding was announced a few minutes early. Boarding was done in groups; Business Class passengers going first then they start loading Economy from back to the front. They called by rows so there is minimum line formed at the gate, and people can social distancing while lining up. The aircraft was a 14 years old B777-300ER (JA875A) but still in good condition. The flight was quite full but boarding was done quickly. Even with the announcements on cleanings already done on the aircraft cabin, we used Clorox wipes to clean tray tables, seatbelts, armrest and screen when we got to our seat. The seat has fixed back and pivots on the upper section and slides the seat cushion forward for reclining, so there is no risk of person in front of you reclining and intruding into your space. There is footrest under the seat in front of you. Entertainment was OK but for an 11 hour trip like this more choice of movies and TV programs will be appreciated. We used our 3.5" jack wireless transmitter and bluetooth earphones to avoid cable tangles from the provided earphones. The FAs on this flight were relatively younger than the other ANA flights we flew last few times. They are very courteous, polite and helpful, and they are cheerful when they were doing their job and their positive attitude helps passengers to relax. Rice crackers and wet towelettes were handed out with the first drink service. Afterwards we were served dinner along with another drink cart service. Dinner was either beef sukiyaki or braised seafood. I opted for sukiyaki and it was really good. Later breakfast was served and the choices are salmon flake omelette or pancakes. I chose pancakes and the pancake was good, infused with lots of syrup along with a chicken sausage. Before we land we got a tomato cheese bread snack. we were properly fed during the trip compared to American airliners. In between meals the FAs going around offering water bottles or snacks every couple hours or so. They also set up a snack and drink basket that we can help ourselves at the back galley. There were two teams of FAs and I can see them all working hard and all were very cheerful and helpful to the passengers. They were all so good that I decided to give them a box of chocolate I got from Narita during our transit. They initially refused saying this is too much for them but I told them they deserve it for their good service and to share with the other Team, and they finally obliged. We had to wait for late transferring passengers so we were around 15 minutes behind schedule, but we caught up along the way and arrived at 1.13 pm, 37 minutes early to Chicago O'Hare's Terminal 5. Deplaning was done very orderly, they called by the rows to deplane so there is no line waiting to get off the plane.

Route: Tokyo Narita (NRT) to Chicago O'Hare (ORD)

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Tahiti Nui

Title: "experience not to be renewed"

Review: We booked Air New Zealand London to Papeete via Los Angeles. Flights from Los Angeles to Papeete are operated by Air Tahiti Nui. What surprised us that we were asked to check in at Papeete the proof of our flights Los Angeles to London while the flight was made in code-share with Air New Zealand. No online check in was possible, no seats were available by calling 72 hours before, but by miracle they were available at check in after getting the check in manager to assist. We kept our original seats. There is a limit to stupid systems. In short, an experience not to be renewed on Air Tahiti Nui. If this airline did not have the exclusivity on Papeete they would have disappeared a long time ago.

Nous avons fait une réservation Air New Zealand Londres Papeete via Los Angeles. Les vols Los Angeles Papeete étant effectué par votre compagnie. Quelle ne fut pas notre surprise qu'on nous demande à l'enregistrement à Papeete la preuve de nos vols Los Angeles Londres alors que le vol était effectué en code-share avec Air New Zealand Pas d'enregistrement en ligne possible, pas de places disponibles hublot en appelant 72 heures avant mais par miracle il y en avait de disponible au check in après avoir fait venir la responsable du check in. Nous avons gardé nos places d'origine. Il y a une limite à la bêtise. Bref une expérience à ne pas renouveler sur Air Tahiti Nui. Si vous n'aviez pas l'exclusivité sur Papeete vous auriez disparu depuis bien longtemps.

Route: Papeete to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "A truly bad experience"

Review: Prague to Amsterdam. Forced to check a carry on bag at the gate, pay 45 Euro and then they lost my bag. To make matters worse I was connecting on a different airline to Toronto and then Vancouver. So I had to exit the secured area and pass security a second time. Rude, impatient, dismissive. A truly bad experience from start to finish. I will never fly with them again.

Route: Prague to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "They were so friendly helpful"

Review: I flew on Thai airways and this is my first time with them for 6 years or longer ! We normally fly on Eva as its a world class 5 star airline thought Thai used to be my favourite. So we flew on the Boeing 777-300er and came back on the Boeing 777-300er which was older and dated tvs and cabin unlike the amazing (77y) with a luxurious cabin new interior and modern tv screens on seat back. Though my experience was fantastic. The crew are the best Ive flew on. They were so friendly helpful they even got me a window seat even though I thought there was none available. The cabin was clean comfortable. I was so happy with the seats the food and the entertainment.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "the worst business class seat"

Review: Chengdu to Singapore. Absolutely the worst business class seat I have experienced. The width of the 2x2 first 3 rows is acceptable, but the legroom is absolutely appalling - less even than I would expect in a normal premium economy seat. Plus limited recline, circa 30 degrees from vertical, upon which when the person in the seat in front of you is reclined you have even less space to maneuver in and out and are pretty much forced to recline yourself to retain a semblance of spacing. Added to which the seat controls for recline, footrest, lumbar massage are really stiff mechanical levers. For a brand new plane absolutely abysmal! There is no in flight entertainment in the seat backs. In business one is issued with an iPad which can stream movies etc. through the Silk Air WiFi. This does not support Internet connectivity, only the IFE. If you want to use your own device you need to have previously installed the Silk Air app from the app store - something nobody tells you before you board. In the cramped seat space there is very little place to put the iPad, even on the little plastic prop available on request, so one ends up holding it whilst also trying to juggle a meal or whatever. No noise cancelling headphones, just cheap in-ear buds, so I plugged my own noise cancellers in to the iPad. No capability to connect via Bluetooth of course. I found it impossible to doze on the 4.5 hours midnight flight so tried to pass the time with the limited selection of English language films on the iPad. Literally the only redeeming feature of the whole miserable experience was the cabin crew who try their best to give high quality and attentive service. I feel sorry for them having to pretend that they represent a proper business class operation, which this manifestly is not.

Route: Chengdu to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "if you can avoid American"

Review: Check-in was smooth. Staff nice for the most part. Seats are uncomfortable. All flights have been delayed, or cancelled. Flying back to Manchester (NH) flight was delayed and weren't able to fly back until 3 days later, staff did not handle, and we were yelled at. We decided to fly JetBlue to Boston the next day and rent a car to drive to Manchester. We didn't get a refund, or money, or credits, for staying at the airport hotel overnight, the JetBlue flight or the rental car. If you can avoid American.

Route: MHT to PHL via DCA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "no customer service"

Review: Port Vila to Suva via Nadi. Last year, great. This year, completely unreliable, misleading and no customer service. I was off loaded at the airport because the passengers that had checked-in before me had excess baggage and the plane was overweight. They preferred to off load passengers rather than the excess baggage. Months later I tried going again, and I got to my destination but then my return flight was cancelled. I was booked onto the next flight (3 days later) but missed my connecting international flight. Got stuck in Suva for an extra 2 days and was then given the wrong re-booked return flight details (in writing) and missed my unknowingly booked flight, and was then re-booked again on a non-direct flight. No compensation for the additional accommodation expenses was offered when requested. The customer service team then issued me a credit for my flight, but when I tried to use the credit I was then told I didn't have a credit. This was after days of correspondence confirming the contrary - and only written correspondence because their customer service phone number didn't work. My next trip has been cancelled consequently but not in sufficient time to have my accommodation bookings cancelled without charge. All I got from Fiji Airways was a 'sorry, there was a misunderstanding' with no further offer of assistance or attempt to rectify the situation. The 'Manager of Customer Service' was unavailable to make any further complaints to. In flight - the flight attendants are great but the food is a disgrace.

Route: Port Vila to Suva via Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Flynas

Title: "very poor customer service"

Review: My flight Jeddah to Riyadh departure time is 17:00, we reached the airport 1.5hrs earlier with our online boarding ready and been told that it is canceled. For no valid reason they put us on the flight at 19:00. We received a msg only 10 min before boarding that we should contact them, and still showing in airport screen (on time) And the new time was also delayed until 20:00 with Zero respect to passengers time and very poor customer service by staff in land.

Route: Jeddah to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "not worth the savings"

Review: Avoid this airline. It is not worth the "savings" because they will make it back off of you by scamming you out of money with a huge amount of hidden costs. How do you ask? Well first, you must check in online or you will be charged $25 per person to check in at the airport. Their website does not allow you to check in online. We tried to pay for seats ahead of time at a cost of $17 per person. Again the website did not allow us to check in and pay for seats at the same time. We were able to check in online but the system assigned us seats at the opposite sides of the plane. We were unable to select seats online after checking in on their terrible website (option to do so was literally grayed out). We called the Flair call centre to choose seats and they tried to charge us a service fee of $35 per person plus $25 per person to choose a seat ahead of time because we were not selecting seats online. Despite informing the customer service agent that the website would not allow us to change seats, he refused to waive the fee. One "personal item" is free to bring on the plane but a "carry on" is ~$75. A personal item is about the size of a laptop. The service on the plane is terrible. They will try to sell you any sort of refreshments and when you ask for water they will give you a water bottle and tell you it costs $4. You have to ask for a cup of water and good luck getting a refill. The seats on the plane do not recline at all and there is no seat pocket to store your phone or wallet. There are no charging points on the plane so good luck trying to get work done. You need to use their app for onboard entertainment and the selection is terrible so you are left twiddling your thumbs and staring at the seat in front of you questioning why you spent money with this terrible airline, allowing them to continue to spread their misery to other people.

Route: Montreal to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "I had the worst experience of my life"

Review: I flew business class with Polish Airlines for the first time and I had the worst experience of my life, paid $2700 for one of the worst airlines. Their seats were torn. Stewards were rude and the food was very standard! I was drinking Irish cream liquor and after two drinks when I asked for the third one they said they dont have it anymore. While I was just having my desserts they switched of the cabin lights for everyone and the passenger next to me too couldnt even finish her dinner.

Route: Zagreb to Chicago

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "other flight wouldnt wait"

Review: Santorini to Istanbul via Athens. Santorini flight to Athens delayed 2 hrs. The other flight in transit from Athens to Istanbul same airline (Olympic / aegean) wouldnt wait although only around 30 mins behind schedule. In result, they gave us another flight 9 hrs later from Athens to Istanbul. And as a result, we couldnt able to catch our third flight from Istanbul to ASR. We had to deal with the flight to ASR ourselves with Turkish airline. They cannot able to help although they are partners. We had to get the flight on the next day to ASR from Istanbul. All the things planned and hotel are ruined.

Route: Santorini to Istanbul via Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "A-list priority is a joke"

Review: Not on time. Delayed due to overlapping flights and passengers trying to make it from far gates. Genuinely just sick of Southwest in overall preference. Their reward program is not worth a grain of salt. A-list priority is a joke, you share the same seating as those that have no interest or desire due to few times flying or something similar. Luggage cabin space is all you receive if you can't complete the requirements of spending goals or flying frequently. There is no such thing as "first class" treatment, even the companion pass is whatever.

Route: Cleveland OH to Baltimore MD via Albany NY

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "delay due to operational reasons"

Review: Heraklion to Rhodes. Keep Away. Announced for 6:30 boarding time and finally we got a delay announce that due to "operational reasons" we will have a delay in further news after about an hour. When we first travelled to Kreta with this airline, our chairs were dirty.

Route: Heraklion to Rhodes

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Citilink

Title: "The flight was quite good"

Review: The flight was quite good, the friendliness of the ground and air staff was very good. Quite satisfied with the flight this time. Thank you Top Choice for domestic options. Penerbangan yang cukup baik, keramahan Staff darat dan Udara sangat baik. Cukup Puas dengan penerbangan kali ini. Terima kasih. Pilihan Utama untuk pilihan domestik.

Route: Medan to Denpasar Bali via Bandung

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "All Covid measures applied"

Review: Chios to Athens. Nice flight. Economical ticket. All Covid measures applied. Friendly staff. Gave us a treat. Professionalism. Arrived earlier than scheduled. Punctual and always with a smile. Will certainly fly with Olympic Air again.

Route: Chios to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "Business class is total fraud"

Review: Business class is total fraud! Twice the price. Total waste of money! 1) No priority check in in Lanzarote. Despite 3 million tourists a year coming through the airport in Lanzarote, they don't have online check in. But 50m queues, 2 hours before check in like it was some developing country in 1984. When check in opens, they briefly check in business class, then allow economy passengers to move to the business queue, which is then always blocked. No staff checks if you have business ticket or not. So unless you are 2 hours before check-in, there is no priority check in. This time there was an Edelweiss person, but he didn't do much good, compared to the other times where it was just 'I don't give a damn' Swissport personal. Waste of money. 2) There is no priority security. 3) There is no priority boarding. A lady shouted faintly 'business' once, waited for 20 seconds, then started boarding all other passengers. Didn't matter since we all ended up in the same overheated bus anyway! So actually, if you go early during this 20 seconds window of priority boarding, you end up waiting longer than economy. 4) The food is just some microwaved slime. 5) The seats are exactly the same as economy class on this flight. Yes there was a seat free in between, but how is that more comfortable if the seat itself is small and short leg room. 6) The carpet was dirty, the seats old and ripped. Never again will I book business class with Edelweiss. A total rip off.

Route: Lanzarote to Zurich

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: Kuwait Airways customer review

Review: Kuwait to Istanbul. The best experience, it was in time and the trip progressed smoothly. They have the best leg room, the food service was abundant. The crew were helpful and accommodating to passenger requests.

Route: Kuwait to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "I don't recommend at all"

Review: Melbourne to Sydney. The company cancelled the flight to hours prior departure and hasn't been able to book me on the next flight so they suggest me a flight the day after. Zero customer service ! The hostess was not patient at all and not comprehensive. I had to book a flight with another company to be on time in Sydney which cost me the double of the initial price. I don't recommend at all.

Route: Melbourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "KLM never again"

Review: Our flight from Montreal to London was late. At Heathrow airport, despite rushing to make our KLM connection out of terminal 4, when we got to the counter, baggage drop was closed so we missed our flight. We asked the agent where we could buy another ticket, she points to a poster and says: Call that number. Not, let me help you or let's see if there is room on later flights. No! Just call that number. We asked her where was the KLM customer service counter so we could speak with a real person. She said that KLM had cut that service because they were cutting costs. She seemed very displeased by that. And made it clear that missing our flight was not to be her problem. After 80 min. on our cell phone ($190.00 charge!), we manage to buy 2 tickets ($$$). We waited 10 hours at the airport for the flight. The flight itself was good. But customer service was non existent!!! KLM never again.

Route: London to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "Terrible customer service"

Review: Sydney to Tokyo via Hong Kong. Terrible customer service. Changed my flight to an unacceptable flight with many hours of stopover requiring me to pay for accomodation and miss 2 days of my trip. Refused to offer any help in organising a more appropriate flight.

Route: Sydney to Tokyo via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "experienced this scam"

Review: Iasi to Paris. Please pay attention when booking online from their website! They add 10 euro (on average) at the price of the ticket that was initially displayed when you first searched for it in case you don't book it right away. This happens even if you search twice for the same flight in the same day. I think it is the 10th time when this happens to me, so I am sure there is no accident. I was receiving several errors when trying to make my online pay and after refreshing the page, the total amount to pay was 30 euro higher although I haven't modified anything, I didn't add any extra service etc. I encourage everyone who has experienced this scam to write a negative post and hopefully, they will stop. But this kind of practices show me that they are not a respectable company.

Route: Iasi to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "Such a rubbish airline"

Review: Beijing to Xiamen. Such a rubbish airline, first they cancelled my flight without offering compensation. Then I tried to reason with their agency, they said they recommend I asked for a full refund. Is that a joke? I was at the airport and they wanted me to refund. I then insisted that I change to the other flight, which was scheduled to depart at 20:05 but we waited more than 5 hours due to air traffic control. Can't really trust the airline, especially you're dealing with state-owned airlines, and they don't obey by rules set out by international standard.

Route: Beijing to Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "Service is terrible"

Review: Jakarta to Denpasar. Service is terrible. Flight was late for 2 hours. But we were informed about delay 15 minutes before the scheduled departure. Airport staff was just laughing when I tried to get any info about the flight. They didn't understand English. Very terrible company.

Route: Jakarta to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: Sofia to Prague. Worst airline ever. Even worse than Wizz or Ryanair. Been redirected 3 times to different check in counters, made to queue up again each time. No apologies from arrogant and rude staff. Will never fly with them again. Worst service and attitudes. Why even bother running a company with such service level?

Route: Sofia to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Their service is terrible"

Review: Do NOT take this airline. They are fraud. They charge you exuberant price for any size luggage. Their service is terrible and their employees are rude. Their aircraft are in bad shape.

Route: Mexico City to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "old planes, no entertainment"

Review: Had selected hindu veg meals on booking directly on thai smile website but never provided, upon talking to Flight Attendant, they said sorry it doesnt show up at my end. I had someone overlook the selection when booking. Overall flight was average, old planes, no entertainment, uncomfortable seats. Leg space was okay so that is plus. Check in counters were minimal so took longer in flight but staff was friendly there. Thai smile website didnt have good english translation and technical issues, for example, even if selected meals as Hindu Vegetarian for both passengers, it never was assigned to me. Upon talking to flight attendants no help was offered and was not able to eat both ways.

Route: Ahmedabad to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Level

Title: "without free food or water"

Review: I am a seasoned traveler and have never crossed the Atlantic without free food or water being offered! A full plane from Boston to Barcelona and not a sip of water offered. When a passenger in front of me asked why he had not been offered a beverage the flight attendant told him he must have been asleep. I was awake and they moved right past me too. The worst cabin service ever! Never fly this airline again.

Route: Boston to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "It's a nightmare"

Review: This airline has the worst customer service. They are not well trained to provide information, the airline work ethic is just the worst because they don't care about their customers. Flights get cancelled all the time and they do not inform the clients forcing us to stay at the airport countless hours. They don't provide hotel vouchers for families with small children. Their policies are money oriented where clients don't get reimbursed or credited for cancellations due to weather conditions. I don't understand why are they allowed to operate in the United States. DO NOT use this airline. It's a nightmare!

Route: Tijuana to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LIAT

Title: "no one explained the delay"

Review: LIAT flight was scheduled to leave St. Thomas at 1430 and arrive in Saint Martin at 1515, but the plane was still on the ground two airports behind schedule. TSA would not allow us into the waiting area so we found another lounge. We finally left St. Thomas at 1800, 3.5 hours late, and no one explained the reason for the delay. The crew normally ends work at 1800 but had 3 more landings to make.

Route: STT to SXM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "I think its time to up the ante"

Review: The whole process from start to finish was a nightmare. 1) First of all I thought I had Pre-booked my seats for this flight and wanted to confirm with Air Canada. I tried to call in to Air Canada and after 2 hours of waiting on hold I gave up. 2) 24 hours later I was able to book my seats and found I was sitting in a middle seat on the 27th row. I always want to sit close to the front and sit in an aisle. I was very upset and could not change it. 3) Getting to the airport they would not accept my pre registered booking as my husbands middle name was put backwards (first and last name was correct.) We tried to register on the machines but it would not issue a ticket for my husband. We had to wait over 1 hour in a line up to get our ticket. 4) From there we had to run through security and terminals to get there just in time to board. 5) We finally got onto a cramped Rouge plane filled with crying children all around us. So cramped you could hardly get through the passage. In truth I felt like a cattle of animals. There was barely room for your legs. Food and drinks were non existent until the last 40 min of the flight. This was truly one of the worst trips I have taken. WestJet in my opinion offers better service, leg rooom and comforts. I think its time to up the ante. I fly approx 12-14 times a year and this honestly was one of the worst flights I ever had.

Route: Florida to Palm Beach via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "tickets are burned and there is no refund"

Review: Got to check in when it was still open. Tickets were bought with Turkish Residency card and were not matching with the HED code. For 20 mins staff were rejecting any try to fix the issue as we had a valid HES codes for each passenger. Because the system didn't recognise it they didn't allow us to go on board and I was left with two kids in airport. Immediately checked with management they said your tickets are burned and there is no refund, when the plane still didn't take off. Later the staff advised actually you supposed to link your HES code in a different way, after the flight is gone. This is unacceptable. Rude staff have us so much of stress and caused us money loss.

Route: Antalya to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "The food is inedible"

Review: Flew Paris to Tel Aviv. Check in located at the poorest part of CDG at 2A far from the gates and security. King David lounge is no more than poor, embarrassing, old and spartanice. The food is inedible. The 737-900 configuration is 2x2 with full business service but do not expect a full bed like in the 787 or 777 that El Al operate. The Air crew were very good as usual thats the best part of El Al, although issues with hand luggage - the aircraft was full and ground team were very soft - this causes 30 min delays as they had to take down lots of luggage from the cabin.

Route: Paris CDG to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: ViaAir

Title: "initial 4 hour delay"

Review: Austin to Oklahoma City. Writing this review from the car of one of my fellow Via passengers as were currently driving to Oklahoma City from Austin (6 hours) because after the initial 4 hour delay, the plane arrived and had a door malfunction that was a minimum delay of 2 more hours with no assurance that they wouldnt have to cancel the flight. So we decided that there was a greater chance of making it to Oklahoma City if we just drove instead. Hopefully theyll refund our money. Too bad they wont reimburse my lift.

Route: Austin to Oklahoma City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "cancelled and no alternative flight available"

Review: I had booked a flight from New Delhi to Shirdi travel date 17-June-23 and had accordingly booked my hotel and other itineraries. The booking was done way in advance to make sure everything is in order. Now 2 days back I received an SMS from SpiceJet that the flight has been cancelled and there is no alternative flight available. I spoke to SpiceJet agent and requested them to arrange a flight for me on another carrier which is Indigo on which I was told that I need to write to higher authorities. This is plainly making a fool out of the customer as now the only direct flight which is available is Indigo and is more than double the price I paid for SpiceJet flight booked in advance. SpiceJet always does this with their customers. If they are unable to operate they should shut down operations but shouldnt cheat the customers. I had to pay INR 12000 extra for the alternate flight to reach Shirdi.

Route: New Delhi to Shirdi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "I was impressed with everything"

Review: I was impressed with everything about my flight. Premium seat was spacious and comfortable and with the cabin half empty there was plenty of room to spread out. Meals were excellent quality for airline food. Got plenty of sleep. Very happy.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "Never trust these guys"

Review: Perth to Amsterdam via Jakarta. Didn't even get to fly with them as they cancelled our entire flight plan. We had booked Perth to Amsterdam business return for our family. We had booked all accommodation and car rental to be told that the flights had changed to an 8hr Jakarta and 8hr Sumatra layover totalling a 44hr trip. So we've obviously had to cancel and quickly find an alternative airline 8 weeks out. As you can imagine now rates are through the roof and economy is 75% of what we could have paid for business had we gone a more reputable airline when we originally booked. Never trust these guys

Route: Perth to Amsterdam via Jakarta

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "go with a company with better reviews"

Review: I tried for 24 hours to check in but their website would not recognize my booking code. I contacted my agency, they confirmed the code was correct and said I would have to check in at the airport. My flight was at 5:55 am leaving Mexico city which is a confusing airport to begin with and I was only able to arrive at the proper terminal just after 5 which is not Copa's fault however the people at the desk would not let me check in saying the gate was closed an hr before the flight left however I can't help but think I could have still made it. I asked what I should then do and they gave me a number with the quietest assistant I've ever heard on the other end who was unable to offer anything close to help. I went back to the desk to find it empty. every other airline desk was staffed except for Copa for a full hour and a half while myself and other people waited for help. I eventually had to buy 2 new tickets as I was going to miss my connector as well, and after buying them, I attempted to check in for them right away. after waiting inline for another 45 min after the staff finally came back, I was turned away as they said they would not check in other flights until after they had finished booking the current one and to come back in an hr and a half. I did and they had issues printing my boarding pass, then a supervisor was required who was half an hour late. finally after another 20 min I had a boarding pass with no seat registered. I inquired and they said they had overbooked the flight and that there was no guarantee of a seat which would again mean I would miss my connector and have to buy a 5th ticket from them. eventually I did get a seat on that flight however I will go out of my way to not fly with Copa again. Their web site not recognizing a valid reservation code, the non-existent phone help, the 1 1/2 hour pause with no staff at the desk, the complete lack of any attempt to make any of the situation easier, the complete lack of any sense of urgency, and the possibility of missing a connector because of their ineptitude was astonishing. If you're planning a relatively complicated trip, I would go with a company with better reviews.

Route: Mexico City to Guayaquil via Panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "No frills, but friendly"

Review: No frills, but friendly, and on time. Layover in Reykjavik is easy and has great services. Flying out of Newburgh is much more relaxed than other airports in New York. The downside of the Newburgh airport is that there are a few good options for food, so pack a sandwich. Plan to fly with Play again.

Route: Paris to Newburgh via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "not first class attention at all"

Review: Flew Louisville to Los Angeles via Dallas Fort-Worth with American Eagle. I was in first class and didn't see any difference. It was an early morning flight and it was cold. They didn't have any blankets. The same food was offered as in the other sections. It was not first class attention at all.

Route: Louisville to Los Angeles via Dallas Fort-Worth

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "Worst company ever"

Review: Worst company ever. For flight with 4.15h 1 small glass of plastic tasting water. I asked if I can buy something, no, not an option. Very rude crew. Haven't seen in my life so bad attitude and they lost my bag with all my necessary things.

Route: Amsterdam to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "miss our connection to Miami"

Review: I was Traveling to Egypt from Miami via Frankfurt. My flight from Miami to Frankfurt delayed by one hour but once I was at the terminal I ended up waiting another hour on top of the delay making it two hours delayed. In Frankfurt my flight was once again delayed although only half an hour. On the way back our flight Cairo to Frankfurt was delayed by 12 hours which caused us to miss our connection to Miami - after an hour on the phone with Lufthansa we figure out we are getting back to Miami with a flight the day after. In Frankfurt the next day for the last flight going from Frankfurt to Miami the gate changes to 30 gates away from the original. Once getting to the new gate and waiting for 30 minutes an announcement saying that the boarding process would not begin for another half hour after it was scheduled.

Route: Miami to Cairo via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "exceeding the baggage allowance"

Review: Oslo to Berlin. Some people were made to pay 75 EUR for exceeding the baggage allowance which includes duty free items. Incredibly rude and aggressive to me - told to either pay, leave the bag or be denied boarding. You lost me as a customer.

Route: Oslo to Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "suggest to review your systems"

Review: The flight was scheduled to depart at 1.50 PM and it actually departed after 2 hours 50 minutes i.e. at 4.40 PM. It landed at Manila at 5.50 PM but we were stuck on tarmac on the pretext of lightning alert when other flights were commuting. We finally got down after 35 mins waiting in the plane. After that we had to wait for luggage which was announced at Belt No.4 but arrived at belt no.5. No assistance from staff. No clarity on issues. Everything being done at very slow pace. Would suggest to review your systems. Fortunately I didn't book connecting flight to India on the same day, otherwise would have missed the same.

Route: Puerto Princesa to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "our luggage was lost"

Review: Upon arrival to Cayo Largo, our luggage was lost after a direct flight from Toronto to Cayo Largo. A fiasco was about to start, nobody could help us locate our luggage, nobody knew how to contact Toronto to see if our luggage was sent on the plane, nobody understood what we were trying to ask. After the Cubana Hola Sun representative finally understood that we did not receive our luggage, and had an airport rep scribble on a piece of paper of apparently what seemed to be a lost luggage report. The Hola Sun rep insisted we get on a bus to our hotel, when we wanted to receive answers before leaving the airport on the status of where our luggage was located and how we can have access to it. Nobody wanted to make a call to Toronto. They indicated the only flight from Toronto to Cayo Largo was the 5th of August, the day we were leaving Cayo Largo, and we had no other options in regards to receiving our luggage. We left the airport after the Hola Sun rep told us she would take care of this. The next morning at our group meeting with the same Hola Sun Cubana rep, she did not recognize us and did not know we had lost our luggage. She scribbled beside our room number lost luggage. She told us again that she had no way of contacting Toronto to see where our luggage was and that she had no control in this matter. The following day we approached the rep yet again about our lost luggage and that we had nothing for the entire week in the deserted island of Cayo Largo, she said we should contact the Cubana rep at the Cayo Largo that only works after 1PM. She again did not want to call Toronto Cubana Airline for us to see if the luggage was there or not. The next day, she had no idea who we were and said she did not deal with lost luggage. Finally, day 4 of our trip, still no baggage, no sunscreen, no clothes, no snorkelling kits, no shoes, a new rep comes on duty and immediately takes charge and types a Microsoft Word document stating we lost our luggage and signs it, still no report sent to YYZ stating they lost our luggage. She then tells us she spoke to the Cayo Largo Airport rep of Cubana that will send our luggage to Cayo Largo tomorrow via Varadero. The next morning, we prepare to be ready for the arrival of the 6.45AM plane from Varadero, to finally receive our luggage. Nothing, nobody knows, no claims about lost luggage, no reports, no file #. Day 6, we go see the rep again, who states your luggage could have never sent because YYZ Cubana is on strike, sorry. Day 7, finally we leave this fiasco, on route to YYZ to see about where could our luggage be. We arrive in YYZ at 1AM, no reports about lost luggage, nobody at Baggage Claim knows what we are talking about, Cubana. He brings us into a closet, hundreds of lost luggage unorganized piled on top of each other, a dozen of strollers, bugs, humidity smell, and he says to check in there by ourselves. Desperate, we search through the piled on top of each other, nothing. The Baggage Claim in YYZ tells us to call in the morning, nobody knows and there's no claim report in their system and they refuse to file an official report for us in the system, stating only this one person can do the actual report. 2AM we drive 5 hours home hoping maybe the luggage was sent home during our time away. Nothing. 5 days of phone calls, we find the luggage.

Route: Toronto to Cayo Largo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "They lost our luggage in Belgrade"

Review: Worst airline ever! They lost our luggage in Belgrade and it is impossible to reach anybody. We called 20 different numbers all day and no one ever picks up the phone. We knew someone in Belgrade who went to the airport and even that was useless. Nobody had a clue, and nobody cared. Everybody was rude and aggressive. It is complete chaos, this company is going down the drain. Avoid them at all cost. Avoid also Belgrade airport as a stop over, the ground operations are totally disorganised.

Route: Oslo to Tivat via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "better leg room than some"

Review: I was concerned when I read so many poor reviews but if anything it prepared me for the worst which did not happen. Flight was on time. Check in a breeze. Plane was spotless and better leg room than some airlines. I never expect fine dining on planes so I prepare by bringing some snacks. In saying that - the food was fine. And they refilled your wine or beer free. I also downloaded some movies on my iPad so we had our own entertainment - perfect. Coming back the flight was delayed an hour due to an issue with the incoming Toronto flight so you cant do anything about that. They contacted me on my phone to advise me if the delay. All n all a very good flight!

Route: Toronto to Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "nothing wrong with economy"

Review: Manchester to Punta Cana. We have flown Thomson on numerous occasions and never really had any complaints. This was our first time on the Boeing 787 and we decided we would give economy a try. Whilst the seats are slightly bigger I wasn't fond of the 3x3x3 formation. We like the Boeing 787 and have booked both Jamaica and Mexico for 2018. That said we have booked premium for both. Personally the upgrade and what comes with is worth the additional cost. That said there is nothing wrong with economy. The staff were kind and polite. I'm not a fan of food served on planes at that's the same for premium. I wouldn't mark the airline down on that though as I am not a fan of the meals served on BA or Virgin either. I would recommend Thomson.

Route: Manchester to Punta Cana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Openskies

Title: "the seat is terrible"

Review: I was so looking forward to this Openskies flight from Paris Orly to New York, it sounded sexy on paper. Sorry to say, I was disappointed. The seat is terrible! It has absolutely no storage space so you dont know where to put your items. Your glass of wine, your water bottle are put on this flimsy little stand which I kept knocking. I had my laptop on the ground, for there was no where else to put it, and I was always scared I was going to knock my wine and spill it all over the laptop. Plus this BA forward - backward seating, personally, I find very annoying. The person by the window has to step over your foot rest in order to get to the aisle. Very odd. The seats are old, narrow and rundown. And the Boeing 757-200 is even older! When is the last time you saw the console for lights, air and flight attendants on the ceiling above you? Instead of a built-in IFE you get an iPad, which is not necessarily a bad idea, however, there were maybe only 20 movies to watch. The one redeeming factor was the food and wine. The wine was superb and the food was very good as well. Unfortunately, will not be choosing Openskies anytime soon. It is an outdated and very unsexy product,

Route: ORY to JFK

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "they could not be bothered, we do not give refunds was their response"

Review: Booked to go from Auckland to Peru and then back again. Half way through our holiday they cancelled our flight home. Had to spend two days of the holiday trying to sort out flights home. They gave us one option - leave three weeks later going via Brazil. When we complained they then gave us another option to go via Los Angeles on the day we were supposed to leave but then left us to sort out our ESTA visas to go through USA. I had to ring the UK to get my UK passport number as I was travelling on my NZ passport so that was more cost to me. We had paid for extra leg room seats, never got that money back! So our trip home to NZ was Lima to LA, LA to Sydney Australia (on Qantas) and then Sydney to Auckland with Qantas. Our original flight from Lima to Auckland was available with Qantas their partner airline but because we had booked originally through LATAM they could not arrange us to go with Qantas, yet they could from LA and Sydney. Go figure. We then had to pay again for extra legroom seats which when we got on the plane the cabin crew knew nothing about and I had to complain and show them the payment receipt as LATAM had given us the wrong boarding passes. The cabin crew then gave the other seats in extra legroom to other passengers who had not paid! We were treated dreadfully on the LATAM flight. Was sooooo glad to board Qantas flights - we had to pay a extra for their leg room seats but once the crew had heard of our plight the Qantas crew made us feel so comfortable and brought us treats. When we got home I wrote to LATAM to tell them of our experience and they could not be bothered, we do not give refunds was their response. I got really annoyed with them and their couldn't be bothered response and informed them as as a travel and tourism teacher I would using their customer service as an example of not what to do. They are now a case study in my class and the students pretend to be useless LATAM customer service and flight crew and the students critique what was bad service and what a good airline company should do. I use the emails they send and even have a script which the students use. So one positive came out of the experience. The annoying thing is that I want to go back to South America but the thought of flying this useless crew is so off putting. Even if I book with Qantas you may end up with this bunch. My advice for anyone thinking of booking with LATAM / or forced to book with them - warn your employees you may be three weeks later back to work. Take all documentation needed to enter a variety of different countries around the world so you meet their visa requirements and also currencies of those countries so you can by a drink while waiting in the numerous airport lounges you will be forced to wait in. Or just walk home!

Route: Auckland to Peru

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Onur Air

Title: "unbelievably terrible service"

Review: I had a flight from the Berlin to Hurghada 24th January. I and my friend took the emergency exit row seats because the leg room was more generous and the whole row was free. The staff started immediately in a not polite form tell us that we have to turn off our phones even if they were already turned on the flight mode. When we asked for a glass of water they denied our request (the flight took longer than 4 and a half hours). Its unbelievably terrible service! will always try to avoid flying via this airline.

Route: Berlin to Hurghada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "best in class airline"

Review: Krabi to Bangkok. The best in class airline. As it was a 1 hour flight, we were provided with a proper meal. The leg space in economy seats was quite good. The crew was very pleasant and quick in providing a full service carrier experience in short duration of time.

Route: Krabi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "Seats felt cramped"

Review: Hanoi to Bangkok. Check in was reasonably fast and hassle-free, but the plane both left and arrived half an hour late. Seats felt cramped and the aircraft overcrowded. Crew looked tired. But it got us there.

Route: Hanoi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "Won't be flying Vueling again"

Review:

Worst ground service staff ever. Rude and unfriendly. Plus you have to join the longest line at Gatwick Ground Services for a visa check if you don't have a UK passport. I had to wait in line almost an hour just to get a boarding pass because the line was for anyone who had issues, not just for visa check. Won't be flying Vueling again. The savings in ticket fare isn't worth this horrible start to a holiday.

Route: Gatwick to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "Professional service on-board"

Review: Athens Airport was extremely busy when I arrived. Proceeded to the Aegean Airlines check-in area which was manned by helpful staff and carried out self check-in. Met by polite staff at bag drop. Queues were starting to form at some counters, the one next to me was being held up by some irritating passengers who were questioning the baggage allowance for hand luggage. The Aegean website clearly states the weight permitted as do the various signs at check-in, yet some people pay no attention to this and continue to be rude and aggressive to check-in staff who are only doing their job, politely and professionally. Boarded on time, full flight. Politely greeted at door by cabin crew. Professional service on-board. Landed early. Clear announcements from cockpit. Great flight. Recommended.

Route: Athens to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "seats with no extra leg room"

Review: After booking and paying extra charges for more leg room the seat allocation went wrong and we ended up seats with no extra leg room. This was on the outbound flight. The inflight staff was nice and polite but were unable to help. The same goes for the call center staff. This happened on the returning flight and there was no help from the people at Turkish Airlines. They either made useless promises or told us the system was down.

Route: Düsseldorf to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "no enforcement of that policy"

Review: We flew round trip to Anchorage from Minneapolis. The airline was good about telling people they need to wear a mask over their nose and mouth at the beginning of each flight, but then there was no enforcement of that policy. On our return home, there was one guy with his mask on his chin, not covering nose and mouth, that chatted with the flight attendants for a long period of time, yet he was not told to use his mask properly. Many, many others not covering nose and mouth. I appreciate that wearing masks was not previously the responsibility of flight attendants. Well, I am sorry, but it is now. All of the flight crew is responsible for the safety of the passengers, including the protection against the spread of Covid 19. I would definitely not use this airline until they carry out their responsibility to keep their passengers safe. In addition, we waited by the luggage carousel for over an hour before the luggage came.

Route: Anchorage to Minneapolis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "on board service was very simple"

Review: Kunming to Shenzhen in July 2019. The weather that day at Shenzhen was terrible for flights to land, so we were running into a delay and the departure time was not ensured even till 22:00. The China Eastern lounge in Kunming was not bad, with food options including Yunnan noodle, but the environment was not excellent, the light was very dim and the decoration was very old. I really that they prepared sandwich and bread for us because the typhoon was affecting Southern China, so many passengers were waiting at the lounge. We got on board at 22:10 and the plane pushed back at 23:00, not a bad delay at all. This flight uses a newer Boeing 737-800, featuring a PTV for business class and the legroom was 97cm comparing to 91cm in the old planes. The on board service was very simple because it's a night time flight, and the snack on board only included biscuits, fruit and drinks. Finally, we landed at Shenzhen at 00:30, just 10 mins later than the schedule, not bad. Overall, I paid $184 for this flight, I should say nothing did bad, but also not eventful.

Route: Kunming to Shenzhen

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "decided to cancel my flight"

Review: Second time i have flown with AirAsia Philippines, reason being the flight time was ideal for my connection coming in from London, it gave me 2 hours to transfer from Term 1 in Manila to Term 4. Well that's what i thought until Air Asia decided to cancel my flight and transfer me to a flight some 7 hours later with no explanation. Upon checking in no apology was given, however my blood shot did cause a stir, i explained it was a burst blood vessel which was confirmed by my doctor in the UK, the member of staff on check in, told me to wait as she needed to consult her supervisor. I was told by the supervisor i needed to see a doctor who was based at the airport, i tried to explain but he wasn't having any of it, it was either i saw the doctor or i wasn't be allowed to fly. Eventually i was seen, firstly by a nurse, who took my blood pressure & asked me a number of questions about my eye, i did inform her that i was not feeling any discomfort, no itching, no blurred visor, in-fact nothing at all. Even telling them i had flown some 7000 miles for 15 hours from London with no problem. The doctor as soon as she arrived said it was ok for me to fly if i sign an indemnity, after all that i asked why they were so interested in my eye, yet no tests / questions were ask regarding Covid, no answer. Once on board all was ok, I am not a mask wearer as this is not required at home, i know "when in roam" but within the airport & on the plane I was never asked to wear one.

Route: Manila to Davao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "Lousy customer service"

Review: Copenhagen to Vienna. Not a good experience. Lousy customer service with several changes of conditions in the time between reservation and flight, leaving the burden with the customer. I had booked a flight from Copenhagen to Vienna (with Laudamotion) and went from there on to Innsbruck (with Austrian Airlines). In the time span between buying the tickets and the actual trip the airline changed the departure time twice, so what was supposed to be an early evening flight ended up being an afternoon flight. The main problem, however, was that they suddenly changed their baggage policy, not allowing customers to bring their hand baggage onboard but requiring check-in - and, what is worse, making it necessary to collecting the cabin luggage from the carousel at the destination airport. The consequences were: 1) Many customers had not heard about the policy change, so people unaware of the new policy queued up at the gate, causing frustration, time pressure and an overall unpleasant atmosphere. 2) For people like me - with continued flights with a different airline - the new policy meant I had to run to collect my bag from the carousel (which meant leaving the transfer area and going to the exit area - which is far away), go through another security check and then run all the way back to my terminal. I was also told I would have to check in my baggage once more for the next flight. Which, btw, was the wrong information. Luckily I did not believe them - it turned out that Austrian Airlines still allowed customers to bring their cabin bags. Had I believed them, I would have spent extra time checking in my bag once more. Laudamotion's sudden change of baggage policy means that I would never have made it to my next flight - the whole procedure of collecting the baggage, checking in once more and getting back to the terminal takes A lot of time. What saved me was that Laudamotion had changed the departure time a few times - otherwise I would have missed my flight. I would not even have had a chance. I will definitely stay clear of Laudamotion in the future and can only recommend others to do the same.

Route: Copenhagen to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Easyfly

Title: "worst airline I ever knew."

Review: Pereira to Bogota. This is the worst airline I ever knew. I bought a plane ticket because I thought it was cheap and because my mum had an important appointment in Bogota that she could not miss. The plane was delayed for more than 1.30 hours in Pereira, which made my mum very stressed as she could miss the appointment (which had costed me much more than the plane ticket). I spoke to the airline over the phone and asked them for compensation, they told me that the passengers usually get offered compensation at the airport. They lied. My mum was only offered a sandwich lunch. When I asked the airline the amount of compensation I could get, they tried to avoid the question and did not give me any answers. In the end, they told me to fill in a form online, that who knows how long they will take to come back me with an answer. My recommendation is to pay a bit more, and not make the mistake that I just did, and buy plane ticket with Avianca, which is a much better airline.

Route: Pereira to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "customer service was very unprofessional"

Review: Yesterday my flight was cancelled from Orlando to Indianapolis 2 hours before flight time and the best they could do is give us a flight for the next day at 6pm with no food vouchers or hotel accommodations and the customer service was very unprofessional

Route: Orlando to Indianapolis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air KBZ

Title: "Another very good flight"

Review: Heho to Yangon. Another very good flight same ATR aircraft, no seat numbers given but all very easy boarding. Plenty of space, 2-2 seating and inflight snacks given with coffee or Tea. One member of crew not happy but not the end of the world. At 6'4" I had no problem with the seat space in fact better than many European airlines.

Route: Heho to Yangon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "avoid these guys"

Review: We booked Insel Air nonstops from Aruba to Bonaire and back. They changed the flights to stop in Curacao both ways. We actually left on time and on arrival in Bonaire they said they did not bring the luggage. It was kept for weight. Anyway they said they would deliver it in the morning or we could come back and pick it up. We said deliver not realizing it would take 8 phone calls and 8 hours to finally get it. One man we saw said it took him two days to get his. 5 employees at the check in counter but only one working. The locals say bad service is the norm for Insel Air. There planes stink and they do not care about customers at all. They tell you what is most convenient for them. We saw other passengers treated poorly. I will do whatever it takes no matter the cost to avoid these guys.

Route: AUA to BON

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "I expected more, and was thoroughly let down"

Review: I will write this review as honest, and fairly as I possibly can. By far, Air Canada Rouge is the worst airline I have flown in years. Even compared to other countries ultra budget airlines, AC Rouge sets the standard for negligence and incompetence. I will elaborate, on a beautiful October day, flight from Toronto to Calgary was originally scheduled to leave at 12.30pm ET. It left well over 2.5 hours later. The first aircraft at the gate was delayed by 30 mins due to "technical issues", which turned out to be caused by the baggage compartment doors being stuck. Only after an additional 30 minutes, did they move folks over to an adjacent gate, and different aircraft. Once the people from that flight had all disembarked, including the flight crew (which took about 20 minutes), we all waited another 30 minutes in line while some of the staff were scrambling to switch folks over, and others were standing around doing nothing or talking on their cell phones. Once everyone was on board and settled in, the Captain announced over the intercom that it would be yet another 40 minutes until catering arrived and stocked the aircraft! The seats being cramped and uncomfortable is to be expected. No points there either. Absolutely asinine. For Pete's sake this is a subsidiary of Air Canada, I expected more, and was thoroughly let down. I will avoid them in the future like the plague.

Route: Toronto to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "they became a rip off"

Review: I travel with them very often but after the 2022 COVID 19 precautions lifted, they became a rip off with usual services that they turned into Add-Ons requiring payments such as 90$ for luggage above 8kg and 20$ for a choice of own seat not mentioning the interrogation prior to flight check.

Route: Tel Aviv to Larnaca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "do not recommend Akasa Air"

Review: My first flight with Akasa Air was a nightmare. Airport staff is ignorant about flight which had already landed. Bus brought us to a flight destined for Ahmadabad and we waited for 30 minutes after we were asked to reboard the bus to reach flight for Lucknow. Airport staff need to be trained. Akasa operation vendors seems to be cheap and airline managers are careless. I do not recommend Akasa Air.

Route: Mumbai to Lucknow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "It was a nightmare"

Review: It was terrible. I have taken this airline which is YYZ to WAW (LO046). It was a night flight and I was taking window seat (J29). It was terrible flight ever to me. I was so uncomfortable and so mad while the flying. After finished meal service, almost lights in passengers area were turned off for making passengers feel comfortable to fall asleep. In the situation, I needed water and have pushed calling crew button. However, any crew didnt come and check me. It has been turned crew calling light on more than 30 minutes. (The calling crew light was bright on still.) Actually, I could see crews area from my seat. Even though passenger is calling crew, they were just talking each other and never check passengers area. That seems they just enjoy the quiet time. I know I could visit crews area and ask them to give me a cup of water. However, other passenger was sleeping on my next seat. I didnt want to wake him wake up. Therefore I was just waiting for the crew comes to me and help. After 30 minutes, this plane faced to turbulence and seat belts sign were on. Finally, crew came out from crews area. It was just for locking toilet. When the crew was going back, I said Excuse me loudly for calling her. She didnt check me, even though some passengers woke up because of my loud voice. Therefore I shout Excuse me little bit more loudly again. Then, she came to me and asked to help. I was so mad in that time. It was a nightmare.

Route: Toronto to Oslo via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Airnorth

Title: "surprised by the high quality"

Review: Darwin to Dili. An excellent flight - really surprised by the high quality. Early morning departure from Darwin led to a pretty generous breakfast - frittata, yoghurt, coffee and juice. Pretty amazing for an hour-long flight (and significantly more generous than what we received on our flight up from Melbourne on a full priced carrier). Staff were friendly, energetic and professional. Love the crocodile skin belts. A nice touch of the Northern Territory. The return leg from Dili left half an hour early. Ran out of food options early, but on an hour-long flight, you can cope.

Route: Darwin to Dili

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "Every flight has been changed"

Review: I have not taken my flight yet. It was scheduled form the summer of 2023. I had four flights with Qantas because we are touring Australia this summer. I booked a year in advance and planned every detail. Every flight with them has been changed by the airlines. One flight dropped the second leg of our trip. To make a long story short, I had to cancel every flight and book with someone else. I had to change transfers, accommodations and excursions due to limited new options. To make it worse, I am now fighting for my refunds, $1000's is now on my credit card due to the delay in refunds. This company is horrible and can not be trusted. I have spend countless hours trying to get their mess fixed.

Route: Kingscote to Cairns

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "how pleased we were with our recent flight"

Review: I feel the need to say how pleased we were with our recent flight too Antalya from Bristol on 25/2/2022. The crew going out to Antalya from Bristol was absolutely amazing. . As for disembarking from the flight the control they had by ensuring each row left the plane in order was to me amazing. Normally you are all trying to get out of your seats at the same time. The return flight from Antalya was a Wonderful experience too. I can only say it was the first time us using Jet2 but it definitely will not be our last. Well done for a first class service from a very grateful customer.

Route: Bristol to Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "Changes of this magnitude are totally unacceptable"

Review: Never again. Do not fly with Swoop, the money you save in airfare will be used up in inconvenience, lost accommodations and car rentals. They changed our flight from 8am to 9.20pm arriving in Hamilton after the rental car counter was closed. That means an extra night in Hamilton even though our hotel in Niagara on the Lake is already paid for. Changes of this magnitude are totally unacceptable and not deserving of continued loyalty. I would give them all zeros if I could.

Route: Winnipeg to Hamilton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "lack of customer service"

Review: Our 1st flight was delayed, which led us to miss our connecting flight from JFK to London. We waited in the customer service line for about an hour and a half and were told that they had no flights for three days. They were also very rude to us. They did not offer any vouchers for food or accommodations (we did ask!) We were stuck in New York City with all kinds of things planned in Scotland. We called the customer service line and they were able to get us a flight the next day back to Phoenix and then to London. It took us three days to arrive to Scotland and we experienced a lot of stress and unhappiness, with absolutely no help from American Airlines. We missed a day and 1/2 of the trip we had planned for months. We also are out about $1,000 for incurred expenses. Upon returning home, I emailed to ask how to file a grievance, which is what the employee at JFK advised me to do. I have since heard from two people with no explanation of how to do this. The only thing that they sent is a $25 trip the credit for two of us. Im completely insulted and flabbergasted by their lack of customer service and I will not be flying American Airlines again.

Route: Los Angeles to London via New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "fret over every last kilogram"

Review: Akasa is removing whatever little dignity was left in low cost air travel (despite not being so low cost). They will fret over every last kilogram in your luggage and make you transfer stuff around and between luggages just to harrass customers as it clearly serves no practical purpose. Terrible boarding and check in process! The staff is untrained, uncoordinated and clueless.

Route: Ahmedabad to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "cabin staff rather absent"

Review: Lodz to Paris CDG and Munich to Lodz with Adria Airways. Decent service for short hops, like those I took. Small and cramped cabin in a clean CRJ700. The flight LCJ-CDG was nearly empty, so I felt like being in a private jet. MUC-LCJ with 65% load factor. Check-in via internet with an option to select seats without any problem, both flights on time. Cabin staff rather absent, just served a glass of water for free. Although we were informed about possibility to connect to on-board wi-fi, I couldn't manage to do that. If you do not expect a 5-star service, Adria should be a good option for quick and not too expensive flight.

Route: LCJ to CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "not impressed at all"

Review: Gatwick to Sharm el Sheikh with Monarch Airlines. Cabin crew worked hard, but dirty plane - dirty all round the seat and chewing gum in the seat pockets. When I told the cabin crew member she offered me baby wipes - what about moving me to a clean seat, or wasn't there a clean seat available? Not impressed at all. I paid more for this ticket than I did in May to travel to Dubai with Emirates who were outstanding even in economy.

Route: LGW to SSH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Tanzania

Title: "No customer service at all"

Review: This company must be one of the worst. They cancelled my flight without any notice and it has been 3 weeks, I have tried to contact them through every channel I can (email, phone, messenger) however, they don't answer! No customer service at all.

Route: Zanzibar to Kilimanjaro

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "They lost my baggage"

Review: The flight was really uncomfortable, expensive and they do not have vegetarian food (only if you choose in advance). They lost my baggage and are not able to give me any sort of information on it, and they cannot give me information on how much I will be compensated.

Route: Mexico City to Lisbon via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "not use this airline again"

Review: Sofia to Varna. Flight was delayed now for two hours. No explanation was given. Customer service was horrible. Apparently flights have been running late for the whole summer. If I knew in advance I would have taken a bus or train. Will not use this airline again. Very bad service!

Route: Sofia to Varna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "insisted on redistributing the luggage"

Review: There were 3 passengers (including a kid of 2 years) and 3 cabin bags. Total weight of 3 bags was less than 21 kgs. It was just that one bag was 8kg and others very light. So it should not have been an issue. But airline staff insisted on redistributing the luggage among bags. I see no point in doing that.

Route: Bangalore to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "claim I was never charged"

Review: Charged me at the time of purchase for bags, now a week later they charge me another $153 and claim I was never charged, I tried to dispute it and was willing to send them proof of the charges, they weren't interested in assisting me it all.

Route: New York to San Antonio

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "flight attendants were amazing"

Review: The flight attendants were amazing. One in particular, Jessie (sorry if I spelled that incorrectly) went above and beyond. She addressed any concerns passengers had. My friend and I were concerned we wouldn't be able to eat, so she gave us some of her snacks because she didn't need them. Those who were worried about connecting flights, she assisted right away. Will definitely fly with Air Canada again.

Route: Winnipeg to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "nice seating, good service"

Review: A very nice flight with Aerolinas Argentinas from Buenos Aires Aeroparque to Santiago in a brand new aircraft. Very nice seating, good service, sandwich and cold and hot drinks served during the flight. Departure and arrival on time smooth flight. Hope to be on board again soon.

Route: AEP to SCL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "they have many hidden costs"

Review: Bali to Kuala Lumpur. This company is an absolute trap, they have many hidden costs and have zero flexibility or compassion for their customers. They may seem like the cheapest option however I have flown with them twice and both time with their costs they have turned out to be the most expensive option by far charging $24 per kilo if you want to check in additional baggage even online. I urge you to avoid this company at all costs, the worst company I have ever had the unfortunate experience of transacting with ever.

Route: Bali to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "has been a nightmare"

Review: Los Angeles to Nadi. Never book with Fiji Airways. Their gate agent in Los Angeles denied me boarding and stranded me at LAX (en route from Toronto to Auckland) and did not cancel my flight so that I could rebook using the remaining flight credit. The reason I was denied boarding was that I was unable to prove that I had onward travel from New Zealand booked before the boarding closed. She left my status as a 'no-show' despite the fact that I was at the gate. This caused me to have to book a new flight at full price for the next date. I have been dealing with Fiji Airways call centre staff for over a month trying to get a refund on only the unused portion of my ticket (Los Angeles to Auckland) and they have consistently promised to update me via email or phone call and have never followed up once. They have told me to email addresses which don't even exist anymore as my emails bounced to both of those addresses. Trying to get anywhere with Fiji Airways has been a nightmare and I would recommend avoiding this airline at all costs.

Route: Los Angeles to Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Skybus

Title: "company were unmoved by the inconvenience"

Review: The flights to the Scilly Isles are notorious due to the weather Skybus has reduced the number of destinations it flies beyond its own hub at Lands End We chose to fly from Exeter as the drive down to Lands End in the summer is a nightmare and we were travelling from London We drove 4 hours to Exeter Airport for the outward leg. The flight was great and delayed only an hour We arrived back at St Marys for the return flight 5 days later and discovered one of their twin otters had gone tech. It was hard to find out this information as no announcements were made but check in wasnt progressing and finally the news broke! We eventually found out they were going to split our flight into 2 Islander flights (8 seater flights in 2 sequential flights to Lands End) The remaining otter was used to fly the scheduled Lands end flight After reaching Lands End we were going to be driven to Exeter- a 2/12 hour drive Apologies from skybus staff were few and far between ; one child burst into tears! We were told it was the best solution to preserve their schedule! It was obvious this solution was best for the company but not for the passengers . The remaining otter (with sufficient range) should have gone to Exeter and the islanders used to shuttle to Lands End to minimise the overall delay to ALL passengers We arrived in Exeter 4 1/2 hours late ; a very unsatisfactory end to the holiday with a further 4 hour drive in our own car ,exhausting ! It appears the company were unmoved by the inconvenience and not prepared to extend operating hours to find a satisfactory solution. Be warned!

Route: St Marys to Exeter

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "Great from beginning to end"

Review: Newark to Paris. Great experience from beginning to end. This is what all airlines should aspire to. It could be that I have gotten used to being treated like dirt by the major US airlines and my expectations are so low but this absolutely blows away any business class service that carriers like American Airlines provide to Europe and its a fraction of the cost. $1,600 vs over $5,000 for American Airlinesbusiness class. The service was excellent all around, the equipment was a 757 that was completely retrofitted with new fully adjustable seats, and the staff was very friendly and professional. The American carriers should be embarrassed. My only complaints is the limited destinations. Please reestablish the London route and expand into EU.

Route: Newark to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Nostrum

Title: "smooth and well organised"

Review: I have flown on Air Nostrum for the first time on a quick 1hr 40min flight from T4 Madrid Barajas airport to Marrakesh airport. It was a smooth and well organised operation. I had not flown on a CRJ1000 and discovered it is a very pleasant and smooth aircraft with the value added of no middle seats as it is a 2-2 configuration. Interestingly enough it appears that this subsidiary of Iberia is able to carry out a better, friendlier service and have nicer uniforms than its parent company. The flight was good, service was good, the communication from the pilot and stewardesses was good. The only thing that was not good (not the airline's fault by the way) were the screeching children that some parents were unable (nor interested) to control, who managed to run riot around the plane and disturb pretty much everyone in the flight, to the point that one of the flight attendants had to go around with the youngest element and ask passengers who it belonged to shortly before landing as the parents were clearly not too interested in the safety of their own child.

Route: MAD to RAK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "dishonest, rip off airline"

Review: This airline turned out to be, for me, the most dishonest, rip off airline I have flown with over the past 40 years of extensive travelling. In essence, if you cant be bothered with the smallprints, you may find yourself completely ripped off. I booked returns from London to Ahmedabad via Mumbai, return. Flight out ok but basic with regards to service etc. However, I had to go through picking up luggage at Mumbai, picking up luggage and clearing customs (count a couple of hours) before re-issuing national boarding pass for follow on national flight to Ahmedabad (doesnt work like most transfer flight arrangements, do it yourself is the motto). So far, so medium good. Now to the rip off part of the story. I wanted to change my return flight from Ahmedabad to London via Mumbai to directly flying out from Mumbai (as I was Pune three days before departure). So called them to let them know (as requested by terms and conditions) that I was cancelling the Ahmedabad to Mumbai leg of journey and the operator said all was fine and should check in at Mumbai directly. This seemed confirmed by email, inviting me to check in at Mumbai (and not Ahmedabad). At check in at Mumbai I was confronted with a >£300 penalty fare for no-show at Ahmedabad. They maintained that if I wanted to get my flight back (none of this was mentioned on phone or email) I had to pay the penalty fare for the entire journey. So basically it was pay up or stay in Mumbai. Funnily, after being forced to pay the penalty fare, a stranded tourist asked for a quote on same flight and was offered a price of £190! So buying a new ticket was much cheaper than the penalty fare I just paid (not that the Jet Airways staff offered this alternative solution to me at the time, great customer care!). Since, I provided them with all requested information to reclaim my extra not justified costs. So far only got a nearly (English) incomprehensible drivel (quite comical) from customer relations with no detailed explanations.

Route: London to Ahmedabad via Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "had purchased separate tickets"

Review: We were scheduled to fly from Hiroshima to Narita and from Narita to LAX. Our flight was 5 minutes delayed. After we boarded the plane we were on our way to Narita Airport. However the pilot could not land The first time it was due to crowd control. The second time it was due to weather. The third time he decided to change the destination to central Tokyo airport. We landed at central Tokyo airport which was the opposite direction we were heading and had to wait on the plane for about 30 min until we could get off. The staff was trying to figure out what to do. After we were allowed off the flight we had to go to a ticket counter and make new travel arrangements. We waited in line along side every other passenger on the same flight. When we were finally attended. We were told our only option was to take a train to Haneda and from there fly to LAX. We spend the day from 8am in Hiroshima until we reached the airport at Hañeda at 1230 am. We were each given $15000 yen for travel expenses. Because we had to take a couple trains and a bullet train to make it to Haneda airport My husband and I informed the clerk that our final destination was Las Vegas we had purchased separate tickets from American Airlines to get home in Las Vegas and due to the flight change we were going to lose our flight. She booked us airline tickets to LAX and apologized about our final destination being Las Vegas. So we lost our money on those tickets. I was very disappointed with this.

Route: Hiroshima to Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: We booked a flight on US Airways from PHL-YYZ. Flight lasted 1.5 hours. Ground service and in-flight service was so-so. In-flight entertainment was pretty good because I looked out the window and saw the CN-Tower. The problem was that they served very cold water that was mostly ice. At least the seats were comfortable.

Route: Philadelphia to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "cabin crew were nice and friendly"

Review:

This was my first time flying with Hong Kong Airlines. Before buying the tickets I read some negative reviews about them but their price was so attractive that I decided to give it a try. Flight from Hong Kong to Bali was on time, departing from the recently inaugurated new terminal at the Hong Kong airport. It was an A300 and there was no entertainment on board. The return flight was an A330 and had entertainment, not a lot of movie selection but had some movies that were quite recent. Seats were comfortable, food was ok and the cabin crew were nice and friendly. The return flight had a little delay but some of the time was recovered on air. During my stay in Bali, my daughter had a barotrauma in both ears and couldn't fly as scheduled. My husband contacted Hong Kong Airlines office in Hong Kong and after a few misunderstandings, and after sending all the proofs from the hospital we managed to change my flight and my daughters at no extra cost. I was impressed with their customer service when an emergency arises. Luckily everything went well and I really need to thank the airline.

Route: DPS to HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "were so kind and helpful"

Review: After looking at the reviews from viva me and my friends were a little skeptical to ride on Vivaaerobus. However it was the best experience given our situation. Our frontier flight was cancelled so we booked on VivaAerobús very last minute with a layover in Guadalajara. The workers that checked us in, the flight attendants and everyone else were so kind and helpful. They lost a bag but contacted the main person in our group to tell us what was going on, then did everything in their power to find the bag. Once the bag was located we were notified and the workers were so apologetic. With everything that had gone wrong with our trip, VivaAerobús was the only thing that went perfectly smooth.

Route: Chicago to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Worse service ever"

Review: Worse service ever, misleading information, also they will charge you extra money in each step so if your ticket price is 1000 Aed then you will ending up paying 2000 because of their stupid policies. If you dont like then they ask you board other flight

Route: Dubai to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "I cannot recommend them"

Review: Due to the Covid-19 crisis they cancelled the flights we had booked. However despite months and months of contacting them they have refused to issue any refunds. After struggling with them they finally agreed to allow us to re-book our flights for the same time the following year explaining that we would simply need to pay any additional cost of seats available. As the flights for the same time next year had been made available online through travel agents and direct on Omanair.com I explained I would like to undertake the rescheduling now so that I could secure my reschedule and avoid paying a higher cost when there was less availability. The airline explained that they would not allow me to reschedule my flights until Muscat Airport was fully reopened. Yet they would allow new passengers to book flights via travel agents and direct on their website. I explained to customer services that this was unfair and meant that I may not be able to take them up on the reschedule they have offered me and would have to pay an inflated price if availability was later limited. They advised that it was their rule. They have continued to offer ever more frequent special flights but without committing to allowing people to reschedule their previously cancelled flights. Having been a frequent user of Emirates, Qatar Airways, Etihad Airways, and with this being my first experience of Oman Air I cannot recommend them in anyway. Stop playing games and making false promises. Please give me my money back or let me reschedule my flights.

Route: Manchester to Bangkok via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "crew attentive and pleasant"

Review: I took biz class flight from Beijing to Taipei. The overall service was good, but I ordered a fruit platter and that was a very basic one, the presentation was not good and the fruit quality was not either. But the crew was attentive and pleasant, I hope Air China can improve the food as there is only so much a crew member can do to make up the overall customer experience. Air Chinas aircraft and seatings in biz class are on the par with some airlines.

Route: Beijing to Taipei

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "customer service is the worst"

Review: Tokyo Narita to Bali. Be sure to pay for baggage when purchasing ticket. We did not, and tried using their website a day in advance of our flight. No luck with the website, we went to the airport in Bali 5 hours ahead of our flight to get our bags prepaid. That failed as well ... there office was closed. Once the counter opened we were hustled into paying 430 US dollars for two suitcases, the heaviest weighed in at 12 kilos. No supervisor to be found. Ruined the ending of what was a great trip. Thai lion Air customer service is the worst.

Route: Tokyo Narita to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aircalin

Title: "service throughout exceptional"

Review: When cabin crew ask for your feedback and thoughts on how they could improve you know they are genuinely committed to improving service. To be honest I could not fault them on our 2 hour 40mins flight. The plane was fairly new, very clean and the welcome aboard and service throughout exceptional. I had to compliment the crew on the food. The steak was perfect and tasted as if it had been cooked on-board. It bettered my steak experience from steak cooked on board in first class! I really look forward to flying Aircalin again and experiencing that level of customer service and care. Highly recommended

Route: Sydney to Noumea

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "I am very upset"

Review: Fort Lauderdale to Montreal. I requested wheelchair assistance with a service dog but the gentleman did not want to push the wheelchair because I had my service dog with me. His exact words were "I dont like dogs" even though he saw how badly I needed his help. I am very upset that this happened, the man was very rude and arrogant. Thank goodness there was another kind man nearby us who offered his assistance because my family member was carrying the bags.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "Plane fresh and clean"

Review: Plane is new seats are comfortable and I rode premium economy. I would say the window seat, there is a gap between seat and bulkhead like a bottomless pit do things do fall into it. Condor made clear that upgrades only apply to their airline and not other feeder airline. Plane fresh and clean, service adequate money was $500 less than Delta. The having to get the follow up boarding pass is confusing. I was chosen for "additional screening" along with 4 other male passengers. I thought that was a bit odd.

Route: Seattle to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "there is no customer service phone number"

Review: My son and his girlfriend flew July 22nd. They had a layover in Charlotte NC. Well my sons girlfriend needs a wheelchair which the airline left in North Carolina. I know this happens. My complaint is if it does with Frontier there is no customer service phone number. I had to file a complaint it could take them 7 days to respond. They arent responsible for lost items well they lost it. Also their baggage fees are outrageous. They advertise cheap well they arent. I and none of my family will ever fly Frontier again.

Route: Philadelphia PA to Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: Japan Airlines customer review

Review: Narita to Vancouver, on a Boeing 787-8 Dreamliner. This Airline as a whole is superb. We are in pandemic, but even though the cabin crew's covered with face masks. it didn't hinder them to show casing the real smiles of how we are welcomed and accommodated on board as we fly high above 40k feet. This JAL cabin crew JL18 delivered an exceptional support and service. I had the lowest economy ticket but as a customer, all my expectations were overly met. I'm on an economy ticket but I was treated as VIP.

Route: Tokyo to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "don't have conveyer for the baggage"

Review: Flew to Caticlan with 5J 903, the flight was smooth from Manila, there was flight delay but didnt bring any hassle. Until we arrived in a Caticlan 5 Dec 2022, around 230pm a dainty decent airport, so here its goes they don't have conveyer for the baggage and I stood up on the stage where they were placing the bags to be collected, then staff called me out, I immediately step down and apologized but he was so rude and unprofessional when a coworker he was telling him what happened in a very gossipy manner like he is just in the street and not in his uniform working!

Route: Manila to Caticlan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "completely ignoring my messages"

Review: Kiev to Tbilisi booked for June 2018. It's terrible how they treat their clients. The airline just canceled the flight and do not answer any of my letters for two weeks. I wrote three times on FACEBOOK page - where they promised me to answer my letters but still no answer. I planned the trip for my mother. She has been dreaming about this trip her whole life. That's terrible how they behave with the customer. They're completely ignoring my messages.

Route: Kiev to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "economy class was fine and as expected"

Review: Flight on economy class was fine and as expected. Seat was comfortable, flight on-time, and inflight meals were good. Economy class service was good as well. Overall, no complaints at all.

Route: New York to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "stewardess lack of empathy"

Review: Paris CDG to San Jose via Zurich. Terrible experience, Its been 3 days and they have not responded to my emails about my missing luggage, the people at the airport said they never loaded the luggage on the plane in Paris and that I have to file a report with the airline, but the airline is not responding to any emails. I was surprised about how terrible the service was, even though I reserved seats for the first row because my wife and I traveled with our 19 month old on lap and I asked for a cradle, they assigned me on two middle seats with no aisles. When I asked the stewardess if she would help us she just said the flight was full and looked upset about the baby, I understand other passengers looking upset about a baby on a long flight, they are not supposed to provide any service to you but the stewardess lack of empathy with our situation was bothersome. When I asked if they had baby food like the one they gave us on the flight towards Paris she said that I had to have ordered it prior to the flight.

Route: Paris CDG to San Jose via Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "What a waste of time!"

Review: East Midlands to Alicante. We thought we would give them a try as never flown with them before. What a waste of time! Everyone checked in at the airport in Alicante waiting for a flight and announce 1 and half hour delay! Why? No explanation. Too late to go out of airport now. Just stuck here!

Route: East Midlands to Alicante

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "didn't offer refund"

Review: Mumbai to Kochi. The flight got rerouted, there was no transparency by the airline. They shuttled us around for over 6 hours and were not cooperative, they lost our luggage. Reboarded us in Bangalore and didn't offer refund. They were not open to providing food or accommodation. Where we could not go and settle into a hotel. Had to spend the night in the airport without our luggage.

Route: Mumbai to Kochi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "such a wonderful experience"

Review: I would like to say that the airline and cabin crew were absolutely brilliant. They were very attentive and in hand if we needed them. The inflight food was delicious and tasty, not bland like other airlines. We pre-paid for our seats and were very pleased with the extra leg room outbound and the Solo seats coming home. I would like to thank all the staff from check in until when we landed. So professional and quick so the queues were small and manageable. Air France made our holiday more amazing by delivering such a wonderful experience. Thank You.

Route: London to Punta Cana via Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "It was a nightmare"

Review: They changed our Flights from Brussels to London Heathrow to LAX on 4/16/2023. We paid extra to choose our seats. Since they cancelled they never honored the seat that we bought, they seated us in totally different seats. I asked the check in employee, she was very rude and told us that we have to understand that was a different flight. From London to LAX was worse, nobody in the airport help us. Employees from BA told us that we have to return next day for our flight we can rent a hotel or go terminal 3 and sleep there. Finally one employee help us and gives a voucher for hotel. It was a nightmare this airline. We missed one day work and BA didnt return the money that we paid for our previous chosen seats.

Route: Brussels to Los Angeles via London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "I was the only unfortunate that could not get the menu that I wanted"

Review: The business class on the travel day was not even half full and the flight attendant took my menu choice. An hour after take out when the food was ready she came to inform that I was the only unfortunate that could not get the menu that I wanted. This is unprofessional toward someone who spent a good amount of money for a ticket.

Route: Zurich to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "won't fly Air Malta again!"

Review: Kiev to Malta. I bought my flight through an aggregator site, so I wasn't able to pay for bags, so I tried to go on Air Maltas site to pay for bags. When I put in my confirmation code, the system wasn't able to find my info. When I tried to call customer service I wasn't able to speak to anyone and it went to voicemail. I left a Voicemail and never got a call back, so I went on their site and bought a voucher for my flight for 50 each way. When I got to the airport they told me there was no record of me paying for my bag, and even when I showed my voucher they said since it's not in the system they can't honor it. They called Air Malta and Air Malta said the same thing, so I had to pay another 80 for my bag or I wasn't getting on the flight. When I emailed Air Malta they told me I bought the wrong voucher and wouldn't issue a refund. I have no problem paying for bags but at least make it easier to do so and the customer service should work with customers to make sure they have a good experience. I had an awful one this time and won't fly Air Malta again!

Route: Kiev to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "little glitches Gulf Air should address"

Review: London to Bahrain in Business Class , Having flown their A330's before, I was looking forward to experience the difference in their 787's. Firstly, the seat is a 2x2x2 configuration, with open suite style seating. The window seats

(which I chose), offered privacy once the screen was raised up. And every seat has direct aisle access. The seat is fabulous, comfortable, with all the adjustments including a massage function, except for the headphone socket which was a difficult to see as it was hidden in a darker area by the seat. I loved the windows, which could be darken and lightened. There is little storage space, but if you were not stretching out to a full flat bed, the front area underneath the TV monitor allowed for an ample storage area. The Amenity Kit was basic, but they did provide PJ's even on the daylight flights. However, the IFE is very limited, with a small selection of movies and programmes. Service was a mixed bag. While welcoming and friendly, the cabin crew were non-engaging, instead providing the service in a professional and swift manner. There were the usual welcome drinks including champagne, with top ups offered, dates, Arabic Coffee and hot & cold towels throughout. I still cannot get over the gimmick of the onboard chef, as I just cannot see the advantage - and wish they didn't take the menus away. I wanted to see the wine list again, but was offered just red or white (two choices), but didn't see the bottle nor was I able to taste first. These are little glitches Gulf Air should address to improve their product to near perfection. The food in general was very tasty and I love their signature dish of Lamb Shank, proper afternoon Cream Teas and so on. I had to curtail my trip due to the pandemic, and the return flight was understandably basic. No hot food, no pillows, no blankets, PJ's etc and disposable plastic cutlery.

Route: London to Bahrain

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Interjet

Title: "been calling Interjet all week"

Review: My trip is scheduled for 9/7 and the airline sent me a schedule change for a date that passed months ago 5/25/20, I got the email of the change on 8/25/20. I originally booked this flight with Priceline but due to Covid I ended up having to make adjustments directly with the airline Interjet. I called Priceline to see if they could help me with the email received from Interjet and they informed me my flight was canceled but I would need to work directly with Interjet as they are not able to help me. I have been calling Interjet all week and no answer at all. I am stuck!

Route: CUN to DFW

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Buta Airways

Title: "Never buy tickets in Buta Airways"

Review: We bought tickets before the Pandemic and can't have our money back since then! Since that time they write to us that we need to wait the regular flights to start operating. According to their website, they have been already flying all regular routes. Never buy tickets in Buta Airways.

Route: Astrakhan to Baku

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "Terrible experience with check in"

Review: Terrible experience with check in at Goa airport. I had paid for the much advertised Red Carpet service. There were only 2 counters open and both, (including one which was supposed to be red carpet) were crowded and disorderly. There was no premium feel and I had to go to the ordinary counter for baggage drop. Felt cheated for paying for a service that the airline could not offer and it appeared to be a way of fleecing customers. Check in staff were not sympathetic and did not care. Pathetic service. Will never travel by AirAsia India if there is a choice. To be fair to the airline, the only good experience was the hot and good food served on the flight.

Route: Goa to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "refused to give me boarding pass"

Review: Bangalore to Amman via Bahrain. We reached the counter at 1 am. First the staff at the counter started asking me why I was going to Jordan and wanted to see my return tickets. I asked them why as neither were they immigration officers nor visa authorities. They refused to give me the boarding pass. My friends who were joining me for the holiday trip (two with US Passport) and 2 of us with Indian passport were subjected to the same questions. They wanted to see all the hotel bookings in Jordan, needed an explanation of why we had not booked the return tickets from Amman. Our travel was to Turkey after Jordan and not back to India. By then another Gulf Air staff said if you go to Jordan you will have to book tickets to and fro by Gulf. I told him no such thing was written in the policies of Visa Jordan or while booking Gulf Air. According to him Jordan visa on arrival can deport many Indians and Gulf airlines have to bring them back. I told him that by sheer chance if Jordan believes in deporting 4 ladies holidaying in Jordan then we have sufficient funds to buy tickets and come back. He also asked us how much money we were carrying? Whether we have a copy of our bank balance. We spent more than 1.5 hours arguing with this staff of Gulf Air, in this era and times. Later we realised that his issue was that he wanted us to book the ticket from Gulf Air. When we reached Jordan, the immigration officials didn't ask all the 4 of us a single question our visas were stamped in seconds.

Route: Bangalore to Amman via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "offered no explanation or solutions"

Review: Absolute worst experience with traveling in my life. Flight was delayed for hours however, they had us on the tarmac for 3 hours not being able to take off. There was no air-conditioning and we were not offered water as they were out of reusable cups. We boarded and deplaned twice before eventually canceling the flight. There were no representatives anywhere to give instructions. We were on our own. No food vouchers, no hotel accommodations, no nothing. We literally were stranded at JFK airport, until a rescheduled flight at 2 pm the following day! Don't even mention that their customer service is based out of the Philippines. Long wait to speak to someone. They offered no explanation or solutions. It was a terrible ordeal and they have since offered no apology or compensation.

Route: New York to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Iceland Connect

Title: "really enjoyed the flight"

Review: Egilsstaðir to Reykjavík. Check in was a breeze. Waiting area very clean. Boarding was very easy just showing ticket and photo ID. It was a 45 minute flight. They served tea or coffee with a chocolate. I really enjoyed the flight as I did not want to travel by road again. I will fly them again.

Route: Egilsstaðir to Reykjavík

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "faced to pay my seat change"

Review: I was unable to check in for some reason and I was given a seat in the middle. I tried to change it but after check-in at Oslo for the SAS flight, check-in kiosk couldnt change it so I called Aegean. After 3 calls to the customer service line I was instructed it is fixed and I should check-in on the app paying for my seat change. At boarding in Stockholm I was faced to pay my seat change.

Route: Stockholm to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ellinair

Title: "happy to fly them again"

Review: Thessaloniki to Athens. I was pleasantly surprised by the service on this short flight (approx. 40min). Service was quick, good selection of drinks and small candies and biscuits. Friendly staff, aircraft was clean. The crew are ready to assist the passengers. I will be happy to fly them again.

Route: Thessaloniki to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: This airline has the worst customer service. When my flight got cancelled, I was told by the travel agent to contact their Customer service (CS) not knowing that Lion replaced it with a different carrier at the same time. The CS rep didnt tell me this so I changed my flight to another with different timing. After knowing that I could actually take a flight at the same time I contacted CS again but was told that I had to pay the prevailing charges because they can only change free of charge 1x. The worst was when I tried to file a complaint - instead of assisting - a different rep made issues of semantics - saying I asked the wrong questions - hence I got the wrong answer. Isnt it their job to give info and enlighten as well as assist inconvenienced customers?? Safe to say I may never use their services again.

Route: Semarang to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "flight was delayed 2 hours"

Review: Horrible boarding drill. The flight was delayed 2 hours, and nobody cared to keep the passengers posted. Not even the gate's monitor was updated! We all stood in line for more than 1 hour without knowing what was happening. I'd expect to be communicated why there is a delay and when the boarding process will start. Communication is not an accessory. When they started boarding, the process was terribly slow. Once boarded, we learned that the airplane (back from the previous route) was late. Still to determine why and who would be held accountable. Food was not acceptable. I cannot understand why getting a decent meal onboard is so hard. The procedure to hook up to the internet was lengthy and muddled. The onboard service was just adequate.

Route: Milan to Miami via Rome

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "wait for 5 months to get my money"

Review: They canceled my flight on 10th December, refund takes 5 months. Now I have to wait for 5 months to get my money. People in the chat are rude and have no respect.

Route: Sydney to Tiruchirappalli via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "plane has been delayed for 5 hours"

Review: Sitting here waiting at Gold Coast airport for return flight home to Melbourne, plane has been delayed for 5 hours. This is the third time in a few weeks that this has happened, one of which ended up eventually being cancelled/notified at 10pm after several delays and hanging around the airport for over 6 hours. Half expecting the same thing again today, well see. Meanwhile 4 planes (Virgin, Jetstar flights) have left for Melbourne. Will never ever travel

Tigerair again.

Route: Melbourne to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "would probably fly Thomson again"

Review: This flight with Thomson from Birmingham to Montego Bay was rather disappointing in some parts. However, parts of the flight were good. The flight took off from Birmingham on time (always a good thing). Because it is a long-haul flight they served complimentary drinks and around 3 hours into the flight they served lunch. It was sausage and some sort of mashed potato with veggies. They served it with crackers, cream cheese and unusually jelly beans? Around 2 hours before landing they served afternoon tea. However, landing went well until we got to immigration where there was a large queue but that wasn't the airlines fault. The return flight was delayed with no clear explanation (we made the time up and landed 20 minutes early) however, boarding was quite quick. Once we got airborne the inflight services commenced and shortly after it was meal time. I was served a traditional Sunday dinner which consisted of chicken, potatoes, broccoli and carrots. It came with crackers and cream cheese again plus a Milky Way chocolate bar. Then into the early hours of the morning breakfast was served it was sausage, beans, omelette and a hash brown. It was served with orange juice. Once we landed at Birmingham getting through immigration was very quick. All in all the flight was good and I would probably fly Thomson again.

Route: Birmingham to Montego Bay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "attentive flight attendants"

Review: Comfortable travel experience with attentive flight attendants. Seat could use extra padding. I would praise the ground staff which met my wife and I at the aircraft upon deplaning and whisked us through the entry process in Guangzhou Airport which made clearing the COVID protocols stress free.

Route: Bangkok to Guangzhou

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "Overall my worst experience"

Review: Customer service representatives in call centers do not even know what customer service is, a horrible experience. It's a nightmare to deal with those representatives and their communication skills are very poor. Airport check-in service was slow as hell. It took more than 30 mins to checked-in the customer in front of me. Departure was delayed by more than 30 mins, with no explanation/ apology to customers (customer service at its best). Fuel stop in India hence delayed the flight duration by more than an hour. Dinner was served while the seat belt indication is ON and at the time flight was not stable (bumpy) at all. If the cabin crew had a little bit of common sense they could have delayed it and served it a bit later. Multimedia system only worked for 2 hours (out of 14 hours) of flight time. Overall my worst experience with a commercial airline so far & It was my first and last time with Sri Lankan Airlines, thank you for providing me worst possible experience!

Route: Colombo to Auckland via Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "disappointed they have stopped serving meals"

Review: Good clean comfortable aircraft, disappointed that they have stopped serving meals, although you do get a small baguette and a bottle of water. Very expensive for a flight in early Oct. Cost me over £320 pounds, Ryanair about half that price but I could not get to the airport. Flight back delayed for an hour which caused me problems.

Route: London Heathrow to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "treated me very unfriendly"

Review: Malé to Zurich via Moscow and missed my connection flight. We arrived just 40 minutes late at Moscow where I was supposed to get my connection flight to Zurich. Usually staff will help you if there is little time to reach the next flight which you booked together as one ticket with the same airline. There was two counters with staff, apart from that, no one to find. By the time I could make someone talking to me, my flight already left and they didnt care about it and I was stuck with other passengers in the transfer area. They left me without information and a little food voucher I couldnt even afford proper food with. I started running around the airport, trying to find someone who could give me any information or at least a place to sleep. I waited for more than 5 hours at the airport until I managed to get information. I had to wait for 15 hours.

Route: Malé to Zurich via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "very kind cabin staff"

Review: Prague to Beijing. We made a seat reservation online and as we checked in we got other seats. As we entered the plane the very kind cabin staff asked me if I want to sit on a seat next to the emergency exit with enough space for my legs, so this flight was a very pleasant trip for me. The staff were so friendly and very thankful to get a smile and thank you back for their work on the flight. The entertainment system got a good selection of different media like movies or music but music was hanging sometimes on my system, with movies it was much more critical and my colleagues told me the same that movies were running out of buffer were hanging. I hope that more people will give the service crew a little bit of thanks for their good job they do on a flight to make us passengers happy.

Route: Prague to Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "This airline is pretty terrible"

Review: This airline is pretty terrible. I know you get what you pay for, but damn. They delayed our flight not once but three times in a row, and caused us huge headaches.

Route: Tirana to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "Very unprofessional"

Review: Mumbai to Delhi. Very unprofessional will never recommend anyone to travel by GoAir. I have done booking for 18th July 20 they have rescheduled it to 19th July without intimating me , they dont even answer any call or reply any email which is really disappointing. Worst airline and customer service.

Route: Mumbai to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaColombia

Title: "charge you more for everything"

Review: Santa Marta to Bogota. VivaColombia try to charge you more money for everything that is possible. For example, if don't print your ticket they will charge you for it. If you don't have to fly with them, stay away!

Route: Santa Marta to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "Very bad customer service"

Review: Cyprus to Chania via Athens. Very bad customer service. The staff seemed very frustrated when I asked what's going on with the flight and never got back to me. I had to learn what's going on from other customers. That will be the first and last time. If they don't like working here it's not customers fault. They're supposed to be there to help.

Route: Cyprus to Chania via Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "extremely disappointing"

Review: Having never flown on this type of aircraft before I was appalled at my journey yesterday. The seats are super tiny, think child size but squeeze an adult into them. Im not a large person at all, 5ft 4 female but was squashed in between two large guys, one who insisted on typing on his laptop most of the journey and continually invading my space with his arms/elbows. Refreshments are not very forthcoming and I had to keep asking for water, which when it arrived was half a paper cup. Food was disappointing. The only saving grace is that i didnt get my upgrade to business offer accepted and waste more money as these seats also looked well past their sell by date. Overall, extremely disappointing and wont be in a rush to fly Etihad again.

Route: Abu Dhabi to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "a pleasant flight"

Review: Check in was easy and the flight left on time. Staff were friendly and helpful. The toilet, unfortunately, could have been a bit cleaner. Food was limited to snacks for purchase and the only drinks offered were tea, coffee and water.

Overall a pleasant flight.

Route: Adelaide to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "have not received any amount"

Review: We purchased two tickets Ljubljana to Athens on 2 Mar 2020 in EUR 140 and within 24 hours because of Covid-19 cases in Ljubljana, requested for the refund as per their 100% refund policy. On 5 Mar they wrote us they will only refund only 66 EUR within 7-30 days, but as on 5 May 2020 we have not received any amount. What type of airline is Air Serbia? We repeatedly requested the airline to refund, every time they said 7-30 days, you will get the refund but as on date not received any amount.

Route: Ljubljana to Athens via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: NokScoot

Title: "a good flight"

Review: Bangkok to Osaka. Smooth check in and efficient seat allocation. They didnt check cabin baggage weight nor size. Had to buy food and drinks as refused internet preorder because we used a travel agent. Seats ok but a night flight which was very uncomfortable. Saw in the inflight magazine we could upgrade enroute to premium economy - a good idea. For B7,000 a good flight.

Route: Bangkok to Osaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "Terrible experience"

Review: Cusco to Lima. Terrible experience. I bought a ticket for $53, and paid extra fees for $75. The first fee was a checking fee, due to not printing my own. The second fee was for an extra carry on. The additional carry on was a 12 inch tube used to carry paintings. It was the only item in the over head, since my purse was in my lap. My husband flew with Latam and later Avianca, his overall expenses were much less. Do not fly with this airline, the cheaper costs are not real.

Route: Cusco to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "very proficient and competent staff"

Review: Great little airline and very proficient and competent staff. On time service and accurate baggage handling.

Aircraft in good condition, limited amenities.

Route: Bangkok to Koh Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUS Airways

Title: "good service and friendly staff"

Review: Quick flight with good service and friendly staff. Check-in was efficient. Aircraft was clean and welcoming. Only negative was the arrival at a station where bussing brought us back to the terminal rather than an airbridge.

Route: Larnaca to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "told it was oversized"

Review: Prague to Amsterdam. While my carry-on fit handily into their receptacle, I was told it was oversized and that I would be able to pick it up after exiting the aircraft, as I had a very close connection at my destination. Pick up was not available, so I had to exit to the baggage carousel, and re-enter security at my connection. This made me late for my flight.

Route: Prague to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ural Airlines

Title: "no one would help us"

Review: Simferopol to Moscow with Ural Airlines. Shocking. Without warning we were told our flight had been delayed until 01.15 the next day, and no one at the check-in desk would help us. They continually redirected us to others on the desk who ignored us completely. Then we were told to come back in an hour in the hope of being put on a flight scheduled to leave at our original leaving time, but when we got back the head check-in official, not only ignored us and the three others he told that to, but he refused to talk to us at all then. We eventually found the separate ticket desk by ourselves but all they did was give us a piece of paper to write a complaint on without any indication of who would read it or to what effect. Our compensation for the delay? A free bottle of water which was not in stock where indicated. Their excuse? They flew out the wrong plane which had fewer seats on, which meant we had to suffer for three hours because of their clumsiness. There was no text message warning or internet update which would have meant we could have changed our arrival to the airport plans! Finally, our flight out had less legroom as they had squeezed the row of seats in front of the emergency exit closer to the row in front. Appalling! Does this company remember that we paid real money for a service?

Route: Simferopol to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: Viva Air customer review

Review: Santa Marta to Bogota. Had the misfortune of booking flights with Viva Air. Their business model is clearly designed to catch out people and sting them with extra-large unreasonable fees. I bought tickets, and couldn't web check-in in advance and so got stung by fees over half the cost of the ticket just to get access to my tickets. How the hell they can sell tickets but then charge extra to access them is pathetic!. It cost me 715000 cop or approx 350 au for them to issue me tickets! Also, the people in front had one carry on bag that was literally 1 cm protruding out of the bag size and they had to pay for checked luggage - 1cm! Furthermore, at the airport, the supervisor started raising their voice at us, especial to a 70-year-old in our group and then they simply walked off leaving us at an unattended service counter. You could not find an airline with worse customer service and ethics!. I hope their reputation and service (lack of) is their downfall, they don't deserve to be in business!

Route: Santa Marta to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "Super helpful people"

Review: Nadi to Sydney. A bit of delay but apart from that one of the best services we've experienced. Super helpful people, surprisingly good food as for the economy class and great communication. This plane doesn't come with in-seat entertainment.

Route: Nadi to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "good service and adequate food"

Review: Yangon to Singapore with SilkAir, and good service and adequate food. Crew was helpful and flight was on time. Seat pitch was a major problem, could not sit without touching back of front seat. Luckily crew assisted me and I could move to an emergency exit seat. I flew a few days before from Singapore to Mandalay in A320-200 and seat pitch was fine.

Route: RGN to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "overpriced for the quality"

Review: I flew TAAG Angola Airlines from Luanda to Cape Town and Windhoek to Luanda. The flights were okay, nothing really bad. My complaint is that it was overpriced for the quality of the flight. The planes for both legs were clean although cabins were not well maintained. The service on board was abysmal. There were no courtesy from the FAs. The toilets were run out of toilet papers and were dirty but FAs didn't bother to clean them up. The food were just for survival. Would I recommend this airline - no. However, I doubt there is competition for the route so you might end up taking this airline.

Route: Luanda to Cape Town

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "experience was above average"

Review: Air Arabia is a good airline. The airport staff are helpful and always smiling. The aeroplane was in a clean condition. The in-flight magazine is great and the duty-free and SkyMeal magazine had plenty of options and the food was OK. The in-flight entertainment is something Air Arabia must improve on. The pilots made PAs at regular intervals. The seat was comfortable and legroom was better than I had ever seen on a low-cost carrier. The overall experience was above average and according to the money paid, there were more than enough services.

Route: Sharjah to Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vanilla Air

Title: "misinformation and misleading"

Review: Narita to Sapporo. This is by the worst airline in Japan. Not only do they not care about their customers, the initial ticket prices are a decoy for you to purchase the cheap ticket only to discover later that you are screwed with random fees on things you never heard of. Their website is created to trick you by misinformation and misleading details.

Route: Narita to Sapporo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Salam Air

Title: "I don't recommend this airline"

Review: Worst airline ever. I paid for the sandwich, but i didn't receive any. They should include meal in the ticket cost since it was over 4 hours of travel. It reached the destination delayed by 1 hour. Also, my luggage was damaged. I don't recommend this airline.

Route: Dubai to Colombo via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "thankful to them"

Review: Due to some unexpected scenarios, I came to airport few mins before the flight time and boarding time was supposed to be much before that. I was about to miss my flight but the AirAsia team cooperated a lot and helped me board the flight which was very kind of them. I would be thankful to them. I hope this kind of service continues for all the different airline carriers also.

Route: Ranchi to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "I will not recommend this airline"

Review: I booked a flight which was 16 hours transit by mistake. I wanted to change, but the customer service was horrible and did not help. I took it anyways, I asked them if they were going to take me to a hotel since the flight is more than 8 hrs transit. They said its not their responsibility. I stayed in Iceland in 16 hours and when it was the time to check in I had to pay extra money for my carry on. This airline supposed to be cheap but it isn't, they charge everything even water. I will not recommend this airline to anyone.

Route: Reykjavik to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "poor service at a premium"

Review: Bristol to Brussels. Unfortunately, I have to fly this route very frequently and if any alternatives would be within reach, I'd never choose to fly BMI out of my own free will. Knowing that the KLM flight to Amsterdam is less than half the price of that to Brussels, one would expect to get a half decent service in return, say a plane that leaves on time for example. Unfortunately, company policy at BMI is to offer poor service at a premium, and unfortunately company policy is also to have staff issue insincere apologies for "unfortunate coincidences" that can only be blamed on very poor management. Yesterday I had the pleasure of sitting through the ordeal again, and the plane was delayed for 2 hours, due to the pilot being "stuck in traffic" coming from London, which was further explained to be a consequence of bad weather the previous day. Nice try but how is that even relevant. Upside of running 2 hours late, one would expect that staff would have had plenty of time to prepare the cabin and solve all possible issues, but alas, unfortunately there was no catering onboard this service tonight, as a sign of their aptitude for crisis management, the airline had managed to scramble leftover sandwiches from other airlines and two bottles of water. Saving the best for last, the cabin attendant unfortunately also had to announce that something was not quite right with the heating system, causing the cabin temperature to be just over freezing point with vents blowing icy air into the cabin. For our comfort the captain generously decided to fly on to Brussels rather than return to Bristol. Of course he did, or they would have had to pay compensation to the passengers. Arriving at Brussels, the same sorry attendant had the final pleasure of announcing that all onwards connections had been missed and that passengers's journeys would be rerouted as soon as possible.

Route: Bristol to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "Service was superb!"

Review: Zurich to Ho Chi Minh City. Seated row 6 which has a lot of legroom. Plane interior was refurbished: new seats, touch screen, OkK/ good selection of movies. Service was superb! Food quality is good.

Route: Amsterdam to Ho Chi Minh City via Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bahamasair

Title: "smiling and friendly crew"

Review: Nassau to Providenciales with Bahamasair. Amazing Service. Smiling and friendly crew. We flew on Bahamasair to come back home after a Christmas holiday. The flight was delayed a bit due but other than that it was great. The flight was 1 hour and 25 minutes. While airborne the flight attendant came around offering water, tea and coffee. I love to fly with Bahamasair.

Route: NAS to PLS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "not so supportive"

Review: In both inbound and outbound flight Malaysia Airlines was delayed, I missed my connection flight to my final destination. They don't have customer service in Doha, just a small transit office near A1 gate. Staff are not nice, not so supportive.

Route: Doha to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "charge you for carrying personal item"

Review: I have been all over the world and I have flew in a lot of different companies and it is the first time they charge you for carrying personal item. They made a whole set up right at the boarding area, where people would not see or have access, and they brought two scales and they would make the passengers weight their carry-on luggage. When the weight of the carry-on wasnt enough to charge us a fee, they would make us add our personal purse on top. They would claim it passed 1kg extra (it was showing in lbs weight but I guess it is easier to confuse people using a different number). And from there they asked us of 125 euros on fee. I have never seen in my life any company charging for personal purse weight, or asking to add that weight to the carry on luggage. I asked her many times why she was doing that and she completely ignored my question and would only say they both passed the weight and you gotta pay a fee.

Route: Lisbon to Newark

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "evade taking responsibility"

Review: This is to address a significant issue experienced by myself and the 17 passengers who were left behind on Flight 745. I had a booking with Avelo (confirmation 8J967D) for a flight on May 22nd, 2023. My girlfriend and I were prepared to leave our home well in advance of the scheduled departure time when we received an email informing us of a 30-minute delay. Subsequently, we received several more emails indicating further delays, a total of eight times. Unfortunately, none of these emails provided any information or alerts regarding the closure time of the TSA checkpoint. We arrived ontime at the airport for our rescheduled flight at 11:45 pm. To my surprise, there was no one present at the Avelo front desk at all. An airport employee approached us and informed us that we had missed our flight because the TSA checkpoint was closed, despite there still being ample time remaining. He stated that the TSA had closed at 9:30 pm, even though there was another flight scheduled for departure. Besides, on the CHO airport, it is clearly stated that "The daily closing time is dependent on the airline schedule and delays". More passengers arrived subsequently, with some needing to check in their luggage. However, there was still no one available at the front desk to assist them. After waiting in line for 25 minutes, I managed to reach an Avelo customer service agent over the phone. The lady I spoke with was courteous and assured me that I would be compensated not only for my flight but also for the hotel and any other costs incurred as a result of this incident. Unfortunately, she informed me that there was no alternative way for us to be accommodated on another flight. I made an attempt to contact them, but unfortunately, they changed their words. They simply resorted to using a generic template without addressing any of my specific concerns. It appears that they have a tendency to evade taking responsibility and often attribute the issues to external factors, rather than acknowledging and addressing their own problems. In some cases, they even go as far as abruptly ending phone calls, as if it is a common occurrence for them.

Route: Charlottesville to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "my Bag has been damaged twice"

Review: Doha to Berlin via Istanbul. I have flown with Pegasus airlines 3 times and out of the 3 times my Bag has been damaged twice and I have a strong bag, the bag was damaged in the corner which keep in mind is the strongest part of the bag. I have tried following up with them on this case however they have taken forever to reply and have not taken any care or shown me support they are nice to you however as the call is being recorded so they will be nice but show no effort in support towards me. I have been told that I was on the top of the list (they always say that to keep you pleased) however it has nearly been a week since they have replied with me being on "the top of the list" I am very unsatisfied with the treatment. I have also been sent or rather passed around in the airport as no one helped me, I was very tired from my flight so I headed home and continued via email which was my mistake. My father worked hard for the money he has earned and It has gona to waste as the bag has lost wheels and been cut open which resulted in some damage on the inside as well. I do not hope to see anyone get the same treatment as I did and wish you all the best. Thank you

Route: Doha to Berlin via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Terrible service from Aeromexico"

Review: Terrible service from Aeromexico and from the person in charge at the Benito Juárez airport, Terminal 2. The airline sells a ticket from Colombia to London with a connection in Mexico, they force the passenger to buy a new ticket because when going through immigration the passenger arrives a hour before the flight and they don't allow you to board because you can't check your luggage. It is an abuse, how can they sell a ticket with a connection in which there will not be time to board the flight. Neither the lady in charge at the airport nor any aeromexico employee offered any alternative.

Pésimo servicio de aeromexico y de la persona que se encuentra encargada en aeropuerto Benito Juárez, terminal 2. La aerolínea vende un billete desde Colombia a Londres con conexión en mexico, obligan al pasajero a comprar nuevo boleto porque al pasar por inmigración el pasajero llega una hora antes de vuelo y no le permiten abordar porque no puede documentar su equipaje. Es un abuso, como pueden vender un boleto con una conexión en la que no habrá tiempo de abordar el vuelo. La señora encargada en el aeropuerto ni ningún empleado de aeromexico ofreció ninguna alternativa.

Route: Bogota to London via Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "directing my custom elsewhere"

Review: I'm a regular traveller to Europe and gave Royal Brunei Airlines a try based on price and a recommendation from our travel agent for a quick trip trip to Europe with my teenage son to attend a football game. Beware one may save some dollars over flying alternative airlines but you have to consider last minute changes and delays which appear to be a common thread travelling Royal Brunei Airlines. It's so true you really do pay for what you get. Melbourne London and return with Royal Brunei Airlines to travel around Melbourne Cup week. Booked business class, told 3 weeks later we would be flying on a 3rd party airline but don't worry it will have flat beds travelling on an A340 etc. Checked at Melbourne only to be told our first leg would be flying on an A320 with what could be best described at premium economy, not ideal for an overnight flight. All 4 flights to and from London were either late departing or late on arrival (in most cases both). A reasonable compensation proposal was forwarded to Royal Brunei Airlines with the airline declining our request stating some of their standard T&C's. I will be directing my custom elsewhere and would advise anyone thinking of flying Royal Brunei Airlines to reconsider.

Route: Melbourne to London

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "for the fourth time the flight time change is ridiculous"

Review: I bought tickets for a family of 5 and since that time they have been changing the flight time, it's understandable the first time but for the fourth time the flight time change is ridiculous. I called Customer service and they don't care about passengers. They mention the terms and conditions meaning that they can move your flight time anytime they want but really one time is acceptable but four times and when you decided to estimate another itinerary they want to charge you 5 times the original ticket price.

Route: Tijuana to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "Boarding procedures chaotic"

Review: The worst flight ever. Delay to incoming flight resulted in a two hour delay in departure. No information or explanation given other continued changes to departure time on boards. Boarding procedures chaotic. Although cabin bag size restriction is published, this was not enforced, leading difficulties in place correct sized bags in overhead lockers. Choice of food available for purchase on board very poor. Cabin staff unhelpful. Information given re onward flight affected by delay given re other flights but not to London Heathrow. On arrival in Frankfurt no stand available causing further delay, when stand was allocated, plane had to move to another since offloading equipment was in the wrong place! Before disembarking told London flight was being held for 15 minutes. After a race across the concourse, arrived at gate in time to board, only to be told flight had already closed no information. Gate staff officious, rude and unhelpful. Do help with any information as to how to re book onward flight, or when that might be. Eventually given new boarding passes for flight already boarding, so another dash to new gate.

Route: Vilnius to London Heathrow via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "not thinking of the discomfort"

Review: As I am unable to travel on my main ticket from Bahrain to India due to coronavirus, hence was to cancel or reschedule my onward flight Delhi to Ranchi on GoAir. However the airline has used this time to earn money and not thinking of the discomfort to its passenger and they denied to make any changes without levying fee which was 3000+ difference of fare 738 + miscellaneous that too per person. They said that free rescheduling is for tickets issued from 8 March onward.

Route: Delhi to Ranchi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: "every second is horrible"

Review: New York to Naples with Meridiana. Every second of the process, from booking the ticket online until the plane lands was horrible. Bad customer service, old planes and zero organization. If it weren't for their direct flight from NY to Naples, I would not use this airline. In the future, I will be gladly connecting through anywhere instead of flying direct with Meridiana.

Route: JFK to NAP

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aigle Azur

Title: "changing 3 letters cost 80EUR"

Review: I visit my parents regularly in Paris, I always use Air France, Transavia, or Middle east airlines. But today was the first and last flight with this Aigle Azur. On the passport my name is Ludovic while on the ticket its Ludwig. The family name is the same. So because of 3 letters difference, they want to charge 80 euros. Why changing 3 letters cost 80EUR? This is how you lose passengers.

Route: Paris to Beirut

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "refused to provide a refund"

Review: I was supposed to go to Sweden in July of 2020 but the trip was cancelled as a result of the COVID19 Pandemic. In the weeks/months leading up to the trip, their customer hotline was busy and I was told that they were only addressing travel in the next 48 hours. Later, in their email notifying us of the cancellation, there was a clear "Click here for a Travel Voucher". After completing this, I later found a link for a credit refund (buried somewhere on their website). I submitted a refund request. Shortly afterwards, they issued a travel voucher but refused to provide a refund. When I called to get the travel voucher exchanged for a refund, I was told that it was impossible because I had submitted a travel voucher first! Obviously the pandemic upended travel plans everywhere for everyone and I find it inconceivable that they would only issue a travel voucher.

Route: Boston to Stockholm via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "Enjoyable flight"

Review: Enjoyable flight. Check in was busy, but I did not have to wait very long. Staff were friendly and efficient. The plane was very clean. It would be great if they offered more food options though. The plane left on time, but there was a bit of a wait picking up luggage. Overall I was satisfied.

Route: Sydney to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "I was given a normal seat"

Review: I booked a seat with extra feet space (between Reykjavik and Chicago with WOW air) because I have knee problems and paid 43 USD extra for the seat, but I was given a normal seat. When I asked for my seat I was told that this was the seat I booked which was totally wrong.

Route: Frankfurt to Reykjavik via Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "What a terrible experience"

Review: What a terrible experience. On arrival we wait an hour on the tarmac for a parking space. On departure we wait 2 hours for more passengers, not to simply board, but because they had seats to fill. Never again. I suggest anyone considering Southwest to immediately think otherwise if you have a life, or a schedule to keep

Route: Long Beach to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "I would not hesitate to recommend Air Transat"

Review: On May 17th my wife and I flew from Rome to Toronto on flight 309. My wife had been injured in a fall the previous day and was experiencing acute pain due to three breaks in her upper right arm. When the Air Transat onboard staff realized her situation, they showed deep concern and compassion for her comfort and well being. During the 8+ hour flight at least one of the onboard staff would check on her on a regular basis. Kind gestures such as exhibited by the Air Transat staff were deeply appreciated. Because of the service we received I would not hesitate to recommend Air Transat at any time. Going forward, my wife and I will certainly enquire as to the availability of Air Transat when planning our next vacation.

Route: Rome to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "no remorse for the inconvenience"

Review: Our flight to Johannesburg was delayed for 7 hours and the airline staff in Mauritius assured me they would make arrangements for our connecting flights to Gaborone as well as accommodation if we had to spend the night more so that we were business class passengers (there were 7 of us). When we got to Johannesburg the airline staff changed their story and said they could not be of any assistance to us and just left us and knocked off. Worst of all we did not get our luggage and the airline made no attempt to help us track it. In the end we had to book accommodation at the airport, spend the night without our luggage and buy new connecting flight tickets to Gaborone the following day. Air Mauritius showed no remorse for the inconvenience coupled with the fact that no apology ever came from their side.

Route: Mauritius to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Eastern Airways

Title: "very cramped and noisy"

Review: I have to fly with Eastern Airways when traveling to and from work so I fly with them at least twice a month from Scatsta to Aberdeen. I have never known a flight to either land or depart on time, they always have delays on this route and its very time consuming. The planes we use are very cramped and noisy. If i didnt have to fly with this company for work I would not bother to fly with them again.

Route: Scatsta to Aberdeen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "not recommend flying with Austrian"

Review: I was flying from Cairo to berlin via Vienna, my flight from Cairo left very late without any declared reasons. Most of the passengers and I have missed our next flights. The attitude of the staff at the airline service center was very rude and disrespectful. Would not recommend flying with Austrian.

Route: Cairo to Berlin via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "cancelling our paid seats"

Review: Ruined a trip of a lifetime for myself, wife and family. From cancelling our paid seats, that were booked early, we were then separated on the flight. Some of our baggage was left behind, and a absolutely nightmare trying to sort. Staff on plane and at airports not interested and give the feeling that they did not want to be there.

Route: London to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ViaAir

Title: "never use this airline again"

Review: Horrible customer service when there is a problem. ViaAir canceled our flight last minute and told customers to find another way home. They offered to pay for us to get another airline to take us home, which we thought was awesome. After we did this and sent them the receipt they refused to pay it. They first said that all was approved and that they were sending a check. 100 days later and many e-mails back and forth checking on our payment, they then said that they were not going to pay for our flights. There is no way to talk to upper management and their customer service reps do not help you talk to those that make the decisions. Their flight cancellation process was extremely disappointing and they do not do what they say. We will never use this airline again.

Route: Hayden to Austin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "thus far refused to refund"

Review: AirAsia Philippines has thus far refused to refund the sum of a cancelled flight back to my bank account, even though it promised to do so. Out of all airlines I have used, this one seems to be the worst. There are no words for the lack of service I have received after putting so much trust in them.

Route: Osaka to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Germanwings

Title: "they have been unresponsive"

Review: We flew with Germanwings (or tried to) on September 30th. After two lengthy delays passengers were notified that the flight was cancelled and to return to the check-in counter for further information. After waiting at the counter for another 30 minutes or so, staff began issuing refunds or providing alternate travel options to passengers. By this point it was quite late in the evening with limited options (plus we were 5+ hours after planned departure). We managed to get a voucher with 3 other passenger to get a flight from Stuttgart to Zurich with an ongoing connection to Amsterdam (flights were with Swiss). We made the flight and the connector (which was held back waiting for about 70 of us) however luggage did not make it. Short of this is the airline was ill-prepared to manage this. They offered little information or options to passengers. since returning home I have been attempting to contact them via email and phone calls to discuss compensation per passenger rights brochure and they have been unresponsive. Not a good way to run a business.

Route: Stuttgart to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "I couldn't recommend to anyone"

Review: Worst airline I have ever flown on, chose them due to being the cheapest tickets available, you pay for what you get, before the flight started there were two delays postponing the flight for hours, after takeoff we were informed we would be circling the circling airport due to weather concerns, after circling for 2 hours we were diverted to another airport in a neighboring state, after being told not to worry and leave our bags on the plane because we would be flying back towards the original destination airport by the pilot, we waited for 3 hours to finally be told to come get our luggage, the flight was canceled, and good luck with the remainder of the trip, but this was told to us by the workers at the airport because the Allegiant airline workers and pilots had already left and were nowhere to be seen to help the now stranded passengers. Upon calling Allegiant air's customer service via phone we were told not to worry and that the flight would be refunded due to the cancellation, they then informed us that due to our approval to divert the flight to another airport while the flight was going on they would not be refunding any of the cancellation and each member flying would get a 50 dollar credit, this is the kind of bare bones airline I couldn't recommend to anyone and can't still imagine how they are still in business, stay away at all cost/they stranded my family.

Route: Punta Gorda to Allentown

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "good value for money"

Review: We were on holiday visiting both Toronto and Las Vegas. It's not often you get to fly on a 767 in Europe anymore and I was looking forward to this trip on one even though I know they are showing their age. The airport in Toronto was efficient and relatively quiet and it was good that we could do the US immigration pre-clearance there. Boarding was quite fast given the number of people. But after we boarded the cabin crew had to work very hard to find hold space for all of the carry-on bags which led to frustrated passengers and the plane was uncomfortably hot while all this was going on. The 767 did look old and a bit tatty but actually my seat was comfortably and I nodded off and before long we were in Vegas. I thought the flight was good value for money given the distance we were covering - nearly 2,000 miles I think. Baggage arrived quickly in Vegas airport too.

Route: Toronto to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "charter flight and everything went well"

Review: NAP-RMF round trip in August. It was a charter flight and everything went well with exception of long check-in queue before the return flight (but the Marsa Alam Airport is small). FA present during the flight meals served and eatable double drink and coffee or tea. Legroom was enough (for a charter flight) for a 3 hour trip. A stupid guy smoked in the lavatory during the outbound flight and FA upon being called reacted quickly to enforce the safety rules. Think the fleet age is not the best possible. I can't rate safety standards or maintenance quality.

Route: NAP-RMF return

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "100% hassle-free experience"

Review: I highly appreciate the ground handling team in Istanbul for making sure my suitcases made it to Budapest. We were luckier than others whose suitcases were stuck in Istanbul. When I boarded the aircraft I saw others carry-ons being transferred to the cargo hold, and I have seen complaints about that too. I was super lucky to have had a 100% hassle-free experience with Turkish Airlines.

Route: Singapore to Budapest via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "Real disappointment"

Review: Flying OK619 from Amsterdam to Prague on October 3rd. Flight operated by Smartwings and late as usual. Boarding has been chaotic, service a board amateurish. Passengers were sitting for quite a long time in the plane after "boarding completed" without a word of explanation as to why and what might be the departure time. The same in Prague. The plane was sitting on the apron, passengers waiting and no explanation provided. Would that be that difficult to explain, that we are waiting for the bus? Very poor service. One feels as a cargo. Plus you have CSA ticket but flight is actually operated by Smartwings which is a low end lowcoster. Real disappointment, nothing was working right.

Route: Amsterdam to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "very warm-hearted and thoughtful"

Review: My flight is HU7975 which was absolutely one of the best I've had in years, especially in consideration of the pandemic situations. Cabin crew are very warm-hearted and thoughtful, they came to me for at least 8 times or so to check in if I have all I need, asked me if I want snacks or another meal, even provided their own food when I asked for biscuits which aren't part of the customer meal. Can't ask for a better experience!!

Route: Beijing to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Boarding in a slaughterhouse queue"

Review: Boarding in a slaughterhouse queue in terminal 2, chaotic boarding, almost at a standstill at the front door of the plane, impassable corridor, no agility. In my seat was a lady who took the liberty of sitting there and pretended not to know her seat so that she could sit next to what I assume was her companion. When the flight attendant was called, she soon revealed her seat, but now the aisle was jammed and it was impossible to go to the front, so I sat in the seat that was possible, next to an individual who spent the whole flight bothering me and despite having a vacant seat by the window.

Route: Lisbon to Funchal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "would not hesitate to fly Air Mauritius again"

Review: My wife and I have just travelled London Heathrow to Mauritius and return via Virgin holidays. Having read a number of reviews criticising the airline, I was a little apprehensive about our flight. No need to have worried. As an economy class passenger, I found the service as good as any airline I have flown with. The food was acceptable, the service from the crew was as good as any. The aircraft was old and the seat size was small. The ground service was again as good as any airline. In conclusion I would not hesitate to fly Air Maritius again.

Route: Mauritius to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "Worst airline I've ever experienced"

Review: I booked some extra baggage for a flight but Jetstar added it to the wrong flight then charged me excess baggage fees then would not fix it. So hard to contact them also. Worst airline I've ever experienced!

Route: Christchurch to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "They did not refund them"

Review: In March our tickets were cancelled. They did not refund them, although they promised to do so in writing. All further communications are simply ignored. Test aankoop (a belgian consumer protection organisation) started up a file but they also ignored that. Even when the Belgian government bailed them out due to covid-19, they keep the money and ignore us. If you book a ticket, know you enter a lottery and can only hope and pray you won't lose your money

Route: Brussels to Porto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "nickel and dime you to death"

Review: I will never book with Allegiant again. They kept me on hold for over 15 minutes on the telephone and via chat. I was told 2 different things by 2 different agents about a credit voucher after requesting to cancel a flight 7 days in advance due to my sons medical emergency! I was only given a $108 credit for a $448 purchase. They nickel and dime you to death but are not flexible. The WORST airline with the WORST CUSTOMER SERVICE EVER!

Route: Memphis to Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sichuan Airlines

Title: "Sichuan Airlines is scamming us"

Review: Los Angeles to Hi Chi Minh City via Hangzhou and Chengdu. The flight from LAX to HGH was normal and on time. Flight from HGH to CTU was delayed for about 1 hour. When we got to CTU, the Sichuan Airlines informed us that our connection left and refused to rebook us on the next flight. We will be stranded if we don't have money to buy ticket to transit to SZX. If we bought the ticket to transit, the rest of our trip, including the return trip, will be cancelled because we didn't complete the LAX to SZX trip even though it was their delayed flight issue. I had to buy new one way ticket to return to the USA on the return trip. Sichuan Airlines dumped it on Expedia saying that Expedia sold the ticket and they are responsible for everything. Like many other passengers who were on the same situation with me at CTU airport that day. We all agreed that Sichuan Airlines is scamming us. Instead of rebooking us on the next flight due to their own delay of the inbound flight.

Route: Los Angeles to Hi Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "Onboard the experience is ok"

Review: I was yelled at by several ground crew between entering the airport and boarding the plane, for issues that were caused by the airline. Onboard the experience is ok, but I can only imagine how bad it would be if you had a significant issue that required Customer Service on the ground.

Route: Bahrain to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Juan

Title: "disappointing and unprofessional airline"

Review: This airline doesnt even deserve a single star! It is a very disappointing and unprofessional airline! We booked our tickets,3 of us from Puerto Princessa to Coron on Jan 2 2018 and had everything paid from accommodations to our activities in both cities. But airjuan totally wrecked our vacation! They cancelled our flight due to the technical issue as they said in a peak season. Our nightmare in this company didnt end there. They have given us the option to refund our money and give us a flight credit. They told us that the processing will take 20-25 days but it is already on the 32nd day today yet we havent receive any words from them. We sent emails for an update but no one from their team replies.

Route: Puerto Princessa to Coron

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "service great for budget airline"

Review: Jakarta to Surabaya. I arrived 04.30am at Jakarta terminal 1 for my 05.55am to Surabaya. I went straight to check in area to finish the formalities which the line was quite ok at that time. I went straight to the gate and for some reason on the departure monitor my flight will depart at 06.10am. At 05.15 boarding commenced and I use bus to the aircraft which park all the way to the remote area in Terminal 2. Boarded the aircraft at 05.30 which and I sat at 1D. Flight attendant were very cheerful and smile a lot. On board service was great for budget airline. Landed at SUB 30 mins behind schedule but I was quite happy since the FA apologise for the delay to each one of the passenger during disembarking.

Route: Jakarta to Surabaya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "fliers beware - customer service is non-existent"

Review: I flew Saudia Airlines Jeddah to Washington Dulles in business class. My seat would not operate so I could not adjust the seat. My entertainment system did not work so I could not watch the entertainment. Not what I expected or paid for (over $8,000 USD) during a 14 hour flight. The flight attendant supervisor tried to no avail to fix the problems, causing a disruption in the cabin multiple times. He provided me an email address for Saudia customer relations, which I have emailed a week ago with no response (and multiple follow on emails also with no response). Saudia website has a customer feedback form but the website just spins when you try to submit (I've tried to submit every day for a week to no avail). Saudia has an online chat but they just send you a link to the website form that does not work. So - that's the customer service you get - nothing! By the way, before the flight I had trouble with the Saudia app and each time I called an agent they gave me an email address for assistance and you guessed it - none of my emails were responded to. So fliers beware - customer service is non-existent.

Route: Washington Dulles to Jeddah

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "This airline is a joke"

Review: This airline is a joke. They are ill-equipped to deal with weather. My flight was delayed 2x and then canceled in a text as I was heading to the airport. No customer service, the first available flight was 20 days later. Leaving me stranded, I had to book a flight on a different airline at a ridiculously expensive price. Breeze offered no reimbursement, no voucher, no alternative flight. As the saying goes, you get what you pay for and in this case you get nothing.

Route: Vero Beach to Westchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "Flight was delayed multiple times"

Review: Flight was delayed multiple times, at first it was going hour to hour then two hours. Ticketing agent disappeared for hours with no one to ask about updates. All tracking information for the flight disappeared from all trackers leaving the entire passenger list to wonder what the hell was going on. We were told the delays were due to weather but planes have been coming and going from this airport over the last 6 hours I have been waiting to board this flight. Would be nice to provide an update at least hourly.

Route: Dublin to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "just ignoring my refund messages"

Review: I bought a ticket for a flight from Ecuador to Russia with Aeromexico and Air France. The day after the purchase, I received a letter that one of the flights was changed, the new route was not suitable for me, because I do not have a visa to Europe and I was not able to fly on the new changed route. In this connection, an involuntary refund was issued, the money for which the airline does not want to return. Today is March 7th 2022 and support is just ignoring my refund messages.

Route: Quito to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: FLYONE

Title: "a nightmarish experience"

Review: Save yourself the frustration and headaches by steering clear of this dreadful airline. I made the mistake of purchasing a ticket from them, and it turned out to be a nightmarish experience that I'll never forget. From the moment I reached out to their customer service, it was evident that they lacked basic professionalism. The representatives were unhelpful and downright rude, leaving me feeling like an inconvenience rather than a valued customer. On the day of my flight, chaos awaited me at the airport. The check-in process was a mess, with long lines and confused staff who seemed clueless about what they were doing. It was a disheartening start to what would become an arduous journey. The condition of the aircraft was equally appalling. The seats were uncomfortable and worn-out, the cabin was far from clean, and the overall atmosphere was just plain unpleasant. It was clear that they had little regard for maintaining their planes. To make matters worse, the in-flight entertainment was practically non-existent, and the limited options available were outdated and malfunctioning. The lack of effort in providing a basic amenity like this was simply disappointing. As if the discomfort and inconvenience weren't enough, the food they served was a complete letdown. The tasteless and meager portions left me hungry and dissatisfied, making the already unbearable flight even worse. Upon arrival, my fears were realized when I discovered that my luggage had been mishandled and damaged. Dealing with their customer service to resolve the issue was a nightmare in itself, as they displayed an astonishing lack of accountability and responsibility. In conclusion, my encounter with this airline was nothing short of a disaster. The unprofessional customer service, subpar amenities, discomfort, and complete disregard for passenger safety and belongings make this a company to avoid at all costs. There are plenty of reputable airlines out there that value their customers and strive to provide a pleasant and safe travel experience. Don't make the same mistake I did - look elsewhere for your next flight.

Route: Yerevan to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Regent Airways

Title: "don't recommend on international"

Review:

Cox's Bazar to Dhaka. The inbound flight was delayed by more than 1 hour due to dense fog at Dhaka which delayed the aircraft to come. The check in & luggage handling was quick & they made us board the plane as soon as the incoming passengers got of. The cabin crew need to improve their communication skills as they distributed mass snacks to the entire row of passengers & let the passengers of that row distribute snacks among themselves. It may be boring doing the same work again & again, but, still, a cabin crew can easily provide a sandwich to a passenger sitting beside the window in a single aisle aircraft. Good airlines do operate old aircraft, but, its the attitude of the cabin crew & on board product that make all the difference. I don't recommend Regent on international routes as there are so many other airlines operate out of Bangladesh with outstanding on board services like Qatar, Singapore etc.

Route: Cox's Bazar to Dhaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "overall service was lacking"

Review: The new A350 and A330 cabins were nice, PAL also offers decent food but overall service was lacking from ground experience to cabin crew and transfer. I will not recommend anyone to fly with PAL until they get their operations and training right. Our transit experience at MNL to MEL was utterly unpleasant. PAL's ground staff failed to communicate what is required of transit passengers in advance and made us go around in circles, doing unnecessary processes and had a horrible surprise at the boarding gate when we were told that we need to go to another location to have our check-in bags opened up for inspection just before our flight. It is also unacceptable that some crew on PR508 flying from SIN to MNL on 8 June was sleeping on the Premium Economy seats, even though the cabin was empty. PAL, once again changed our flight timing from MEL to MNL on 18 June and changed the A330 from the refurbished cabin to their older product with a terrible 2-2-2 configuration with no IFE on board and seats with different height. What doesn't make sense is that they allocate me and my partner to sit separately, across the aisle despite having the same booking. The business class cabin is very full and we don't have any option to even select a side by side seat. It is unacceptable for such arrangements by PAL for their premium customers and undeserving 4 star airline rating.

Route: Singapore to Melbourne via Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "they provided a free hotel "

Review: Amsterdam from Taipei with 11 hours layover in Xiamen. They provided a free hotel accommodation for passengers with a long layover at Xiamen. The 737-800 has a newer interior than the one I was in on my way to Taipei. The Boeing 787 the same as the one on my way to Taipei. Both flights were on time. We had a constant turbulence on the first couple hours on the second leg of my journey, so the meal service was suspended accordingly. The flight attendants acted quickly as soon as we flew in a clean air again and resumed the meal service. There were a significant number of babies/toddlers on the flight to Amsterdam and most of them were crying and screaming constantly. Airlines should limit the amount of babies/toddlers on board for long haul flights. Simply unfair for the other 200+ passengers. It must also be a torture for those kids too.

Route: TPE to AMS via XMN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "no space to put bag overhead"

Review: I paid extra for hand luggage bag and front seat. Still no space to put bag overhead. When asked the crew, he was useless and as discourteous as he could. Just pointed me to plane asking to look for space.

Route: Lisbon to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "Pathetic customer service"

Review: Bhubaneshwar to Mumbai. Pathetic customer service. The helpdesk people have no idea how to talk to customers and listen to their problem. We tried to prebook the excess baggage international, but the payment did not go through under my name. We rechecked the booking several times for any link to appear through which we can complete the payment. We also waited for an email, but did not get any. In the booking it did not show anything neither did it inform us to pay at the counter while boarding. Then, we again prebooked the excess baggage international. This time the payment went through. Then we went to the airport for taking the flight. The helpdesk people said that we have to pay 2500 for the pre baggage under my name which we did not need at all, as we already had it under her name. They were not at all helpful to us. They did not listen to what we wanted to say and were rude also, their argument was the following. "The extra service once added can't be removed." To my defence, I had not completed the purchase. So how can it be mine until I buy it. Just because I see a product and like it you can't force me to buy it. His argument holds true if I had paid for it and then asked to remove it.

Route: Bhubaneshwar to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Yeti Airlines

Title: "I would fly this airline again"

Review: Pokhara to Kathmandu. I received very good service by Yeti Airlines at Pokhara and Kathmandu airport on 1st Dec 2018. Due to fog, my flight was delayed. I had a connecting flight to Delhi from Kathmandu to Delhi at 1445. The Staff at Pokhara Airport were very helpful to my request to advance my booking to an earlier flight and ensured my luggage was loaded in the cabin itself, so that I could get it first when I landed at Kathmandu. At Kathmandu, the staff unloaded my luggage and took me in the small van to the terminal, so I could leave the airport quickly. I would rate this as excellent service. On my next trek in Nepal, I would fly this airline again.

Route: Pokhara to Kathmandu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "Avoid at all costs"

Review: Terrible Experience, I almost missed my flight from JFK to Aman because they insisted I need a PCR. I explained that as long as I am fully vaccinated, Lebanon no longer requires a PCR. To my great distress, they refused to let me get on the flight. I had to ask for the manager to resolve the issue. If I didnt have an existing reservation back to Cleveland, I would never step foot on Royal Jordanian ever again. The inflight entertainment was non-existent. All the movies were old. Avoid at all costs.

Route: New York to Beirut via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "Had a great experience"

Review: Chicago to Tokyo Narita. Had a great experience with JAL. Legroom was generous. Seats were well designed. Food was tasty and plentiful. Staff were very helpful and pleasant to deal with. When we almost missed the cutoff time for checked baggage, we received help from a supervisor to get our bags checked in by her personally. JAL made my partner's first trans-Pacific flight an easy experience. My only criticism is that the selection of English movies wasn't very recent.

Route: Chicago to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "IFE still awful and nothing new"

Review: Denpasar to London via Medan. We settled on the Boeing 777 for return leg luckily as the A330 was awful. The cabin crew were amazing and food was decent. It's definitely worth seeing which aircraft it is before booking. IFE still awful and nothing new. Luckily the live sports made up for it.

Route: Denpasar to London via Medan

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "super disappointment with the customer service"

Review: I have booked a return flight from Melbourne - Bali Denpasar and back. I booked these flights at the end of February. Unfortunately Citilink cancelled my flights and I have been emailing and calling them since the 3rd of March about my Refund. For three weeks they didn't get back to me where I had to ask a family member in Indonesia to help me with the progress. They finally emailed me back, telling me I had to fill in these forms within 7 days, which I did. And again they didn't get back to me for two weeks. When they finally did, they told me my credit card details on the forms and of the purchase weren't the same. How can this be possible if I send a copy of my bank details where you can see I bought the tickets with my credit card. I am super disappointment with the customer service. It has been eight weeks, and I still haven't got my refund let a long and further progress. Please Citilink help me out!

Route: Melbourne to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "they don't even smile"

Review: I flew economy class on B787-9 from Manila to Bahrain. The food was delicious though they don't offer you a menu as the variety of meals is low. There is a chance if you don't fly in the B787-9 then you don't get IFE content at all and if IFE is available it has outdated content and they do not update it quite frequently. There is a lack of focus on content and simple things they should do like updating their IFE frequently, Adding more variety of options in food, meals and snacks and making their staff more hospitable as they don't even smile or greet / welcome you upon entering of exiting the aircraft. The B787-9 is new as the seats, the leg-room is plenty as I am a tall male and I could fit my legs comfortably. Although, the support for your back isn't great even with a pillow. You'll feel like there is a lack of padding to support your lower back or maybe I am just very tall.

Route: Manila to Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "ability to provide better"

Review: On my first leg from Bandar seri Begawan to Singapore on a new A320Neo aircraft, the cabin was very fresh and clean. The flight leave on time with no issue, but the IFE was not working. Shortly after take off, the IFE was not working, i tried to inform the crew about it, but the senior crew was busy chatting with the crew in the back galley. 30 minutes later, i told one of the crew about the IFE, he said he will inform his superior. On my way back from Jakarta to BWN, a new A320Neo, once again everything seems good about the cabin, the IFE was working before the aircraft push back from the stand in CGK. Took a little time to browse the IFE. I fly with RB every month since July. The TV guide and other movie list / channel has never been change or refresh. The movies and TV channel were very out dated and its getting bored to watch the same film or tv program again and again. I finally get the chance to select a movie and the flight into an hour later, the IFE restart itself! I think this airlines has the ability to provide better products and the services, including the crew (dealing with problems) need more training in customer service.

Route: Brunei to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "Expect zero customer service"

Review: Expect zero customer service or customer relations when you fly Allegiant. On July 1 my wife and I flew from Tampa to Portsmouth. The woman in the row with us took her dog out of its bag. The stewardess told her two times that pets must stay in their bag at all times but did nothing to make sure she complied. The dog had diarrhea all over the place, ruined my wife's running shoes and bag. Unbelievable, right? The woman apologized but set the soiled dog carrier on my wife's lap while she worked to clean up the mess. It reeked! The stewardess came over and spritzed some air freshener but did nothing to help us. When I contacted customer support requesting reimbursement or a voucher, an agent told us there would be no reimbursement or vouchers saying Allegiant "has no control over the behavior of passengers." I am totally shocked. Otherwise, Allegiant has always got us where we are going at the best price with no frills.

Route: St Petersburg to Portsmouth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "avoid this airline at all costs"

Review: Ive had two flights with Aeromexico and both times: Despite being told I would receive wheelchair assistance: none was provided. Nor was any accessibility assistance provided unless I went over their head and contacted the airport or the other airline I was flying with. On this last flight, my hip partially dislocated due to all the strain of managing things myself something that I was trying to avoid. Ive encountered issues before as someone who only needs mobility assistance in certain circumstances, but I have never encountered this level of ableism or neglect while flying. Flights were delayed by more than an hour. On the return flight this resulted in me and my companion missing two connections and having to travel an extended route to return home. Despite requests when booking, checking in, and at the counter, they were unable to seat me next to my travel companion even when we had more expensive seats and were willing to downgrade. Customer service hung up on me twice and chats failed for hours until I was finally directed to someone who instantly disconnected when I informed them of the gravity of the situation. They have refused to talk to me on both Facebook messenger or WhatsApp (they use both services for chat messaging) and their phone lines either dont answer or I get hung up on. If you have any kind of disability or impairment, please avoid this airline at all costs.

Route: Oaxaca to Mexico City

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "overall a nightmare experience"

Review: Brisbane to Sydney. Travelled with a 6 month old baby and this was the worst service ever experienced. Some of the young ladies employed at Brisbane airport service desk demonstrated zero customer service on our trip to Sydney. They were sarcastic, extremely rude and showed no understanding of what was helpful to a travelling family. Ive done 8 flights with my daughter on other airlines and this short flight with Tigerair was by far the worst and left me in tears. We also had white stains on the seats in the plane, overall a nightmare experience. Tiger need to train their Brisbane front of house staff in customer service.

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "I claimed to get a hotel"

Review: I flew from Frankfurt to Istanbul, and I had an option of one night stay in Istanbul. I went to customer service desk after going through customs and getting a visa. I claimed to get a hotel as I did want to continue my journey to Saudi Arabia, and I was feeling nauseous. I spoke with Turkish Airlines agent, she told me she has a later flight, then the manager came telling me that they have a hospital upstairs.

Route: Frankfurt to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "very good if the price is right"

Review: The good news first. Fresh and tidy brand new planes, punctual departures and arrivals, ok boarding procedures, very good legroom and seat comfort, clean toilets and nice crews. The sad part: overpriced hand bag extra weight allowance (with very stingy regular allowance), exorbitant baggage charges that make your ticket really over what Lufthansa charges, very mediocre organisation of transit procedures in Vilnius. Overall very good if the price is right. Wifi was advertised but didn't work on the both flights.

Route: Kyiv to Paris CDG via Vilnius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "happily use Malaysia Airlines again"

Review: Check in at Bali Airport was quick and efficient. Malaysia Airlines business passengers may use the Premier Lounge at Bali Airport, this lounge is shared by many airlines, it is ok but nothing special. Flight boarded on time but departure was slightly delayed due to some clean-up work that had to take place on the runway suspending all flights for a short while. The B737 was the older style aircraft that has not yet been refurbished, the seats however were comfortable for a 3 hour flight. Cabin crew were attentive and meal was served soon after take off, I chose the Red Snapper with rice and ginger soya sauce, very tasty! Malaysia do not seem to promote alcoholic drinks on their short haul flights, however seeing another passenger with a glass of red wine, we also asked for the same, however it never arrived! Weather was a bit stormy coming into KLIA and the flight landed about 30 minutes late. An OK flight and will happily use Malaysia Airlines again.

Route: Denpasar to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Openskies

Title: "an unhappy customer"

Review: New York JFK to Paris Orly. My main mistake may have been to choose the Business Class which has without a doubt the worst lie-flat seat ever conceived with abominable ergonomics and comfort. The original concept (L'Avion, before it was bought by British Airways) was that of an over-average Premium Economy like La Compagnie today, curiously launched 10 years later by the same entrepreneur. Critics claim that the L'avion planes were refurbished with the BA First Generation Lie flat seats, but I have never seen those on BA, even years ago. The seat is so bad that a duvet, a mattress, and a blanket are provided separately, which makes the whole thing unmanageable in such a cluttered space. "Those who know" buy "Prem Plus", the middle class original concept (untested last night) which is so overbooked that the lucky (unlucky ?) ones end up upgraded to a seemingly inferior product. Add to this inedible food, a clumsy (separate) individual video system, no premium baggage delivery and a remote stand parking in Paris Orly and you get me, an unhappy customer unlikely to return. The cabin staff is OK when they grace you with their presence, but completely unseen during 5 of the 7 flight hours.

Route: New York to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "Absolutely shocking service"

Review: Absolutely shocking service. If I ran my company the way they did, I'd be out of business. Our flight was due to leave at 18.05, they waited until 18.25 to say the flight was cancelled and couldn't get us on another flight until the following day. We were then told to head back to baggage collection to collect our cases, and proceed to check-in to arrange the hotel. This would have been straightforward if they hadn't made us wait 2.5 hours to get our bags back. We then had to make our way to the hotel, most of that was guess work, only to find out our so called food voucher wasn't available for use in any of the hotel restaurants. They tried to palm us off with either fish or curry in a separate room and it wasn't being served until after 21:30. Travelling with children, this really isn't a fair deal. We were then informed we had been transferred onto the 06:30 flight the following morning, I mean come on, not eating until after 21:30 with children, then trying to sort cases etc and be up for 03:30 the following morning to make the flight, absolute joke! To make things even more hilarious, my friend was travelling on the Aer Lingus flight to Glasgow around the same time we were due to fly, they were 20 mins from landing and they turned back due to a technical fault. So travelling back 40 minutes was safer than the 20 mins to Glasgow!! Clearly they don't want to have a plane stranded in Glasgow, as it would cost more than the inconvenience to the full flight of passengers.

Route: Dublin to Edinburgh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "food really bad both ways"

Review: Unfortunately Avianca is the only airline at the moment flying from London to Colombia direct. The fares are expensive due to having the monopoly of this route. Noticed since the visa requirement for Colombians entering the UK was relaxed they increased the price. The food was really bad both ways and served cold. The USB port was broken and the toilet seat would not stay up. On board they are still enforcing wearing masks when the bulk of the airlines stopped. I really do hope another airline flies to Colombia direct from the UK.

Route: London to Bucaramanga via Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "no legroom at all"

Review: Plane appeared to be brand new, however very cramped seats, no legroom at all. Thank god only 2 hour flights as very uncomfortable. Food was a packed lunch box, Service was good and Brisk, Entertainment was good.

Route: Hong Kong to Nanjing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "non existent customer service"

Review: Miserable to non existent customer service, every single flight is delayed and no prior notice or updates are given. For the latest flight we were ushered into the gate area with no restrooms, no seating and no update given about the delay, there wasnt even a person at the counter until well after the departure time. Easily the worst of budget airlines, please take your money elsewhere.

Route: Kota Kinabalu to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "flight was the best ever"

Review: Sydney to Los Angeles via Nadi. Flight was delayed due to a problem with aircraft. They compensated on the stopover by putting us up in a nice hotel, room service meals included. The flight from Nadi to Los Angeles was the best ever, I was asked if I wanted a 4 seat row to myself when I already had a 3 seat to myself. Best sleep ever on a plane. Very happy with the level of service!

Route: SYD to LAX via NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "Highly recommend you don't go through them"

Review: I missed my flight so I went and got another ticket, that plane got cancelled, then get another new ticket and now it's been an hour delayed. I've been here since 4 am and won't get there until 8pm. Highly recommend you don't go through them and I asked if they would give me credit, they said no.

Route: Denver to Milwaukee

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "I had to pay as a result of their mistake"

Review: This airline is a scam. I purchased a ticket for a weekend trip with a friend. I had done this multiple days in advance, checked in, got my boarding pass, and even made it through security. While waiting at my gate I received an email that my booking was canceled, my booking not the flight. Even though I had a seat number and assurances from multiple employees that this was a mistake when I went to get on the flight I had been removed from the manifest with no explanation. After an initial call to Vueling headquarters, the people helping me were no longer able to get a response and I was left to go home with my entire trip canceled and the charge for the flight still on my card. While I was able to get the money for the flight back they will not cover any other expenses such as transport to the airport or cancellation fees I had to pay as a result of their mistake. The trip was also overbooked by around 8 people leaving me to believe they dropped me to make room for others.

Route: London to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "Gold Air cannot be reached"

Review: Lost my bag, no support or help from Aegean, trying to blame Gold Air. Gold Air cannot be reached either by phone or email. Aegean refuses to change return ticket to fly back to Crete early, only with extra charge can this be done. This trip is a complete waste of time. Food / Snack served on the 45 min flight a drink and Pringles.

Route: Heraklion to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "What a joke of an airline"

Review: I would give this airline a 0 if I could. We are very displeased with the service that we have had this past week with this airline. This was supposed to be a special trip for our honeymoon as we have recently been married. It started out great in Denver, Colorado and we get everything checked in at the airport and paid money for the checked bags. Our first flight was delayed due to, they couldnt find the plane is what we got told over the intercom. The flight was delayed about 40 minutes for that, and delayed another 20 minutes for the passenger who threw up before take off. We then missed our connection flight which was serviced by the same airline. Sun Country. They knew we were coming and didnt wait 10 minutes for the 3 (2 in my party and one other man going to Myrtle beach) of us. They got us on the soonest flight with Southwest and reassured us multiple times that our bags would be sent to our final destination. We asked 3 people to make sure and even checked baggage claim and we were told that it would be ok. We arrive in Myrtle beach to no bags and no contact from anyone from this airline. We have been working with a Southwest agent to get the information. We have spent the last 4 days in Myrtle Beach with absolutely no luggage thanks to you guys. It took me hours to try and get a hold of you guys. And when I finally did you guys werent happy or trying at all to get us our bags. Our honeymoon was absolutely ruined and now they only want to reimburse half of the money we spent on essential needs. What a joke of an airline.

Route: Denver to Myrtle Beach

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Will never fly with them again"

Review: Horrible airline with zero live customer service. You are better off paying a couple dollars more with any other airline. I purchased two tickets for my cousin and husband as their wedding gift, they overbooked the flight and said that it was a bank issued. I called the bank and they said that there was no issue on their end and that the transaction had been approved. Volaris WhatsApp customer service refused to admit that they had done wrong on their part and simply said that it was the bank which was false. Will never fly with them again.

Route: Mexico City to Houston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "never use this airline again"

Review: Johannesburg to Hong Kong. As we got on the flight we noticed on my pillow there was blood, and our entertainment system did not work! I feel it is totally unhygienic. After telling the flight attendant about the pillow she just grabbed one from an open seat and did not even apologize. I will never use this airline again.

Route: Johannesburg to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "Disappointed"

Review: This line need to have a longer period for pre boarding for older people that need assistance to get to the plane, the girl that was checking us in just kept saying sorry I did call but acknowledging the fact there are older people who cant walk as fast and need extra time. 2 minutes is not okay. They need training with customer service or do a couple more announcements than just one. Disappointed.

Route: Hamilton to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "charged $65SGD for 3kg excess carry on"

Review: Taipei to Singapore. Worse airline ever, was charged $65SGD for 3kg of excess carry on and I wanted to remove the items on the spot but staff was giving excuses to not delay the time and gave us horrible attitude. Was not notified that flight was delayed by 1h 40 minutes until I reached the boarding area. Charged $65 and flight got delayed this is the worse service Ive encountered, never experience such service from Jetstar before this is the first time and Im horrified.

Route: Taipei to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "They replied back and said no money will be refunded"

Review: I booked flights for myself and my wife in 6th Jan 2020 with Malindo Air to take us from India to Perth via Malaysia on 23 April 2020 but due to covid the flights were cancelled. I filled out the Refund request form straight away but it kept crashing, eventually after a week it went through. I hadn't heard anything back so I emailed customer services on 22nd April and heard nothing so I emailed again on 4th May and again 14th May and still had no reply. I then found they had a Facebook page so I messaged the page on 18th May and they replied to say they had passed the message onto the relevant department. Having heard nothing back I messaged them again on 31st May, they replied on 1st June and said my refund was being processed and I just needed to wait. I waited until 17th June and messaged again, this time they replied and said they were going to escalate it. Finally 23rd June they messaged back to say they were doing my refund via a voucher to be used on flights and valid for 12 months. I replied straight back and explained that I do not intend to fly in the next 12 month or even longer and that I wanted my money returned, not a voucher. They replied back and said no money will be refunded. As you can imagine with covid 19 I'm not in a hurry to go abroad and I need the money refunded as I'm currently unable to work.

Route: Kerala to Kuala Lumpur via Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "worst flying experience"

Review: Tel Aviv to Tbilisi. This is the worst flying experience we ever had. First the flight is rescheduled for 4 hours earlier and we get the notice on the same day. then they fly us to Kutaisi instead of Tbilisi and just leave in the airport with zero information. No agent in the city. No information when can we expect the flight. They say - you can take a taxi on your own. This is officially the most ignorant, irrelevant and low service airways ever. Never again!

Route: Tel Aviv to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Salam Air

Title: "as expected for a budget airline"

Review: Muscat to Tbilisi. Salam Air is a fairly new budget airline operating out of Muscat, Oman. Check-in in MCT was extremely slow. With only some 10 people in front of me, I needed more than one hour to get my boarding pass. At the gate at the time of boarding, a 30-min delay was announced which half an hour later was extended by a further 30 min. This went on in increments until we finally left at 3 am (instead of the scheduled 11 pm). Since there were hardly 30 pax on the A320, everybody had a full row for a short sleep at last. Return was spot on time. Check-in in Tbilissi swift. Plane now packed to the last seat. These are reasonably comfortable but tight, as is to be expected for a budget airline. There is no IFE and no free food. Water was distributed though.

Route: Muscat to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "Really a disaster"

Review: No food, drinks offered unless you buy it. They did not have everything offered in the menu, in particular no sandwiches. The airport staff in Miami was unfriendly, no ear sets offered and you have to use your phone to use the multimedia that was not working 100%. Really a disaster!

Route: Miami to Barranquilla

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Koryo

Title: "crew are efficient, pleasant and helpful"

Review: It is absolutely unfair to give only one star to this airline: the Tupolev plane is in good condition and perfectly clean, the crew are efficient, pleasant and helpful, and last but not least, it is always on time, you can find many airlines much worse than that, for instance Air China on the same route. The route flown is the no. 1 route of Air Koryo linking DPRK to Beijing, and this entitles you to some patriotic videos on the overhead screen. The buns served are not too bad, and drinks are acceptable for such a small trip. All in all, a good experience.

Route: FNJ to PEK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "service was entirely satisfactory"

Review:

The premium economy service was entirely satisfactory. The seat doesn't have a lot of recline, but the legroom was fine for a 6'1" (185 cm) person and I was comfortable for the whole eight-hour trip. I liked the food well enough and appreciated having actual metal cutlery (though serving wine in a paper cup seemed a bit déclassé). The entertainment system had quite a wide variety of both movies and music. There was only one W.C. for a cabin of 50+ passengers, which is the only notable demerit that I found. Price was acceptable for a last-minute trip (purchased six hours before departure); the online purchasing was simple and efficient.

Route: Petropavlovsk-Kamchatsky to Moscow

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Yeti Airlines

Title: "cabin crew was friendly"

Review: I flew Yeti Airlines, June 28 from Bhairahawa (the airport near Lumbini, the birthplace of Buddha) to the capital Kathmandu. It was a morning flight, on time, the ground staff were friendly, cabin crew was friendly. They served soft drinks on this 35 minute flight. Reading material offered. The jetstream is a turboprop engine aircraft and has seating capacity for 29 person in an 1x2 arrangement The flight was smooth. Yeti Airlines has the reputation of flying on time. Though it's safety record is not very encouraging but has been spotless and blemish free since it separated it's mountains region operations in the name of Tara air as it's subsidiary. Sky miles, their frequent flyer program is very popular and has many other benefits like discounts in hotels, than award tickets. The name Yeti also is an attraction to the visitors.

Route: BWA to KTM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "This was the worst experience"

Review: This was the worst experience Ive ever had with an airline, first I checked in online from both flights going to Rome and coming back to nyc and both times their app said I was able to leave luggage at a drop off counter and proceed to security. In neither JFK or FCO does this airline have any luggage drop off counter, both times we waited 45 minutes just to check luggage. Secondly every flight, 4 in total, was delayed by an hour or more, and we were seated on the plane to wait during this time. The plane were extremely hot and uncomfortable, I witnessed and elderly couple ask for water and I watched as they were snubbed and spoken to rudely by the crew. On my 8 hour flight from nyc to Rome I reserved and paid for extra large seats a $220 cost, only to arrive on the plane and see that I had been moved to a middle seat in the middle of the plane. When I spoke to the crew they told me there was nothing they could do and I would have to ask for a refund upon arrival to our destination. I then saw the crew filling up the empty seats on the plane with standby flyers. Im not opposed to this but wouldnt it have made more sense to offer to move me and my husband? We paid for seats dont get an apology or anything just brushed off by staff that seemed bothered I had even spoken to them at all. I feel like I was scammed, this airline should be formally investigated. Worst experience Ive ever had I will never fly with them ever again and I hope no one else ever does either.

Route: Rome to New York via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Worst experience every time"

Review: Worst experience every time. No time sense. Keeps getting delayed or cancelled. Not recommended. Staff, very rude and irresponsible. Do not help you out when the mistake is on their side.

Route: Bengaluru to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "service very good"

Review: I found the Monarch Airlines service very good. The crew were very attentive and eager to assist. The aircraft was clean. The check in was quick and we landed early on the outward journey, coming back the weather was very windy and we were advised that we may have to divert, but the captain made a text book landing and we were 5 mins early. I would certainly travel with Monarch Airlines again.

Route: Leeds Bradford to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "This is my last encounter with Kulula"

Review: Horrible treatment of customers. I felt like a child because of the absolute rudeness of staff. My flight was canceled with no explanation and I was put on an earlier flight, I checked in the night before to ensure I am seated next to my husband and once we got to the boarding gate I was told I was moved, no one could explain why and told me to go to my new seat and there is nothing they can do. Once in the aircraft I asked the first attendant if I can be moved back and he rudely said there is nothing he can do. A second attendant understood and asked the gentleman seated in my original seat if we could swap (turns out he checked in late and was given my seat) once sorted the head attendant rudely demanded to see our boarding passes and treated us in the worst way before she realized she was wrong and we were in our correct seats. For the remainder of the flight she would not even serve us, even though our seats were allocated to her. This is my last encounter with Kulula.

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cobalt

Title: "Greek language is a must"

Review: Larnaca to Athens. My first flight on this new airline based in Cyprus. The A320 was perfect, looked clean and new, departed on time and arrived ahead of schedule. Flight was excellent, with a constant updating on the route both in Greek and English. All in all a great flight but flight attendants did not even speak Greek and some passengers had a problem in getting service from the hostess. The inflight magazine, torn apart and overused was only in English. Even safety instructions were only in English. This airline seems to ignore or avoid the Greek language. Being a low cost airline, goodies on sale were at a high price. Fully recommended as an airline, but they should realise that Greek language is a must especially in case of emergency not to mention out of respect.

Route: LCA to ATH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Volaris

Title: "we still didn't get non-stop flights"

Review: If you are a planner, in the sense that you want to know your departing date, arrival date, departure date and arrival date, do not fly Volaris. I originally had my ideal flights of nonstop departures and arrivals and they arbitrarily changed both of them on me. There is very limited communication you have to do with them, WhatsApp chat or a Facebook chat. If you use the whatsapp or Facebook chat know it will take you at least 2 days to get what you need. They respond every 4 hours to your messages so be sure to put all the info into your messages every time you respond. I got a message in Spanish after 4 hours and it took me another 4 to get an English person on Chat. It will take you a day to resolve their arbitrary flight change they imposed on you. We only booked this way because of the the non-stop flights, but after all said and done, we still didn't get non-stop flights. They do not issue refunds or any sort of reasonable compensation and zero recourse since they are not USA compliant.

Route: San Diego to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "never fly with them again"

Review: Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh. Garbage airline, changed my flight to seven hours earlier boarding time, ruined my vacation and refused to cancel or refund my ticket. And then, failed to respond to multiple emails and phone calls. Absolute and complete failure as far as customer service. Will never fly with them again.

Route: Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "There is nothing not to like"

Review: Bangkok to Koh Samui. Easy Check-In, The Bangkok Lounge (available to everyone) was crowded but still comfortable and the food and refreshments options plus WiFi are a bonus. Boarded on time via a bus, but was organized and efficient. Plane left bang on time and flight was 50 mins, in this time 4 crew still managed to serve a small hot lunch with hot beverages. Aircraft was clean comfortable but quite old. There is nothing not to like about Bangkok Airways, arriving in Koh Samui bags were out in 5 mins.

Route: Bangkok to Koh Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "employee didn't believe me and made me pay"

Review: I was very disappointed how I had to pay $50 for a carry on, my son was in a wheelchair and could take his own bag. The employee didn't believe me and made me pay. I had purchased 6 tickets and would never fly with this airline again.

Route: Raleigh to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "delays in both flights"

Review: Transavia managed to have delays in both flights, dirty cabin and extremely long waiting times for luggage.

For the price you pay it's ridiculous service.

Route: Tenerife to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "inexperienced and inconsiderate staff"

Review: Most inexperienced and inconsiderate staff. Kept making stupid errors, such as putting the car seat check-in sticker on the luggage and vice versa. They called the help desk a million times and kept interrupting each other. We stood at the desk for 2 hours.

Route: Baltimore to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: fastjet

Title: " a comedy of errors"

Review: My wife and I booked round trip with fastjet from Johannesburg to Zanzibar because they were the only direct service, so we could avoid immigration/customs and switching flights in Dar es Salaam (airport hell). A month later, fastjet informed us they were cancelling the segment from Dar to Zanzibar and would have us change to Precision Air (a misnomer if ever there was one!) in Dar. For the return trip, they were going to shoehorn us into a Cessna Caravan (what a downgrade from an A319!). Instead, I paid for a one-way ticket with Precision Air to avoid this. The connection in Dar on the outbound trip was pandemonium, and the boarding in Dar for the return flight to Joburg was a comedy of errors and hugely unprofessional behaviour, as the boarding agents engaged in a heated argument in front of all the passengers. Despite the fact I had paid extra for premium seats at the front, we were stuck at the back and I had to insist that we be moved to the seats I had paid for. When we left the plane after arrival in Joburg, the cabin staff were nowhere in sight, to thank us for flying with them. In short, hell will freeze over before we go near fastjet again!

Route: DAR to JNB

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "seem to always impress"

Review: Denpasar to Jakarta. Garuda seem to always impress from the ground crew to the air crew. Was great to fly a widebody aircraft on a regional flight thus giving lots of legroom and space in between seats. Food service was fast and prompt serving chicken rice, coconut jelly and a bottle of tea and water. Entertainment was fine for a short flight. The only down side was waiting for my bag in Jakarta but seems to be normal with any airline flying to Jakarta

Route: Denpasar to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "impressed with everything"

Review: Casablanca to Muscat. I was impressed with everything about Oman Air. This was our third flight after our two legs going to Europe and this the first returning home to Australia. The service was excellent on all legs and the food was some of the best airline food I have had. The business class seat is all you could want and I managed 5 hours sleep. There was a great selection of wine and other beverages.

Route: Casablanca to Muscat

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "worst business class trip"

Review: This is the worst business class trip I have taken. Flight delayed by 2 hours. When we take off no proper catering options, just given a tray of unrecognisable western dish (chicken?) and then asked if want to order the dinner meal before arrival - a choice of scrambled egg or porridge - who eats breakfast for dinner? Staff were polite but the cabin was too hot and the entertainment selection is appalling.

Route: Seoul Incheon to London

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "not worth the trouble"

Review: Be careful on the Air Asia site as you think you are booking through Air Asia and then suddenly you are booking the flights you selected through kiwi.com - but it still looks like Air Asia! My flights were rescheduled to the next day but I was not notified. I turned up at the airport to find out my flight wouldnt be until the next day. Air Asia blamed kiwi.com and kiwi.com blamed Air Asia. I was not offered any compensation for the lost accommodation fees or expensive Uber to the airport, nothing. Neither Air Asia or kiwi.com would accept any responsibility. I hate to think what wouldve happened if I had a connecting flight. Do not book through Air Asia or kiwi.com, its not worth the trouble.

Route: Perth to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "Air France did not meet my expectations"

Review: I would like to express my dissatisfaction with my recent flight experience with Air France. Unfortunately, my trip was marked by a significant delay, inadequate accommodations, and disproportionate treatment regarding the weight of my carry-on baggage. First and foremost, my flight experienced a 2-hour delay, which resulted in a missed connecting flight at CDG to AJA and disrupted my plans. The lack of effective communication and frequent updates on the flight status only exacerbated my frustration and discomfort throughout the waiting period. Furthermore, the accommodations provided by Air France were extremely disappointing. The hotel where I was accommodated was of inferior quality, with poor conditions and lack of air conditioning. The unbearable heat made my stay even more unsatisfactory and affected my rest before continuing with the journey. Lastly, I would like to mention the excessively strict attitude regarding the weight of my carry-on baggage. I was surprised by a severe reprimand from the airline staff due to just 700 grams over the limit in my carry-on bag, even though it was the same bag I boarded with in MUC. This disproportionate approach and disrespectful treatment left me extremely disappointed with the service provided. As a customer, I expected a comfortable and professional flight experience, but unfortunately, Air France did not meet my expectations. I request that you review your customer service policies with the aim of preventing other passengers from going through similar experiences in the future. As a result of this negative experience, I categorically state that I do not intend to fly with Air France again. I hope that this situation will be treated seriously, and appropriate measures will be taken to remedy the situation.

Route: Munich to Ajaccio via Paris

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "give them the highest praise"

Review: Sharm El Sheikh to Birmingham. Myself and my partner were caught up in the security situation in Egypt following the bombing of the Russian Aircraft. Monarch had my mobile number but, unfortunately my mobile decided that it would stop working in Egypt. My daughter (in the UK) had to contact them and give them an alternative number so that they could contact me regarding our flight home. I received a call on Saturday 14th November informing me that our flight home would be leaving the following day and that it would be to Birmingham and not Manchester. We were met at Sharm airport by a number of, polite and helpful Monarch Airways staff and were airborne almost on time. The Captain and crew were marvellous and the complimentary meal we were given on board was greatly appreciated. On arrival at Birmingham we were met, once again by a number of very understanding Monarch Airways staff who surprised us all by giving us a free bag containing a loaf, milk and a packet of biscuits. Whoever thought of this little gift should be complimented as, at almost midnight on a Sunday night, this was a very welcome gift. I can only give them the highest praise for the way that they looked after us.

Route: SSH to BHX

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Amaszonas

Title: "changed flights last minute"

Review: La Paz to Rurrenabaque. They changed our flights last minute with no warning. We were literally at the gate and they told us they had to change the times due to "operational reasons". Because of this we are missing an already paid organised tour. This also applies to the flight back from Rurrenabaque. Worst company ever.

Route: La Paz to Rurrenabaque

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "you definitely get what you pay for"

Review: Cheapest ticket like half the price of other airlines but you definitely get what you pay for. For an international flight, no food or beverage offered except with purchase and obviously onboard pricing is 3x normal. A couple delays and thankfully connections were with them too so it wasn't a problem. So if you don't mind a little discomfort and being nickelled and dimed for the small conveniences that are courtesy in other airlines, then go for it.

Route: London Stansted to Keflavik via Baltimore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "was very impressed"

Review: Very good entertainment screens. Tasty food even though it was a short flight. Good space seats, did have escape row. Had a very good flight, was very impressed.

Route: Christchurch to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "my checked bag never made it"

Review: I flew ITA Airways and my checked bag never made it. The only phone number for US citizens to call re-routes through Albania and after literal two-hour waits on hold, all they offer is to email the complaints department. ITA doesn't even have a baggage office in the US! I have a claim ticket and even a code that my bag is stuck in Roma but have no way to retrieve it and no one at ITA Air to talk to about it! Airlines with respect and professionalism would contact you and assure you it will be on the next flight but ITA Airways just passes the buck, call the only number and be told the only thing you can do is email complaints. Email complaints and they do nothing. No baggage office for ITA Air at the airport so they say you have to check your airport's lost and found but lost and found says that's only for when people are departing and accidentally lose something; not for incompetent airlines who can't reliably get checked bags safely to their final destination. It's coming on two months now.

Route: New York to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "definitely fly with them again"

Review: On time flight with good style of seat and positive vibe on the ground and in the air. Cabin crew showed a real down to earth care for 'their' airline, reflecting the refreshing realism of Rex's rustic character. Paid a few extra dollars for some leg room which, when taken in context of an already affordable price point, presented great value for money. Flown Rex regionally before but this was my first time on a domestic route and will definitely fly with them again.

Route: Sydney to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "inflight staff are the shining light"

Review: Overall an OK experience. The outbound flight was delayed by 3+ hours due to an instrument light that needed a physical sign-off by a technician that was 2+ hours away. If this was an isolated event, that would be one thing, but reading numerous reviews before booking my flight it sounds like this happens quite frequently. Shame on me, I guess. The Condor 767's are rather old, from my understanding (28 years on average) so it seems like this problem could be better planned for. This delay caused me to miss my connecting flight with Lufthansa, which was a whole other ordeal in and of itself. The return flight was uneventful, thankfully. The only issue was that my digital boarding pass listed an incorrect seat (I specifically paid for an aisle seat with premium entertainment) so that caused me to feel pretty anxious. When I got to the gate in Frankfurt I asked the desk agent about my digital pass, only to have him largely ignore me. He then printed a new boarding pass that had my correct seat. What this was about, I don't know. The cabins aren't bad, seats are ok and the inflight staff are the shining light for this airline. They were polite and attentive and I appreciated their help.

Route: Portland to Frankfurt via Hamburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "better timewise compared to the train"

Review: I picked this as I needed to be in Warsaw early in the morning and this was the earlier flight of the day, way better timewise compared to the train and price wise I paid similar to the train ride with way less time spend to travel. We boarded the plane in the tunnel rather than the outdoor stairs which was good as it was very cold outside that morning. As I was asleep for most of the flight I missed out on the complimentary pastry and water but coming to landing as I woke up the cabin crew offered me the pastry and water which I took.

Route: Wroclaw to Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "2 years of waiting for refund"

Review: They cancelled the flight last April 2020. That is 2 years of waiting for refund but I kept getting their response that it is still being investigated since there was huge volume of flights they cancelled. 2 years and still no refund up until now. Modern day thief!

Route: Yangon to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "Don't waste your time, it's not worth it"

Review: Absolutely the worst experience ever. They were late, very disorganized, over priced on luggage, their self check in is flawed and we ended up having to help, they flew us out of different terminals which created major luggage problems. I will never fly this airline again. Don't waste your time, it's not worth it.

Route: Dallas to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "luggage weighs few kg extra"

Review: Riga to Zurich. Company is a joke. Hand luggage weighs few kg extra and they have the cheek to charge 60 Euro! Better take any other company and pay more and be comfortable instead of this airline. Worst customer service I've seen from an airline. You take money and then have the audacity to be sarcastic to the customer?

Route: Riga to Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "I will fly with Tiger again"

Review: Enjoyed a smooth Tigerair flight from Singapore to Bangkok on Tiger Airways. Check-in was easy since I did so 72hrs before the flight and had the boarding pass printed for direct-to-gate clearance. Did not experience the queue and waiting time was almost zero, allowing me lots of time to shop at duty free. It was an early morning flight. A slight detour meant we had to board the plane which was parked on the tarmac. Onboard the crew were friendly and professional. I will fly with Tiger again for my next trip to Bangkok.

Route: Singapore to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "I have had missing/delayed bags"

Review: I make a round trip flight to South America at least 2x per year. When AC Rouge first started, I loved flying with them. Then they upgraded their planes with thinner seats and less recline, (unfortunately most airlines have made this upgrade). I find it rather ironic that they did this, when every study on air rage, shows that more comfort (aka more leg room and seat recline), reduces stress and air rage. So they did the exact opposite of what every study said they should do. So not only have they made a long haul flight, less comfort able, the prices have also been steadily creeping upwards, (I used to buy first class for what you now pay in premium economy). As a whole, the cabin crew has always been great to me, but you always get the odd one who may be having a bad day and are a bit more abrasive. When Rouge first started flying, I never had an issue with missing or delayed baggage. The last 4 flights I have had missing/delayed bags. In summery, AC Rouge is a typical low cost carrier that cuts costs where they can. They used to be exceptional, but now they are below average.

Route: Toronto to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "Worst experience ever"

Review: Delhi to Hong Kong. Worst experience ever, the flight was delayed by an hour because of which our connecting flight to Seattle missed. Then Jet Airways just abandoned at hongkong, no representative showed up to at least let us know what was happening. Will never travel with Jet Airways again.

Route: Delhi to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "No reasons for the delay"

Review: No reasons given for the delay. They'll just announce that there is delayed and that's it. 2 hours delayed without nothing. And no timing as well if which time will it depart. It's difficult for us traveller of if we dont know anything regarding the flight. There are some reason that are valid or not but still have the right to know.

Route: Manila to Kalibo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LAN Airlines

Title: "friendly crew"

Review: Flew Buenos Aires to Ushuaia with LAN Airlines. On-time departure and arrival. Friendly crew. Comfortable seats. Even though Aerolineas operates on this route more frequently than LAN, the good service and on time punctuality more than make up for the lack of flight frequency between these 2 cities. Would recommend.

Route: EZE to USH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "The people were incredibly rude"

Review: I found out when I went to get my boarding pass they overbooked the flight and I no longer could get anything until 2 days later. The people were incredibly rude and the supervisor literally left and started helping people for 40 min when he was supposed to be doing something for us. Compensations I was offered was $8 for food, $100 credit (no way Im using them again). I called later and was hung up by customer service twice. I think that sums up the absolute embarrassment of a company this is and they should be ashamed of the people they hire. The 2 supervisors I talked to were the worst of them all.

Route: Mexico City to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "poor ticketing system"

Review: Tokyo to Kuala Lumpur. Decent airline but poor ticketing and check-in system. Check-in at ANA counter always takes me more than 30mins because their system indicates that the name on the check-in system and name on passport is the other way around (First name, last name). This happens even though we strictly follow ANA'S online reservation system guideline on how to input names for people from various countries. I explained this to the ground staff at Narita and Haneda multiple times but their response is usually that the reservation system is handled by another department. Discrepancy between reservation system and check in system is definitely a possibility. I can't add my miles because ANA mile systems has a totally different rule for passengers without dedicated first name and last name. So I have given up Using ANA mileage but now using United mileageplus. My family and I are relatively frequent flyers yet we never experience this with other airlines. With ANA, same problem has been going on for at least 2 yrs but we have not seen any improvement since.

Route: Tokyo to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "staff not helpful at all"

Review: Just got home after a nightmare flight on a Monarch Airlines flight. We paid for our seats extra when booking our holiday and on both journeys from Luton to Palma de Mallorca and return they gave us the most dreadful seats looking onto the wing of the plane with no view whatsoever. On our return journey the seats were the same except it was worse seeing as directly behind me a small boy aged around 5 or 6 years sat with his family, and all the through the journey he was kicking my seat. I didn't say anything about it but then he started having a tantrum with continuous screaming and screaming the whole journey. The staff on board did nothing to try to control the situation and ignored my pleas for paracetamol after I told them I had a bad headache with the noise. The staff didn't offer my husband and I an alternative seat although as I found out nearer to my destination that there were other seats available further back as just before landing I was forced to ask for another seat. The boy screamed and screamed the whole trip until we were near landing with no one from the staff trying to help the situation. The staff were not helpful at all or pleasant.

Route: Palma to Luton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "it's been headaches and frustration"

Review: Avoid at all costs. If you have something important like a well-deserved vacation or business trip, you'll have it ruined by taking this airline. From start to finish, it's been headaches and frustration. The website is old, buggy and online check in is impossible. You need to arrive at least 3 hours before to avoid getting bumped, however on both trips the gates never opened until 2 hours before. Phone customer service is very difficult to reach and you'll be dialing a few phone numbers to reach someone barely able to speak English. Hostesses barely speak English. You won't hear from the pilot at all. If you have a layover with this airline in Asia you will be routed through Shanghai Pudong, a terrible airport with three security checks, passport control and a feeling that you're selling your soul for a discount flight. Food is mediocre. Online entertainment consists of a handful of heavily censored vanilla Hollywood flicks. Expect half of the passengers to stand up the minute the landing gear hits the ground, sparking a very loud shouting match in Chinese Mandarin between the hostesses and unruly passengers to put a nice finishing touch to your experience. It never ceases to amaze me how this airline became a Skyteam member. Any other airline for your flight to Asia should be used if you want a pleasant beginning and end to your journey. You deserve better.

Route: Bangkok to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Primera Air

Title: "my flight was canceled"

Review: Newark to London. Four days after booking, I received an email saying my flight was canceled due to unexpected issues. No big deal, we have 3 weeks until departure. They give three options. Fly with them, fly with competition or refund my money. Flights are now double in cost, so I leave it to them to book a new ticket. It has now been 10 days, I have only received 2 emails from a human, with less than 2 sentences total as a response. They tell me I am being booked on their competitor (Air India) but for 3 days, they have not responded with me confirmation. I have not even seen the plane or boarding pass and this airline is already the biggest pain in 15 years of flying I have done. I never bother with an online review, but with such horrible service, I felt compelled.

Route: Newark to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "delayed by more than two hours"

Review: Flight from Riga to Munich. Should have been leaving at 5.35 pm, when we got to the airport, no indication of delay, however, flight was delayed by more than two hours, no room for hand luggage, got stored throughout the aircraft, when asked for this staff super unfriendly, said you can wait when leaving the aircraft

Route: Riga to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "how they perform in a crisis"

Review: Flew Nok Air from Chiang Mai to Bangkok (having to make an international connection at Suvarnbhumi after landing at Don Muang) on Feb 16, a few days after their pilot strike. Host of problems: flight moved from 10:45am to 11:15am, aircraft changed from a single-body to wide body (airline changed to Nok Scoot), consequently took far longer to fill and far longer to load luggage, flight ultimately leaving at 12:40pm; on arrival at Don Muang the airbridge would not work and it took half an hour to disembark get onboard a bus which wound its way to the terminal, the luggage took 40 minutes to arrive. During this entire time I am biting my nails because I had to transfer from one airport to the other and the shuttle bus takes between 1-1/2 to 2 hours and I was in danger of missing my international flight. By the time I collected my luggage there was no way to make my connection at Suvarnbhumi had I used the shuttle and I had no choice but to take a taxi and tell the driver if he made it in 35 minutes I would give him 1000B. He did, and I made it with 10 minutes to spare before the check in counter closed. My return to Chiang Mai (Bkk-CM) is for March 4 at 19:00. I found out yesterday, February 25, that all Nok flights in March leaving Bangkok after 17:00 have been cancelled. Since my incoming flight to Suvarnbhumi comes in at 15:00 there is no way for me to make an earlier flight. All efforts to contact Nok by email have resulted in no reply. Calling Nok from India (where I am now) results in being put on endless hold and it costs about 19B a minute. Have used Nok 6-8 times a year, for more then 10 years, on this route and have rarely found any fault. However, the proof of an airline's worth is how they perform in a crisis - in this case some of their pilots being on strike - and here Nok fails miserably. I finally ended up buying a ticket on another airline and at more than twice the cost. I would, however, continue to recommend this airline. Hope the next time they have a crisis they perform better.

Route: CNX to DMG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "devalued their loyalty program"

Review: Singapore to Jakarta. Garuda no longer offer wine on this 1hr 45 mins flight and IFE has not been updated since the beginning of 2019. They have devalued their loyalty program. I no longer have a reason to be their loyal customer.

Route: Singapore to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "cheap hassle free flight"

Review: Langkawi to Singapore. I had booked two flights on Tiger Air, I was notified by email that one had been cancelled and given the option of a full refund or a flight the next day. I chose the refund and two days later the money was in my account. I had taken out the online insurance offer when booking, I had to fight and send mails back and forth for a refund on the insurance premium - I was first told no refunds once a certificate of insurance has been issued - after threatening the insurance company by going to the insurance ombudsman I was refunded. Flight was on time, check in was easy, flight was fine. as with all bucket airlines, read the small print, follow the instructions about online check-in and prepaid bags and you'll have a cheap hassle free flight. I will be flying with them again.

Route: LGK to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Horizon Air

Title: "nice job all the way around"

Review: Horizon Air from Seattle to Eugene roundtrip. No complaints, the crews were great, planes clean and on time in both directions. As with all of Horizon Air flights, free beverages including wine and beer are provided. The aircraft was perfect for the less than one hour flight to SeaTac - quite fast actually. The skies were clear and the view was perfect. Nice job all the way around.

Route: SEA to EUG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "awful company"

Review: Crete to Stuttgart. Awful company. It was my first and last time! Arrogant and not polite staff, old and dirty airplane. I booked our holiday from TUI, and I didnt expect that another company will be used for the return flight. We flight from Crete to Stuttgart, 10 min after the flight departed we were informed that there is problem with the airplane and we must land in Athens. It was 30 min on the plane with closed doors and without air conditioning. It was 32 outside without water, babies and kids were crying. They inform us that an engineer must come the check the problem, so we stayed almost 3 hours in Athens airport. Terrible experience - never again with Corendon Airlines.

Route: Crete to Stuttgart

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "airport experience was one of the worst"

Review: The airport experience was one of the worst due to the fact that Etihad outsources the local Thai company which can boast of having the worst and most unfriendly staff. The worst person was the duty manager who even mocked at my wife who was a wheelchair patient. The lounge was outsourced as well and was a pathetic dump. Luckily I had a priority pass and could use other lounges. Boarding started on time and the flight was packed in every seta. The plane was dated but the service was overall very good by the Etihad crew. IFE was not bad and the food quality was very nice. Wifi packages were reasonable and I was able to buy it using my miles. The best part was that we landed 50 minutes ahead of schedule which was wonderful!

Route: Bangkok to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "Its like an expensive bus ride"

Review: Honestly American Airlines has to do much better. These carriers they use for smaller cities are tiny and full to capacity. Theres barely any room to move. Why in the world when I am booking American Airlines am I being assigned this carrier? I think this information should be better disclosed to passengers when they are purchasing their flights. The plane smelt like pee and we were delayed by over 15 minutes without any explanation. Its like an expensive bus ride to upstate NY without any damn amenities. So long as they continue to utilize this carrier for the the airport I live near to I wont be booking any flights with with them.

Route: Philadelphia to Syracuse

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AnadoluJet

Title: "I would use again"

Review: Izmir to Ankara. High density seating, a little cramped, but ok for a flight lasting a little over 1 hour. The flight left on time, a quick snack, i.e. cake, given with water and tea/coffee service. The flight attendants were attentive. A smooth flight, it landed a couple of minutes early. No complaints, I would use again.

Route: Izmir to Ankara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "a good experience"

Review: Overall was a good experience, check in went smoothly, food was decent for airline food and the staff was friendly. The main downside was that the lounge in Tokyo Haneda was overcrowded.

Route: Seattle to Tokyo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Bitterly disappointing"

Review: I flew from Dublin to Sydney recently and the second leg of my trip was terrible. The plane for this leg for archaic with narrow seats, horrible leg space, and a tiny entertainment screen. The TV froze 1 minute into my 14 hour flight. I said this to the cabin crew straight away but was ignored until I asked for a 5th time almost 3 hours into the flight. In the end, they couldn't fix it, they claimed they couldn't move me as the plane was full, and offer me a $15 wifi voucher as compensation. Firstly, the wifi voucher only last 6 hours maximum, but in reality it doesn't even last that long. The staff member informed me that the data limit was low and so I couldn't watch videos on it, and this wasn't useful to me at all. The most disappointing part, however, is Etihad's indifference and poor service after the fact by refusing to do anything for me as "they already gave me a wifi voucher as a service recovery." Bitterly disappointing from start to finish. Do not fly with them.

Route: Dublin to Sydney via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "couldnt get in the flight"

Review: Worst experience with an airline. Very disappointing I bought a flight ticket to Hanoi with a transfer in Kaohsiung, Taiwan. The Taiwan government site says I do not need a transfer visa as long I dont leave the airport. However AirAsia doesnt have the facility that allows me to remain in the airport without a visa, so I couldnt get in the flight and they didnt refund me. They should have given the information when the purchase made.

Route: Cebu to Kaohsiung

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "had lost my luggage twice"

Review: Austrian airlines had lost my luggage twice. Initially they lost it on my flight from Amsterdam to Sofia with a layover in Vienna, where I was forced to attend my wedding in whatever outfit I could purchase from H&M. My luggage was returned to me 3 days later. And lo and behold, my luggage was lost on the return trip back to Amsterdam. It has now been 3 weeks and I have had absolutely no update whatsoever on my luggage as to the whereabouts, and all my attempts at contacting the airline to find out what is happening and find out where I can receive compensation for the costs of buying basically a whole new wardrobe have been for naught because customer service does not exist with this airline. I'm reluctant to even start an insurance claim for the damages done because the process may take months at this rate due to how utterly hopeless this airline is.

Route: Amsterdam to Sofia via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "Very budget affair overall"

Review: Aviancas controversial race to the low fares bottom has also taken a hit on business class. No dedicated check in or boarding for business class in Bogotá. Complete rude-bordering-on- indifference from gate staff when I innocently asked why not. Onboard no pre flight drinks or nibbles for business, and other than dinner and mediocre breakfast staff just hid away all flight with no drinks or even water. Small touches that cost nothing but leave a mark when absent. Entertainment had limited films and TV, no music channels. Very budget affair overall - I was on miles, but for high paying pax it Makes no sense to cut back on premium classes even if economy is all low fares. Would rather take longer with better product e.g. on Iberia.

Route: Bogota to London LHR

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "crew really are the highlight"

Review: Overall an ok flight. Lounge - SilverKris Changi is huge and was too over crowded. We had to sit at a canteen type table which was uncomfortable. We only stayed long enough to change our sim and change clothes. Way too busy. Gate/Boarding. We got in line. Was told there was no point as it hadnt opened. We stayed in line as seats get taken in there fast. Boarding passes are scanned after security which meant the one gate agent could not cope when it was boarding time and everyone stormed the gate not adhering to groups or priority. Seat - narrow. Overhead lockers were too high for me to reach even with the little foot aid thing. Others had to help. No other storage except under the foot rest. There is a tiny cubby hole where ear phones, menu and water bottle were kept. Not a comfortable seat to sleep in being so narrow with no wriggle room. Hard being a side sleeper. Food - As all my other flights had poor quality food I opted for no meal, just sleep. The passenger in front argued with the FA over no breakfast service. Personally I believe there should have been a choice but no. The lovely FA verified no meal with me and offered to keep cheesecake aside that she would serve to me with coffee when I woke which was lovely of her. As I woke an hour or so before landing she was right there with what was promised. On arrival luggage arrived quickly so we were one of the first through customs with no long line. Overall the crew really are the highlight with Singapore Airlines. The rest is average to below average with definite cut backs evident. Also disappointed that when I booked this flight it was for the 777 which has better seats for sleep but that changed to the less than comfortable 350-900 medium haul.

Route: Singapore to Melbourne

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Tanzania

Title: "most incompetent and unprofessional"

Review: Air Tanzania are the most incompetent and unprofessional airline I have ever used. I used them from Lusaka to Nairobi via Daresalaam on 4th September Flight 212 from Lusaka to Dar was delayed by 2 hrs ostensibly due to technical challenges which necessitated a plane change, then flight 202 from Dar to Nbi was also held up for 2 more hours while they sorted out scheduling conflicts arising from the delays, with some passengers waiting on the plane, others in the airport waiting area and yet others in the airport bus. At one point they also ran out of stationery to print boarding passes. No cogent apologies or explanations were given by the ground staff, though the Captain at some point apologized but tried to put the blame on distant Kenyan authorities. Finally arrived in Nbi at 12 midnight only to find our bags had been left behind in Dar or Lusaka!! I finally got home at 2 am, minus my bags. Needless to say, that is the first and last time I use Air Tanzania.

Route: Lusaka to Nairobi via Dar es Salaam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "lot better than I expected"

Review: Sydney to Nadi in Fiji Airways business class. Only problem I had is that I booked Qantas ticket QF391 paid Qantas and as a gold Air Berlin (sapphire oneworld) I tried to get into the Qantas lounge, I could but I could not take my partner as they would not except my Air Berlin as I was not travelling on Qantas aircraft - the lady at Qantas lounge even said that I do not earn status credit or miles flying Fiji Airways. I had to correct her and show her the Qantas FF page. Very sad that Qantas lounge staff don't know about their own loyalty program. I was very concerned about my upcoming flight on Fiji Airways due to bad reviews. I found the airline fine, not fancy, but they are trying and seems from previous reviews that it is improving slowly. Boarding was easy business was before children they way it should be. The crew were friendly, warm welcome at the door and nice pre departure cocktail. When I purchased the ticket on Qantas web page it was for the Airbus but when I arrived at the gate I noticed it was the Boeing 737. Big difference in product but seat was still comfortable, cocktails were served about 50min after take off - a nice range of red and white wines and spirits. Lunch was a nice spicy chicken, vegetable and rice. It was very spicy and for the first time I have eaten the entire meal on a plane. Of course I had another scotch. The flight attendants were very attentive coming around refilling drinks until 30 min before landing. Overall not a bad flight, a lot better than I expected and I would do it again. Would like to try the Airbus product.

Route: SYD to NAN

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "staff, planes etc are very reliable"

Review: We have flown with Garuda from Melbourne to Bali for the past 12 years. Twice a year over the past 5 years. the staff, planes etc are very reliable. But the videos shown on board did not seem updated since July 2018.

Route: Bali to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "Horrible experience"

Review: Horrible experience with REX Airlines. Tried them for the first time to fly to Brisbane return from Sydney. The experience has been extremely frustrating leading us to never wanting to try REX again. We booked our flights, someone then couldn't make it so we replaced them. They refused to do a name change, not even if we tried to pay for it which is bizarre and frustrating. When booking our seats, it caused another fee. They made bold statements saying they want to be competitive to major airlines but they simply are not competitive at all. Their service sucks, their brand sucks. Do yourself a favour and spend just a little bit more to fly with QANTAS or Virgin. They were dreadful.

Route: Sydney to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "they did not show up on time"

Review: El Al ask to be at the terminal at least 3.5 hours before the flight. However, they themselves did not show up on time and we just waited for hours to check in our luggage. I also had issues with them in the past, and they are very expensive.

Route: Rome to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: Stansted to Tenerife. TUI has the worst customer service. We flew with them in July and our flight was delayed over 24 hours - we were never given an explanation and no one in Tui seemed to know what was going on - it was totally chaotic. We lost a days holiday and have tried to contact them to complain but it is impossible to get hold of them! We have phoned, emailed, even emailed the Chief Exec - nothing! We will keep going but seriously dont fly with them they are rubbish.

Route: Stansted to Tenerife

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "treated like an idiot"

Review: Disgraceful handling of luggage damage claim by so called 'customer service'. The airline completely damaged my new suitcase on its first ever flight, I have followed their crazy procedures and supplied beyond repair documents from two different outlets (in addition to all the other documents), certified translations included and I am still treated like an idiot by what seems like bots (I choose to believe they are bots, if not, it is institutionalized group of Wizzair employees trained to steal your money, time and energy). It's been almost half a year now of this battle, with my emails being responded to on average after 3 weeks whereas when I sent one of my responses after 3 days, I was threatened with Wizzair closing the case. Shameful

Route: Warsaw to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "unorganized, unpleasant, rude"

Review: First time flyer on Alaska Airlines, completely disappointed. Very unorganized, unpleasant, rude. Sad to say my flight on United was 100% better. They seemed to be confused an struggling get us boarded, flight attendants were rude and not helpful or pleasant.

Route: Seattle to Detroit

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Comair

Title: "A relatively smooth flight"

Review: Durban to Cape Town with Comair. This is a 2 hour flight which was full. The business class seats were the same as economy but with a little extra legroom and the middle seat was empty. The FA's were mature and friendly. There was a full bar service and light lunch was served. The aircraft was clean, left on time and arrived on time. A relatively smooth flight, unlike BA they serve refreshments and full bar service on this short haul domestic flight.

Route: Durban to Cape Town

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Peruvian Airlines

Title: "aircraft was basic but clean"

Review: Despite the numerous negative reviews, we were happy with our return flights on Peruvian from Lima to Iquitos. The first flight was on time and the return was delayed by around 1 hour due to late incoming aircraft, but the LAN flight departing Iquitos at the same time also had a short delay. Perhaps the delays experienced by others were specific to the Cusco route. Aircraft was basic but clean, with no inflight entertainment (to be expected on short routes), Peruvian does not have the newest airplanes, but the interior did not feel particularly dated. Service was fine, we were pleasantly surprised to be served food and drink on such a short flight. Baggage arrived on time. Tickets were somewhat cheaper than LAN or Avianca, because Peruvian (like Star Peru) does not impose a surcharge on foreign passengers.

Route: LIM to IQT via PCL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "turned into a 36 hour ordeal"

Review: Okinawa to Los Angeles via Seoul. You can't reschedule one leg of a journey to a time after the second leg. I spent over an hour finding someone who would correct my flight schedule, which they did by adding an extra leg. That followed up with 6 + 4 hours of delays, missing on my last leg which they refused to rebook on another partner airline that was leaving sooner. All in all, a 16-20 hour trip turned into a 36 hour ordeal and nothing from the airline for all meals bought and hotels stayed at. Pretty sure I'm not going to use this airline again.

Route: Okinawa to Los Angeles via Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "service was very poor"

Review: Phuket to Zurich with Edelweiss Air. The service during the flight was very poor and the attitude of the cabin crew with passengers was really rude. In addition, after paying more than 600EUR for a flight ticket, they ask you to pay extra money if you want an alcoholic drink, otherwise you just can drink coke, ale or orange juice.

Route: HKT to ZRH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "would recommend China Airlines"

Review: Melbourne to Bangkok via Taipei return. All 4 flights were nothing short of exemplary, operated by an A350, which is much quieter and noticeably reduces jet lag. The crew on all my flights were friendly, professional and very safety conscious. Meal service was prompt and with a smile, and the crew were polite and friendly. I ordered several drinks and requested a toothbrush and an adapter and all were delivered quickly. They passed out hot towels for economy class passengers which is a much-appreciated gesture. During the overnight flight staff often passed through the cabin with water and juice, and kept the toilets clean. My flight back to Melbourne was delayed by 8 hours and we were provided accommodation at the Novotel near Taipei airport and they organised a shuttle bus to take us back to the airport in the morning, I found the ground staff at Taipei airport to be friendly and customer focused. The onboard entertainment system is easy to navigate and had many new releases and TV shows to choose from. The only aspect that could be improved is their food options, I found most of my meals to be lacking flavor, however they did offer an ice cream bar and a bread roll with all meals. Staff offer a selection of juice soft drinks, wine and coffee/Chinese tea with the meal service. I would not hesitate to fly with them again, in fact I found their service to be superior to Cathay Pacific and Malaysia Airlines and would recommend China Airlines without hesitation.

Route: Melbourne to Bangkok via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "I haven't got any repayment"

Review: The flight that I report was supposed to take place in March 2022, but it never took place. It was cancelled. However, a year after the flight, I haven't got any repayment although I've sent all the necessary documents to the company. All I got was promises. I did try to believe the company and even traveled with Air Astana once again in October 2022. Still, no keeping promises.

Route: Moscow to Nur-Sultan via Almaty / Bishkek

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "whole trip went super smooth"

Review: Very tight service. The whole trip went super smooth, crew was super helpful. Nice sandwich on board. Would recommend. The whole trip was well done, compliments to the crew

Route: Amsterdam to Stockholm

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "seats are so uncomfortable"

Review: FlyDubai is one of the worst airlines I have ever traveled with. Their prices are extremely high, the seats are so uncomfortable. In addition, the flight took an hour more than the usual. The hostess was so unfriendly and mean. The exit seats were all empty and we were not allowed to sit there as we had to pay extra money.

Route: Dubai to Beirut

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SA Express

Title: "told to book another flight"

Review: Bloemfontein to Johannesburg. The service i got at Bloemfontein airport was horrible, I'm not happy at all. I arrive at the airport at 9:15 and they told me i can't check in for a flight that departs at 9:40. Every time their flight gets delayed i dont complain but when i arrive at 9:15 i was told to book another flight.

Route: Bloemfontein to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: US-Bangla Airlines

Title: "friendly and smiley flight attendants"

Review: Dhaka to Jessore. I find the name of this private airline in Bangladesh a bit funny. Other than that no complaints. Arrived at the domestic terminal in Dhaka 7 minutes before the scheduled morning departure due to being severely delayed due to road traffic. The check-in desk completed all formalities, rushed us through security, had a limo ready for us to escort me and my partner to the aircraft at the remote stand. The flight left after our boarding and exactly on time. I have never experienced this kind of dedication and professionalism with an airline. The flight to Jessore lasted 25 minutes onboard a clean and attractive Dash-8 Q400 and we were served a sandwich, cake and a water bottle by friendly and smiley flight attendants. The return flight to Dhaka a couple of days later was just as good but we made sure we arrived promptly for check-in this time. We were served a mini burger, cake and water bottle.

Route: Dhaka to Jessore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "We regretted we didnt get Aeromexico tickets"

Review: Firstly the flight was delayed for 5h rs. No announcements were made. We found out about this just accidentally checking the incoming flight on the flight radar. I guess airlines in MX are not obligated to take care of passengers in case of delays, but come on delayed flight for 5hrs, which leaves at 11pm (ATD 3.50 am) and you just say sorry, no food coupons, or at least informing us so we could leave our hotel later for the flight. Our transfer service in Cancun was cancelled because the driver couldnt pick us up so late. We lost one day in Cancun because we just slept all day after a sleepless night and you just say sorry. Very disappointed but that's not all! I guess there were lots of security violations (letting people store their hand luggage in front of them in the first row, somehow safety demo was only in Spanish). Overall, all PAs were in Spanish, despite lots of English speaking passengers onboard. Crew just chooses to ignore them and speaks only in Spanish. We regretted we didnt get Aeromexico tickets, and decided to go cheap. That was a lesson for us to learn. Never again!

Route: Mexico City to Cancun

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "By far the worst airline"

Review: By far the worst airline in existence. Flights are constantly delayed and customer service is a joke! If you are reading this review. I beg you to learn from series of unfortunate events and avoid this airline at all cost

Route: Greenville to New orleans via Charlotte

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "Would definitely do again"

Review: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Hong Kong. Flew on same exact brand new A-350 (B-LGH) on three of the four legs and on an older A330. The A350 was in the new herring bone configuration, which is more modern but not necessarily more comfortable than the older business cabin on the 330. Check-In and Boarding efficient and quick, lounges in LAX (International Lounge) and BKK (Miracle Lounge) were mediocre, in HKG (Auris) - Great. Amenities were standard, food was good and it was presented well. Wine selection was limited, and drinks/refills were not offered as much as it should be customary in Business class. Cabin crew was hard working and courteous, maybe a bit inexperienced. My seat (12K) got stuck on both long legs and I had to be resealed. WiFi was only available on the last leg. Overall an excellent experience and great value for the price paid. Would definitely do again.

Route: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "do not recommend to fly Avianca"

Review: Needless to say Avianca has the worst customer service. My family flew from New York to Bogota. As they were doing the check ins we had to go to one of the counters because we needed to pay for one of the suitcases. The suitcases were oversized so we had to go back and arrange everything. We did it and were ready to check the suitcases back again. As we were waiting in line, one of the personal from Avianca told us to come with him that he would check the suitcases that were ready and instructed to leave the suitcase that we had to pay in line. As I followed him and showed him the suitcases he immediately told us Where are the passengers, I also need the passports to check in the suitcases mind you as he said this he said it in a very rude way giving us orders as we were animals or something like that. I instantly got tired of his attitude and told him to calm down and not to talk to us that way. He started acting as if he didnt know what I was talking about, so one of my family members (my uncle) went to him and told him that it was unbelievable the way that he was acting. As he said that another personal from Avianca had the audacity to tell my uncle that if he wanted to be respected he had to respect other. Definitely it was a very bad experience and do not recommend to fly Avianca.

Route: New York to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "seat was comfortable"

Review: Flew on Lao Airlines flight QV536 from Singapore to Luang Prabang on an A320. The seat was comfortable and the legroom was adequate. Quite comfortable for a 2.5hours flight to Vientiane and followed by 40mins connecting flight to Luang Prabang. However, the meal still needs to be improved. Fruit chips were served on Vientiane to Luang Prabang sector which were delicious.

Route: SIN to LPQ via VTE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "unreasonably high prices"

Review: Nice to Prague. Flights are mostly on time, smooth boarding and nice atmosphere in the aircraft. A319 in good condition and clean. Real shame is, that you dont even get free water on the board and everything is paid (with unreasonably high prices). Bagage allowance depends on type of your ticket, be careful (PRG to NCE for example allows only 15kg). Tickets prices might seem a bit too high. Average european airline in my opinion.

Route: Nice to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "non-courteous, non-accommodating staff"

Review: Worst, non-courteous, non-accommodating staff with merely any respect for anyone's time or schedule. Initially the airlines changed the travel date during the onwards journey without any notice or anything and did not have any provision to cancel the flight except for making a call to the customer care and being on hold for hours. During the return journey which was supposed to be a direct flight of 2 hours 30 minutes they changed it to a flight with layover at Bengaluru of around 3 hours 30 minutes. Which upon arriving to Bengaluru they were informed that their flight has again be rescheduled and the wait period changed from 3 hours to 8 hours. So, in all initially a ticket was booked with a journey duration of 2 hours 30 minutes has now become a journey which would take more than 8 hours. I wish I had an option to give 0 stars. No cooperative. Non-accommodating staff

Route: Male to Mumbai via Bengalaru

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "worst experience I have ever had"

Review: The worst experience I have ever had. They lost my baggage during my transfer in Warsaw and destroyed it. There was a lot of expensive stuff inside, and nothing perishable as they claimed. I will never use this airline again, even if I have to pay several times more for a ticket.

Route: Krakow to Paris via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "everything you could expect"

Review: I flew Lao Airlines from Luang Prabang to Hanoi. It was a short one hour flight and the service revised by Lao Airlines was everything you could expect for a flight like this. They served drinks and a snack which was a tasty sandwich (although there was no vegetarian option). The staff were friendly. There was no in-flight entertainment, but that didn't bother me as the flight was so quick.

Route: Luang Prabang to Hanoi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "have lost our money for both flights"

Review: Two friends independently booked flights for 9th October online. The website automatically moved the flights to 10th October without telling us because the 9th was unavailable. We only became aware that they had done so when we received the booking confirmations. Immediately we called the call centre, who refused to cancel or refund the flight, so we have lost our money. I contacted them through Twitter, but they continued to blame us, refusing to accept that the website had automatically moved it. We are both not stupid people, and would not have independently made the same mistake, but that is what is implied. We have lost our money for both flights through no fault of our own. Customer service is awful. To clarify - we did not take the flights, so I cannot comment on ground service, seat comfort, etc.

Route: Milos to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: " A very pleasant experience"

Review: Second time BA Premium Economy in a newer aircraft and yet another excellent experience. Despite a three hour delay and missing my connection in Hong Kong, this was a very pleasant flight. Seats are spacious and comfortable in Premium Economy in this layout, attitude of the cabin crew was excellent and food was good. They communicate well and rebooked my connection during the flight which brought peace of mind. A very pleasant experience in BA Premium Economy after a major disappointment in Club World earlier this year.

Route: London to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "The airline has lost our bags"

Review: The airline has lost our bags on the start of a 4 week trip. We were given phone numbers for Havana where no one picks up, twitter response was sarcastic and implied we double check we flew with Iberia, we tried whatsapp and that apparently doesn't deal with baggage issues. The website says our bags can't be found and we tried the UK number with no information available and to be told that our contact details were not even attached to our ticket profile or claim (despite being an Iberia member and long time One World member so details are on everything). Understand that issues happen so not annoyed about that but the appalling customer service and total lack of information is infuriating.

Route: London to Havana via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: flydubai

Title: "the rudest cabin staff ever"

Review: Totally useless airline by all means, ground staff are so unreasonable and never helpful, onboard the aircraft I faced the rudest cabin staff ever. Seat was so uncomfortable, to pass time I bought a headset to watch TV or music, I got the headset one and a half hours after I asked for it. On top of this when I asked why the cabin crew answered in a very rude way, I was astonished how an airline would hire this kind of ill-mannered person.

Route: Istanbul to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "Do not rely on the entertainment"

Review: The flight over was great, we ate breakfast then lunch. On the flight back we had one meal dinner which was good however we arrived at 6:15am and were not given breakfast or even a cup of coffee or tea. It was not a great experience having flown through the night. On top of this our flight to Perth arrival time was changed several times and we arrived too late to collect our rental car and lost a night's accommodation in Geraldton. To top it all off at Auckland airport the delay getting through bio security was a ridiculous 2 hours for us and 3 hours for our friends. It was chaos - hot, only 5 desks had people on them in spite of 2 planes arriving shortly after each other. Do not rely on the entertainment - the films were old and did not change between flights there and back.

Route: Wellington to Perth via Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "you really arent saving much money"

Review: Eugene to Burbank. This was without a doubt the worst airline experience Ive ever had. Avelo cancelled our flight from Eugene, OR to Burbank, CA without any type of heads up. We found out when we got to the airport. They said the next flight out would be two days later, which was so frustrating because we all have lives and jobs to get to and not everyone can wait around an extra two days. We ended up spending an extra $500 for last minute tickets from Portland to Burbank via Southwest Airlines (which was a much better experience!!), not to mention the $100 it cost to get a shuttle from Eugene to Portland (2 hours away). I have yet to get a refund from Avelo for this flight, and customer service is impossible to reach. Needless to say, I will never fly with Avelo again and advise that travelers look elsewhere. Avelo also claims to have lower prices, but once all the fees and additional things are added, you really aren't saving much money.

Route: Eugene to Burbank

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "Great customer service"

Review: My wife and I really enjoyed our stay at the Barcelo Maya Palace Resort. The flight from Toronto to Cancun on February 3, 2023 was flawless. On our return date on February 17, 2022, we were supposed to be picked up at the resort by included shuttle as notified by the App the day before at 8.30am. The shuttle arrived late and picked up a family but we were left stranded by the driver who informed us that we were not on the list and he had no room for us as the shuttle was full. A cab was dispatched that brought us to the Airport for $75 American dollars. I was given a receipt by the driver. At the Air Transat check in kiosk, I spoke with an Air Transat representative at the kiosk. She acted promptly and she personally took the time to speak with the Air Transat people at a nearby office and immediately was able to reimburse me for the cost of the taxi. Great customer service. I have flown with Air Transat in the past and I will continue to do so in the future. All around, great customer service. Thank you.

Route: Cancun to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "No customer service"

Review: Absolute excuse for an airline. No customer service and the most horrendous attitude of all. My boyfriend had a serious medical condition and I wanted to change the date of flight. Because I missed "72hrs" window (literally 10 mins left for the window to be closed) it kicked me out of the website and no matter how many times I called and asked no one got back to me because it was a weekend. This terrible airline tricks you with cheap tickets and you're stuck with absolutely no options. They even wanted to charge us for personal item!

Route: Toronto to Halifax

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "refusing to pay my money back"

Review: I flew Finnair from Stockholm to Lisbon via Helsinki in business class. The trip was a total nightmare which hasnt really ended. Finnair took in another airline (DAT) to fly us back from Lisbon. DAT couldnt take in my dog in the hold which meant I couldnt board the plane. It was in the middle of summer with all flights fully booked. I managed to book myself on a TAP Air Portugal which cost a fortune on short notice. Finnair has agreed to compensate me for that ticket but only with a gift card on Finnair. Ive contacted them a million times but theyre ghosting me refusing to pay my money back. It is extremely frustrating. Im a gold card holder and I use to fly Finnair all the time. I cant believe they can treat me like this.

Route: Stockholm to Lisbon via Helsinki

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "helpful and efficient staff"

Review: I enjoyed the trip. Easy check in, on time departure and friendly, helpful and efficient staff. The meal was tasty but perhaps they could include a more substantial dessert than a small chocolate? The drinks served were excellent.

Route: Melbourne to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "6 hour flight without IFE"

Review: Nicely presented, recently purchased Boeing 737. Relatively comfortable seats, decent staff and a Buy on board service. However a 6 hour flight without IFE is hard work! In addition, there was only a single drinks service on the return flight and there was no effort made to allow passengers to ask for drinks .

Route: Manchester to Sharm el Sheikh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "would never fly RAM again"

Review: Marrakech to Doha via Casablanca. Marrakech to Casablanca was fine. All fine there, apart from having to walk across the tarmac and use steps to board. Same in Casablanca. Then the nightmare started. Separating of passengers connecting to international flights and those terminating in Casablanca was done outside the rear entry doors to the arrivals terminal. Passengers were jammed up against the side of the building standing in puddles of water waiting to have their passport and ticket examined by one of two officials who told them to go through either the international connections door or the domestic arrivals door. When another bus of disembarking passengers pulled up, there was no room for them to get off the bus and stand safely out of danger from passing airport vehicles. It was slow-moving mayhem. I'd imagine that people with tight connections missed their flights. I had a 3-hour layover, so once inside the terminal, I settled down to wait for AT216 to Doha. Luckily I checked the gate number several times as it was changed without notice or announcement shortly before boarding. Again we had to walk across the tarmac and climb stairs to board. Everything seemed fine as we taxied down the runway - then sat for about 20 minutes. Eventually an announcement was made that we were going back to the terminal, and we taxied back. A hoist/lift was wheeled out to the right-hand wing and several mechanics peered at a central flap which was elevated, and made calls on their mobile phones. So we sat for 3 hours 45 minutes! No announcements were made, no refreshments were given, nothing! Eventually I went to the galley to get some water and asked one of the male flight attendants what was happening. I was told there was a technical services problem, but that we should be leaving within 15 minutes. Well, that never happened. By that stage, people were getting tired and irritable. The two small children in front of me were screaming and crying. People started sleeping across three seats if they had a row to themselves. Eventually we were told to prepare for takeoff. The man behind me was still sleeping across three seats as we started taxiing down the runway, one of the flight attendants saw him, shook him awake and told him to buckle up. No safety briefing was given as we were just about to take off. As we took off, I had a clear view out the window of the wing and the flap which was still elevated. We made up 45 minutes in the air, but I still had to run through Doha airport to make my connection to Perth. I would never fly RAM again. I felt less than confident on a 6-hour flight with them as in my opinion the technical services issue did not appear to have been rectified. We were not kept informed as to what the problem with the aircraft was nor given refreshments on board while we waited for the problem to be fixed.

Route: Marrakech to Doha via Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "never fly with your airline again"

Review: Horrible experience since checking in for flight. We were leaving Chicago, was not able to select seats through Luftansa and was told to pick it 24 hours before actual flight. Flight didn't take off and sat for 2 hours on the tarmac. The entertainment system did not work on the way back to the states and the flight attendant tried to get it restarted and didn't work. No USB to charge phone since it's an older airplane. Worse is when we landed in Chicago yesterday, we still don't have our luggage a day later. All passengers on flight LH430 - after waiting for over an hour were told to file a delayed lost luggage online. The cargo door could not be open was the answer they gave us. You need to do better Luftansa, we spent 7k for 3 people and an infant with you and your flight partners. We wanted German precision but you delivered sub par performance at a premium price, we will never fly with your airline again.

Route: Frankfurt to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "The airline is not worth it"

Review: The airline is not worth it, most of their flights are delayed they had delayed three flights continuously on 18th of March by more than 2 hours and they did not provide any sort of compensation, no meal or apology, They had the audacity to say sir we can refund your full amount - who is gonna pay for the expense one made to come to airport and go back and book another hotel because you guys delayed someone's flight by 2 hours. Fly with Indigo instead of them

Route: Ahmedabad to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "staff is very professional"

Review: I traveled from LAX to CAN during COVID-19. The procedure of check-in, boarding, the declaration is very smooth. The staff from China Southern Airlines is very professional. They are equipped with full PPE including a face mask, a face shield, whole-body protecting plastic clothes. They are well-trained, friendly, and helpful, especially in this special pandemic period. Check-in, the counter allocated me a front B seat since I do not prefer C or D seat. On-board. They checked body temperature 4 or 5 times during the flight. The luggage is thoroughly sanitized. And it takes a long waiting time at the claiming area, I saw the ground staff helped elder people with wheelchairs and carried luggage for them many times. The onboard entertainment system is hard to use. None of my fav movies or shows are provided. The space is too narrow for tall people.

Route: Los Angeles to Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "had a great experience"

Review: Toronto to New York La Guardia. Quick 1 hour flight. I found the seat on the E145 to be more comfortable than that on the Air Canada Rouge 767, which is good. Staff were very helpful, overall had a great experience.

Route: Toronto to New York La Guardia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "mean, nasty and unpleasant"

Review: Medellin to Mexico City. This was my first Interjet flight. The only good news is the flight was on time and we landed safely. On the negative side I can honestly say I have never seen a crew on any airline so mean, nasty and unpleasant. I'm a 60 year old guy and asked for some water late in the flight. The flight attendant snapped at me and said no, we have no water. They did not distribute landing cards before landing. I had to ask for them as I left the flight.

They gave me one of the two required. I saw them in customs and called them out on all of this - their mean nasty attitudes, unwillingness to pass out customs forms. I don't need to be abused by these people. If it was my company, they all would be fired already for their lack of professionalism and disgraceful behavior. Amazingly when I walked them out on their nastiness they agreed with me and acknowledged it. Also, their website is disingenuous - they talk about wifi connectivity video screens, audio all on 'some' flights. There is zippo. Unfortunately my return flight is in Interjet but I will never fly them again and could not recommend.

Route: Medellin to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "enduring yet another delay"

Review: Sitting in Iloilo airport, awaiting our seventh flight (of eight), in the last 4 weeks, enduring yet another delay. All previous flights have been delayed (30mins minimum, 6 hours longest) or cancelled. Clearly not capable of conducting a proper timetable. The hassle far outweighs any joy in getting to the destination. Basically just a low cost airline. Unfortunately for the Philippines, all the other carriers are no better.

Route: Iloilo to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "Boarding was ridiculously ineffective"

Review: Airline pretended Not to know about the airport strike on Feb 17th. But you have to take the flight from Munich to Madrid, otherwise you can not board in Madrid. We traveled on our own cost to Madrid to get the connection to Santo Domingo. Boarding was ridiculously ineffective and takes forever. On the way back differently but bad. Flight attendants were extremely unfriendly and rude to me on way back from Santo Domingo to Madrid on Feb 28th. Never again. Not even cheap!

Route: Madrid to Santo Domingo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SereneAir

Title: "No one was wearing their mask"

Review: Our trip was uncomfortable as there was no spacing in between the seats. No one was wearing their mask and there was no social distancing. I would never recommend this flight. This was the worst flight we ever had.

Route: Karachi to Islamabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "Seats are narrow and cramped"

Review: Was it two different airlines I ask myself? Suspect I won't be the only review on this route, but travellers between AKL and LHR should know that the A330-200 aircraft on the AKL-KL section are ancient, the business class is sub-par, and I have travelled in many. Seats are narrow and cramped, hardly any storage space etc - rubbish. What concerned me more however, after the near 60 minute departure delay and free-for-all boarding scrum, was the cabin food service. 'Signature' chicken satay was what looked like a single dog chew and some greenery. No peanut sauce or anything. The rest of the food wasn't much better, and a few courses they just didn't bother offering. Polar opposite is the A350 from KL to London. Great BC seating, great service and definitely BC worthy eg 4 sticks chicken satay, with salad and peanut sauce etc - exemplary cabin crew. I guess the problem is that they don't charge different prices for different legs of the journey. 1 leg is worth it, the other isn't and it's selling under false pretences - they don't market BC with pics of an A330-200, getting on for 20yrs old now. So beware. Next time, I will go back to Qatar or Emirates, even if it costs a bit more.

Route: Auckland to London via Papakura

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Airlink

Title: "staff was so unnecessarily rude"

Review: From the baggage check in, the boarding gates and the flight itself, the staff was so unnecessarily rude. My family and I were last at the gate with 15 minutes to spare before boarding would close, and yet we were met with rude looks and very obvious irritation. I tried to greet the lady and she intentionally ignored me. On the flight two of the flight attendants gave us nothing but attitude and made us feel like we were making their lives difficult when we didnt ask for anything. The staff desperately need to be trained in customer politeness, otherwise they should not choose such a client-facing career. Everyone is stressed at the airport, a little kindness can go a long way. They acted like bratty teenagers.

Route: Durban to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "boarding counter is not well"

Review: Shanghai to Luoyang. The boarding counter is not well. Because there is not a prominent sign at the boarding gate to tell us which is the first-class queue or eco queue. So many people. waiting at the wrong queue. Because of the epidemic, only a bit of food were supplied.

Route: Shanghai to Luoyang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "delayed on departure by 4 hours"

Review: My relatives and I flew out of Tijuana Airport to Cancun on Christmas Eve. We are a group of 10 and first if all the flight was delayed on departure by 4 hours, then the worst was going to happen to us. They lost my luggage, and two of my cousins suitcases. We get informed that our luggage will arrive the next day of our arrival. So far we are on day 3 of not getting out stuff with all our clothes, shoes, essentials, etc. Volaris has been terrible and do not advise what flight has our things (luggage). We keep contacting them with no resolve. No indication that they will reimburse us for our losses of our things. This is the absolute worst airline ever. I have flown to all kinds of other airlines, like American Airlines, Southwest, Hawaiian Airlines and have never had any issues whatsoever. I would highly recommend NOT using this airline ever.

Route: Tijuana to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "didn't handle this well at all"

Review: Bangkok to Melbourne via Bandar Seri Begawan, but we never actually flew with Royal Brunei, so I cannot comment on their inflight product. I can however review their handling of cancellations, delays etc. We arrived at BKK airport at 11am for our 1.30pm flight, only to be told that the Brunei to Melbourne sector was 'not operating' today, or the next day for that matter. Although Royal Brunei knew this the previous day, no e-mail or sms was sent to advise passengers of this. We could have stayed at our Bangkok hotel and opted for a late checkout if we had known. The Royal Brunei representative told us to 'take a seat' as they were 'organising' an alternative routing for us. This dragged on for well over an hour, and still they were 'organising' and 'waiting for confirmations'. I approached the counter and asked if we could avoid a late night departure if at all possible, given the fact that midnight departures and our 7 year-old daughter do not go well together. They replied: 'ok we will see. Just take a seat'. Eventually, we were told that we had all been booked on the direct Thai Airways flight to Melbourne, departing after midnight. There were no other options. According to Royal Brunei, Thai doesn't operate a morning flight from BKK to MEL, but 'if there was a morning flight, you could certainly have taken it'. Well of course there is a morning flight with Thai: TG 461, which operates daily. At that stage we had all been booked on TG 465, so we had to go with it. We transferred to an airport hotel around 2pm for 7 hours, and then back to the airport. It is how certain airlines handle unexpected issues such as cancellations, delays etc that set them apart from the truly good carriers. Sadly, Royal Brunei didn't handle this particularly well at all.

Route: BKK to MEL via BWN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tunisair

Title: "worst airline I have ever travelled"

Review: Tunis to London. The worst airline I have ever travelled. Planes (both outbound and inbound) were old with no inboard entertainment, appalling food, disgusting state of seats and drop down tray. The food was cold, out of date and not trying to attract any other passenger than Tunisian. Can we have some butter with our dry roll? No! Any milk to have with the tea/coffee? No! Would like a red wine and a rose wine? We have beer. As you can tell, cabin crew (all male) clearly did not go to charm school. As far as toilets were concerned thought I was entering a swimming pool/foot bath with water on the floor. Notified crew but no action taken.

Route: Tunis to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "staff were really friendly"

Review: Lovely flight from Kuala Lumpur to Osaka with AirAsia X. Plane was on time and clean, staff were really friendly, plenty of food and purchase food options although they had run out of ice-creams. Return flight issue was that on-line check in was not working, see picture which meant I had to pay for additional luggage even though we had already paid for 3 bags on the first leg because we only used 1 bag on that leg we still had to pay £45 extra. The guy at check in could not waive this fee even though he understood our issue but he moved us to extra leg room seats as a compensation. Good total price paid and both airports are excellent so will definitely use this route again.

Route: Osaka to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "Got delayed more than 4 hours"

Review: Delta flight DL1287. Got delayed more than 4 hours because they are waiting for the pilot. They kept pushing the departure an hour every hour. Instead of leaving at 6:10 pm now its scheduled at 9:50 and no definitive answer other than waiting for the pilot. My husband will miss his work and we wont even be in Houston until 3 in the morning our kids are sleeping on the floor and we are exhausted and now just got pushed to 9:30 in the morning. We demand full refund and work compensation for missing work.

Route: Los Angeles to Houston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aigle Azur

Title: "Worst airline I experienced"

Review: It was my first time flying with Aigle Azur. To be honest, I didn't choose it, but Hainan Airlines. To start with, we took off with more than 2 hours delay without notifications. It wasn't the airport issue, but the company problem, because we had to wait for the plane to arrive from Sao Paulo. I will skip the on-board service. So we arrived with 2 hours delayed, and, with other customers, we have a connection flight to Shanghai. This second flight is Hainan Airlines. Obviously the flight didn't wait for us. No one to receive us after landing to give instructions or anything. When we asked to change the connection flight ticket at Hainan counter, we are told "Aigle Azur didn't confirm the delay in your flight, so we can't change your flight ticket". The company is late and didn't even assume its responsibility. As a result, we had to pay for another flight ticket, Aigle Azur customer service doesn't even exist / isn't reachable. Worst airline I experienced, I should have considered to read the reviews about this airline first.

Route: Paris to Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alliance Airlines

Title: "don't waste your time and money on this flight"

Review: I am not able to do web check in and their customer care number is on hold for like an hour! Why should I face consequences due to their negligent behaviour. Booking for the first time and such a bad experience! Won't regret writing this review! Please people don't waste your time and money on this flight. Book other flights.

Route: Delhi to Ahmedabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: PenAir

Title: "service friendly and professional"

Review: Portland to Klamath Falls one way. Flight was delayed about an hour due to the need to get a part for the aircraft from another plane. Ground staff did their best to keep passengers in the loop. Aircraft was clean enough, but is clearly an old plane. Onboard service was friendly and professional. The single aisle row seems to be the most comfortable.

Route: PDX to LMT

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUIfly Nordic

Title: "will not fly again "

Review: Flew TUIfly Nordic from Helsinki to Lanzarote return, as part of a holiday package trip. The crew were friendly and cheerful. They were multilingual and willing to help. The plane was new and quiet, but the seats were absolutely horrible for anything beyond a 4 hour flight. Too shallow, too hard, didn't recline nearly enough (barely a few centimeters). By the time we arrived my butt had ceased to exist. Whatever happened to nice, soft airline seats where you could sleep? The ground staff at Helsinki airport was decidedly pedantic and unpleasant. At Lanzarote however the staff was quite cheerful and helpful. Timeliness was good on the departure, but on the return trip we were 1 hour delayed with no explanation nor apology. You have to pay for absolutely everything. Headphones, meals, drinks, etc. Not even pillows or blankets are offered. Very poor for a charter airline. Will not fly again if I can avoid it. Nowhere was this airline advertised as a low-cost airline!

Route: HEL to ACE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "denied boarding for no COVID test"

Review: I purchased a ticket in November 2020 that had no COVID restrictions for transiting in Moscow, there is no policy for COVID testing when you transit Moscow. We were denied boarding for no COVID test, tho our destination, Turkey does not require any. We were denied boarding after being checked in, luggage tagged, boarding passes issued. Manager did not agree to ticket refund, tho it is a refundable ticket.

Route: Los Angeles to Antalya via Mosco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "this shows their lack of professionalism"

Review: On the day 12th of January 2022, we had a flight from Amsterdam to Reykjavik at 16:45 - Flight HV 6887. This flight was canceled due the weather conditions in Iceland. In order to enter Iceland, we had to do an antigen test prior 72h the entry to the country. Our country of origin was Spain, where we paid 40 for two antigen tests, then we spent two days in Amsterdam and everything was planned in order to have the test still valid to travel to Iceland. Obviously we never took into consideration that our flight was going to be canceled and since that happened, we asked to a lady at Transavias counter if we had to repeat the test and her answer was no, your test will still be valid. The next day, when we managed to get to Schiphol Airport, we went again to ask at the Transavias counter to make sure if we had to do the test, and this time the answer was yes, otherwise you might not be able to enter in Iceland. So we repeated the test, which cost us 116. I emailed them that the fact that we had to repeat the test wasnt our fault and if there was any chance to get a refund, and I didnt get an answer in more than two months, the first email I sent was on the 13th of January, then again on the 21st of January (no answer from them) and again out the 15th of March, when Ive been told that they couldnt do anything because the flight was canceled due the weather conditions. What upsets me the most is the fact that two of their operators gave me two different answers, Ive never got any apologies from them about this whole situation and they took more than two months to give me an answer. The final answer Ive got was after five days that Ive sent them the second reminder. They dont seem to care much about their customers and it seems that theyre not really trained to deal with a situation like the one I had, this shows their lack of professionalism and its the reason why I will never travel with them again.

Route: Amsterdam to Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "What an incompetent airline and incompetent workers"

Review: Ridiculous flight crew that canceled a flight literally 5 mins after landing. We all waited over 5 damn hours at the airport because the flight crew claimed it would just be a 3 hour delay. They landed and immediately said the flight is canceled until the following day. I missed an important event as well as wasted time and money on transportation back and to the airport. What an incompetent airline and incompetent workers. I called customer care and the lady was no help. All she did was direct me to their website to fill out some form that was going to take months. Not only that, she hung up on me without letting me know. Suddenly, I was just talking to air. Terrible service, terrible airline.

Route: Las Vegas to Saint Paul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "staff very unfriendly"

Review: Newark to Georgetown via Port of Spain. Check in staff in Newark misinformed me about my bags being checked all the way through to Georgetown, I bought duty free in EWR and it was a hassle getting it through Port of Spain. Staff at front desk made me wait until they were ready to walk me through the gates. On both outgoing and return trips I found the staff, with a couple notable exceptions, very unfriendly. Seemed they thought they were doing me a huge favor. You guys need to either retrain these staff or get rid of them as they are doing damage to your reputation. On return trip I was literally refused to be sold Duty Free because no one at the front desk told me that I had to place the duty free in my checked luggage? When I arrived in Port of Spain it seems that they had a procedure for handling it for in transit passengers. I ended up buying the Duty Free in Port of Spain at a higher price as well! Flight delays were not even explained properly. With one exception the ground staff showed little empathy with the fact that a 2 hour delay could have messed up my interconnecting flight. The agent that checked me in was rude and very curt. She signaled me to walk up to her desk then had me wait several minutes while she finished the prior task she was working on before even greeting me. Why not just leave me in the line so I could go to another agent who would be ready to do my transaction? I had zero confidence that she would have given me any useful information given her demeanor. I had to ask around in the terminal building until I found someone who was able to explain that the interconnecting flight would also be delayed.

Route: Newark to Georgetown via Port of Spain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "airline is the biggest scam"

Review: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Xiamen. This airline is the biggest scam! I booked a flight from Los Angeles to Bangkok with three hours layover in Xiamen city. At the airport I was told that I can't use Xiamen airlines because I don't have Chinese transit visa. Xiamen airport does not have transit area for transit passengers so everyone has to go through customs, get out of the airport, and then walk back in to check in for the next flight. Be advised, you can't get out of the airport unless you have Chinese visa. I have never heard that you need to get a transit visa for couple of hours layover. I was told to cancel my round trip with Xiamen airlines and get a refund. After 6-7 hrs of phone calls with the airline, I was issued 15% refund of the total cost. The agent explained that somehow my outbound ticket was activated (I flew with a different airline but they still activated my ticket!) and the activated ticket was 85% of the cost and I'm only getting 15% refund for the return flight. Don't be fooled by this airlines! There is a reason they offer cheaper prices... they will steal your money and you will end up paying double.

Route: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cape Air

Title: "Easily the worst airline experience we've ever had"

Review: I or my family has flown this airline three times in the last year. Each time has been a disaster. The first was in the summer. Temperatures were high and we found out once on the plane there was no air conditioning. Several got off the plane in Burlington Iowa near heat stroke and throwing up. The second flight was near thanksgiving. Very cold in the Midwest. Once on the plane and taxiing we were informed the heat was on high but would not heat the cabin. Upon landing in Burlington Iowa my teeth were chattering and I was shivering from the cold. An elderly lady on the flight was so cold she could barely get off the flight. Then she found out the next leg of her flight had been cancelled. The ticket agent was of little help. Today, my sister's flight from Burlington Iowa to St Louis was cancelled with virtually no advance notice and forced to drive to St. Louis to catch a flight. Easily the worst airline experience we've ever had.

Route: Chicago to Burlington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "Totally disappointed in SWA"

Review: Totally disappointed in SWA, they left us on the tarmac 35 min after we were supposed to depart Reno. I checked 2 bags in Reno, only 1 made it to Tulsa. This is Sunday, then they tell me it might be in at 12.30 am. Now the airline industry is supposed to be the most reliable industry in America. In fact, they train others on reliability. To make matters worse, if it comes in tonight at 12.30 am, they will get it to me Tuesday but who knows when. Step it up SWA, American has you beat, they put it on a delivery truck at 6am the next morning. Huge inconvenience as I am a travel Nurse, but my bag isnt important right, not to SWA.

Route: Denver to Tulsa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "no response from Air New Zealand"

Review: We should leave at 14 February at Los Angeles, flight is cancelled, but now a day later we are still in Los Angeles and no response from Air New Zealand only one text message at 08.55 pm, with message that plane is leaving at 08.55 pm on the same day.

Route: Los Angeles to Auckland

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "most uncomfortable"

Review: This has to be the most uncomfortable travel experience. No free catering and a seat pitch that resulted in me being unable to sit without hitting the seat in front. Not possible to pick a seat without payment.

Route: Madrid to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "it is superb value for money"

Review: Very nice flight with Laudamotion from Dublin to Vienna. Flight left on time, the seat was comfy, even though the plane was showing it's age a bit. Boarding was on time, funnily, the priority line, (which lets you take two bags rather than one) was a lot longer than the standard line. I just found this funny. The crew were very kind and friendly. I have only one complaint, and that is that Debit cards are not excepted, and I only had one of these cards, and no cash. But the flight attendant was very kind, and offered to get me some water. Overall, friendly service, nice flight, efficient and friendly, and for only £32, it is superb value for money.

Route: Dublin to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "nobody let us know about cancellation"

Review: We bought two tickets from Prague to Kathmandu via Sharjah in November 2018. We were supposed to leave April 13, 2019, Ten days before the flight we tried to add some food and to change baggage allowance through internet browser. It must be said that their website does not work optimal in any of the internet browsers. We managed to change baggage allowance but no food. From that reason we log out and tried to add food later but we realized we don't have access to our PNR anymore. We had still ten days to departure so we tried to contact their customer service via e-mail. Till now we do not have any answer. We contacted sales department in Prague by phone and also personally. They proved our PNR with conclusion we had cancelled both tickets in internet browser ourselves and the flight is full. We are still in shock. Two weeks of holiday, year of preparations for our big way to Himalayas, another friend waiting us in Kathmandu, services paid in Nepal are gone. Mainly, nobody let us know about tickets cancellation. If I wasn't interested about my PNR, I wouldn't know yet my tickets are cancelled. As proof they just reproduced conclusion of their IT Department in Sharjah. You have no chance to get in touch with somebody from their central agency in Sharjah. Mainly I would like to point out that I do not get any document confirming ticket cancellation. Welcome in modern times full of IT technologies where human being is a poor individual and those big fish use it for making money

Route: Prague to Kathmandu via Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "rude and extremely unhelpful"

Review: On the return trip from Marrakech to London, I was denied boarding (despite being at the checking counter with my family well before closing) because of overbooking on flight 3O105 at Marrakech Airport on 23/2/2020. The Swissport staff were rude and extremely unhelpful and just informed that there are only 3 spaces on the flight for the 4 of us- we were made to run around without any solution provided. The gentleman at the ticketing counter asked us to talk to the supervisor - who we had to find by asking around 5 other agents - finally, we were offered a rebook on a flight 3 days later but without any accommodation or compensation (for something that was clearly AirArabia issue - overbooking) which was not acceptable to us. Finally, I managed to sort out my own tickets on another airline spending own money despite having a confirmed ticket for which I paid full fare with Air Arabia.

Route: London Gatwick to Marrakech

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "ever going to fly with them again"

Review: Bought a trip back in 2019 for easter 2020, and then COVID hit the world. Instead of giving me my money back on a flight which didn't even take off, they wanted to give me airline credit. On top of that my final destination flight were cancelled permanently, I had no way of getting to the destination I bought the ticket for. They however claimed I could use this for other destinations, which is not what I bought. I sued them and finally received my moneyback after 2 years, obviously with a steep commission paid to the lawyers. Aeromexico has no regulation or care for their customer. I am never going to fly with them again. Don't be swayed by their cheap prices, its all a cover up for poor customer service.

Route: Madrid to Managua via Mexico

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "I almost missed my flight"

Review: I was flying within the European Union and the employees of this company at the check-in desk did not know that I did not need a covid test. I almost missed my flight.

Route: Porto to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "over a year later - no refund"

Review: My flight was cancelled. I was offered a voucher but declined - they don't fly enough routes I'd want to use. Eventually they agreed to a refund (after many emails). Since then I've chased every month. I keep being told it's being passed to another department for payment but over a year later - no refund.

Route: Sydney to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "never fly through this company"

Review: We flew from Tel Aviv to Cairo via Amman. We arrived in Cairo, my wife's suitcase did not arrive. We filled out a form with all our details, and waited for someone to contact us. Of course it never happened. Every day, we made sure to contact the airline, via phone and emails, but no answer. They did not answer us, hang out the telephone after long time of waiting, and simply did not feel like working. For 12 days, we took care of buying new things, spent the trip initially at clothing and shoe stores, and paid about $900 for the new things. In any case, we returned to Israel. We tried to contact the airline again, suddenly they answer. Now the funniest part about it, they found the suitcase today and they offered us compensation of $70. Our recommendation is never fly through this company. Because if you're in a situation where you'll have to talk to someone, you'll never find anyone.

Route: Tel Aviv to Cairo via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "really liked the service "

Review: Surat Thani to Bangkok with Nok Air, and I really liked the service provided by this company, the value for money and the nice set of planes. Moreover, in a very short flight they still served a great snack.

Route: Surat Thani to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "I'm sad that Ryanair didn't even try to understand situation"

Review: Bought tickets from Supersaver Helsinki to Rga, and I am an old customer with Ryanair, always been happy with fast service until now. Day before flight checked email, Ryanair app, no invite for online check in, so I thought. Going to do like normal people check in at airport, but now need to pay...and an adult and 2 kids check in for flight of 40 euros was 160 euros. And I asked any another way as I wasn't informed, in which I got told somewhere with small letter you can find info. I also explained I have travelled many times with Ryanair and always have got online check in but not this time and no info that you can't check in at airport computer...so I send same sad disappointment about service like that to customer service and just copy paste text. Also the guy at desk, wow, I must say I'm surprised he works at an airport, dead as dead person...at the end of the day, I'm sad that Ryanair didn't even try to understand situation and pretty much copy pasted texting, so I m gonna skin this company for my travel trips. Just because you are a cheap airline company doesn't give them the right to behave that way, you should consider reducing the fee a little less especially if it's a 50 min flight and price 15 euros.

Route: Helsinki to Rga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "Two flight attendants couldnt stop talking the whole flight"

Review: In the last two rows of the plane and four of us were trying to sleep. Two flight attendants couldnt stop talking the whole flight about skateboarding and scooters. None of us could sleep and the attendants didnt seem to care at all. Very unsatisfactory service. WestJet I should have taken your later flight.

Route: Newfoundland to Halifax

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "Its the worst airline"

Review: Its the worst airline. I bought a return ticket from Dubai to Larnaca via Amman. There was a 3 hour delay in Amman, the food was terrible, the staff was rude and not providing any clarification for the delay. In addition, tv was not working on the first half of the route, and their was no tv on the second half of the route. Upon return from my trip, another 2 hour delay in Amman. Moreover, upon arrival to Dubai, my luggage was lost that Was not found till current date. This is a terrible airline.

Route: Dubai to Larnaca via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Spicejet couldn't care less"

Review: Pathetic service. The ETA was 11:50 a.m. and at 13:55 p.m., the flight is yet to take off. Apparently the systems have had a ransomware attack, which is why they couldn't take off on time. My recent experience with SpiceJet in the last few months have all been delayed. While I waited with the other passengers at the boarding gate, multiple Indigo flights left. Spicejet couldn't care less.

Route: Hyderabad to Pondicherry

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "The worst nightmare ever"

Review: The worst nightmare ever. Flown many times before but this is the worst flight in my entire life. I have traveled from Muscat to Colombo and Colombo to Muscat and in both the times food was terrible and boarding place was an utter mess. Nobody was there to control the transit passengers. And airline officials didnt help much controlling crowds. Inside the air plane no Air conditioning. Flight was horribly hot

Route: Muscat to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "not doubt to fly with them again"

Review: I was curious to fly Thai AirAsia and was pleasantly surprised. The crew we had on both flights were male with just one female crew member but all were polite and well presented. Run on the Ryanair model, but it has a far more professional feel about it. On the return to Bangkok some food had run out but alternatives offered. Would not doubt to fly with them again.

Route: Bangkok to Krabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "ground staff were pitiful"

Review: Hong Kong Airlines ground staff were pitiful. The woman that printed our boarding pass for the Hong Kong to Beijing flight was absolutely rude and talked to us like we were stupid. We were only asking questions about our baggage to make sure we don't lose them. She was not nice, probably because it was 5:10 am. She was not able to provide a nice service, information and good words to customers.

Route: Hong Kong to Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Excellent service and after support"

Review: Excellent service and after support. My car seat was missing, they refunded the amount. I had issues with my flight in Toronto and they have returned hotel and other expenses. Keep up the good work.

Route: Frankfurt to Raleigh via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "Never again, what a disgrace"

Review: They will cancel last minute and wont bother to send customers a courtesy email or text to inform you this has occurred. Youd think crew on the ground would be present to address concerns, of course not lets make customers line up and find out themselves and send police incase things get out of hand. After speaking and emailing the representative here they apologised and said sit tight the company will get in touch to rebook. After getting home (a few hours later) received an email to say oh wait the flight isnt canceled come back they are ready to fly now! I think not.

Never again, what a disgrace.

Route: Sydney to Ho Chi Minh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "it's such a good experience"

Review: Houston to Hong Kong via Tokyo. ANA lives up to its reputation as a 5-Star airline and it is easy to see why. I paid US$825, all-in including taxes, for a round trip journey of 3 legs in each way. HKG-NRT-IAH-LIM & back (United Airlines codeshare IAH-LIM). Incredible pricing. Even from the ground, the check-in process (Haneda) was seamless and it took us a mere 10 minutes for check-in and security and immigration combined. Despite the aircraft (B767 & B777) being of some age, their interiors were retrofitted with up-to-date IFE (with a huge selection of the latest movies, no lagging or dead screens), and USB & laptop charging ports. The widebody aircraft meant that overhead storage space was more than sufficient and nobody had any problems finding space for their bags. The legroom in economy was one of the best we had ever experienced in economy. Recline could be better. (I'm 5'11 or 1.81m and I could stretch my legs out fully), seats were fairly comfortable and I had no problems sleeping 6-7 hours at a go on the 13hr flight and this is in economy. FA service was extremely hospitable. They served 2 meals and a snack over the course of 13 hours. The meals were great and as good as what some average Japanese restaurants would serve. It is also worth noting that the checked baggage arrived with no incident. The only minor gripe, perhaps, is that the 3-4-3 configuration in economy is quite a squeeze. But still, overall, it's hard to complain at such a price point. Even in economy it's such a good experience. They deserve to be consistently at the top of world rankings in all categories.

Route: Houston to Hong Kong via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "I would advise anyone to avoid this airline"

Review: I am writing to denounce my profound regret regarding my flights with easyJet. Customers try to choose EasyJet because they are low costs but the hidden fees and the staff behaviour made me spend with easyJet really more than other airlines such as Air France or Lufthansa. I think that easyJet has many problems including the fact that a flight can only be changed for an important cost (£49) when it is within two months (who will book and change a flight before two months?). Hence the change would represent twice the price of the flight price. However, I am writing regarding a specific issue. Yesterday, I had two flights with easyJet, the first from Lyon to London Luton and the second from London Luton to Edinburgh. Three days before my flight I bought the right to have a large cabin bag (that cost me £47 for the first flight and £15 for the second one). Everything was OK with the first flight where I had my cabin bag with me in the cabin (where its place should be). However, in London Luton, the staff member at the check-in desk forced me to pay 48 additional pounds for the same cabin bag with a 10.9kg weight (in order to check it in as hold luggage). Please note that the same bag fitted really well on the plane for the first flight (from Lyon to London Luton). Moreover, I observed that other passengers had cabin bags larger than mine. Hence, today I observed that easyJet staff are not coherent in imposing additional fees to customers from one country to another. Also, they are not treating their customers in the same manner. I initially paid around £22 for this flight. In the end, it cost me £85: £22 (initial payment) + £15 (Large cabin bag) + £48 (when they forced me to check in the large cabin bag that was supposed to come with me in the cabin) In addition to this, you can read on the news every day about the high rate of delays and cancellations of this airline. Don't underestimate the stress that can be caused by this airline. Also, it has plenty of other low costs around that do not have such bad reviews from customers. So, I would advise anyone to avoid this airline.

Route: Luton to Edinburgh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "this company is total joke"

Review: Absolute disaster. First after buying e-ticket I didnt received any confirmation or e-ticket. After few emails they send me my ticket. On the airport when my luggage was on the way to airplane some woman behind counter told her colleague that we can not fly to Sorong. No closer explanation and send us away. We came to Sriwinaya office on the airport. Again no closer explanation. She just showed me picture in her phone in Indonesian language. When I translated it by my self I found out Sorong airport is closed. They asked me if I want refund but when I told them: Ok make a refund she told me oh sorry I dont know how. You have to send email. So I send email but answer was "You have to call us if you want cancel flight. So I called them 5 times. In last call they told me there will be 30 USD fee for transaction and also 15% fee for cancellation. Transaction time is 2-3 months. So I asked for some credit or maybe change date of flights but there is no other option. 15% fee and 30 USD fee is only option. For me this company is total joke.

Route: Bali to Sorong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Delays, delays, delays"

Review: Delays, delays, delays. Always when I use easyJet, the flight is delayed. Now delay 1 hr sitting in the aircraft and don't know how long yet to wait for departure! Late boarding- actually started later than scheduled time etc. Horrible company.

Route: Gatwick to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "the worst experience"

Review: Singapore to Reunion via Mauritius. I've flown with Air Mauritius for more than 30 times but this was the worst experience. First there was no connecting flight from Singapore to Reunion, I was told to book a hotel in Mauritius and stay over night. Bad experience, the flight was delayed for 30mins, then an announcement was made that more information will be announced at 11am. My flight scheduled for 10am was cancelled but only at 1pm the announcement was made. How can one spend so much more money in Mauritius than the flight ticket itself.

Route: Singapore to Reunion via Mauritius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "I don't know what is going on with Sunwing"

Review: First the good - the airplane staff are excellent. The rides to and from the airports and hotels were excellent as well. They were coaches and were on time both ways. The Bad: - The Edmonton Airport's signage is terrible and Sunwing booking agents aren't there until 3 hours before any flight so it's difficult to know where you should be unlike other airlines or other airports. We were delayed 9 hours leaving from Edmonton, while we know others we met on our journey were delayed up to days of delays. We were delayed 1 hour leaving from Cancun. Notifications were received by myself but our travelling buddies who were signed up, did not. Then all of a sudden days later, they did? On the plane to Cancun we were in row 8. They ran out of most everything by the time they got to our row! Are you kidding me! On the plane to Edmonton we were in row 10 but it didn't matter because all they had were junk food, pop, tea, coffee and water. I don't know what is going on with Sunwing, but we won't be travelling with them anytime soon.

Route: Edmonton to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "very rude ground staff"

Review: Halifax to Toronto via Montreal. Brutal baggage fees on this airline and very rude ground staff. Charged me $51 dollars for a small backpack that fit no problem in the overhead bin. I don't pay that much to check a bag to go to Europe. Thank goodness there is a choice as I will never fly this airline again. They simply don't care about their customers which seems like a bizarre way to run a business.

Route: Halifax to Toronto via Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "a great low cost experience"

Review: Berlin to Madrid with Iberia Express. Very efficient boarding, the crew were making space in the overhead stowage and accompanying passengers to their seats which is very rare in Europe. The flight left Berlin late on a Friday evening most of the passengers were grumpy but the cabin crews have been smiling throughout the flight paying attention to small details. Definitely a great low cost experience.

Route: Berlin to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Vistara

Title: "better options are available"

Review: Not what is expected of a full-service airline that isn't cheap. Decent leg room is the only thing we could compliment about. Very rude cabin staff, running out of food options and delayed flights are just some of the pain points. No Wi-Fi option or infotainment system available. Not recommended when cheaper and better options are available.

Route: Delhi to Chennai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "not enough space in the lockers"

Review: There was not enough space in the lockers over our seats for our luggage and the staff split our luggage (group of 7) in several lockers all over the aircraft. After our landing, we had to wait all passengers to get off the plane and take our luggage.

Route: Athens to Larnaca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "an unwelcoming attitude"

Review: Abu Dhabi to Riyadh was booked on March 5 at 9:55pm, instead i changed it to 02:45pm at 11:00AM. I book an extra 15kg weight but it did not go through when the booking was changed. On the booking management website it did not show extras. Out of fear I will arrive to the airport without the 15kg I paid for, it a second time and thought i will request a refund later. When I called the call center, I was met with a concerning attitude from the agent. From the first minute, she had an unwelcoming attitude, followed by a series of unemphatic approach such as us it is your mistake, you should read the terms and conditions, contact the feedback team. Then she said you have a screen shot of the booking management page not showing the error?

Route: Abu Dhabi to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "the worst unhelpful airline"

Review: I flew to Thailand but with the Corona virus they cancelled the flight from Bangkok to London and wouldn't help to bring people back or give a refund so that we can take alternative flights. They were the worst unhelpful airline. Once they get your money they don't care about the customers.

Route: London to Bangkok via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "Never ever go with AirAsia"

Review: Goa to New Delhi. My flight I5 799 got cancelled at the last moment. Then my ordeal started to reschedule it. The customer service is totally poor. I called 6-7 times and each person gave a different story. I did a web check in before the flight got cancelled. It took them 8.5 hours to uncheck and they kept me sleepless throughout the night saying give them a call after half an hour so that they can reschedule. They dont have any coordination and they live in a different world isolated from customers. My dream Goa trip ended a nightmare because of this poor, unorganised, stupid care persons of this worst air line. Never ever go with Air Asia!

Route: Goa to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wamos Air

Title: "Would not recommend Wamos"

Review: Denver to Gatwick. Wamos Air was used by Norwegian Air during my trip home to the UK in December. They contacted me by e mail informing me of this change. I was rather annoyed as I had flown Norwegian in the Summer as was very pleased with the service. I called Norwegian whose agent assured me it would be exactly the same service including my seat reservation and ordered vegetarian meal. The flight out from Denver was ok, despite my vegetarian meal being some inedible dried up pasta dish. Breakfast was a barely thawed hard bread mozzarella sandwich. There were no TV'S in the seats and one had to log on onto Wamos Air which I was not prepared to do as I only had Cellphone and did not want to use my batteries. In the return journey to Denver the flight was delayed by half an hour. In both directions I was placed in a middle seat not an aisle seat as booked. One lady was kind enough to swap with me. Fortunately on the way back the aisle seat next to me was vacant. By moving one seat over and informing the flight attendants I had done this, must have caused great confusion for them. I did not receive my vegetarian meal at all. I asked three times to various attendants which proved quite annoying to them regarding their passive aggressive facial expressions. Finally they told me they had run out of vegetarian hot lunches and brought me a cheese sandwich and a free beer, probably to appease me. I was not at all complaining at the time but their general attitude towards me was aloof and unfriendly. I went to the galley to ask for a cup of tea x interrupting three attendants happily chatting away in Spanish. I wondered why they could not have such cheery dispositions towards the passengers. One girl very much put out it appeared, gave me a cup of tea. The annoyance on her face was very apparent. I am shocked that a reputable good airline such as Norwegian would contract such a sub standard company to replace them. I paid my money and it was not that cheap for a service that made my journey uncomfortable and unfriendly. I have read other negative reviews of Wamos Air, so I am joining the throng of a large number number of very dissatisfied customers. Would not recommend Wamos to anyone. Grubby old plane hostile crew seemingly in a constant state of confusion.

Route: Denver to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: I flew from Phoenix to Lima through Mexico City without problems. However on the return trip, there was a major delay in the airport in Mexico City (caused by the government), causing me to miss my connecting flight. The man at the counter was rude, but eventually provided me with a continuation of my journey which included a new flight through Puerto Vallarta and an overnight stay. Once I tried to board from Puerto Vallarta, they told me that, because of the change in flight, it was no longer an international flight and therefore I would have to pay an additional baggage fees. Although I provided documentation that this was part of the Phoenix, Lima trip, she didn't care and became rude when I pressed the issue. The flight crew were fine, and airplane was normal. Just that the ticketing people are completely unreasonable and rude.

Route: Phoenix, AZ to Lima, Peru via Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Smartavia

Title: "Avoid flying, unless really necessary"

Review: Impossible to do online check-in, unless you pay for the seat selection. Ridiculous carry-on limits, what happened to IATA guidelines? Seats have no legroom at all. And can't say the cost was low for a low-cost airline. Avoid flying, unless really necessary.

Route: St.Petersburg to Kazan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "found the food menu rather odd"

Review: Why do you make it so hard? After a so so lounge experience, the staff taking care of boarding treated us with disdain bordering contempt. It cant be training, who would do that, it has to be no fear of anything happening. The new club world suites are a huge step up from the old product and really on deliver comfort and privacy. The crew were professional but I personally found the food menu rather odd. Essentially, there was one only main that I could handle and was then told they had ran out. I was a few rows in.

Route: London to Atlanta

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Loganair

Title: "delayed by 2 hours"

Review: Islay to Glasgow. Appalling customer service. We were delayed by 2 hours so we missed our connecting flight. Loganair took no responsibility and we've had to wait 11 hours overnight at the airport for the next available flight and pay for a new onward flight even though Loganair is meant to be in partnership with BA. From talking to locals at the airport, it seems this is a regular occurrence. Also, having said they'd make sure our bags came off first, they were actually the last 2 bags off! What a hopeless service. I won't be using them again and would suggest getting the ferry instead.

Route: Islay to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: Olympic Air customer review

Review: Flight attendants were very polite and helpful. It's aircraft are not very well preserved (the interior of the aircraft). The seats were comfortable but you could see they were a bit worn at their edges, also the windows are very blurry and scratched.

Route: Athens to Skyros

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "Really nice services"

Review: Gatwick to Barcelona. Really nice services, great value for money. One of the best flights to Barcelona. Paid 120 eur for return ticket and I had 2 hold luggage included! Which other airline does that? Very nicely impressed, super new, clean airplanes. Great flight. For sure will fly again with them.

Route: Gatwick to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Level

Title: "having to buy a meal"

Review: Definitely would not recommend booking through this airline. Just flew from Barcelona to San Francisco on an 11 hr flight without any food or drinks provided free (which I did not know until I boarded the plane). I ended up having to buy a meal which came cold after everyone else was done and the lights had been turned down. The crew staff were incredibly unprofessional. I had an aisle seat, and they kept ramming into my arm even with the many times that I tried to scoot myself in the seat. On top of that, they were loudly talking to each other in the back of the cabin which made it incredibly hard to get any rest. At one point in the flight, someone had opened a nail polish and started painting their nails. The crew staff behind me saw it (and probably smelled it) but did not do anything about it. All in all, the money you'll save booking a flight with Level is not worth it. Book somewhere else.

Route: Barcelona to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "Crews are great"

Review: Singapore to Manado. Both flights are on reasonably new Boeing 737-800. Crews are great and nothing is too troublesome for them. I ordered the meals from All-time favorite menu in advance and are very satisfied with quality and quantity on both flight. Toilet are kept clean and dry at all time and I believe that it was clean after every usage. Lounge in Manado has changed to Concordia lounge which is fantastic comparing to Bunaken lounge in my previous journey. Outgoing flight show quiet comedy on the screen, while the returning flight provide iPad to everyone as they want to keep cabin dark for passengers who choose to sleep. Some negative point is that seat in the 737 seemed to have less seat pitch, less recline and less comfortable than their A320 fleet, and the aircraft of my returning flight is not properly cleaned. There are a lot of black dust on air condition vent, crevices and even on overhead monitor.

Route: Singapore to Manado

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "Be prepared for any inconvenience"

Review: I bought a flight from Zipair in July. I will flight 24 of August from Singapore to japan, and take my new flight from Japan to Brazil in 28 of August. In 22 of August I went to a clinic in Singapore and I and my grandchild did the PCR test. In 23 of August in the evening I received a e-mail from Zipair saying that my flight was cancelled. One day before the flight departure. And the next flight available will be only 28 of August (same day that my flight from Emirates will leave Japan). So I had to buy a new ticket that cost four time more from another company and I had to do a new PCR express test that cost me 280SGD per person. Total 560SGD + 2.300SGD for a new ticket. When I asked for refund the first assistant told me that the Zipair will refund the PCR test too. But when I asked for a refund, the company refunded only the ticket value. Be prepared for any inconvenience as it is not a reliable company.

Route: Singapore to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "hows very poor management"

Review: With less than 24 hours received a notification of change time of flight from 13.35 to 8.40 I tried to contact numoreous of time from noon till 8pm and still cant find answer to resolve my situation instead is either you take the condition or just refund attitude from the CS I think as customer if given reasonable reason e.g. whether condition, etc I can still accept it. But this is outrageous the reason is 'rescheduled from HQ', that's it! Me as customer has to be the one cancelled my schedule work without clear reason. I feel this one of the most unfulfilling service experience a customer can get with the unprofesionalism (no call backs, I am the one who needs to call so many times to find out my status, but they did call once to 'inform'. And by the sound of it he is just a pity junior staff who cant answer anything - this shows very poor management, the call ended by promisiing I will be called back which 5 hours pass and no call backs). I wont recommend this airline at all!!

Route: Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air KBZ

Title: "professional and pleasant"

Review: We recently took 4 internal flights on AirKBZ during our holiday in Myanmar. They use mainly ATR72 500-600 aircraft for these flights. They serve a snack and a drink on flights longer than 1 hour, on shorter flights boiled sweets are served. The planes were newish and in reasonable condition. At every check in you are given a sticker to identify your destination, once onboard these stickers are seen on the backs of every seat and safety cards. FAs were professional and pleasant. The schedules were punctual, as the turnaround time on hopping flights is well under 20 minutes, some of the flights left before time as soon as all the passengers were on board!

Route: RGN to NYU

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "delay letters are extremely generic"

Review: My experience with Air Mauritius was the worse I ever had with an airline. 12h delay announced 3 days before the flight from Kuala Lumpur Mauritius. 24h delay from Mauritius to Kuala Lumpur. no compensation for hotel room, transportation, or inconvenience. Customer service is overwhelmed with basic request like Delay letters for insurance. You call the hotline, you get redirected to 3 different offices. They do not answer their emails in the delays announced (21 days announced and they can't even make it) you have to call and chase them to get an answer. The delay letters are extremely generic and do not tell the reason behind the delay so most insurance companies will refuse Avoid at all costs

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Mauritius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "premium economy was comfortable"

Review: Barbados to Birmingham via Gatwick. Absolute chaos in both Barbados airport and onboard plane. In the airport terminal the flight was displayed as going to Bournemouth with the BHX flight number. We were advised the plane was taking some passengers for Gatwick due to operational reasons once on board. The staff on board did not appear to know how many passengers and two were also in accounted for. Hence nearly 3 hour delay. The accommodation in premium economy was comfortable and food and drink was good. The pilot did warn us to expect turbulence due to weather conditions. We needed to fasten our seatbelts for a good proportion of the journey. The Boeing 787 is comfortable with lots of overhead storage space but not enough toilets. When the cabin crew were advised -prepare for landing we appeared to be circling round for some time when the captain announced we were unable to land due to snow and closure of BHX. He needed to communicate regarding where was safe to land. We eventually landed at LGW some 3hours after original ETA. I appreciate we landed safely and of course am grateful for this. However upon landing we had to collect luggage clear customs and were given a £5 refreshment voucher which we barely had time to use before being herded on to coaches back to BHX. We left between 08:30 and 09:00. Conditions on road were extremely hazardous in snow. The journey took 10 hours and we eventually arrived back at BHX some 14 hours after original estimated time of arrival. As a result I lost my paid for taxi and had to stay in a hotel overnight prior to completing my journey home. Had chaos not ensued at the beginning of our journey we may have landed on time prior to closure of BHX

Route: Barbados to Birmingham via Gatwick

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "rudest and most helpless stewardesses"

Review: We booked business class thinking that it would in fact be business class, more room, etc. Boy were we wrong. The space from the bottom of the seat to the seat in front is 12 inches. My father is handicapped & it was literally painful to watch him go through the flight. My husband is 6'3" , another painful one to watch fly with Volaris. Hands down the rudest and most helpless stewardesses I have ever met in my entire life. My 3 year old got a rash from the seat which was covered in hair & potato chips. Flying is difficult & stressful enough. Do yourself a favor and don't make it any harder on yourself by booking with volaris. Book with literally anyone else especially if you need special accommodations.

Route: Tijuana to Mexico City via Cozumel

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "very good service and efficient"

Review: Monarch Airlines from Alicante to Gatwick, with very good service and efficient. Slight delay on departure but arrival on time. There was turbulence and lurching all over the place on our descent into Gatwick, which proved to be very uncomfortable for most passengers. The landing was quite smooth with a bit of a 'bump' which was fine, but the speed of the aircraft was fast and there was a sudden jolt as the cockpit crew rapidly applied the brakes to slow us down; it was quite abrupt and we had to grab the seat in front. There was no explanation or apology from the Captain over the rough descent and landing, which was a shame as it spoilt the overall flight.

Route: ALC to LGW

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "rendering the vouchers useless"

Review: My flights were cancelled flights due to Covid. For this I was issued travel vouchers (listed below) however valid until 31/10/22. However, when I have attempted to apply the travel vouchers to new bookings, the screen reads that I must contact their customer service. Such a thing is impossible as there is no number to contact anywhere on their website, rendering the vouchers useless. If easyJet enable their promise to be fulfilled by extending the vouchers and making them actually usable, I would withdraw this complaint.

Route: Luton to Catania

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "treat passengers with a warm smile"

Review: On time flight, competitive price and good cabin service provided us a comfortable and smooth flight from Singapore to Guangzhou. The cabin and ground service staff treat passengers with a warm smile. Must be praised that the elderly and children are given priority service for customs clearance.

Route: Singapore to Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "extremely bad experience"

Review: We were flying back from Orlando to Toronto, originally boarding time 4:10pm and scheduled to land before 8pm. We received multiple notifications about flight delays, each time saying it will be delayed approximately 1 hour.

notifications kept coming as we waited with uncertainty, until finally it states plane would arrive at approx. 1:15am. At one point, after 11pm, it seemed like they were trying to genuinely expedite things for us, saying flight will arrive in 30 minutes and do quick turn around. 30 minutes later, another delay saying have to wait for 2 flight attendants to come in, 30 minutes away. another 30 minutes later, they said they are waiting for another attendant to come in, about 30 minutes away! Feels like just making excuses and in the end, boarding time remained unchanged at 1:15 approx. We were not offered any vouchers for meals. Once plane arrived, gate attendant did not show any sympathy regarding the passengers' frustration, but rather demanded and threatened that attendants be treated respectfully and politely, otherwise would turn plane around and none of the passengers will board. Gate attendant was rude, ignoring our questions and requests. If people are not completely frustrated by now, then I can't think of a better way to agitate everyone. Finally arrived back at Toronto around 4:30. after picking up luggages and passing customs, arrived home at 5:30. Unfortunately, had to go to work exhausted. Overall, extremely bad experience.

Route: Orlando to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "Third class service"

Review: Third class service. They are rescheduling flight timing multiple times. Better option train or bus services or another flights, not Go First. very disappointing. I will never prefer this flight.

Route: Bangalore to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "carry on didn't fit the basket"

Review: After arriving to Nadi from Los Angeles and I had a connecting flight to Labasa. After checking at the counter, I was told to place my carry on in a basket to check the size. When my carry on didn't fit the basket I was told to pay $90. I explained that I have a connecting flight from LAX and this particular carry on was good and met the cabin size she refused to listen to me and demanded that I pay the said amount. (» Baggage Information)

Route: LAX to LBS via NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "impressed with the improvement"

Review: Helsinki to Tokyo Narita. It is 10 years since I flew JAL and I was very impressed with the improvement. Charming ground staff in Helsinki and the crew have their mojo back and were faultless despite a full flight. The meal was good and it was nice to get flavoured steamed spinach as the "salad" instead of the standard offering. My only negative would be the IFE choice. The cabin temperature was perfect despite usual all comments about heat.

Route: Helsinki to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "bad and unnecessary experience"

Review: We came with our 10 Month old daughter. Staff at counter did not want to accept our Childs Passport. She said we need a visa for the baby. We told her several times that we double checked that it is the right passport and that we already entered Thailand and Malaysia with it. She asked her Boss and both refused to take us. We tried to talk to the manager that day. He didn't really talk to us. Also he told us we can't fly. They told us the passport has to be valid for Minimum one year. We had to discuss about two hours and nearly missed the flight. At the end the manager let us sign a paper we didn't even know what we signed because he did not talk to us. He let us board but we had to run and didn't know why at the end we we're allowed to fly. In Singapore everything was fine. So we are very angry with Batik Air for this bad and unnecessary experience. Plane was in good condition and staff in plane was very nice

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "ignoring standard fees for a checked bag"

Review: This airline charges whatever they see fit to make a profit by completely ignoring the standard fees for a standard checked bag. It's a complete abuse to us consumers and we are forced to pay because we can't leave the luggage. I was charged $140 for a basic international checked bag weight. No one helped, no respect, they lied and show no respect. No one is organized, and i had to argue with someone to get a wheelchair for my mom! A Basic right for someone with a disability. Complete abuse and lack professionalism. Will never use this airline.

Route: Morelia to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "worst airline I have ever flown"

Review: This is the worst airline I have ever flown with. The worst customer service. I usually travel every three months to different destinations, with different airlines. In truth, if you plan to travel, do not do it on this airline. The employees do not give any information, they delay your flight, they do not tell you why, if they want to cancel or change your flight, they do not let you, they tell you that due to policies they do not return your money. On the airport screen the flight says on time and on the app it says delayed. Airline crap. They do not apologize to the passengers. Esta es la peor aerolínea con la que e viajado. El peor servicio al cliente. Suelo viajar cada tres meses hacia diferentes destinos, con diferentes aerolíneas. En verdad que si piensan viajar no lo hagan en esta aerolínea. Los empleados no dan ninguna información, te retrasan el vuelo no te dicen porque, si quieren cancelar o cambiar tu vuelo no te dejan, te dicen que por políticas no te devuelven tu dinero. El la pantalla del aeropuerto el vuelo dice a tiempo y en la aplicación dice retrasado. Una porqueria de aerolínea. No se disculpan con los pasajeros.

Route: Mexico city to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "couldn't book a seat beforehand"

Review: Amsterdam to Taipei via Xiamen. This Xiamen Airlines flight wasn't fully booked so we could pick out our own seats. The seats were comfortable, inflight entertainment had a lot of movies. The cabin crew was nice. What I disliked though was that you couldn't book a seat beforehand and thus had to rely on luck to get a good seat. Also, they didn't transfer my baggage directly, so once in Xiamen, I had to get my baggage and check out, and then check my baggage in again. In Amsterdam they seemed unaware that they were unable to transfer my baggage automatically, so I had to wait for a long time to get some answers, and nearly was late for my flight.

Route: AMS to TPE via XMN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartLynx Airlines

Title: "Stay away from Smartlynx"

Review: Flight was delayed 4 hours. At first we were put off with a 1 hour delay, although it was clear that it would be 4 hours since there was no plane in Nuremberg. This first had to be procured because the pre-flight did not take place due to the crew exceeding their working hours. The statutory compensation has not taken place until today, 23.3.23. Smartlynx just doesn't react anymore and plays dead. Stay away from Smartlynx, you don't know how long they can hold out for such a chaos financially! Flug hatte 4h Verspätung. Erst wurden wir vertröstet auf 1h Verspätung, obwohl klar war, dass es 4h werden, da ja kein Flugzeug in Nürnberg vorhanden war. Dies musste erst beschafft werden, da Vorflug wegen Arbeitszeitüberschreitung der Crew nicht stattfand. Die gesetzlich vorgesehene Entschädigung hat bis heute, 23.3.23 nicht statt gefunden. Smartlynx reagiert einfach nicht mehr und stellt sich tot. Finger weg von Smartlynx, man weiß auch nicht, wie lange sie so ein Chaos finanziell durchhalten !

Route: Nürnberg to Crete

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Dragonair

Title: "seats were always upgraded"

Review: Clark, Philippines to Hong Kong. Dragonair website is identical to Cathay Pacific and is user friendly. Booking is a breeze. Their online check-in and bag-drop counter at the airport are convenient. Inflight entertainment (Studio KA) is great with huge collections. I believe they just offer an all economy seats for their CRK-HKG flights however since there are business seats allotted due to the aircraft configuration, they allow other passengers to be seated in business cabin. I'm happy that my seats were always upgraded! Snack is so-so. Just a small pack of cookies, chocolate bar and water for short haul flights. One thing, the cabin crews should use English as a means of communication to customers.

Route: CRK to HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "nothing has been reimbursed so far"

Review: Our flight in June 2022 was already late, and once in the plane and already moving on the ground in order to take-off, the crew detected a fuel leak, so we had to "pass by technical control", while remaining in the plane. After having waited 1 hour in the aircraft with an obviously upset crew, they finally told us that this aircraft could not fly and that we have to wait in the airport for another aircraft to continue our journey. After waiting 2 hours in a very limited area, Air France announces that we can eventually not depart "as we will land in Pointe-à-Pitre too late because there is a curfew". So we have to move in the main lobby to pre-check-in for the next day, but we have to wait again as they don't know from which airport in Paris we have to leave the following day. So the desk remains closed. It's already been 5 hours since the trouble started, and at last they provide us with a bottle of water. Nothing before. Everyone is getting very upset with the situation and waiting for Air France to organize our unexpected night in Paris, to finally hear : "We will not take care of your accommodation and transportation, please make your own plans, we will reimburse you afterwards". The flight was in June, nothing has been reimbursed so far, and not even my request has been answered by October.

Route: Paris Orly to Pointe-à-Pitre

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LAN Airlines

Title: LAN Airlines customer review

Review: A LAN Airlines long haul flight from Santiago to Sydney via Auckland that was surprisingly good. Once I worked out how to use flight entertainment, it was easy. Seats were comfortable although somewhat squeezey. Food surprisingly good for airline food and real glass, ceramic dish and metal cutlery were provided. Flight attendants were polite and helpful. Toilets were kept in check.

Route: Santiago to Sydney via AKL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "The worst customer service"

Review: I was excited about this new airline and had such a positive feedback after my first flight with them, but they broke my luggage and refused to reimburse me for this, stating it was a minor wear down. They are no different from any other low cost airline apparently. I was happy about the price of my ticket but they destroyed a much more expensive luggage. Never again. The worst customer service. My luggage cannot be used again

Route: Athens to Larnaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "worst airline Ive ever flown"

Review: Shanghai to New York. Where to start with this airline. If I could rate a 0 or even negative I would. From the customer service at the check in desk to the actual flight. This is hands down the worst airline Ive ever flown with. Not once did I feel safe on any of the 3 flights I took with them. The food is terrible, the service is ghastly, the temperature is freezing, the inflight entertainment is boring, and the seats are tiny and Im 5 foot. If you lose something on these flights, trust me youve lost it for life. Even their customer service is after the fact is horrible. Trust me when I say avoid at all costs.

Route: Shanghai to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "Very bad experience"

Review: Jeddah to Chicago via Amman. Very bad experience, the workers in this airline are not polite, they overcharged me on the 2nd luggage. When I get to the airport I got charged $250 and no body to talk to. In their website it is 200$ but they make me pay 250$. Bad service in the ground and air, bad experience.

Route: Jeddah to Chicago via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "website is difficult to use"

Review: One of the worst airlines I have used. The website is difficult to use and I had issue to obtain my boarding pass. I went to the airport and even the staff didn't know what was going on and how to sort it. They had to call a superior staff to sort my boarding pass problem. I tried by phone and chat. It seems when people comment about the problem they had with them they block. I wouldn't recommend it at all

Route: Stockholm to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "Avoid this airline!"

Review: San Luis to Buenos Aires. Avoid this airline! Flights from San Luis to Buenos Aires were cancelled throughout the day blaming "meteorologic conditions", even though there was nothing unusual and flights were flying everywhere else with no problem. Customers were advised about the cancellations just minutes before the flight departure (via email), leaving everyone in limbo. When calling customer centre, they were very rude, and said that the tickets did not qualify for reimbursement, only could be rescheduled for another day. Of course, they wouldn't pay accommodation or anything else either. When trying to discuss options with them, they simply hang up. Finally, many passengers opted to take the bus and claim the money later on (good luck with the claim, anyway). Unfortunately, they have the monopoly of many flight routes in the country and there is no competition, so they charge whatever they like for a very poor service. They not only cancel flights with no notice, half of the time there is a strike or some other reason to leave people stranded. Fly this airline at your own risk

Route: San Luis to Buenos Aires

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "I will avoid this airline at all costs"

Review: A scheduling disaster. Five flights booked, all five were rescheduled. Not only that, but the rescheduling included connections that didnt make sense anymore: first leg landing after the second leg departs, and with no further options during that day. First, they changed the first flight of five, and only offered to rebook that one for free (even though it affected the following 4) so I had to pay for the change of the following four flights myself. Then, as the dates approached they changed (multiple times) the remaining four flights, up to the point that my last flight is to a completely different city. I will avoid this airline at all costs whenever I have a choice. An embarrassment and a scam.

Route: Buenos Aires to San Juan Domingo Faustino

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "Very disappointing and infuriating"

Review: Very disappointing and infuriating. Paid for upgraded seats - given the two middle seats of a row of four - hideous when going to the bathroom several times over a long flight. Cabin crew annoyed that we were not happy about our money being stolen by their company for services not given. Practically threw our food and drink at us the whole flight - it was ordinary at best anyway. To give credit we did arrive more or less on time and safely so really that is what you ultimately want. However then ensued several months of emails trying to at least get a refund for the services not supplied - no joy with this and in fact some very weird emails promising refunds which never materialised. What a waste of time - would never fly with Lufthansa again and definitely would not recommend. I'm was really surprised that the German national air carrier is so abysmal!

Route: Singapore to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "double paid for return flight "

Review: Five of us flew to Christchurch from LAX. On the return from Christchurch, Fiji Airways canceled my daughter-in-law's return ticket because she and my daughter had the same first and last name. Even though all five of us flew out to Christchurch together on the same itinerary! They refused to let daughter-in-law board the flight unless we purchased a one-way ticket for her. The ticket agent promised that Fiji Airways would refund it since it was their mistake. After 10 phone calls and multiple emails, Fiji Airways refused. So we double paid for the return flight because of their mistake.

Route: LAX to CHC via NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "Customer service was rude"

Review: I was flying from Delhi to New York via Kuwait through Kuwait Airways. On 29 Oct 2018 I missed my connecting flight because my flight was delayed from Delhi by more than 70 minutes. Although my connecting flight (KU117) was there when our flight reached but they didnt allow us to board the plane. Customer service was rude and pathetic. One of the help desk agent told that they are used to this. Many passengers asked for managers but he never came.

Route: New Delhi to New York via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "efficient staff and service"

Review: Flew LGW to Naples to join cruise ship and vice versa. Very impressed with the efficient staff and service on board. Cabin crew and flight deck crew all informative and pleasant. Plenty of room on the Dreamliner, very quiet on take off compared to the average plane. Staff apologetic about the chaos at Naples airport seems it is quite usual! All in all a good experience with this airline.

Route: London to Naples

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "poor cabin climate control"

Review: As a foreign American passenger, it doesn't get any worst flying with Cebu Pacific and in my honest opinion is probably the worst airline experience I have ever had in my 54 years of life. There were numerous delays, unclear update status, and "EXTREMELY" poor cabin climate control. I was literally sweating in my seat whiles waiting for the pilot to perform his pre-flight checks and waiting an unusually long time for the pilot to taxi onto the runway. There were no snacks unless it was paid for and from what I remember, even when flying with Philippines Airline it was provided to passengers free of charge even during my previous short flight. If things don't change with Cebu Pacific, they will follow the path of other bankrupt airlines.

Route: Manila to Bacolod

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "Overall worst experience"

Review: Initial take off went very smooth after that it went downhill they landed the plane early only to say there will be delays in loading into a terminal. Waited 2:30 hours to get up to the terminal then we had to wait an additional 30 minutes to get off the plane. After departing went to check my bags only for them to be laid out on the floor and nobody informed us. After collecting one of my bags the other was missing and the lady had an attitude saying they put it on the wrong flight when we checked our bags in together. Overall worst experience would never recommend spirit to my worst enemy

Route: Columbus to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "does a good job"

Review: Osaka to Hong Kong. I have flown Peach several times now. It is a low cost airline, but it does a good job. Ground and cabin staff are nice, the seats are not particularly comfortable and have small legroom space, but overall not too bad. For the price, it is definitely ok. This flight was on time, the ground staff at check-in was kind and gave me an emergency exit seat (lots of legroom, usually need to pay). The cabin attendant I spoke with went the extra mile to make sure I could buy the only sandwich left without meat.

Route: Osaka to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "regret not having traveled by train"

Review: An unreliable company, with careless customer service. My flight was permanently further delayed with nonsense announcements, culminating when Air France App claimed at 6h07 pm the flight was scheduled to leave at 5h15pm (see picture)! We finally left with 2h delay (for a 1h flight). No WiFi on board contrary to what was advertised before the flight and even on board. The cabin crew was unapologetic. No way to work or inform business partners at MPL of my scheduled arrival time. In-flight "business" meal consisted of nuts, one cookie, and a drink. I don't see the difference with "economy". Finally arrived starved, late, having lost my business day. Despite Platinum loyalty status and flying business class, all this was considered not worth any compensation by AF customer service. I regret not having traveled by train.

Route: Paris to Montpellier

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cobalt

Title: "all services are unbundled"

Review: Beirut to Stansted via Larnaca on Cobalt. Cobalt is a budget airline so all services are unbundled. No meals or refreshments were purchased. I will fly Cobalt Airlines whenever I can.

Route: Beirut to Stansted via Larnaca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "Efficient, well organised"

Review: We fly with Ethiopian Airlines Domestic once a month. Addis to Bahir Dar, there are 25 flights per day to choose from. International 2 or 3 times a year. Efficient, well organised. A very pleasant experience.

Route: Bahir Dar to Addis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "This is unacceptable!"

Review: Allegiant is the absolute worst airline. My boarding pass said to board at 7.20 am and to be there 2 hours prior. Showed up on time, waited for over an hour and no Allegiant employee ever showed up to check myself and my bags in. This is unacceptable! This was supposed to be a surprise birthday trip for my elderly grandmother and this companies lack of compassion for its clientele has ruined it! This is a weekend I will never get back!

Route: Memphis to Orlando, Florida

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "Virgin is not what it used to be"

Review: Flew Los Angeles to Fort Lauderdale with Virgin America. Air quality in cabin on both flights was very uncomfortable, it was hot and circulation was poor. The crew were less than friendly at FLL checking in and there was only one person handling the massive travellers checking in for all three rows. Our seats were very uncomfortable. Virgin is not what it used to be.

Route: Los Angeles to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "worse than on budget airlines"

Review: Ljubljana to Athens via Belgrade . One of the most unreliable airlines in Europe: constantly long delays which frequently result in missing connections. Lack of professional service both on the ground and in the air. Unfriendly and indifferent cabin staff. Unacceptable preseatng policy. A very cheap product in general, even worse than on budget airlines. Very bad value for money: a rough low cost service at a not at all low cost price. Should be avoided at any cost.

Route: Ljubljana to Athens via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: Bangkok Airways customer review

Review: Krabi to Bangkok. Excellent service in the full extent of the word, from the help via email, the counters and the attention of all its employees is excellent, in addition to the services both on board and in its facilities in the pre-boarding area, very good service , Congratulations. ES: Excelente servicio en toda la extensión de la palabra, desde la ayuda vía correo electrónico, los mostradores y la atención de todos sus empleados es excelente, además de los servicios tanto a bordo como en sus instalaciones en el salís de pre abordaje, muy buen servicio, felicidades.

Route: Krabi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "still fighting for the refund"

Review: We purchased 1pm flight from Lisbon, Portugal to Seville, Spain (3 tickets cost us 675.45 EUR) which out of three flights available on the 15th June 2023 was the most expensive flight, more than double the price of any of the two other flights. The other two flights at 7.25am and 10.25pm, were inconvenient. On 26 May 2023, TAP airline informed us, via email, of the cancellation of our 1pm flight. We were given options of the two other flights, 7.25am or 10.25pm. 10.25pm flight on the day we were advised of cancellation would cost us around 314 EUR for 3 tickets. The difference in price of 362 EUR was not even mentioned in the TAP email. I am still fighting with the TAP airline for the refund and I would add to the above mentioned amount 50 EUR we charged for the late check in in Seville. Their response when we managed to speak to them on the phone was "Wait for our email, it is still "Under analysis". This "customer ser".

Route: Lisbon to Seville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Koryo

Title: "crew were very courteous"

Review: PEK-FNJ-PEK in August 2015 and a seamless experience. Both flights on time. The seat was comfortable with sufficient legroom. The TU-204 aircraft is only a few years old and the interior was clean and tidy. There was a free drinks service including local beer. Their famous Air Koryo burger was a very tasty snack and I would have eaten another. Cabin crew were very courteous. All in all, a very pleasant experience.

Route: Beijing to Pyongyang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "unprofessional to me"

Review: New York to Gatwick on low-fare ticket. Check in rude to me. Flight attendants unprofessional to me. Cabin freezing and they charge $8 for a blanket. Food is rubbish, my dietary requirements not available. Toilet I used was filthy. In-flight entertainment not working. So disappointed.

Route: New York to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "Worse experience ever"

Review: Guadalajara to Chicago . Do not fly with them just cause its cheaper. They make up for it by getting you with every little thing while you are about to board. Worse experience ever. Will never be using them again.

Route: Guadalajara to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "Easy and comfortable"

Review: Had a lovely experience flying with Norwegian. I checked in through their app and obtained all boarding passes for me and my family. Check-in at the airport was extremely smooth and efficient - boarding the same. Extremely fast and efficient. I was travelling with my 3 year old son and the check-in agent went out of her way to ask if we would like to board first with our stroller. Super friendly gate staff and cabin crew. We were greeted with smiles everywhere and super welcoming attitude. I will absolutely fly again with Norwegian. Easy and comfortable.

Route: Copenhagen to Haugesund via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "The worst airline of all"

Review: The worst airline of all. Please do not waste your money to book with Frontier Airlines. Although it may seem like a cheap offer, it really is not. The customer service is lousy, they charge for everything it's a horrible experience. On June 30 we had booked a flight to Punta Cana from the Miami airport, and from the counter to check luggage and documents the service was bad, we spent about an hour and a half in that process where there was a huge line of passengers and only 3 members of the airline attending. The flight was delayed, when we got on the plane we were already 40 minutes late. Inside the plane we waited for about an hour or maybe more, and they gave us many excuses as to why the plane was not taking off until finally they told us that we had to get off because it had a damaged engine, after waiting two more hours in the waiting room they canceled the flight without offering more alternatives, most of the passengers had reserved hotels in Punta Cana that they lost because of Frontier, others came from other states or cities in Florida. Even when some passengers complained, Frontier members were upset as if they had been affected. The worst experience. Please don't throw away or waste your money. Do not use Frontier Airlines.

Route: Miami to Punta Cana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "customer service is the worst"

Review: I had booked a flexible business class ticket with them back in March. I am waiting for a refund from that flight that I have cancelled in March up to this day. I spend over 80 euros on calls with the costumers service, spend hours and hours on end trying to reach them via email, calls on many different numbers and their WhatsApp number. I kept being pushed to other departments and other emails for my request. To even cancel took me 2 full days of calling and writing to them. The customer service is the worst I have ever experienced.

Route: Cairo to Seoul via Riyadh

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "not served my pre booked meal"

Review: One of the worst experiences. Gate change from what was sent via first message to the one at airport was not announced or message was not resent - we had to figure out at the airport. Inflight experience was pathetic. I was seated in row 15D - The inflight attendant was not clear on emergency row - she started explain the emergency procedure to row 12 customer when the emergency rows were 15 & 16. I had inflight meal prebooked - none of the flight attendants bother to ask for servicing the same - when I asked for the same - captain announce landing - so I was not served my pre booked meal. I paid for the same but get the same on board

Route: Hyderabad to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "a whole week with no luggage"

Review: Skopje to New York via Belgrade. Last time ever we are flying with Air Serbia. I dont even know where to begin. First of all when we landed in Belgrade they delayed our flight. I asked them why & they replied to me there is no plane. How are they selling plane tickets if they dont have a plane. Second of all I when I got to Skopje I was there for a whole week with no luggage. I had a wedding & I didnt have any of my stuff. I had to buy a new dress for the wedding and new clothes for that whole week. After a week only one of my luggage came. The second luggage came three days after. On the way back home I didnt get my luggage again for 5 days. The people in Belgrade at the airport are very rude and not helpful at all. I would speak English to them because I dont speak Serbian & they would reply in Serbian. I even told them & they still didnt speak English.

Route: Skopje to New York via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "no reason communicated to passengers"

Review: Johannesburg to Windhoek. After one and a half hour delay no indication given of the actual time the flight will depart. No reason communicated to passengers. All consecutive plans made had to be rescheduled. Quite unprofessional considering the amount paid for this flight.

Route: JNB to WDH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "never received one apology"

Review: The worst airline I have ever dealt with. Our flight was scheduled to leave Amsterdam at 11.30 and was initially delayed by 2 hours as our plane was in Milan undergoing repairs as there was a technical problem. After an hour of waiting and relocating to another departure gate, we were informed that our flight would not depart until 17.30. We returned to the gate at 15.30 and again our flight had been delayed until 18.30 and moved yet again to another gate. We never received one apology from the staff and were offered a voucher for a meal as compensation. Instead of 4 days in Malta our trip was reduced to 3 days owing to the 7 hour delay. Moreover, had we been informed earlier in the day that our flight would not leave until 18.30 we could have spent he day in Amsterdam rather than stuck in Terminal 2 in Schipol airport. I have used Air Malta before and experienced severe delays on this journey too. After these experiences, I will not use Air Malta again. No professionalism, no efficiency and no apologies.

Route: Amsterdam to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "Waiting for my baggage for 4 days"

Review: Tel Aviv to Mexico City via Madrid. Iberia you are the worst airline company ever. I don't know how you still have people who fly with you. Waiting for my baggage for 4 days and still no answer after I gave the location of the baggage. I am in surf trip without my surfboard, I even spoke with the flight staff to let them know that my baggage isn't on the flight, they tell "when you arrived to Mexico City check it".

Route: Tel Aviv to Mexico City via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "flight had been delayed an entire 24 hours"

Review: My flight was originally scheduled for 0920PM but was delayed about ten minutes before boarding. Hundreds of people were at the gate with the same notification that the flight was delayed until 2AM. The gate next to us was supposed to board 3 hours before we were and were still waiting to find out when they were leaving. The gate attendant disappeared down the ramp and closed the door behind her, leaving the entire area void of any staff to answer any questions. People coming off the plane in wheelchairs were left at the gate without their belongings or their assistance to get to bag claim. I have been unable to get ahold of customer service nor get a refund even though I purchased the insurance. Hearing all the complaints and seeing how delayed others were on their flights headed to Florida hours earlier, I went ahead and booked a flight on a larger airline for the AM and promptly went home. We were given no announcement at the gate and subsequently told there was enough staff to even pull the luggage off the plane. By the time I got up for my flight the next morning, this flight had been delayed an entire 24 hours. I never received any kind of confirmation that the flight even left. The website is unusable and will not even pull up my booking with the confirmation I was given.

Route: Raleigh Durham to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "food was poor in quality and presentation"

Review: Check in and security check at BKK airport swift, CX lounge in Bangkok and Hong Kong very pleasant as always. Aircraft, seat comfort and service topnotch. What really spoiled those flights was the really poor catering. On both flights, the food was poor in quality and presentation. I did not see the Y class menu, but it looked like average economy class food on China. An example were the what the menu pompously called a variety of cereals, when I asked what the choices were, I was handed a small box of Kelloggs cornflakes. So there was no variety. The same applies to wine. There is no more choice, just one white or one red, which were both dreadful. I was always very fond of CX, but this was just awful catering.

Route: Bangkok to Seoul via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "voucher isn't even valid for a year"

Review: Awful - I had flights booked from London to Mexico City with BA at the end of June, then flights the next day from Mexico City to Havana. BA cancelled my flights to Mexico and I was able to obtain a full refund. Interjet cancelled my flights to Havana and the first I heard of it was an email saying "We have a voucher for you". The voucher isn't even valid for a year from my cancelled flight, and there is no way I can use it as I can't get to Mexico from London again before expiry. I explained this to two different Interjet agents via email and asked for either an extension of the voucher to two years so that I can actually use it, or a refund of the cost of my cancelled flight. I was told the voucher is already generous and they didn't have to do anything because Covid-19 is out of their control. My bank also tried to obtain the refund and was told it was rejected by Interjet (really helpful). I now have a claim open with my travel insurance firm. I never managed to fly with Interjet and now there's no chance I ever will.

Route: Mexico City to Havana via Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: I booked a seat by the exit door after being boarded i was approached & told i couldn't be there because i carried a cane in my overhead storage, they said i had to move. So they said they had a seat at the front with the extra leg room i moved there & the seating was so tight i was uncomfortable. Then they said they had a seat with 3 open spots that i could sit in which i was good with, they moved my stuff . The next thing i know the head flight attendant come & accused me of calling one of the attendants a name (which i said i never did) next thing she says i did & i was to leave the plane i was left stranded without my clothes, medication & no place to go no place to stay. I had to purchase another ticket to get home. Worst airline ever, will never use them again, and when i did get back i had to wait for over half an hr to get my luggage.

Route: Vancouver to Waterloo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "A pleasant flight"

Review: A pleasant flight. It departed on time and the staff were very friendly and efficient. Apart from tea , coffee and water which were complimentary, all the food had to be purchased. It would be nice if they bring back the "happy hour" for free drinks.

Route: Melbourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "The seat the best"

Review: Taipei to Honolulu. A wonderful experience. The seat the best, cabin staff warm and efficient, the entertainment good enough. Food presentation is wonderful, an appealing service. The food itself needs refining, lightening in terms of sauces etc but that is minor. I highly recommend the business class.

Route: Taipei to Honolulu

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "take your business elsewhere"

Review: American has quite simply taken the throne as the worst airline imaginable. Where do I even start? We board in Phoenix, AZ in June when it is 110 degrees outside and the plane is a literal sauna. Apparently the ac wasn't connected. We then sit on the tarmac for an extra 25-30 minutes sweating profusely in the most uncomfortable situation. In the air, the outstandingly horrible display of an airline continued. I paid $40 for Wifi for the flight to watch the Us open golf tournament and in the least surprising news of the century - the wifi was broken for more than 75% of the flight. The cherry on top was the flight attendants ridiculous behavior. When asking for garbage I handed the man my sprite can and the cup. He only grabbed the can and the cup spilled on a passenger at the end of the row. They are having an exclusive discount on a Mastercard for 70,000 miles? What a joke. The attendants were loud on the speaker talking for at least 20 minutes trying to push this deal before the end of the month. Grand finale? They had interns on the flight deck at JFK and they moved the plane to far forward. We sat at the gate for 45 minutes before being able to get off the plane at 12 in the morning. If you offered me free flights for life on American I would say no thank you disgusting display of professionalism- worst airline imaginable. Should definitely take your business elsewhere

Route: Phoenix to New York JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "surprisingly good service "

Review: Surprisingly good service for a budget airline! on this flight from Singapore to Maldives. A lot better than other budget airline where they shut the blinds on you after take off. I like how the air stewards and stewardesses patrol the aisle several times.

Route: SIN to MLE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "in a week received a compensation"

Review: Was flying on a business trip from Luxembourg to Belgrade through Vienna. My connection was really short, just 35 minutes, I managed to make it, but my luggage did not. Upon arrival to Belgrade I received an SMS that my luggage was not boarded and some instructions. Reported all to the lost luggage and left my hotel address. I believe that by the evening my luggage arrived to the Belgrade airport, but due to weekends it was delivered to me only on Monday. Since all my clothes were in the suitcase I had to go shopping. Afterwards filled in a report and in a week received a compensation according to their internal policy.

Route: Luxembourg to Belgrade via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "a very pleasant experience"

Review: Melbourne to Denpasar Bali. Overall a very pleasant experience and lives up to its 5 star rating and best cabin crew awards. Legroom is amazing. It appears to be at least 34 inches, and coming from other airlines offering 31 inch legrooms on international flights this is immediately apparent. In fact, it is so roomy when you need to get out of your seat your seat mate won't even need to get out of his/her chair, only needing to tuck their legs a bit back and you are out. Food provided was very pleasant, with metal cutlery provided in addition to multiple frequent drink services. On this specific route, I would definitely recommend Garuda Indonesia over other airlines simply because of the experience you get from them.

Route: Melbourne to Denpasar Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "delayed anywhere from 3 to 6 hours"

Review: JetBlue has to be the worst airline flying out of South Florida right now especially since the fort Lauderdale closure on April 12th JetBlue has canceled the late night fort Lauderdale to Las Vegas flight (flight 607) three times. One flight was canceled on a Monday which 3 days after they actually opened up the airport. That also means that the people in Las Vegas waiting for flight 607 cannot get back to Fort Lauderdale because the flight never gets to Las Vegas! The ripple effects are disastrous. JetBlue also has four local flights such as Fort Lauderdale to Jacksonville and Jacksonville back to Fort Lauderdale and Fort Lauderdale to Cuba and Cuba back to Fort Lauderdale (flight numbers 17, 18, 1499 and 1500) and for the past 4 days each of them have been delayed anywhere from 3 to 6 hours with two of them being canceled all together and weather really has nothing to do with it since April 15th the weather has been fine down here we have had very little rain. But even the four local flights which are only about an hour and 20 minutes apart also been delayed 3 to 6 hours or have been canceled. About a year ago JetBlue stated to the public that they will have fewer frequency of flights which will allow them more flexibility when things go wrong but obviously that is not the case.

Route: Ft Lauderdale to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "A very pleasant experience"

Review: Manila to Davao. A very pleasant experience. The flight was so smooth and relaxing. We had a great time. The plane arrived ahead of schedule and we arrived at our destination almost 30 minutes earlier. True value for the money we have paid. I will be flying with this airline again.

Route: Manila to Davao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "Best Gluten Free meals"

Review: The flight departed a little late. Boarding was organized. Had aisle seat 84C which chose and paid for At booking. Gluten Free meal served early and cabin crew checked name and request for Gluten free. Best Gluten Free meals on any airline. The cabin crew on this flight worked nonstop. Water and soft drinks between meals which was good. One cabin crew stood out on this flight she was constantly attending passengers needs and had a bright energetic personality. My husband and i arrived slightly late into Brisbane but safely. First flight of 14 hours which i never felt jet lagged and flown this flight many times put it down to only drinking water with meals whole flight.

Route: Dubai to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "need to step up their game"

Review: Colombo to Singapore. The check in at Colombo was extremely pleasant and the agent went above and beyond to ensure I had the seats I wanted, however this was the end of anything good about Silk Air. I found the crew to be robotic, unfriendly and rude. Meal service is mediocre. The worst part about Silk Air is that there is no entertainment, besides the app. Silk Air has disappointed me in the past but this trip with them is my final one. The cabin ambience is depressing and they need to step up their game.

Route: Colombo to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aircalin

Title: "superb full course French meal"

Review: A perfect flight with Aircalin from Tokyo to Noumea. Departure on time. Cocktail served just after take off, followed by a superb full course French meal. Complimentary French wines are very good even if not grand cru. And most of all the crew are friendly, efficient and professional.

Route: NRT to NOU

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Dolomiti

Title: "really impressed with the service"

Review: Munich to Sofia. I'm really impressed with the service. Cabin crew - friendly and responsive. The aircraft (Embraer 190) was clean and with good legroom. Food and beverages were of a higher quality than those of Lufthansa (although it is a subsidiary). Would definitely recommend this airline.

Route: Munich to Sofia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "I would never repeat"

Review: Manchester to Vancouver via Toronto. Where do I start, first booked in 2019 direct flight business class to Vancouver, return from Calgary to Manchester, economy class. Due to covid had to rebook year by year till last year when it looked that our holiday would go ahead. After change of flight times resulting in a cancellation of a hotel, and a 17hr stop over in Toronto tried to speak to someone after several hours on the phone on hold gave up. Finally after a £30 phone call got through to a most unpleasant person who was no help at all. Then they informed me that the plane model has changed for our flight from Manchester and that we were moved to economy class not being happy tried to contact them again no success the web site is rubbish and their app a joke it doesn't even recognise our booking number (after they said several times it would be sorted) and we have less than 3 weeks to fly. How they get to be the best service? God only knows I would never repeat never recommend Air Transat to anybody.

Route: Manchester to Vancouver via Toronto

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "caused significant discomfort"

Review: I booked a Go First flight for 9:40 pm on April 11, 2023 from Mumbai to New Delhi. However, the flight was rescheduled several times: first to 10:15 pm, then to 11:20 pm, then to 11:59 pm, and finally to 00:55 am on April 12, 2023. The boarding time was scheduled for 00:15 am, but boarding actually started at 01:10 am and the flight took off at 1:50 am. The repeated rescheduling of the flight caused significant discomfort as it resulted in a sleepless night and a disrupted schedule.

Route: Mumbai to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Dragonair

Title: "seats are comfortable"

Review: Kolkata to Hong Kong. The look of the cabin is like a budget airline cabin with no entertainment, charging plug or Coat hook. However, they do provide blanket and pillow. Seats are comfortable with enough leg room. The food was served in a box, and contained a sandwich, a small bowl of fruit, packet of two cookies and small bar of chocolate. Though the flight starts at 01.15 AM but the quantity of the food served is very less and is not as per Cathay standard. Toilets were clean and fresh. Beverage cart service is not available in the flight but if you ask for any beverages they will give you what you want, subject to availability. Similarly while returning from Hong Kong, they served me whiskey on demand. Crew was very courteous. The flight would have been Cathay standard flight if they had added entertainment in their flight like other Cathay / Dragonair flights and improved the food. After all, we are paying more compared to the budget airlines for the services.

Route: CCU to HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "couldnt find my baggage"

Review: Delhi to Hyderabad on 16 June 2019. The flight landed one hour late in the night and I couldnt find my baggage in the belt. When I checked with AirAsia customer support they told me that the bag doesnt come with the flight and I need to wait for the next flight for my baggage. Since its already late at night, I asked whether they could deliver it to my home. They said they cant do that because this facility not available for domestic flights. Then I had to sit near to their counter and continuously enquire about the status. I called the customer service to find alternate option and they suggested me to fill some feedback form from their website (I didnt understand how that will help to get my baggage). They are not even accepting that its their mistake.

Route: Delhi to Hyderabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "short staffed and unwilling to assist me"

Review: I missed my DUB to LAX flight due to the mismanagement and lack of staff at the Aer Lingus ticket counter at the Dublin Airport. I had allowed three hours between my incoming flight from Oslo and outgoing from Dublin. However, we got stuck at the gate for a half hour before ground crew could even wheel a staircase to the airline! After retrieving my suitcase, I headed to the Aer Lingus ticket counter only to discover I couldn't retrieve a boarding pass from the kiosk. I went to the "Ticket Assistance" counter and was told to stand in line with about 120 other people to check in and get a boarding pass. I attempted to check in online but never got through on the website. I was in line for at least an hour.

There were only three personnel handling the 100+ passengers who also could not check in. Consequently, by the time I got to the counter and handed over my passport, the assistant actually left the counter for a few minutes! She then told me there was no time for me to catch my 5:15 flight. I went to the "Ticket Assistance" counter again and was told that because I had booked my ticket through Alaska Airlines (which is incorrect), they couldn't help me. Apparently, if you purchase your ticket from any site other than Aer Lingus, you're screwed. When I inquired as to my options, I was told the next flight out would be the next day at the same time and it would cost me $800 (one way). I paid $800 for a round-trip ticket from LAX to DUB and that also meant I had to find a hotel room for the night, which cost me another 239 Euro. All because Aer Lingus was short staffed and unwilling to assist me.

Route: Dublin to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "I'll be changing airlines for future flights"

Review: I usually fly American, however this is the 3rd time my flight has been delayed. In a row, causing me to miss my connecting flights, all 3 times. Then, I was rebooked on flights the next day. Unacceptable, especially when I'm on a tight schedule. I'll be changing airlines for future flights until things get back up to standard.

Route: New Orleans to Florence

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "They forgot to serve my bread"

Review: The passenger experience has worsened beyond imagination. Even though I was being seated in Business, had little expectation for Asiana's product as their fleet is aging without much refurbishment, but now it seems that the flight crew is losing it. They forgot to serve my bread until the end of the meal in Business Class.

Route: Singapore to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "flight to Boston cancelled"

Review: Terrible airline. Our flight from Ponta Delgada to Boston cancelled due to plane issues in Boston. We were told that we needed to stay in line until they wrote on names and phone number on a piece of paper then told to leave airport and they would contact us when our new flight would be booked. Waited 24hrs without a call had to return to airport to try to get answers and let them know that 2 of the 4 in my group were diabetic without any more medication due to cancellation. They didnt care at all, I had to plea with them to finally get on the plane Monday night from Saturday original flight. We were not given any compensation for hotels food etc. Cost us in 2 days of hotels additional $400.00

Route: Ponta Delgada to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "service was very good"

Review: Goa to Hyderabad. The service by the inflight attendants was very good. The flight was the smoothest of all I had ever experienced. Even though the take off was a bit delayed the captain saw that we reach our destination on time. And the landing was the smoothest I ever experienced. The food options in their menu was also awesome.

Route: Goa to Hyderabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "First flight late"

Review: Milan Malpensa to Birmingham via Prague. First flight late from Milan to Prague, second flight late from Prague to Birmingham, lost my luggage - something more? Yes! After 5 days I still don't have my luggage.

Route: Milan Malpensa to Birmingham via Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "the experience is a nightmare"

Review: This is my first time about to fly with Srilankan Airlines and so far before even flying with them the experience is a nightmare. On Monday night, I received an email about the airline cancelling my connection with them from Mumbai on Sunday the 12th. My original reservation included another airline which is supposed to fly me from MLE TO Mumbai where I connect to Srilankan with SEZ as final destination. In an attempt to resolve the issue, I called since Tuesday morning and spoke with this agent who promised to put me on their flight leaving MLE to SEZ via Sri Lanka on Saturday night, June 11, around 9PM to arrive in SEZ on Sunday June 12th at around 4AM. I was fine with that as their next flight to SEZ on June 18th would ruin the remainder of my travel back home to the USA with Emirates. She promised to reach out within 2 hours and never did. I emailed several times but all I ever receive are general email acknowledgement responses. I called the Male office yesterday to be told that the 1 person who can assist me was in a meeting. I called back several times afterwards to no avail. Finally, I was told to call at 5PM before their office closes at 5:30. Then, I spoke with the same agent who spoke to me on Tuesday just to be told to email as she is unable to help and rudely hung up. Desperate to know when I'm leaving this island, I went to the airport but Srilankan staff was not there then. Airport information gave me a number that I called and spoke with someone whom again wasn't able to help me. After chatting with him on whatsapp for hours. He finally told me to file a complaint, which I will do in addition to other things but at this point, the priority to me is to continue with my travels planned 3 months ago.

Route: Mumbai to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "A disappointing experience"

Review: A disappointing experience from start to finish. Both outbound and inbound flights had delays. A 6 hour delay on the outbound and a 2 hour delay on the inbound. Both of which were poorly communicated and managed. We paid for extra space seats and although the extra leg room was average the seat pitches were very small. This is in comparison to budget airlines that we normally fly with. Where the planes normally have 6 seats a row, the TUI aircrafts had 8 seats per row and although I believe this was a significantly bigger plane it was not big enough to accommodate people comfortably.

Route: Manchester to Rhodes

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "cancelled the connecting flight"

Review: Beaumont to Billings via Dallas. The tickets were ridiculously expensive. The same day I booked, I had to change our flights to the next day. Even though the tickets were still same price for the next day as the ones I purchased, I was charged 150 dollars for the change. Then American Airlines pressured me into buying trip insurance, telling me that it would cover any airline changes and cancellations. As I boarded the plane going home, AA cancelled the connecting flight. When I landed in Dallas, I received text that AA re-booked connecting flight for the next day. Now they don't want to pay for the cancelled and re-booked flight (that I was unable to take & I had to rent a car to drive 6 hours home which cost me over 300 dollars). When they were pressuring me to buy the insurance, they NEVER told me the insurance only kicks in after a 12 hr delay. This delay was overnight. Meaning I originally had an evening connecting flight that was cancelled. So, my children & I were supposed to spend the night in DFW airport Isn't that why I bought trip insurance To cover the costs when this happens I know they cannot control the weather, but they could honor the insurance they pressure their customers to buy and not make ridiculous parameters that hinder customers from receiving relief from the insurance. Furthermore, ridiculous fees AA charges for changing flights (after booking the same day within a few hours) is even more reason why I love Southwest. American Airlines need to take lessons from SWA. I was very disappointed that Southwest Airlines do not fly to Billings, MT or I would have definitely flown SWA - No hidden fees, no baggage fees, no fees for changing flights, and amazing customer service!

Route: Beaumont to Billings via Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "super disappointed at Flysafair"

Review: I have never had the experience ever like this evening. The flight was extremely full with seating uncomfortable, but this is not the main complaint. On landing they start disembarking from front and from back to front saying that the back passengers has to disembark to balance the plane. These passengers push past with luggage bumping and pushing to the front. I have in my entire lifetime of flying Never heard about this balancing and have never experienced it on any flight both local and international ever. This meant that passengers sitting on the wing were disembarked last and ended being pushed with the abuse of passengers and hand luggage on an already full plane sitting down. Yes so this at eye level. I am super disappointed at Flysafair tonight. Would not consider this as first choice next time flying

Route: Port Elizabeth to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "really upset about my experience"

Review: Las Vegas to San Francisco. I am really upset about my experience with virgin America. I had a layover in Las Vegas and my first flight was delayed so I only had 35 minutes in between flights. I ran to my Virgin America flight and go there 25 min before the flight departed to be told that they gave away my ticket because I wasn't checked in 30 minutes ahead of time. I tried to ask what was going to happen and she just told me to sit down and wait because she needed to get the plane going. She then called people on standby before me even though I actually had a reservation. I missed my flight and don't know when they are going to put me on - never flying with them again.

Route: LAS to SFO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "Staff very attentive"

Review: Bangkok to Koh Samui. They call themselves a Boutique Airline and they certainly are. Staff very attentive, flight was on time. On a 50 mins flight they managed to serve a delicious Phad Tai followed by Coffee. Like the good old days, Bangkok Air treated us like appreciated customers.

Route: Bangkok to Koh Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "experience at the front desk was very unpleasant"

Review: My experience at the front desk was very unpleasant. On our ticket it indicated Madrid T1 but the airport screens indicated T2. So we went to T2 where they told us that we had to board through T1. We went to T1 and there was no staff at the indicated number. So we went back to T2 indicating to the priority person that there were no personnel in the indicated place and once again the screen indicated that our check-in area was terminal 1. The priority person only went to check the airport screen when we took out the platinum for life card. What a shame really. Our first and only flight on Air Europa. Mi experiencia en el front desk fue muy desagradable. En nuestro ticket indicaba T1 pero las pantallas del aeropuerto indicaban T2. Asi que nos dirigimos al T2 donde nos indicaron que teniamos que abordar por el T1. Fuimos al T1 y no habia personal en la numero indicado. Asi que volvimos al T2 indicandole a la persona de priority que no habia personal en el lugar indicado y yna vez mas que la pantalla indicaba que nuestra area de cheking in era terminal 1. La persona de priority solamente fue a revisar la pantalla del aeropuerto cuando sacamos la tarjeta platinum for life. Que verguenza realmente. Nuestro primer y unico vuelo en Air Europa.

Route: Madrid to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air France

Title: "my advice is avoid Air France"

Review: Avoid AF if at all possible. Arrogant & rude cabin crew and the worst food Ive ever received in the class of flight. Starting point was the cabin wasnt fully ready even when the aircraft doors were closed ready for push back. Finally offered a welcome drink and I requested a Perrier Water but it never arrived and was later informed that, on the French national carrier, there wasnt any. Dinner arrived and was so poor in terms of quality that I opted for some packet biscuits & chocolate. Wouldnt have said no to some crisps but guess what - there were none. Took for ever to get a cup of mint tea after the dinner service as all bar one of the crew disappeared. The best that can be said about the breakfast meal is that at least the fruit was edible - just. At least the seat became a full flat bed but my advice is avoid Air France.

Route: Bogota to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "Excellent service by the cabin crew"

Review: Excellent service by the cabin crew and the ground crew. They went1 beyond their responsibilities and helped me do the check in for another flight to EU country and communicate with another airport. They are kind and truly helpful! I have been using their service for several years now and I never had a negative experience with them.

Route: Heraklion to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "very pleased and impressed"

Review: Bangkok to Krabi. I had to cancel my flight because of the Coronavirus. The airline was very difficult to get in touch with by phone, so I tried the PG Live Chat. It took 2 days to be able to speak to someone, so I was imagining by the time I did speak to someone the quality of the service would be low and I would have to argue my way to a refund. But, the service was quick and accommodating. The representative spoke perfect English. She asked why I was getting in touch, asked for my flight information, and confirmed that she had cancelled my flight for a full refund, just moments later. She also found in my record that I had purchased travel insurance along with the tickets, and told me hold I could get that refunded too. Now, the refund will take 30 days because of the high volume of refund requests, so we'll see if I do in fact get my refund. But in terms of quality of customer service, I'm very pleased and impressed.

Route: Bangkok to Krabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "meal was fine for a short flight"

Review: I enjoyed the flight. Check in was very easy. The service on the plane was very friendly and helpful. The meal was fine for a short flight. The wine served was excellent. I hope REX is here to stay !

Route: Sydney to Melbourne

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "We had a great experience"

Review: Gold Coast to Melbourne. We had a great experience flying with Tigerair. The flight was comfortable, the staff were very friendly and we found it easy to check in and to adjust baggage requirements etc via the app. After reading some of the reviews we were apprehensive about flying with Tigerair but we were pleasantly surprised and will definitely fly with Tigerair in the future. It was my childrens first time on a plane so thanks for the positive experience Tigerair.

Route: Gold Coast to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "how they can justify nearly 4 times their normal price"

Review: We have just returned from a trip to Barcaldine. Myself, partner and stepson were charged nearly $1500 per ticket for a return flight from Brisbane to Longreach. Due to a death in the family we had to change our return flight to attend the funeral. Qantas originally tried to charge an additional $1300 to bring our flights forward by 2 days. After several phone calls to Qantas (in the Philippines) they reduced this to $840. I have since checked pricing for the rest of the year. Normally a return flight is about $500. I just don't get how they can justify nearly 4 times their normal price, particularly when the plane wasn't full. Virgin would have changed the booking for free

Route: Brisbane to Longreach

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: HiSky

Title: "Had the very nice surprise of discovering this airline"

Review: Had the very nice surprise of discovering this airline for traveling to Bucharest-Brussels in December 2022. I hope the airline will continue to grow - as flights to Brussels have just been introduced by the company - and will keep up their good services. For both flights the boarding was extremely on-time and the flight smooth and a lot very on-time. Good luck to this young company and if things remain as they are, I will certainly replace my usual Tarom flights Brussels-Bucharest with HiSky.

Route: Bucharest-Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "10 hours of agony"

Review: Manchester to Las Vegas return. Horrendous return flight. Broken seat back on so called premium seat meant 10 hours of agony. Basically no control over recline meant it shot back on take off and went back and forth throughout the flight. It caused a massive row with the people behind and yet Thomas Cook say nothing was wrong after waiting 3 months for them to respond. Premium seats are really no better than economy anyway and food is barely any different from what you normally get. Premium entertainment still extremely limited when compared to middle eastern airlines. Long way to go to call this premium! System doesn't accept a zero rating hence it gets a 1!

Route: Manchester to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "quite good value of money"

Review: Sriwijaya Air have quite good value of money for this flight from Silangit to Jakarta. There are other airlines with better amenities flying the same route, but Sriwijaya is one of the few who is doing the direct flight. The worst gripe is that some of the flight attendants are really not professional. The flight attendants generally is bugging the passengers to buy from the inflight shop, which costs lots of money. One of them even sit beside the passenger to ask the passenger to buy the item. While the passenger is also on fault for not rejecting this behavior, the actions of the FAs are not professional at all. The food is not good. The seats are pretty standard in Indonesia. The ground staff at DTB is quite nice and quite quick in checking us in.

Route: Silangit to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "Absolutely loved the airline"

Review: We traveled from Ft Lauderdale Florida to Oslo December 21-22, Absolutely loved the airline, great flight all the employees were super. My luggage was lost but was delivered to me in Sweden Christmas Eve which was 3 hours away from Oslo Airport. Can't say that about Southwest which is the airline we were supposed to get back to Arkansas the 29th.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Oslo

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "Worst experience Ive had"

Review: Birmingham to Fort Smith via Dallas. Worst experience Ive ever had. Flights cancelled due to maintenance not weather - agents arent being told truth to tell us - either that or they are told to lie to us. Just tell me the truth and I can accept it. But to lie to us is unacceptable. Then no hotel - after we were told we would have a hotel at the location we were laying over in once we get there. 12:30am and we all have to fight to get them to give us a hotel like we were promised since it was a maintenance issue. Today get to airport early, flight cancelled due to maintenance, now setting on a plane waiting for fuel and a restroom that we were told doesnt work! Now we are told another maintenance issue exists and we are delayed again! Will never fly American again after my points are used!

Route: Birmingham to Fort Smith via Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "not choose them in the future"

Review: Brisbane to Adelaide. Today, I arrived before the luggage check-in was supposed to close. However, it was already closed when I scanned my boarding pass. I wanted to talk to a Tigerair staff who was on another machine next to me. I was waiting next to her but she was quite rude in her tone while addressing me. I waited for my turn after she dealt with 2 clients. I presented my ticket and she told me that she closed the check-in 5 minutes before. I explained to her that I arrived on time and that it was already closed and then I had to wait to talk to her, but she remained inflexible and of course didn't seem to care and to listen to what I was saying. I therefore had to pay for another flight for tomorrow. I saw three other people who had to pay for another ticket, because they were also "late" for the luggage check-in. Tigerair advertises the fact that they have cheaper fares but when you have to pay your ticket twice, it is not a good bargain at all. I will certainly not choose them in the future.

Route: Brisbane to Adelaide

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "It was a sardine can for a flight"

Review: Avianca Airlines services are the worst. My husband and I paid for Premium Economy, with extra leg room, that was a joke, the seats are one on top of the other, my knee touched the seat in front of us, and when the passenger in front of us reclined his chair our leg were squeezed. The width of each seat is 14 1/2 inches max. I dont know what is the deal of selling extra leg room and charged their customers more for something that is not accurate. It was a sardine can for a flight of 11 hrs. The crew members werent great either. There is no TV on board, expecting the passengers to watch their own electronic devices, what about older people, some arent technology savvy. Awful The food offered was a bread with 1 sliced of ham and 1 sliced of cheese, wasnt free either. They sell those and even water, all that after charging one arm and a leg for the trip. My husband and I decided not to ever use Avianca again.

Route: Asunción, PY to JFK New York via Bogota, Colombia

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "substituted a smaller A320"

Review: We are very disappointed in Cathay Dragon. We booked a flight from Hong Kong to Phnom Penh on Oct 30, 2019 because they advertised it was on a roomy A330, but the airlines substituted a smaller A320. If we had been notified of the change and given the chance to change our flight date to an A330 we would have done so.

Route: Hong Kong to Phnom Penh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "Total SCAM in my opinion"

Review: Charleston to St. Petersburg. Total SCAM in my opinion! We just spent over THREE HOURS ON HOLD with them today because we couldn't transact via their website. The 'help window' on the site referred us to their call center. However, NO ONE ANSWERS THE PHONE THERE FOR HOURS! This isn't the first time this has happened to us but it will be the last. We have other flights booked in December and I'll be switching to another airline. And they delay flights, which is why we had to cancel. They're not like the big guys. They admitted to us that they didn't know why the flight was delayed or if it would even take off today. Therefore we had to cancel all the legs today AND tomorrow. Our entire family vacation airfare just cost us double. We had to rebook in order to guarantee making it to the cruise on time tomorrow morning. And oh yeah, no luggage refunds either - even though this is all their fault. And it cost us $50 cancel fee per ticket. Basically $100 bucks per ticket. Never again with these guys. Can't believe they're still in business.

Route: Charleston to St. Petersburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "definitely not recommend"

Review: Dallas to Frankfurt via Keflavik. I had the worst travel experience with this airline. On a long distance flight there was nothing provided, not even a glass of water. The seats are very uncomfortable and you won't find any blankets and pillows. The prices are low but for long distances definitely not recommend. And I am used to very low standards of comfort while traveling!!

Route: Dallas to Frankfurt via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "avoid this seat on longer flights"

Review: Denpasar to Yogyakarta. Overall quite satisfied but seat comfort is the main issue. I can't deny that I went for the cheapest tickets. Online booking was easy. Online check-in opens 24 hours before the flight and I was able to already select seats for free which was nice. Check-in and baggage drop-off at Denpasar Bali airport was quick. We booked 15kg of baggage, one bag was slightly overweight and I didn't bother too much beforehand. The employee weighed the two bags together and it said 29.2kg so no problem at all. I printed online boarding passes but we got new ones at baggage drop-off. Flight boarded nicely on time, about 10 o'clock before the 10.25 departure time. Pushback was at about 10.30 and takeoff just shortly thereafter. According to schedule, flight-time would be only 55 minutes and landing would be at 10.20 (Java time is one hour before Bali), but we landed at about 10.40. Taxi took only a minute and 10.50 we were waiting inside on our luggage. That took about 15 minutes to appear on the belt, maybe a little long. The flight itself was boring. There is no service available. Flight attendants seemed professional though. The seat was the main letdown. A little filthy and legroom insufficient. Should have been the same 29 inch pitch as on AirAsia but felt tighter. Couldn't keep my legs straight with my 1.92m and had to bend them. Because of the short flight it was doable but I would try to avoid this seat on longer flights. I would fly Lion Air again on short flights. Our flight operated nicely on time but I hear that can also be an issue.

Route: Denpasar to Yogyakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "avoid Sri Lankan airlines"

Review: My flight from Mumbai to Colombo was cancelled by the airlines and then we had to replan our itinerary for the travel in Sri Lanka. Again while return, the airlines was delayed by 6 hrs. If you can pls avoid Sri Lankan airlines as they will cancel or delay at their own convenience and not even take responsibility.

Route: Colombo to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "economy seat with limited legroom"

Review: We flew out to the West Indies two weeks earlier and had an excellent flight; we were pleasantly surprised and before disembarking I told the cabin crew how much we had enjoyed the flight. The aircraft was clean and tidy and the crew were very friendly and efficient with the in-flight catering was more than acceptable. What helped, perhaps, was that we left at 1000 and had a daytime flight heading west. We also found subsequently that we were in 'extra legroom seats' and this made a huge difference. The homeward flight left Barbados at 1700 and effectively became a night flight heading east with breakfast served at 0330(UK Time) or 2330 (Barbados time). We were also in a standard economy seat with limited legroom. I am 1m82 and found it difficult to get comfortable. When i reclined my seat after dinner the passenger behind took offence. If one pays economy prices one does not expect frills but it might be worth obtaining one of the 'extra legroom seats' on any longer flight.

Route: Barbados to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Terrible customer service"

Review: We started our day with a delayed flight from Milan (through AC) due to a technical issue. This had us sprinting through the Montreal airport to get through customs and to our gate in time for our connection flight (also through AC). We arrived just in time for boarding - phew! Just kidding because after we boarded the plane, the pilot made an announcement that we all needed to deplane due to another technical issue. After deplaning, there was no in-person communication at all. The woman at the gate provided no apology or information whatsoever. We just received several emails saying we were delayed again and again. We ended up leaving more than 2.5 hours late, and we were again harassed by the same woman checking us in (she actually took my boyfriends passport and wouldnt give it back to him because hed removed his gate check tag thinking hed receive a new one since our plane and gate had changed. She was just too annoyed and lazy to simply print out a new one. Terrible customer service. Not to mention we paid more than $1800 RT for these flights, and the quality of service and their planes were subpar. Will not be flying this airline again (even though Im an Aeroplan member) nor will I be recommending to friends.

Route: Milan to Houston via Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "my bag did not make it"

Review: The airline changed my flight schedule on the way to Abu Dhabi, without notification. This way I didn't know that my time to change flights in Munich was shortened by 20 minutes, which meant that the new boarding time in Munich was before my arrival time from my first leg. Had I known, I would not have checked in my bag. Of course my bag did not make it, so I had to survive 2 full working days in business meetings in Abu Dhabi with the same clothes I wore since the moment I left my house (the shops did not open before I started to work and we had a social event that I had to attend, so no way to go out and buy fresh clothes). The airline was not able to provide my bag before I left the hotel again on the second day, because they dont deliver after 19:00 in the evening and were not quick enough to bring it before I had to check out on the second day, even though I wrote my exact times on the baggage claim. I came back to the airport and had to chase my bag, going in and out the security zone with their personnel. Once I got my bag I had to check it in again, because Etihad had zero understanding for me asking for access to a shower. They told me that I can pay myself to get access to a hotel, where I can shower and change and to then make a claim or I could use the public toilets for changing or the public shower behind security. I tried the online-claim on the first day and did not make it past the ticket number, because I booked via Lufthansa and Etihad didn't accept their ticket number. Etihad even weighed my backpack and since my medicine, laptop, mobile phone, jumper, passport, wallet and jumper already had 8 kg, I could not take any clothes to change with me to the shower. I will never ever use this airline again.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "very satisfied with their service"

Review: I am very grateful to China Southern Airlines for their check-in service staff who carefully checked my visa information and helped me to verify my visa. When there were problems in the system, they solved the problems. I am very satisfied with their service.

Route: Guangzhou to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "avoid traveling China Airlines again"

Review: Vancouver to Delhi via Taipei. My flight from Vancouver to Taipei was smooth, the service was good though the food in Business Class was just ok. A350 is a good aircraft. However, the plane on Taipei-Delhi route was old and the seats were not that comfortable. Moreover, the lounge at Taipei was undergoing some renovations and there was a notice to contact ground staff for a voucher. The ground staff was not available in that part of the terminal and showed up 45 minutes before departure. On both my inbound and outbound travels, they had no idea about any such offer nor did they offer anything or apologize for not being able to provide lounge to business class traveler. For that reason alone, I will avoid traveling with China Airlines again.

Route: Vancouver to Delhi via Taipei

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "What a waste of money!"

Review: AA has gone from bad to worse, if that is possible! Tried to change flights due to a visa issue but the only form of interaction is with AVA - an auto-bot with limited information. I have been trying to reschedule for over 2 hours now without any success. This is tantamount to fraud and scam - AirAsia is essentially robbing us of our money. I will never book through AirAsia again. If the airline is unable to provide an adequate customer service, the whole outfit should just close shop or sell to a party better able to run the airline. What a waste of money!

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Lombok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AnadoluJet

Title: "The seat was the worst part of the flight!"

Review: I bought this flight under Turkish Airlines name and I was totally disappointed when I saw the Anadolujet sign at the check-in desk. First of all, a delay without any updates: I had to check FR24 for updates. The seat was the worst part of the flight! I had a back pain right after the flight. Catering was awful. Lots and lots of unnecessary announcements made the flight even worse! They were not letting the passengers sleep at 5am due to their long and annoying announcements. Not recommended at all.

Route: Tehran to zmir

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "airline has been absolute garbage"

Review: This is the second time this airline has been absolute garbage but this time takes the cake. I have a family emergency I have to fly for. After over 10 hours of multiple delays filled with nonsense, everyone's emotions were triggered but everyone seemed to remain calm and cooperative. we ended up waiting forever in Orlando to get to a gate. Traffic jam. While one attendant was so very nice and kind during the entire flight, another had the audacity to yell at us over the intercom that we were the problem for going to the bathroom and the reason we were waiting. Guess what! The pilot came on before and right after her display of unprofessionalism and stated that we had nowhere to go.

Route: San Antonio to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "a positive environment"

Review: Absolute best experience Ive had flying. ThaiSmile was a positive environment, staff were very helpful, and we were even given a full meal even though the flight was less than 2 hours. They said the goal was to have us smiling the whole trip they definitely succeeded.

Route: Hanoi to Phuket via Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "flights were always late"

Review: I fly from Prague to the UK and back every week. During last few months Smartwings flights were always late, always delayed by at least an hour. But the most annoying thing is that when you finally get on the plane it keeps waiting for its new departure slot, during this time the A/C is off, so it is too hot and very uncomfortable. Because of this I switched to EasyJet, they are more expensive, but on time.

Route: Prague to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "The most irresponsible airline"

Review: The most irresponsible airline Ive ever seen. The staff are rude. I had two tickets for me and my husband. They clearly sold tickets to more people than they could. Either for our first flight from Cancun to Mexico city and our return flight, we faced the same problem. They are so irresponsible and disrespectful.

Route: Mexico city to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Friendly approach"

Review: Would like to pass a feedback to Antonio and all cabin crew who operated FAO-STN flight on 22nd of April. Grooming and customer service skills were met to a high standards. Friendly approach made a flight experience even more better and relaxed. Well done guys!

Route: Faro to Stansted

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "We will not fly with them again"

Review: I'm writing this review on behalf of my daughters who actually flew with Condor. The flight from Frankfurt to Minneapolis was delayed at departure so they missed a connecting flight to Seattle. We had to book them in the hotel overnight and purchase new tickets for the next day. When we asked Condor for the refund they told us to file an online claim and attach all receipts for their review. It has been over two months since then and we heard nothing back from the airline. When trying to contact them online we get only automated messages saying not to file any claims again. Getting through by phone is next to impossible. Be careful when booking with them. It's cheap but there is a reason for that. We will not fly with them again.

Route: Frankfurt to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "Aegean did not use to be like that"

Review: Accurate departure and arrival, Excellent check in process via the mobile app, clean plane. The new baggage policy has turned Aegean into what i would consider a low-cost carrier. Booking a Flex ticket in order to carry your luggage along with a laptop bag or a purse onboard is unacceptable. Aegean did not use to be like that. It was always a bit more expensive but the passenger was treated well, with good cabin service and with the ability to have a carry-on and a personal item onboard without having to pay anything extra.

Route: Heraklion to Thessaloniki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "Allen key not allowed on board"

Review: Mumbai to Goa. Did my check-in and proceeded to security check only to be told that I have an Allen Key in my back pack which is not allowed in hand baggage and will have to be put into the checked baggage which was not told to me at the time of check-in. So i went back to the check-in counter to get some help and assistance. I relayed the incident to the 'service' rep and told him that since my bags are already checked i would like to check my hand bag. He turns round to tell me that if I check the hand bag I will be over my baggage allowance and will have to pay excess baggage. Clearly the man doesn't know anything about the meaning of service. Instead of helping me out or finding a solution he wanted me to pay for their mistake of not informing me that the Allen key was not allowed on board. I had to leave the Allen Keys at the check in counter because if I asked them to bring my bags back I would have missed the flight which I'm sure they would've put down to me as well.

Route: Mumbai to Goa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "cancelled the flight at the last moment"

Review: They cancelled the flight at the last moment when I was about to board after all the checking process was done around 11:50 pm (Midnight). They didnt provide the accommodation and rescheduled our flight next day for the same time. Very unprofessional and left all the passengers by themselves on the airport. What should we do on airport by losing our sleep and 24 hours? Who will pay for our sleep and time as we need to show up for the work next day?

Route: Vancouver to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "A total nightmare"

Review: A total nightmare. Very uncomfortable seats. No food, no blankets, no screens. They charge for every single thing. They wont even offer you a cup of water at no charge. Im not happy with their service. For a 6 hour flight they could do better, plus their fees are ridiculous. Avianca is the new spirit but 10 times worse.

Route: New York JFK to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "most uncomfortable flight"

Review: It cost $100 to check a bag for the most uncomfortable flight Ive ever been on. I would have been further ahead to ship all my stuff or just fly with another airline. Actually would have saved money I think and any other flight would have given me a bigger better seat, a snack, and a beverage just for flying with them. What a joke

Route: Salt Lake City to Nashville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "we will never ever fly Swoop"

Review: When I thought that I had a bad experience with Sunwings there comes Swoop. We started our vacation on 13 Mar 2023 flight WO0638 to Cancun. We waited after we boarded more than one hour on board without knowing why we don't take off. It is true that the captain made an announcement , but in so low voice that was hard to understand. Asking the flight attendant why we don't proceed to take off she was annoyed, I guess, and said that the captain already mentioned that. I did not understand neither did my wife. Finally we got to Cancun late more than one hour but they ran out of Mexican immigration forms and we had to figure it out at our time expense, adding more time to be late in the resort. No complimentary anything was handed to us to compensate a bit all of this inconvenience. Now comes the part when we return from Cancun, 18 Mar 2023. Getting to the airport we noticed that our flight 641 has been delayed for more than 5 hours let alone the line up time for checking in. Please note that no email has been sent to us to let us know the flight is delayed. Then when we've got to the check in counter and we started to ask questions one of clerks took us on a side and issued us vouchers for the 3 of us worth 60$. and we were told to check in around 21:00 since the flight was delayed till after midnight. But no plausible explanation has been given to us. Checked out the hotel at noon, got to the airport around 16:00 the flight was at 20 minutes past midnight so more than 12 hours wasted because some clerk in Canada did not do its due diligence to send out an email. When we landed in Toronto we spent more than 20 minutes for the ground crew to attach the ramp, because they did not have personnel. To conclude we will never ever fly Swoop, and there is no word of lie here.

Route: Toronto to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "been rescheduled 5 times"

Review: Its been a while since i travelled with Garuda Indonesia. I was disappointed this time around due to my flight schedule been rescheduled 5 times before i called the CS to switch my flight to a more suitable time.

Route: Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "Again bad experience"

Review: Unfortunately again experiencing this airline, and its air-conditioning not working. We all are sitting and waiting for more than 40 minutes in plane without air-conditioning right away. Again bad experience.

Route: Chandigarh to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "wont fly with them again"

Review: London to Tel Aviv. Rude and hostile cabin crew who behaved differently depending on whether you are Jewish or not. As I am not they were quite nasty to me. I definitely wont fly with them again.

Route: London to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "tactics to confuse us and ignore us"

Review: Our flight was cancelled due to COVID-19 but we were never notified by the airline- I only found out because I called before the flight to check on my flight status. They told us to contact the 'Websalesrefund' email address requesting a refund but we have only received automated responses that are ambiguous, such as 'We offer to keep your flight open'. We believe that we are eligible for a refund however we have not received any clear guidance on if we can get a refund or how we can access credit. The call centre tells us to email, and the email responses tell us to call. It has been almost two months and I don't know if we will ever get our money back. All the other airlines that we had bookings with in May and June (such as Vueling, Scoot and Easyjet) have given us refunds. Oman is the only airline that has used tactics to confuse us and ignore us. Unless we are given assurance that we will receive our refund or credit, I will never fly Oman Air and will not recommend it.

Route: Amman to Bangkok via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Regent Airways

Title: "the seats were uncomfortable"

Review: Singapore to Dhaka. This was my first trip in Regent Airways. Very disappointing as the seats were uncomfortable with no digital entertainment or even any magazines other than newspapers. 4 hours journey felt like a never ending one. Worse was when they gave us an meal option to choose between 2 dishes A and B. Me and my wife both chose the same type A. The steward said they ran short of the same type. When she went to the passengers right behind us she offered them both the meal types A & B. Have I not paid the same amount as all the other passengers of Business Class.

Route: Singapore to Dhaka

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Would never recommend it"

Review: Would never recommend it. No service no management just catastrophic from Sabiha Goecken Airport Istanbul. Very long queues no one supporting, very rude staff. No one knows where to go, what to do. Worst service ever.

Route: Stuttgart to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: " A very high standard"

Review: Denpasar to Kuala Lumpur via Surabaya. Landed a bit behind time, waiting at the bridge in Surabaya was a guy that took me down to the apron, radioed a car which took me to my flight on the other (international) side of the airport. Took me through check in, customs and immigration and told me to hurry along. Took all up 60 minutes, five minutes later through the gate onto my flight. Brilliant operation, would have missed it otherwise. Now compare that to my sister at Ho Chi Minh a day earlier trying to get to her flight to HaNoi. Pleaded to go to the front of the queue to get to her connecting flight, nothing doing, missed her flight and finally arriving there at midnight. This is a comparison of Citilink (caring) to Vietnam Airlines (miserable) A remarkable effort from a remarkable airline. Added to this was a nice little meal on this nice little trip. A very high standard. Hugely thankful.

Route: Denpasar to Kuala Lumpur via Surabaya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "aircraft is only economy seating"

Review: I purchased a Premium Economy seat and paid for a lie flat bed. Despite attempting to confirm my seats many times prior to departure, when checking in I was told that there are no lie flat beds on this flight. In fact the aircraft is only economy seating. I tried numerous times over a period of one week to contact their staff for a refund. Their chat bot is totally useless so I left messages, tried calling their overseas offices and always received just a voice message to leave a short message with email or phone number. Nothing! It's obvious that they cannot afford proper customer support service or are simply not interested and don't care. I have just checked online again for the same flights in September and they offer economy seats at $327 USD or premium economy at $853 USD. This airline has only one objective, take your money and if you have a problem don't contact us.

Route: Bangkok to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "never had such a bad experience"

Review: I have never had such a bad experience with any Airline. I am a 6 month pregnant woman and on 10nd April their staff was just utterly ignorant. Me and my husband were trying to check in our luggage, my husband was in longer queue and I stood on the new counter, the lady who was checking in told me that I should wait while other guys check in, I am not in a condition to stand for long so I told her I am pregnant and first in queue, she made weird faces and tried to ignore that's where my husband had to intervene. There were no courtesy whatsoever. Second, while we were on flight, the hostess didn't give me any instruction even though I told her I was pregnant. I paid for the food and beverage for both me and my husband, and our name wasn't there on the list, there was a long hassle to prove that we paid for the same. Although the Airhostess offered us the same later but proving that you have paid wasn't really a 5* experience.

Route: Goa to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "hated whole flying experience"

Review: They canceled 1 hour before takeoff after checking to the airport. And they were so rude, replacing my seat 5 hours later and saying if you don't take it, you have to fly next day. So I had to accept it even though I had business meeting that evening. They offered refund saying I won't be able to book another airline cause they are all booked. They said it is due to windy condition but there was no sign of wind. Soon I found ticket 1 hour earlier so booked on my phone and asking for refund .. they said they can not refund but give me credit cause it is the weather that got them canceled flight. Even though they offered me refund before, so I had to fight to get refund saying they keep changing their words however they like to. They were not sorry or did not compensate for 5 hour delay. They were rather threatening throughout the procedure. Most unkind customer service at service desk. I hated whole flying experience. Will never fly with them again if I can. And refund has not come through yet ... I will wait and see

Route: Sydney to Gold coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "Asiana refund finally clears"

Review: I bought my tickets via Expedia in February 2020, but started cancelation process in March and approved in April 2020 for full refund by Asiana's rep on the phone and Expedia. By Asiana's policy, I had canceled 92 days prior to flight so I was in the clear. Expedia couldn't get in contact with Asiana to clear the transfer of funds while I was on chat and by email, throughout the months. Finally called the Korean branch to see if someone would respond since their other branches weren't responding. The exchange was not pleasant when we got a rep, got blamed for not contacting sooner, they said no one will authorize the refund now because of the situation, many other excuses that didn't make any sense. Finally after 6 months of trying to contact Asiana refund finally clears. The bitter taste of how they are handling the process has left me never to fly them again.

Route: Seoul to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "bumped onto flight tomorrow"

Review: What a joke, i had just arrived from Perth via Brisbane to land in Port Moresby for my connection to Rabaul. When i arrived in Port Moresby i proceeded from the international terminal to the domestic to check in for my next flight to find out i had been bumped onto the flight tomorrow due to the plane being downsized from the Fokker 100 to a Dash 8. They were not willing to compensate my accommodation costs for a night in Port Moresby, even though they have now just cost me my transfer and first nights accommodation in Rabaul. So demanded to be placed on standby for the flight in case nobody showed up on the flight. The check in staff had the worst attitude i have ever come across in aviation. I got lucky and was able to board the flight for it then be diverted to Hoskins, we then had to wait at Hoskins for Air Nugini to organise accomodation for our flight, this took them nearly 2 hours. I wont fly this airline again unless absolutely required.

Route: Port Moresby to Rabaul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hi Fly

Title: Hi Fly customer review

Review: This flight was a replacement for a TAP flight that was cancelled the previous day. The aircraft was an and there was no inflight entertainment what so ever. The crew was young and pleasant. We enjoyed the experience.

Route: Natal to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "showed no interest in helping me"

Review: The worst airline experience I have ever had. NEVER EVER use this airline, the staff were rude and unhelpful. I barely caught my flight, but if I had listened to Ryanair staff I would have missed it. I was travelling on my own with an infant and they showed no interest in helping me.

Route: London to Newquay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "really uncomfortable"

Review: I have never experienced a such bad company for an airline. Such a low cost company should cover long routes. It was really uncomfortable! I had flight from Dubai to Naples for six hours on a small seat. The plane took off almost one hour late. Everything on-board was on coast (drinks, entertainment system, that is ridiculous!) The crew seemed to be under trained to deal with passengers and not patient at all. I won't dare had any problem on-board. I will never fly again with flydubai or Emirates. Be careful when you buy your tickets with Emirates. Half of the route could be on nice plane with a decent service and half route with flydubai. I have to come back to Bangkok and I'm really afraid to fly again with flydubai. Please improve your service! Don't just try to make big profits. Bad experience means a loss of customers.

Route: Dubai to Naples

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "Avoid this airline if possible."

Review: Stockholm to Tallinn via Riga. I have travelled three times with this airline on the Tallinn-Riga-Stockholm route. All three times the flight from Tallinn to Riga has been delayed, causing me to miss my flight from Riga to Stockholm. Air Baltic put me on a later flight, but the wait is usually more than 3 hours. When I write to the airline asking for compensation, they always say no. This is in violation of the European Union's Flight Compensation Regulation 261/2004. So I write to the Consumer Agency in Latvia, they take my case and Air Baltic, reluctantly, pays me compensation. This is not a serious airline. Customer service is dismal; and the airline staff is rude and unfriendly. Avoid this airline if possible.

Route: Stockholm to Tallinn via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SereneAir

Title: "experience has been good"

Review: Karachi to Quetta. Had been travelling by SereneAir for over 2 years and the experience has been good. This time as well. Flight was on time. Breakfast was fine. Aircraft is more spacious than PIAs A320s. Staff was courteous.

Route: Karachi to Quetta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "Flight was unsatisfactory in several ways"

Review: Flight 664 from Portland Oregon was unsatisfactory in several ways. My seat could not recline. The attendant tried it and said it was broken. Same with the foot rest. The food was unpalatable, a few hard, overcooked shrimps, and an entree of a few strips of dry turkey breast on a mountain of greens. Just awful. I asked for the turkey wrap served in coach. Flight 671 from Reykjavik was an improvement. Seat reclined, food was very good. Entertainment on both flights was unsatisfactory. Very limited selection. I tried to contact Icelandair via email sent to a name on their website but it came back as undeliverable. I wont choose Icelandair again.

Route: Portland to Reykjavik

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "initial flight was delayed"

Review: Absolutely the worst experience and customer service. Missed our connecting flight because initial flight was delayed which caused me to miss an event and spend an extra 10 hours and an extra flight before arriving to my destination. After speaking to the customer service desk, they offered 4 Euros for my inconvenience which couldnt even buy a coffee at the airport. I have sent 3 emails with no response, spoke to one customer service agent who hung up after I told him my dilemma and being on hold for 20 minutes. I have now tried calling again multiple times with no answer.

Route: New York JFK to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "each ticket will be credited separately"

Review: I booked a flight with American Airlines (first time) as it offered a good price although the operating airlines were known for their bad service. But we decided to trust American Airlines. Well, after a sudden change of plans, I called the not-so-American airlines to cancel the tickets, and was ready for penalties, etc. ... but they offered me a 12 months credit. Ok, sounds nice, United airlines does it, Air France does it. But here is the trick: the 12 months countdown starts the day of the booking. As if it wasn't enough, each ticket will be credited separately, and only the name on that ticket credited can use the credit. I will update my review when / If we use the credit they issued to each one of us, for the onboard service quality. Till then, American Airlines should live up to the name or fold.

Route: Newark to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Nostrum

Title: "leg room was adequate"

Review: Alicante to Madrid. Short flight to connect to a long haul flight. Ground staff were efficient at Iberia desk. As usual you have to leave larger carry on bags on the ground next to the plane and then pick them up on arrival next to the plane. Seats are leather and on a 2 by 2 basis in both business and economy. Service was adequate, leg room was adequate even for two over six footers.

Route: ALC to MAD

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "service was impeccable"

Review: My flight in November from SCL to AMS was one of my best flights. The plane was rather new and well maintained. But the best part of the flight was the crew. Polite but chatty and made everybody feel welcome on board. The service was impeccable and nothing was too much for them. Wines, Champagne and food were extraordinary.

Route: Santiago de Chile to Frankfurt via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: Worst airline ever. I flew with them a few times and every time they were delayed, and I wouldn't not recommend this airline. Bathrooms are so dirty.

Route: Nashville to Allentown

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corsair

Title: "airline is value for money"

Review: Old Boeing 747 aircraft, but clean and enough legroom. Entertainment is very average, but this airline is value for money - what you pay is what you get. I paid round trip 11 hours flight to the amazing island of Reunion 630$, its very good price and cannot complain. Corsair offer solid product, the food is bad on board, but many airlines that offer higher rates, serve bad food as well. Clean plane, good and friendly service and offer enough drink during the flight include wine.

Route: Paris to Reunion

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LIAT

Title: "I was very pleasantly surprised"

Review: Trinidad to Barbados. I was planning a long weekend with friends in Trinidad. I live (mostly) in Barbados but also in London, UK. I'd been umming and aahing between LIAT and Caribbean Airlines and I checked out the reviews for LIAT which are definitely not good. I regularly fly between Barbados and Jamaica via Caribbean Airlines, which involves a stop/transit through Trinidad and my transit experiences have not been good. Delays, cancellations etc. One time arriving in Barbados at around 3.00a.m. instead of the scheduled 9.45m and anyone who knows Piarco airport would agree that it has to be the most soulless airport ever, no information is given, few places to eat, get a coffee etc. Piarco departure lounge is BRUTAL. In the end, I decided on Caribbean Airlines for my outward bound flight and LIAT for my return. I rationalised that if the CA flight due to depart at around 8.45 was late, I could spend hours there, whereas if I took the afternoon LIAT fight, even with cancellations, that I stood a reasonably good chance of arriving in Barbados before midnight. As it happens, luck seemed to have been on my side. LIAT reviews are full of tales of delays cancellations, rude staff wtc. I'm happy to say that this was not my experience. The flight departed 5 minutes later than its scheduled 2.35 pm time slot,, which in aviation/airline term is not at all late, and got me into Barbados within the hour. All staff were pleasant and helpful as needed. We were served a beverage, which CA did not offer on the outward bound journey. Flight was pleasant, seats were reasonably comfortable, pilot/captain kept us informed, and I really liked their inflight magazine. Overall, I was very pleasantly surprised, because as I said LIAT has very poor reviews and everyone that I had consulted prior to booking had warned me off LIAT. As I say, I may just have been very fortunate, but for this flight at least, everything went well, and if LIAT could maintain this standard, I would happily fly LIAT again, even though I'm a confirmed CA fan!

Route: Trinidad to Barbados

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromar

Title: "very friendly staff"

Review: Fly 10 or 12 times a year Mexico City to Ciudad Victoria. Planes are small Fokker Turboprops. Always very friendly staff and have been on time. Seats are rather small, an excellent lounge with drinks and snacks at a number of airports. Service onboard with snacks and drinks are adequate.

Route: MEX to CVM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "got delayed, so far, 3 times"

Review: Fredericton to Ottawa. A very bad experience for a first flight. I am currently waiting for the flight which got delayed, so far, 3 times for a total of 4 hours and 15 minutes. I tried to locate an agent to ask about the reason for the delay, none was available at their gate. No wonder why their tickets are cheaper than others.

Route: Fredericton to Ottawa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Salam Air

Title: "Dont ever fly with this airline"

Review: Disgrace. Dont ever fly with this airline. They didnt tell us our flight was cancelled, refused to provide an explanation. We showed up and they were incredibly rude. No refund for the cancelled ticket, no alternative route, no correspondence on their part. Absolute disgrace, avoid this airline at all costs.

Route: Dubai to Kathmandu via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "eliminate the recline button"

Review: Chiang Mai to Hanoi. Over 6 foot tall, book an exit seat. Although cramped, the interior was fresh and bright, the cabin crew professional and polite, and even the lavatories were clean. If only they would eliminate the recline button on the seats. Unfortunately, there are still travelers that just dont consider fellow passengers when it comes to leg room.

Route: Chiang Mai to Hanoi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "same appalling service"

Review: Mauritius to Perth. Flight to Mauritius was delayed for 2 hours. No explanation, then was cancelled with no warning. A guy from Air Mauritius came out and yelled over the top of everyone saying flight has been cancelled come back tomorrow at the same time, then just walked off like that. No one knew what was going on or what to do. Then when we returned the next day the flight was delayed a further 4 hours with the same poor service. Now on my way home flight is delayed a further 2 hours with the same appalling service. What a joke of an airline and the staff need to work on their customer service too!

Route: MRU to PER

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "crew was rude"

Review: The crew was rude, they closed all the shades on a day flight from Rome to Boston - served lunch and we never saw them again. No water to be found after they all disappeared. The seats and window plastic were broken and falling apart. Sad but true the staff, except for 2 people in business class, were rude and arrogant. They charge the most for their flights and they are the worst. I would never fly them again and have canceled my return flight because I did not feel safe on such an old plane with a disappearing wait staff. Do not even mention the food - I was deplorable. The plane was dirty and broken down inside. The chairs did not move, our movie screens were broken and well, it was horrible.

Route: Boston to Rome

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "really disappointed in this type of service"

Review: Despite the fact that we were there as per the 90 minutes expectation and there was no end to the queues in sight, we were told that we cannot board the flight 10 minutes prior to its departure. Flysafair took no responsibility whatsoever for the long queue and we were sent from pillar to post trying to find assistance with almost none of their employees being able to give us the answers we need. Had they been competent and knowledgeable, we may have been able to board the flight in time but instead wasted so much money. That's exactly what they want it seems. We were told that we could be on the wait list for a non refundable R300 and couldn't even tell us how many people are on the list already. Paid the fee and it turned out that more than 13 were already on the wait list so not only does that just show how many people weren't able to make it in time but also how they get you to pay because you hope that you may be next on the wait list. I'm really disappointed in this type of service in this age

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "couldn't have been more impressed"

Review: Having read lots of bad reviews for this airline, we booked with trepidation. There were very few direct flights from Cancun-London and prices were typically almost 3-times Thomas Cook's. We decided even if we encountered a nightmare delay or other problems other have had, we'd still be ahead. As it was, we were able to upgrade to Premium for £40 each. What a bargain! The new Terminal 4 at Cancun is much less chaotic than the others and for Thomas Cook there were two dedicated Premium check-in desks. Our cabin-baggage was slightly overweight but when I explained it contained my warm gear for the flight they let it go. No Fast-track, but security was fine. Premium passengers did board first and this was smooth except that overhead bag space is unusually small. My "normal" sized bag which would usually go in length-wise had to be put in sideways to fit. Several other people had the same issue, so space was very tight. We were offered sparkling wine while waiting; then, once in the air, were soon offered another drink and then another. The service of our crew was excellent - I have flown business class on Virgin Australia, Singapore and Virgin Atlantic and service was up there with those! Not so the food, of course, but it was surprisingly good. Better than any economy class meal I've ever eaten, so I would say it's a cut above whatever is served in the rear. Even the wine was drinkable. I took a peak behind the curtain more than once as the front toilet was occupied for an extended period. The seat config was 2-4-2 rather than the 2-3-2 of premium. The extra width is noticeable and the leg-room was fine for me too (at 6'1"). Flight departed approximately on time and arrived half-an-hour early. Couldn't have been more impressed by the experience for the money.

Route: Cancun to London

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "all the flights were on time"

Review: Everything was good, all the flights were on time, the space in the plane was very good. The service on board also good. The bags came out unharmed and the pilot handled the plane very well.

Route: Reykjavik to Tenerife Sud

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "would fly Korean Air again"

Review: Business class from Singapore to Seoul. We checked-in from terminal 4, there is an exclusive area in the lounge for first class passengers,. Food was below average, flight service and smile was good, IFE was acceptable, camera onboard was acceptable, and the seat was extremely comfortable on this 6 hour flight. I was disappointed though that no amenity kit was provided on this red-eye flight. We arrived at terminal 2 in Incheon airport where the experience was extremely positive for us compared to terminal 1. I would definitely fly Korean Air again. However, unfortunately they do not have routes to the Middle East.

Route: Singapore to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "inflight service was decent"

Review: Los Angeles to Hong Kong via Seoul. Los Angeles to Seoul Incheon was a solid experience. Since it was an red-eye flight the catering was below average. Everything was oily, however the tea selections after the meal was a delight. CAs need to learn how to behave in the galley when passengers are sleeping. I sat three rows in front of the galley and I literally thought there was a mariachi band behind me. Overall the inflight service was decent.

Route: Los Angeles to Hong Kong via Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "Terrible, terrible company"

Review: London Gatwick to Prague, and possibly the worst airline ever! Not only were we on the noisiest lager lout flight in history, but a couple weeks before we flew they changed the date of our return which meant missing out on organised outings while we were away. When I tried to get compensation for this I was completely ignored. I got the CAA involved and a year later they still have not been responded to either. Customer service - zero! Terrible, terrible company which I will never use again - I'd rather walk.

Route: LGW to PRG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "felt totally humiliated"

Review: Bangkok to Krabi. My friend and I paid for return flights and hold luggage. We could not check in on-line for the return journey as their website was not working and when we got to the airport we were told we had not paid for hold luggage. Despite showing a receipt they made us pay THB 3900 and THB 3000 on our debit and credit cards or we could not fly. We both felt totally humiliated and it ruined a good holiday to end it that way. I will never fly with this airline again!

Route: Bangkok to Krabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "missed my international flight"

Review: The flight got delayed from Kalibo to Malina for almost 3 hours on Jan 1, 2019, for that I missed my international flight, when I asked them for a solution, they rebooked my flight which is 2 days later, they said that's the only flight with an available seat. I have to bear all the losses, my schedule has been shattered, I have to pay two days accommodation fee and extra costs, but those were not the worst part. At the check-in counter, I asked the check-in lady to provide me with a paper for the delay, so my hotel I was supposed to stay could redeem me, the lady reassured me that they would bring the paper at my next check in, that is Jan 2 10 pm, flight took off at 00:05 am, and I asked them to not forget the paper. On my next check-ins, no paper, the check-in lady was not willing to help anyway, she is very reluctant, I asked her many times, she just said "wait", still nothing is done.

Route: Kalibo to Malina

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "great little airline"

Review: Subang to Penang and Firefly is a great little airline. No fuss but great value for money and frequency to its destinations.

Route: Subang to Penang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "worst I have ever traveled with"

Review: On the 6th of November, Ryanair charged me 45 euros for a suitcase that supposedly did not meet the measures required for the trip. My suitcase was very small, undersized and fit under the seat. Even so, they made me pay for an extra suitcase. The biggest problem was that I was not given a receipt and payment was made over the phone. They forced me to give my card details to a supposed telephone employee. They gave me the phone and said I had to give my card details otherwise I would have to leave my suitcase there. In addition to not having received any receipt as proof of payment, they kept my card details which should have been confidential. This is illegal. The antipathy with which they give us information and the menacing air make this company the worst I have ever traveled with. No dia 6 de novembro a ryanair cobrou-me 45 euros por uma mala que supostamente não cumpria as medidas exigidas para a viagem. A minha mala era muito pequena, com o tamanho abaixo do standard e cabia de baixo do assento. Mesmo assim fizeram-me pagar uma mala extra. O problema maior foi que não me deram um recibo e o pagamento foi feito por telefone. Obrigaram-me a dar os dados do meu cartão a uma suposta funcionaria por telefone. Passaram-me o telefone e disseram que tinha que dar os dados do meu cartão senão tinha que deixar ali a minha mala. Para além de não ter recebido nenhum recibo como prova de pagamento, ficaram com os dados do meu cartão que deveriam ser confidenciais. Isto é ilegal. A antipatia com que nos dão informações e o ar ameaçador tornam esta companhia a pior com a qual já viajei.

Route: Madrid to Faro

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "I would fly with Silver again"

Review: The other flights from MCO to EYW included long layovers and were expensive. My husband voted for giving Silver a try since it was only a little more than an hour flight. Still, I read the reviews before and after booking and was concerned. However, both legs of our trip were fantastic. The planes seemed newer and clean. The flight attendants were professional and polite. The flights themselves were as smooth as butter. This is a small airline, so it simply is not reasonable to expect big airline perks. There isn't a drink and/or snack service, but we were offered small bottles of water. Really, there wasn't even enough time on our flight. We were in the air a little over an hour and were spared a six-hour drive to Key West. The cost of our tickets was economical and probably not much more than we would have spent on a drive between gas, tolls and meals. I would fly with Silver again.

Route: Key West to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "Very disappointing lack of service care"

Review: Were not flown to our booked destination and I incurred out of pocket expenses in order to arrive at my booked destination. Customer after care when I wrote to the airline requesting reimbursement has been non existent. Not even a courtesy of we will review it. Very disappointing lack of service care.

Route: Zurich to Santa Cruz de la Palma

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Excellent Inflight service"

Review: Excellent Inflight service. Wide leg room. Clean cabin. Flight 10-minutes early. Cabin crew gave attention to passenger - no rush feeling. So-so inflight food.

Route: Bangkok to Hat Yai

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "little information at the airport"

Review: I am disappointed with Condor's services. I was flying from Gran Canaria to Munich, the flight was delayed for two hours and I was still waiting for my luggage for 40 minutes. Therefore, I missed my next flight, had to stay in a hotel and buy expensive tickets the next day, and lose one day of work. On their website it is written that delays up to 3 o'clock are not compensated. How great, they were two hours late and it's not their fault, but I was 24 hours late home and lost 500Eur! There was little information at the airport, they didn't even offer any drinks, apparently this is a normal situation for this company. I notice that low-cost airlines like Ryanair or EasyJet are doing much better.

Route: Gran Canaria to Munic via Vilnius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "separated our group"

Review: Our family of five (2 adults & 3 kids, aged 12, 11 & 7) recently flew Air Asia from Kuala Lumpur to Melbourne. Air Asia "auto assigned" seats at online check-in that separated our group, which placed our 7 year old seven rows behind the rest of the family even though there were plenty of seats of 5 together on the flight, leaving us no option but to purchase seats. Also, we hired their tablets for entertainment but one didn't work. The cabin crew advised us to contact their customer support who weren't interested.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Regional Express

Title: "very much appreciated this kind gesture"

Review: I attempted to book a ticket online to travel from Dubbo to Sydney late 2/9/2020, for a 3/9/2020 flight. It was indicated that there were no seats available for the 3/9/2020 flight, so I booked for 4/9/2020. My Sister was dying in the Martor Hospital in North Sydney, and her Family called me 3/9/2020 to say she was in a critical condition. I phoned Rex, and spoke to a lovely Customer Service person. This person could see that I had tried to book online 2/9/2020, and said even though she was not supposed to, that she would change my flight from 4/9/2020 to 3/9/2020. Thanks to this wonderful person, I was able to be with my Sister before she passed on 4/9/2020. If I had taken the 4/4/2020 flight, my Sister would have passed before I got to say goodbye. I very much appreciated this kind gesture.

Route: Dubbo to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "disappointed with staff in Delhi"

Review: Delhi to Kuwait. I am very disappointed with staff in Delhi, they gave us a lot of trouble and made us wait unnecessarily saying that they do not know about the e-visa of Pakistan and saying that it's their first time flying that route. Hope it can be sorted out because this was my first time on the airline and its leaving me with a bad impression.

Thanks

Route: Delhi to Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "help you avoid this airline"

Review: Amsterdam to Ohrid. This company was a joke before I even got off the ground. I booked a flight/hotel deal from Amsterdam to Lake Ohrid, Macedonia. I have been there several times before and wanted to go to Albania. I booked a more expensive day (Friday versus a Saturday, and paid single supplement) because frankly there was no possible way to get back to my home from Schiphol at 4 AM. I realize it's a charter and know the game but they kept changing the return departure time, with no notice (I only accidentally noticed when I was booking a seat) and they eventually settled on the same time/date as it would have been if I had booked the Saturday flight. No notice, no refund and really no class. I called them and they said they were really unsure when the return flight would be. I decided to cut my losses at this totally defunct way of doing business and fear of what would happen to me if I actually went to Macedonia with them. Lesson learned at 40% penalty and hope I can help you avoid this airline as well.

Route: Amsterdam to Ohrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: British Airways

Title: "no boarding drinks provided"

Review: First time flying with BA business class, never again. There are no boarding drinks provided. My meal quality was below business class standards as was the quality of the wine. On arrival at Bodrum my bags were among the last to appear. Not looking forward to the same chaos on the return flight.

Route: Heathrow to Bodrum

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "we got more than we paid for"

Review: Krabi to Chiang Mai. we have flown with AirAsia multiple times recently and have had no issues. It is a budget airline so you can't expect anything crazy. The flight was on time, staff was nice and courteous and our bags arrived as expected. Yes leg room is small, yes we had to pay for checked bags and no there was no free snack or beverage but this was all known ahead of time so it shouldn't be a surprise and for a 2 hour flight it shouldn't be an issue. Plus we only paid $250Cdn for 5 tickets. In our case we got more than we paid for.

Route: Krabi to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "I will never fly with them again"

Review: My plane from Silver Airways was supposed to leave around 3:30 pm. First there was about a 2 hour delay, then they just kept delaying for mechanical reasons. Once the plane finally got there, about 7:30 pm, they had to do more maintenance. Eventually they said the plane was inoperable so they were going to switch to a different plane so we waited until 9:45 pm when they plane landed to get us they decided to cancel the whole flight. I understand planes have mechanical problems and i definitely do not want to fly on a plane that does. I dont understand why they told us they were going to switch to the other plane then cancel. It was ridiculous the lack of communication. On top of all that they gave us $12 food vouchers. We went to use them and the restaurants at the airport wouldnt take them because silver airlines doesn't reimburse them for the vouchers and in my opinion that says a lot about this airline. I will never fly with them again.

Route: Tampa to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "incredibly selfish and inflexible"

Review: This airline is incredibly selfish and inflexible during the Coronavirus outbreak. We bought our tickets to Peru from LAX months ago because the flights were cheap at the time. Peru has closed their borders so we cannot travel on our flight. The airline refuses to refund our flight and will only change it but we have to pay the difference in ticket price. They could not find a single date we could change the ticket to where we did not have to pay a 50% increase or more. It is unacceptable that we were not given another option to get at least some of our money back without paying more money. Do not consider flying this airline. You never know what could be happening and this airline will NOT try to help you.

Route: Los Angeles to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "waiting for the refund for more than a year"

Review: Have been waiting for the refund for more than a year. My flight was supposed to be in September 2020. But it was canceled. I started to contact Georgian Airlines and in the first months, I did not receive a response from the airline at all. Then after continued pinging, they respond to me that they will refund my money and asked for my bank details. I provided this information on 11th September 2021 and then on the 15th of September, they promised that funds will be transferred within 15-20 business days. On the 22nd of October, I asked them by email about my refund. They answer that it will take a little more time. After 40 working days had passed I wrote them again on 9th of November. Since then they are not answering my emails with compliance. They are completely ignoring me. It is normal for Georgian Airlines representatives to ignore you or finish the conversation in the middle. They make promises on a regular basis and don't keep them. None of the provided dates are accurate. They are just holding up the money for no reason. I think that such actions are inappropriate. I don't recommend to anyone to buy tickets at this company. You will just lose your money and get a lot of problems.

Route: Tel-Aviv to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "a turbulence-free flight"

Review: The comments in the review of my outward journey about food and beverages (good), cabin crew (efficient but rather distant), and on-time performance also apply to this 12-hour overnight return flight from Mauritius. The biggest difference was a turbulence-free flight this time so that I was able to sleep soundly for 8 hours. The seats in the A330-900 are the same as used in the A350-900 so this confirmed that, for me, they do the job nicely! If I was being picky then I'd say that a more substantial pillow would have been welcome. I can't comment on the in-flight entertainment because I went sleep straight after dinner and just enjoyed the view out of the window from breakfast until landing, but my wife found some films to entertain her. It was interesting to compare Air Mauritius' A330neo with their A350 and, to be honest, I didn't notice a difference. They are both comfortable, quiet aircraft with 28 seats in 1-2-1 configuration in business class so for this punter they were interchangeable.

Route: Mauritius to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Absolutely disgraceful attitude"

Review: Never again, our flight Tallinn-Milan had been rescheduled 3 times and delayed for 20hr in total. All 3 times reschedule happened at the gate for boarding. Absolutely disgusting. Our return flight got cancelled all together again at the gate where we were ready for boarding. They treat their passengers like a cattle. If they would bother to cancel a couple hours in advance we at least could make another travel arrangement. Absolutely disgraceful attitude, and failing to provide the service they signed up to provide. No communication whatsoever, no refund/compensation either. Wizz Air failed to perform its duties and should held responsible. We ended up wasting 3 days in total and spend fortune for another flight (trying to organise it last minute).

Route: Tallinn to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "take another plane"

Review: TAP Portugal stands for take another plane It was the worst experience of any flight Ive ever taken! From rude check in clerks to even ruder stewardess. If you think youre getting a good deal on the flight price, dont worry as they will beat you up on your luggage and you will pay dearly. Internet glitches so you cant check in online and your bags therefore cost $50.00 more automatically. $130.00 for each bag. Your carry ons better be tiny too. The worst flying experience of all time. Seems like rules can be made up and changed at their whim! Bogus! Never again!!

Route: Boston to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "such a terrible service"

Review: Bangkok to Chiang Mai. One of the worst service from airline I ever had. The late evening flight was canceled recently, therefore they moved all flight to the evening flight. The change was made normally and I received notification as usual. But this time I received such a terrible service. Starting from mis-booking the flight by switching my departure flight and arrival flight, which making me unable to do the online check in. This problem occurs again on my return flight. I have contacted call center and the response I received is unacceptable. Firstly they started to ask me to check in online again in the morning, and of course, it did not work. So I kept calling again and received the response that this problem is unexplainable, especially to customer. Even he explained to me, I am not going to understand anyway. I had good service from this airline before, but this time could be the last one.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "worst airline of all time"

Review: Sydney to Moscow via Beijing. The worst airline of all time! Website and App are horrible, making online check in not possible. For example, on app, you cannot check in if you do not have a Chinese phone number. When you enter a code of a different country, it defaults back to Chinese. For long flights it is so crucial to be able to select a seat before all the good ones are taken. After 2 hours of trying and multiple customer care calls which brought zero result, I have last row middle seats on both of my flights (24+ hours journey time). Unbelievable! Customer care is useless as well: they cannot do anything about not working online check in and are not even able to tell at what time airport check in closes. This is the very least they should be able to advise. On the flight there is very little leg room (even for me with 165 cm highly), the wine they serve is of very poor quality, the meals are rather small. I will never fly with them again!

Route: Sydney to Moscow via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "following indications by the Japanese embassy"

Review: I was supposed to fly from Tokyo to Barcelona, via Paris CDG through international path (no need to get in French, EU, or Schengen territory at any point, as it was clearly stated when purchasing the flight), I had chosen precisely this airline and route, because it was one of the easiest in terms of transfer and Covid restrictions, since my final destination, Spain, had no requirement for vaccination or any type of test, and the French authorities, and CDG site stated that there were no conditions for transferring through the airport. On arrival at the checking counter at Narita airport, JAL staff asked me for my documents and my PCR test results, to what I replied, that they were not needed to get to Spain. They didn't know about the Spanish conditions and were confused from the beginning. After discussing among the team, and calling different people on the phone, they informed me that they were requiring the PCR in order to fly, because they knew of someone that got rejected to transfer in Paris without PCR. They proceeded to suggest that i changed my route to go through Helsinki and London, when I had to inform them myself, that the route was not possible since the UK was for sure requiring a PCR in order to transfer at their airports. I showed the manager the official French government and airport sites explaining that PCR was not needed for someone transferring in CDG, showed that Air France was not requiring PCR for me to fly to Spain. All these took approximately 4 hours, and the only response I got was that JAL was following indications by the Japanese embassy in France, and that on their site, they suggested that everyone had a PCR in order to transfer in France. I was offered to change my flight for the following day, under the condition of getting a PCR test. I did get my PCR test and returned to the airport the following day.

Hoping that with some time, they would have had time and the decency to at least check and apologize for the mistake. Nonetheless, I found myself with the same response, that the Japanese embassy in France was suggesting a PCR, so they were right to force me to get one. This whole situation generated a very bad experience and affected my trust in JAL.

Route: Tokyo to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "Qantas staff are so inconsiderate"

Review: Qantas vouchers are useless. Qantas had kindly given us a voucher to access the Singapore lounge in April 2022. After spending a few difficult days in Singapore, with their tight restrictions on everything and no internet connection, we were looking forward to chilling out in the Qantas Lounge before our flight home. Unfortunately, the voucher was only for myself and my wife, so Qantas staff refused to allow our two daughters into the lounge. Considering how few people were travelling last year, it was shocking that our kids couldn't come with us to relax in the lounge for a few hours. So how could we use the voucher? leave our kids outside? Qantas staff are so inconsiderate. I will choose any other airline first, even if it costs more, for the rest of my life.

Route: Melbourne to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Level

Title: "had 3 seats all to myself"

Review: Vienna to Gatwick. The plane was new, and very comfortable inside. I was very pleased to see that changing my seat at the last minute had worked, as I now had 3 seats all to myself. Once onboard, we were told that due to fog at Gatwick, there will be a 2 hour slot delay. To their credit, the cabin crew came around handing out glasses of water, and started a round with the trolleys, coming round and offering us things to Purchase. I bought a packet of crisps and a glass of wine, and was very impressed with the relatively low price. Once we finally got airborne, they did another round of service. The crew were kind and professional. Another benefit is that they have USB charge points at every seat on the A321s. We landed at Gatwick just under 2 hours late, but that was not the fault of the airline. Many flights on Level are very cheap, and if the price is right, I would not hesitate to use them again.

Route: Vienna to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "return flight was then postponed by 3 days"

Review: Flight leaving Heathrow was delayed by an hour. This time was made up in the air. Flight leaving Kigali was delayed by 2 hours for unknown reasons, and then further delays during the refuel in Lusaka, causing me to miss my arranged transport in Johannesburg. The return flight was then postponed by 3 days for unstated reasons, causing me to miss work. Do not use Rwandair unless you have good travel insurance. Next time I shall pay the higher cost for a better airline.

Route: London to Johannesburg via Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "Awful experience all around"

Review: Awful experience all around. 2 hour delay. Slow getting people on the plane. Rude. Why does this airline constantly do this. I had to reschedule all my arrival accommodations.

Route: Denver to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "worst company we have ever used"

Review: This is the worst company we have ever used so far. There was a delay of more than 2,5 hours immediately in Tampa, then we lost the plane in Frankfurt that was going to Zagreb. No one wanted to help us in Frankfurt, it took us 2,5 hours to find right shelter to get a new plane tickets and then we have to wait almost 6 hours until the second flight and all this not our fault. There was not enough food on the plane especially drinks. You always had to ask and it took a long time to be served. They charged if someone wanted a blanket because it was cold. I will make sure that I never fly with this company again.

Route: Tampa to Zagreb via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air KBZ

Title: "Cabin crew were friendly"

Review: I took the flight K7-708 from Mandalay to Heho to get to Inle Lake as it is the quickest way to get there. This was my first time flying with Air KBZ and it was a pleasant flight. Check-in and boarding was very efficient. The flight left Mandalay about 10 minutes before the scheduled time and arrived about 15 minutes earlier. The cabin was very clean and seats were comfortable. Cabin crew were friendly. I will not hesitate to fly again with Air KBZ.

Route: Mandalay to Heho

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "smooth and flexible service"

Review: Shanghai to Hong Kong. The flight delayed about 70min due to air traffic control at HKIA and process out of order allocating boarding gates at Shanghai Hongqiao International Airport. But the crews tried to provide a smooth and flexible service. The meals, to be sure, were not enough when it comes to the portion, even as refreshment, and the chicken noodles looked less tasty (but after all tasted well). Due to turbulence on air, the service operated a bit slowly but enough.

Route: Shanghai to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "you get what you pay for"

Review: Flight was booked for a Thursday morning. 2 hours before the flight (when I was already at the airport) they emailed me, saying they postponed the flight to a Thursday night red-eye due to "an issue beyond anyone's control" with no further elaboration. So I re-booked my bus connection, which cost a fee to change last minute. That afternoon, Lynx emailed me again, changing the flight to Saturday - not the earlier flight on Friday morning, I had to find that one myself - and re-book my connecting bus yet again, which cost me more money. No reason was given this time, just an email. I got to the airport on Friday morning, and the flight was delayed yet again. Not even an email this time, I had to find out at the airport kiosk. I missed my connecting bus, and Lynx is now pretending they aren't responsible for any of it. I guess "you get what you pay for", but I've never had a problem with Flair or Swoop. If I had known I'd be out this much for the connection, I'd have taken a better airline.

Route: Vancouver to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "refuse to fly with them again"

Review: I am a long-time Delta customer and have been loyal for many years, but I am going to cancel my account and will refuse to fly with them again. This was an absolutely terrible experience. My flight was delayed, and we were told at the terminal that it would be "at least an hour," and that it would probably be longer. I went to eat something and came back in an hour, and the plane was gone and the terminal empty. At the Delta desk, I was told it had gone. They said other people missed it as well. Of course, they had announced the flight over the intercom and sent passengers an email, but where I was told it would be "at least" an hour, I ate without listening to the many constant announcements or checking my phone. Delta booked me on standby for a flight late that night, but unfortunately did not inform me that it was an overbooked flight. There was no room on that flight. I had to travel late and stay the night in a nearby town and wake up the next morning for another flight, traveling on little sleep. I had to reschedule one of the most exciting meetings of my life with a new mentor. We met that night much more briefly, with me totally frazzled and stressed. So essentially, I spent extra money on food and transportation, lost sleep, missed work, wasted many hours, had to travel late and stay overnight, had a panic attack in the empty terminal, and missed a once-in-a-lifetime meeting with a hero and new mentor of mine. I understand that these things happen and reached out professionally to Delta, and they emailed me apologizing and saying they would add 3,000 miles to my SkyMiles account. Turns out that 3,000 miles are worth about $30. I have seen overbooked Delta flights offer people credit cards for $500 or more, just like that. I lost so much time and money with this experience. I asked if I could talk to someone else, remaining friendly with the individual since I know it's a company policy and customer service staff are not to blame, but the email I got back said, "Thank you for writing us back. I've utilized all my resources and have been advice by my leadership team that no further compensation can be issued. Regrettably we're unable to honor your request. We realize this is a disappointment, and trust you understand our position. We do appreciate your persistence but we will have to agree that we cannot find the right solution this time. Any further communication would not be productive and we will not respond again regarding this incident. We hope in time we'll have the opportunity to restore your confidence in our service. Take care and have a wonderful day!" "We will not respond again regarding this incident". Delta has completely lost its once-great customer service and has gone downhill with mileage benefits, cost, seating options, and the whole experience. They try to scrape money from travelers in any way they can and offer us nothing when they mess up. Delta has lost my trust.

Route: Salt Lake City to Utah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "not give a damn about it's customers"

Review: This company does not give a damn about it's customers! I was on a direct flight from Melbourne to Dallas and after Qantas delayed the flight by 6 hours they cancelled the flight. They kept everyone at the terminal for another 3 hours and just sent everyone home with a promise to try and re-book flights. They didn't bother getting in touch at all. I had to re-call and book my flights myself. They didn't even have a record to re-book my flights! It took 4 hours on the phone with them and constant call drop outs. Qantas will not offer any local support. You can never talk to an Australian representative. You can only deal with call centre workers in the Philippines that book flights. They can't and will not offer any customer care assistance. This airline is a complete joke. Absolutely the worst experience you can ever ask for.

Route: Melbourne to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "lived up to its reputation for unreliable service"

Review: Coolangatta to Melbourne. Tigerair is the most disorganised organisation I have dealt with. My Travel agent calls me following a notification they received 24 hours before my departure that my flight departure is no longer 3.35 pm but is 6.05 pm. Because of car hire I have to return to the airport at 3.30 pm or incur additional fees. I check Tigerair website on the morning of my departure and it says I am departing at the original time of 3.35pm. Confused I call a Tigerair consultant you again tells me the departure time is 3.35 pm after checking the company website. When I query that and tell them of the alert I had received about my flight being delayed the consultant makes a deeper investigation and then confirms the update is correct the departure time is 6.05 pm. The fact the consultants depend on a website that is not properly maintained to give accurate information to travellers is maddening. Tigerair has lived up to its reputation for unreliable service and I will not be flying with them again.

Route: Coolangatta to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines Scandinavia

Title: "had to pay to get water"

Review: Was horrified to find I had to pay to get water with Thomas Cook Airlines Scandinavia flying from Stockholm to Cancun. I mean I understand you can pay for beverages such as alcohol and soft drinks but come on on a 12 hour flight to only supply coffee and tea on two occasions, its just inhuman and greedy to make people pay for water. As for paying for inflight entertainment once again just money hungry. Food was ok what little I had, I'm not an over weight person and eat normally but portion control is in full effect. Staff were ok but I got knocked twice with the drinks cart as the were coming through the aisle. Staff are more like sales people, only interested in sell sell sell.

Route: ARN to CUN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "one of the worst experience"

Review: Sharjah to Goa. This was one of the worst experience. Me my husband and my daughter were travelling from Sharjah to Goa in the month of June. They were supposed to check the baggage weight during the boarding process. No one asked us about the hand baggage weight. After the immigration was completed, the officer stopped us while going towards the gate and said they want to recheck our hand baggage. We had already weighed our luggage in the local office in Abu Dhabi and they had informed us that the hand luggage is within the limit as they would not check the laptop bags. The ground officer checked our hand baggage, laptop bag, yy Purse and my daughter's laptop bag. He said we have 12 KGs excess bag. Straight away he took the boarding pass and gave to the other officer where there was already a big rush of passengers negotiating on money the officers were asking them to pay in cash, we were asked to pay AED 400. I refused to pay anything for the 2 laptop bags and my vanity bag. They made me and my family stand there for about 1/2 an hour and finally, they negotiated to excuse us if we are paying 100 AED. The worst situation I would not want to travel through this airline again. They are only cheap in service and costly in price.

Route: Sharjah to Goa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: LIAT

Title: "found out accidentally"

Review: I made a reservation with LIAT for January 2016 to fly from San Juan to Dominica. This was a direct flight The reservation was made in June 2015. Without telling me the flight was changed to an overnight flight via Antigua. I had called to check flight times and found out accidentally. I was offered a flight the next day that had 4 stops and took 8 hours. When I tried to cancel all I was offered was a credit!

Route: San Juan to Dominica

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "the food not so great"

Review: We had a return flight to Ho Chi Minh from Birmingham via Zurich with Edelweiss, never used them before so did not know what to expect. Could not choose your seat unless you had paid in advance or until 24 hours when you could check in online. Easy flight from Birmingham to Zurich with a very short changeover that we were concerned but there was no need at all. You were asked if you had the correct visa for Vietnam before boarding and checked. The plane itself was clean, reasonably spacious (as can be for economy!) and the crew very friendly and helpful. We found the food to be not so good though but the fresh bread that went round was a much better idea. Much the same on the return trip but the one thing we had a problem with was we could not check in on line, I did email Edelweiss and to their due they did mail me back within a couple of hours and report a fault. Again most ok but the food not so great but did enjoy their continental style breakfast!

Route: Birmingham to Ho Chi Minh via Zürich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "experience was really good"

Review: Athens to Rome. The flight was cheap so I was a little skeptic especially considering I didn't fly Alitalia since 3 years but the experience was really good and there was plenty of soft drinks and helpful cabin crew.

Route: Athens to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "I've been waiting 2 months. Avoid!"

Review: We arrived at Cancun airport for our flight to Mexico City. Once at the gate we became aware that there was a delay to the flight. There was no information, the screen just went blank. We got told we would be departing from a different gate in a hour, this led to several gate changes and what ended up being a 5 hour delay. We were going to miss our flight back to London so we didn't get on the flight. Mexican consumer law means we are entitled to a refund as the delay was more than 4 hours, VivaAerobús acknowledge that we are owed a refund however getting that refund is impossible. They don't reply to emails, the only way I can get a response is on Twitter where they tell me the refund is being processed and will take 10 days. I've been waiting 2 months. Avoid!

Route: Cancun to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Azerbaijan Airlines

Title: Azerbaijan Airlines customer review

Review: AZAL offers a great meal and good seats. Today's flight was on an A319. The seats were big. The plane landed at the new terminal. Overall a nice flight experience!

Route: Istanbul Sabiha Gokcen to Baku

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "simple and straightforward"

Review: Cebu to Puerto Princesa. Upon our arrival an hour in advance at the pre-departure gate we found it crowded and full of other passengers from a different flight and seats were all full, we had to wait a bit farther away from our gate. Our aircraft arrived earlier than scheduled and the gate was opened for boarding 30mins than what was posted. Boarding in our plan was organized and peaceful as passengers were called in with respect to their seating assignments. The aircraft turnaround time was quick and methodical. Our flight to Puerto Princesa began with no incident and we landed safely in the new Puerto Princesa Airport 30 minutes ahead of schedule. Overall the flight was simple and straightforward like any one hour domestic flight should be.

Route: Cebu to Puerto Princesa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Caraibes

Title: "Service onboard was very good"

Review: Air Caraibes direct flight from Paris Orly to Pointe-à-Pitre. Lounge access in Orly but not a great selection of food. The lounge was calm and not too crowded. Good service on board with a 2-2-2 configuration. As I was travelling on my own I opted for one of the aisle seats in the middle. That way I had direct access to the aisle and nobody will need to step over me to get to the aisle. The food served was good and the cabin spacious. The return flight was delayed but it didn't worry me too much as I had no connecting flight to catch. However the lounge in Pointe-à-Pitre was quite basic with not much to eat. Nevertheless the ambiance was calm and relaxing. Service onboard was again very good and the food delicious.

Route: Paris Orly to Pointe-à-Pitre

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "cost me hundreds of extra dollars"

Review: Dallas to Springfield. Initial flight time was 10:30 am, 30 minutes into the flight they decided there was something wrong with the plane so we had to return to Dallas. We were then sent to several different terminals because the workers didnt realize there is more than one town named Springfield. Finally, after an hour or so a replacement plane arrived, they decided that the plane was also broken. Several hours later we were offered nasty stale sandwiches as an apology for their continued screw ups. We were then able to board the third plane. This plane was randomly picked for the pilots to manually figure the weight of the aircraft. Imagine my surprise when they decided the plane weighed too much. People were kicked off the plane and we had to wait an extra hour and a half to remove some fuel. This garbage airline company cost me hundreds of extra dollars (hotel, rental car, food) because I then missed the following connecting flights and had to stay the night in Missouri.

Route: Dallas to Springfield

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "I couldn't pick a seat"

Review: Albany to Chicago. This plane is clean and attendants pleasant. But I'm upset with the fact I couldn't pick a seat and I am assigned the last seat 18 that does recline. I have a health issues where I would have never chosen this seat. This plane is small and cramped. For where I'm destined I could have picked my usual airline but was suggested by the IT company that is flying me out to pick this one or another airline. I am sadly disappointed. If I can avoid this airline in the future I will. Seat comfort is zero. The lower part of the back indents in so I am hunched forward in this seat that can't recline.

Route: Albany to Chicago

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "day three without my bag"

Review: We had three bags checked with Air Canada and they lost all three. Tried many times to contact customer service but they kept me on hold for an average of 90 minutes, and the calls are farmed to another country, and it was sometimes impossible to understand the operators. I was able to go to the airport the next day and collect two of my three bags but the third one was lost. This was the important one with clothing and medications. I continued to call the lost baggage number four times (total hold time was 425 minutes) on July 5 and got different answers from each one as to the location of the bag. Tried calling Air Canada's front office, but they only respond to emails (I guess they are afraid to hear customers yell at them). So I sent them an email on the complaint form and got the following answer in my email: "Due to the higher number of current requests, it may take as long as 45 days for an Air Canada representative to get back to you." I am now starting day three without my bag and no answers or help from the airline. I never felt so helpless.

Route: Montreal to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: " Asked to move to emergency row"

Review: Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro. Bad service. Asked to move to emergency row because the regular row is too tight for my size (1,93cm) and cause hurt to my legs. The answer was no because I have problems with my legs! Ridiculous. I frequently travel in the emergency row and I am fully capable. That discussion would not exist if they have normal space for legs.

Route: Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "polite cabin crew"

Review: A smooth 2 hour flight with Air Niugini from Singapore to Port Moresby. Orderly boarding and very polite cabin crew. The plane was spotless. Varied selection of movies, music and television shows. Satisfactory meal and drink service. Would not hesitate to fly again or recommend.

Route: SIN to POM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "I will be flying Qantas-Emirates next time"

Review: I have flown business class with many airlines over the years and Malaysian Airlines wins the prize for the overall worst experience. Late departure, no announcements, no notice of gate changes and all this before we took off. This is the only business class that has 1-2-2 seating meaning no aisle access if you are next to a window seat. Impossible to climb out of your flat bed seat when the stranger in the aisle seat next to you is also asleep. Touch screen was old and had to be hit hard to make it work. Meal offerings were standard - same with the service. I will be flying Qantas-Emirates next time.

Route: Kathmandu to Brisbane via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Airlink

Title: "no updates for stranded passengers"

Review: Unreliable flight information, no updates for stranded passengers. They treated the delayed flight like nothing. Random swap of aircraft, random breakdown of ferry buses, random announcement with nothing useful from the microphone. The only thing certain is, as a passenger, you will definitely get stranded and have your holiday plan ruined by Airlink.

Route: Johannesburg to George

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "This airline was disappointing"

Review: I flew out from Brisbane, stopover at Seoul, before continuing to my destination Japan Tokyo. During this 13 hour trip I found this airline to be the most disappointing so far in my travels. I have previously flown with Cathay, Thai and Malaysia and they've been pretty good (Cathay being the best in my opinion). This airline was disappointing because they always skimp on the water levels in their cups given out every time. I'm on a plane, that is the last thing that I need - to be even more dehydrated! To those people thinking of flying you are better off buying your own bottle of water before you go. Seats were uncomfortable and at a weird angle. For that reason I highly recommend choosing a different airline for long distance travel. Seats were also quite compact and not spacious. Inflight entertainment was average and on one of the planes its remote control was stuck to the screen with a wire. What I mean by that is that everytime your window seat buddy needed to go to the toilet and needed to pass me in the aisle seat, the wire was in the way making it a clumsy design. Food was very average. Never going to fly Korean Air again.

Route: Brisbane to Seoul via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "flights were fantastic"

Review: I travelled via Bamboo Airways to Ho Chi Minh on 3rd May 2023 and returned to the UK on 23rd May 2023. The flights were fantastic, the crew were very friendly and helpful. No complaints whatsoever. Would definitely fly Bamboo Airways again.

Route: Gatwick to Ho Chi Minh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "told they had now closed the flight"

Review: Gatwick to Las Palmas. The customer experience made Ryanair look like a 5 star airline. Recently tried to fly with TUI to take my partner on holiday and get engaged. Unable to check in online for an unknown reason. Arrived at the airport check in area later than planned due to traffic, but on time according to the terms and conditions on the ticket. I was concerned about the length of the queue so sought assistance from a member of staff in Tui branding at the self check in desks, explained the situation and she checked flight times etc and told me we had plenty of time and to queue. After queuing I was told they had now closed the flight (while we were queuing) and we couldnt board. I then had to run around the airport to find another flight. TUIs customer services teams response, computer says no issues (effectively we cant be bothered to investigate because we dont want to have to compensate you) and the airport staff dont work for us so we do my care (despite then wearing our branding). We flew with Tui on the return flight so I can review the flight experience which was nothing special.

Route: Gatwick to Las Palmas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Rossiya Airlines

Title: "great service, nice food"

Review: From Prague to Saint Petersburg, great service, nice food, professional group, price of the ticket was higher than competitors but worth it, highly recommended.

Route: Prague to Saint Petersburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "This airline isnt competitive"

Review: My wife and I flew Business Class and this is our experience. We couldnt check in online because Air Europa required a negative Covid test be provided. That requirement was dropped on flights to the USA over a year ago. Consequently, we were unable to check in online. At the airport we needed a wheelchair. We sat in an uncomfortable holding area for over an hour and didnt reach the gate until fifteen minutes before boarding. Consequently, we didnt have lounge access prior to our flight. Those who needed to pre-board (my wife) or with Priority Status (myself) were left standing in a hot jetway for fifteen minutes before boarding the aircraft because the in flight staff werent ready for us. We could have remained comfortably seated at the gate until the aircraft was ready. The Business Class menu offered Selection of Appetizers of either Gazpacho or Light Potato Cream and Parsley Oil. Neither was offered. The menu offered Starters but they were served on the same tray as the entrée, along with a choice of chips or nuts. For a six hour flight why was the meal service rushed? Why wasnt it serve it as intended, in courses? The main course was pasta and it was inedible. The ravioli was over-baked in flight and crusty. A sauce added some moisture but it was tasteless. The menu offered a Cheeseboard but it wasnt served. The dessert on the menu was Granny style chocolate cake. It wasnt cake at all. It was more like cheesecake or mousse which was overly sweet and tasteless. Air Europa provided us two Wifi passes. I followed the instructions provided on my phone and laptop but it only worked for messaging. When I called this to the attention of the flight attendant she tried to assist me but then she took my computer away from me and stowed it in the compartment of my seat, as if to dismiss me. Had I paid $30.00 for the plan Id have been more than a bit upset. Why provide this perk if it upsets your customers because it doesnt work? Speaking of flight attendants, one hadnt been through the cabin over an an hour since our dinner trays were cleared. They seemed to hide in the galley, hoping the passengers would go to sleep so they didnt have to deal with us. The good news is that we landed safely at JFK, but we were left sitting in the cabin for thirty more minutes because we had to be transported to the terminal by bus. A finishing touch to a terrible experience. This airline isnt competitive with the services of other carriers, including many discount airlines. I understand Air Europa has been sold to Iberia Airlines for 500 million. This a fraction of the value of your aircraft. Its as though the airline has given up and said forget it. Well go through the motions of operating it until weve be taken over by someone actually capable of doing so. For the benefit of your customers, the sooner that occurs the better.

Route: Madrid to New York

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "rescheduled my flight"

Review: We purchased tickets from LATAM and they canceled and rescheduled my flight. I did not want 40+ hours of layovers on the new flight, they refused any refund and declined my dispute which was within hours of the purchase. They sold the tickets knowing they did not have the flight. They are still selling flights right now they do not have! I was forced to accept the new flight and the next #4 changes in itinerary with no say or consent and charged an additional fee for the changes which i paid to recoup my losses. No help or flights from latam what so ever.

Route: Miami to Sao Paulo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "consistent on domestic flights"

Review: Rio SDU to Brasilia on 13 November. Check in quick and breezed thru security. Boarding was delayed 45 minutes for a security issue on the plane. As I don't speak Portuguese it was hard to figure out what was the issue. The gate agents didn't speak much English but I figured out from talking to others what was going on. Friendly attendants on 1 hour 35 min flight. Snack served and drinks twice. Seats are tight but I'm 5'8 so managed ok. Landed 20 minutes late and bag was off quickly. Decent flight, and TAM is pretty consistent on domestic flights in Brazil - delays but no cancellations at least.

Route: SDU to BSB

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "the entire experience left much to be desired"

Review: Disappointing Experience with Spirit Airlines and Expedia.com. I recently booked a flight for my sound engineer on Spirit Airlines through Expedia.com, and unfortunately, the entire experience left much to be desired. I had planned a trip from San Antonio, Texas to Norfolk over the weekend, which involved four flights due to layovers. However, my disappointment began when Spirit Airlines abruptly canceled the trip on the day of departure at 5:30 am, citing a lack of staff. This lack of preparedness and consideration for their customers time and plans was extremely frustrating. One would expect that in such circumstances, the airline would provide a refund or alternative arrangements for affected passengers. Unfortunately, this was not the case for my return trip. Despite the cancellation being caused by Spirit Airlines, they refused to issue a refund. This kind of inflexibility and lack of accountability is certainly disappointing, especially during these trying times where every penny counts. One of the reasons I had chosen Spirit Airlines was its reputation for affordable fares, but the overall experience has made me question whether the potential savings are worth the frustration and inconvenience. Moreover, the lack of customer support and understanding from the airline only exacerbates the negative experience. Additionally, I want to express my dissatisfaction with Expedia.com, the platform through which I made the booking. While I understand that they act as a middleman between customers and airlines, I expected better assistance and support in such a situation. It would have been helpful if they had intervened on my behalf to secure a refund or explore alternative options. In conclusion, my experience with Spirit Airlines and Expedia.com was highly disappointing. The last-minute cancellation by Spirit Airlines due to staff shortages, coupled with their refusal to provide a refund for the return trip, demonstrates a lack of responsibility and customer-centric approach. I would caution others against booking flights with Spirit Airlines, and I hope that Expedia.com can improve their customer support and advocacy for their users in such situations.

Route: San Antonio, TX to Norfolk, VA

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Hats off to the team"

Review: Had a difficult boarding due to a mix up with luggage tagging by ground staff. There was also a young couple with 3 children who needed to be sitting together. The flight manager handled all these mishaps excellently and kept updating passengers in a calm and collected way. She also sorted out the family seating very efficiently. Hats off to the team for making our flight so comfortable.

Route: Tel Aviv to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "really unacceptable"

Review: Flight on 18 August 2022 was cancelled as a result of technical problems. Various challenges to find a new flight. Flew on 19 August 2022 to Cape town. Luggage was reported as lost on 19 August 2022. All procedures followed. Various communicate used to contact KLM: WhatsApp, messenger, emails and telephonic calls. It is more than 4 months no compensation received not even for emergency purchases (all receipts were scanned and mailed). Promises of customer care call back not met. This is really unacceptable and KLM will not be used in future or recommended.

Route: Dublin to Cape Town via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "already rebooked for next year"

Review: Manchester to New York JFK was operated by AirTanker. This aircraft had excellent seat pitch, thanks to slim line seating, a complimentary bottle of water was in the seat pocket on boarding. There was WiFi screening of entertainment via an app, which worked. There are no individual tv screens in the seat backs in this particular aircraft. Food was identical to the offerings you'd expect on BA, AA or UA, basic but ok. All beverages were chargeable, except tea/ coffee with meal. The return from New York was a Thomas Cook aircraft which had individual tv screens in the seat backs. On boarding water bottle, pillow and blanket were placed on seat. Leg room was excellent. On take off and cheese and tomato sandwich, followed by a drinks service were provided. Then crew dimmed the lights for three hours allowing passengers to attempt to sleep. An hour and half prior to landing in Manchester a hot breakfast of scrambled eggs etc was served. On both flights departed and arrived on time and had crew who were friendly and professional. The ticket was £400/500 cheaper than the other airlines (VS & UA) who fly the MAN NYC route. Would I recommend? Yes. Have already rebooked for June next year, but in premium economy.

Route: Manchester to New York JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "don't use Insel Air"

Review: Curacao to Bonaire with Insel Air - this is a 15 min flight. My flight was at 7am. I needed to check in before 6am. At check-in they simply told me the flight was now at 9.15am and boarding at 8.45am. No reason, no sorry, nothing. I had to wait 2 hours and was too late for my business meeting. Great thing about CUR-BON is you receive your return ticket at departure check-in. This means you can usually walk in 15 min before flying and you're still in time. This usually works great, but I received a call from Insel Air at 6.40pm when just starting with my main course at my business dinner. Your flight is leaving 1h15m earlier. I had to be in at 7.30pm instead of 9pm. Hurried my dinner and business meeting, turned in my car and was in at 7.29pm. This was stupid of me of course because Insel Air never do what they say. I flew at 9.20pm (5 min later than my normal flight). Meaning I hurried for nothing and lost a total of 5 hours of business in Bonaire on a round flight of only 30 min. I really hate this airline and don't understand that they can do this everytime. They cancel flights like it's nothing just to fill up 1 plane. If there is another alternative please use it and don't use Insel Air.

Route: CUR to BON

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: GoAir

Title: "never fly this airline again"

Review: Hyderabad to Guwahati via Kolkatta. Goair cancelled the flight just one week before the scheduled departure date. They didn't have any alternative flights on day day, previous day or next day. I had booked the flight 5 months in advance at a cheaper rate, now I had to take a refund, and book a new Indigo flight at the current flight rate which was more than double. Goair customer care is very pathetic, I called on their no, they played the waiting tone, no one received the phone for 8 minutes, after which the call for disconnected automatically. It happened for the second time, no one answered the call for 7 minutes, and then the call got disconnected. The call got connected only in third attempt, after a waiting of 5 minutes. I had already wasted 20 minutes of my time before I could get their executive on call. Then also in the middle of the conversation, the executive i think just kept the phone on side, I was not hearing anything from the other end, and I had to disconnect the call. After this pathetic experience, I have decided that I will never fly with this unprofessional airline again.

Route: Hyderabad to Guwahati via Kolkatta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Nostrum

Title: "did not speak Scandinavian language"

Review: Our direct SAS flight (to be operated by Cimber) from Vilnius to Copenhagen had been cancelled, so SAS re-routed us through Stockholm. The airlines between Vilnius and Stockholm turned out to be Air Nostrum. Seat pitch was the same as with SAS. Cabin staff did not speak any Scandinavian language nor Lithuanian, so announcements, including security instructions, were carried out in Spanish and English, and my wife and I didn't understand. Onboard we wanted to purchase some items, such as sparkling water and a sandwich. The purser then told that none of the goods from the menu card could be purchased. I thought that it was an SAS flight operated by another airline, and I actually expected SAS service. However, the only reaction to this was that they couldn't do anything, because this was Air Nostrum. I then argued that it said SAS on the ticket, and even the SAS logo was painted on the tail wing, but also this didn't seem to bother the purser at all. She said that all food/beverage services were only for business class. When my wife made it clear that if she actually did get sick during the flight, the cabin staff would have a problem, the purser got my wife sparkling water.

Route: VNO to CPH via ARN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "The worst flying experience"

Review: Worst airline ever flown I had booked a flight from Marseilles to Vienna with a stop at Düsseldorf. The first flight was almost an hour late, so I missed my connection. At Düsseldorf, I was given a new ticket for the flight to Vienna and told to report my check-in luggage missing. Now, four days later, I have still not heard anything from my luggage, despite having reported it immediately. There is zero customer service. Nobody will help you to locate your missing luggage. The worst flying experience I have ever had.

Route: Marseilles to Vienna via Düsseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "always pretty punctual and very good value for money"

Review: We travel with Thomas Cook most winters on long haul holidays, I find them a pretty good airline, long flights especially overnight are never the best but the crews are always helpful and attentive. We have had to use special assistance before when my partner had to travel to and from Barbados with a leg in cast - spot on, gave us extra leg room seats and looked after him well. The James Martin meals are always spot on too although inbound from USA and Cape Town you don't get the James Martin meals and can tell. The inflight entertainment is dire these days though unless you pay extra which we refuse to do and make do with a good book. Basically you get two adults films in economy and two kids films and they are the same ones out and in bound. We just came back from Cape Town which is 12 hours each way so 2 films for 24 hours of flying! Would happily fly with them again though overall, always pretty punctual and very good value for money when you compare ticket prices to other airlines.

Route: London Gatwick to Cape Town

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "aircraft's are clean and modern"

Review: Flew Singapore to Bangkok. I've used Tigerair many times during the last few years and never had a problem with anything. They are nearly always on time, the crew work hard and are polite. The aircraft's are clean and modern. Check-in staff are very efficient, much better than Emirates or Monarch. Very good airline.

Route: SIN to BKK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "Sensitivity training. Invest in it"

Review: I am usually not one to take the time to complete reviews or even the one to care about leaving a review. However this time I felt compelled. I was recently a passenger on a flight from Charlotte to New Bern, North Carolina. It had been a weekend. I was boarding the plane. With two bags strategically positioned but still somewhat awkwardly, on my person making my way to my seat. I was wearing new platform sneakers I treated myself to. It had been a year. I think we can all relate. The person in front of me stopped in his tracks to snatch up a spot to place his item in the overhead bin. So I had to stop mid step and took a step back. Of course, this happened to be right in front of someone of your staff sitting in one of the rows. He looked at me and said too much to drink? I felt instantly embarrassed. Because he wasnt quiet and discreet. No sir I said. but thank you. What I wanted to say was, I did have a glass of wine prior to boarding. But thank you for assuming that I was drunk. Not that Ive spent a last minute whirlwind weekend with my family in Massachusetts, after 14 months of not seeing them due to Covid. Not seeing my father with kidney failure for fear of bringing the pandemic to his door step, as I am a primary care nurse practitioner. It wasnt the weight of a weekend spent desperately making up for lost time and salvaging moments. Not being exhausted staying up with him because he was too afraid to asleep. You dont know me. I dont know you. In a world that is already struggling. Be kind. Do not assume the worst. As much as anyone, I know the importance of safety. Ask if I am ok. Or say nothing at all. When I really wanted to answer with, if only it was that simple. I am not sure what your company has identified as core values, but where I work, these interactions would be unacceptable. Sensitivity training. Invest in it.

Route: Chartlotte to New Bern

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "professional and empathetic"

Review: Our flight out of Milwaukee was delayed causing us to miss our connection at Nashville for Panama City Beach! I was traveling with my 92 yr old Mother and it was extremely late at night after a long day. Every single one of the Southwest employees we interacted with was professional and empathetic, and did everything they could to help get us rerouted to a flight the next day, hotel and shuttle in Nashville. They compensated us very nicely for the inconvenience. the next day our luggage was not routed on to PCB the way it would have been. The luggage manager, Josie, at PCB went above and beyond to help get it back for us as soon as possible! She was fantastic!

Route: Milwaukee to Panama City Beach via Nashville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "staff friendly but unobtrusive"

Review: Excellent flights both ways with Adria Airways from Manchester to Ljubljana. Staff friendly but unobtrusive. Leg room far better than most economy flights, seats comfy and plenty of storage space. Flights on time, quick and efficient boarding and disembarking, smooth take offs and landings. All in all a very pleasant experience.

Route: Manchester to Ljubljana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "absolutely shameful and disgraceful"

Review: I'll start by saying I really want to like Copa. The staff is really friendly at airports and on board, and they have a wonderful new terminal at PTY now operational. Unfortunately Copa has a unique ability to fail to think through their processes related to the new terminal and completely ruin the passenger experience as a result. They've completely snatched defeat from the jaws of victory, and my experience which I'll relay here is nothing short of Orwellian and bizarre. Having had several subpar experiences at the old terminal (T1), I was really looking forward to using the new terminal (T2) on this trip PTY-MDE-PTY. The outbound flight from PTY was a wonderful opportunity to experience it - the terminal is spacious, clean, modern and efficient - everything that the old terminal isn't. Everything worked well from check in to security, passport control and boarding and I was impressed. All Copa flights depart from the new terminal and everything functioned well. I should've cautioned my enthusiasm after my departure experience as I had no idea what awaited me on my return. On the MDE-PTY return for some odd reason that nobody could explain the Copa arrivals came into the old terminal, which struck me as odd. Why would you build a beautiful new terminal and not use it for all of your flights. Be that as it may, the flight arrived at the old terminal, and I went down to passport control and got through quickly but when I wound up in baggage claim to collect my bag I was astounded to hear that the Copa bags are all delivered to the new terminal. So there I was through passport control and in baggage claim and learned I was in the wrong place. I had to exit baggage claim, make my way to the new terminal via a severely under air-conditioned bus or walk in 30 degree heat and rain. I finally got to T2 but because the baggage claim area is secure, it was not possible to freely enter to collect my bag. Airport personnel insisted I solicit help from Copa to get me inside to get my bag. I spoke with about 6 different Copa employees and spent approximately 30 minutes gaining access. The Copa employees were helpful but not terribly sympathetic. They told me it was totally my fault (blame the customer) that I didn't know the bags were to be delivered and collected at T2 despite a T1 arrival. In my defense I heard no announcement on board, was sent no notification via email or text, was told nothing about this when I checked in for the flight, was given no piece of paper that explained this in Spanish or English, there were no Copa employees who met the plane at the old terminal to advise us to stay airside to go to T2 to collect our bags, and nobody in passport control or baggage claim to explain, no screens advising. In short there was no communication on behalf of the airline to assist passengers. Logically any passenger who arrives in one terminal would expect their bag to arrive in the same terminal. This logic was completely lost on all airport and airline personnel as I tried to collect my bag. I simply cannot understand nor accept that the airline and airport are not at fault by choosing to build a new terminal then not use it, force passengers to walk 1 km in the heat to collect their bags at another terminal and then implementing a scheme that provides zero information about this to passengers at any stage in the process. It's absolutely shameful and disgraceful in every possible way.

Route: Panama to Medellín

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "Think twice before you book"

Review: I had purchased my air ticket on Jet Airways flight 9W610 from Kolkata to Mumbai for 15/12/2018 more than six months ago so that I can catch an international flight from Mumbai at 11:45PM on the same day. The Jet Airways flight was originally scheduled to depart Kolkata at 6PM and arrive Mumbai at 9PM. On 12 December morning, I received a text message from Jet Airways that the flight 9W610 has been rescheduled due to operational reasons to leave Kolkata at 7:45PM and arrive Mumbai at 10:40PM. As with the rescheduling it was impossible to catch the international flight at 11:45PM, I approached Jet Airways to change my booking to an earlier flight. They made me to pay not only the fare difference, but also the cancellation charge. They told me it is Jet Airways policy to make the customer responsible if the flight is delayed by less than two hours even if the reason of the delay is on their part (in this case it was Operational Reasons). Later on, I came to know recently Jet Airways is in financial trouble. So, it may be an innovative business model on their part to generate extra money by rescheduling flights by just less than two hours so that they can squeeze extra money from some passengers. If couple of passengers per flight change their bookings, Jet Airways can pay their staff. Think twice before you book your next Jet Airways flight.

Route: Kolkata to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: fastjet

Title: "Terrible experience"

Review: I recently flew on fastjet from Johannesburg to Harare. The flight was delayed by almost an hour due to technical issues on the aircraft. They made us wait for almost one hour in the bus while they fixed the aircraft. I did not feel safe at all while flying and I was extremely disappointed. While up in the air the aircraft was making a really strange squeaky noise which was very unsettling considering that the aircraft had some sort of technical issues. Terrible experience overall, would not recommend at all.

Route: Johannesburg to Harare

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "they gave me cash points"

Review: I had a flight cancelled during the pandemic and requested a refund and they gave me cash points instead. Now I have been informed they are no longer doing long haul flight. which now makes my cash points useless due to living in the US. Now they refuse to give refunds saying that I agreed when I was given the cash points I gave up the right to a refund. The fact is they turned my requested refund to cash points without my approval. Now I know why, they never intended for any of the US flights to be refunded based on what I am reading on other reviews.

Route: London to Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "service provided is very bad"

Review: Never buy tickets with long haul flights being operated by a partner airlines. I was flying to Munich to Hyderabad via Abu Dhabi, the Munich to Abu Dhabi flight operated by Air Berlin. The service provided by Etihad is very bad if you book with their partner airlines. Etihad does not even care, very rude service. Any question asked to Etihad representatives is met by a rude answer 'ask Air Berlin'. I would have if the Air Berlin counters were present at the transfer desk.

Route: MUC to AUH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Croatia Airlines

Title: "not happy"

Review: Not happy. Have just paid 75 for excess baggage. I believe the costs are too high in comparison to BA and many other credible airline companies. Croatia Airlines failed to offer a possibility of paying excess baggage online and reduce the costs, did not offer a possibility of upgrading into a higher flying class to avoid the charges. Additionally, they do not offer online check in and they could only issue me two boarding passes while I have to get the last one in Vienna to London, even though they're aware that there is a very limited amount of time between the two flights. I'll do my best to avoid Croatia Airlines in future.

Route: Split to London via Zagreb, Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: Cubana Airlines customer review

Review: We booked this flight because it was the only direct flight from Cancun to Havana, the flight should take about 1 hour. When we arrived at the airport the staff at the incheck-counter said we would have an delay of 5 hours because they overbooked the airplane and they need to fly in an other plane from Cuba (via Mexico City). Finally we departed 7.5 hours later, the only service they provided was a food voucher of 10$. So for us, never again!

Route: Cancun to Havana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "not willing to help

Review:

Sao Paulo to Hong Kong via Johannesburg. I had a okay flight from São Paulo to Johannesburg even tho the food experience was not good at all. My flight from Johannesburg to Hong Kong was canceled after we waited 3 hours inside of the plane for technical problems fixing. Apparently the aircraft had less then 50% air pressure and it was insufficient to a flight over 12 hours. We had to wait inside of the airplane for 3 hours (without airconditioning) just so they end up telling us that the flight is cancelled and we would flight the next day. They provided hotel but my flight was over 24 hours after. They could have changed aircraft or being nicer to costumers that were in the delayed flight. Instead I had to keep calling them for information about when I would flight and got very rude attitude from the staff (I wanted to upgrade my flight from economy to business due to being 6 months pregnant). They were not willing to help and were very inefficient even tho I was paying for the upgrade. The last problem was that I had a connecting flight in HK and they said they were unable to check my luggage straight to the final destination so I would have to check out in HK get my luggage and check in again with the spare time of 1 hours between flights.

Route: Sao Paulo to Hong Kong via Johannesburg

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "went wrong with taking luggage"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore. The flight turns out perfectly and it went wrong with taking luggage at belt 17, frame and wheels slightly spoilt mean like it was a part of quotation letter or statutory declaration letter to submit in order to claim the bag from Jetstar.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Germania Airline

Title: "service was quite good"

Review: Tel Aviv to Hamburg with Germania. For a low cost, no frills airline service was quite good. Standard seats, reasonably comfortable, aircraft looked new. In flight entertainment limited to 1 movie, and you have to pay for earphones or bring your own - my standard earphones were not compatible with the system. Same movie inbound and outbound, from overhead screens. A so-called meal was served, which was a vegetarian pasta dish overloaded with basil - not a real substitute for lunch - but soft drinks were continuously offered. Overall, a pleasant flight. They have a 6kg weight limit for carry-on baggage, which wasn't checked outbound from TLV, but was checked at Hamburg, where only one check-in counter was operating. Seats do not recline.

Route: TLV to HAM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: GoAir

Title: "not providing full refund"

Review: Me and my husband booked air ticket from Sharjah to Kannur and flight got cancelled. The airline is not providing full refund instead deducting around 300 AED For their fault.

Route: Sharjah to Kannur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "asked for compensation for damages goods"

Review: My bag disappeared from their internal tracking system while under their control. It was found over a week later after I called about 20 times and still took multiple days to return to me. I had to buy several articles of clothing during this time. Every attempt I have made to receive compensation for this has been extremely inconvenient. First their website wouldnt work for filling claims. Then I got hung up on twice trying to do it on the phone after having to go through a long phone tree and being transferred to an appropriate person. A couple times the phone tree got stuck in a loop where whatever I hit would be ignored and the menu would just repeat. Then after I filled a claim they canceled it because it had not been 21 days since my baggage was lost. This was not marked on their website. Then when I filed again they canceled that because I asked for compensation for damages goods in addition to purchases, saying they arent responsible for the damage because they werent the airline that they hired to send me my stuff after I changed locations. They never addressed the purchases I made while they still had my bag. Their system is unresponsive, and frustrating. It took weeks to get any reply.

Route: Amsterdam to Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "one of the worst I have seen"

Review: Osaka to Shanghai. They canceled our flight two times, without provide any accommodation or food. Last time they just gave us the chance of refund money, and the worst thing is the money will be in two months! Finally we had to buy tickets two times more expensive in another company, plus 5 days lost on our holiday. Customer service is one of the worst I have seen.

Route: Osaka to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "a very dishonest company"

Review: I had a ticket for this flight to fly to Dubai to join a cruise so it was imperative that I fly in time for the cruise departure. On checking their web site I noticed the flight was no longer listed. I then called their office in Istanbul and they informed me the flight was cancelled. I then sent an email to flydubai in Dubai and they assured me that my flight will depart on that date. I explained to them that I must depart on that particular date because of the cruise. They again assured me the flight will depart, A week before departure I received a message the flight was cancelled and after some correspondence they agreed to give me a refund. Well that was a year ago and I am still waiting for that refund. I have written to them on a number of occasions and every time I am told they are working on my refund. flydubai is nothing but a bunch of thieves and liars, a very dishonest company. How is it possible for airline like this to get accreditation with IATA?

Route: Istanbul to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "avoid Manila and this airline"

Review: What a horrendous experience! But the worse parts: - transit service in Manila. Booked all my legs on the Philipines Airlines website. On arrival in Manila was put on a bus for 20 minutes waiting and then when we got to international terminal told to run. As going through the terminal told to run to gate - then get there and told not boarding yet! Compulsory masks as they claim for health purposes, but then they allocated seats in one block of an empty plane! Surely for health reasons would be better to spread us out!! Avoid Manila and this airline at all cost!

Route: Cebu to Phnom Penh via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "200 riyals as fine for the baggage"

Review: I was flying from Hyderabad to Bahrain via Sharjah, while I was transit to Bahrain at Sharjah airport the ground staff of weighed hand bag & laptop was carrying on cabin then demanded to pay 200 riyals as fine for the baggage. I had no chance to debate with them because of their horrible attitude towards passengers. I suggest you don't waste your valuable time & money by flying with Air Arabia for their worst hospitality & cheap flight tickets.

Route: Hyderabad to Bahrain via Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "there is no free water served"

Review: Purchased internet on the flight. Connection is slow and unstable. There is no way for you to reconnect back once you disconnected from the WIFI. The price of USD15 for 80Mb means you check up email and finish all the 80Mb data in 5 minutes. For an 11-hour flight from Singapore to Athens there is no free water served. The concept of customer service is non-existent. Will not fly with Scoot again.

Route: Athens to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: FMI Air

Title: "it's worth the extra money"

Review: Yangon to Mandalay. I have flown FMI Air four times now. They provide one of the best customer experiences of any airline I have flown. Staff is professional and friendly. Lounges are well-equipped and comfortable. Aircraft are clean. In the often confusing and cattle-herding feel of domestic Myanmar flight, FMI stands out for the comparative serenity of the experience. Flights are roughly $10-20USD/leg more than competitors. When you factor in lounge comfort and beverages, good internet, and the relaxed feel at both departure and arrival, it's worth the extra money.

Route: Yangon to Mandalay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: Vietnam Airlines customer review

Review: Hanoi to Bangkok. The airline just rescheduled my round trip flight and only sent me email a day before departure. Due this I need reschedule my trip as I traveling with pet. They cut the luggage for check in bag which I did not see during online reservation. They didn't give food on board only a bottle of water. Terrible service to me by check in staff.

Route: Hanoi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "I dont recommend this airline"

Review: The worst airline i booked with ever, it is not comfortable and I booked flight from Delhi-Sharjah-Amman. Delay happened in Delhi but i arrived Sharjah 15 min before departure of Amman flight and it is same airline so they should wait for 10 min. Instead, Air Arabia employee took my ticket and change my flight to another flight after 6 hours and gave lunch and Breakfast vouchers which means nothing for me. I dont recommend this airline to anyone.

Route: Delhi to Amman via Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "my ticket was changed multiple time"

Review: Dubai to Johannesburg with Rwandair. I had the longest flight ever, my ticket was changed multiple times, the ticket itself did not say we stopped in Lushaka as well. My luggage was lost with presents in for my family and have not heard anything about retrieval.

Route: Dubai to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "no concern for customer convenience"

Review: I had a booking from Muscat to Cairo via Bahrain. My flight from Muscat was scheduled to arrive at 4.35 pm in Bahrain, and the Bahrain to Cairo leg departs at 5.15 pm. About 48 hours before the travel time, I received a message from Gulf Air informing of the cancellation of the Bahrain to Cairo flight. I was re-booked on an earlier flight that same morning leaving Bahrain at 10.15 a.m, with no change in my Muscat to Bahrain flight. The Gulf Air call center offered to book me on another day, but that was not an option for me. They informed me a refund of my ticket requires 90 working days to process. I had no other choice but to re-book myself with another airline out of Muscat. I checked the status of previous 5.15 pm Gulf Air flights to Cairo, and the majority of these flights were cancelled. It seems Gulf Air sells tickets for flights they do not intend to operate unless fully booked, with no concern for customer convenience. I feel that instead of receiving the service I purchased from Gulf Air, I ended up providing the company with a 3-month interest-free loan equivalent to the value of the ticket I purchased.

Route: Muscat to Cairo via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "don't let you travel with hand luggage for free."

Review: This the worst airline ever. They don't care about passengers at all, flights delayed so much and you are not given right information. They don't let you travel with hand luggage for free. Please do not book with them, otherwise you will regret

Route: Tenerife to Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "Be very wary of this Airline"

Review: I cannot believe this Airline is doing business legitimately. We had a return flight booked through United Airlines from Ft Lauderdale, FL to Tampa, FL in the afternoon. United apparently partners with Silver Airways. We were never sent a link or reminder to "Check In", so we had no way to do a mobile check-in. We called Silver Airlines and the Rep said "we can't tell you if it's going to leave or not" We then looked at the United App, it said "Delayed". The departure time now showed 4.5 hours later. We called United and the Agent said the flight WAS LEAVING AS SCHEDULED and didn't know why the SA Agent would tell us otherwise. But interestingly, United's App did show delayed. So then there's that. We called Silver Airways 3 times over the next few hours and they kept telling us they didn't know if the flight would leave or not but that we should just show up at the airport anyway. To quote her "just come to the airport and you'll be good to go. We don't know if the plane will leave or not. Sometimes they need to do an oil change." This is where I lost my head. Amongst other choice words, I told her I could rent a car and drive to my destination in 3.5 hours. I wasn't going to make a trip to the airport and wait for a flight that "may or may not happen". I need to know now if the flight is on schedule so that I can make alternative plans. How can you tell your passengers you don't know if their flight will leave or not? She put me on hold to speak to her supervisor, then returned and said, yes the flight would leave on time. This caused us 6 hours of confusion and angst. It ruined our plans for the day in Miami, since we didn't know if or how we would leave. In all of my years, I've had delays, cancellations, interruptions...yes, even oil changes....but I've never been told maybe it will go and maybe it won't. I'll just have to wait and see? I suspect something else was going on here, but I'm not sure what or why they would string passengers on like that. Be very wary of this Airline. If United or Delta try to book you on it as a partner airline, I suggest you politely decline.

Route: Tampa to Ft Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "Unfriendly personnel"

Review: Unfriendly personnel on the boarding gate, my bag was randomly selected to take to luggage while it was the supposed regulations: of course nothing to prove it or fit it into, and was just taken out by flight assistant who threatened to not let you board the first chance she got when trying to argue.

Route: Vienna to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "the cabin crew were very attentive"

Review: Flew on GA-407 Denpasar to Jakarta. I was met at the departure gate curb side by Garuda Premier Class representative Qulan and he help and assisted me to check-in and then through security and on to the Garuda Lounge.

The lounge although small was clean and had sufficient snack and drinks available the team in the lounge were very helpful. When it came time for boarding Qulan escorted me through security and on to the plane. The flight was full as it was a long holiday weekend, however the cabin crew offered food and drinks, which we tasty and the cabin crew were very attentive especially Yanti and Vitara. Upon arrival in Jakarta, I was met at the gate by Vianda from the Garuda Premier Team and escorted to the baggage area. Thank you Vianda I really appreciate your help and assistance.

Route: Denpasar, Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "no compensation would be given"

Review: Arrived in Abu Dhabi to discover a wheel missing on my, otherwise undamaged, suitcase. Raised complaint. Then had to fill in online feedback form and submit documents. After several weeks was asked for proof of purchase (Which I had already provided). Had to resubmit all previous documents as well as the receipt. Then told that no compensation would be given for baggage over 5 years old. So, if your bag is more than 5 years old they can smash a wheel off it and deny liability. Rubbish customer care (although they were grateful for giving them the opportunity to review my case. They look forward to welcoming me back on board - I think not. Now I have to buy a new suitcase at my own expense. The flight wasn't great either. Cramped. Lousy food.

Route: London to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "twice my flight was delayed"

Review: I tried flying to England from Newark twice, and twice my flight was delayed. The first time my flight was canceled after 7 hours of prevaricating. I am still waiting to see what will become of my second flight, but I am not hopeful as boarding has been delayed 4 times and circumstances are repeating themselves with an almost eerie accuracy.

Route: Newark to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "I will not fly with them anymore"

Review: Awful service. They didnt give me any seat when I was doing the check in. I arrived to the airport 3 hours before the flight, I didnt have any luggage and they told me to go to the main door and they will give me the seat. My surprise was when I arrived there and they told me to wait until the end for them to give me a seat. Very rude staff. I will not fly with them anymore and I will not recommend anyone doing that.

Route: Madrid to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "such poor customer service"

Review: The worst airline service that I have never flown on. Their hidden fees are ridiculous. We were charged 104 per bag whether we chose to carry the bag on or check the bag. We still had to pay 104 dollars per bag. So we elected to check our bags and our childrens car seats. I was irritated that I was charged 104 per bag but at this point we had no option as it was approaching boarding time. Then we were in line to board our flight (no announcements made at any point that boarding had begun) boarding tickets in hand, when the woman in front of us for whatever reason boarding ticket wouldnt scan. The woman working for Frontier and scanning boarding tickets then proceeds to close the door to the ramp to board the plane. She then proceeds to tell the woman in front of us and us that we would not be allowed on the plane because we did not arrive prior to their 15 minute boarding warning. Mind you we were in line with everyone else and the door to the ramp was still open. We had zero control over how quick or slow the line moved. She then tells us that the plane is full and our seats are no longer available. That we would need to rebook. I have called their supposed customer service line which doesnt even connect you to a Frontier agent. They have an option to file a complaint online, which I did, and I received an automated response that it could be up to 7 days before I receive a response. The staff were extremely rude. They did not care that I had a 3, 6, and 12 year old with me. That we had no luggage or car seats. They dismissed us like we were trash and they could have cared less. Never in my life have I ever experienced such poor customer service and overall service in general. I will never fly Frontier or recommend them to anyone. We ended up having to rent a car and drive almost 10 hours home. We purchased 5 airline tickets and never flew, paid 312 dollars in luggage fees, and 300 plus for the rental car and car seat rentals.

Route: Philadelphia to Charlotte

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Corsica

Title: "Excellent all round"

Review: Stansted to Ajaccio. Excellent all round. On time, drink and a snack served, no hassle to board or have onboard bags. Seats were comfy for a 2 hour flight - fare reasonable. Would recommend.

Route: Stansted to Ajaccio

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "liked the quality of the seat"

Review: São Paulo to Lisboa via Madrid. I liked the quality of the seat. Very good, very polite stewards. The food was not good on the way back but on the way it was good. Yes the very attentive ground staff (check-in). I recommend

Route: São Paulo to Lisboa via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "only be getting a travel voucher"

Review: I had booked the flight to and from Nassau in November for travel for March 15 to 22. The government advised people of not travelling outside of Canada on March 13. Around this time airlines began to revise their refund policy. I had completed a online form for Sunwing at their request due to a high call volume when the government made a stronger advisory about not going outside of Canada. The form was notice of cancellation. When I contacted Sunwing after 2 days of trying to call Sunwing I was advised that I would only be getting a travel voucher for future use because the flight was on the 15 and not the 17th or later. The dates make no sense. I wanted and should have gotten a full refund. Sunwing is temporarily suspends all operations on March 23.

Route: Toronto to Nassau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "Just terrible service unfortunately"

Review: Terrible. They lost my husbands luggage and have not even bothered to update our location address. We email - they do not reply. We call - they either change up after waiting 1-2 hours on hold, or, they say that its the wrong number. We have been given 15 different numbers, no one helps. Over 500 pieces of luggage lost and sitting there at Naples airport, but ITA Airways were chilling and laughing behind the counter. They also said if they find it they have to open it to confirm its ours - what century do we live in? We have our tags on there, they have the flight codes and stickers on there. Lies. How terrible! They also did not allow us to sit together. They were running almost 2 hours late with departure due to lack of time to put luggage on board. I saw my husbands baggage on the floor outside and when speaking to a staff member, they laughed and said dont worry it will come on board. Clearly not. Just terrible service unfortunately.

Route: Venice to Naples via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "worst flying experience"

Review: Prague to Moscow. One month ago I had the worst flying experience. It all became during the flight organization and check-in and continued onboard. Even though it was not the first time I used this carrier, but that time they exceeded all expectations. The personnel on board was rude and ignorant. When people were inquiring on either coffee they were serving was ground coffee or instant one, one of those stewardesses just answered in a way just leave me alone and the coffee is not for free. My previous trip I had with the company I had been sat by the emergency exit that is usually could be considered as an advantage, that time caused me lots of trouble and the chairs were even less comfortable than I could imagine. Just after that flight I carried over to Aeroflot and it was totally remarkable difference. Also, it took a while to get our luggage from a plane. I do not recommend anybody to use that company.

Route: Prague to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "charged extra for cabin bag"

Review: Eindhoven to Vienna. Was charged extra for cabin bag. It fit all the usual requirements (dimensions, weight) but the staff at the gate insisted that 1 small bag is something smaller. Rather than missing my flight I just paid the extra. Than my cabin bag was to be put in the storage so I only had what could fit in my hands with me. Quite a way to end a holiday. Never flying Laudamotion again.

Route: Eindhoven to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "Do not recommend to anyone"

Review: The worst airline experience ever. I will never fly with them again. 2 hours of delay on first flights, as there was no engineer available to sign the approval for landing, very uncomfortable seats, they ran out of toilet paper in both flights, in the first they didn't have even tissues, you need to pay for everything, even for a glass of water. This is egregious as airport security usually don't allow water to be carried on-board on many international flights. They don't offer anything for free and even the options for purchase are very limited and expensive. Cup noodles to eat, and water, coffee, tea, Milo (with hot water) and two options of warm soda. One bag of tea is AU$4. As it was a night flight and it got very cold, I asked for a blanket and had to pay AU$9 for a piece of flannel. Needless to say that there was no entertainment system available. The absolute worst. Do not recommend to anyone.

Route: Brisbane to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "In general a good airline"

Review: In general a good airline and I often use them. What upset me is the fact, that if I reserve a seat during booking and pay for it, the fee for the seat reservation may be higher during check-in and I have to pay an uplift fee for it. And an additional input to increase the corporate identity could be to provide the cabin crew unique masks. Today, everybody wears their individual mask.

Route: Zürich to Düsseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "usual no-frills flight"

Review: Flight left only 40 mins late - on time by Lion's standards. It was the usual no-frills flight with no food, drinks or entertainment, except for one annoyance. Despite checking in early, I was given a seat in the very last row right by the toilet which was stinking of urine as many passengers didn't know how to flush it! On the first leg stewardess kindly offered that I could move elsewhere, but on the 2nd leg from Makassar they insisted the plane was full and I had to stay there, when in fact later I found entire rows of seats empty at the front.

Route: Jayapura to Jakarta via Makassar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "we lost a day of our Easter break"

Review: After we had checked in, given up our bag and gone through security we received a text from Jetstar: Flight cancelled due to engineering reasons. Better safe than sorry, I get it. But it was the Easter long weekend there were no other flights available until the next day. It took us an hour to get our bag back, and we lost a day of our Easter break. On the following day the automatic check-in was quick and easy. Service from the ground and cabin staff was good. The plane operated 40 mins late. It would have been sensible to leave passengers in the public area of the main terminal for that time, so they could get food and go to the toilet. But Jetstar called us all down to the already crowded departure area, to spend the time milling about and trying to work out if there was a queue. Seats were comfortable if basic. The airline's take-on bag policy was not enforced -- the cabin crew were imploring passengers who had done the right thing to put their bags under the seat in front of them, in order to make room in the overhead racks for the suitcase-size bags that the airline had allowed on board.

Route: Melbourne to Hobart

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Beware of this company"

Review: Flight EJU7628 FNC-LIS was originally scheduled to leave at 22:00 on 02.06.2023 but was considerably delayed until 00:00 on 03.06.2023. The boarding staff at Funchal then informed that the flight had been cancelled. All passengers had already shown their boarding card and identification document. The boarding staff did not give any reason for the cancellation, only that they had just been informed. easyJet did not volunteer to send any messages during this hiatus. Legitimately outraged passengers shouted insults and kicked the easyJet queue separators. easyJet had a crew strike scheduled for 03.06.2023 from 00:00 but claims the "delay" [cancellation], was due to problems with the control tower, which is highly dubious because the TAP, Ryanair and SATA flights landed after the easyJet plane from Lisbon at 23:10 on 02.06.2023, without any disruptions. It was reported that easyJet had been transferring planes from European bases to Portugal with non-Portuguese crew, this combined with the strike in Portugal I believe was the real reason for the cancelation or delay, so the crew exceeded flight times. Despite appearing on the movement panel of Funchal airport as a cancelled flight, having in my possession and that I attach, photo with date and time watermark, besides the visible time on the panel itself, that the flight was cancelled. At this moment, abandoned at Funchal airport, I am forced to rebook a flight to Lisbon as soon as possible, which cost me an extra expense, inherent to easyJet's lack of professionalism, of 312.99 euros. Everything lead me to believe, with no room for doubt, that the flight was cancelled. Only at 01:30 of 03.06.2023, when I had already been forced to reschedule my trip due to easyJet's total lack of diligence, does easyJet send an SMS that the flight was rescheduled for 12:00 of 03.06.2023, 14 hours after the scheduled and original departure of the flight. easyJet did not provide the possibility to accept or refuse the rerouting, they only changed the booking and checked in by myself, without any consent, whether I accepted the new flight, wanted a cash or voucher refund. Under the terms of Articles 6 and 7 of Regulation (EC) No 261/2004, of 11 February 2004, I am entitled to compensation for the 14-hour delay I suffered - if it is not correctly considered that this was an effective cancellation - to the value of at least 250.00 euros plus the expenses incurred with the need to rebook on the nearest flight (312.99 euros), since easyJet had not informed passengers until 1.30 am on 3 June 2023. This makes a minimum total of 562.99, which I will never give up. Beware of this company.

Route: Funchal to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "always lots of helpful staff"

Review: Koh samui to Bangkok. I have flown three times with Bangkok Airways, always lots of helpful staff and every time they serve a good meal with real cutlery. The last time I flew with Bangkok Airways we missed the flight due to traffic but the operators bent over backwards to get on the next flight. I love Bangkok Airways.

Route: Koh samui to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "it was a good flight"

Review: The on-line check-in went fine but it was impossible to change my seat, which should be possible. Contacting the customer service was a very time consuming effort but eventually I could reach them and they could change my seat. The check-in at Brussels was somewhat cumbersome, as the check-in staff was overzealous in checking and double checking Corona requirements. There were about 25 people in line when I arrived but it took a good hour to get checked-in. The boarding went smoothly. The flight was ontime. Also in Helsinki, the boarding went smoothly and was on time. The flight went fine, flight attendants were attentive. The meal was very minimalistic, and I am being polite... the fact that it was served with wooden cutlery did not add to the culinary experience either. Drinks were ok and soft drinks available throughout the whole flight. All in all, it was a good flight, timely without any stress.

Route: Brussels to Bangkok via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "my baggage did not arrive"

Review: I arrived in Athens the 20th of June from Johannesburg / Addis Ababa on Ethiopian Airlines, connecting on Aegean Airlines from Cairo to Athens and my baggage did not arrive with me. When I went to report the loss there was no one at the counter and a person had to be phoned to come. My holiday in Greece is nearly over and my baggage has still not been located after 11 days. The customer care phone line is never answered.

Route: Cairo to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Very small portion of food served"

Review: 1. Very small portion of food served during the flight. 2. Long queue at check-in counter. I waited for 1.5 hours despite of not over crowded. 3. Partnership with several airlines and credit cards are discontinued. 4. Poor customer service to solve the missing mileage due to the termination of partnership airlines

Route: Bangkok to Milan via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAG Airlines

Title: "overall a nice little airline"

Review: Day trip from Guatemala City to see the Mayan temples at Tikal. Closest airport is Flores (which actually is not where the airport is located - it is in Santa Elena a couple miles from Flores) and then an hour drive to Tikal. Check in at the small domestic terminal at GUA at 5:15am for a 6:30am departure. TAG flies from GUA to a few cities in Guatemala, then to Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Belize, and all flights are on smaller prop planes from this little terminal. Check in quick and agents very friendly. You get a plastic boarding pass that is colored based on your destination (like the old Southwest Airlines used to do in the 70s and 80s) and then they call "blue" or "orange" and you board when your color is called. Flight was on a Saab 340A in decent condition and totally full. Nice flight attendant and friendly greetings from the cockpit. Delayed take off with inbound traffic, and a bumpy cloudy 10-15 minutes after take-off but then smoothed out. A drink and snack were served on the 45-minute flight. Quick landing over beautiful Flores (which itself is just a tiny island in lake Peten Itza) and taxi to the terminal. Only carry-on so thru to the exit and off to Tikal. The return was the same (6:30pm departure) except to pay the departure fee of QZ20 (about 3 US dollars) and then go through "international screening security" to the gate. It was a domestic flight so was kinda funny to be told "go thru international screening". Snack bar and air conditioning so that was good. Full flight back with the same crew as we had flying in that morning - again friendly smiles. Take off and landing on time. Overall a nice little airline but expensive ($250 roundtrip for a 45 minute flight) but beats a 9-hour one way bus ride.

Route: GUA to FRS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "wouldn't allow a refund"

Review: They scammed me out of my airline ticket, lost over 1k. They marketed my flight as direct on google and on their website, then they delay the flight 30 minutes. I filed asking for a refund given they changed my flight itinerary and were not honest. Took my ticket and wouldn't allow a refund.

Route: Toronto to San Jose

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "very bad to no customer service"

Review: Before our flight on Sept. 21, 2021 we checked in online, and since we were Transit passengers in Reykjavik, we did not pre-register, because as per Icelandair E-mail of Sept. 18, 2021 to us: "If you are on a transiting flight via Iceland, without leaving the airport in Keflavik, you do not need to pre-register". Both of were also fully vaccinated and had negative Covid-19 test results. When we arrived at the Portland airport for check-in, a representative of Icelandair stopped and prevented us to even get to the check-in counter because he demanded a pre-registration Code from us. Even though we showed him that according to the E-mail from Icelandair, we did not need to pre-register, he still refused to let us go to the check-in counter and would not help us in any way. Had it not been for a Portland airport employee who helped us with entering detailed information in our Smartphones, we would have missed our flights. This procedure took over one hour and left us terribly frustrated at the beginning of our international flight. Based on this as well as our in-flight and Keflavik airport experiences we can only rate Icelandair as having very bad to no customer service.

Route: Portland to Copenhagen via Rejkjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: Meridiana customer review

Review: I've flown Meridiana a few times now, and have always had a great experience. They're certainly no-frills, but for almost what it costs to fly from New York to LA, I can fly to Naples non-stop and have a free checked bag. Food is good, and airport/in-flight staff are always pleasant. Any kind of online or phone customer service is basically nonexistent, so I only book if I'm sure of where I want to go and am ready to eat the cost if something goes wrong, but with prices this low I won't complain.

Route: JFK to NAP

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "smooth transitions on both ends"

Review: My wife and I flew from Toronto to Ponta Delgada on Mar 22 2017 and the flight and service provided by SATA was nothing but excellent. The flight left on time, food was great. Boarding and retrieving baggage was without a hitch, can't say enough good about this airline. We took a SATA prop plane from Ponta Delgada on March 30 to Funchal, again smooth transitions on both ends. Great experience.

Route: Toronto to Ponta Delgata

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "there was mismanagement all over"

Review: The staff didn't respond to call button even though there were passing by. At Jeddah Airport, there was mismanagement all over, there were no proper queuing system and enough staff to handle the pressure. Airport was in poor condition, toilets were dirty. The flight from Jeddah to LKO was even worse. They even did not provide the pillow and blankets to everyone. Upon arrival on my final destination i got to know that my baggage have mishandled at Jeddah. I am trying to call baggage support but they is no one pick the phone.

Route: Munich to Lucknow via Jeddah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "I wanted to get a refund"

Review: I wanted to get a refund for a flight that I didn't take in January. Informed Air Astana in advance that I won't be able to travel. Asked to transfer my money back to another bank account as the old one was already closed. After three months of slow feedback, collecting all necessary papers by myself, contacting my previous bank in Asia, this company stopped answering my emails. But the strangest thing happened when they transferred my money to Cambodia, though I live in Ukraine. Though they said that "your refund is in process", now they just don't answer at all.

Route: Bangkok to Kyiv via Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malawian Airlines

Title: "now probably the worst in the world"

Review: The flight from LLW to JNB was uneventful, boring, full (no covid spacing), the aircraft was dirty but at least my seat back was locked into position, last time the seat back fell backwards by itself all the time which was very disturbing. When it came time for the return flight we found that the flight had all been cancelled, no reason given, just cancelled. As we are staying in our own apartment its no problem to stay the extra week until the next flight was scheduled so we said no problem. Then the replacement flight got cancelled and another week delay added! All this with no explanation or compensation. What about poor people who have to stay in hotels. Air Malawi was such a good airline in its day, its c, just very poor management.

Route: Lilongwe to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "Upsetting to have to sit next to random people"

Review: Would probably never recommend this airline to anyone. While their staff are nice and did tried to accommodate us, it made absolutely no sense that we are put on two separate seats again. Twice! First time, they were able to change our seats and this time they just say "sorry it's full". We even checked in 23 hours ahead and were unable to grab any seats together. Upsetting to have to sit next to random people.

Route: Tokyo to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "overall a nice flight"

Review: Frankfurt to Windhoek with Air Namibia. Overall a nice flight, friendliness of staff above average. Food / drinks above average. Selection from 3 different meals, quick service, drinks (also with alcohol) before and after the meals.
Age of the aircrafts under 3 years - means almost new. Entertainment system with high-res 10" adjustable screen and some new movies at every seat. Seat legroom average. Newspapers / magazines only for business class.

Route: FRA to WDH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "Rs 4000 for 2kgs extra hand luggage"

Review: Mumbai to Bengaluru. The staff at check in told me about the extra hand luggage, but did not inform me about the exact cost that could be charged during boarding. For check in, they charged me even for 1kg extra. Zero tolerance. At the time of boarding they demanded Rs 4000 for 2kgs extra hand luggage. They said that they would not let me take the flight without paying 4k. Untrained and mannerless staff.

Route: Mumbai to Bengaluru

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "what a disappointment"

Review: First time traveling in Copa and what a disappointment, first they changed the schedule in the departure times from New York to Quito with the difference of 4 hours, of course now two people in the group can't make it and when I tried to change the dates for this people it took me two weeks to be able to change the flights for these passengers. Two weeks calling almost every day with different options for different dates to only find out that my requests were denied by Copa Airlines because it was their convenience not to accept my requests and make this process last as long as possible, to finally said that now it is high season and charged me an extra $1315. What a shame, what a scam.

Route: New York to Quito via Ansonia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "I wont travel with them anymore"

Review: Fly on you own risk. I was on holiday in Catania and today morning woke up at 3:30 and got to the airport on 4 a clock for the flight. Sudden it was a fire on the airport of Catania, luckily nobody was hurt but every flight was cancelled and all the the flight companies where picking up their passenger to accommodate them on the hotels near by or re-route them to the closest airport so they can fly back home, only from Wizz air no one was present. We waited but we just got an sms that the flight was cancelled and you can get refund and that's it. No help from the company, nothing, 200 people left alone in a city with no where to go thanks to Wizz air. I wont travel with them anymore and I suggest no one does and hope they go broke.

Route: Catania to Tirana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "Service attentive"

Review: St Petersburg to Oskemen via Almaty. Clean new cabin, perfect meal each way, especially from Astana. Wide choice of beverages. Even for the day flight they give you trip suite. Good schedule : short connection in Astana on the way back to LED. TV app very useful and its good thing for flights no longer than 5 or 6 hours and cabin not equipped with personal entertainment system. Service attentive. Absolutely recommended.

Route: St Petersburg to Oskemen via Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "rely on the consistent service"

Review: I have to sing my praises for the ground crew at Korean Air as they really bent the rules to get me on this flight. I misjudged the travel time to the airport as ICN is super far from the city and arrived only 25 minutes prior to departure, which should of precluded the staff to allow me onboard my flight (other airlines would usually turn a blind eye). The gentlemen at the counter worked with earnest to process my documents and speedily get me through security. This positive experience continued at the boarding gate where the gate agents greeted me with a warm welcome and forgiveness despite my late arrival possibly causing the flight to be on the brink of delay. The onboard experience was predictable in a good way as I was able to rely on the consistent service that Korean Air offers irrespective of which route or plane I fly - friendly and accommodating flight attendants, good food, mediocre entertainment and time efficiency. I watched a few flicks, requested an onslaught of snacks and beverages and felt gratitude for the generosity in the ground service I received from start to finish while I looked at the dusk of day through my window seat.

Route: Seoul to Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "Staff was very welcoming"

Review: I traveled with Caribbean airlines flying out of Toronto Canada into Trinidad and Tobago. I haven't flown with this airline in about twenty years. I must say I was totally happy with the service they provided. Staff was very welcoming. The pilot was amazing with the way he took off and landed . I was very hesitant about flying with them because of what negative reviews and experiences I heard. Thanks for making my trip a great one to the team and staff at Caribbean airlines.

Route: Toronto to Port of Spain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "service was not bad"

Review: Flight out on Thomson Airways from London to Jamaica was OK despite being delayed on the aircraft for an hour by a passenger who was throwing a strop because he wanted a window seat. Service was not bad, free drink and wine with the usual standard meal. Unfortunately on the way back, despite having paid for a seat, my partner had to move due to the excessively large person sitting next to her taking up most of her seat as well as his own. Airlines really need to address this growing problem, if you are too big to fit in one seat, pay for two.

Route: LGW to MBJ

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "no respect what so ever"

Review: I booked them through Chase Travel Portal. Unfortunately, I missed my initial flight from LAX to Mexico City due to a check in error. I checked in on the Aeromexico app, and received my seats AND the boarding passes. I get to the airport and Aeromexico said I didn't check in and explained that I had seats 11D and 11E, but was unable to pull up the boarding passes on the app because it was too late already. An Aeromexico employee put my girlfriend and I on a standby list and after 8 hours, we were able to get on a flight to Mexico City. Upon speaking with numerous amounts of Aeromexico agents and Chase Travel agents, I was guaranteed a flight back since I did take a standby flight from Aeromexico. I wanted to confirm once I landed whether this was true, and unfortunately, Aeromexico said it wasn't the case and that I would have to buy a whole new ticket. I contacted their customer support and I haven't received anything regarding that. I had to pay $800+ just to get a last minute flight back to LAX. Aeromexico is absolute trash and I saw this with no respect what so ever. I review places on Yelp all the time and I NEVER give a bad review, but Aeromexico wants me to be stranded in Mexico City without giving me a flight back home.

Route: Los Angeles to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "aircraft interior was starting to show its age"

Review: Chiang Mai to Bangkok, flight PG228 onboard an older Airbus A319. Flight was slightly delayed due to the late incoming aircraft. The lounge at Chiang Mai airport was fairly basic (sandwiches, juices, and a popcorn machine!) but definitely set the airline aside from its competitors. The aircraft interior was starting to show its age, seats were wide and spacious yet the appearance was subpar even to low cost carriers such as AirAsia. Flight was approximately at 90% capacity with some empty middle seats. Cabin crew were professional and enthusiastic from boarding to disembarking. A full meal was distributed yet left a lot to be desired. Metal cutlery was provided, definitely a nice touch as some other full service carriers don't provide them. Touched down in Bangkok 5 minutes later than scheduled and ferried by bus back to the terminal. Bags were a little slower to arrive due to the far proximity of the area from where the aircraft was parked upon arrival. Overall, for the price I paid for this flight (40USD), I had an enjoyable experience and I wouldn't hesitate to use them again.

Route: Chiang Mai to Bangkok Suvarnabhumi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUIfly

Title: "it was a good experience"

Review: Amsterdam to Curacao on December 7th with TUI fly Netherlands, operated by a Boeing 787-8. Check-in was quite chaotic at Amsterdam, with multiple TUI departures at the same time and only one staff member trying to sent passengers to the right check-in row (check-in or bag drop-off). Boarding on the other hand was very smooth and efficient. I prebooked Economy comfort (34 inch leg space), seat 12A, which was quite comfortable. The seat was quite narrow though. The seat was equipped with an PTV with a pretty small selection of movies. A free headset and pillow were distributed. After take off the crew came around with a drink service (alcohol was charged), follow by a hot (small) meal with a drink and coffee or tea. During the flight it was possible to order paid snacks or drinks, but there were also two complementary drink rounds. Two hours before landing a sandwich with a slice of cake were handed out, which was really tasteful. The flight itself was uneventful, and the crew was really friendly and professional. Overall, it was a good experience for a typical holiday airline.

Route: Amsterdam to Curaçao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "worst airline I have ever flown"

Review: Lisbon to Toronto via Ponta Delgada. This was the worst airline I have ever flown. It must have low priority as the taxi rides and bus rides to the runways are long and times do not seem to be factored into the flight schedule. All flights were late. There was zero communication from staff. Upon asking we were told different answers by different staff. From the time of booking (four months early) we attempted to be seated together, and then each subsequent time, without success. There is ZERO entertainment on board - not even a screen to monitor the flight progress (and no announcements). The entire crew sat in the back row and chatted for the full 6 hours. At the connection we were kept in a small security room with far too many people for longer than was expected without access to any services. I had been told I could not bring duty free from Lisbon to Ponta Delgada but that I could purchase it there. Upon arrival there I was told the kiosk would open. It did not and we were stuck without any entertainment for the 2++ hour wait and the 6 hour flight. There were many children on board and they were allowed to join their friends and share seats (even when the seatbelt sign was on) Best of all, the dinner "service" was one hour into the flight. They ran out of wine before it completed (not even available to purchase). In Portugal! Mickey Mouse Air.

Route: Lisbon to Toronto via Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "reasonable regional business class"

Review: Shanghai to Hong Kong. A reasonable regional business class offering. Seats are nothing special in a 2x2x2 layout with minimal recline and space, but are sufficient for a short range business class flight. Generally, Cathay Dragon aircraft are old and this was no exception with this particular A330 being 21 years old. Crew were friendly and attentive and food selection was ok. I feel that Cathay Dragon is very middle of the road in terms of what it offers at the front end of the cabin.

Route: Shanghai to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "three hours delay with no assistance"

Review: Mykonos to Rome. Three hours delay with no assistance, no crew, no screen at the gate. The call center is clueless, claiming that the plane is on time when it is in fact already delayed. Don't fly with this company, and if you do, take into account at least 90' dead every trip.

Route: JMK to FCO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "ticket at a very cheap price"

Review: Bought my ticket at a very cheap price. I love flying on this kind of plane. Simple and not much passenger due to limited number of seats. Our flight departed 30 minutes early. It was a flight nothing to write home about but the price was the game changer. Overall it was a good flight considering the situation we are all in.

Route: Legazpit to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Absolutely terrible airline"

Review: Melbourne to Goldcoast. Absolutely terrible airline, don't waste your money flying with them. Delayed flight big time with no time of departure given, due to antiquated planes with mechanical faults. When finally allowed to depart after 3 hrs flight to Goldcoast changed to brisbane, with a 1 hr bus trip to gold coast. Poor lazy staff Never ever ever again Tigerair Not worth the money Virgin or qantas from now on.

Route: Melbourne to Goldcoast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "Wonderful service"

Review: Wonderful service onboard this early morning flight to Lusaka. Really enjoyed spending time in the new Pride Lounge (which is in another league in terms of ambience compared to the Simba Lounge - although I imagine the former could get quite busy), and appreciated the hassle free check-in and immigration process (although the Covid test check outside in the booth is quite strange). The only negative was the chaotic boarding processes, with no Premier World priority and a free for all to get final verification checks completed. Once onboard, treated to fabulous service from the purser who just couldn't do enough - from offering both business class breakfast options due to a quiet Premier World cabin. The warm fresh croissants and coffee were highlights. I bid to upgrade the ticket which cost $210 but it was really worth the splurge to arrive well refreshed for a day at work. Well done KQ.

Route: Nairobi to Lusaka

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "4 times rescheduled"

Review: I booked this flight on August and AirAsia cancelled it so I had to reschedule. Then when finally came the travel time and I arrived at 7am at the Jakarta station, they told me that the flight to Medan has been rescheduled again this morning for 6pm so around 9 hours later. This was already bad because I booked a trip in Medan so I couldn't make it on time. And I didn't even receive any email or notification about rescheduling. Then around 3pm I got another email saying that the flight has been rescheduled for 1am of the next day. 5 min later I got another message saying the flight has been rescheduled for 1:50am. So 4 times rescheduled, together 16 hours of delay. They gave us ridiculously low amount of money as an excuse. When I started to think about a refund and I tried to book another flight at the same day with another company, AirAsia said that I won't get any refund because I rejected it. Which I did not, they told me about the refund and I said that I have to think about it.

Route: Jakarta to Medan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "absolutely unacceptable"

Review: I fly Pegasus for work reasons and do this often, primarily my route is Ankara - Amman (Jordan). This is a night flight PC 1712, which always (!) gets delayed, most often by 1,5 hours. If Pegasus is unable to fly on time why under the Sun they do not change the flight departure time? And if it is always delayed why they would not warn the passengers beforehand? This is absolutely unacceptable. Yes OK Pegasus is a low-coster, but it does not mean they should behave like that.

Route: Ankara to Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Line to bag drop was astronomically long"

Review: Paid for check in luggage, showed up to the airport already checked in with an hour to spare. Line to bag drop was astronomically long, couldnt get an attendants attention. Eventually when I spoke to someone they said bag drop had closed and to go straight to the gate. Was charged an extra 90 euros at the gate to check my luggage. After multiple attempts I did not receive a refund for the original checked luggage payment or the fine at the gate.

Route: Athens to Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Seychelles

Title: "not a good experience"

Review: Not a good experience with Air Seychelles from Durban to Mumbai via Seychelles. Flight to Mumbai cancelled once we landed at Seychelles airport. Staff very unfriendly. stranded overnight. On return, staff had to be called several times to ask for blankets. No choice as to meal as meat was finished. TV screen never worked. Despite sending an online complaint, I still wait for a response. Their service seems to be very bad. No apology for the cancellation of the flight which affected our entire itinerary. I have completed the online survey and send a personal email but no acknowledgement or response. Will never use this airline or recommend it to anyone. I will stick with Emirates despite the longer route

Route: Durban to Mumbai via Seychelles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "no apology or compensation given"

Review: We are flying back to Taiwan and I unfortunately got covid, which resulted in a 300 pound change fee. Just before our next flight my wife got covid and this time we were charged almost 800 pounds. I understand there may be a change fee, but they added the cost of the flight at that time, rather than what we originally paid. The customer service team were neither helpful or sympathetic to our situation. They simply said they could waive the change fee of 75 pounds with a positive PCR test. As we know a PCR fit to fly costs well over 100 pounds. The logic and competence shown was awful. We have now paid over 1,100 extra with no apology or compensation given. Also, as they are only flying once a week, we have had to delay work for two weeks. Never will I fly with this airline again. I would have been fine with paying the flight change fee, but to add an additional cost of 800 pounds is an insult.

Route: Taipei to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Had a delay of more than 9 hours"

Review: Had a delay of more than 9 hours. Completely understandable that weather conditions made this happen. But the irony is that for 5 hours in a row they made delay announcement for 1 hour only. So they kept the entire crew next to the gate. And by 4 o'clock in the morning they offered refreshments to us and told us flight wont happen at a minimum until 8am in the morning.

Route: stanbul to Pristina

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromar

Title: "such bad customer service"

Review: Oaxaca to Mexico City . I have never experienced such bad customer service. People had been in line for over 2 hours. Only 1 desk agent. Instead of calling people up front for the flight that was going to depart he checked in people for the flight after. Then gave us boarding tickets when the plane was already gone. People waited for 2 hours to find out what to do next. This airline is a joke! We got booked on a flight the next morning resulting in a loss of paid hotel in Mexico city. When we arrived the next morning there were again 50 angry people in line waiting for a flight that Aeromar cancelled and didn't tell anyone. When we finally got on the plane multiple people had the same seat number. It was ridiculous and unprofessional.

Route: Oaxaca to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "Not a single goodwill action"

Review: Irkutsk to Moscow on SU1443. They re-scheduled a flight 3h30 later than it was supposed to be. Aeroflot tends to forget that people pay to get on a certain schedule, to arrive at a certain time. In my case, I had further connections to take and I reached the gate on time. Delays happen to every companies. However, Aeroflot did not offer to change the booking as such a delay may cause me to miss connections, and with an expiring visa, being trapped in Russia is the last thing I hope at the end of my holiday. No refreshments at the airport provided by Aeroflot, no information about the updated check-in time. Not a single goodwill action. I won't travel by Aeroflot anymore.

Route: Irkutsk to Moscow svo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "seats that are comically narrow"

Review: The seats that are comically narrow for an average-sized person. I made the mistake of purchasing two round-trip tickets from Orlando to Montréal, hoping for a comfortable flight next to my wife in a two-seat row. Unfortunately, the seats proved to be too small by 2 to 4 inches for most people, and for me, almost six inches. While I am 6 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 280 lbs, I am not excessively large. As soon as the seatbelt sign was turned off, I had to stand for the entire flight until it was back on, as there was no comfort in those seats for either me or my wife. The flight attendants were indifferent to our plight. In particular, one of them kept knocking into my wife whenever she passed by. Although it was probably not intentional, my wife eventually had to change seats to avoid her. Moreover, the crew at the Orlando airport was making overlapping announcements, making it impossible to comprehend their boarding process and group numbers.

Route: Orlando to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "Premium Plus seat was comfortable"

Review: I booked this flight anticipating to fly on United 787-10. However, it was swapped to a 777-200. As it was a retrofitted 777 with proper Premium Plus seats, it was not bad. LAX is certainly not the best airport, as the boarding area was tiny, thus very crowded. The Premium Plus seat was comfortable. We had the first row with huge legroom, more like 55-in rather than the normal 38-in pitch. In-flight meals were fine, and they served a full meal plus a light meal (by choice). That was quite good for a 4.5 hour domestic flight in premium economy. The flight departed on time and arrived early, which was good.

Route: Los Angeles to Newark

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "The worst experience"

Review: The worst experience I have had in my whole life. Customer service is below average, please dont fall for the cheaper price ticket- the luggage bag price is higher than the international checked bag not only higher double than international checked bag. No any update for change of flights schedule had to run to catch a flight at last min. Will never ever recommend to anyone. I wish I had read the reviews before booking.

Route: Vancouver to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "not allow me to use the restroom"

Review: My husband and I paid $2,500 for premium seats to fly from Seattle to Ohio. During the flight, I needed to use the restroom badly. We were seated approximately 2 to 3 rows from first class. Therefore, the first class restroom was much closer than the main cabin restrooms. I was willing to use the main cabin restroom, and I had used the main cabin restroom previously. This one time, though, there was an excessive line. I have a bladder issue, unfortunately, and waiting in line to use the restroom would have been difficult as I was in pain. So, I went to try to use the first class restroom. When I attempted to use the first class restroom, I was met with resistance by the stewardesses in that the stewardesses would not allow me to use the restroom. The flight attendant stood in front of me and stated the bathroom is in the back. I explained to both how I have a bladder issue and I am in need to use the bathroom. They both stated I am not in first class and that I need to go use the bathroom in the back. I explained that there is a long time and I was unable to wait due to my pain. She shrugged her shoulders and stated I was not in first class and I cannot use that bathroom. They had no empathy and put arbitrary rules above a passengers physical well being.

Route: Ohio to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "2 days before the flight they denied the dog"

Review: If anyone ever wants or needs to transport a pet with Iberia airlines dont do it! T I verified the day I booked with them that the dog was good to come back and have multiple emails regarding the dog and 2 days before the flight they denied the dog. They changed the reasoning several times. Different responses each time. So long story short I had to repurchase new tickets to return home. They refused to help me at all. I even got hung up on 2 times once by a supervisor.

Route: Porto to Boston via madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "Customer service isn't there"

Review: The condition of their aircraft is embarrassing. Trim falling out, seats stained and absolutely filthy, cracked windows, the list goes on. If they think these conditions are acceptable even for an ULCC (it's not btw) then I'm worried what corners they cut behind the scenes. Secondly, their staff is terrible. As many have noted before they'll charge you $25 per person to check-in at the airport, no problem for most, but an unfair policy that makes them a good penny I'm sure. I had asked one of the agents at the entry of check-in, where I was to be going if I have already checked-in online, she proceeded to tell me to go in the same line with everyone else to get a tag put on my carry-on. Nice scam to get me a $25 fee. After I refused, she finally pointed to the security entry. But again at the gate while waiting to board another agent walks up to me and asks me to go up to the counter, I asked why for to which she told me for my carry-on, but this time they wanted me to check my bag as the flight is full. I'm sorry? Don't they sell carry-on's as an add-on? Shouldn't they know if they'll have room in the plane? Again another sign of greed, and poor management. The agent very rudely asked to see my boarding pass, as I wanted to keep my carry-on with me, if I wanted to check my baggage then I would've, obviously. I was given my green tag for my carry-on in the end, a useless policy, in which btw on my trip from Calgary to Toronto also on Flair, nobody gave me a green tag for my carry-on, so this was all a surprise for me coming home. I wish it ended there but unfortunately Flair does actually suck as bad as many say. They double booked my seat, how that's possible is beyond me, clearly an actual agent messed up, because I paid for my ticket which included my seat selection May 28th, and flew June 11th I had paid for seat 2F (1st row on the Max-8) but yet sure enough another passenger had seat 2F but instead of it being handled properly I got yelled at and told I wouldn't be flying today if I didn't move, whoever that gate agent was needs to be fired, they mess up and treat the passengers like that? I had my email proof showing I had paid for my seat well before check-in and yet they told me to move back to 14F. I refused to which point the pilot got involved after the flight attendants got him because of the gate agents behavior towards me. Once I showed my proof of purchase showing my name on seat 2F he told the other passenger to please move back to the other seat, which she did because after 10 minutes we all just wanted to get home. Customer service isn't there, cleanliness isn't there, urgency isn't there, do not fly with Flair. It's not worth the pennies you end up saving after you pay for the upgrades. Soon they'll charge you for the seatbelt.

Route: Toronto to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Dont waste your money booking seats"

Review: My sister and I flew from Singapore to Manchester. Although the booking was made through lastminute.com I chose my return seats direct with Etihad. I paid for them and both on row 44 yet when I got on the plane someone was sat in my seats and refused to move. When I looked at my boarding card I'd been given different seats to the ones I'd pre booked. I was very unhappy with this confusion and it would definitely put me off booking with Etihad again. Please see below. What's worse is no one from the airline cares at all that they've stolen my money. No one has replied to the 6 emails I've sent. It's £45 ! I don't care about the money it's just disgusting, arrogant and theft. I flew 7 weeks ago now. I will always look to fly with other airlines from now on. Don't waste your money booking seats.

Route: Singapore to Manchester via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "dissatisfied with my luggage"

Review: Brussels to Seoul via Rome. Staff on board was friendly, basic entertainment. My experience was quite satisfactory. I was very dissatisfied with my luggage. It had severe damage and inside many of my goods were damaged. They wouldn't compensate me for this issue. The customer agent says it needs to be reported after you claimed the damage at the airport itself. I think this will be my last flight with Alitalia.

Route: Brussels to Seoul via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "it was a great journey for me"

Review: It was my first flight journey from Mumbai to Bangalore. Thank you Akasa air teams for smooth check in , enjoyed my first flight. Overall it was a great journey for me.

Route: Mumbai to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "no airline staff were available"

Review: Our ticket was from Beijing to Delhi, flt no MU563 dated 28 April 19. We checked in at Beijing, counter staff couldn't tell us whether flt to Delhi via Shanghai was on the same aircraft or a change at Shanghai was needed. Single Boarding pass was given from Beijing to Delhi with seat nos. My seat no was 38H. Aircraft at Beijing itself was delayed by 2 hours, however, no proper intimation given to passengers. Language was another problem at Beijing airport. On boarding, none of the cabin crew could clarify whether we remain in the same aircraft on landing at Shanghai or deboard and change the aircraft. At Shanghai when aircraft was almost empty, we were asked to deboard without further directions. On arrival at Shanghai terminal, we were at loss for some time as no airline staff were available to direct Delhi passengers. Wheelchair passengers and senior citizens faced special problem. After 30 minutes, seeing large number of people asking about Delhi flight, one airline staff appeared, probably on pressure from airport security. The staff herded us to various counters of immigration and full security checks (again). We had to run at every counter to catch the flight. Things could have been well handled airline by making proper announcements at Beijing airport, in aircraft and at Shanghai airport. China Eastern Airlines should take corrective measures in future.

Route: Beijing to Delhi via Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "without any issues"

Review: East Midlands to Brussels. Flight to and from Brussels without any issues. Check in relatively quick and no queues at airport on way there. Onboard, seating was fine with a 1-2 cabin layout. Free refreshments and a small snack.

Essentially ok for a short flight. Aircraft themselves are on the older side showing some wear and tear but being able to fly from local airport is a huge bonus. Only downside is being if you need to drop a bag off this only opens 90 minutes before departure, and in Brussels on the return the queue through security was massive (longest I have queued in years). This meant once through was almost straight to the gate for boarding.

Route: East Midlands to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "the young cabin crew started screaming"

Review: Flight from Istanbul to Amsterdam. Flight number: WZ72JB - PC1253. I was after surgery, I tried to pay for water with my Netherlands card. Of course it is a problem if you don't have a visa. I needed to drink my pills after surgery but I couldn't pay so I didn't get any water. I thought I get could get one cup for free (I saw the cabin crew drinking from big bottles) but no. I felt very bad during the flight but nobody came to me. On landing people started to pick up their stuff, the young cabin crew started screaming that they must sit. It was not professional! Terrible service! I flight all the time and have never met people like on this flight. Also baggage! Before my flight I bought extra baggage - 20 kg - 15e but I didn't get any confirmation to my email or to my electronic ticket. Of course I had paid but there was a problem between the bank and Pegasus so I paid double because I had to buy my 20kg again at the airport.

Route: stanbul to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ultra Air

Title: "Cheap prices, comfortable seats"

Review: Cheap prices, comfortable seats, decent legroom (30 inches) on the former IndiGo airplane. Check in at Bogota was done online but tourist pass for San Andres and bags had to be dropped off at the check in counter, which was pretty easy. Boarding was a breeze. After take off many people switched seats since most didnt pay for an assigned one. Flight was 30 minutes late but otherwise good. The only problem were kids running up and down the aisle like wild animals and nobody from the crew stopping them. Unfortunately due to Colombias COVID rules there was no inflight service but you are able to bring your own drinks and snacks.

Route: Bogota to San Andres

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "quite good except the food"

Review: Paris to Bangkok via Taipei. Overall is quite good except the food. I did not find many meat in EVA air meal.

Taste is quite lite. For wifi, there is complimentary 30 MB, but it was quite slow.

Route: Paris to Bangkok via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Changed the date of my flight"

Review: Changed the date of my flight without even asking or warning me. There's no way to add luggage. It keeps telling me it's not possible nobody talks to you. The email people are rude. The text people are rude. I'm inconvenienced I have to take a day off of work. I have to find a way to the airport now because my friend that was taking me to the airport can't take me and I can't just cancel my flight as my daughter's having surgery and I have to be in South Carolina. I will never use this airline ever again nor will I go through Priceline you both are useless and it's against the law for you to change my itinerary without my permission or being compensated for it.

Route: Tampa to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "flight attendants are very nice"

Review: Beijing to Boston. Their flight attendants are very nice. they kept the airplane super clean, they clean the rest room when people use it. They offer snacks to us frequently and didn't disturb others.

Route: Beijing to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "the rudest staff"

Review: Montenegro to Cairo via Rome. Worst airline I've ever taken and the rudest staff on and off the plane. I heard so many bad things about Alitalia before but never thought it would be this bad. After a 6 hour delay, they didn't even bother to do anything about it, no one cares. My grandma needs to be on a wheelchair and there was no assistance what so ever, in fact, after they got her a wheelchair they left her at the rome airport at a random gate without even checking where she wanted to go and they took the wheelchair away from her after we explained she couldnt move without it! They were extremely rude and impolite, and couldn't care less. Not recommended even if it is the cheapest flight available, you will be frustrated the whole time, it's not worth it at all. Huge disappointment, never flying Alitalia again.

Route: Montenegro to Cairo via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "have been trying to get our tickets refunded since June"

Review: We have been trying to get our tickets refunded since June, always told to call back or wait for a call. Now were told no refunds, only credit. Ok, but guess what? Same story! Wait for us to call you or call back in a week. Never ever hear from them and literally no progress. Anyone else in this situation? We cant be the only ones.

Route: Athens to Chania

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "very uncomfortable"

Review: Travelled 30 years of my life. Can rate Etihad as the worst airline ever. I paid a very high ticket price for just 1 way from Mumbai to Toronto. Cabin crew forever sleeping behind closed curtains. They do not have food to offer for the long flight of 15 hours in business class. Being a diabetic was very uncomfortable. Not even a bottle of water was offered until asked. Uncooperative staff, guys please do not travel Etihad.

Route: Mumbai to Toronto via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Tame Línea Aérea Del Ecuador

Title: "Would avoid if you can"

Review: Cuenca to Quito. Second flight cancelled in the space of a week after checking in at the airport. First one resulted in a 3 hour delay after re-routing from Guayaquil to Cuenca via Quito. This one is an 8 hour delay, leaving us no choice but to remain in Cuenca airport. Just an 8-dollar lunch voucher offered as compensation. Staff were friendly but information given was haphazard. Seats on other flights have been old and ragged, food very poor. Would avoid if you can find another carrier.

Route: Cuenca to Quito

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "One of the worst flights"

Review: Bangalore to Delhi. One of the worst flights ever! The customer service is terrible and the flight is never on time. No announcements or communication given out properly. They close the gates in a short period of time even when you go there on time and are never accommodating to peoples needs. They overcharge customers with hefty penalties and blame the customers for their poor service.

Route: Bangalore to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "such a ridiculous policy"

Review: I grew up when airline travel was far more sophisticated and enjoyable, not to mention affordable. Unfortunately, united is now on the do not fly list that I created today. I am newly married, and on both legs of our trip, even though I booked the airline tickets at the same time, my wife and I had to sit in separate rows. apparently, their policy is that unless you pay to buy your tickets, the computer will just put you wherever it can even though youre married and flying together. This is such a ridiculous policy and one that has cost them two new customers. The lady in Denver at the United counter was so rude to us when we asked her if she could accommodate placing us together. She looked at my wife and said well its a short flight and youre only one row apart and I think you can handle it.

Route: Denver to Salt Lake City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "lost my 4 luggage in Vienna"

Review: It's not the first time I have a luggage lost, but Austrian is by far the worst company I have to deal with. They lost my 4 luggage in Vienna and after 8 days, they are still lost. No information, No excuses, impossible to join by any means. The worst airline company ever.

Route: Brussels to Athens via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flyadeal

Title: "a list of the worst 10 airlines"

Review: I've used many many airlines, but as bad as flyadeal I have truly never seen or experienced before. If I were to make a list of the worst 10 airlines. You definitely would take the first five slots.

Route: Jeddah to Dammam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "the most pleasant experience"

Review: We had the most pleasant experience with the crew onboard this flight. They were very helpful and friendly. Akshaya was the most perfect host on this flight .We shall definitely recommend Qatar Airways because of our experience with this professional lady. Very well done.

Route: Doha to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wingo

Title: "would not refund or reschedule me"

Review: Terrible. First and last flight with them. They had airplane maintenance issues which caused my first leg to be 3.5 hours late. Which cause me to miss my 2nd flight with them! And they would not schedule me on the next flight which was 2 days later. They said I had to buy a new ticket. So they caused me to miss the 2nd flight and would not refund or reschedule me.

Route: Cartagena to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "American Airlines was somewhat impressive"

Review: Los Angeles to Dallas Fort-Worth onboard AA2833 on their A321-200. My flight departed from the rather small-sized Terminal 4, and with the amount of layover I had plus the quick service in Los Angeles, I had plenty of time to kill in the Admirals Club lounge which was very cozy and comfortable. The staff in Los Angeles were just okay. Boarding started on schedule and it was very disciplined, and I was welcomed in quite a friendly way by the crews. Take-off was only 10 minutes late, but eventually, we landed half an hour ahead of schedule. Their A321 had slightly larger overhead bins and strip LED lighting, but sadly no personal TVs. The seat was cozy and comfortable, easy to use, and adequately spacious for a 2.5-hour flight like this. Throughout the flight, the flight attendants were friendly, courteous, and attentive, although they could've been better if they were not just meddling with their phones and re-ensure that everyone is doing okay. once the service is complete. The Biscoff biscuit was exquisite and tasty. The real positive thing about this flight was the Wi-Fi. It allowed me to browse anything, open social media apps, and watch videos on the ground for around 20 minutes. Once I took off, the social media apps and browsing feature no longer existed, but live TV shows, videos, movies, and games were provided through the American Airlines portal. The signal strength was quite poor, but the contents and the layout of the portal were incredibly good. Despite landing 30 minutes ahead of schedule, the baggage delivery at Dallas Fort Worth was ridiculously slow, causing me to wait around 45-60 minutes. Overall, my experience and first impression onboard American Airlines was somewhat impressive. Also, if you're asking for help, contact them via Twitter or use the Live Chat feature. They can sometimes be faster than the phone team.

Route: Los Angeles to Dallas Fort-Worth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Catching hype on Russian tourists"

Review: The dates and times of departure were changed three times on direct and return tickets. As a result, daytime flights were canceled and night flights were left, which initially cost less. Don't buy expensive day tickets, it's a lure, they will cancel them anyway and you will be forced to change tickets for night flights. They will make you do it. Lost baggage containing life-saving medication for a child with epilepsy. The baggage arrived at the airport the next day. They refused to promptly bring baggage from the airport. I had to pay for prompt delivery by taxi. In flight, they did not give free water to either children or the elderly. Bottle of water 200gr. - 2 euros. The senior of team of flight attendants answered - show in the rules where it says about free water.. On the return flight, they checked in a stroller for a 2-year-old child as transit baggage, despite the fact that we warned at check-in that a stroller is needed when transferring. The child was forced to sleep in arms during a 9-hour layover in Antalya. Representatives of the airline do not decide anything. The staff is low qualified. No service. Airplanes are packed. Catching hype on Russian tourists in the current situation.

Route: Moscow to Nicosia via Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "Worst airline to exist"

Review: Worst airline to exist. Delayed over 1 hour during departure, on our arrival into Chicago we didnt have enough fuel to perform a holding pattern. Diverted to Milwaukee. Sat in the hot plane for hours waiting for them to refuel which took longer than they promised. Said it was a short flight to Chicago. Flew another hour in the air and still wasnt in Chicago. Caused me to miss my event and intended purpose of travel. Zero excuses, zero compensation. Such a terrible company.

Route: Las Vegas to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "one of the worst airlines"

Review: Overpriced and underwhelming Expensive tickets, rigid inflexible staff at the gate, no service on board, horrible hotline customer service. I had no other choice than LATAM for several flights on my Latin America tour but you can see that the airline doesn't care about their customers at all. Surely one of the worst airlines for me together with Avianca.

Route: Quito to Lima

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jazeera Airways

Title: "I'll never fly them again"

Review: Flight to Cairo yesterday was delayed by 5 hours. Flight to Kuwait today was delayed by 6 hours. They never inform you of the delays, despite having my email and mobile. Flew one leg with my mother, who is 90. They made me pay for a wheelchair for her, and then I had to push it myself because their employee never showed up. My business class seat was broken and wouldn't recline. My attempts to express my concerns to the airline officials fell on deaf ears, they simply couldn't care less. Based on my first hand experience, I would advise any self respecting traveller to avoid this airline. I'll never fly them again.

Route: Kuwait to Cairo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "I will never use them again"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Denpasar. I had a suspicion that this airline was going to be terrible from the outset. No more so than the fact I couldn't even book a ticket online. Tried several cards and browsers and no luck. Couldn't get through to the call centre after waiting ages on a few occasions. In the end I was about to give up and book another airline, but the flight times happened to work well for me, with Malindo. In the end I had to go to a local booking office to get the ticket. In this day in age you should be able to book a flight ticket with an international credit card, which I gathered was the reason why my booking wouldn't work online. Probably not a good idea to book the flight using a 3rd party (expedia etc). Yes, you will get about the same fare and be able to book online. However it won't include luggage and you won't be able to go onto Malindo afterwards and add it, as they won't accept your foreign card. Then you are unlikely to also get through to do it over the phone. So you will be stuck with doing it at the airport. Which I gather from other reviews, will cost you a whole bundle of money. Perhaps this is their scam and why they don't take foreign cards. Thankfully I paid for 20kg of baggage in advance at the local airline office. Although this was almost the same as the flight price, but way cheaper than at airport. So, the flight itself was delayed out of KL. Got on the plane and the entertainment system was down for the whole flight. Then I found that you didnt even get any form of complimentary beverage. Not even water! Now, being a budget airline, I expected to pay for food and snacks and certain drinks. However. to not even come around on a 3 plus hour flight with a drink of water or tea etc, is inhumane. You can buy a soft drink/water, but guess what??? They only accept cash! So for someone who is transiting through KL airport, there was no cause to have any local currency and I didnt have any other currency on me apart from Sri Lankan rupees (where my origin was from), which they dont accept! The airline delays me, the entertainment doesn't work and they dont even give me some water? Even for those reasons alone, they should just offer something. Anyway, they didn't and so if they dont accept credit cards for drinks purchases and I had no cash, then I guess I was going thirsty for 3 hours. The extra catch to this whole thing. At KL, you cant even bring your own water on board, as it's not allowed into the gate area, due to liquid restrictions and they have the scanners etc at the gate. Even if you buy water in the airport, you cant take it past the gate. This is a whole separate issue I guess and with KL airport itself. However, it still makes the Malindo policy worse in terms of the availability of water (that should be free) and thier lack of payment options to get it. Wake up Malindo. Sort out all of these issues. I will never use them again and people should avoid if you dont want to have major hassles from the start to finish of the whole experience

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Omni Air International

Title: "on the tarmac waiting and waiting"

Review: Vancouver to Phoenix. We sat on the tarmac waiting and waiting for passengers to make their connection. The flight attendant already announced that everyone was on board and the captain comes up and says we are waiting for 3 more passengers. What is fair? To give us an on time arrival or wait for passengers and get everyone delayed? No brainer.

Route: Vancouver to Phoenix

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sky Airline

Title: "changed the time of our flight"

Review: Sky Airline changed the time of our flight from Santiago to São Paulo flight without any warning. I now have to wait 12 hours in the airport. I have attempted several time to talk with someone but they have no supervisor available during the night and the only information given was "send a email to help / support". I have sent the email but the reply apparently takes a few days. Nobody speaks English, after 8 hours sleeping on the floor I managed to talk with a supervisor who told me that she could not give me a breakfast voucher. I am very disappointed with this company.

Route: Santiago to São Paulo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "Worst Service ever"

Review: Worst Service ever. They already delayed the journey twice and still we haven't left Mumbai. We were supposed to reach Delhi by 11.30pm and we are leaving Mumbai at 1.23am the next day.

Route: Mumbai to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Myanmar National Airlines

Title: "staff was friendly"

Review: Singapore to Yangon. I didn't know what to expect when I booked this flight, but I don't regret. The airplane was clean, staff was friendly and food was good. Also a lot of space for the legs, good entertainment and opportunity to charge phone/tablet. In the Emirates/Garuda league in my opinion.

Route: Singapore to Yangon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "Great service beginning to end"

Review: Great service beginning to end. Recognition as per One World Emerald. Polite crew. On time. Easy - its a good job by Malaysia Airlines on this sector. The 737 is probably one due for a cabin refit.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "they reimburse only hotels in Abu Dhabi"

Review: Me and my wife booked a flight from Melbourne to Greece with Etihad for November 11, 2022. After spending several hours in the plane, the flight was finally cancelled and at 3AM they told us to look for a hotel ourselves, something we did. The next day we went to the Etihad desk at Melbourne airport and they told us that we will get reimbursed for our hotel expenses (two tickets stayed in one room). They told us to submit the papers through their website. One the 12th we flew to Greece with Emirates and arrived on the 13th. I have been trying to find the forms and the site to submit the necessary paperwork but after two days I was not able to discover anything. Today I called their customer service in Greece and in Emirate and the amazing answer they gave me is that they reimburse only hotels in Abu Dhabi! I told them this was not fair since I am not asking any compensation for the over 24-hour delay involving two passengers but only to pay for my hotel. The answer was still the same no compensation for hotels outside Abu Dhabi. Conclusion: Etihad lied to me in Melbourne about hotel compensation. They did absolutely nothing for the long delay. While waiting in the airplane for several hours they offered us water and some salty pretzels. Completely unacceptable.

Route: Melbourne to Athens via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "fly another airline"

Review: Bangkok to Vancouver via Xiamen. Took a chance on a bargain fare and you get what you pay for. If over 6 Foot and 195 Lbs, you best get an Isle seat safety door or youll have no room to move. If you get stuck in a window seat youll never get out of your seat. Being a bargain flight they pack you in worse than a sardine tin! If you want to change your flight date be aware the airline charges $159.00 US plus, plus to change. My partner wished to change her flight to an alternate day and it was cheaper to buy a ticket with another carrier. Xiamen Airport is hideous and they charge almost $20 US fee to exchange any money and only 2 food stores take credit cards. A bowl of soup and a bottle of water costs about $25.00 US This airline is good for backpackers only. Spend a little more and fly another airline.

Route: Bangkok to Vancouver via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wingo

Title: "This is a poor airline"

Review: Medellin to Panama with Wingo. This is a poor airline. Although most airlines and especially budget airlines will charge small fees to get more money out of you, this airline has it perfected. They charged us $25 dollars at the counter to print our boarding pass! I have never heard of that before. I take over 60 flights a year. You don't want to sit on the back half of the airplane? More money. You actually want to check a bag? More money. You don't want to go crazy long line takes forever?. More money. Snack? More money Exit row? More money. Actually, it was the charging $25 to print the boarding pass while counter agent laughed about it that really hurt. I was surprised there was not a coin slot on the toilet on the plane. Uh-oh, maybe they will read this and do that.

Route: Medellin to Panama

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "billed R1800 for my hand luggage bag"

Review: Beijing to Almaty. Airline billed me R1800 for my hand luggage bag, while was within its weight limit. According to their statement hand luggage and a laptop bag is 2 items, hence the reason I needed to check in my hand luggage, knowing only on bag is allowed. They than ask me to pay via my debit card. We were a team and I was asked to pay, my team was allowed to take hand luggage and a laptop bag. I demand my money to be refunded.

Route: Beijing to Almaty

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Canadian North

Title: "efficient and very pleasant"

Review: My husband and I traveled to Yellowknife for a day. The main reason was that we wanted to visit Buffalo Airways. Canadian North were fantastic. Both services on time and on the way back to Edmonton we were lucky enough to travel on a 737-200 Combi which was fantastic. The crew on the way home made us feel so welcome. They were efficient and very pleasant. Great breakfast on the way up and a good dinner on the way back. If only they were a bit closer to our home in Australia. We would be more than happy to travel with Canadian North any time. A great experience.

Route: Edmonton to Yellowknife

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: World2Fly

Title: "terrible customer support"

Review: The flight was alright, on time and service during the flight was good. However, afterwards, communication with their customer support was the worst experience ever! Simply the customer team brings shame to the company and I don't know if they have any supervisor over their team. I asked for simple request but they refer each time new email or refuse to work via phone call and simply don't get the work done. So I'd not recommend anyone to use this airline as you are highly likely to engage with this terrible customer support team!

Route: Madrid to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "my experience was terrible"

Review: Flight was delayed. Airplane was dirty. Staff wasn't efficient. Landing was horrible. Overall, my experience was terrible and I would not recommend this airline to anyone.

Route: Barcelona to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Macau

Title: "highly not recommended"

Review: Macau to Chengdu. My debut with this carrier, check-in at 1000 for noon flight, staff said flight will be delayed but didn't know exact departure time, and said will notify me once confirm. Wait until 1500, receive SMS that flight departs 1700. Finally I decided to cancel my trip. I like to say I book through their site, air fare is standard fare which is not value for money, for a national carrier their ground staff and services seems like budget airline. The staff are not initiated and not intended to compensate or apology. Regret to choose this carrier and highly not recommended!

Route: MFM to CTU

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "a sad excuse for an airline"

Review: Aer Lingus is a sad excuse for an airline. Not a single of our four flights was on time. We were almost twelve hours late to Paris and had to sit in the Dublin airport all day. There were no employees available to discuss flight details or compensation for delays. The flights also either said they had Wi-Fi but didnt, or just said flat out they dont have Wi-Fi. Disastrous airline and I will never fly with them again. Steer clear.

Route: Paris to New York via Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "the last time I book this company"

Review: Phuket to Bangkok. This company is a disaster. When I booked my flight I added an extra luggage of 15kg, which i paid with my booking. When I arrived at the airport, I found out that we all have the right to bring 1 free 15kg luggage. Mine was 21 kg so I told them to make some simple additions : 15 free + 15 paid = 30 kg. They refused to do the maths and asked me to pay 2100 baths (70 dollars) if I wanted to board. This is the last time I book this company.

Route: Phuket to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Somon Air

Title: "airline is a complete disaster"

Review: Pay a bit extra and fly with a more reputable and decent airline. I had a flight from Dushanbe to St. Petersburg with Somon Air, departure time 06:30, in the morning. I arrived at the airport more than two hours ahead, just to realise that my flight had been put off. The new departure time would be 16.5 hours later! Well, such things can happen, generally speaking. When it comes to Somon Air, these problems look more like a rule than an exception. Just a quick glance at board of departures tells the alarming truth: most flights are either cancelled or delayed. Their representatives at the airport helped me to reschedule my connecting flights at St. Petersburg. I will give them well deserved them credit. The rest of this story is far from satisfying. Usually, stranded passengers will have access to a decent hotel room, while waiting. They brought me to a rundown Intourist Hotel where I got a dormitory bed. They gave me four US-dollars cash, to cover breakfast, lunch and dinner! The money did not even cover my breakfast! I succeeded in getting home, one day later. However, I lost one day of income and had some extra expenditures. At home I specified my claims to the airline. They just ignored my claims, with compact silence. This airline is a complete disaster. The services on board were also of inferior quality. For your own convenience and pleasure, please pay a bit extra and get the services you can expect. You get what you pay for.

Route: Dushanbe to St. Petersburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Boutique Air

Title: "whole fiasco cost me much more"

Review: Flew from Altoona to BWI to catch a flight to LAX. Very quick and convenient. Imagine my surprise when 3 days before our return trip I was notified that our flight was moved ahead 2 hours, making it impossible to make the connecting flight back from LAX. The glib suggestion of rescheduling for the next day was impossible due to work commitments. The request that they wait 1/2 hour so that we could get on the flight was also quickly dismissed, even though on an 8 seat plane we would have been 25% of the passengers. The cost to reschedule our cross country flight would have been over 1000. Luckily we were able to get a credit from southwest and schedule a flight into state college instead. After spending about 3 hours on hold with various entities, we were told that we would be refunded what amounted to 25% of the cost of the flight (which I still haven't seen) This whole fiasco cost me much more, a whole morning of a weekend visit to my son who lives across the country to try to figure it out!

Route: Altoona to Baltimore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alliance Airlines

Title: "air hostesses were rude and busy in their own gossiping"

Review: The airplane was supposed to take off at 15.35 but we flew late. During the entire journey the arcs in the cabin were not working, with such hot weather outside and no AC in the cabin all the passengers were agitated and were sweating. The air hostess did not care and kept saying that it will work in 15-20min. The air hostesses were rude and busy in their own gossiping. Worst flight ever.

Route: New Delhi to Chandigarh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "this was the first on Iberia - and the last"

Review: I have flown business class to Europe regularly from Panama and return over the last 10 years, using all the European airlines that cover the trip, all the American and even South American this was the first on Iberia - and the last. The plane was 5.5 years old. Seat, very little storage, very thin padding, I had to sit on my pillow to make it comfortable. Service, no menu, no pre dinner drinks, food served all on one tray covered in foil and plastic wrap. No real explanation of what the food was. No after dinner drinks. I asked for a scotch and I was told that they weren't sure whether it was available. IFE was poor. Offered 30 mins of complimentary WiFi, it did not work. Sleep was impossible due to crew constantly using the toilet at the rear of the BC cabin. Although the toilet was not cleaned until just before we landed and deteriorated during the 10 hour flight. No toiletries available in WC apart from soap. Cabin too warm even for my partner who like me has lived in the tropics for 10 years. No hot towels, no cold towels. Breakfast was lukewarm at best and it consisted of an inedible omelet thing, 3 bread rolls same as for dinner, no butter, a pot of jam, fruit and yogurt, the latter being at least edible. Overall the staff seemed non-interested in the customers and I do not think I have been more disappointed in an expensive business class ticket. I would have been disappointed if it had been economy, but for overall value, very poor.

Route: Panama City to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "I was denied the full refund"

Review: Scheduled to fly to Rome on September 13, 2022, with my wife in business class. unfortunately, on September 8, 2022, I was diagnosed with COVID. I notified the airline and was told I could either obtain a voucher or get a credit refund. I opted for a credit refund. however, even after submitting a claim with my covid results, I was denied the full refund of $8300. Their reason of course was that i did not cancel prior to the 14 days requirement. Obviously if I knew I would come down with COVID I would have cancelled with the 14day requirement being met. However, I could not have known I would contract covid less than 1 week before the flight. I find the very quick response denying my full refund to be an absolute bureaucratic decision, without any thought process being given to the extreme circumstances. I returned their email asking the person, if they would prefer that I travelled on their aircraft knowing that i had covid. to date I have not had a response. Terrible customer service skills and a terrible decision. They will now refund the $8300 minus 15% admin fees. Guess who will never use Aer Lingus again.

Route: Orlando to Rome via Dublin

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "It was a very good trip"

Review: BR211 TPE-BKK on 04/28, third leg of SE Asia trip with Hubby. EVA uses a 77W for this trip, the same metal we were on just a few hours ago from LAX. Boarding was done by group and they announced the group names clearly and where we can line up so it was quite organized. The flight attendants were again very polite and helpful but efficient in helping people with their luggage and seating. Service was very good, quick and friendly done by cheerful cabin crew. The captain made announcements at the beginning of the trip and information on Bangkok airport condition just before our descent. We landed just slightly ahead of plan. It was a very good trip.

Route: Taipei to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "A complete ripoff especially if you are a tourist"

Review: I hope this helps anyone buying a ticket from this airline. Don't, they will rip you off. They charge a hidden fee at check-in. I got charged $240 for four tickets, because I missed the web check-in time. I told them I never received a email notification. They said it was in the fine print. Horrible service, they sat us all separate even though the flight wasn't packed. They charged for my carry-on although people had bigger ones. A complete ripoff especially if you are a tourist.

Route: Lima to Cusco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "uncomfy old planes"

Review: Terrible. I have traveled twice with them this year via business class and they have been significantly delayed or cancellations with connecting flights. The customer service or complete lack of it is appalling and has forced me to change credit cards as I no longer intend to use BA for any further flights. Terrible uncomfy old planes and miserable staff.

Route: Tokyo to Manchester via Heathrow

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "This is no customer service and low quality of cabin crew"

Review: Thai Airways did better than this last time. I have asked cabin crew for window seat because the check in staff did mentioned to check with the crew, after I have spoken to one of the lady crew she promised that she will get back to me but nothing was said. Another male cabin crew was supposed to pass my bf the chicken rice, after the food was served my bf waited for a long time until another side of the crew was asking and passed to my bf instead. He did not apologise and ignored at least for any follow up and empathy for passengers. This is no customer service and low quality of cabin crew.

Route: Bangkok to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jazeera Airways

Title: Jazeera Airways customer review

Review: Most pathetic airline ever. My flight was from Dammam to Lahore via Kuwait. My flight got delayed 5hrs and when I reach Kuwait, they told me that there is no flight from Kuwait to Lahore. I am stuck at airport and don't know what to do - they are giving lame excuses.

Route: Dammam to Lahore via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "The plane was not clean"

Review: The plane was not clean and the crew threw the garbage (used and dirty tissue paper that was on the seat, under the seat, being rude when alerted. One of the crew members mentioned that she didn't even want to be there working, she wanted to be at home but they called her at the last minute. Avião não estava limpo e a tripulação atirou o lixo (lenço de papel usado e sujo que estava no banco, para debaixo do banco sendo rudes quando alertados. Uma das tripulantes mencionou que nem queria eatar ali a trabalhar, queria estar em casa mas chamaram-na à última da hora.

Route: Paris to Porto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "about 7 hours on the plane instead of 4"

Review: My wife and I had booked a direct flight from Cologne to Tenerife on Corendon Airlines. A few weeks before the flight, we were informed that the departure time was moved forward from 10:00h to 07:20h, because the flight had been merged with the one to Gran Canaria and therefore now had a stopover there, with a similar arrival time. So we had to book a hotel near the airport at our own expense to be able to be there at the earlier time. Corendon refused compensation for this upon request. On the day of departure, it then became clear that due to the merging of the two flights without adjusting the pre-reserved seats, some seats were now double-booked when boarding at the gate - the clarification of this error, for which Corendon is responsible, caused about 90 minutes of delay. Thus, we had a total of about 7 hours on the plane instead of 4, without the airline offering passengers at least one free drink. We had booked the premium fare for a significant extra charge, which according to the website includes a meal - one would assume it would be something to eat and a drink. But in fact you only get one of each and have to pay for the other! Then on the return trip, there was no Priority or Bag Drop desk available, even though we booked and paid for it. Our online check in done the day before was deleted and we got different seats at the counter than reserved, apparently still due to double assigned seats due to the merging of flights. Conclusion: Corendon offers a direct flight with a pleasant departure time as a loss leader, but then, when the load factor is too low, combines two flights, which results in both a significantly longer travel time and an unfavorable departure time. Paid and booked additional services are not provided. We are happy to forgo another flight with this airline.

Route: Cologne to Tenerife South via Las Palmas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "a very pleasant flight"

Review: Cape Town to Johannesburg. Once again a very pleasant flight on SAA. The cabin crew was extremely professional and friendly. I fly many different airlines regularly and SAA ranks in my top 3 due to their excellent service. Their hard product may not be very competitive (still very comfortable though) anymore, but they surely make up for it in service and catering.

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "maintain high standards of service"

Review: While airlines all over the world are considering how to reduce costs, Hainan Airlines can maintain high standards of service under the epidemic. I took a flight from Toronto to Xian on January 24. In fact, I am a Gold Card member of China Eastern Airline, I have not taken a lot with Hainan Air in recent years. However, when I am boarding this time, every flight attendant I met with practical action proves that Hainan Airlines offers the best service in mainland China. I appreciate the two flight attendants in the front cabin. My mobile phone accidentally dropped while I was sleeping, a flight attendant in the front cabin calmed my emotions and called his colleague to help me find it together. I have now returned to China, and I believe that Hainan Airlines will be my priority when I travel next time.

Route: Toronto to Beijing via Xi'an

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "They rearranged the flight"

Review: They rearranged the flight, 2 hours delay but didn't send any notifications (of course we submit e mail and phone number for notifications). We went at the airport, waited 4 hours. No support at all, they gave us a number, working hours only. Ehat a terrible way to begin your journey. Never again

Route: Heraklion to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: "never use this airline again"

Review: JFK New York to Naples, Italy return, operated by Air Italy. Let's start with our departure from JFK. No online check in available. I sent an email, no response. I called in, and a woman said I had to check in at the airport. At JFK, Meridiana had one little line and no signs to help travelers. We paid for the extra comfort seating and the guy told us we didn't have to pay for the extra bag we brought. That was nice, as we hadn't anticipated that. He told us it was because we paid for the extra comfort seat. Now here's the sketchy part, we go to find our gate. Yellow paper signs were hung up with our flight info on it, but other than that nothing. We didn't actually HAVE a gate. None of the attendants in the airport knew anything about where we're supposed to go. OUR flight was scheduled to depart at 7pm, and we were supposed to board at 6:45. We didn't board until 9:45. No one told us anything. We weren't given any reason, despite the fact that the plane was sitting outside in our view. The plane was a was a rickety old thing from the 90s. No televisions (they had the large general ones and they were cloudy so you couldn't see them), seats were small. Staff was reasonably accommodating, but they rarely brought something to drink, they were catering mostly to those in business. We had one disgusting meal. That flight left 3.5 hours late and landed in Naples. For our return, I wanted to try to upgrade to business. I sent an email asking - no response. I sent an email in Italian (luckily I'm fluent), and interestingly enough I got a response. No availability. So coming back, we had so much fun! Turns out we did have to pay for that extra bag, 90 euros, despite the extra comfort seats, and they wouldn't let us take our carry on bags, we had to check those as well. This wasn't even because they were overweight - the woman in Naples insisted they be checked. Once again, sketchy Meridiana had paper signs hanging up for their "special" line for security in the Naples airport. The gate changed three times. We had B10 written on our tickets, I walked a few feet looked up and it changed to B12, got to B12 and there was another passport control. I told the woman it kept changing and she said "no it didn't," and I told her the flight and she said, "oh yes it did." I understand that that's not the airline's fault, but one thing after another. Coming back to JFK, we left about a half hour late, which is not bad. Again, the flight was very uncomfortable. Staff wasn't that great. Bottom line - you get what you pay for. If you want to fly direct from JFK to Naples, it may be worth it. I will personally never use this airline again.

Route: JFK to NAP

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "They lost my luggage"

Review: New York to Paris. They lost my luggage and didnt return it for 3 days. Try being in Paris without all your meds and clothes! There isnt a worse customer service on the planet. Rude and unhelpful. The most they will reimburse is 22 Euro per day but be prepared to be put through the ringer for it. So far 14 emails and no money. I have sent them more receipts and evidence than you can imagine. I cannot recommend nor will I ever fly them again. Horrible company.

Route: New York to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "outraged by Air Berlin"

Review: New York to Bologna via Dusseldorf, July 3rd 2017. The departure time at JFK was 9:40pm (Flight No. 7481). I was at the check-in point with plenty of time (7:00pm.) The flight attendant told me "there is a 3-hour delay because a baby got sick on the plane and they had to land." She told me not to worry my connecting flight layover was 3.5 hours so I would have made it and they would have made up some time during the flight. At the gate I was told they had to change my connecting flight to Bologna to a later flight at 8:30pm instead of 2:55pm (a serious problem for me), but they told me that they only did that as a precaution in case I cannot make it to the original flight (at 2:55pm) which is what I had booked. The attendant at the gate told me that once in Dusseldorf I would have been able to take the Flight 8686 at 2:55pm. We boarded at 12:45am with more than 3 hours delay. We finally took off and on board I asked what I should do once in Dusseldorf. They said as soon as outside the aircraft look for the information point with Air Berlin attendants and they would have told me where to go to get to the original flight 8686. The flight attendant sent me to Gate B56 and warned me to "hurry" because the flight was departing in less than an hour. I ran to Gate B56 only to find no one there. I went to another attendant who told me that Flight AB 8686 was at Gate 44 two floors down. I ran again with a heavy backpack and a carry-on. I had to stop to catch my breath and I felt dizzy. Two police officers saw me and asked me if I was OK. I had to explain what happened to them because they were concern about my health. I finally made it to Gate B44. The Flight 8686 also departed with about 15 minutes delay. On board, I had to pay for coffee 2.50 for a regular coffee. At that point I only wanted to get to my final destination. We landed in Bologna BLQ about 10 minutes late. There I had the final humiliation: my baggage was missing. I went to Baggage claim and was told that probably my suitcase was moved to a later flight which will land at night around 10:30pm. I filed a complaint form there and they told me they should call me if the baggage arrives and I would have to go back to the airport to pick it up. It is now 9:30pm and on the Air Berlin website there still no information about my baggage. This has been a horrible experience. I will now have to go back to the airport to hopefully pick up my luggage tonight. I'm exhausted and outraged by Air Berlin.

Route: New York to Bologna via Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Azerbaijan Airlines

Title: "expected us to wait in Baku airport for 2 days"

Review: We had a flight from Dubai to London Heathrow with a 2-hour transit in Baku. Due to the over 7-hour delay from Azerbaijan Airlines in providing the flight to Baku, we missed our next flight which was from Baku to London, and their next available flight from Baku to London was in two days. After 30 minutes of the departure time, the Dubai Airport staff at the boarding gate informed us that there is a delay but they do not know how long the delay would take and so we should purchase another ticket at the airport. As the next flight from Baku to London was in two days, we had to purchase another super expensive ticket at the airport just to arrive at our destination to be at our work on time. Now, not only they do not refund our first tickets which they could not provide the services for, but they also do not refund the full cost of the new tickets.

Route: Dubai to London via Baku

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "seat was quite standard"

Review: Shanghai to Hong Kong. I was arranged to an earlier flight on that day. The ground staff was very efficient. The seat was quite standard. The IFE had a wide range of movies selection. Food and drinks was great, better than Cathay Pacific ones. Crew is friendly.

Route: Shanghai to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "it is taking too long"

Review: I bought a premium flex ticket so should have no reason not to get a full refund for a cancelled flight. I was expecting to fly on July 8, 2020 but cancelled due to Covid. I am still not getting refunded and called 3 times already and filed a claim with the airline but still not receiving my refund. They keep telling me to wait but it is taking too long.

Route: Los Angeles to Barcelona

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "No service recovery"

Review: Singapore to Danang. On 8Dec my Jetstar flight 3k541 was supposed to depart Singapore at 6:50pm. However upon push out, the captain mentioned there is some technical issue with the plane so we have to return to the gate to let ground staff to check. After the checks, the captain mentioned to us Good news, the issue is resolve and we will be able to fly in 20 minutes. However the captain mentioned once again they have to do further checks and sign some documents so we have to return to the gate again, from the start when announced there was a delay, no service recovery was given to us, no drinks or nuts or anything was given to us while waiting . So after about another 30 minutes wait we were told that due to company policy they have to arrange a replacement aircraft for us at gate C17. If there is a need for us to change aircraft at the start, why do you let us have false hope saying we will be at the sky within 20 mins and let us just wait in the aircraft like some idiots, Furthermore, from E24 to C17 was so far apart and very long distance, why cant the replacement aircraft be parked nearer, it have cause much inconvenience to my grandparents. We finally boarded the plane at about 9:50 and took the skies at 10:45pm. From 6:50 to 10:45 it is a more than 3 hours delay! No refreshment voucher was given to us. No service recovery, letting passengers just wait and stranded.

Route: Singapore to Danang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "really cheap tricks"

Review: Vishakhapatnam to Bangalore. Me and my young daughter were travelling. We were given seats in different parts of the aircraft and ground staff said if we want to sit next to each other we need to pay for the seat. This is really cheap tricks. if they want us to pay for this, why don't they include in the ticket price? I will never travel AirAsia again.

Pathetic

Route: Vishakhapatnam to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "Check-in at Manchester was horrible"

Review: Manchester to Hurghada. Check-in at Manchester was horrible, line was massive. Our flight was around 1 hour delayed and was not informed about the reason although requested. The flight had no IFE, and therefore was boring. Was instructed by cabin crew to fill in a form for when we arrived in Egypt, no pen was handed out so had to ask other passengers to borrow one, which we thought was not acceptable. Would only fly shorter routes with TUI in the future, unless we were on a Boeing 787.

Route: Manchester to Hurghada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "no one cares to reply"

Review: I booked my return ticket from Dubai to Delhi and at the time of booking the attendant mentioned that i can cancel the ticket within one week. But when I cancelled my ticket I got a confirmation for cancellation but my refund did not come back until 20 days. I called several times to customer care but no one cares to reply via email or anything.

Route: Delhi to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Airnorth

Title: "excellent value for money"

Review: Darwin to Dili. The Embraer 170 seats 76 passengers, all in economy. Airnorth (the Australian, not the Canadian company!) runs regional services across northern Australia, including one international flight to Dili, the capital of Timor Leste (East Timor). It is the shortest international route flown out of Australia at 1 hr 20 minutes! Apart from magazines there is no IFE, but refreshments are served. Outwards from Darwin to Dili in the late afternoon it was a chicken wrap and soft drink; coming back at 8 am it was a light breakfast with tea or coffee. Leg room is fine (I am 178 cm tall) and the seats are comfortable for a short flight. Ground crew in Darwin and the cabin crew were cheerful and efficient. The check-in counter staff in Dili were efficient but not particularly cheerful - a minor point. This flight was booked on a special sale fare and was excellent value for money - normally the flights are a bit expensive.

Route: Darwin to Dili

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "judgment is more than awful"

Review: Moscow Vnukovo to Milano Bergamo. I flew with Pobeda today. I bought an access to business lounge at Vnukovo Airport and this lounge was not existing (or nobody at the airport know something about it). Priority boarding was not called and a great confusion was generated at the boarding desk. The inflight experience was less than a standard low cost, the cabin was dirty and the seat doesn't have any pocket to stow a book. A terrible experience, in the end my final judgment is more than awful.

Route: Moscow Vnukovo to Milano Bergamo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "advise to avoid such companies"

Review: Was happy that I found this direct flight Timisoara-Rome with WizzAir back in May. Unfortunately my happiness transformed to a distaste soon enough. Had to cancel my trip due to the fact my wife was diagnosed this week with a medical problem that needed immediate attention making us cancel our whole Euro trip due to various doctors visits. Anyway calling WizzAir told us the cancellation fee is 80% or the cost of the tickets, if I have to change dates is about 65% of the original ticket costs. They have no travel voucher to offer to be used later as I asked I need no money back. They offered to negotiate the cancellation cost of the ticket if we can provide doctors records resulting that my wife cannot travel, this is outrageous as medical records are confidential. Seems that letter from my family doctor was not good enough. Anyway I remained with very bad taste of the inhuman experience this company offered basically taking advantage of peoples unfortunate situation to make some money. Would advise to avoid such companies in the future.

Route: Timisoara to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "no follow-up service"

Review: Worst ever flight, never again. Just a few hours before taking-off for the flight from Shanghai to Tokyo, I was informed that my Peach flight was cancelled. Cancellation is not too rare during travel, but there was no follow-up service, nobody took care of us at all except of a note in the worst ever copying quality. We had to run in the airport near midnight to find out available flight, because we scheduled to join a travel group in Tokyo the next day. The result was that we paid five time of the price for the one-way tickets to be able to reach Tokyo. The next day after we arrived Japan I sent email to contact the company, because we was told we have to apply for refund within a limited time, also I had to get confirmation for booked return ticket, no response until I asked my travel guide to call there directly. Six days later when I left Japan, I still had not received my refund, but I had a chance to experience my return travel to see what the Peach like. This company used an independent boarding building in Osaka airport, there was a long way to reach the check-in gate through display desks of duty-free store without a directional sign, a long way to reach boarding gate, and a distance to reach the flight in the middle of airport. Inflight, I found that there was no entertainment equipment on the sear, I could feel the knees of the traveller behind me through the soft chair back, I heard some travellers shouting because of luggage issues. We were able to calm down when we finally returned to Shanghai. Even until now, I still can hardly believe how a business with such a quality of service could exist, I lost my money and my vacation fun.

Route: Shanghai to Toyko

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "poor communication skills"

Review: My flight was booked half economy and half way was business class. This experience reflect economy class. Washington to Jeddah, flight entertainment system not working, and wi-Fi not working. I expressed my concerns and they were not very helpful. Staff was giving me excuses after excuses that are trying their level best. This is 12-14 hours flight and you can imagine how difficult it was for us. Food quality is mediocre, Chicjen Biryani had no taste, chick peas salad was stale, unhealthy options. Later they served chicken salad sandwich as a snack , it was wrapped in plastic wrap with 3 pcs of bread, it was more bread then sandwich. In the economy, people are treated very different and poorly. Ground staff poor communication skills and appears rude when you approach them for a question.

Route: Washington to Islamabad via Jeddah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "The seats are quite spacious, very good"

Review: China Eastern Airlines is the best service company among the three major airlines (Air China, China Eastern and China Southern). In the airport, China Eastern has a lot of automatic check-in machines, and there are special tutors, which is very good. There are also few people queuing at the check-in counter. After boarding, the flight attendant service was very good. When I saw that I was sweating, I took the initiative to pour ice water for me. I already took the paper towel (yes, I was in economy class). The cabin entertainment system had a small TV, but there was no WiFi. This is not good. The distance between the seats is large enough, and the seats can be adjusted at a large angle. The seats are quite spacious, very good. The bathroom is clean. The most important thing is that the air ticket is cheap. The air ticket from Beijing to Luoyang is only 200 yuan! In addition, due to the epidemic, the meal is only a small bottle of mineral water. Before that, there was dinner (fried rice).

Route: Beijing to Luoyang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VLM Airlines

Title: VLM Airlines customer review

Review: Why do we always want to fly the big airlines? VLM has the efficiency of a budget airline, the service of a high value airline and the punctuality of a German airline. They have friendly staff and after landing you are out of the airport in 5 minutes. Moreover book well in advance and you have a very attractive fare.

Route: Hamburg to Antwerpen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jazeera Airways

Title: "never on time"

Review: The worst airline. Always always late and never on time. A 5 hour layover is now delayed to a 9 hour layover.

Also the lounge, its like 4 tables and doesnt even have a bathroom.

Route: Hyderabad to Tbilisi via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "Don't be scammed into booking with them"

Review: Air Europa is probably the worst airline in Europe. Do not use them. My elderly mother booked a business class return flight for a wedding in Madrid in May 2023. She was emailed a week before the flight to say that there were strikes over the dates of the flights she had booked. She called customer Air Europa services to get some more information, however they couldn't confirm whether or not the strike would affect her flights. Not wanting to risk missing the wedding, she booked other flights with a separate airline. When she tried to cancel the flights with Air Europa, she was told the strikes no longer impacted her flight and she could not cancel. The customer service representative also talked over her for the entire conversation. Pathetic, thoughtless and obstructive service. I have experienced better communication from small national carriers in Africa and the subcontinent. Don't be scammed into booking with them.

Route: London to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Buddha Air

Title: "flights has been delayed"

Review: Each and every time this airlines flights has been delayed by minimum of 30 minutes. If thats the case then they must early inform all the passenger either by email or by a text to their respective mobile so that we dont have to wait inside an airport for over more than 2 hours. I had a flight in 01 feb 2023 at 1045 and now the flight has been merged with 1145. At least they could early inform. What a shame to Buddha Air. Customer satisfaction is in negative level.

Route: Pokhara to Kathmandu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "EVA Air has a good product."

Review: Brisbane to London via Taipei. Overall, EVA Air has a good product. The aircraft are clean and modern, food of reasonable standard, and Flight Attendants efficient. As Australians, and hence English speaking, communication was at a minimum with us. Announcements were very difficult for me to hear on all flights. Premium Economy seats were good, but passengers in front reclined seats for full journey, making our seats and activity in flight very uncomfortable. TPEL airport is not customer friendly when you need to transfer, and seems to be focused on Asian passengers. EVA Air scheduled a day layover on return leg from Paris to Taipei, but this was not a easy process for viewing the city, with delays at security.

Route: Brisbane to London via Taipei

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: " have a free upgrade"

Review: Hong Kong to Taipei. Check in was efficient with almost no queue. I was informed to have a free upgrade to business class from the economy because of overbooking. No lounge access was given though. The product was a very typical regional business class with no flatbed, and the storage space in the seat was not enough and I must put my small backpack in the overhead compartment. Also, the phone pocket was too small which I couldn't even put my iPhone 7 in. However, PTV was also available in this very short sector single-aisle plane. The 70 minutes flight was operated by a very cheerful team. Cabin crew was efficient and friendly with a very positive attitude. For food, welcoming drinks were available and a full English breakfast was served with juice and wine after take off, with fresh fruits and freshly heated bread. The movie selection in the IFE system was very up to date with hundreds of movies available, though I had no time to finish one in the short flight. Can't believe they still offered a full service within 70 minutes.

Route: Hong Kong to Taipei

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "good experience with Alitalia"

Review: I flew with Alitalia from Milan Linate to New York via Rome Fiumicino; the experience was not bad. The flight from Linate to Rome was a normal national flight (nothing to say) and landed on time. The flight to NY was on time too, the crew was friendly, the food ok and the airbus clean. The flight back to Rome landed 1 hour early and, as usual, food, crew and aircraft ok! To cut a long story short, good experience with Alitalia.

Route: Milano to New york via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "FA's were fantastic, attentive and proactive"

Review: KUL-NRT-IAD, Premium Economy service. There were multiple emails from ANA prior to travelling leaving instructions on what to do during travel in the Covid era. Some of these instructions are hard to follow and complicating. At KLIA, no dedicated check-in counter but joint check-in with Economy. Check-in staff were good, efficient and handled things without too many issues, lounge access at MH golden lounge which was fine. The ANA lounge at Narita was very busy and had inadequate toilets and seating areas. On boarding, no preferential boarding with PE unlike when I travelled with them 3 years ago. ANA board in groups and the boarding process in KLIA is poor with instructions from the gate staff which cannot be understood. On board, FA's were fantastic, they were attentive and proactive. No noise cancelling headphones on KL-NRT sector but they were offered on NRT-IAD flight. Where ANA falls short is in the meal service. Their meals are small in size and for a 12 hour flight between NRT-IAD, the quantity of food served is inadequate. The food is reasonable tasty but generally noting to shout home about. The cabin was kept clean throughout and toilets were immaculate. The IFA was mediocre. No TV shows, just movies. The seats are starting to show their age but they were comfortable. The leg rest was useless as it didn't offer much support and the buttons used to operate the recline and leg rest were stiff and hard to press. Overall, the flight is good value for money but catering needs to be improved.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Washington DC via Narita

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "Would never take again for a long flight"

Review: Lisbon to Geneva via Brussels with Brussels Airlines. Flight attendants were strict and unhappy. No snacks or water served on 3 hour flight. Everything served was extremely expensive and unreasonable. Had to personally go to cabin to get cup of water. Would never take again for a long flight. Landing was very unsatisfactory, very bumpy and wing tipped.

Route: Lisbon to Geneva via Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: US Airways Express. We arrived very early for an afternoon flight and asked if possible to change to earlier flight. Customer service lady very kind and helpful - changed it to 11.15 am flight no extra charge. Boarding smoothly, small plane. Allocated 2 seats and prefer that configuration. Only 1 flight attendant with a good sense of humour. We were unaware that flight from Philadelphia to New York was only 19 minutes so quickest flight we have ever been on. Only negative is we prefer life jackets in case of emergency not flotation cushions on bottom of seats. The main thing is we arrived safely.

Route: Philadelphia to New York LGA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "Terrible experience"

Review: Terrible experience. We arrived at the airport more than 3 hours earlier than our flight departure time. Before we arrived at the airport, we were constantly checking the Delta app, and it always showed that the flight was on time. When we checked in (3 hours before our flight) the counter person let us know there was a "slight" delay. We were in the airport from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. At 11 p.m. Delta announced that the flight would be delayed until 11 a.m. the next morning. We went back to the counter, and the counter person took quite a while to find a solution that would allow us to arrive at our final destination, Phoenix. We were somewhat confused because other airlines (JetBlue) still had flights that were flying out that night to JFK. The counter person finally found a solution for us. The solution involved sending us to a hotel, where we would spend one night. Then from the hotel, a taxi would pick us up and drive us 5 hours to a completely different airport (Punta Cana.) We did make it to the Punta Cana airport on time and were able to get on a flight to Dallas and connect on to Phoenix. One of the stresses that occurred was that the hotel that the Delta ticket counter person sent us to was full. When we arrived at the hotel at 11 p.m., the hotel manager said that there were no more rooms available. After more than 30 minutes, they were able to squeeze us all in 1 room, with my daughter sleeping on a cot on the floor. The following morning, the taxi driver (that Delta provided) was a very unsafe driver. We were in the taxi with him for 5 hours. He drove all over the road, cars and buses honking at him, he talked on his cell phone, stopped to buy street food, asked us for gum, and when he dropped us off at the airport he asked us for a tip 3 times. We gave him $10 but he truly scared us the whole trip.

Route: Punta Cana to Phoenix via Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "gave us a perfect and impressive travel"

Review: The first time I took my one-year old baby on a long journey (Oct 31, 2020 Beijing-Toronto) we met many difficulties. Fortunately, the flight attendants of Hainan Airlines gave us a lot of help. They took care of me and my baby all the way and provided very considerate service. I was deeply moved by their warm, patient behavior. They watched over the baby's various needs along the way and played with him when he was upset and crying. Here I would like to express my special thanks to the HU7975 crew of Hainan Airlines, who gave us a perfect and impressive travel.

Route: Beijing to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "wouldnt even wish that on my enemies"

Review: What Air Transat did to me, I wouldnt even wish that on my enemies. I was supposed to fly to Manchester on December 24 2022 for departure at 9 50 pm but my issues started with them at 5 50 pm. When they were checking me in, the whole process was sketchy where they were piling suit cases for all destinations in one area. I said how will you even find the correct luggage. Was told sir do not worry about it. Moving on, checked in all was fine when at 9 50 pm passengers were told the incoming flight from Montreal is delayed and well take off at 11 30. Post midnight we finally boarded and now announcements started one after the other by the captain that were still waiting for luggage to arrive.

Long story short 3 hours later , luggage still didnt arrive and the crews time had expired, and now they couldnt fly anymore. At 3 30 am, we were told to disembark with a departure time of 8 20 am provided. I decided to wait and at 8 15 am, we were told that the crew has not arrived yet and we will be taking off at 10 am. Now, We were told that the crew is on its way but somehow in the middle, the crew got lost and the pilot never showed up for the time specified. Maybe between the time he left his house to the airport, he called in sick. So what now ? Departure is at 9 50 pm at night of the following day. At this point I said give me back my luggage and Im happy to leave. Theyre like we need time locating it and the staff escorted me out to a domestic arrival area where easily 1000 bags were piled and I was now on my own to look for it. 2 hours of searching I somehow located my bag and called it a day on the worst Christmas ever! (It took me 18 hours to get out of there) I hope I can call tomorrow and get a refund! Im sure that is going be another nightmare. This Is a combination of poor airline decisions combined with the worst airport crew in the history of North America. On top of it all, they gave out $15 meal vouchers when everything at Pearson is 20 dollars and up.

Route: Toronto to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "treated rudely in security"

Review: We had a slight delay at the beginning, which our pilot explained was due to air traffic control. On the flight my wife became extremely sick. We pressed the button to call for an attendant, no one ever came to check on us. When we landed we had a substantial delay, which our pilot explained was due to air traffic control. We were late to our connecting flight. While in security the first person yelled at us for being late. We were treated rudely in security. We got to our gate 10 minutes before departure. None of the attendants at the gate would talk to us, we waited several minutes and then left to find customer service instead. The customer service clerk was helpful and quickly scheduled us to the next flight to our city.

Route: Athens to Washington via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "in all good value for money"

Review: Flight on time, arrival on time, the only downside is the parking at the remote stand in Madrid, it takes a lot of time to deboard the plane and is not nice because it was raining, the crew was nice, the plane was new, in all good value for money

Route: Lisbon to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "It is stressful and tiresome"

Review: I had a bad experience with RJ travelling from Chicago to Saudi Arabia via Amman. I feel the service lacks respect and consideration for the passengers' requirements. No consideration was given even when I flew business class and was in a wheelchair. I haven't come across any airlines where wheelchair bound passengers are the last to board the flight and the last to leave the flight. All economy class passengers were given priority to board the flight while I paid to upgrade by ticket to business class. When I confronted this I was told a lie that they are going down and not boarding while they all boarded the flight and I was last to go in and couldn't find the place to put my hand carry. The food was terrible and staff service was very negligent. Even when I requested for water to take my medication nobody paid any attention to it. Seats are terrible in economy class. My stopover was over 12 hrs and I was not given a hotel even after my request. I felt I wasted my money upgrading the ticket and could have used that money to stay at a hotel. No customer service phone number to communicate. Through email they just forward you the general info to all your inquiries. Lost baggage tracking is zero. So if your baggage is lost it is lost forever. I lost my baggage of Zam Zam water and couldn't contact airlines for almost a week now and have not received any response from them either. I would not recommend anybody to use this airline. It is stressful and tiresome on a long journey of 13 to 14 hr flight. I hope my comments will be taken seriously and action will be taken to give better service and to live up to its name of ROYAL.

Route: Jeddah to Chicago via Amman

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Most disappointing experience"

Review: Most disappointing experience. My flight has been changed 4 times, made me stay in Abu Dhabi without any prior notice. Manager on the counter didnt care about my issue. I dont recommend to fly with Etihad.

Route: Melbourne to Istanbul via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "yet another delayed flight"

Review: Waiting for yet another delayed flight. During our holiday we flew several times with Lion Air and almost every flight was delayed, rescheduled or altered. No problem, price is right youd think but the annoying part is that they dont communicate. You are kept guessing and waiting. No fun if you have a connecting flight ahead of you. Indonesian nickname is lying air. Locals usually are very laidback but if you care to see furious Indonesians, Lion Air can provide. Yep, once but never again.

Route: Banda Aceh to Batam via Medan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Japan

Title: "no staff indicating the status"

Review: Kansai to Tokyo Narita. Flight was already delayed two days before. I am sitting here at 6.30pm waiting for a flight that was supposed to be at 1.55pm. If Jetstar cannot sustain their credibility they should not be operating flights in Japan. There are no staff here indicating the status.

Route: Kansai to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "Won't be using them again"

Review: Zero social distancing, sitting like sardines. Badly damaged my bag that was booked in, had to buy a new one before returning on a different airline. Won't be using them again.

Route: Lanseria to Capetown

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "Icelandair was very disingenuous with me"

Review: My wife and I was supposed to fly in September 2020 for my 70th birthday to Ireland and Scotland. We all know what occurred starting in March 2020. Covid-19. Due to health and safety issues I continually checked to see if Icelandair was going to cancel our flights. It seemed to me that Icelandair was playing chicken with our flights so that instead of letting me know that they were cancelling the flights and that I could get a refund, they kept me in the dark as to the status of our flights thereby forcing me to cancel my flight and take a travel voucher instead or potentially losing $1600.00+ dollars. I am also aware that I was not the only traveler to experience this problem. So I got a travel voucher only to find out later, when speaking to an Icelandair representative that my flights had been cancelled. So to put it succinctly, Icelandair was very disingenuous with me. I should have received information that Icelandair had cancelled my flights and I should have received a refund. Now they refuse to give me a refund because I got a travel voucher. Another way to look at this is that, at the expense of the traveler, Icelandair keeps your money to keep them afloat. Simply horrible.

Route: Chicago O'Hare to Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "supervisor was unhelpful"

Review: On June 24th I was booked on the first flight from Nadi to Labasa via Nausori international airport. The check in was supposed to open at 4.30am, we get to the airport around 4.45am and no one shows up till 5am for a flight that was scheduled to leave at 6.00am. Once at the check-in, instead of checking us right through to Labasa the agent only checked us to Suva's airport only. Upon insisting that we only have a 30 minute transit time which contradicts with their check-in policy which states check-in closes 30 minutes prior departure. The same plane from Nadi to Suva goes from Suva to Labasa. On asking for a reason she said "oh don't worry you have ample time" so I chose not to argue any further. Fast forward to Nausori, once we get there we collect our bags with 15 minutes to departure and boarding call made. Once we get to the Nausori the staff were unhelpful and said "the flight is full go on the 10am one" I obviously said "you can't tell me that because we are booked on that flight and our seat should be there". The supervisor was unhelpful, and she walked inside and came out after 10 minutes and then checked us for the flight. This caused a delay of 20 minutes of the next flight. Upon complaining to the airline they took so much time in responding I chose to go and confront the check in agent myself and she was giving me lame excuses. The only reason this airline is getting even a 5 from is because the inflight staff were very friendly, and the check-in agents on my return were helpful and friendly. The flight attendant on the return leg from Suva to Nadi is the best FA I have ever come across.

Route: NAN to LBS via SUV

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "special meal of a good quality"

Review: Tokyo to Taipei. Priority check-in at Narita was quick and easy. I was able to change my seat at the counter. Boeing 777 has a beautifully designed cabin and offers lots of choices on the inflight entertainment system. The cabin manager on this flight was kind and helpful. I was welcomed on board and addressed by name. The vegetarian special meal was of a good quality. There was a selection of drinks available, I tried Kumquat Lemonade and Formosa green tea. On arrival, my luggage was first off the belt as it was marked Priority. I am a SkyTeam Elite Plus member and I never experienced such attention to detail and personal service.

Route: Tokyo to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "Thank you for providing a great service"

Review: Flew on Garuda Indonesia on the GA 408 flight from Jakarta to Denpasar, Bali. During check in I was meet by Garuda First Class and she help and assisted me through the check in process and through security to the Garuda lounge where I was put in a VIP room, although small was it was more than adequate. There was a good selection of food available in the lounge including breakfast and the lounge team were on hand to take my order. Assisted me when boarding and escorted me to the plane, the Garuda Cabin crew were on hand to welcome me and direct me to my seat. After take-off, a choice of 3 meals was offered and I chose to go with a steak, however there was a full 3 course meal presented all tasted good including the starter. The flight took just over 1 hour and 35 minutes and after landing and when the plane door was opened, I was meet by the Denpasar Garuda First Class team who escorted me to the baggage hall and assisted in getting my luggage. He then escorted me outside the terminal building to meet my hotel contacted. In fact, they had contacted the hotel representative in advance to advise them I had landed, therefore I was on my way to the hotel within 15 minutes after landing. Thank you for providing a great service.

Route: Jakarta to Bali

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "cabin was 16 degrees Celsius"

Review: The temperature in the passenger cabin was 16 degrees Celsius from the beginning. We were struggling to resist like in a fridge. After takeoff, I asked two stewards to do something. Many passengers search for extra clothes, hats, and hooded sweaters. After a while, the temperature increased to 18 degrees C, but after two hours of flight, my portable thermometer indicated 16 degrees Celsius again. I asked a steward again to do something; our kids were sneezing and coughing. Nothing happened this time. I asked for a hot tea, and I received it after 25 minutes. After 4 hours and 40 minutes, we arrived at our destination chilled and shivering from the cold. If you are asking about the rest: garbage food, anytime delays at takeoff, no priority boarding if you travel with children. I see no good future for this flight company if they continue like that.

Route: Dubai to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "worst service Ive ever had"

Review: It was the worst service Ive ever had! First they delayed my flight for 6 hours. Then at the airport the delayed a flight again for 1 more hour and said that our plain is coming from Vegas. Very nice and good to know, do they give trouble to plan a time? Others flight to Hawaii with other airlines didnt get canceled! So disrespectful! I will never buy them again.

Route: Los Angeles to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "a good experience"

Review: Frankfurt to Shanghai via Taipei. Check-in was extremely quick and the staff very friendly. The departure was on time. The seat spacing is average in an international comparison. The on-board catering is very good and very extensive. The beverage service leaves nothing to be desired. Aircraft cleanliness contributed to well-being. Overall a good experience. The Inflight Entertainment offered relatively new and a lot of films.

Route: Frankfurt to Shanghai via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "cabin crew are pleasant on this route"

Review: SV 0834: JED-KUL. I only flew this airline because the date of my travel was changed. I thought it can't be that bad. Extremely rude and arrogant ground crew at check-in at Jeddah International Airport with privileged attitude that made us feel as if we begged to fly their airlines. Fellow friends get shouted at. However, cabin crew are pleasant on this route. Get their job done well accompanied by a genuine smile. Seat and food are pretty standard. Never again.

Route: Jeddah to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Shanghai Airlines

Title: "they don't seem to care"

Review: We booked a flight from Kuala Lumpur to Amsterdam via Shanghai with China Eastern Airlines. The part from Kuala Lumpur to Shanghai was operated by Shanghai Airlines. Departure time was 2.10am out of Kuala Lumpur and expected arrival in Shanghai at 7.20am. The inbound flight already arrived 30 minutes late so we boarded the plane at 2.30. The seatpitch at seat 33A and B was okay and after showing the safety instruction video on the screens we expected to depart. To our surprise the cabin attendant announced a delay of 3 hours due to ATC-restrictions by ATC Singapore. The gate was already disconnected and the boarding door was closed so we had to stay in the plane for over 3 hours. A cup of water and a meal were being served at 3am. After that, we had to stay in the plane and we were told to stay in our seats. There was no information from our captain and the flight attendants hid in the galley. Out of the blue the plane was pushed back from the gate at 6.05am. Without information we departed out of Kuala Lumpur. No idea how long the flight was going to take and what the arrival time in PVG would be. During the flight they served one croissant (which originally would be served during the dinner we received at 3am) and half a cup of Chinese tea. Our bags never made it to our final destination and are still in China. Today, 3 days after the flight with Shanghai Airlines/China Eastern, we still haven't received them back nor did we get any info about our bags. My advice is not to fly with Shanghai Airlines. They don't seem to care about passengers and their bags and leave you without any information.

Route: KUL to PVG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "definitely the last time"

Review: New York to Shanghai. We re-booked on China Eastern as our original flight with United Airlines was cancelled due to the ongoing issue in China. We paid extra about 90USD / seat to get an emergency exit seat. Once boarded the aircraft I found that the seat was broken. I changed to another one as our row was not fully booked. No blankets and no pillows available even on request. Once airborne I found that the screen could not be turn out from the seat. But even if it would be there were no ear sets provided at all. My wife was watching movies reading the subtitles. For the food I can't give any comments as neither I nor my wife have tried it but I found it very funny that they serve breakfast at afternoon time in Shanghai. Drink selection was also not so nice, just standard soft drinks, Chinese Qingdao beer or Chinese red wine. The aircraft was pretty new however for the seats I had the feeling that they are really old. The head rest could not be pulled up enough, the seat itself was quite thin and after almost 15 hrs. of flight it was really hard to stay inside this seat. I have flown China Eastern quite a lot for domestic but for international flight it was the first time and definitely the last time.

Route: New York to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Our Tuesday wasted completely"

Review: Ryanair - only for masochists. We booked early. So we could have the whole Tuesday in London. Then the flight was moved to the evening. I tried to cancel, but with little luck. Waited 30 minutes for help on the phone. The instructions I was given didn't work. Gave up and decided to use the late flight. And then the flight was delayed by 1 hour. Arrived so late in London - all the restaurants were closed! Our Tuesday wasted completely. So - will try to avoid Ryanair in the future. There are other companies.

Route: Oslo to Stansted

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "after 6 months haven't refunded me"

Review: I bought a round trip ticket with this airline from Bali to Kathmandu via Kuala Lumpur, 5 days later the airline cancelled a part of the itinerary. I called the customer service which refused to provide an alternative flight in a flexible time frame of over a month. Therefore I asked for my refund which I was informed it could take up to 6 months. 6 months past now and still haven't seen my 900 usd spent with this company. I paid my ticket, the airline cancel it, refuses to find an alternative with a very flexible timeframe, say will hold the money for 6 months, which is already ridiculous, but still even after 6 months haven't refunded me.

Route: Bali to Kathmandu via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Impressed with the service"

Review: Impressed with the service from the staff from ground to in flight. There is 20 kg baggage allowance with no extra charge. Light snack served is delicious.

Route: Khon Kan to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Dolomiti

Title: "the dirtiest plane"

Review: Frankfurt to Florence. The aircraft could be a newish plane but it was so dirty and very grubby inside. The dirtiest plane I have ever been on. I don't know who cleans them or the last time it was done. It's a shame as that is the only problem I found with Air Dolomiti.

Route: Frankfurt to Florence

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "This is the worst airline"

Review: This is the worst airline. They cancelled my flight without notification. "The pilot was too tired". While I am pleased the pilot didn't attempt to fly, the airline did not offer any other option. They sent a link for $175 for our inconvenience but the link does not work and in fact, expires! The very next day, the new itinerary, was moved from 8:00 am to 6:00 pm in the evening. Again, no notice and this time it was "the airport delay". For the pleasure of flying with Allegiant, I incurred over $1200 in additional travel expenses. Not one professional apology or effort to make the travel better. It doesn't matter that individuals had deadlines and places to be and they could care less. The final straw, we had rebook the flight because the second flight was cancelled. They had the nerve to recharge us! Unbelievable. Trust me, you get what you pay for with this airline. Just pay Delta; get to your destination without worrying about this BS.

Route: Mesa to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "Zero empathy for customers"

Review: Abu Dhabi to Chandigarh via Delhi. Jet Airways cancelled the 9W 211 flight from Abu Dhabi to Delhi on March 1st 2019, didn't inform me till I got to the airport. I was stranded in Abu Dhabi. They told me that they can't rebook me or put me in a hotel. So I have to pay triple amount for a new ticket on a different airline and the hotel stay, i.e almost an additional $1000. Zero empathy for customers. The Jet Airways staff in Abu Dhabi reflected the culture prevalent in the airline, i.e useless, smiling and enjoying while the customers suffered.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Chandigarh via Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "I was impressed"

Review: TAM airlines is the only form of transportation I have come across in Brasil that is on time. I was impressed when I checked in and was transferred to an earlier flight that was already boarding. I was impressed at the efficiency. I boarded the earlier flight and was surprised that my luggage came on the same flight. They also had an English speaker so I didn't have to struggle with my Portuguese in explaining the situation.

Route: Curitiba to Rio De Janeiro

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "terrible customer service"

Review: Terrible customer service with Peach! Arrived to the airport over an hour before the flight and no signs showing where the Peach counter was. Had to ask security to find the bus/shuttle to take us to the terminal that was 15 minutes away in a strange warehouse set up. Once at the counter, we still had 30 mins before our flight but were unable to check in because check ins must be made 50 mins before the flight. Even though we had one carry on each and no checked bags, the staff would not work with us at all to make the flight. No refund or flight transfer funds were offered. We even tried to fly to Osaka instead but by the time we asked we were only 48 minutes before the next flight and were unable to check in. We asked for the supervisor and were first told no, then told he wouldn't be there until after an hour. And by the way, in the thirty minutes we tried to talk to the representatives, over 3 other groups of four people were turned away at the counter as well for not making the 50 minute check in window. Peach clearly sells cheap tickets and banks on the fact that people will not make the flight in time to check in. Worst customer service I've ever experienced. Be warned.

Route: Okinawa to Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "flight itself was fine"

Review: Rhodes to Athens with Olympic Air. The flight itself was fine. The A320 was clean, with those typical hard-cushioned thinner type seats albeit with good legroom. You also get a free sugar kick via a paper cup of coke, a cookie and a candy in a swift non-dentist-friendly service which is not much, yet already 3x more than what you get on an LCC. Engaged FAs with a certain flair also add to the appeal. The problem was that the flight was delayed for over an hour yet no one considered it a good idea to inform people already queing up at the gate. It was only 5 mins after the original departure time (still on the gate screen) that a ground handling lady showed up to inform passengers that the plane hadn't taken off yet from Athens, so she couldn't really say when we would fly. Why on earth would A3 just let people go airside at what is easily one of the busiest airports per square ft, just to try to find a spot to seat for hours with no info? And even if the airport staff at Rhodes is overwhelmed, why don't you use the app to inform passengers? As I type this, I see that the Sunday flight was also an hour and 15 mins late. Is that a pattern? Bottom line, if you are booking your flights independently, allow plenty of slack for your connecting flights as high season ramps up.

Route: Rhodes to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "just an unpleasant flight"

Review: Berlin to Abu Dhabi. XL seats are good, great leg room and I found the seat very comfortable to sit on.

Everything else was quite sad! Crew was cold and except for one flight attendant there were no smiles. None of them seemed happy or enjoying their job. Food was very disappointing, actually shocking how little it can be, and I am not a big eater. It was just an unpleasant flight.

Route: Berlin to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "wait for a year to get my money back"

Review: I have made a business class booking last July 1, 2020 as they were still selling tickets via their website despite their borders being closed. After several cancelations, I have made a refund request and with no options on the table, I have agreed to wait for a year to get my money back. It's been more than 12 months now and I have emailed them last June and still waiting for their reply

Route: Dubai to Manila via Muscat

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Rescheduled my flight at short notice"

Review: Rescheduled my flight at short notice. Sent an email saying the flight was rescheduled. Had a Flight Rescheduled Refund policy, refused to refund the flight because according to them 'the flight was not rescheduled on their end'.

Route: Singapore to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Croatia Airlines

Title: "Avoid at all costs"

Review: Split to Munich. Avoid at all costs. My boyfriend and I had ONE checked luggage under his name (you are allowed one free checked bag per person). We each had a carry on as well that we had no issues with when we travelled to our destination. However, on our way home, my boyfriend was hauled aside and forced to check in his carry on for a whopping $400!! Because they claimed it was too big was a normal size) now, they could have checked it in under my name free of charge since I had no checked bag under my name (Im entitled to one free one) but they refused, and instead scammed my boyfriend for $400. The only reason he paid was because we were close to missing our flight. The representative at the Munich airport (this happened in split) was appalled at what had happened to us and assured us that we were treated wrongly and to issue a complaint against Croatia airlines. They still refuse to refund his money and claim they cant do anything since he already paid.

Route: Split to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "such a poorly run company"

Review: Lost our bags on the second leg of our trip from Cairo to JFK. we got 2 that found their way home but 3 are still missing and we are going on a week now with no assistance from EgyptAir. We filed a missing bag report with them on the 29th at the JFK airport and the gentleman there gave me a number to call 718-360-8927 that number goes to VM and the mailbox is full, been that way for over 3 days now. I have spent 8 hours a day for the past 3 days trying to get someone at Egypt air to even acknowledge that they lost our bags. At one point, they blamed it on another airline and denied our claim, literally the only response we got was them telling us that it wasnt their responsibility. I have never in my life seem such a poorly run company in my life. When you have the bag tag info and everything is scanned and tracked, how do not help find my bags!

Route: Cairo to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "the worst airline ever"

Review: Easyjet is the worst airline ever, flight EZY6582 16/05/23 from Rijeka to London Gatwick was canceled after checking in and waiting for the plane at the gate. It is not possible to get information about accommodation or alternative flights for that day, another flight after 4 days was offered - it sounds like a mockery. I do not recommend EasyJet to anyone and avoid this airline if you can.

Route: Rijeka to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "very comfortable flight"

Review: Kuwait to Bangkok. It was a very comfortable flight. The flight was on time, aircraft was almost new. Cabin crew was ok attentive, food & beverage above average though no alcoholic beverage available. The toilets were not that clean. The seat, leg room was ok. Would fly again with Kuwait airways.

Route: Kuwait to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "made me wait forever"

Review: Scoot is not the airline for those who has mobility issues and needs a wheel chair. They made me wait forever, because i did not want to miss my flight, i had to walk to the far away gate.

Route: Singapore to Surabaya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "Nice smooth flight"

Review: Newcastle to Corfu. Flight left around 10-15 mins late due to air traffic control restriction. Quick ascent, seatbelt signs turned off very quickly. Seat were ok, a little cramped if you are tall but the seat itself was comfortable. Like the fact they have made the backs rigid plastic so if people go into the pockets on the back the person in front shouldn't really feel it. There was overhead screens which initially showed the route map and later turned into a children's film. One drink and snack round before meal was served about 1hr 30mins into flight. Could have been a little quicker as the flight set off at 5.30am and everyone was ready for breakfast. Nice smooth flight, a few announcements from captain when we flew over the stunning alps. Flight was uneventful. Meal was good, I enjoyed the breakfast and it was served with tea coffee or juice. Flight home was great as well, food was good although if I was being picky the portions were small but you do get crackers, cheese, a bread roll and a small pudding to make up for the hot meal being small. Drinks and snacks are expensive just like any other airline. Usual sales pitch on duty free goods, not many takers on our flight. Toilets were clean and functioning. I find Thomas cook fine for these short journeys. We have gone with them long haul on the larger planes to Vegas and we found them fine for the price. We would fly with them again.

Route: Newcastle to Corfu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "made the stupidest mistake"

Review: Los Angeles to Copenhagen via Reykjavik. Ive made the stupidest mistake of booking with Wow for the second time - first time I booked, made a mistake, called 1 minute later and even though i just wanted to change the flight to another wow air flight, I had to purchase an entirely new ticket. This time, Im supposed to fly on the 20th December with a two hour layover in Reykjavik. I get a text 3 days before my flight saying that theyve had unforeseen circumstances and that im going to fly on the 19th of December instead. This means that i will have 16 hours of layover instead. I can see that there is a flight from Reykjavik to Copenhagen on the 20th of December that would allow me fewer hours of layover but because my flight is from Lax to Copenhagen, with a layover in Reykjavik, they cant just change my second flight to reduce my layover. It is absolutely insane how inflexible the customer service for this airline is. Oh and you thought that i would get some type of compensation for this inconvenience? $0. Actually i have to pay for this mistake because i am missing an extra day of work.

Route: Los Angeles to Copenhagen via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aircalin

Title: "Excellent onboard service"

Review: Fantastic flight. Despite a delay departing Narita due to weather, I really enjoyed my flight on Air Calin. The crew were fantastic - very friendly and helpful. Excellent onboard service, great food, a very comfortable seat and the cabin was clean. I would fly them again.

Route: Tokyo to Noumea

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "I've found decent service"

Review: Milan to Cagliari. Wasn't taking an Alitalia flight for years, and was expecting the worse. Funny enough, I've found decent service and reasonably clean aircraft, with good knee space. Flight attendants looked stressed, but didn't disappoint. Surely will choose Alitalia again, at least for short range flights.

Route: Milan to Cagliari

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Excellent in flight"

Review: Excellent in flight, brilliant crews, yummy food and beverages, also clean seat. Attentive staff who were well trained. I recommend to fly this airline even though a short flight. Please make the reservation in advance, you will find the very good deal or lower than budget airlines.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "Reserved seat was ignored"

Review: Frankfurt to Palma de Mallorca. Reserved seat was ignored, it looks not unusual. My family booked 4 seat together beforehand in website. But boarding pass we got in airport forced us to seat far location each other. One lady kindly changed her seat for my son 8 years old to my next seat. She was forced to seat separately with her husband instead. My wife and daughter 11 years old are forced to seat one by one separately.

Route: Frankfurt to Palma de Mallorca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "flight issues on a single Trip"

Review: In this trip, Delta had accomplished more flight issues on a single trip than I've personally experienced on a few hundred flights in past over various carriers. Delayed bag for over 24 hours New bicycle bag that while saving the bike, was sacrificed with an extreme puncture that broke rivets and reinforcement bars. In one trip, the bag as well over a dozen notable marks and the final blow being fatal. Inability to maintain a schedule due to lack of available pilots. Wifi system had been non functional over most of the four flights where it was expected to be. Unnecessary automatic rebooking which had to be reverted due to their inability to maintain a schedule. Delivery service provided to deliver bags unprofessional. Storing customer baggage on personal property when having delivery issues when they had not contacted me for delivery, leave a message in voicemail or text, or email. Bathroom door on A321neo had alignment issues making door closure very difficult. It resulted in myself accidentally opening the door on a woman, to which the flight attendant stated it was a user issue. They have not initiated a communications on the process ongoing. When I called just about two weeks post report, they stated a general manager was in communications with the delivery service.

Route: New York to Kona via Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "refund system is very bad"

Review: Sharjah to Cochin. My review is not against flight services, its about finance team. Their refund system is very bad, I have been sending emails for refund since 2 month, and customer service is responding to emails. Unfortunately finance department never replied. I did not receive any single rupee as refund yet.

Route: Sharjah to Cochin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "Thats how Austrian Airlines treats business class clients"

Review: Quick update to my last review of Austrian Airlines. So after waiting for my luggage for half my holidays, Austrian told me they would deliver my luggage today. As you can imagine they failed to honor that as well! When I contacted them I was told I was to take a taxi at my own expense to come retrieve the luggage in the warehouse of the local agency in the middle of nowhere in a foreign country! There you have it guys. Thats how Austrian Airlines treats business class clients. Dont say that nobody warned you.

Route: Paris to Larnaca via Vienna

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "most unreliable airline"

Review: I fly regularly with BMI to places in Germany. But every time there are changes in flight times. I had booked a return flight to Hamburg from Bristol. My flight to Hamburg was booked for Thursday 25th May and ETD was 16.50. When I checked in online the day before, I found out that my ETD had changed to 18.15. I hadn't received any info about this. My return flight to Bristol was originally booked for Monday 29th May at 10.30. A few weeks after my booking, the return flight in the morning was cancelled and the new departure time was 19.55. A week before my flight this time was changed to 21.20, so this was the 3rd change for a flight on the Monday. And then of course there was a delay and the ETD of my flight back to Bristol 23.00 At the end of March I had another return flight booked from Bristol to Dusseldorf. While in Germany, I received a text message that my return flight had changed from the Monday evening to the Tuesday morning so I had to stay another night in Germany with extra costs. I have emailed and phoned BMI, but until today no results. Two years ago a flight from Munich to Bristol was cancelled the night before, however nobody was informed. My return flight to Bristol was scheduled for 06.45 in the morning. After a ride of 2.5 hours I arrived at the airport at 05.00 in the morning, only to find out that the flight was cancelled and nobody knew why. I have tried to get compensation of BMI with no result. That flight times change is not the first time with BMI. Unfortunately, I already booked several flights with BMI for the whole year. I now am going to look for flight with a stop as they are more reliable then flying with BMI. The most unreliable airline in my point of view.

Route: Bristol to Hamburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peruvian Airlines

Title: "never fly Peruvian Airlines again"

Review: I was a victim of Peruvian Airlines too. On March 20, 2016 there was an aborted takeoff of a Peruvian Airlines flight 218 in Cuzco. All flights in and out where cancelled. Peruvian Airlines did not communicate anything to us. Peruvian Airlines checked is in and took our baggage for our flight late in the afternoon despite having "delayed" most previous flights that day. Our flight never made it to any departure board or gate sign. All announcements were in Spanish only and very few Peruvian Airlines customer service reps spoke enough English to answer questions. When we were able to find someone to communicate with, we received incorrect information. We were basically left on our own to follow masses of people running from one place to another as instructed in Spanish. To make a 21 hour long story shorter, after waiting a day in the Lima airport, Peruvian Airlines ended up sending people to hotels for a couple hours with instructions to be back at the airport at 2:30, 3:00 or 3:30am depending upon which Peruvian Airlines representative you talked to. Peruvian airlines could not find our luggage so we had to make due (Most people did manage to get their bags). Peruvian Airlines promised two additional flights for a 4:30am departure. We stood in line for another 5.5 hours and finally had a boarding pass with a departure time in the past (you can imagine my scepticism). We finally make it to Cuzco in the afternoon of the second day. One might give Peruvian Airlines a pass for poor contingency planning in the event of an aborted takeoff, but five days later, we had a similar experience with Peruvian Airlines on the return trip. Another day spent in the airport, flights delayed multiple times, poor communication from Peruvian airlines. Our connecting flight on another carrier was missed after 3 delays of our Peruvian Airlines flight. I am now in waiting in an airport lounge on Easter Sunday, my family back in the US. Thank you Peruvian Airlines! Fortunately United Airlines was able to change my return flight without any additional penalty. Unfortunately there isn't anything anyone can do to compensate me for lost time and stress. I will never fly Peruvian Airlines again. If you do, consider yourself fairly warned and plan for an additional day on each end of your travel dates.

Route: LIM to CUZ
Seat Type: Economy Class
Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air
Title: "recommend more than 100%"

Review: I can not thank Akasa Air enough. They helped me as I was travelling with an infant and I forgot my laptop and mobile bag check as my kid is a handful and I remembered when it was take-off time, entire crew worked as one and ensured I received my laptop and mobile and also ensured I don't have to miss the flight. Though it got delayed a bit because of me they waited and on the top of that they also landed the flight in BLR before time. So kudos. I will recommend more than 100%.

Route: Lucknow to Bangalore
Seat Type: Economy Class
Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sky Airline

Title: "ended up paying for my flight three times over"

Review: I booked a roundtrip flight from Lima to Cusco with Sky Airline on March 14. This flight was booked on Sky's website, NOT through a third party. The return flight was to leave Cusco at 8:10pm. On April 25, Sky Airline sent an email to say that they have moved the flight to 12:50pm. I wasn't going to arrive in Cusco on my way back from Machu Picchu Pueblo until 2:32pm via Inca Rail. Therefore, moving the flight seven hours earlier meant that I would be unable to catch this flight. Their email gave a link to apply for a full refund which would be processed within 30 days of application. I submitted that on April 26 and got a confirmation email of receipt sent to my inbox. However, one month later and multiple attempts to get in touch with the airline via follow-up emails and live chat have been unsuccessful. I ended up having to book a new last-minute flight with LATAM, so I ended up paying for my flight three times over.

Disgusting and unprofessional!

Route: Lima to Cusco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Beware of taking this airline"

Review: At the time of writing this, the 6.40 am flight is yet to depart and the ETD is given as 15.00 hrs. Delhi has no bad weather, yet the reason given is bad weather. One of the worst airlines to travel. Beware of taking this airline.

Route: Delhi to Jabalpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "basics provided more than enough"

Review: Fukuoka to Okinawa with Peach. Smooth Check-in and bag drop, the shuttle to the LCC Airline terminal was frequent and efficient. The flight was short so I found that the basics that the aircraft provided were more than enough.

Japan's first LCC was incredibly lovely and would fly with them again for my flights within Japan and to and from Korea

Route: FUK to OKA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Mahan Air

Title: "seats large and comfortable"

Review: Copenhagen to Tehran with Mahan Air. I used to travel with low cost carries like Pegasus and Norwegian and Air Asia. I'm a small size person but still had problem with the seats as they are very closed and small. The trip with Mahan Air from Copenhagen to Tehran was a great experience. The seats are very large and comfortable and the distance between seats are also good enough to be comfortable during long distance flights. Also, my one year old girl had bassinet which made the flight very nice.

Route: CPH to IKA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "lost my luggage for two days"

Review: Toronto to Amsterdam. For me to say this airline is bad, I mean it. I waited 2 hours in line just to check in. They only had two people working the check in counter in Toronto for over 200 people. The service was rude and impatient not just with me but with the other passengers during the flight. Then when I landed they had lost my luggage for two days. Please do not waste your time with these guys. They have no idea what customer service is about.

Route: Toronto to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "Impossible to reach customer service"

Review: Impossible to reach customer service. Ive called, left messages on their fb page, WhatsApp and no response. Also, while I purchased Economy ticket (and not Economy saver) and had a checked in bag included from Sarajevo to JFK, on my way back from JFK to Sarajevo I was told I had to pay extra for my bag. This has never happened before. No transparency at all.

Route: New York JFK to Sarajevo via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "Will never book their flights again"

Review: Wishes I could give it a zero. I had to make a connection in Dallas from New Orleans to San Diego but the first flight was delayed so I had to change the second flight to the latest one. The first flight was delayed 3 times until suddenly were informed its cancelled. The app automatically canceled my second flight so I had to rebook both. I eventually could take another flight to Dallas (which was delayed too) while the last flight to San Diego was still boarding (delayed by an hour as well). However since my flight (with a reserved seat) was cancelled and no seat available, I had to stay at the airport. Theres a long long line waiting at the customer assistance and the line was almost not moving in more than an hou. The staff appeared not caring and helpful, not sure what theyre doing behind the computers. Will never book their flights again.

Route: New Orleans to San Diego via Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "Excellent service"

Review: We would like to thank the Airport crew and flight MS995 crew from Cairo to Toronto for helping us clear our vaccine issue. Many thanks. Excellent service

Route: Cairo to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "Bad weather resulting delay departure"

Review: Flight itself was full. Sitting inside the cabin 20mins for waiting another plane to land so we have had to hold short at the runway longer time. Bad weather resulting delay departure, powerful turbo plane. A small packs of cookies, nuts and drinking water was provided as a refreshment .

Route: Seletar to Subang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Not worth the stress"

Review: Got bumped because flight was overbooked. Travelling with 5 children I asked them to offer compensation to others as we wanted to fly. Very unhelpful staff. Second time this happens. We now have a 8 hour wait and will arrive at destination after midnight. Wait time at priority line was more than one hour. Never again will i fly them with my kids. Not worth the stress not knowing if you get on despite their setvice inflight is ok.

Route: Mexico City to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: Monarch Airlines customer review

Review: I booked flights for my family online in early March 2015. I specifically selected and paid for 5 extra legroom seats. Upon getting onto the plane it became apparent that it did not have any extra legroom seats. I was then told that the original plane had been changed in March to the one we were now on. This was four months before we were due to fly and at no stage did Monarch inform me of this change to my scheduled flight which would have enabled me to seek alternative transport. I complained to Monarch by email whilst on holiday as I was concerned about the return flight. I got no response. Since arriving back in the UK I have again contacted them and been told my complaint is in a queue and will be dealt with in due course. Still no response to date.

Route: Birmingham to Dalman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "I am very unhappy with this flight"

Review: I am very unhappy with this flight, I paid almost 2000 DHS for a short trip. They served the food until the middle of the plane and after that they said there was no option to choose a meal and also they served coffee to the first 5 or 6 rows and stopped and they said it is for your safety. This is not comparable with Emirates.

Route: Dubai to Isfahan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iran Air

Title: "cabin crew were very professional"

Review: Tehran to Paris CDG with Iran Air. Their new and well maintained aircraft are being being used on this route so I had a pleasant experience with them. Food was amazing, cabin crew were very professional, and the flight was extremely smooth.

Route: Tehran to Paris CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "Cabin Crew were attentive"

Review: Pleasant flight although it was an older aircraft and the trip was a little bit bumpy. Take-off was on time with no issues at all. Food was nothing special but it was okay for breakfast. Cabin Crew were attentive.

Route: Bahrain to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "it's so hard to book with them"

Review: Seoul to Bangkok. Generally, staff at Korean Air are good, food is pretty tasty and the onboard entertainment is varied but unfortunately gets interrupted all the time in 3 different languages. Strangely for a "technologically advanced" nation, they fall down on their website and general technology. Their website in Korea accepts Korean or International cards. If you're an expatriate, your Korean card won't work and if you use an International card you're likely to be singled out for fraud because (quite rightly) the credit card company won't share information with a vendor. The process to overcome this is to type your entire credit card number into their system to unlock your booking. The option not to do this is unavailable and no mention is made of what happens to this very private data once it's been entered into their system. Additionally, the company air miles system regularly doesn't recognise you've flown with Korean Air and the claims system makes absolutely no sense so I'd be surprised if I ever manage to claim. It's hard to give them a great rating when it's so hard to book with them and they're overpriced because the whole economy here is one big monopoly, but I've increased my score because their staff are goods.

Route: Seoul to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hi Fly

Title: "a very good experience"

Review: Gatwick to New York. I had a ticket with Norwegian and I got a series of SMSs telling me that the company that will actually fly the plane was Hi-Fly, that there will be only limited entertainment, etc. I read reviews on this site before and was worried about this flight. I was in for a surprise. The A380 was super, clean and in very good shape, the food was very good, drinks offered, the staff was attentive, nice, smiling and welcoming. What passes for limited entertainment these days is that they offered only 16 movies on the screen in front of you and you had to bring your own headphones. It was a very good experience, in fact, one of the best in some time on a regular airline. Here is a photo of the plane as we were boarding.

Route: Gatwick to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bassaka Air

Title: "awesome flight attendants"

Review: Phnom Penh to Siem Reap. The cabin crew on our flight were amazing. They were smiling and managed to provide every passenger with a beverage on this very short 30 minute flight. We will definitely be using Bassaka Air in the future due to the affordable prices, cleanliness, awesome flight attendants, and speedy service!

Route: Phnom Penh to Siem Reap

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Good flight for the price"

Review: Good flight for the price, when I could actually get on the airplane. Reaching someone is impossible. BDL - JAX : Before I even traveled I experiences problems with Breeze Airway. The day before I was to depart, my flight was cancelled in the middle of the night due to "Staff Unavailability." I had to reach out to Breeze via the APP to schedule another flight, which was the next day. My first day's trip was totally wasted. The next day, the flight went without any problems. Airport staff at check in were helpful and polite. JAX - BDL: On my way back, we arrived 2 hours early. However, Breeze Airway arbitrarily decided to depart nearly an hour early than scheduled (I received NO notification of this change). I realized the Breeze Airway baggage check in were not available to check my bags, so I had to rush through security and have someone put my bags under the plane right at the terminal. I'm lucky they had enough basic communication to tell their staff my bag was a last minute addition under the plane, but thanks to zero confirmation my bag was physically handled, I worried my bag was going to be left in JAX during the whole flight. I got my bag, though, no problems. Overall: The only reason I'm giving a 6/10 is the flight itself was adequate, and affordable. Acceptable spacing, and the flight got me where I needed to go safely. However, the sudden changes are a nightmare, making me wonder if I should routinely risk the potential of my travel plans on Breeze Airway's sudden whims? I was NOT happy with the lack of available people at baggage check in, as well as through online, phone, or even at the terminal (until boarding started). I had no phone number to call someone in-person, so much of my plans were just leaps of faith. I sent an email, and days later I receive an automated message which directed me towards a different automated solution. I need a physical person to talk to! Some problems can't be solved by yes or no answers. Advice: 1. Constantly check the status of your flight for sudden changes. 2. Arrive 3 hours early, just in case Breeze arbitrarily decides to change the departure time. 3. Arrive two hours before scheduled flight takeoff to ensure you get your baggage checked in. If you miss check in (you'll know when no one is at the counter and it's within 1 1/2 hours before your flight leaves), just go directly to your terminal and have it checked under the plane right at the terminal. Hope they actually do it. 4. Your only way to contact someone (reliably) is either through email where you'll have to wait, OR at baggage check in/boarding - because other than that, you will not get a hold of anyone at Breeze. It's like they're a ghost, a mirage. 5. If you're using Breeze for a business trip, make sure your flight is at least 2 days before you need to be at your destination. This is just in case Breeze decides to cancel your flight last minute, and you're forced to schedule the next day. Then, hope that second flight actually takes off.

Route: Bradley to Jacksonville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "I will never go back with Austrian"

Review: Bad service, uninterested crew. It was a flight from Amsterdam to Vienna to Sofia May 22nd 2022. The first flight was delayed with 1,5 hour. No information given. During the flight we heard that the connection to Sofia already left. In Vienna no help at all, they didn't care that you missed your flight. No one to help or to guide you. "go there, go there" that was it. At all the desks I was accused I was too late. Eventually they rebooked me on a flight from 04.00 PM. After boarding there were some computer problems. Waited for one hour - no information given - then they told us the flight is cancelled and we had to get off the plane again. And the crew had the nerve to tell us to have a nice day and see you back soon! Back at the airport uninterested staff told us that there were no flights anymore that night. They could give me a hotel and the next day with Lufthansa to Paris, and from Paris to Sofia. I checked the internet there were also direct flights to Sofia. In the end I could go with a flight from 09.00 PM that night because they put me on a waiting list, but only after I did not accept their offer for a hotel. I had a 16 hour journey instead of a 5 hour journey that day because of the incompetence of Austrian. And again the worst thing was their lack of interest; they gave me a feeling they didn't want me as a customer, they only want my money. No service or compassion at all. Needless to say I will never go back with Austrian.

Route: Amsterdam to Sofia via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "they were fabulous"

Review: Went on holiday in May, flights where changed by TUI so we ended up flying with Titan Airways. I must say they were fabulous, beautiful planes and the staff were friendly and great with my little girl who is 5 years. Would love to fly with them again.

Route: Gatwick to Lanzarote

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "there is no leg room"

Review: Flew Bulgaria Air from Amsterdam to Sofia. Endless boarding due to too much hand luggage, 1.5 hours delayed of course due to weather and this airline believes its passengers dont have legs as there is no leg room at 30c and I am 1.87m. Price reasonable and can not collect points with other frequent flyer cards, booking on internet no AMEX accepted.

Route: Amsterdam to Sofia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "No social distancing during Covid"

Review: Had a bad experience with customer service, the guy didnt understand me and I ended up giving up and being charged for seats when I shouldnt have been charged. Flight from Stansted to Antalya was terrible. No social distancing and flight attendants were not doing anything to help. We had a family all gathering around our chair and I had to complain before anything was done about it. Flight attendants were miserable and the flight was packed. No social distancing during Covid and so many people were not wearing masks and the attendants were not telling people to put them on. However flight on way back was good. Flight attendants were good, encouraged social distancing, told people to wear their masks and were always cleaning.

Route: Stansted to Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sichuan Airlines

Title: "do not take Sichuan Airlines"

Review: Terrible experience. Just 4 days upon reaching Chengdu from Singapore, we were notified that our return flight was delayed for a day. We went to the airport to ask for statement of prove that our flight was delayed so as to submit our travel insurance claim. The customer service lady was totally unpleasant, not only was she reluctant to give us the statement, she also put down "company plans" as the reason for the delay. When we tried to clarify with her what is "company plans", she rudely retorted us with a "You have no right to know!" Upon returning to Singapore we were notified by the insurance company that our claim was rejected because "company plans" is not considered a valid reason and were prompted contact the airline for clarification. I called the customer service hotline, bad attitude as expected. We were again denied the statement of proof as our flight was delayed for "company plans" hence they will not provide any proof. I wonder if this refusal to provide prove is just a ploy to hide their blatant disregard for their customers in their manipulation of flight schedules to maximise profits. Complete disregard for the rights of consumers and no actual intention of providing any good service. If you value your time, do not take Sichuan Airlines.

Route: CTU to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Plane was quite busy"

Review: Just flown Dublin to Bodrum direct. Plane was quite busy and I'm delighted Ryanair are doing this flight all year round. 2 minor complaints. We were herded like cattle on the stairs leading out to the plane for quite a time. Hard going when you are old and ill. And we were 40 minutes late taking off so incurred extra expense regarding our booked taxi. Other than that, attentive crew and lots of smiling faces. Ryanair are the best.

Route: Dublin to Bodrum

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "restrooms were absolutely filthy"

Review: Worst trip of my life. The airline has 0 organization. First, going to Tokyo was very uncomfortable. The seats are terrible. I understand we flight in economy, but we still paid quite a lot of money for a trip to be comfortable. In 13 hours of flight we were served food ONCE. Several hours later they gave us a snack that won't even satisfy a 2 years old. Then coming back from Tokyo was even worse. Again in 14 hours food was served twice, the quality even worse than before. The restrooms were absolutely filthy right starting the journey (which means they didn't clean them at all) And what made me write this review is not all the previous said but the fact that our flight was delayed by 1:20'. That means that we wouldn't make it to Rome before the next flight leaves. In Tokyo we were told that the flight will wait for us, and they did, but we had to run and rush through all the airport of FCO, a woman even fell down and had an injury, we had to go to a whole different terminal because ITA Airways couldn't think about leaving us closer or plan better the trip. We made it but at what cost. We even had to go through a security check (which is ridiculous, we are in a connecting flight). We had such a terrible time I'll be traumatized by this company for the rest of my life.

Route: Tokyo to Madrid via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vanilla Air

Title: "recommend this airline for short trips"

Review: We chose Vanilla Air from Narita to Osaka due to the fact that the timing fits our landing schedule in NRT. The airline operates from terminal 3 NRT which happens to be the Low Cost Carrier terminal. One thing we noticed was that there is only a few counters (we counted around 8) for check in for all domestic flights by Vanilla Air. Due to the limited counters, there are set check in times for different flights. Since our flight was at 10.25 am departure, we are strictly only allowed to check in at 8.55. We came early and were told to wait at the corner. The flight itself was normal as how budget goes. The seat pitch was very narrow. F&B was purchasable from the cart. The plane looked quite old and seat was a bit hard. I recommend this airline for short trips.

Route: Narita to Osaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "not recommend this airline"

Review: I booked a changeable ticket with this airline for my daughter on a 4 leg return ticket. When I sought to change the first leg the change fee was exorbitant. I checked to see how much buying a new ticket for this first leg would be and for the same class of ticket it was less than half of the requested change fee. I then spoke to their customer services who agreed it would be ok that I did this and they would just 'suspend' the first leg of the original ticket leaving the remainder of the ticket available for use. When I came to check in for the second leg I found that they had cancelled the whole ticket. I phoned again and they said I could pay a fee of 250EUR to cover what they now claimed was a 'no-show' and I could then use the rest of the ticket. However, they then said there were no seats available. I then booked separately a ticket for the same flight and when my daughter boarded we found the flight to be over half empty. When I later sought a refund they refused. I would not recommend this airline to anyone and will avoid from now on.

Route: London to Maputo via Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "Delays that are hours long"

Review: Cancel, delay, delay last minute every time we book with this airline. Delays that are hours long. Never a free ticket or offer. Im tired getting in after midnight and who knows on the way to the airport Im sure I will get a text there is another delay. I know its not weather related its just incompetence. Last time when we left out of New Haven they charged us five dollars to print our ticket. When we got home I after a delay I found the text that the plane was delayed 15 minutes after takeoff. So how could I have gotten my ticket on my phone when I was already on the plane. They are so cheap plus the lady at the ticket desk was rude.

Route: Sarasota to New Haven

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Moldova

Title: "I will never book them again"

Review:

Prior to flight it was a struggle to book mobility assistance for my half blind mum. Eventually I booked it and received confirmation. No assistance was provided in Chisinau for her to catch connecting flight with only 40 min to do it. She struggled on her own. I will never book them again.

Route: Stansted to Moscow via Chisinau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "Pay the extra for Air Canada"

Review: Horrible. The departure was scheduled to 8pm. It got delayed to 8h30. At 8h30 no-one had opened the gate so we asked and they said that it was opening soon. It opened at 9pm At 9h30 they start the engine. At 9h30 they said it had a problem with the AC and they would give more information once the engineer said something. At 11h30 pm they said that they were going to run tests and say an answer in 15 minutes. 30 minutes later they come and say that they won't be flying. We get out and they said we would receive an email in 15 minutes. It's 2h04 am and we are still at the airport waiting with no signs of email or hotel. Pay the extra for Air Canada, this is not worth it.

Route: Toronto to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Travel and Book on your own risk"

Review: I had booked my ticket online through the Wizz Air website in the month of April to go from Dammam to Abu Dhabi and return as below flights: Dammam to Abu Dhabi for 23/6/2023, Abu Dhabi to Dammam for 30/6/2023. Experience for Dammam to Abu Dhabi for 23/6/2023 - Check-in was over the counter at the airport. Flight got delayed by almost 2 hrs and nobody knew what was the reason. No complimentary refreshment was given even after this huge time delay. I missed my connecting bus and reached my hotel very late at midnight due to this delay. Experience for Abu Dhabi to Dammam for 30/6/2023 - Now this is the real deal. When we reached the airport for check-in we were informed that we have online check-in option during booking. So they will charge to do check-in at the airport. That charge is almost 2 times of the cost of ticket. Wow! By the way, they will put every details like food choice, weight limits along with all useless info in ticket but they will never mention compulsory web check-in option in ticket and charges for not complying it. Also they are so caring to send you useless mail before departure to remind you to check about destination visa but never remind you to do web check-in which is only option as per their understanding and its penalty. This strategy was used to loot almost 10 more passengers who were there on the same flight. They were also cheated in the same manner and they seemed really upset which spoiled their vacation. In short, highly unreliable and really "cheap" tactics to take your money.

Route: Dammam to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "One of the worst airlines I have flown with"

Review: One of the worst airlines I have flown with. It was my first trip to Europe and I was ecstatic, that is until I had to deal with this airline. Their airline tickets were cheap but dont be fooled, they will get their money from you one way or another. They weigh your carry on bags and personal items before you can board the plane. I was over the 10kg or 22lbs allowed and they charged $120 to check the bag (one way). They do not feed nor give complimentary drinks including water! You might as well pay for the air you are breathing. Other airlines charge a bit more for their plane tickets but at least youre treated like a living human! How do they expect you to be on a 10hr flight without any food or water. Ive learned my experience and will never fly Norwegian again.

Route: Los Angeles to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: Ground staff in MUC was ok. Aircraft MUC-PHL was an A330-200, clean, nice leather seats. IFE was very good. Catering for Y class also excellent. Crew lacked happiness, rarely smiled but did their job. Flight touched down in PHL 3 minutes ahead of ETA given by crew on take off. PHL-CLT on A330-300. Aircraft showed its age, but crew was very friendly.

Route: MUC to CLT via PHL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Luxair

Title: "I didn't receive my luggage"

Review: Luxembourg to Lisbon. On arrival I didn't receive my luggage. And I received no information on the whereabouts of my luggage for 3 days. The flight duration is less than 3 hours. I was forced to buy new clothes and toiletries since my situation was precarious. I don't understand how a luggage can be lost on a direct flight of less than 3 hours duration. When I received my luggage 3 days later, I was horrified by the condition of my Luggage. My Luggage was left opened and exposed for several days and was left damaged, not being able to close completely. I was missing a white shirt and tooth brush. My luggage was searched extensively and they could not put back my affairs correctly in the right order. And could not close my luggage. No information was provided to me during these 3 days to inform me that my luggage will be opened and will be treated so horribly. The way my luggage was treated is simply not respectful of a customer. I started my Christmas holiday in an horrible way with this horrible incident. And they did not seem to be concerned at all. They never called me. they didn't put any effort on finding my luggage quickly. Very bad after service customer interaction.

Route: Luxembourg to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CityJet

Title: "a lot of technical delays"

Review: Cityjet is a no nonsense airline with an ageing fleet. Their Avro RJ85's are really showing their age now with a lot of technical delays recently. My flight (WX197) was delayed for almost two hours (02/DEC) on a multitude of reasons. Initially the scheduled plane had a technical fault. They flew a spare part in from Dublin, but then the mechanics did not make it on time and a CityJet night stopper was re-scheduled. This plane then had to be evacuated on a security issue and was no longer available for taking the flight back to Amsterdam. CityJet took some effort and flew a spare plane from Dublin which first had to be completely catered and cleaned. Once we were ready to go after 1hr 55 on the ground the flight was a normal and eventless flight of 42 minutes. These Avro's are really showing their age, not just in reliability but also the cabin and other interior.

Route: LCY to AMS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "horrible experience"

Review: Horrible organization. 0 control of people and 0 monitoring of biosecurity measures and protocols. The fleet is handing out alcohol-free cleaning wipes that aren't even antibacterial. The plane looks like a jungle, passengers are moving everywhere and are talking in the aisle, being that it was clearly said at the beginning of the flight that crowds are not allowed in the aisles. People wear the masks without covering their nose, the fleet never distributed any alcohol in gel for sanitizing hands nor masks every 4 hours as it widely known and must be 100% known to airlines. There is no knowledge or transparency as to cleanliness, the Boarding was horrible, all the people piled up and the fleet of the plane controlled nothing. There are like 15 Air Europa workers on board (perhaps more) and none of them are doing anything. I paid to reserve my seat two days before my flight and upon arrival, I was printed the Boarding pass with the seat I booked. When I went to my seat there was a person with the same seat as me, no one in the fleet knew anything and they sent me to sit somewhere else, without giving me a solution. If you have claustrophobia or any reason for not being in a specific seat, never fly with this airline. The food felt like it was made for animals. The drink selection was horrible. Overall horrible experience, people being noisy, breaking every possible rule of biosecurity and the crew was doing nothing all day. I was forced to travel with this airline, but if I can choose again, I will never come with them again. It can be seen they have horrible communication and the crew onboard was useless.

Route: Madrid to Asuncion

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "horrendous experience"

Review: Johannesburg to Durban. When arriving at Durban on the 6th of April 2022, my luggage never arrived. I was directed to the Swissport counter to report the missing luggage and was told that they will locate my luggage and have it delivered to my hotel. It is now the 9th of April and I have since returned to Johannesburg and still no bag, no answers and no way of following up or receiving feedback. I have tried the Flysafair customer careline, where I've just been looped from one automated response to the next, with no options relating to missing luggage. I've have chatted to at least 3 agents on the WhatsApp line, but as soon I describe my problem the agents logged and sends a message that my query has been resolved, which it certainly has not. I have no spent my entire Saturday at a small office in OR Tambo trying to get someone to assist me with finding my luggage. Absolutely horrendous experience!

Route: Johannesburg to Durban

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetairfly

Title: "last flight with Jetairfly"

Review: Jetairfly from Brussels to Boavista (Cape-Verde) and return via Sal. Boeing 767, not the newest one, with zero legroom and minimal seat reclining - the six-hours flight was all but pleasant! I arrived with all bones aching, and I'm just average height! No decent IFE either (unless they consider the small screens showing nonstop your flight route to be an entertainment!) In the end the 6 hrs felt like they were 10hrs! One warm meal, basic standard - you feel the charter company cutting corners everywhere! Jetairfly may be okay for the short range charter destinations in southern Europe, but I could not recommend flying it for mid to long-Range! For me it definitely was the last flight with Jetairfly.

Route: BRU to Boavista

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "her diligent and quick efforts"

Review: Mellisa from American Airlines is the one who saved a summer vacation for her diligent and quick efforts to save our flight which was cancelled at the last minute. Shes the hero to 3 kids who will have a blast and will experience memories that will last a lifetime. Thats sometimes all it takes. Doing the part that were meant to do and doing it with heart. She was on the check in counter 7/20-2023 at 6am.

Route: Charleston to Toronto via Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "the plane class changed"

Review: Flew Barcelona to Goa via Doha. We booked seats but the plane class changed, meaning we did not have seats in place where we booked. The entertainment system was good with excellent choice. The food was the same for each leg of flight and was poor quality.

Route: Barcelona to Goa via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "the service cannot be faulted"

Review: Delhi to Seattle via Tokyo. Awesome airline! Great service and very courteous and helpful staff. The seat pitch in economy was surprisingly quite comfortable for a long distance adventure like Delhi to Seattle, which without the Tokyo halt was almost 18 hours plus of flying time and even economy class turned out to be reasonably comfortable during this long route. Channel programming was also good and there were some great Hollywood new release movies to watch from, however I would have liked more movie content. We opted for Hindu Meal, Veg Meal and Jain Meal amongst us hoping to secure at least one good assortment in any of them. Although all of them were laid out well with fresh and high quality ingredients, unfortunately all of the lacked taste. The best amongst them was Hindu Veg Meal (if Indian food is your forte) although that too was served well but tasteless. They need to change their Indian chefs. Apart from the let down of getting a tasteless meal, the rest of the service cannot be faulted.

Route: Delhi to Seattle via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "night at the airport on a bench"

Review: When I first arrived the employees were rude. I arrived terminal 4 around 1 pm. My flight to San Francisco wasnt until 7:40. I had a long wait. Then it was delayed 2 hrs. So around 11pm we boarded the plane. The pilot said due to weather we had to wait inside for clearance. We waited in that hot smelly aircraft for two hours. Every 30 mins he said we would depart. The steward stayed behind the curtain as we all moaned for air due to low air quality on the plane. A few of us mentioned we felt like passing out. Then they brought out hot water. So what seemed like 3 hrs later they cancelled our flight and many flights. So hundreds of people had to stay overnight. Everyone wanted updates and a new flight. They told us no new flights. We waited in hours for phone as service that offered flights the next day. All the airport agents ran off it was too overwhelming. So I stayed the night at the airport on a bench. Canceled work the next day. All the next day I was walking and talking and checking my phone for updates. A few agents were nearby and set up new flights for me. But every time I checked on my flight it was always at a new gate. And my name was never in the system or the flight dont exist in their system. It was so weird. So going around in circles. Some agents flat out ignored me. I grab lunch at this blue square blue restaurant. I also ate at this Parisian style breakfast place. Meet a waitress who connected me with the right people to finally get an actual ticket for me out of sfo. So the next day I boarded a plane at 5pm. Again it was another delay. At the end of it the gave me a $15 food card but it was hard to order it online so I didnt use it.

Route: New York to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cyprus Airways

Title: "ever fly Cyprus Airlines again"

Review: Contrary to almost all airlines in this Covid-19 situation, who allow rebooking at no fee or a voucher, Cyprus Airways have decided they will give NO voucher or rebooking for next year. Hence you either fly - even if your family includes people at risk (my partner who was traveling with me - or you lose 80% of your (expensive) flight. We werent even asking for a reimbursement and we would have accepted to pay a change fee. But Spring/Summer 2021 timetables are not published and they dont do vouchers (only airport taxes). Even if we lose our full ticket, we will never fly Cyprus Airlines again. All airlines are in difficult situations but it is in these moments that service and « fair rules » make all the difference in the world. Never again with them - even if I pay more or make a stopover. Shame on them.

Route: Geneva to Larnaca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: Tigerair customer review

Review: That was the first time I'd flown with a low-cost airline and I felt a bit worried at first but everything ended up okay. The flight was smooth and nearly punctual. Staff was a bit cold but I had no problem about that. No food and beverages was served for free so better prepare your own. Overall I had a decent round trip SGN-SIN. I will consider flying with them again if possible.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "really help a lot to get it clear"

Review: I was coming from USA and having connecting flight to Lucknow. At the time of baggage checking the staff Shakshi helped me a lot as there was one bag extra and I have already paid for that, but somehow its was not showing in their website. This girl really help a lot to get it clear.

Route: Delhi to Lucknow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "priority booking absolutely non sensical"

Review: We are extremely disappointed in the way and manner we were treated in boarding flight FA305 to Cape Town. First the priority line and normal queues were allowed to embark at the same time which makes the priority booking absolutely non sensical. When I raised what I believe was a valid complaint the ground staff merely stated my complaint will be noted. I believe this treatment meted out by you to your priority clients call for a reimbursement as this conduct is incongruous to say the least. I am on my way to Cape Town for an urgent medical procedure and my wife also had cancer which makes standing in the sun a most unpleasant experience. We were allowed to leave the terminal building but then had to stand in the sun for an extended period before being allowed to embark. The excuse was the number of wheelchair passengers delaying embarkation. But why are we not retained in the terminal building till those passengers have been seated. We have started to support Safair but I will have to rethink after this incident as it never happened with any airline and I have been flying since the early 70s .We book on your business class package and are then treated as second class citizens.

Route: Lanseria to Cape town

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Regent Airways

Title: it was so hot on board"

Review: Kolkata to Dhaka. Yesterday we traveled with regent airways but it was so hot on board that it was unbelievable. On an airplane it is not clean and service is not good. We think next time we're not flying with Regent Airways.

Route: Kolkata to Dhaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "it feels like a grind"

Review: Flight was cancelled due to weather, rebooked to more than 24h later. Only option is a credit that has to be used within less than a year or you lose your money and they dont communicate with you at all about their decision, you need to magically look under your user ID with them. Porter used to feel fresh, now it feels like a grind. Will travel by train next time.

Route: Toronto to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "Worst experience Ive had"

Review: Santorini to Rome. Worst experience Ive had, what a money grab, was early to the airport after checking in online and my flight was delayed and then I finally was ready to board and they made me go back through security just to change my name because you have to pay to put your middle name on your ticket so I almost missed my flight and had to pay 50 euros to change my name. Absolutely ridiculous will never fly with blue panorama again. This is a money grab.

Route: Santorini to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: Sunwing Airlines customer review

Review: Cancun to Vancouver. I booked a Sunwing vacation package, for a 2-week trip December 11-25, 2019. This was a last minute trip, booked on the Monday and departing that Wednesday to a vacation in the Mayan Riviera. I upgraded to the Premium Elite Plus package. Ample leg room, although the seat support brackets for the row in front meant that my aisle seat had a more narrow area under the seat in front of me for leg room and fitting a purse. Seemed like a newer plane on the return flight but same set up for space under the seat in front of me. I found the flight crew on both the departing flight and returning flight to be extremely professional and friendly. Bathrooms kept clean and well stocked. Inflight entertainment a joke, but I knew that ahead of the trip. Brought a book to read instead. Flight departing arrived on time. Flight returning to YVR arrived almost an hour ahead of schedule. Flight crew offered beverages and food for purchase twice each during the flight. The snacks on the Bistro menu for onboard purchase are good. However, I do not recommend the Tex Mex Chicken wrap. Mine was dismal, tortilla shell mushy, and the cold taste of the wrap itself unappetizing. After two bites, I put it in a garbage bag. One of the flight crew noticed it when collecting garbage, and later informed her flight supervisor and he immediately processed me a refund. I wasn't expecting a refund, it was only $10.99, but was a very nice gesture. I just wrote it off to airplane food. I have to wonder that if this wrap was served warm if it may have tasted better. I heard the pizza was tasty. Found the return flight super hot and stuffy. The 2 Elite plus seats next to me on the return flight were not occupied. The flight attendant noticed that and moved two young kids (his words) to them as they were in the exit row middle of the plane. Luckily they were teenagers but the girl in the middle seat didn't seem to have any regard for being on a plane and me being next to her, and spread out so much and leaning on her tray table to rest she kept flipping her hair all over my tray table and in my drink. Or when sitting up, at times she was well over the arm rest space and in my area. She appeared to be maybe 13 and the friend moved with her was 15. I later learned their moms are friends and they were all travelling together. If moving young kids as the flight attendant mentioned, it may have been more pleasant to consider not placing two young kids within the Elite Plus seats. I am sure a few adults near their original seats could have swapped. And why were they assigned seats in the exit row in the first place if they were not an adult and allowed to sit there???? Just saying. My Sunwing package included airport/resort transfers. The transfer from Cancun airport to the resort took a while for the last few passengers and then departed. Only a 15 person van so nice not to have numerous drop offs. My return transfer from Grand Sunset Princess Resort to the airport was excellent. Pick up was a few minutes early and we were dropped off at the airport 20 minutes prior to being allowed to check in for our flights. Pick up at the resort was almost 4 hours before the flight departed. Only 10 people in our transfer to the airport, and no additional stops after I was picked up. Overall another happy experience with Sunwing. I know what I am getting up front and for this experience (I don't expect an Air France experience), overall they exceeded my expectations.

Route: Cancun to Vancouver

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Excellent flight overall"

Review: Boarding slow, waited on the stairs to board the bus. Flight was within the schedule, cabin crew friendly and willing to help. Seat comfortable, with lot of space (emergency exit). We travelled light, so exit in Basel was very fast.

Excellent flight overall.

Route: Cluj to Basel

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "Poor service, poorer customer service"

Review: If I could give any airline a 0/10, this would be it. I'm a very frequent traveller and my only advice for this would be don't even bother with this airline, regardless of the price. Poor service, poorer customer service and truly an example of how a company acts in bad faith. I submitted a request for refund in accordance with the terms and conditions stated on their website after my flights were cancelled and tried to call their customer service hotline to no success. One month later I am informed that they are issuing me my refund in the form of a voucher in accordance with their refund policy which was changed recently without notifying customers. Had to wait another 2 weeks to get any response from them on my further questions and the staff were completely unhelpful. Be warned, this is truly a scam airlines and their terms are so badly drafted you're forced to go into details to build your argument (also I note that they sneakily fail to include the effective date of their terms on the website so you can't tell when they update - thank heavens for screenshots and pdfs). Not worth any price if you asked me.

Route: Singapore to Nepal via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "I am extremely impressed by their work"

Review: We boarded at Trivandrum airport. Flight attendants were extremely helpful, they helped us consolidate our weight and also helped us fly without any bags. Both of them helped with my husband to get him a wheelchair and also kept on asking if he needs a doctor, as my husband was not feeling well. I am extremely impressed by their work and very thankful to both of them and others who kept helping throughout our flight. I will definitely fly again with Vistara and also recommend to others.

Route: Trivandrum to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "Flight Attendants looked tired and disorganized"

Review: First time with Saudia Airlines, totally different between the first leg Amsterdam-Jeddah with the second Jeddah- Lahore. I fly with Saudia because I belong to Skyteam Alliance and I'm a Platinum pax so I have a lot of benefits. Amsterdam-Jeddah with B787 in ECO: Ground staff very kind in Schipol and she put us in the exit seats, that means a lot of leg-room. The service was good, doesn't stand out especially if you compare with other Middle Eastern airlines. But a little better than American or European airlines. Seat ok with foot-rest, entertainment ok, food ok, a little plus with amenity bag with earplugs, eyes mask and socks. Of course no alcoholic drinks. Flight Attendants were kind and ok. In Jeddah transfer: nice and new airport, very clean and everything is new. For connecting flights you should pass other security control, that was a little bit messy between the line for normal pax and the SkyPriority line. Luckily had a lot of time to transfer. Jedddah-Lahore with B777, was totally different. We upgraded (biding system) Aircraft looks old. Flight Attendants looked tired and disorganized but very kind (because C class?). The most important was that I could sleep a couple hours. Food on demand but was not really special. Will I fly again with them - probably yes if the price is ok and of course will still be in the Alliance.

Route: Amsterdam to Lahore via Jeddah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Citilink

Title: "cabin crew were attentive"

Review: Surabaya to Kuala Lumpur. I can't wait for my trip back to KUL on Citilink. As per schedule, the plane took off fro, Juanda International Airport and landed safely at KLIA. The nasi lemak presented to me was delicious. The plane felt new and the cabin crew were attentive. I would certainly like to fly with Citilink again in the near future.

Route: Surabaya to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "I regret choosing Qantas"

Review: 1hr+ delays both to and from, no complimentary kids pack and ipads don't work. This was my sons first plane trip and I picked window seats for him on both flights, these were changed without warning. This is a premium price tag for a worse experience than a budget airline. I usually go Jetstar or Virgin, and I regret choosing Qantas.

Route: Melbourne to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "they didn't accept the proof of vaccine"

Review: They didn't let me board because they didn't accept the proof of vaccine on paper instead of the NHS. I was promised by three staff members that they were gonna take my bag out since it was a connecting flight, yet they didn't, and sent it to London. There was no apology or anything like that, , they sent me to their main office, which sent me to a different office, which sent me to baggage claims. Had to book another flight and an hotel for the night, the whole thing costed me almost £500. If you can avoid them at all costs.

Route: Mexico City to Gatwick via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "it was an absolute nightmare"

Review: I recently had the unfortunate experience of booking a flight with Lynx air, and it was an absolute nightmare from start to finish. I cannot stress enough how disappointed and frustrated I am with their service. On the way to Toronto, the flight was delayed multiple times and I ended up spending six hours in the airport waiting. When I finally arrived, they lost my baggage and it took an additional 3 hours for them to locate it. Then, on the way home, the flight was plagued by endless delays, yet again. As if that wasn't bad enough, the ultimate blow came when my flight was abruptly canceled at 2am, leaving me stranded with no viable options. To add insult to injury, the airline's representative, who seemed indifferent to my predicament, advised me to wait for an email containing a hotel voucher. She promised me it would come soon. Unfortunately, that email never arrived, leaving me with no choice but to endure a grueling 11-hour stay at the airport. This kind of disregard for their passengers' well-being is simply unacceptable. The most infuriating part of this ordeal was dealing with Lynx air's customer service. Getting through to them was a herculean task, as I spent hours on hold, only to be met with an unhelpful and rude attitude. Their lack of empathy and unwillingness to assist me in any meaningful way deepened my frustration and solidified my decision to never fly with this airline again. I strongly urge anyone considering booking a flight with Lynx air to think twice. Their unreliability, poor communication, and utter disregard for customer satisfaction make them a company not worthy of your time or money. Don't let their enticing prices deceive you; the headache and stress they will subject you to are simply not worth it.

Route: Toronto to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "charged my family over 600 dollars for the luggage"

Review: Worst airline possible. They are rude and dont care. They charged my family over 600 dollars for the luggage that they already had paid for. And not only that they charged my dads card 400$. Do not fly with them, they dont care about anyone.

Route: New York to El Salvador

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "seats were rock hard"

Review: Melbourne to Nadi with Fiji Airways. My first time to Fiji and my first flight with Fiji Airways. Although it won't be my last visit to Fiji, I think I may consider other options for flights to get there. I wouldn't say they were terrible but there were a few things that have affected my decision. Firstly, the flights to Nadi from Melbourne only depart late evening and arrive early morning in Nadi so it's often hard to find accommodation or hotels that will accept such an early arrival. Secondly, the 737-800 is woefully too small of an aircraft to be flying such a route. Thirdly, the food was very ordinary to say the least, a choice of vegetarian or chicken on noodles which was a miniscule piece of chicken on average noodles. I didn't eat on the return flight as I knew what was coming and couldn't stomach it. The inflight service was OK, on the way there, one male FA was a little passive aggressive but they were friendly and smiling on the return flight. Seats were rock hard, I had back pain and could not get comfortable on the return flight. I think I might take the option of Virgin next time I visit Fiji unless Fiji Airways improve their service in the future.

Route: MEL to NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "shockingly poor experience"

Review: Really shockingly poor experience! Our flight out of Maui was delayed and we ended up missing our connection to Lihue. There was no text notification (like we routinely get with Delta), and the PA announcements don't reach outside the immediate gate area so we didn't hear the page. They got us on another flight, assuring us that the last flight of the day usually waits on folks connecting. We relied on that, but our flight to Lihue did not wait the extra 10 minutes and we were left in Honolulu. They put us up in a seedy "hotel" I wouldn't board my dog in (room smelled like a dirty bathroom). Staff on board and in Honolulu could not have cared less, and frankly, I'll take less smiling and "mahalo" for efficient customer service.

Route: Maui to Lihue via Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "kind to me and my family"

Review: Los Angeles to Nadi . Getting from Toronto to LAX was very time consuming and almost resulted in us missing our Fiji Airways flight to Nadi. We were quite upset but the wonderful treatment of the Fiji airways staff alleviated the stress. They were so kind to me and my family and seem very genuine. Coming back from Nadi was a breeze with no delays. Fiji Air had a wide variety of drinks, delicious meals and the IFE was substantial in the range of movies, games and music selections offered. Indeed the level of service, professionalism, and attention to passenger needs was indicative of a 5 star airline. These ticket prices are very, very competitive and they are adding A350s to the LAX route in a few months.

Route: Los Angeles to Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "bump passengers off because of overbooking"

Review: You can wait in a line to checkin, for hours, and get little to no customer service because the airline overbooked. They process executive priorities, and leave ordinary people to wait. In queues with no social distancing. There is no communication by Customer Service staff to help explain the situation. Sometimes they leave the desk, and disappear. Leaving us looking at each other, wondering what is happening. There is no empathy. These are trying times to say the least with Delta on the rise, but these situations can be avoided if airlines operated with compassion. It is unethical to overbook. It is unethical to rebook for flights knowing the airplane is undergoing maintenance. It is unethical then to provide no water or refreshments onboard a later plane - after passengers have been waiting 8 hours. We arrived in Port Moresby, exhausted, hungry, thirsty and traumatised - 9 hours later. Customers deserve better service. I was later told that this is the new normal for Air Niugini and that has been occurring for the past three weeks and is expected to continue right up until Christmas as the airport gets redeveloped. This practice, on early bird flights to bump passengers off because of overbooking will continue. Air Niugini's Dash-8 fleet are old and in desperate need of repair.

Route: Lae to Port Moresby

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "customer support team was pathetic"

Review: Belgrade to New Delhi via Rome. 7th October, 2019 was my birthday. And it was the worst birthday of my life. Thanks to Alitalia's customer service support staffs. I was supposed to travel from Belgrade (AZ591) to New Delhi (AZ770) via Rome. The first flight was delayed by almost an hour as a result missed the next flight to Delhi. Nobody in Rome was willing to help. After running from pillar to post finally found someone who took all the time in the world (at least 2 hours) to inform that next flight is after 24 hours. No facility was provided except for two meal coupons. No accommodation, no visa, no lounge access. Stranded with no facilities and no luggage and was suggested to sleep on seats and survive 24 hours in cold. Surprised to see this service especially when name of Etihad is associated. I had a connecting train from Delhi next morning which I missed. I am still figuring out how to do further journey as I am not able to secure any ticket now. Their customer support team was pathetic in Rome. Sorry to use such strong word. But they cannot communicate. Their knowledge is limited. And on top of everything I did not find them humane. Especially in hospitality sectors these features are so much needed. I never thought this is the way they will compensate their customers by adding more misery to their suffering for which they are responsible in the first place.

Route: Belgrade to New Delhi via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "stay clear of Xiamen Airlines"

Review: Hong Kong to Xian via Xiamen. I had to book Xiamen Airlines because I would have to have an extra day in Hong Kong, so decided to stay in Xiamen over night. The flight was first delayed 1 hour then 2 and the 3:55 that's almost 4 hours and another airlines flight to Xiamen went through so it was not the weather that caused the delay, by the time the third delay appeared on the board it was too late to cancel my hotel booking and get a refund, once I got out at Xiamen airport I had only two hours between my flight and next flight check-in, I first asked for a compensation, they said sorry, then later I asked for a hotel refund since clearly this was their mess up that led me to the mess up, also denied, then was told that the airport free hotel had no place and the lounges wouldnt open for another two hours, will have to take my next flight soon and will have to have a sit down with a manager of some sort, of this is how they run their business I would stay clear of Xiamen Airlines and be careful considering to booking a ticket with them especially involving a non direct location.

Route: Hong Kong to Xian via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "greatly disappointed"

Review: Cairo to Doha via Amman. I was greatly disappointed with the rude, unprofessional approach of the staff. I politely asked a staff who has issues the Boarding pass to me, that I need a permission to say goodbye to my wife. The staff rudely replied to me that give me your boarding pass and I will cancel your flight . Through the flight, I thought I was the only customer who experienced such rudeness. At Amman, they delayed a flight, changed the one gate to another and the customers are angry and screaming to manifest their anger. By the way, the gate to board is not mentioned on the Boarding pass, you have to check on the screen by yourself. A worse experience, I will never book Royal Jordanian Airlines.

Route: Cairo to Doha via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "lacking in empathy and extremely aggressive"

Review: I am one of the unlucky souls who booked a flight with United in late June 2023. I had to end my vacation in the Caribbean to return to Canada for a family emergency. What was supposed to be an 9h trip turned into a four day nightmare that cost me upwards of $2800 USD in out of pocket expenses, in addition to the original ticket price. I was shocked to find some United employees incredibly lacking in empathy and extremely aggressive. On day three of the ordeal, a customer service rep at Newark took a cursory look at my booking, claimed I was rebooked on an air Canada flight and was no longer a United passenger. I told her, the booking was not complete and Air Canada had explained (after I had gone back and forth between the two long queues) that United had not actually booked me, it was more of a temporary hold. The United staff refused to even speak to me, even as I begged tears streaming down my face explaining I had a family emergency. A manager then aggressively threatened to call security if I didnt step aside because I had already used up 30 minutes of their time, which she knew was a blatant lie. I then had to go back to Air Canada and then called United on the phone, all of which was useless. I finally booked myself on a new ticket, via the United app, travelled to another terminal (C) and waited for 8 hours only to have that trip cancelled as well. I was now approaching day 4 so feeling utterly defeated, I booked myself a business class ticket home from Newark with Air Canada. It cost me $2300 USD and was a red eye with a long layover in Quebec City, but that flight DID make it and Im now home. I think United deserves to be sued for its failure to support and look after the wellbeing of its customers. Shame on them and on lawmakers who allow this level of negligence and disregard for passengers wellbeing (see reports of the atrocious conditions in some terminals especially Newark terminal C). I will never travel with United or through the US again for that matter.

Route: Nassau to Montreal via Newark

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "Amazing customer service"

Review: Amazing customer service at the gate. I missed my original flight though my own error and the gentleman at the gate couldnt have been nicer put me on the next flight to London with no hesitation and no judgement. Im so appreciative to have been treated this way. Thank you Aer Lingus.

Route: Dublin to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "Time to refresh Bangkok Airways?"

Review: My previous flights with Bangkok Airways have been good, however this trip was not up to the 'boutique' standard. While the service onboard was efficient, a couple of the female flight attendants appeared to be less than happy and did not seem to be able smile. Sure, we all have bad days, but when your job is in the service industry, then act pleasant. I also thought that the aircraft appeared to look a little tired. Time to refresh Bangkok Airways?

Route: Mandalay to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SA Express

Title: "excellent customer service"

Review: Johannesburg to Bloemfontein. This review is more for compliment for one of your service staff at domestic departures. I had a connecting flight from CPT to Bloemfontein via JHB. I flew Mango to JHB and SAA Express to BFN. There was only 1 hour between arrival in JHB and departure to BFN. The baggage claims for Mango took way too long and I was going to miss my flight. Without my bag I ran up to the SAA express check-in counters for assistance. Staff really went over and beyond to assist me and make sure I didnt miss my flight. He assisted to check me in and help to carry my bag from baggage claim up to the check-in counter and safely on the correct plane. All in time. Without is quick response and help I would have surely missed my flight. Well done for excellent customer service. Thank you.

Route: Johannesburg to Bloemfontein

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: Edelweiss Air customer review

Review: Flew from Tampa to Zurich. Found the flight attendants to be very professional and attentive. Many good entertainment options, which made the 10 hour flight go by quickly. Plain interior was very clean and looked updated. The cabin temp was oddly warm for the Tampa-Zurich flight until about the last hour, which made sleeping a bit difficult. Flight back, though, was much more comfortable. To get a seat assignment, we had to pay $40 each way per person, which I thought was a bit steep, but glad we did so we were guaranteed to sit together as the flights were rather full. Would definitely use them again when traveling to Zurich or beyond.

Route: Tampa to Zurich via Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: I booked my wife's birthday trip well in advance. I transferred points so we could elevate our flying experience. We also booked her best friend with us separately. I booked all 3 in premium economy together from SFO to AMS. Upon check-in (24 hours prior), the system split all 3 of us up. I had to call customer service to fix the issue. However, they were unable to sit our friend with us. We were excited about our journey so decided to just go with it. On our return flight, we were yet again split up and also downgraded. I had to spend another 3 hours on the phone trying to find solutions. No customer service reps wanted to help. I had to find the solution myself and we were still unable to get our friend with us. I was told to do the reimbursement online for the downgrade. So I did and it was rejected. More phone calls to customer service. I asked for supervisors but was told the reps do not have supervisors. No managers to assist them. I was told it was rejected because I didn't submit proof. Is information not stored at KLM? I asked for the reps email so I can send proof. Apparently reps do not have company emails so I cant email the rep now. I submitted proof and was told I would get some points back. I was given 68k points for my troubles. 68k?! Can I even book a premium economy flight for 2 for that? During this process I have spent approximately 8 hours on the phone and been "disconnected" four times without a return call. It seems KLM just ignores the customer in hopes they go away. They put all the work on the customer rather than take charge. This has been the worst customer service I have ever seen. I hope KIM provides further training for their employees.

Route: San Francisco to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SmartLynx Airlines

Title: "worst flight I've ever been on"

Review: I can honestly say, this was the worst flight I've ever been on. To start, it was impossible to check in online. Annoying but whatever. Then, it was also impossible to find out which terminal it was. If anyone has been to Dubai airport you will know how big it is (a 20 minute taxi journey from terminal 2 to terminal 1). Their help times are Monday to Friday 09:00 to 17:00 pretty useless since I imagine most their flights operate at unusual times. The flight was delayed by 3 hours. We sat on the runway for hours, no water or snacks or anything offered, just a captain who kept saying "don't worry, it will just be another 2 minutes" every time he spoke people laughed as it was always just a lie / treating us like fools. The plane was cramped. Lesson learnt from me - don't fly so budget if the flight is more than 4 hours. I'm happy to fly super cheap, but when you are on a flight for 9 hours (3 of those sat on tarmac or refeuling) then it becomes painful. The food looked terrible so I just had one water and one snickers for 5. Overall, a negative way to finish you holiday and I would never fly with them again. I'd recommend anyone flying back from Dubai to avoid this carrier like the plague.

Route: Dubai to Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "This company is terrible"

Review: This company is terrible. From the customer service to the hidden fees, to the inconsistent fees, to blaming everyone else. Our flight was delayed 6 hours- received an email saying my flight was updated, but no change to flight departure. Sat in the airport in Toronto from 6 am until 1 pm. Then we were taxied around for about 35 minutes to the plane, where we sat for another 1 hour. Seat assignment was only for some people - the lady sitting beside me did not have an assigned seat, but upon check in my fiancé and I were told we must have an assigned seat. Be consistent. We checked a bag- they lost the bag. The guy checking it in did not care at all about us checking in (he also knew about the delay but didnt say anything). When we found out where the bag was lost, turns out he didnt put it in place to actually be delivered to be on the plane. It didnt leave Toronto. He also could not figure out how to check it in, so just said its free, rather than following steps. No wonder it was lost. Upon arriving, we couldnt find anyone from Lynx to find out where our bag was. Staff left. We dealt with someone from another airline. Upon checking in to come home: spent 2 hours on hold, to only give up assuming they were not staffed (a 15 minute wait time was a bit ridiculous to be 2 hours and counting). We called the next morning, within 2 minutes of opening- took 45 minutes to speak to an agent, who told us we didnt have a return flight and wouldnt look into it. He literally said, Im not sure figure it out. Upon getting boarding passes, we had to pay to check in our carry on - we did not on the way here? Flight was delayed again. We had a layover in Calgary coming back. A 30-45 min delay was over 2.5 hours (potentially more, gave up on time tracking). No meal voucher provided- but Lynxs website says they will provide. If I could give a negative stars review I would.

Route: Kelowna to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "The worst customer service"

Review: The worst customer service and only automated responses. I made an error in booking last week in distress and immediately tried to rectify this (wrong airport code). Was told Swoop would not assist as once booked, regardless of the situation they will not assist under any circumstance. I just wanted to change the destination (Airport Code which was similar to the incorrect one I accidentally entered). They told me I would have to rebook a new flight. So I had to eat $550+ and rebook which I did on another airline. I am a frequent flyer and this was my first encounter with SWOOP! Will never recommend!

Route: Toronto to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "One of the most dysfunctional organisations"

Review: Flew Aerolineas from Buenos Aires to Iguazu. One of the most dysfunctional organisations I've ever had to deal with. There is clearly no one who is capable of running a customer focused business who works at this airline. The call centre staff were rude and continuously put me through to a disconnect line. The website forms say 72 hour turnaround times, and no replies are received. I have flown countless airlines worldwide, this is by a very long way, the worst. I would not recommend this airline to people I didn't like, let alone anyone I did.

Route: Buenos Aires to Iguazu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "an absolute nightmare from start to finish"

Review: I recently had the unfortunate experience of dealing with Sri Lankan Airlines, and I must say it was an absolute nightmare from start to finish. Not only did they notify me of a 2-hour flight delay via email, but their subsequent customer service interactions were nothing short of a disaster. Upon receiving the email about the delay, I decided to contact their customer care line in hopes of obtaining some clarification and potentially rearranging my plans. Little did I know that this would turn into a frustrating exercise in patience and disappointment. The first time I called, I patiently waited on hold for a staggering 30 minutes. Just as I thought I was about to speak with a representative, the call was abruptly disconnected, leaving me bewildered and frustrated. Determined to resolve the issue, I called again, only to be met with a similar experience. After waiting for 20 minutes, the call was forwarded to a voicemail, leaving me without any means of communication. Refusing to give up, I made one final attempt to reach their customer care line. After yet another excruciating 30-minute wait, I finally managed to connect with a representative. However, my hopes were quickly dashed as they pretended to be unable to hear my voice and disconnected the call. This level of incompetence and disregard for customer service is simply unacceptable. The experience left me deeply disappointed and has led me to the conclusion that I will never fly with Sri Lankan Airlines again. As a customer, I value transparency, reliability, and efficient communication, none of which were demonstrated by this airline. The lack of accountability and professionalism displayed by their customer care team only further solidified my decision. Air travel can be stressful enough, and it is crucial for airlines to provide reliable and timely information, as well as responsive customer service to address any concerns or issues that may arise. Unfortunately, Sri Lankan Airlines failed to meet even the most basic standards in these areas. I strongly advise anyone considering flying with Sri Lankan Airlines to think twice and explore other options. There are numerous reputable airlines that prioritize customer satisfaction and provide a much better overall experience. Spare yourself the frustration and disappointment I endured and choose an airline that values its customers and their time. My experience with Sri Lankan Airlines was nothing short of a nightmare, and I hope this review serves as a cautionary tale for others.

Route: Colombo to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "food was fantastic"

Review: Sydney to Fuzhou. The service in flight was good. The food was fantastic compare to Air China. Too many peoples onboard during the flight. We had to wait when we arrived Xiamen.

Route: Sydney to Fuzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "the plane was so dirty"

Review: Disgusting! They said Qantas is the Australia's best airline, however my experiences said differently from what people rate. My husband and I flew from Perth to Japan by Singapore return in April 2023. Luckily only 5,5 hours to Singapore otherwise I will make a complaint right away but I need to write this review down and wishing the Airplane make improvement on their services and cleanest like other best airlines in the world. I don't have a problem on check in area, but the plane was so dirty!! I don't think they're even clean the plane after the flight, the seat hasnt been cleaned from the last flight. I found rubbish in the seat pocket, there's dirt on the blanket even though it was wrap inside the plastic, the pillow was slightly yellow and dusty, and the service on board wasn't great either. The worst part was the seat! How can the seat so hard and uncomfortable, really close each other made me couldn't breath because the seat were to close, especially when the passenger in front of me put their seat back, maybe only 15 cm right to my face! Comparing the price, Air Asia have better seat and cleaner than Qantas. We doesn't have choice to pay more after Covid, we understand that but we also wish that the Air Plane have or keep their "standard" not only make profit. We pay the service and you better priorities customers comfort and cleanliness otherwise you will lose your loyal customers.

Route: Perth to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "service has deteriorated catastrophically"

Review: I upgraded my flight to business class and that simple action created so much trouble. I no longer could check-in in advance. So I had to arrive to the airport earlier, even though I didn't have a bag to check in. When I got to the check in, they said they can't find my booking, they only see the economy but they see that has been cancelled but they don't see the business one. Ten minutes of angry conversation with the person at check in and at the end I had to go to Finnair's website, queue in the chat feature, while everybody is waiting behind, and the person in the chat did something and suddenly my reservation popped up and they could check me in. So much drama and hassle and waste of everyone's time just because their system broke down from a simple business class upgrade. And then the meal in business class. Since I had marked 'vegetarian', I got few slices of raw tofu on a salad leaf (breakfast meal). Raw tofu slices! Just plain old unseasoned, but oh so vegetarian tofu. Like, who eats raw tofu and for breakfast. Anyway, I've been flying Finnair a long long time, and if I'd write about every bad experience I'd be contributing a lot here. The service has deteriorated catastrophically. In recent years I refer to Finnair as 'premium priced for no apparent reason' or 'low cost airline with premium pricing'. I see others have started to refer to it in similar ways too. Very sad.

Route: Helsinki to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "not fly Aerolineas Argentinas again"

Review: Buenos Aires to Ushuaia. Aerolineas Argentinas workforce went on strike on 19DEC and suspended activities in the morning until midday; this was not the airline's fault but the airline did not do anything at all to assist the passengers manage the situation before, within or after the event. Just the night before this strike, the airline sent an email confirming flight departure date/time, knowing that the flight would be cancelled due to the strike. At the airport the airline did not provide any support at all to the thousands of passengers affected. All the information provided was that we needed to wait until 1pm to find out what was going to happen with our flights. The airport was a mess of people everywhere. At 1pm when the staff returned to work, all passengers were told to call a toll-free number to get support, no staff at the airport offered to help passengers at all; the toll-free number was congested with calls and there was an automated message asking people to call again the next day - how is that possible when people had flights to take to get back home or to reach a destination where hotels or other items had already been paid. The only reason why we were helped was that we complain so much and remained at the check-in window requesting somebody to help us with our flights, we had to ignore the negative treatment by some of the staff and their management and just held our position until someone decided to help us and put us on a flight - we arrived to our destinations after losing 1 day on our holiday; and upon our return discovered that after that whole situation Aerolineas Argentinas cancelled our return flights which had nothing to do with the original flights impacted by the strike. Once again we found ourselves at the Ushuaia airport being told we had no flights, having to deal with very poor attitude from the airline staff at the check-in counters, but repeated our behaviour as on the first flight and told the staff we would not move until somebody helped us as we had nothing to do with the cancellation of our flights. Finally, a manager agreed to put us on a waitlist and we were lucky to fly back to Buenos Aires. I would not fly Aerolineas Argentinas ever again if I can avoid it; and I have recommended all my relatives and friends to do the same.

Route: EZE to USH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "I am still waiting"

Review: The communication and coordination of the Tigerair ground staff leaves a lot to be desired. Leaving from Bali to Singapore we were told a certain gate number (Gate 6) by the board and check in counter. Sometime during the 30mins before the flight is supposed to depart, some passengers found out the Gate number has changed to Gate 5 thru the information board. About 150 passengers got up to relocate. At the time of departure (we have not boarded the plane) there was no one manning Gate 5. Instead we hear over the speaker that the plane will be delayed by 5 mins. Approximately another 20 mins passed and once again TigerAir got its passengers to play musical chairs. The info board sneakily updated the Gate number back to 6. No communication from the ground staff still at this point. All passengers dragged themselves to Gate 6. So this time, after we have been waiting patiently for 35 mins after the plane was meant to depart, we suddenly were informed the plane will be further delayed by 1 hour. No explanation was given whatsoever. As yet, I am still waiting. I haven't even boarded the plane and I'm already regretting "flying" with Tiger Air. It's a good thing Bali airport has free wifi so I can spend my time writing this review. I will send another review if the flight itself has any redeeming factors. Otherwise, I would recommend not flying with Tiger Air.

Route: Bali to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Canadian North

Title: "is a nice airline"

Review: Family trip from Montréal to Edmonton, Boeing 737-200. Canadian North is a nice airline. Food great. No inflight Entertainment. Beverages and Cabin Service nice. It was a calm, non-turbulent flight.

Route: Montreal to Edmonton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "pathetic staff service"

Review: Cape Town to Johannesburg. Absolutely pathetic staff service at baggage check. First the staff were arguing amongst each other as none wanted to help me. Then the lady looked me in the eye and mumbled stuff in her own language twice during the process. Never smiled once and did not exchange any pleasantries. I will next time pay more just to avoid this type of service

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "staff are very rude and unprofessional"

Review: The staff at Dublin airport are very rude and unprofessional. I was 3 hours early for my flight from Dublin to New York. I needed help at the Dublin airport. I asked 5 different Aer Lingus staff for help and was told 5 different answers. I even spoke to a supervisor who was the worst of all the staff. In the end I missed my flight and had to reschedule. For Dublin to be the home hub for this airline they were the worst people to deal with. The hub in New York at JFK airport was must nicer and professional. The WIFI did not work in the plane and only half of the screens worked. The plane staff even made an announcement about the screens freezing up while watching a movie. The lady in the seat in front of us had a broken seat. It only reclined.

Route: Dublin to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "Unprofessional and unaware staff"

Review: Worst airline. Don't opt for it. Airline delays by 1 hour minimum. Unprofessional and unaware staff. Advise never to opt got it and book other airlines instead.

Route: Goa to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "Well worth for the money"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Gold Coast. My pre-book meal delivered without any mistakes. Food is acceptable , clean and tidy. Staff are very polite professional. When fasten seat belt sign come, They follow strict rules. Toilets are kept clean throughout the journey. Must better than some full paid airlines. There are no television which is good you can sleep without disturbances. Well worth for the money.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "no meals served during the flight"

Review: Copa has to be the world's worst airline! The plane arrived in Panama City from San Francisco without time to make my flight to Chiclayo, so I had to re-route to Ecuador! No taxi or hotel vouchers or any assistance was offered had I wanted to wait until Friday for the next flight. There were no meals served during the flights. The 737 Max is a horrible plane! Crowded, and the customary video screens are missing. On the return flight to SF, a meal was served. But I could not order a special meal. They charge an atrocious $4.20 surcharge (or more) on the ridiculous $35 bag fee. This is because they force you to pay with a credit card! The returning flight from Quito arrives at midnight, so BART is not running! Avoid this airline at all costs!

Route: San Francisco to Quito via Panama City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "change those seat, paying 12 Euros"

Review: We booked a full price Economy class ticket from Lufthansa, at a price where seat selection is guaranteed. ATH-MUC flight was an Aegean flight. After purchasing, seats reservation on ATH-MUC flight was not allowed. We wrote and call Aegean, no answer. 48 hours before that specific flight Aegean automatically booked 2 separate seats in the back of the aircraft. We were allowed to change those seat, paying 12 Euros.

Route: Athens to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "personable, efficient, and highly competent"

Review: I want to strongly recommend the Disabled Persons Services employee, Kevin, who helped transport me across three terminals at LAX this week. He is personable, efficient, and highly competent at his job. We really needed someone like him that morning.

Route: El Paso to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "don't know the meaning of hospitality"

Review: Worst flight ever. Zero service. Flight was delayed by 5 hours. No notification was received plus when I was asking there staff about the reason for delay in flight no one was answering and were running here and there from 8 in the morning. I was sitting there till 4pm, no lunch was offered to us then your inflight staff who have no manners how to Speak to the guest. Staff don't know the meaning of hospitality

Route: Jammu to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "they say we can't and won't rebook you"

Review: We got 14 people ready to go on this flight with 3 kids and one toddler. Took 5 hours to leave house with kiddos. Plus another 2.5 hour delay at DFW. Then flights cancelled because "the pilot went over hours". That's not the worst part, then they say we can't and won't rebook you at the gate or the check-in terminal with Sun Country or any other airline, you have to call a number. 8 people in our group called, on hold for over 2 hours, gave up and went home. Lost 9 hours, a trip to Mexico, 21 total wasted days of paid time off, and couldn't get to Mexico because of their absolutely terrible service. I talked to the manager at DFW airport myself and he said what do you expect from a low-budget airline. I told him at least help us rebook and he said they don't do that.

Route: Dallas Ft Worth to Cozumel

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "wouldn't refund our charges"

Review: My wife and I booked and paid for exit row seats 70 days before departure for the 15-hour flight from JFK to South Africa. We were notified at the gate that we were not in exit rows and not even in the same row. We both had middle seats. When we complained we were told there was nothing to be done. They wouldn't refund our charges and we are still jumping through hoops. There is absolutely no customer service.

Route: New York JFK to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "a bag was not included"

Review: Phuket to Bangkok. They charged me $170 US dollars for my bag because it was in the fine print that a bag was not included. This was more than the cost of the flight. Once I was on the plane, I put my bag in my overhead compartment as I was in an emergency row, turned my devices off, and went to sleep. I was woken up 3 times by flight attendants asking me to put my seat up straight, while it was already all the way up, making it clear that the drinks were there, and asking me if my bag was under my seat - it is not, because I put it in my overhead bin like you told me.

Route: Phuket to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "£300 each to cancel our booking"

Review: London to Tokyo via Hong Kong. We booked our holiday with separate flights 16 days ago for 7 months time. Unfortunately due to the coronavirus our cruise around Japan and China was cancelled by our cruise company. Eventually after persisting for just under an hour we got through to a very unhelpful representative who told us that it was company policy to charge £300 each to cancel our booking. We tried to explain that the cancellation was not in our control but all they could say was company policy.

Route: London to Tokyo via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Uzbekistan Airways

Title: "don't expect much"

Review: New York to Tashkent. Uzbekistan Airways offers direct flights from JFK. The fleet has some relatively new Boeing 787, but don't expect much beyond knowing you'll get there relatively quickly. There's no online check-in on the website, so arrive at least 3 hours early for international flights and expect to queue. Food is ok coming from NYC, very mediocre coming from Tashkent. Lots of screaming kids running laps in the aisles, so bring earplugs or music. Entertainment system has lots of Russian/Uzbek movies, but the worst dubbing I've ever encountered. Rather than removing the Russian soundtrack, they simply put the English translation over it so that both play simultaneously. The English translation is just that: one guy reading all the male character parts with a Russian accent, and a woman doing all the female parts.

Route: New York to Tashkent

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "Terrible rude staff"

Review: Terrible airline. The airplane was dirty and very small for a Colombo-Dubai flight. The crew was rude. They served all the food at start so they wouldnt have to bother doing anything later. They announced landing one hour before it actually took place, closed the toilets so they wouldnt have to clean them. Terrible rude staff, avoid at all costs.

Route: Colombo to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: HOP!

Title: "they fail to see the problem"

Review: Brussels to Pau via Lyon. Upon arriving at my layover I was immediately notified that I was rebooked on another flight taking me to Toulouse and a driver there would meet me and drive me to Pau that evening. There was bad weather in Pau and the flights were cancelled. I was a bit hesitant but I was assured that "getting me to Pau that night was their top priority" (possibly because of my status with Delta and sky team). So I flew to Toulouse and had to wait a few minutes for most of the people to get off the plane before I could retrieve my baggage which was all the way in the back. I walked downstairs and didn't see anyone. I walked out to the taxi area to see if someone was holding a sign, and there was nobody. I walked back inside to see if I missed somebody but I didn't even see the other 6 people that also were placed on this flight and driven to Pau. I was stranded, approaching 11pm on a Sunday with no means of any customer support what so ever. After doing a quick internet search I also realized HOP! purposely does not even have a customer service number to call. All they have is a poor form to fill out and you get a response over a week later or in my case I am on my 4th correspondence with these people and they still fail to see the problem. I missed my 8am appointment the following morning and had to eat the additional hotel bill for the night in Toulouse and in Tarbes (because notifying them at midnight that I was not going to be there was not good enough). I contacted Air France but after 45 minutes on the phone even they were unable to access any information within HOPs system.

Route: Brussels to Pau via Lyon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: WOW air

Title: "point A to point B for cheap"

Review: Paris to Chicago via Keflavik. I have used wow twice and they have not failed me. Seats can be uncomfortable but I paid $430 for a Trans Atlantic flight. What can I expect? The service is actually pretty good. I always check in from my phone. Flight attendants are nice. I order food onboard when I'm hungry and it's not bad (+$10). Flight seats have chargers so I download Netflix movies on my phone and I'm good. WOW air is not the most comfortable airline but they take me from point A to point B for cheap (and so far on time). I recommend for students/cheap light travelers!

Route: Paris to Chicago via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "more than 45 minutes for baggage check"

Review: Reached 3 hours prior to departure time. Took more than 45 minutes for baggage check in due to less staff at the check in counters Even after repeated feedback, nothing was done Disappointed!

Route: Mumbai to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: Thai AirAsia customer review

Review: FD 3112 outgoing flight delayed for over 45 minutes without prior notice, only display 20 minutes delay on screen before scheduled departure time. Aircraft clean enough but looked old with wear and tear. Seat tight and not so comfortable. FD 3111 return flight boarded punctually but delayed with passenger's carry on problem, seemed as though everybody could bring on what they wanted. Their policy is not enforced whatsoever and that is very problematic. Cabin crew are polite, efficient and try their best. Food sold on board was fairly priced. Generally a fair experience and acceptable standard.

Route: Bangkok to Had Yai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "efforts have not gone unnoticed"

Review: Flight out of Sydney and I was unable to board the plane. My family went ahead but I was left at Sydney. On checkin we had a good chat to David Scanlon, who was shocked when I later returned and was unable to board. David tried to change my booking but was unable to do so and advised I call the airline to amend my booking. On my way home David called me and told me he sent a page out to get my phone number. He told me he was able to change my booking free of charge , under the stressful situation I was in, having to leave my children. The way David went above and beyond was exceptional. This is our first time flying with Scoot, and thanks to David we will be returning. I will also be referring Scoot to all of my friends and family. Thank you David. Your efforts have not gone unnoticed. You are an example of what outstanding customer service is .

Route: Sydney to Phuket via Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "Highly recommended"

Review: Amazing airline. Highly recommended. I fly from Newark International to Casablanca International Airport on the 787-9 Dreamliner. We got good Legroom, Inflight entertainment with countless movies and many more! The food was the usual chicken, fish or beef, I got the standard beef. There was rice dessert and some drinks so it was like any other airline. Too me it didn't feel different and felt normal and it was pretty clean. Again recommended if your flying to Morocco or from Morocco choose Royal Air Maroc. There's also a really nice Business class but I wasn't in it I just saw it.

Route: Newark Airport to Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AB Aviation

Title: "pretty decent airline"

Review: Moroni to Moheli. Turned out to be a pretty decent airline. Online booking worked well, checkin and boarding was fine and the plane looked well maintained. Its a very short flight - just 20 minutes or so so i didn't expect much but they still managed to hand our a bottle of water and some biscuits which i though was very nice. Both flights on time.

Route: Moroni to Moheli

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "One of the worst airlines"

Review: One of the worst airlines I have fly with. For direct fly from New York to Vienna the width of seats been 39cm. This kind of aircraft could be used for short flights but not for 8-9 hours direct flights. Another think is, if you are seated in the last rows of aircraft you will have to eat only what remains crew will just told you that there is only last option even the other passengers have more options. From my point of view this is very unprofessional if you pay same cost as another passengers and you are just unlucky where youve been seated. If you have a chance look for another flight and not use Austrian.

Route: New York to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "excess luggage expensive"

Review: Chiang Mai to Bangkok. Horrible experience with the worse check-in experience I have had, waiting one hour and forty minutes. BKK airport is very modern: I used it tens of times before and never had to wait more than normal. The excess luggage was frightfully expensive (on a domestic flight I paid nearly 3 times my air fare), staff was of no help. Onboard it was decent.

Route: Chiang Mai to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "One of the worst airlines"

Review: One of the worst airlines I've travelled with when it comes to service and onboard safety and comfort. I always have difficulty breathing while on their flight. I never have this problem with other airline. This time, since I'm 5 months pregnant, I asked for oxygen and they refused to give it to me, repeatedly. Me and my husband asked them for oxygen over 5 times and they told us that, unless I'm passing out or visually suffering, they will not give me oxygen. Then they proceeded in giving cold towels claiming I'm just over heating.

Route: Tel Aviv to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "my worst flying experience"

Review: Shanghai to San Francisco. This was my worst flying experience. On our way to Thailand, our flight was delayed in San Francisco causing us to miss our connecting flight in Shanghai. No big deal we thought, until we got to the ticket counter and the guy working was trying to blame us for missing our flight. I tried explaining that our flight was delayed causing us to arrive late and miss the flight. Never did he say sorry or show any sympathy. I explained to him how we were missing a day in our already paid for resort, an excursion, and our pre paid car. He said 'so what, were getting you free tickets'. No, we already paid and missing this flight was their fault not ours. Whatever, we made it work, rerouted to Bangkok and then Phuket. Lost out on over $400. On our way home, leaving Shanghai our flight was once again delayed. They sent us an email two hours before in Chinese. This once again caused us to miss our connecting flight back home to Denver from San Francisco. I understand things happen, but they showed no sympathy and instead of offering us compensation for our lost time and money, they made us feel uncomfortable the whole time. The extra money to fly with another airline is worth it.

Route: Shanghai to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "the worst airline"

Review: Casablanca to Lisbon. Our trip started in Miami with a final destination in Portugal, we had a stop in Casablanca where we changed planes and the luggage never got to Portugal. Instead, it stayed in Casablanca because of an airport strike from the employees of Royal Air Maroc. My bags along with the bags of many other people were left in Casablanca and I did not received my luggage until two days after. I had to go shopping for clothing and other things to be able to continue with my vacation. The customer service counter assured me that the money I spent would be reimbursed by the company. I tried to submit the papers the airline the day I left at the Royal Air Maroc counter in Portugal and they told me it had to be done in Casablanca because none in the Portugal counter could do it. When I tried to submit the papers to the counter in Casablanca they told me I needed to get outside the terminal and go to a special office because they could not do it either. I could not do it because I had to take the connecting flight to Miami and there was no time. When I arrived in Miami the counter for Royal Air Maroc there told me that they could not do it and that I needed to do it online. I had to call customer service multiple times and they never return my emails. At the end, after six months of wait time, they tell me I submitted the documents to late. All of that after they were the ones who did not answer owe despite me calling multiple times to check on the status of the claim. The only thing they said was that they had the documents and I needed to wait. At the end when I pressured to talk with the supervisor I received a day later a letter stating that I submitted the documents to late. This has been all around the worst airline I have traveled with in my life.

Route: Casablanca to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "no customer service for Saudia"

Review: I was transiting in Istanbul from Nur Sultan via Saudi Air to get to Bangkok. My Saudi Arabian Airlines flight in Istanbul was cancelled. This was one of the worst airline experience I have had as a frequent flier with over 400,000 miles flown. I had to spend 25 hours in transit (15 hours in Istanbul and 10 hours Riyadh) instead of 4 hours as per my original itinerary without any compensation, accommodation or food. When I first arrived at the transit desk in Istanbul, the ground staff told me that the flight was cancelled and that I should call my travel agent. My travel agent then told me to contact the ground staff for accomodation. On returning to the transit desk, I was told that there was a shift change and new staff will be there in 5 minutes. Instead, I waited for 1 hour, and was told by a staff that the flight was cancelled and he could not do anything about it. After much discussion, a staff told me that their system shows that I am rebooked on a flight on July 9, 10 days from my current flight. He said I should head out of the airport to check with the Saudia office and that someone would be there (there was no one after I went out). This was at 2am and I called four offices for Saudia and had no response. I ended up traveling downtown and booked my own hotel after calling the travel agent and he informed me that I was rebooked on a flight 15 hours later. For our next connection, we had a 10 hour layover. The airline staff told us to contact customer service for Saudia when we arrived regarding accomodation. But there is no customer service for Saudia in Riyadh! The information desk kept redirecting us to non-existent customer service desks. The lounge staff for Saudia claimed that they manage the lounge and don't have any relationship to Saudia. I am hoping to get accomodation compensation and damages for my two overnight long layovers (I had to cancel hotels/onward flights as a result of these and had to book hotel stays and taxi in my layovers).

Route: Istanbul to Bangkok via Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: flydubai

Title: "worst airline I've ever flown"

Review: The worst airline I've ever flown. 7-hour flight, all paid movies, headphones for monitors, paid water, service not nice, 7 hours of sauna on the plane, non-working air conditioning, I do not recommend. I would like to add that the flight was bought with emirates and I had the worst flight.

Route: Dubai to Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Airlink

Title: "forced them to buy new tickets"

Review: I had to change my childrens ticket because of changing COVID gov changed regulations and then when they were due to fly I had to change the tickets again as riots broke out in South Africa. South African Airlink profited from the above by forcing us to pay for new tickets. Then when an international airline had a late arrival and my children missed the Airlink domestic flight, Airlink forced them to buy new tickets.

Route: Johannesburg to Pietermaritzburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "smoothly and without incident"

Review: Luton to Rome-Fiumicino. This is my first experience of flying so prepare for potential ignorance. We arrived extremely early to London Luton to ensure no delays in our flight to Rome. A departure gate was given about an hour before the flight was due to depart which was when we first encountered the staff for Monarch. We had chosen to travel carry on only and had checked in digitally. At present, Monarch does not provide the function to use an electronic boarding pass on your phone so we had to use printed boarding passes. The staff at the gate were pleasant enough, if a little distant. It was apparent they had strict time deadlines and so politeness was kept to a minimum. We spent about 20 minutes waiting in a stairwell for us to be able to board the aircraft; Luton doesn't have the facilities of the larger airports and so boarding was done via stairs fore and aft. The plane in question is an A321-100 which was fully booked. Though clean and tidy, it had the appearance inside of being a little bit "old" but then I have no real experience elsewhere. I am fully appreciative it's a budget airline as well. Boarding took an age as the flight was jampacked but we still managed to leave roughly on time. The cabin staff were all friendly enough. The captain gave us a thorough commentary of the flight which is a nice touch. After take off, the refreshments run was made. Prices are steep but I expect nothing less on an airline; sadly, no refreshment provided with booking due to the short flight. Still, food was presentable and reasonably tasty with both warm and cold options. Monarch did have a "shopping round" with some duty free goods available on the plane but unsurprisingly no one partook. We arrived in Rome very slightly ahead of schedule and disembarked quickly. In all, the staff remained courteous and professional throughout. No one took issue with my hold luggage which I was expecting and the flight was conducted smoothly and without incident.

Route: Luton to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "a very good experience"

Review: Because of the threat of severe weather, UA allowed me to change flights and upgraded me to first class to boot. Everything about the flight was excellent. Cabin service was very friendly and efficient. The meal was surprisingly tasty, given past experiences on United, especially. Although we took off a bit late, we landed in DC early. I liked the service oriented attitude of the crew. Even the pilot's announcements were timely and informative. All in all, a very good experience.

Route: Sab Francisco to Washington

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "I asked for a refund"

Review: Melbourne to Sydney. I chose extra leg room for my flight and based on the seating map. The map showed a big gap in front of row 14 as this is misleading to customers. But real life thats not the case its misleading. Why would we move to the a different seating if there arent any extra space. I asked for a refund but the customer service declined.

Route: Melbourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "quite happy with my flight"

Review: Singapore to Seoul Incheon. First time flying with Asiana Airlines. Overall quite happy with my flight with them. Quite attentive service with the rare soft skill that many airline crews (Western) are lacking. One of the friendliest and most courteous stewardesses I've seen. Plane seemed a bit old, not completely certain though. Their screen is not a touch-screen. The visuals at first were rather poor, but later it got better. Not sure if it was because of the angle, sun light, or perhaps another reason that at the beginning I barely could see anything at the screen. Food quality is at par with other major Asian airliners. Where OZ stands out is at their on-board service. Definitely flying with them again.

Route: Singapore to Seoul Incheon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "remember not to fly with this airline again"

Review: Booked flight Da Nang in Vietnam to Singapore, direct. Received an email two days prior to departure to say it's being rerouted and, instead of a 2-hour direct flight, I'm now getting a two-legged, 6-hour trip to Singapore via Ho Chi Minh. Get to the airport in HCMC after my first flight and explain I'd please like to spend the 2.5 hours wait in their lounge as my direct flight from Da Nang was replaced. I was told they don't do a direct flight from Da Nang and the booking confirmation I presented to them was my original booking! At this point there were four members of staff stood opposite me telling me the information I was giving them if incorrect. This obviously wasn't the case, and I showed them my original direct ticket. As SG isn't my final destination, the check in staff asked to see my tickets to my final destination, Thailand, then stated to me that I cannot fly there as I would need to be flying to Bangkok, not Phuket, under current regulations. I was almost laughing out of sheer disbelief, as I've entered Thailand three times already this year, and informed them they are reading out old regulations to me which changed at the start of April. They told me it's likely I'll miss my next flight due to the short changeover time left available to me, and gave me a waiver to sign declaring it's not their fault if I miss the flight - even though they are the reason I now have 45 minutes to exit the plane, clear immigration and check in for my final flight, instead of 90 minutes as per my original booking. I stood for almost 30 minutes at the check in counter in HCMC arguing with their staff about a very simple issue: their changing of my booking will cause me to miss a flight and cause me added expense. I'll try to remember not to fly with this airline again.

Route: Danang to Singapore via Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Arik Air

Title: "had absolutely no interest in my case"

Review: My colleague and I were booked on an Arik Air flight from Lagos to Warri, supposed to depart at 07.40 in the morning. I received a message two days prior to the flight, informing me that "due to operational requirements" the flight will operate at 11.00. The morning of the flight, I received another message informing me that again "due to operational requirements" the flight will operate at 12.00. Once at the airport, waiting to board, we were informed the flight was delayed 20 minutes. Twenty minutes came and went and we eventually boarded and only took off at 13.00, arriving in Warri by 14.00, only getting to the hospital where we were to have 2 full days of work at 15.30. An entire day wasted by an incompetent airline. It does however get worse, it is now 2 days later and we are supposed to fly from Warri to Lagos, booked on the 09.20 flight. We have a connecting flight to Accra, Ghana at 17.10, so plenty of time to make this connection. Or so you think. I received a message from Arik 2 days ago informing me that "due to operational requirements, the flight will now operate at 12.40. I'm still not too worried, as we will still make the connection. Don't hold your breath. I received another message from Arik this morning at 09.38 informing me that even this amended time has now changed to 16.40. So, to summarize - a flight supposed to have left at 09.20 has now been delayed and yet again delayed to 16.40. I phoned the Arik Air call centre, explained that I will now miss my connection to Ghana. She had absolutely no interest in my case, no offer of assistance. Her single line was "Arik apologises". I would not recommend this airline to anyone - despite selling tickets at certain times, they have clearly no intention of sticking to any schedule, making up flying times as it suits their "operational requirements". There is nothing positive I can say about this airline.

Route: Lagos to Warri

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: easyJet

Title: "follow their rules"

Review: EasyJet is a solid reliable airline in Europe as long as you follow their rules. The app is the best APP Ive utilised, making flight changes simple. The airport experience is automated as much as is possible, but staff are around to assist and ensure you follow EasyJets rules on bags, sizes and boarding. Boarding is simple with 2 queues, one queue for those who pre-booked a large cabin bag, and a second queue for those who only have a small rucksack/handbag. The flight experience is comfortable and predictable, the crew are polite. The food available to purchase is excellent. Bags arrived quickly. Overall this is a low cost airline, but well organised and rules it clearly presents during the booking process. For cheap point to point in Europe its excellent. I would always strongly advise downloading the app as any flight disruption is best managed using the app.

Route: Luton to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Nok Air

Title: " hasn't disappointed yet"

Review: Nok Air has online Checkin 24 hours before to print out your boarding pass and can go directly to security and gate if one isn't checking a bag. Also you can change your flight for an extra charge online. Everytime I ever needed to call Nok Air they answered promptly. If one has a bag to check like I did there is a special line at Don Muang Airport for those who checked in online. My flight was full during the busy New Year and many people brought on roller bags with other carry ons even though only one small 7 kilo carry on is permitted at the cheapest fare and one must pay a higher fare to check roller bags. The cabin attendant didn't object to these passengers bring on so much but amazingly worked hard to get all the bags into the overhead bins in time for take off. I noticed that nearly everyone did not put small things under the seat in front of them but instead taking up needed space of the overhead bins. The plane departed on time and arrived on time and my checked bag was soon on the carousel. Nok Air hasn't disappointed yet.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "flight no longer exists"

Review: Don't book tickets here as they have the poorest airline customer service I've ever experience. We booked tickets from Bangkok to Phuket 2 months prior and they confirmed the flight. We arrived in the said airport and surprisingly flight no longer exists as the flight we booked was under summer promo (or whatever they called it) and why the heck did they confirm it in the first place? They claimed that they sent an update about our flight 4 days before our departure (which we didn't receive) and they didn't even bother that there was no acknowledgement from the passengers about this changes. The only thing they can offer was a "full refund" and book another ticket with another airline if you really wanted to be in Phuket to follow your itinerary (which will cost you double from original price). They won't be bothered if your running behind from your itinerary, they won't give you any assistance or even small compensation for the inconvenience they caused.

Route: Bangkok to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Germana Airline

Title: "isn't a great airline"

Review: Keflavik to Dresden. Germana isn't a great airline. I barely fit in the seat(Im 6'2). Check in starts 2 hours before departure- which sucked because all the shops were after security. Online Check-in didn't work. But the staff was nice and the ticket was cheap. I recommend if you are under 6 feet tall and plan accordingly.

Route: Keflavik to Dresden

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "unable to say where the bags are"

Review: Had a very good flight to Bangkok and back with friendly hostesses and adequate food. When we landed in Cape Town from Bangkok none of our luggage arrived with us with no one able to say where it is or when it would arrive (25-30 passengers had the same problem on this flight). Had to spend lots of money on locksmiths and toiletries as all ours were in our travel luggage. Ethiopian Airways contact center is very difficult to reach, they keep you on hold for almost an hour then it just hangs up. After eventually making contact with the call center a day later they are unable to say where the bags are or if they even have the bags and that they will only offer compensation if they haven't been able to locate the bags after 25 days. This means we have to buy new clothes and shoes as most of ours were in our luggage with absolutely no assurance or compensation from the airline. It seems like lost luggage is a regular problem on the airline with very poor communication or restorative measures I wouldn't recommend using the airline

Route: Bangkok to Cape Town via Addis Ababa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "Your Flight is cancelled"

Review: We were due to fly out from Stansted to Derry on 28th May. We woke at 05:00 to find we had received a text cancelling our flight. No explanation or excuse was given, just a one liner "Your Flight is cancelled". When checking the website, the same was seen, no link, to what to do next, no sorry, no refund information, nothing, a big fat zero. And now some 14 days later, having emailed asking for a refund, which I must assume is due, we've heard nothing. We managed to book for the next day with Easyjet, at a cheaper rate for 5 of us. However we are out of pocket, as an addition to getting no refund to date, we've also not been offered any compensation, like the cancellation fee for our car hire, the cost of hiring another car and travelling a greater distance into an alternative airport, to say nothing of the inconvenience of taking time to make another booking for flights, car hire etc. BMI Regional's customer care is appalling, I will not be using them again, and suggest if you are considering it, don't!

Route: Stansted to Derry

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "customer service is terrible"

Review: Bangkok to Tokyo. Ive flown many low cost airlines before, but they still served meals, offered beverages, and just had more general information. The flight attendants were there for no reason because they dont even go down the aisle once even for water. Theres less than ten movies to choose from for a 8 hr flight. The customer service is absolutely terrible, not even a phone number on their website, and they never got back to any emails. On our way home from Thailand, we were denied boarding because they couldnt complete the transfer due to the check in counter because outside the terminal in Japan. We couldnt make our flight and had to buy another flight with a completely different airline. Lost over 1000$ due to this discrepancy and inability to transfer in Japan, and misinformation.

Route: Bangkok to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "it's a good product"

Review: We were fortunate to be able to take advantage of the Summer offer to New York and back, £800 each. (On the day of flying I checked with BA, their (admittedly fully flexible) Economy seat was £1,200). Check in at Luton was simple and very friendly, the newly refurbished Aspire lounge is good. Welcomed on board by a very smart crew, only 30 of the 74 seats taken. The seats are, well, oldish style Business class, only angle flat - La Compagnie advertising please note. The food was very good; on the return, overnight flight, a simple light supper was served, which was perfect - other airlines please note. The entertainment was limited, but not bad for just a 7 hour flight. We had problems outbound with seats not reclining properly, inbound was, I think, a newer refurbishment, and the seats were fine. OK, it's not Emirates or Singapore, but neither are the prices and it's certainly far better than Economy or that con perpetrated by other airlines, 'Premium' Economy. I just hope that La Compagnie can do the business, I remember that the other Luton based business airlines, Silverjet and EOS, didn't make it. La Compagnie deserves to - it's a good product and for us was a great and inexpensive way to start a holiday in great comfort.

Route: New York to London Luton

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "given 3 seats on all flights"

Review: Travelled Kigali via Nairobi to Johannesburg and back within 2 days mid-March 2020. Aircraft were E190 on short leg and Boeing 787-8 on long legs. All flights on time. No luggage issues. Checked in online. Had to wait 1 hour in airport as they only open check in 2 hours before departure. Upgraded 1st leg KGL-NBO by a modest, but successful online bid. Granted lounge access by courtesy in Nairobi as my Gold Card was just earned during the same trip (but of course not processed in their system). In Kigali they use Pearl lounge which is deteriorating since Rwandair opened a new lounge opposite. Kenya Airways Pride Lounge in Nairobi is wonderful. Food served onboard was substandard and particular breakfasts were a disgrace. However, drink supplies were fine. I like the Happy Hours approach they use on regional routes like to Dubai and JNB where you order a drink or wine and they often double up the order without asking. I have only received this double up service before on Gulf Air and the now deceased Jet Airways. That is generous, positive approach and make one feel very appreciated and cared for in economy class where benefits otherwise are sparse. FAs are very good though advised an FA to avoid chewing gum as it is cause feeling of disrespect to some passengers. Champagne on business class is good and offered also before departure. No IFE on short legs but on long legs plenty of films to watch. No WiFi onboard. I was given 3 seats on all flights were not full thanks to corona virus fear and close downs.

Route: Kigali to Johannesburg via Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Moldova

Title: "airline is so abysmally bad"

Review: Frankfurt to Chisinau. This airline is so abysmally bad that I cant believe that it exists! I have a high tolerance for poor service and run-down planes, having flown in many third world countries, but Air Moldova takes the cake. Rude service - I was late in arriving at the gate thanks to a delay (not my fault) at Frankfurt security. The gate agent - apparently incensed that she had to hold the plane for me - literally started shouting at me when I approached and refused to even let me quickly pack my bags (which I had to grab of the belt at security without repacking In order to run to the gate) before I had to go down the stairs to the bus. When I say shouting, I mean it. She went beyond just poor customer service to literally hostile customer service as she was yelling Boarding pass. Run down planes - The plane seats were torn and the plastic was actually yellowing. The plane was a 737-500 and thus had to be at least 20 years old. Poor safety measures - There was no safety card in English. Forget that, it was not even in Romanian (the native language) or Russian. It was in Armenian. Why? Because they apparently leased the plane from an Armenian carrier and couldnt even be bothered to swap out the safety cards. This strikes me as a major breach in safety protocol.

Route: Frankfurt to Chisinau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "cabin baggage excess"

Review: Bangalore to Bangkok. Do not book AirAsia assuming it provides cheap fair It is a trap. They show low fare without check in baggage, and while boarding they will charge you 5k INR if cabin baggage excess by half kg or more. They keep extra people to deal with you and go any extent.

Route: Bangalore to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "were delayed for two hours"

Review: The planes from Luxor were delayed for two hours, once you ask the airline people they say an hour, then you figure out it is two. People were on the floor as no where to sit. People missed their connection flights, They canceled my plane to Amman, we were asked to go to customer once in Cairo, no one was there it was 2 am I had a young daughter with me. It is horrible

Route: Cairo to Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "isn't going to help you"

Review: I made a booking with Fiji Airways online service on Tuesday 7/3 for my mum to travel from Fiji to Adelaide in April. Unfortunately I did a typing error in spelling my mums family name. I typed 's' instead of an 'a'. I called Fiji airways customer service on Thursday to get my error corrected. I was told they had to get approval from their coordinator and it would take 24hrs. 5 days and 120hrs later I call customer service only to be told they can only change the name on their flight. And because there was a connecting flight through Jetstar airways I had to call them myself and get the name change done. I just can't understand why provide a service when you can't deal with simple issues as such. Customer service is so pathetic am still waiting for a call back. Surprisingly their email system gets down as well so things cannot happen. Just warning other customers please triple check your booking as if things go wrong Fiji airways isn't going to help you at all. I feel embarrassed to write this review for my very own national carrier.

Route: Nadi to Adelaide via Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "good thing was the staff were friendly"

Review: Auckland to Shenzhen. The only good thing was the staff were friendly, airline food normally isn't the best but my food was uneatable on my return trip and they ran out of my choice for breakfast. I went to change my booking this was a very slow process and difficult. I wouldn't use again. No charging point for devices in economy.

Route: Auckland to Shenzhen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "no sense of remorse or care"

Review: After 8 hrs waiting in airport flight was cancelled with no attempt to assist and no point in flying on the available replacement flight. This has become a regular occurrence. No reimbursement available for lost accommodation and no ability to cancel return flight on line. 300 people trying to be processed at a single service desk and no sense of remorse or care. 8 dollar voucher offered while waiting which doesn't pay for water. Would not trust them again but unfortunately have another more expensive holiday booked with them. Cross my fingers.

Route: Perth to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "cancelled flight"

Review: Adelaide to Melbourne. Virgin cancelled flight after asking passengers to wait in the lounge for over two hours. They announced the flight would be boarding 15 minutes before the flight was cancelled. They stated the reason for the cancellation was due to weather conditions but it appears the pilots had exceeded their flying hours. If it was the latter, they could have notified passengers earlier, enabling them to fly with other carriers (which still flew that evening).

Route: Adelaide to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "The flight was reasonable"

Review: Arrived and prompt check in. Aware of 30 minute delay at check in, this was 2 hours by the time we departed. Basic cabin so no pre departure lounge etc. Aircraft flown in from Manchester Quick turnaround, boarding ok. Staff attentive and friendly. Good announcements from pilot. After take off, drinks round which was fine. Meal service was ok (chicken and pasta). Overall I thought this was all fine. IFE, music not allowed due to Covid which seemed odd. Films were fine. The flight was reasonable, toilets were their let down. There were 4 for an economy cabin and these were not policed often enough. In their defence though, the cabin crew were busy throughout.

Route: Bristol to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "both flights were exactly what I expected"

Review: We flew from Prague to Valencia (A319) and back (B737-800) with Smartwings and both flights were exactly what I expected from a low cost EU airline. Both flights were on time with no delay, staff were kind and professional. The planes were clean, although of course there wasnt much legroom between seat rows (but totally acceptable for short 2-3 hour hops between European cities).

Route: Prague to Valencia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "very good airline for the budget"

Review: Frankfurt to Windhoek. I was surprised by Air Namibia. The airline offered a super service and you could watch many movies, the service of the cabin crew was great, the stewardesses have skilful English and German which helped. Generally a very good airline for the budget.

Route: FRA to WDH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "no intention of providing refunds"

Review: I had a flight booked in April 2020, which was obviously cancelled. I have emailed and called many times to request some sort of update on my refund, and the response is always the same: "In regards to your email, your refund is still in process. it takes an unusually long time to process the refunds. Sorry for your inconvenience". The response never changes and never provides any clear information. I definitely understand the last year has been challenging. However, I also had reservations with two other Thai airlines - one has processed the refund, and the other is at least providing updates and regular communication. At this point, it feels like there is no intention of providing refunds. I recommend booking with any other airline.

Route: Dhaka to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "the most horrible airline"

Review: Weve been traveling around Thailand for nearly 2 weeks - from Chiang Mai, Bangkok, Koh Sumai, Krabi and now heading to Bali, Indonesia for our honeymoon. And I had to take some time at the airport to leave this review because Thai Lion is by far the most horrible airline weve ever flown, period. They have no app and their website is complete crap. Always down. So accessing flight details or making changes is a nightmare, which makes the luggage bullet below even more frustrating. We had our flight cancelled and rescheduled 3 times within 48 - 24 hours from our flight which really cut into our plans in Bali. No explanation, simply an email sent. So we basically had to wake up at 3:00am to make our rescheduled flight, which still gets us there LATER than anticipated because of the layover. - We get to the airline and they dropped our luggage from our original tickets and would not let us check in without paying for luggage again. My husband (being the typical man, though hes fairly good at this stuff) didnt have a receipt so we had to repay for luggage. When you pay for luggage, you have to run to a separate counter and come BACK to the check-in area because they cant process payments at the check-in area. What?! What century are you living in? Because we have a transfer in Bangkok, we have to pick up our own luggage from baggage claim and re-check it into our next flight. The hassle just keeps getting worse! We finally get on the plane and notice my husband and Is seats have been separated by an entire row. Which isnt a huge deal, but just a cherry on top of all the chaos. We finally get on and the plane is dirty. Still trash from the last flight. Another cherry on top. We almost missed our triple delayed flight to Bali all because of the incompetence of Thai Lion. And we werent even the most unlucky ones. Some people got dropped completely during the flight changes and were left stranded at the airport! Just dont do it. Do yourself the favor and pay a little more for a separate airline - avoid the frustration, hassle, and risk. Wish we head know beforehand because we definitely would have.

Route: Krabi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "only offered a rebooking for 1 year"

Review: We flew with Oman Air before the pandemic and the trip was satisfactory. So I had no qualms about booking with them again for my trip to Europe in 2020. Unfortunately this coincided with the covid pandemic, and both flights to and from Europe were cancelled. I was hoping for a refund but was only offered a rebooking for 1 year. Obviously did not expect the pandemic to last this long. At the end of 2020 I felt that this had gone on long enough, and even though they extended the rebooking for 2 years, it was just too hard to make any kind of travel plans. I requested a refund via their website and was met with an email offering rebooking or a travel voucher that could be turned into a refund after 1 year. This is unacceptable to me given the current circumstances, and obviously Oman Air is just trying to buy itself time and hoping customers will give up trying to get a refund. For my Europe trip I had two other flights, one with Air France (refunded immediately) and one with Easyjet (offered a voucher). The fact that A flag carrier like Oman Air is acting more like a budget airline surely affects its prestige. When the world goes back to normal I suspect I will think twice before taking Oman Air ever again.

Route: Manila to Paris via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "staff ran away"

Review: I booked my Air India Express flight from Kuala Lumpur to Chennai on 3rd Feb 2016 at 11.30 pm and I was informed at 6 pm that flight was late by one hour. Later when I reached airport, they informed the flight is delayed by 4 hours. Since I had connected flight from Chennai to Coimbatore at 6.30 on 4th Feb, I requested for assistance of staff in Kuala Lumpur - they took my data of connecting flights and promised me that alternative connecting flights will be arranged and informed to Officials in Chennai. But flight took only at 5 am on 4th Feb and it landed at 6.30 am in Chennai airport. My connecting flight had already departed the airport. When I required the Air India staff, they ran away as their duty is over and no one was there in the airport. Never seen such an experience in my life. I have to book a new connecting flight and flew to Coimbatore.

Route: KUL to MAA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Panorama Airlines

Title: "fly a different airline"

Review: Rome to Tirana. Worst airline I have known. Checked in and when time to board came nothing happened. Flight got delayed by 6 hours and then 6 hours later boarding got delayed again. Everything is bad about this airline. Do yourselves a favour and fly a different airline even if it's a bit more expensive.

Route: FCO to TIA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: Flight from Augusta, GA to Omaha, NE with a 39 minute layover in Charlotte, NC. First flight out of Augusta was delayed 45 minutes for maintenance. Arrived 5 minutes late to the gate in Charlotte and missed the connection. Have been standing in the "customer service" line for 90 minutes, and just reached the halfway point. There are 7 available computers at customer service, but only 2 are ever being used at once. There have been a max of 4 Representatives, who seem to have coordinated it so that only two are ever available. I have already called customer service to try and expedite my time in this line, but they can only help with rescheduling the flight and not with the hotel. This has been the worst example of customer service I have ever experienced. Every interaction has left me with the feeling that this was somehow my fault, and I'm inconveniencing these workers by having to be dealt with.

Route: Augusta, GA to Omaha, NE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "Inflight service is sub-standard"

Review: Flying from Melbourne to Bangkok via KL. A midnight flight. No pre-check in fast track service. Staff at check in rude. Flight delay for more than an hour with no explanation. Aircraft is there, must be some technical issue. The crews was not very warm welcoming. On arrival to KL, told the connecting flight was cancelled. I was never told about the cancellation. Has to wait in the KL airport for extra 3.5 hours. Was told by agent the flight was cancelled 3 weeks ago. I was never contacted. I would have ask for refund and go for another airline as I need to be in BK at 2pm for the meeting. Compliant but no reply as usual. Inflight service is sub-standard, crew not interested to the passengers. Food is ordinary. I don't think I will use it the airline again.

Route: Melbourne to Bangkok via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "cancelled without any reason"

Review: I was travelling to Kolkata to Aizwal, first they delayed flight without any reasons and while returning they cancelled it on 1st March without any reason. Customer support in no where, and staff is no so much cooperative. However other flights like air India and Indigo operated from same place. I would suggest avoid fly with this airline, had a bad experience

Route: Kolkata to Aizwal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "I will not use this carrier again"

Review: This review is of the extremely poor customer service. It all began in January 2023 when I purchased two RT tickets from Denver to Athens, Greece. The first leg of the the trip, Denver to Munich was a Lufthansa flight for which I paid $185 for seat assignments Row 18 H/K. Fast forward to flight check in on April 29, 2023 and my seat assignments are not what I reserved. An hour and half later, and finally speaking to a Lufthansa rep and she cannot help me or refund my purchased seats. I am instructed to apply for a refund on-line after travel has been completed. It is now one week since I have returned from Athens and I have not been able to receive a refund. The on-line system won't recognize my booking code even though it shows "verified", and I receive error messages. I have made six calls to customer service with no service at all. I have been disconnected two times, and on other calls I am told that the "system is down", "you have to do this on-line", "supervisors are unavailable to assist", and "due to the high call volume, I can't get you assistance". The last call ended with the representative telling me to "call back in 15 minutes". I wish for this review to focus only on the customer service center. My actual flight experience is another review and equally poor. Lufthansa should be ashamed of all aspects of their service. I will not use this carrier again.

Route: Denver to Athens via Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Level

Title: "worst trip I ever had"

Review: Buenos Aires to Brussels via Barcelona. This was the worst trip I ever had. I booked a 940 single flight with Iberia and when I check in I see that the flight is operated by level. Turns out Economy means no inflight catering (unless ordered online with extra payment - which I wasn't informed of) and almost no inflight entertainment. The chairs were not leather, extremely hard and no leg space. This was a 12,5hr long flight. How is this possible or even legitimate? This is a total rip-off. If I had known I would have never booked that flight.

Route: Buenos Aires to Brussels via Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "rate the overall service as excellent"

Review: Flew on Garuda Indonesia on GA088 from Jakarta to Amsterdam. Garuda has their ground support team arrange a car to pick up from my home. The Check in process was fast and efficient and I was escorted through security and immigration and into the Garuda first class lounge.. Boarding was on schedule and was efficient. After takeoff I was tried and went straight to sleep in the privacy of the Garuda First Class suites. Prior to arriving in Amsterdam I was provided with a good selection of food for breakfast. I chose an omelet and the Chef onboard prepared an excellent meal. The cabin crew were every attentive and nothing was any bother for them. The Garuda Cabin crew are really outstanding together with the warming smile that makes you feel special. I would rate the overall service as excellent and would like to thank the cabin crew for their help and assistance to me and my family, they certainly made us feel at home. Upon arrival in Amsterdam I meet at the gate and taken to the Schiphol VIP and the service at the VIP lounge was excellent.

Route: Jakarta to Amsterdam

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "not allowed to board the flight"

Review: London to New Delhi via Bahrain. Highly disappointed. We were not allowed to board the flight inspite of being 55 minutes before departure from London. We did not get any assistance and they said we cannot let you travel. The help desk at the airport also said we have to purchase another ticket from Gulf Air as our return ticket would be canceled if we board some other carrier to India. So we had to purchase another ticket and will travel tomorrow and pay charges for rescheduling and ticket price difference.

Route: London to New Delhi via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "SilkAir is shockingly bad"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore. SilkAir flight departed late due to late arrival of incoming flight. When it was time to board, a hoard of people rushed to the gate. The announcement said business class and gold members first but the hoard was clearly neither. Staff did not bother to enforce the boarding process and didnt even check the boarding passes of most passengers. Boarding of SilkAir is like a bogan fest of people without manners. On board, the seats are old. My seat has basically outworn its upholstery. The toilet is tiny and disgusting. Even upon boarding, the toilet smelled like it was full of stale pee. In flight, the plane was blowing hot air until the plane had enough altitude. One drink service of coffee, tea or juice. Overall, SilkAir is shockingly bad. I am glad to hear Singapore Airlines replacing SilkAir.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "they need to get their act together"

Review: From Melbourne to Ho Chi Minh City the plane was an hour late. That started a chain reaction that culminated in missing our connecting flight to Da Nang. The re-scheduled flight was also late amounting to 3 hours overall late. The Premium economy seat was okay to start with but became more uncomfortable as the journey progressed. The foot rest would not stay up and so I had to wedge my shoe under it to keep it from falling onto my ankle. The recline was difficult to use and I found others struggling to get it to move. The earphones were terrible. The movie selection was also terrible and very limited. There was nothing I wanted to watch. The food was also a bit of a disappointment given Vietnam's reputation for food. As I am into wine again a big let down, there was only one white and one red and of very dubious quality. The crew were good. All of these issues are easily solvable, it appears cost cutting and some poor management decisions have culminated at the customer end. Vietnam Airlines could be great as they have a great crew but they need to get their act together. My first A350 and a big disappointment

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Melbourne

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malawian Airlines

Title: Malawian Airlines customer review

Review: Service between Lusaka and Lilongwe was superb. While it was a short flight, the meal service, snack was a pleasant surprise. Cabin was impeccable. There was a short delay due to weather.

Route: Lusaka to Lilongwe

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "both times it was torture"

Review: Worst planes I have ever been in while taking an international flight. I took same flight from Melbourne to Delhi with in a span of two weeks and both times flight was same. Flight entertainment didn't work both times even though it is direct flight for 12.5hours, Mobile charging USB plugs didn't work and Flight crew went to sleep after serving breakfast. You can imagine the torture of sitting on tiny seat with no entertainment, no mobile phone and no service. When I raised concern with customer care, they first promised to fix it by giving me 200 FFF points but then I said I prefer better service and I am happy to donate my points, then they offered me 25% of of the total flights I took. But no, nothing was given. I sent emails twice to see progress but after 3 months, nothing has been done. I paid almost double coz it was a direct flight and both times it was torture.

Route: Melbourne to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "training to improve the entire Egyptair service package"

Review: I travelled on holiday to Egypt with 3 family members the bad service started with our arrival at Cairo airport on Saturday morning 25 June 2022 as it took over an hour and a half for our luggage to arrive. Two weeks later we were booked to fly from Hurghada to Cairo on Friday 8 July 2022 our flight leaving at 8:40 pm, no announcements were made save for information displayed on the television in the departure lounge regarding the delay of all flights. As our connecting flight out of Cairo was scheduled for 2:20 am Saturday morning you can understand our stress. The local Egyptair representative also had no idea of the terms regarding the tri party alliance which exists as we found out that we could book our flight from Hurghada through Cairo onto Ethiopia and then to RSA. He did allow us to change our boarding passes and also changed the information on our luggage to be booked through to RSA. Once in the air we asked the steward to please announce once we arrive at Cairo to allow all passengers with connecting flights to be allowed to disembark first. Needless to say this didn't happen and on arrival a free for all ensued which meant this priority did not take place. When questioned the steward rudely snapped that her script didn't allow for our request to be made and justified her stance stating that she 'doesn't own the runway.' Once on the bus a lady collapsed to the floor causing great concern amongst fellow passengers, logic would suggest the bus driver should get the patient to the terminal as quickly as possible to receive medical attention. However the driver obviously didn't see the urgency of the matter and rather chose to get out the bus and go and chat to his friend while chaos rained, he then got back into the bus and we thought he might now have realised the severity of the situation but then decided he hadn't finished his chat and got out again to carry on his conversation with his friend on the tarmac. The plane had landed at 01:05 am thanks to no other bus being available we were eventually dropped off at domestic arrivals 55 minutes later at 02:00am. The pressure to make our flight at 02:20 am was immense however I am relieved to say by mere minutes we made the flight to Ethiopia. No surprise that our luggage wasn't on the flight and it took a agent in RSA to trace and return our luggage. Our experience could be taken on board and used for training to improve the entire Egyptair service package. Given that the globe is trying to recover post Covid and the fact that tourism was probably the hardest hit airports and flying is the first impression tourists encounter.

Route: Hurghada to Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Pegasus

Title: "forced to change my travel date"

Review: Air Pegasus cancelled my flight two times and I was forced to change my travel date at last minute. I booked flight OP103 BLR-TRV departing 18:30. Few weeks before the departure date they informed me that they are cancelling the flight due to operational reasons. So they modified my booking and provided seats in OP101 BLR-TRV departing at 06:30. The evening before the departure they cancelled OP101 stating operational reasons. I called their customer care number. I could not speak to anyone until 21:30. When I asked them for alternate arrangement they said they dont have any flights and asked me to reschedule my trip for 1 day later. They refused to provide a seat in other airlines. Only option they gave were to cancel the booking or to fly at the later date. The last minute fares were so high that I could not afford to cancel and book on another airline. So I was forced to change my travel date. This is a very common practice of Air Pegasus. There are many issues related to last minute cancellation reported by passengers. Beware of Air Pegasus. Anytime they can cancel the flights stating operational reasons.

Route: BLR to TRV

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "I am really displeased"

Review: Prague to Stockholm. I am really displeased with the way Czech Airlines mismanaged my flight today and denied me a seat I had booked and paid for almost a month ago. I had my boarding pass in hand and just before my amazed eyes, I was asked very rudely to step aside while two other passengers were given way and let on the plane. My calls for help - and later cries of frustration - got nowhere. Instead I was asked to take a flight the next day! I tried to explain that I had to be at work the next day to no avail. The people from your airlines kept me waiting for almost two hours before sending me to the residence next to airport with food vouchers! I am now feeling desperate and upset and experiencing serious panic attacks as I am not sure what is going to happen tomorrow. It seems to me that I have been trapped here in Prague and there is absolutely nothing I can do. Who is going to compensate for all the emotional distress and professional as well as financial loss I am bearing?

Route: Prague to Stockholm

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India

Title: "Worst experience ever"

Review: There was a 2hr baggage clearance at Mumbai connection. This caused us to miss the flight, and reschedule it for next day. The hotel and food are horrible. Next day again the rescheduled flight was delayed for couple of hours due to technical issues. Worst experience ever, and I will not recommend anyone to board an Air India flight. The staffs and support center has no experience handling these situations.

Route: San Francisco to Coimbatore via Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "This is disrespectful and fraudulent"

Review: A ticket was purchased for January 2, 2021 to leave from Havana, Cuba. Unfortunately the government of Cuba shut down all flights. In May of 2021 we requested a refund since it was apparent that only flights financially benefiting the Cuban government would be leaving Cuba. Caribbean Airlines did advise it would take up to 5-6 months to process the refund. We are now almost to a year with no refund. When I contact the refund department of Caribbean Airlines they send an auto email that someone will call within 48 hours. Of course no one calls. When I call the customer service line then I get put on hold multiple times then always eventually a disconnected line every single time. This is disrespectful and fraudulent. I want my money returned!

Route: Havana to Georgetown

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "good amount of space"

Review: Tokyo to Seoul. Comfortable seat and good amount of space. However needed to ask for drink before take off and was told that the champagne was frozen so that we could not have any! Got some eventually, Korean menu was good quality bimibap, but wine selection was atrocious. FAs seemed to disappear and not very attentive. Was okay as a short 2.5 hour flight but expected better.

Route: Tokyo to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "have nothing but praise for the cabin crew"

Review: My sister and I flew from LGW to Banjul. I have nothing but praise for the cabin crew. We flew out on 19th Nov at 8.30. The crew were amazing, we have flown many times and although some passengers were difficult they never wavered from the job in hand and seemed to be happy, genuinely. I wish I took the crews names, as they were on the go the whole 6 hrs.

Route: London Gatwick to Banjul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "such an incompetent airline"

Review: Flight was 2 1/2 hours delayed, so Copa knew well in advance there were tons of missed connections in Panama City. They didn't have any employee at the gate to help passengers, not even a sign telling passengers where to rebook. They have TWO customer "service" people rebooking a huge line of people. Stood in line for 4 hours after being told on 3 different phone calls that Copa couldn't rebook us over the phone, and we had to stand in line. Waited for 4 hours with no food or water only to be told to go to a hotel for 4 days until we could take the next flight out. What a nightmare and I've never seen such an incompetent airline.

Route: Medellin to Brasilia via Panama

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "it's miserly. Awful"

Review: New York JFK to Tel Aviv. Worst airline I have ever flown. Terrible food, and good luck getting drinks because the airline is cheap and only offered drinks twice on an over 10 hour flight. And the airline staff? They are the rudest people I have ever encountered! Shame on them! When the plane landed, some passengers got out of their seats while we were still moving on the tarmac. The Captain came on over the intercom and told people to remain in their seats, but they didn't listen and continued to remove their luggage from the overhead compartments while we were heading to the gate. Where was the flight staff? Absolutely nowhere to be found. This is my second time visiting Israel. The last time I flew United. Same price, wonderful airline. I thought it might be fun to fly on an Israeli airline this time. Big mistake. Bad food, broken down, archaic airline, rude staff and I am so embarrassed I flew this airline with my friend. I could have flown United and had a wonderful flight. This airline isn't just cheap, it's miserly. Awful.

Route: New York JFK to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "no accountability due to their delay"

Review: Our flight scheduled to depart at 11.50 pm was delayed twice by more than 1 day. We called customer service more than 5 times to change our connecting flights and none of them could help us. Some of the customer service people either just cancelled our call mid way thru or just couldn't reschedule our flights. It was so frustrating that we were trying to contact customer service for more than 5 hours and could not get someone to help us. It was just a simple request yet we are puzzled why customer service can't get this right with one call. Such a horrible experience and never want to fly this airline again. Not with this experience. As a result of this delay all my subsequent connecting flights and other plans had to be deferred at extra cost and Qantas refuse to pay them. They take no accountability due to their delay.

Route: Singapore to London

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "Misleading upgrading process"

Review: Frankfurt to Cancun. Misleading upgrading process from economy to premium economy through their website, resulting in a couple separated in a 11 hours flight. It gives the option to upgrade in step number one. It shows a premium economy box next to both names in the second step making you believe that you can pay for both and get upgraded. It charges only one upgraded seat in the payment step, because only one was available, although at the second step it sets the premium box sign next to both names. Thus a couple is separated in two different sections of the aircraft just because the algorithm tries to sell anything available by tricking the customers. Indifferent flight attendants that ignore an issue that occurs by the airline.

Route: Frankfurt to Cancun

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "poor quality of ground staff service"

Review: Unorganized ground staff at check-in counter flight Don Muang to Taipei for 11/07/2022 @11 pm. Information was not cleared indicating regarding Japan Covid restrictions. Did not provide alternate options for rescheduling or cancellation due to unknown circumstances. Taipei airport, poor quality of ground staff service especially guidelines for passengers.

Route: Don Muang to Taipei via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Malta

Title: Air Malta customer review

Review: I fly this route from Malta to Amsterdam almost every week and try to avoid Air Malta as much as possible but sometimes this is not possible, even prefer an indirect flight over a direct Air Malta flight. Recently additional surprises occurred. For months now when flying Air Malta you get a Latvian old lease Boeing, no room, fully booked.

Route: Malta to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "it felt like a low cost carrier"

Review: On January 3rd, my flight with Etihad Airways from Brussels to Abu Dhabi was extremely uncomfortable. Boarding process at Brussels Airport was extremely disorganised as no one paid attention to the boarding announcements as it was a full flight. The flight was not peaceful at all, as most children kept screaming and crying on the flight and I couldn't get any sleep at all. My tray table was broken, they never served any good food on the flight, it felt like a low cost carrier like Scoot, AirAsia, others. Etihad Airways has atrocious service, rude flight attendants, poor communication, not impressed. Lots of room for improvement!

Route: Brussels to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "seated separately from my pregnant partner"

Review: Non existent customer service. Had flight changed with misleading email titled seat change not flight change emails. Original flight was couple of hours layover in Incheon from Auckland, changed to 23 hour layover with no accommodation given just the lounge, seated separately from my pregnant partner on the flight, worse customer service. Better look for better airlines if youre flying around Asia, better off with Air NZ or Singapore Air.

Route: Auckland to Cebu via Incheon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "used to love this airline, but not anymore"

Review: Melbourne to Taipei via Kuala Lumpur. The worst online chat that I have used. I have an AirAsia X voucher that was automatically given to me even though I wanted a full refund. When I finally went ahead to book a D7 flight as per the terms and conditions, my voucher code did not work. I read through the whole T&C and deduced that it should work. Staff could not offer any alternative and kept asking me to refer back to the terms and conditions or alter the flight date/route. The problem is not the flight, it is the voucher. He did not seem to get it. I used to love this airline, but not anymore.

Route: Melbourne to Taipei via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "book with a different airline"

Review: If you want to wait 2-3 extra hours due to delayed flights, AirAsia Philippines is the airline for you. Along with my boyfriend, we experienced at least a two hour delay each way from Manila to Puerto Princesa and back. The flight attendants are kind, however, all of the check in staff from Puerto Princesa airport were rude and careless. Even though you save a couple bucks with this airline, save yourself and book with a different airline even if it costs a few extra dollars.

Route: Manila to Puerto Princesa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "not worth the anger and frustration"

Review: Please never book a flight with this airline. I got stuck in Madrid with a group of 15 people that had all been overbooked. We were promised monetary compensation which I never received after months of dealing with customer support who simply sends out pre-written automatic emails. The few bucks saved are not worth the anger and frustration having to deal with their unprofessional service. I never write reviews, but after this experience I hope I can help somebody else not make my mistake again.

Route: Madrid to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Madagasikara Airways

Title: "what an absolute pleasure"

Review: Saint Marie to Antananarivo. What an absolute pleasure flying with this new airline, Madagasikara Airways. Finally competition to Air Madagascar, with prices half the price of the national airline, reliable on-time departure, convenient schedules, and complimentary drink and snacks onboard with an extremely friendly cabin attendant who made announcements in 3 languages! Planes are serviced in South Africa. Sad to see that despite all this, the plane was only half full - hopefully more will hear of it as it really deserves to succeed!

Route: SMS to TNR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "Etihad just overbooks flights"

Review: Etihad just overbooks flights, 9 people could not board! My flight was over booked by 9people, even if we had a Ticket 3months ago bought. We didn't get a seat and had to watch the plane leaving without us.

Route: Zurich to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "seats we paid for were taken"

Review: We paid premium with Alltours to fly with Condor as it were supposedly to be premium. The only premium we could see was the price. We even paid an additional fee for the XL seats and for the family to be close to each-other. When checked in, we noticed different seats on our tickets but were waived of as "sort it out on the plane" once we boarded, the seats we paid for were taken and we were highly annoyed! There was no legroom 1m89 tall and the table in front of my seat was broken even. We contacted the service desk, every response takes about 2-3 days (which is abysmal!) and we were granted a refund. We then tried to book the seats for the return flight, but the App failed as did the Web version. Customer service responded two days later with "Oh, we can't help, all looks good here. No idea why it does not work", we waited until we could check-in and were able to get seats in one row but all XL seats were of course taken. Upgrading to business was not an option as why would someone upgrade... right? We went the lounge where we enjoyed a drink and some food (Thank you American Express! You know what service is) and waited for the plan to come. It was delayed of course. When boarding started, the chaos started. No logic in order and stewardesses were clueless and rude. At some point, the purser said "we are closing the doors in 30 secs.. we MUST LEAVE NOW!" which tells me... screw safety, grab a seat and STFU!.. since that obviously doesn't work when you announce it in German and 50% are not German, we seemed to have missed the slot and a rather annoying voice then announced we would need to wait 50 more minutes for the next slot.

Route: Dusseldorf to Gran Canaria

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "can't fault them"

Review: I cannot believe some of the reviews on here. We have flown with Jet2 on a flight only basis also the last time on a package to Menorca, can't fault them. Service excellent, plane good and the amount of staff to see you through check in etc was brilliant and very helpful. Recently returned from Turkey with TUI hotel very good, however TUI changed our flight to a Smartlynx flight that was rubbish, it was so cramped, I am 5 foot and was so glad had an aisle seat, the 2 TUI staff on board were not the best for customer service, would I go with TUI again, no would I fly with Jet2 again, yes. In fact flying with them again in November.

Route: East Midlands to Menorca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Loganair

Title: "moved our flight to the following day"

Review: Has this airline ever ran a flight at the date/time that it is supposed to? Me and a my partner had a flight booked to Exeter and my girlfriend also had a flight book for a return 2 days later. A few weeks later, Loganair called and informed her that the return flight had been cancelled, so she had to rebook with another company. On the date of me writing this review, the flight is supposed to be leaving but upon checking the flight status I have found out that they moved our flight to the following day without informing us. Turns out because someone had phoned my partner to confirm the return cancellation, they left a note on the system saying that they had already contacted us so they never informed us of the change in date for the flight there. To sum up, we have had two flights booked with this company, one cancelled, one moved date. That cannot be just bad luck. We will be asking for a refund, as well as compensation for the flight booked that we no longer require due to their incompetence.

Route: Manchester to Exeter

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "check in now by kiosk"

Review: Bangkok Airways no longer has staff to help check in at Bangkok airport for domestic flights. All check in now by kiosk which dont work well. No options for changing flights.

Route: Bangkok to Ko Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "extra legroom seats 32 euros each"

Review: Gatwick to Faro return. Having flown Monarch many times and not had a problem, we were surprised to be delayed firstly when boarding and then again whilst waiting for our slot. Not only that but upon arrival at Faro, an ambulance arrived to take a disabled person off the back. Instead of opening the front and letting us all go out that way, we had to sit yet again - why? Coming back from Faro we were shocked to be told that extra legroom seats were 32 euros each! We declined but were happy to find that our return flight was on a new plane with the slimmer seats, this means there is extra legroom anyway. I would be interested to know why they don't restock with sandwiches for the return leg? We had our own food, but there were a lot of unhappy golfers on board because there were no sandwiches to be had at all.

Route: LGW to FAO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "This airline ruined my long-planned vacation"

Review: This airline ruined my long-planned vacation after canceling my flight from Boracay to Cebu which left me with only 2 choices, travel fund or reschedule a month after the original flight booked because they canceled the route. I asked them to fly me from Caticlan to Cebu via Manila because they still operate those flights under AirAsia Philippines, but to no avail. After spending almost 1000 dollars on advanced bookings, my only option is to purchase new tickets which costs almost 8 times more than it was before with another airline. AirAsia is selling fake flights to grab your money and keep it with them as much as they could, limiting your options to impossible and doesn't care ruining your holiday. I've been reading several comments on their Facebook page even way back to 2018 postings, this is a common practice for this airline as ranted by thousands of people who had similar issues as mine. I wonder when the government would revoke their franchise for fooling a lot of people already. The major swindler of the airline, probably in the whole world. My only wish is for this airline's closure.

Route: Caticlan to Cebu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Macau

Title: "had a great experience"

Review: I had a great experience flying with Air Macau yesterday. Was surprised that other reviewers have rated them so low. In particular, their reservations team were really helpful when we had problems with our travel agent, travelgenio. Our original flight was cancelled by Air Macau 2 weeks before departure, which was annoying but they offered us a selection of four alternative flights (via our travel agent). Our travel agent then gave us the wrong rebooked flight details. We therefore didn't turn up to the airport for the flight and we looked like a no show to Air Macau. Travel agent took no responsibility for their error and we were worried we would have to pay for a new ticket. However, a quick call to Air Macau customer services and they rebooked us onto a flight the following day for no extra charge. Brilliant! Departure experience: There was a bit of a queue at check in but not abnormally long. 1.5hr flight included a pork roll, cookie and water which was a nice touch. All the staff were friendly too. I suppose one downside was that there was no inflight entertainment and electrical sockets, but that didn't bother us on such a short flight. I would definitely fly with them again.

Route: Macau to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "without any notifications from Kulula"

Review: Lanseria to Durban. We celebrated our 41st anniversary and our Son paid for the Airline Tickets to Durban and back. We were delayed by this grounding of the planes on 22 October 2019. First message 05:35 - flight MN502 due to depart 13:00 - delayed to 16:35. Second message 09:21 - Flight delayed to 17:35. We have to be out of our Hotel by 11:00 and the Hire Car must be back at 13:00 - so we just had to go to the Airport and sit and wait. Next message - 10:23 - flight delayed to 18:35 - next message 19:35 and at 15:36 the next message to depart at 22:05. Seven hours on the Airport without any notifications from Kulula. I went to the Counter and the Lady had this Sheepish expression on her face until I told her that you do not seem to be interested in what I am telling you. She informed me that all the flights are full and no available seats on other flights. Luckily the Lady next to her told her to check another flight and book us there and then this one got a bit of life. We were booked on the 19:00 flight. Long story short we eventually left with 8 seats open - arrived an hour later in Johannesburg. On the Airport I asked what about meal vouchers and only when I asked, she gave me 2 vouchers of R110.00 each.

Route: Lanseria to Durban

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "I am so grateful for all the staff"

Review: Shanghai to Vancouver via Guangzhou. For the first route, I got to the airport late, as it was the busy traffic hour in Shanghai. A staff gave an express pass, so I could make it to get onboard just in time. Cabin service was excellent. I was hungry, and a crew gave me some extra hot meal. The aircraft type was B787. WiFi was available, but it need to apply for it in advanced. Transit in Guangzhou was easy and efficient. My second flight was on time. It was quite a long journey, I am so grateful for all the staff who offered help and kindness during the epidemic situation. I think China Southern stuff did a really good job. Highly recommend.

Route: Shanghai to Vancouver via Guangzhou

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "Fees for everything"

Review: Worst Airline ever with their customer service. Fees for everything. it was about $1000 fees to be able to just change the flight day because I had an emergency case to travel earlier. And no convenient option for cancelling at all! No full refund and not even a credit option. The only option was to leave the ticket on hold for a fee of $270. This is ridiculous and waste of money. with all the extra fees, another cheaper flight can be purchased. it's the last time for me to travel with this airline.

Route: Chicago to Jeddah via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "I'll never fly Avelo again"

Review:

I booked 2 round trip tickets for Thanksgiving months ago. The back in August 2022 I got a message from Avelo saying our return flight had been changed. I tried emailing their "customer support" several times but received no response. I tried calling several times but no one answers after waiting for hours. Today I went to print my boarding pass and learned our departure time had been changed, but never received an email or phone call but Avelo alerting me to the change. I then went to check on our return flight and now they no longer list any return flights that day ! Again no one answers when you call customer support. Will try to sort it out at the airport, but now have now confidence in this airline. How can they change flight times without informing the passengers? !! I'll never fly Avelo again.

Route: New Haven to Fort Myers

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "an excellent service"

Review: Flew on Garuda Indonesia on the GA 405 flight from Denpasar, Bali to Jakarta. I picked up from my hotel by a car provided by Garuda Indonesia and upon arrival at the airport I was meet by Qaulan the First-Class representative who assisted me with check in, security and through to the lounge where I was put in a VIP room, although small it was more than adequate. There was a good selection of food available in the lounge, however I chose to wait until after take-off. Qaulan assisted me when I was boarding and escorted me to the plane, the Garuda Cabin crew were very welcoming, and I knew one of the cabin crew Ruth and she was very helpful during the flight as was Eka. Thank you both for your help and service during the flight. The flight took just over 1 hour and 40 minutes and after landing and when the plane door was opened, I was met by Afrizal from the Jakarta Garuda First Class team who escorted me to the baggage hall and assisted in me in getting my luggage. He then escorted me outside the terminal building to a waiting car that was provided by Garuda Indonesia to take me home. Thank you to Ruth and Eka onboard the flight and Afrizal the ground support staff in Jakarta for providing an excellent service.

Route: Denpasar, Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "impressed with the level of service"

Review: Overall, I was impressed with the level of service and attention to detail. The seats were comfortable and the cabin was clean. Additionally, the in-flight entertainment system was easy to use. From the check-in counter to the cabin crew, everyone was courteous and helpful. I felt that the safety of passengers was a top priority. However, during first service, the snack was disappointing. Potentially because I requested special meal "Hindu Non Vegetarian". I only received an apple, while the others received lukewarm bread roll with a meat filling. Fortunately, the second service was delicious. Bonus points for offering real cutlery in economy class. It was a pleasant experience. They only have to elevate their food and beverage service by offering more frequent and bigger portions/tray. In addition, offering snacks in between would be greatly appreciated.

Route: Denpasar to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "told us we would have to wait 8 hours"

Review: Having booked flight over a month in advance, they over sold the flight. Did not notify us until we were at the check in counter, 90min before the flight. Basically told us we would have to wait 8 hours and hopefully get the next flight. If you are thinking of booking with this airline please reconsider. For your own peace of mind. Customer service is not in their intentions, only taking your money.

Route: Buenos Aires to Tucuman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "nothing to complain about"

Review:

I have been flying with Hong Kong Airlines many times on this same route from Naha to Hong Kong, it has never disappointed me. Excellent flight time, punctuality, matched with equally satisfactory inflight service and catering. Very often they sell seats at promotional price, make this an instant winner over the other airline from HK which serves this route (But at a hugely marked up price). For a 2 hour flight, from the airport priority check-in, lounge access, to the wonderful 1-2-1 seat arrangement (flat bed), there is nothing to complain about. Crew were enthusiastic and pro-active. The menu has 3 choices, and a small but acceptable wine list. I feel for the price I paid, this is more than I had expected. If anything to pick it would be the food, it's not bad, but it is not yet very good, one little area to improve on. Priority luggage first the belt, I couldn't ask for more.

Route: OKA to HKG

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "loss of points with online checkin"

Review: First time travelling with Norse. Our business decided to try a different airline than Norwegian to give us a few more options. Nice staff and nice plane but the main issue that makes me reluctant to book for business travel again is the online checkin. It wont give you a boarding pass. After contacting their support desk (who by the way are very responsive, so bravo), they said you have to get one at the airport. This means queing with all the people who are checking in their bags, even if youre just flying hand luggage. Adds about another 30 mins atleast with the additional Que and check in at Gatwick airport. Until they can sort out their online check in and provide a good app and digital boarding passes, unfortunately we cant book with them again. Extra points for speedy customer service but loss of points with online checkin.

Route: Gatwick to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "many problems await you if you book your flight with Lion Air"

Review: My flights actual departure was 1 hour late, but the airline said nothing about the delay. Passengers were confused and tired waiting at the gate. On our ticket, the departure gate was D3. But without any announcement, the gate was changed to D7. I almost boarded the wrong flight (the flight from D3 was JT22, but my flight was JT42. Both heading to Denpasar, but JT22 delayed for 3 hours.). After boarding, there were 2 passengers yelling and arguing because their seat was the same. Poor communications is not only a Lion Air problem. Poor ground management, poor baggage handling, and many more problems await you if you book your flight with Lion Air.

Route: Jakarta to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "Do not book flights with them"

Review: My ticket was cancelled by CSA more than a month ago and I still can't get money back for that. On my requests they answer, that I need to wait. When I ask - how long to wait? - no answer! On top of that, my two previous flights were delayed for more than 24 hours with no reasons. Do not book flights with them.

Route: Prague to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "should be ashamed of their operations"

Review: Ljubljana to Vienna. Overall, the flight services of Adria are those of an average, reliable, small European carrier. I have flown them many times over the years, and I have seldom experienced any problems with the flights themselves. Returning to Vienna from a visit to Albania and Slovenia in September, however, I had an encounter with Adria that has revealed just how much their customer service quality could be improved. Adria offers opportunities to purchase business class upgrades or empty economy class seats through Optiontown. Business class upgrades on Adria are a joke because you're paying at least 50EUR for an empty seat next to you and a snack. The option to purchase an empty economy class seat at 19EUR is a great deal though, in my opinion. Having selected this option for my LJU-VIE flight, I received a confirmation that my transaction had cleared and the extra seat had been assigned next to me. Fast forward to the actual flight: there had been an aircraft change from the CRJ-900 to an ATR-72 (Darwin Airlines/Etihad Regional), but I still had my empty seat. The ATR-72 has two seats that face towards the rear of the plane at the front of the cabin, and one of the women seated there was scared to fly backwards, so the flight attendant unilaterally reassigned her to my empty seat without asking. It's a short flight, and I didn't want to cause a scene, so I just let it all happen assuming I could easily get a refund for my 20EUR transaction. It took exactly one month for Adria's customer service team to respond to me, and they said that my "business class upgrade" had not cleared, so I was not charged. I had never requested a business class upgrade, and I was charged for the empty seat I had in fact requested, so I sent all of the relevant receipts and statements back to Adria. Three weeks later, I still have yet to receive a response, so I simply disputed the charge with my credit card company that was easily able to understand the issue and refunded the money. 3-4 weeks+ response time from customer service is absolutely embarrassing, and Adria should be ashamed of their operations. It's sad for an otherwise perfectly acceptable airline to lose a customer over 20EUR.

Route: Ljubljana to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "very pleasantly surprised"

Review: Rome to Liverpool. I was very pleasantly surprised by the far from low cost experience. Very clean aircraft. Good Legroom. Friendly staff. Entertainment playing on the screens. Complimentary sandwich, which was very good and soft drinks too. Overall it was an extremely pleasant experience and one that actually bettered the soft product of British Airways as you'll pay extra for food and drinks on short-haul and won't get any entertainment. Only negative I can think of is the airlines website, which doesn't do them any favours.

Route: Rome to Liverpool

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "the worst experience ever"

Review: This airline is horrible. This was my husband and my first time to Portugal and first time flying with SATA Airlines. Not only was our flight delayed 9 hours, but when we finally got on, we took off and circled around then landed back in Lisbon. The reason for the first delay was because of technical issues. Knowing there was a problem they still put us on the plane. When we landed 15 min later back in Lisbon, there were fire trucks surrounding us. By the time we got off the plane and collected our bags, it was 12am Saturday morning. Mind you our flight was supposed to take off originally at 1:30pm Friday. Not only did they tell us we had to sleep at the airport because they could not put us in a hotel, they didn't even offer a pillow or blanket to anyone. We finally took off Saturday afternoon on a different aircraft to the Azores, after spending 31 hours at the airport. We are still fighting with them to get our money back on the flights we then had to purchase on a different airline just to get back to Lisbon. They are by far the worst experience ever. I highly recommend not flying with them at all cost.

Route: Lisbon to Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "I would certainly use again"

Review: Madrid to Casablanca on 15th February 2023. I booked my flight online via a travel agency several months before travel and it was reassuring to have received a number of superbly informative emails from Royal Air Maroc before the flight. The airline enabled online check-in and this attention to detail was mirrored elsewhere in the service provided. My one and only gripe was the abrupt woman on the check-in desk. She made no effort to even speak to me and roughly removed the protective cover to my passport and literally threw it under the counter at me. When I objected she turned her head and entered into a conversation with her uniformed colleagues. This rudeness is not acceptable and was entirely unnecessary too. the boarding process was well managed and the crew were well turned out and very professional. The interior of the 737-Max was tastefully decorated in a corporate and culturally reflective manner. Royal Air Maroc provided a nicely presented lunch box. The box itself was a work of art. It contained a small cake, sandwich and water and other items I do not recall. A route map was displayed and the cabin crew made themselves present. The lavatory was spotlessly clean. Although a relatively short flight the crew were a superb representation of their company and country. Landing and disembarkation were professionally handled and based on this experience, I would certainly use again. Royal Air Maroc put certain European airlines to shame. As mentioned, my one and only and justifiable gripe is the rude woman on the Madrid check-in desk.

Route: Madrid to Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "Good service from ground staff"

Review: Jakarta to Banjarmasin. On time. Good service from ground staff until boarding. Flight attendant also OK. Its low cost carrier in Indonesia. They give free baggage 20 kg. Free magazine (read onboard only, or download in internet). Online check in. Maybe they can upgrade their website like AirAsia which can to manage booking with add on.

Route: Jakarta to Banjarmasin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Philippines

Title: "so many hidden fees"

Review: Clark to Cebu. At first, I was very happy with the price. But then I went to fully pay and the credit card processing fee was a whopping 15%! That is insane. Then I get to the airport and they tell me my toothpaste and wires need to be checked! They assured me that this was normal. I had to pay a lot extra for a checked bag and then they had a terminal fee, again overall so many hidden fees that made me furious. Just give me the right price, not some made up price and in nowhere in the world is it ok to charge someone 15% on a credit card.

Route: Clark to Cebu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Azerbaijan Airlines

Title: Azerbaijan Airlines customer review

Review: I flew from JFK to Israel via Baku and had very positive experience with Azerbaijan Airlines. JFK-Baku the plane was a quarter full so I had 4 seats to myself. It was a new and clean airplane. I was served kosher food even though they say on their website it's not available on that flight. The airport in Baku is brand new, free wi-fi, again almost empty.

Route: JFK to Tel Aviv via Baku

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "Both flights operated on time"

Review: Melbourne to Hobart return. Both flights operated on time, and baggage appeared reasonably quickly on the carousel. The flight down on a 737 Max was very smooth and pleasant. The boarding process from the rear was very efficient, and the cabin service was good. The flight back on a rather tired looking 737 wasn't quite as pleasant, with unclear boarding announcements and more rushed cabin service, but still OK. Hot drinks and water were served free (only water on the outward trip). There are different bag drop procedures in Melbourne and Hobart. In Melbourne, don't imagine that you can go straight to bag drop if you have checked in at home. No! You must go to the check-in machine to get your bag tag first. You might as well save time at home and check in at the airport. In Hobart, please go to the bag drop counter to get your bag tag.

Route: Melbourne to Hobart

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "we missed the flight"

Review: I traveled from New York to Tel Aviv in June 2019. We flew via Moscow and after two hours waiting transfer we took off to Tel avid, food and service is poor but I got economy tickets so its ok so far. In Tel avid is when the nightmares started, they cant find our suitcases no where. 2 days later an Angel found 2 of the 3 packs. Well the Hunting continues, 2 more they my wife had to get in the baggage section in airport to get my mothers suitcase, finally we closed that chapter. June 17th was the day to return home, I had to return my rental car and left my family in the check in waiting, after I came back to the terminal we had to wait a half hour in line just to the attendant tells we missed the flight, I was 45 minutes to the depart, so we beg to them to let us go, no way, they sent us to the ticketing window where not one help us, the answer was, buy new tickets. I tried to see if any one else can help but looks like this company doesnt have customer service. We asked to talk to a supervisor but looks like they even dont know that word or dont care.

Route: New York to Tel Aviv via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "told me their planes are outdated"

Review: Booked & paid on Condor Air Website 2 roundtrip Business Class Seats from Los Angeles to Barcelona via Frankfurt. Received following itineraries: LAX to Frankfurt Condor Business, Frankfurt to Barcelona Economy with Lufthansa (their chosen partner). I contacted Condor to complain they advertised full flight as Business but part of received itinerary is Economy. They said they have no control what type of seats their Lufthansa partner assigns & I must take this w/ Lufthansa. Told them I did not choose Lufthansa & did not buy my tickets from Lufthansa but Condor did & they falsely advertised a full Business-Class seat. Condor refused to help. I Contacted Lufthansa & was told Condor only books economy w/ them & I will have to pay additional fee to get Business seats for remaining part of trip. I paid Lufthansa additional $640 for mine & my daughters seats. Upon checking in at the LAX Condor counter, I mentioned additional fee I had to pay to upgrade 2nd portion of my flight. I said I had to pay twice for Business seat from Frankfurt to Barcelona (& returning flight). Agent said to file a complaint with Condor to get reimbursed for paying twice for Business seats. I filed a complaint; Condor rejected. My LA to Frankfurt Business seat did not recline, making it less comfortable than Economy seat that reclines to some degree. I had to seat at an upright position. They offered $100 coupon to purchase one of few items offered on their inflight magazine! A Business class ticket costs 3X Economy; my seat was less comfortable than Economy seat. Flight attendant told me their planes are outdated, missing much needed maintenance, Condor won't spend money on making repairs on their old planes. She said they routinely apologize to passengers & are embarrassed by the condition of their planes. On the return flight from Frankfurt to LA on Condor Air the Entertainment monitor on my seat was physically broken & did not operate. Flight attendant apologized & repeated same comments other Condor flight attendant said on previous flight. Once landed at LAX, my checked-in suitcase was delivered badly damaged beyond repair. There was a Condor Air employ at the carousel helping other passenger with damaged suitcases. She assisted me to logon to Condor baggage damage site & showed me how to take numerous photos of every corner and side of suitcase & upload them to their system. Condor employee inspected the suitcase & confirmed the damage; Condor claim system generated a claim #. I was told I will be contacted for assistance, but never did. I filed complaint at Condor website; got rejected. Questionable practice at website complaint process is that to complete the complaint process passengers must include their bank international code, routing number, account number. They do this to intimidate people from submitting complaints as it is impossible to complete their process before sharing this highly sensitive information. I dont know if this is a legal practice in the US. I understand they may need this information if they choose to reimburse a passenger. But why would they ask for this information before even reading ones complaint to decide whether to honor the complaint. They read my complaint, rejected each and every one of my grievances, left me with a broken Delsey suitcase, and have my highly sensitive banking information on their record!

Route: Frankfurt to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Overall, the staff was fantastic"

Review: I was initially concerned after I booked my tickets due to the reviews. This is my experience flying direct from Tampa to Norfolk and then Norfolk to Tampa a week later. I fly first thing in the morning and sat in the Nicer seats. Overall, no issues with the flight. The boarding process was very easy and go the seat with no problem. If you are a bigger person, you may need a seat belt extender. Just ask the flight crew right when you step on and they will give you one before heading to the seat. Once boarded the captain came out and spoke with the cabin and explained the flight. We took off on time and landed 20 minutes early. The fight was very smooth and couldn't have been happier. There are inflight refreshments but unless you are in the Nicest seats cost money. I flew back to Tampa in the Nicest seats and WOW! what an upgrade. For an extra fifty bucks having the extra width and leg room was fantastic. I sat in row 1 which provide extra leg room and at 6'4" was more room then really needed. The seats are comfortable and have a reclining feature with a foot/ leg rest. Inflight refreshments come with the seat which include a can of soda and other beverages and snacks. The snacks are not the little airplane snacks but large bags of chips, candy, and energy bars. Overall, the staff was fantastic. The inflight stewards were professional and very nice and accommodating. The gate staff were also professional and prompt to load flights and get people on. The only things to remember: No in free inflight refreshments. Depending on your seat you will be allowed a personal item, carry on, or loaded bag. Some seats only allow a small personal item, and a carry-on bag will cost extra. Also I think the reviews related to delay flight and issues relate to a very limited number of aircraft. I was the only Breeze flight at the terminal, of the flight was cancelled there would be no other alternative, so there is a inherent risk you are taking. They do not have the plane inventory like Delta or AA and can accommodate a change. Also they fly on certain days and times from the airports. When scheduling makes sure to schedule a flight that has another flight the next day just in case there is a issue.

Route: Tampa to Norfolk

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "15 euro fare, no complaints"

Review: Uneventful flight. No delays. Ryanair crew were friendly enough by Ryanair standards! Window seat so not too uncomfortable. Usual multiple sales pitches squeezed into a 45 minute flight. Ryanair are never going to win any awards for service or comfort but that's not their intention. Considering the 15 euro fare, no complaints.

Route: Bristol to Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "we were messed around"

Review: Was not seated with my partner whom we booked our flight together on the whole way back to Christchurch from Rarotonga. And our flight Auckland to Christchurch was canceled and we were messed around getting to hotel for the overnight stay.

Route: Rarotonga to Christchurch via Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: Lion Air customer review

Review: Flying from Jakarta to Pontianak with Lion Air 737- Max8, and the connected flight to Kuching by Wings Air. Ticket was booked easily, however I could not do mobile check in for Pontianak - Kuching sector. So I have to do check in at counter in the Airport. Both Flights were departed and arrived on time. Pontianak To Kuching was served by ATR 72-600, and i sat at 17A which was really spacious. It was a nice flight.

Route: Jakarta to Kuching via Pontianak

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "made me dislike this airline"

Review: Seoul to Tokyo. Unprofessional and disappointing. Check in, boarding, and the beginning of the flight went smooth. The seats was comfortable with plenty of leg space. That was when things went downhill. My friends entertainment system wasn't working, and flight attendants ignore us despite us trying to get their attention. Food was bland and mushy. The head flight attendant was rushing to get food out, as she kept sighing and was rude, especially to the non Koreans. However, things started to go bad at the end of the flight. The plane had already landed and was slowly making its way to the terminal, when a little girl, about 3 years old, suddenly had to use the bathroom. The mum asked one of the flight attendant if her daughter could use the bathroom. The flight attendant went to ask her supervisor (who was the rude head flight attendant), to which she told the mum to tell her daughter to hold it. The daughter was crying, and kept saying how much it hurts (my friend who isn't Korean, but understands the language translated). The mum resorted to using a plastic bag for her daughter to uninate, in the middle of the plane. Of course, the little kid didn't want to, so the mum, desperate, just took her daughter to the bathroom. By this point, it's been 15 minutes since we've landed and was nowhere near the terminal. While I understand the importance of being in your seats while the plane is moving for our safety, certain protocol should be broken if there is a situation that arises. The head flight attendant on this flight, or at least in charge of my section, made me dislike this airline, which is disappointing as I've enjoyed this airline when I flew with them 10 days ago.

Route: Seoul to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "nobody gave us an explanation"

Review: Disappointing service, flight was delayed 3 hours and nobody gave us an explanation at all, just sit there and wait, no meal or drinks were provided in the meantime, Ground staff are very unwelcoming and grumpy. Cabin crew are quite alright

Route: Casablanca to Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "Appalling customer service"

Review: Dubai to Nairobi via Muscat. Appalling customer service. When other airlines are trying to help customers, Oman Air are not interested. Rude staff on telephone, charging for rebooking after saying they won't, refusing to refund. They are so busy on Facebook telling everyone how great they are but when it comes to after they have taken your money they are not interested. I will never use them again.

Route: Dubai to Nairobi via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "I was the loser"

Review: Rwandair Business CAN-MUM-KGL-LUN-JNB return in February 2020. Flight cancelled due to Rwandan Governments Decision to suspend flights from China. They corresponded slowly and offered rebooking with ET which was risky and was 2 days later leaving me in China. I suggested much better alternative with Thai and Kenya Airways which would fit me perfectly. After some days of discussion they agreed and I rearranged positioning flights. Less than 24 hours before departure they declined to pursue their own, new rebooking due to ticket stock issues (= no interline agreement with KQ). I then had to purchase a last Minute ticket myself on the suggested routing (confirmed by Rwandair-China in-country manager). They now refuse to refund that ticket which costed me 1750 USD. Small airlines cannot cope well with serious issues. They suggest to refund the original ticket which I cannot accept as it would leave me stranded in Africa. Original ticket bought 5 months earlier as [promotional business] and I intended not to forsake it.

We were still negotiating in Kigali and I filed a case to pursue refund relentlessly. It was a tug of war. Eventually they just refunded the ticket but I was the loser as I had to buy new tickets in last moment for thrice the price of the ticket they suspended.

Route: Guangzhou to Johannesburg via Kigali / Lusaka

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "the worst customer service"

Review: This was by far the worst customer service I have ever experienced. Virgin America cancelled my flight due to crew issues and did not provide a new itinerary. Rather they sent an email asking me to rebook my flight within two months so as not to incur fees. I proceeded to call them and spent four hours on the phone to get on a new flight. They confirmed me on several flights, I raced from terminal to terminal (mind you I'm pregnant) but because the supervisor took so long to confirm each flight I missed three flights in a row. I could have accomplished what they were trying to do (rebooking me through a flight on Kayak) in 5 minutes. Because they did end up rebooking me on a flight (which instead of being direct, flew through Boston and added 4 hours to my trip) they are not giving me a reimbursement, even though the supervisor on the phone promised to do so. I have never been more disappointed in customer service and will not be travelling with them again.

Route: LAX to IAD

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "told that my tickets been cancelled"

Review: I booked with Egypt air through their own website on the 1st of May my business tickets for me and my family, total of 4 business tickets, one way route from Johannesburg to Dubai. On the 6th of May, only 24 hours before departure, I received email from Egypt air cancelling all my tickets. I called the Head office in Johannesburg where they told me that flight is still on, but my tickets is been cancelled without them knowing whats going on. I called the head office where I was told that my tickets been cancelled because its coming from South Africa and we are not allowed into Dubai. But I told them that I'm Emirati citizen and its stating in Egyptair website that Emirati are excluded and we can enter UAE without any problems. They agreed on that and told me my business tickets were taken by someone else and only economy seats are available for the 7th May. Or I can reschedule my flight for the 14th after Eid. I told them that I booked and fully paid my 4 business tickets for the 7th as its even more expensive than the 14th because of Eid season and I would like my business tickets back as I didn't cancel or request cancelling and I still wants my tickets. Long story short, I wasn't given my business tickets and I had to fly economy class despite paying full amount a week before for business seats. This was my first booking with Egyptair and I'm totally disappointed on how this turned out.

Route: Johannesburg to Dubai via Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "got delayed for an hour"

Review: Jogjakarta to Banjarmasin. I arrived at the airport in around 9 o'clock in the morning and my flight should depart at 11.30 but it got delayed for an hour so we departed at around 12.30. Seat pocket was very dirty. Ac was turned off and it was very hot. Bad this time. At least the flight attendant smiled at me once.

Route: Jogjakarta to Banjarmasin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "worst airline experience ever"

Review: The worst airline experience ever. I will never fly with them again. 2 hours of delay on first flights, as there was no engineer available to sign the approval for landing, very uncomfortable seats, they ran out of toilet paper in both flights, in the first they didn't have even tissues, you need to pay for everything, even for a glass of water!!! This is egregious as airport security usually don't allow water to be carried on-board on many international flights. They don't offer anything for free and even the options for purchase are very limited and expensive. Cup noodles to eat, and water, coffee, tea, Milo (with hot water) and two options of warm soda. One bag of tea is AU$4!!!! As it was a night flight and it got very cold, I asked for a blanket and had to pay AU$9 for a piece of flannel. Needless to say that there was no entertainment system available. The absolute worst. Do not recommend to anyone.

Route: Brisbane to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "Will never ever travel with them again"

Review: Amman to Stockholm via Vienna. One of the worst flights that I had in my entire life! The customer service is very poor and no one is answering me. They lost my bags and didn't even bother searching for them or updating me about the situation. Will never ever travel with them again.

Route: Amman to Stockholm via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "was a pleasant experience"

Review: Jakarta to Singapore ID7155. The check in and boarding process was fast and the staff was kind and nice.

The flight departed and arrived on time. The cabin crew was efficient and polite. The food for this flight was sandwich and muffin served in a box. Both food was quite good in taste. The in-flight entertainment for this flight was rather new and different from the previous domestic flight that I have with them. This IFE was better compared to their old one and it was responsive. The movie was somehow updated with some new selection. Overall, it was a pleasant experience with Batik Air.

Route: Jakarta to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "I thought meals were included"

Review: Asked to change to aisle seat denied at ticket counter and on plane even though they had several open available. When I booked ticket I didnt know or see wHere I wanted to purchase meals, I thought meals were included. I said I would pay and I had to wait over an hour till they accommodated other passengers. Then I could buy only certain and few items.

Route: Bangkok to Los Angeles via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "I was denied check in"

Review: I'm writing this review so others won't go through what went through. This airline has no accountability whatsoever. The day of my flight I was denied check in. The reason was that I had less than 6 month validity on my passport which was not required for my destination. The Emirates agent at the check-in booth told me he wouldn't let me on the flight and then offered my seat to a standby client. Because of this I missed my flight, I had to renew my passport in less than 24h and lost 2 days stay at the hotel. I had to pay 300$+ ticket as penalty to board on the next flight not to mention the psychological distress I was put under (I have depression/anxiety disorder). I was travelling with a group and someone in my group has checked in with no problem with passport validity less than 6 months. When I contacted Emirates for refund they said the agent didn't declare the incident and put me as no show on the system although I was there in time with the group. I was told by Emirates that without the name of the agent they can do nothing about it. In short Emirates agents can freely deny you your flight manipulate the system and sell your seat to another person and you can do nothing about it.

Route: Tokyo Narita to Tunis via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jazz

Title: "ride smooth and on time"

Review: Short 1-hour hop from Vancouver to Castlegar, and all good. The plane looks tiny on the ground, but the ride was smooth and on time. Not much time for more than a swift Sprite and pretzels before we made the descent. This landing is one which all Air Canada pilots practice over and over on the simulator, as it is apparently one of the most challenging in Canada! Not bad on a sunny day such as we travelled, but I am sure on a wet evening it would be quite a tricky path through the mountains. Also advised that the route can get cancelled for days at a time due to fog. No such problems for us, as flights out and back were fine. Great to arrive at an airport and your bag is there in literally 5 minutes. Give this route a go, but make sure to check the Castlegar weather first.

Route: YVR to Castlegar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "I was upgraded to Premium economy"

Review: Ho Chi Minh city to Frankfurt via Taipei, a good experience overall. I departed at 05:45 p.m., and meals were served 3 times, 1 dinner in the connecting flight from HCMC to Taipei and 2 on the flight from Taipei to Frankfurt. The food was good, but there were not many options and the menu was the same for both departing and returning flights. The crew were friendly and caring, they noticed when I felt uncomfortable due to low temperature inside the cabin and offered hot drinks. The seat was comfortable. I'm a rather small girl (162cm in height), so I had no problem with legroom, but it might have been a bit cramped for some other passengers around me. My returning date was a busy day for Frankfurt airport, so I had a delayed takeoff, which made me miss my connecting flight from Taipei to HCMC. I had a long delay at Taoyuan airport. The airlines handled the situation well, they offered me to stay in their lounge and took care of my baggage, coupons for food and beverage were also given. The best part was I was upgraded to Premium economy on my flight back to HCMC.

Route: Ho Chi Minh to Frankfurt via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Atlantic Airways

Title: "very pleasant"

Review: Copenhagen to Vagar (Faroe Islands), and the Atlantic Airways A319 was still quite new and had the feature of mood lighting (which you don't see on many European short haul aircraft). The cabin layout was very nice. The food was simple, but good : a nice little wrap, salad with fresh salmon, bread and little mini-Rittersport chocolate. Very surprised that only 45 minutes after the meals / drinks service they did a second drink service (a full aircraft on a 2.05hr flight!). The service was friendly and the lady who served me was most charming. A simple short haul flight, but very pleasant!

Route: CPH to FAE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nordic Regional Airlines

Title: "crew was clearly tired"

Review: Helsinki to Moscow. Nordic Regional Airlines operated flight on behalf of Finnair. Not a great start as it was delayed 45 mins. The crew was clearly tired, just barely kept their eyes open. Plane about 10+ years old Embraer 190. Dirty seat covers, yuck! Service was Finnair's basic low budget concept: Free coffee or tea, or blueberry juice. Of course snacks are available if you like to use extra money. I bought a long drink for 5 euros. With the help of a strong tailwind our flight almost caught up the delayed time. Flight time today only 1hr 20mins. Everything was ok, although i didn't really like the sleepy crew.

Route: Helsinki to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: HOP!

Title: "hard pressed to use HOP"

Review: Paris to Aberdeen. HOP did us a favour during our outbound journey by taking strike action and cancelling our flight less than 48 hours prior to our departure. KLM/Air France organised a replacement itinerary with British airways which was very nice. The fun really started during our return journey from Paris to Aberdeen when we were shuttled by bus from the terminal to the aircraft. We were then left standing in the busses unable to board the aircraft for almost an hour as no purser was available to complete the embarkation. Thankfully a purser from another, recently landed, flight agreed to take our flight and worked very quickly and diligently to board the aircraft as soon as she arrived. Once underway my partner had to eat her meal from her lap since the tray table was missing from the arm of the seat. Neither of us would normally care about such things but we had treated ourselves to business class seats since it has been a few years since we had a decent holiday. I will be very hard pressed to use HOP in the future if I can avoid it!

Route: Paris to Aberdeen

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "a good commuter flight"

Review: Short hop BKK-CNX on FD4106 on 04/28 as part of SE Asia trip with Hubby. Thai Air Asia is a LCC with base in DMK Don Mueang but they do have some flights out of BKK Suvarnabhumi. We purchased the tickets back from US and was able to snag the 1st row seats. They board by zones and boarding was quite organized. For a short 1 hour flight the FAs were doing a good job of making sure we were served the hot meal that we have preordered and clean up afterwards. All FAs are using face mask at all times for safety precautions, and this is the norm in all flights we were on in Asia. Overall this is a good commuter flight, and for a low cost carrier the quality of service is really good.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "cabin & service were excellent"

Review: Booked Hong Kong Airlines because the fare was much lower than competing airlines. Check-in was a scrum even for those merely checking in bags. Onboard the cabin decor and the service were excellent. The small snack was fine and I did not expect more. Plane left the gate in Hong Kong on time but there was a sudden jolt on push back when the pin in the push back rod broke. No fault of the airline but it resulted in a 20 minute delay. Add to this the regular delay prior to arrival in TPE due to seemingly interminable one runway operation and we arrived an hour late. For the same reason, departure from Taipei was delayed but flight again smooth and enjoyable.

Route: Hong Kong to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "Overall, another good flight"

Review: Flew on GA-683 Sorong to Jakarta. Check in was quite fast even though only two desks were open. I then proceeded to the local lounge used by Garuda-Indonesia. In the lounge soft drinks, tea, coffee, and snacks were provided. It is a small lounge; however, the staff are very helpful. When it came time for boarding the process was fast and efficient which allowed us to take off on time. The flight itself was a morning flight and took approx. 3 hours and 35 minutes. I had ordered a diabetic meal which was promptly served to me just after take-off. The cabin crew were very helpful, and they showed that they really do care about their passengers even for short flight they provided a meal and then before landing a snack.. We arrived in Jakarta right on schedule and I was met at the gate by Garuda PSA Team member was escorted to baggage area. I collected my baggage and was on my way 15 minutes after landing. That is excellent service. Overall, another good flight on Garuda-Indonesia.

Route: Sorong to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "WiFi not free"

Review: My flight Catania to Milan was 2 hrs late and when we arrived no one from Air Italy was at gate to help us to catch our flights to Miami which we missed. No one at transfer desk. Doors locked to floor for check in desk. Security would not help. We were told flights would wait but air Italy did not. It took many hours, even business class, to secure cheap hotel room far from airport. They would not even give me seat or ticket for flight next day. When we got To this hotel, their restaurant already closed. I finally gt seat the next day with no apologies. WiFi not free for business class.

Route: Milan to Miami

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "very disappointed"

Review: My review is about the food and beverage, and service. Very bad quality food and we were given juices for Juniors like kids. The crew disappeared after serving food and not presenting themselves but at food time. My family chose Egypt Air for convenience and it being a direct flight to Cairo but unfortunately all were very disappointed.

Route: Cairo to Washington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "I have not received a refund"

Review: I am shocked and disgusted with the customer service from Cebu Pacific. My flight was cancelled in March and I was told I would receive a refund by August/September at the latest. I have not received a refund and my emails are now being ignored. I feel like I have been treated with disrespect and it is not good enough.

Route: Dubai to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "seat width to be inadequate"

Review: Denpasar-Bali to Perth, Boeing 737-800 aircraft. Same aircraft type when we left PER which prior to departure we had read online customer reviews saying Garuda had replaced the larger aircraft with the smaller B737-800, with 3-3 seating configuration. We were hoping this may have changed by the time our holidays commenced, however, that was not the case! We found the seat width to be inadequate especially when myself and other two passengers have broad shoulders. Very tight squeeze for the 3.hrs 25 mins to DPS. On return flight, air conditioning was not working so not only was it a tight squeeze home but very uncomfortable with the heat, many people complaining but nothing was done. Drinks and food was served with delay adding to the frustration that the cabin getting warmer, people getting hot. Ok food selection for flight out of PER but disappointing on the return leg. Options were chicken or fish, by the time it reached row 19 the chicken had been depleted, the air hostess saying they only stock 20% chicken and the rest fish. I expect more comfortable seating and better service to match what they claim to be a 5-star airline. Please consider going with another airline as Garuda has dropped their game!

Route: Denpasar-Bali to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ravn Alaska

Title: "issues with last minute delays"

Review: Anchorage to Homer. I have had several issues with last minute delays in the past with no information on why and then today I go to check in and they've changed my flight to an earlier time with the justification that "they attempted to contact me". I've flown with Ravn forever but if I had any other airline options for my flight home I would take it in an instant.

Route: Anchorage to Homer

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Japan

Title: "Talk about money grabbing"

Review: Tokyo to Manila with Jetstar Japan. Disgusted. I was charged 50$ because my hand-carry luggage was 1cm too wide. Literally. One. Centimeter. I have never had any issues of this sort with this particular carry-on luggage with any other airline before and I had travelled with it many times. Talk about money grabbing.

Route: Tokyo to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "I will never fly them again"

Review: In January, 2019, my husband and I were taking a very short flight from Krabi to Bangkok. This is about a 50 minute flight. This was part of our three week journey through Southeast Asia and we had booked the flight long before we began our trip. People had warned me in advance about the high cost of overweight baggage so I made sure to look into this in advance. Thai Lion Air allows 10 KG of free baggage but I knew we would have more than that since we were traveling for so long. I booked the tickets online and paid with our US credit card. Afterwards I got an email notifying us that if we were going to exceed the 10 KG of free baggage, we should pay in advance for the extra weight so that it would not be as expensive. We attempted to do that online but it wouldn't except the credit card (the same credit card we had just used to book the flight). We then called customer service and attempted to pay for the added weight with them, but they also told us they could not except US credit cards. They told us that we could pay for the extra baggage weight the day of the flight. That made me nervous so I looked online at their website and it showed that we could pay for an extra 15 KG for 520 baht (which is about $16 USD). I figured that wasn't the end of the world so didn't worry about it. When we got to the airport for our flight, they wanted to charge us 4400 baht (or $138 USD) which is twice the amount that we paid for the actual flight tickets! We argued with the woman and she brought over her manager who confirmed that it would be 4400 baht because we didn't come to the airport to pay at least four hours in advance. The funny thing is, they don't open until four hours before the flight so there is no way we could have paid more than four hours in advance. Basically, if you have a US credit card, there is no way you can avoid paying overweight baggage fees unless you just keep your weight below 10 KG. This airline is a bunch of con artists and I will never fly them again!

Route: Krabi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "do my best to never book LOT again!"

Review: I was traveling with my wife and 1.5-year-old baby. They delayed our flight by 30-minute increments, and never gave us a reason why. The original departure was supposed to be 4:30PM. At 9 PM, after 10 delays and 5 hours of waiting at the gate, they told us the plane would only leave the next day at noon / 12PM. We didn't stand in line for the complimentary hotel because we could stay at our friends close to the airport, but the people told us next day that it took 3+ hours, or until midnight. The following day at 9AM when we checked in they gave us food vouchers but none of the restaurants accepted it. We never asked for food vouchers so this seemed like such a strange thing to make us even more irritated. The plane was set to leave at noon / 12PM but they kept delaying the flight again by 30-minute increments and we were close to rebooking to another flight (where the customer service rep said that they probably won't reimburse us for), but then they finally announced at 4PM that we're ready to board. After sitting for an extra 2 hours on the plane, we finally departed at 6PM. We arrived at our destination 24 hours late. A minor irritant: We asked to have our carry-on baggage checked in because we were with a baby and it's easier to traverse the airport without having to tow that around. The first day they said they won't because the plane isn't full. At the check-in gate an hour later I asked if the plane isn't full could they perhaps secure a whole row (3 seats) for my family so the baby could possibly sleep between us. There they said the plane is full. The following day when we checked in again we asked if they could check in our carry-ons as well and they did so, no questions asked. So the first day someone was either lying or just not willing to even try to help out. I called customer service when we got in to see if we could have our return flight changed to a week later and they said that they can only change it to a day later per policy, because that's how much the plane was delayed. But, the day later date had a 16-hour layover vs our original 2-hour layover so they offered to shorten our trip by a day if we'd like. And to make matters even more mind-boggling I checked online and the 1-day later flight was actually more expensive than the 1-week later flight. They'd give me a more expensive return flight because their policy doesn't let them give me a flight that's further out than the delay we experienced. Other irritant: None of the tv remotes worked on the transatlantic flight, so I couldn't even turn on the light or do anything with it really. Final irritant: The seat I sat in reclined but didn't stay there. So every time I leaned forward to get my book or grab a drink, it came with me, and then I had to recline it again, irritating the person sitting behind me. All of this with a baby in tow. He was surprisingly patient though, more patient than a lot of the other travelers, also slept through the whole flight in the end! So anyway, worst trip ever on LOT's part. And then customer service couldn't even give me a different return flight (apart from one with a 16 hour layover instead of our original 2 hour) after a 24 hour delay. All this for $2,700 USD. I'll do my best to never book LOT again.

Route: Los Angeles to Budapest via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Flight on time, clean cabin"

Review: There is a usual Ryanair bashing, because of their usual tendency to charge everything. Once, you accept it, and follow their rules, there is no point to complain. However in FAO, we have to wait by 30 degrees Celsius, standing (no seats) on the tarmac, in a cattle corral style, in front of the aircraft, during long lasting 20 mn. We did not like it. On the contrary of many pax, we had no kids, fortunately. Flight on time, clean cabin.

Route: Faro to Marseille

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "not waive the cancellation fee"

Review: Perth to Osaka via Hong Kong. Due to Corona Virus many airlines are cancelling flights to Hong Kong and waiving cancellation and rebooking fees. Cathay Pacific however will not waive the cancellation fee. They are essentially forcing me to fly through Hong Kong on my way to and from Japan, risking my health and putting me in a position where i might not be let back into Australia. If i choose to cancel i have to pay $500 in cancellation fees - its an absolute joke. Cathay Pacific is a Hong Kong based company and this is where most of their business is. They are risking peoples health and livelihood by not waiving these cancellation fees (who can afford to just waste $500 for nothing?) I phoned several different representatives to explain my situation, they are all drones who repeat the same thing, and when i eventually got put through to a manager i was on hold for an hour before they disconnected the call. They are waiving the rebooking fees however, which almost makes it worse. They are admitting there is a problem but then not allowing people to cancel their flights. I cannot rebook my flight as there are No available flights which get me to where i need to go without travelling through Hong Kong.. Whoever has made this decision is thinking about their business Only and not the safety and well being of their customers.

Route: Perth to Osaka via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "Very poor airline"

Review: The service provided was good but the quantity of food provided is not enough. Also the seat was not good. The baggage which was supposed to be received on the same day was not received until the other day. Very poor airline with zero facility.

Route: Jeddah to Kathmandu via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "30 euro to check you in"

Review: Dont be fooled by Voloteas low prices. They stick it to you at the check in counter: 30 euro to check you in, 50 euro to check in one piece of luggage. Having purchased priority boarding, at Mykonos airport, we were checked in at the gate first only to then wait on the tarmac with all other passengers for 15 minutes. Felt like a herd.

Route: Mykonos to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "I heard back 3 months later"

Review: ZIPAIR completely broke my brand new luggage and refused to reimburse for damages. I filed an incident report at the baggage counter and I heard back 3 months later that the luggage (cracked and broken halfway through with multiple holes) was considered a 'scratch' and it 'happens'. I ironically bought the luggage the night before my flight so I wasted $400+ on its first flight with ZIPAIR. Wifi doesnt work and theres no TV to watch movies for the long flight. Cabin crew and food were the only decent experience for ZIPAIR.

Route: San Jose to Tokyo

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "business class lounge is closed"

Review: We booked business class and found out upon arrival at the airport that there is no business class lounge which is closed due to covid. The check in staff did not alert us to this fact nor did they give us any compensation for the closure. We had to look for other food outlets at the terminal and as it was 10pm at night all of them were closing. The flight was smooth, with good service but no menu was offered, the attendant reads out food choices from a list written in pencil and there is no salad given accompanying the heavy food.

Route: Medina to Kuala Lumpur via Jeddah

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Salam Air

Title: "airport services are terrible"

Review: The worst airline service in the world, they don't let us know when a flight is cancelled, and the airport services are terrible. Don't use this airline any longer.

Route: Trivandrum to Jeddah via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "the crew and plane was amazing"

Review: After reading the reviews I was worried my girls was going to have a horrible flight. But to our surprise the crew and plane was amazing. The crew was pleasant and the plane was comfortable. I would love for this airline to fly to more locations so I can use them more often. I will look up this airline first to see if they can accommodate my travel before the big corporation airlines.

Route: Tampa to Raleigh Durham

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "seat given to someone else"

Review: Gran Canaria to Heathrow. My prebooked exit row seat was given to someone else on a full flight. I was allocated another seat where the legroom was woefully tight. I can't remember feeling so uncomfortable especially as I was 18 euros poorer for having prebooked 14A and being allocated 23A. I was asked by a young couple to give up my window seat so I had an aisle seat which wasn't much better as the movement of people up and down to the toilets encroached upon my comfort. On the plus side, the flight was ahead of schedule and the cabin crew were again most charming and efficient. I would willingly have paid a bit extra if they had taken a few rows of seats out but would only fly this airline again if my seat requests (at extra cost) had been honoured.

Route: LPA to LHR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "offered no compensation whatsoever for our troubles"

Review: Initial flight status was showing on time. However then delays started to come in. They announced over the intercom they lost our plane! How on earth do you lose a plane? They had to find us another plane. Went to another gate and eventually boarded that plane. Plane air conditioning was not working, the attendants told us that up front. Got on the runway and we got stopped due to weather. Sat on the runway for over an hour then went back to the gate and deplaned. Sat through many more delays and eventually got on plane again. Sat almost an hour before leaving the gate. Got on the runway and sat there for another hour. Still couldn't take off so took us back to the gate once again! Got off and we wanted to just cancel the flight. Would not let us until it was officially cancelled by them. Had to wait through more delays and eventually got cancelled late that night. Had to wait in a very long line to get tickets cancelled and refunded. There were no flights out the next 2 days at least. Note I still don't have my refund as of this review, said it takes 7-10 days. They offered no compensation whatsoever for our troubles. I know you can't control weather delays but the experience and customer service is something you can control. We had to get a rental car and drive from Boston to Charlotte to get home! Worst flying experience I ever had!

Route: Boston to Charlotte

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "Will never use Cebu Pacific"

Review: Manila to Sydney. To start, to enter the gate you have to go through Cebus own security. Thats after youve already been through security of the airport. Then youll have to empty your water bottles that you purchased at the shops within the airport. There are no toilets or water facilities inside their gate. Our flight was one hour late at the gate and there were no announcements to advice why the plane was late. The. Once boarded we waited about 1.5 hours with changing messages as to why our flight was late to depart. The seats are horrible. There cushioning has a crease in the middle meaning you cannot sit in the chair longer than an hour At the end of the day, you get what you pay for, so do I really have the right to complain? Yes I do. Theres just to many areas to highlight. Will never use Cebu Pacific for a long haul international again.

Route: Manila to Syndey

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "running after them to get my money back"

Review: I was supposed to fly to Melbourne Through Fiji in December 2021, and bought the ticket on October 2021 from their website. After about weeks I was informed that my flight need to be changed and I need to have a "36 hour transit quarantine" as their rule has changed. I did not accept this change and requested for a refund and have been running after them to get my money back, have emailed few times, but it is just radio silence from there reservation, and local offices cant help.

Route: Tokyo to Melbourne via Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sky Airline

Title: "Avoid a headache"

Review: The boarding protocol and check engine took so long that they couldnt depart at 1 am, then, around 2 am, Lima airport stop Sky Airline flying, because of being so late. In consequence, all the passengers had to wait until 5 am to do can flight to Miami. Many of us lost international connections because of this, with no solution just excuses. Avoid a headache and waste of time and money.

Route: Lima to Miami

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "not a care in the world"

Review: Lusaka to Cape Town via Windhoek. I booked this ticket on line, about 4 weeks before the departure date. I had to phone the Air Namibia call center after booking as I received a confirmation email but not the e-ticket. The night before the departure, around 20:00, I received a call from Air Namibia informing me the flight had been cancelled due to an operational issue (most likely not enough booked passengers) I was given the option of being re-booked on any of the daily flights on South African Airways to Johannesburg and then Air Namibia to Windhoek. I chose the 13:25 flight and was told to pop into their office at the airport to collect my new ticket as it would be waiting for me. Unfortunately it wasn't and it took three hours of sitting around and a final mad rush to board (ever walked onto a plane where everyone has been sitting waiting to see what idiot has held up the flight?) Anyway, to cut it short, a journey that should have been 4 hours (check in and flight time) ended up being 11 hours. Air Namibia, not a care in the world.

Route: LUN to CPT via WDH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "Boeing 787 seat comfortable"

Review: Good check in at Bangkok. I was late and they were patient while I organised my bags so that the main luggage could be checked through to Melbourne and I could have just a day pack for an extended transit in Brunei. The first flight was smooth and a good meal was served. It landed on time in Brunei. For the second flight I had to collect my boarding pass from check in - Royal Brunei had a dedicated check in and it was very quick. I then waited for the flight to Melbourne in their lounge (not one of their strongpoints). Melbourne flight arrived on time. Dinner was good although a little slow being served. Given the poor quality of their lounge eating dinner in the lounge is not really an option. Luggage quickly off the flight. The entertainment head sets were collected early on both sectors and the choice of entertainment a little limited. Seats on both flights were comfortable and the Boeing 787 flat bed seat is comfortable and I had a few hours of good sleep. They wake you relatively early on the descent. Food on both sectors was good with reasonable sized portions which were quite tasty. Drinks are non alcoholic which is a bit limiting but given the cost of the ticket well worth not drinking alcohol on the flight. There was no drink or food service once the plane started the descent.

Route: Bangkok to Melbourne via BWN

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "food for long haul is extremely disappointing"

Review: I flew A350 from Singapore to Helsinki with Finnair, the aircraft is new and spacious for economy, but - food for long haul is extremely disappointing - drinks after the first one you must pay for in a long haul flight is unheard of from a national flag airline - breakfast is another huge disappointment - no snacks - service is kept to minimum - entertainment is out of date program. For a national flag airline, it is the worst I have seen. Even worse than BA economy class. I would never fly Finnair again unless there is a gun pointed towards me. Rather choose other national flag, and they are all a similar price.

Route: Singapore to Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "never value time for its customer"

Review: The airline never value time for its customer. This time they have delayed the flight without prior intimation. Reaching to the boarding gate and then you come to know that 2 hour flight is delayed by 3 Hours. No executive present at boarding gate and you have to go back to the enquiry desk and then they tell you that it is delayed by operational reasons.

Route: Delhi to Pune

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "Not value for money"

Review: Doha to Trivandrum. Not value for money. Seats very congested, very poor boarding. Always getting delayed, find insects in seat area. The toilet not at all clean. Snack provided is not good.

Route: Doha to Trivandrum

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "Staff didn't seem to care"

Review: Staff didn't seem to care. The plane was dirty, everything is self serve, no one to help. I was served a mince and cheese pie as a meal. Seriously this is no longer my national airline, I'm more ashamed of them using the name of New Zealand. Staff still seem to have that elite mantra that they no longer deserve.

Route: Auckland to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "the crew didn't look happy"

Review: My first time with Nok Air from Bangkok to Phuket. The flight took off and landed on time. Legroom was fine. My seat was dirty and not cleaned from the previous flight. The food they hand out isn't special but I didn't expect anything for a one hour flight so I can't complain. The crew didn't look happy and were unfriendly, something I haven't experienced before on a Thai airline. I couldn't understand what they said during the announcements. = It seemed like even they weren't very eager to be on that flight. It was my first and probably last experience on this airline.

Route: Bangkok to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Worst ground staff service"

Review: Ground staff comprehension skills are so low. I had an approval from my destination country that mentions exempted from quarantine, the ground staff were insisting for me to have hotel quarantine and held me for more than 30mins! They tried calling for other colleagues and was unsure of what they are doing. I ended up going back on the line without even a proper explanation. Worst ground staff service ever.

Route: Tbilisi to Doha via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "a true dedicated employee"

Review: I especially want to thank Khun Guy at Krabi Airport Ticketing Office for her perseverance and commitment as a ground handling Staff with Bangkok Airways where she gave me extreme assistance. She's a true dedicated employee. I was booked from Krabi to Bkk & connecting SQ979 to S'pore on April 5th, I realized on the day before my departure, Bangkok Airways was grounded and not taking off to Bkk and I went directly to KBV Airport on April 5th early morning hoping to book a ThaiSmile flight to BKK which was departing at 4pm that same April 5th. Somehow, with sheer luck I managed to get a seat with the kind help of Guy knowing that ThaiSmile was also fully booked and that I'm on their 1st priority list. At the same time, Guy also made sure that I'm checked in with ThaiSmile as I need to be in Bangkok to connect my SQ flight back home to S'pore. Simultaneously she also made arrangements for Bangkok Airways Staff at Suvarnabhumi Airport to assist me for check-in with SIA knowing that it was a time-factor that I needed to check-in ASAP as my SQ Departure time was 6.30pm & ThaiSmile arrival Bkk at 5.30pm as I had to clear Customs & Immigration that will consume some time. Overall I made it for my SQ-979 check-in on time with the help of Bangkok Airways Staff at Suvarnabhumi Airport.

Route: Krabi to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "appreciated what they did"

Review: London Heathrow to Beijing in December. The experience was good in business class, apart from the food. As this was a full flight I expected a rushed service but it was not and most of the staff were lovely. The personal storage on business class seat is very limited I had to put everything to my right, into an open hole storage, which is located below the seat cushion level. No surprise, I forgot to take it back from the storage after landing, and the chief purser came out of the aircraft and walked down the staircases to the tarmac and stopped the shuttle bus to return it to me. That was in a minus temperature. I was touched that the crew managed to clear the areas of business class after all pax disembarked and found my items and the purser came down to return it to me. I appreciated what they did for me.

Route: London to Beijing

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "worst part of the flight was the seats"

Review: My wife and I just had our first experience with Play Airlines. Im pretty certain it will be our last. First the cost: This budget airline tagged us for nearly $2400 r/t from Boston to Dublin in late June. (We booked months in advance.) That was less confiscatory than the other airlines, but hardly a bargain. That $2400 got us a checked bag and carry on per person. It didnt buy us even a package of peanuts during the 9-10 hours we spent in the air. At one point I asked the flight attendant if I could have a cup of tap water. She said she could sell me a small bottle for three euro. Play is a hub and spoke airline, so all flights go through Iceland. That turns 5.5-6.5 hour nonstop flight into a 10-12 hour affair, with layover. On the long transatlantic flight, there is no seatback entertainment, not even any WiFi for purchase which is odd since Play tries to make money off of virtually every other aspect of the flight. If it could charge for a trip to the bathroom, Im pretty sure it would. The worst part of the flight, however, was the seats. Im six feet tall. I accept that Ill never get any sleep in coach. This was the first time, however, that neither my wife nor I could sit comfortably for even an hour at least on the trip from Boston to Iceland. (The trip from Iceland to Dublin was more comfortable.) The seat cushions were wafer thin. There was little lumbar support. It goes without saying that there was no legroom, but the pitch the distance between my seat and the one in front was the smallest I've ever experienced. My wife and I had to switch seats when the chap in front reclined even a bit. Play's penny-pinching apparently extends to its airport staff as well. We showed up at Dublin airport at 8:35 am on July 1 to check in for our return flight home. The queue was already packed. To deal with it, Play had one poor beleaguered attendant at the counter. (After about 75 mins of this they did bring in a second attendant.) We spent about 90 minutes in line waiting just to check our bags. To be fair, our trip off season would cost about half what we paid for peak travel. Honestly, I wouldn't fly Play again if it gave me a free ticket. This isn't no frills. It's factory farming disguised as airline travel, with passengers penned in like chickens, valuable only for the dollar signs on our heads. Pay the extra money and get treated like a human being. We will.

Route: Dublin to Boston via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "Worst airline ever I flew"

Review: Gatwick to Prague. The flight was supposed to depart from Gatwick at 2:20pm and it's now 5:04pm and everyone is in the airplane, it's so hot that you can't barely breathe. Funny enough this is the second flight I take with Smart Wings and same thing happened on first time, this time is worst because we're in the airplane with a lack of oxygen. Is this how you are supposed to treat customers? Worst airline ever I flew with.

Route: Gatwick to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "No major issues with the flight"

Review: No major issues with the flight. Leg room is pretty tight. But you get what you pay for. Flight was full, there was no options to buy on board due to COVID restrictions, that didnt make much difference. On time no problems.

Route: Krabi to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "Unacceptable processing time"

Review: Cancelled flight. Have to call in to request the refund. Processing time is up to 6 months and no confirmation provided. Unacceptable processing time and performance here.

Route: Bangkok to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "Clean and fresh aircraft "

Review: Tallinn to Stockholm with Adria Airways. Clean and fresh aircraft with Nordica livery. Pleasant boarding staff, clear announcements from FAs and cockpit informative. An innovative approach to meal service - selection of "make your own sandwich" - very fresh for 5.50 euros. Coffee, tea and water complimentary. Flight slightly delayed because of technical overhaul.

Route: TLL to ARN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: QantasLink

Title: "pleasure flying with QantasLink"

Review: Travelled QantasLink from Brisbane to Townsville via Mackay. Ticket was $45 cheaper than direct flight due to QantasLink sale. Flights were on time and uneventful. Small snacks with tea and coffee or soft drinks. Staff were attentive. Aircraft clean. Leg room okay. I have flown this routing a few times and each time, my bag appears on the carousel in Mackay when it's checked through to Townsville. I always go out and recheck it at Mackay and there is never a problem. But may catch travellers connecting at Mackay by surprise. So always check for your bag at the baggage carousel and recheck your bag if you see it. Otherwise, a pleasure flying with QantasLink.

Route: BNE to TSV via MKY

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "Service extremely poor"

Review: Paris to Hanoi. Where to begin? Seats were broken, Service extremely poor, every request felt a bit like asking for a favour; seat recliners broke but no-one cares; onboard entertainment didn't load until 3 hours into 12-hour flight. On top of that, customer service just doesn't care. Never again, plenty other much better Airlines to choose from.

Route: Paris to Hanoi

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "Very disorganized and chaotic "

Review: Toronto to Charlotte. Very disorganized and chaotic at the boarding gate in Toronto. Delayed 90 minutes deleting. Maintenance. No food or what're nearby (Gate A9). Nearest food/refreshment A19. On arrival 15 minute delay at arrival gate - no gate agent. Really? The inability to get the easy things causes me to question the company's ability to execute safely.

Route: Toronto to Charlotte

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "I definitely recommend them"

Review: First time on a flight to Laos. Impressed with the staff at Bangkok BKK airport. I flew to Vientiane on Lao Airlines on September 3, 2015. Not a full flight, plenty of staff at every point. At check in they were very nice. I had to come back and check in a small package because security wouldn't let me through with a tube of sunscreen. Very helpful in directing me to the post office where I could buy a small box, and let me check it in. After I got through security and immigration, at the gate there was a nice clean, quiet waiting area with a bathroom close by. No shortage of airline staff, all of whom were polite and nice. The aircraft is fairly new, ATR 72 prop plane, which seats 48 passengers. The plane was about 50% full. The seats are leather-like and as comfortable as you can expect. Seats recline some. Very clean plane. I did not use the lavatory. They board and disembark from the rear of the plane, so if you are in row 1, you are the last to disembark. The overhead compartments are very small, if you have a large backpack, they won't fit. The seats are a 2-2 configuration. I was in row 5 which was right opposite the propeller. After airborne, I moved to row 3 so I had a better view. Short flight, 1 hr 15 minutes, very smooth, all instructions were given in two languages - English being one of them. Could easily understand them. At a cruising altitude of 25,000 feet, my ears felt a whole lot better than on Airasia! Good landing, good service, good clean equipment, I would definitely recommend them. They did provide a snack, which surprised me. It consisted of a sandwich and water. My flight cost was $100, plus a $50 surcharge for fuel! then taxes, it came to $175.00 for a return ticket. For such a short flight it was a little expensive, and considering they are flying with such low passenger capacity, I am surprised the fares aren't more competitive.

Route: BKK to VTE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Shenzhen Airlines

Title: "standing during turbulence"

Review: I've been taking Shenzhen Airlines frequently, and the experience today in ZH9149 was not as good as usual. During the flight a woman from economy class went to the first class area and sit by me, chatting with a guy and a kid, who sat in the same row with me. Most of the time she was standing in the aisle even during turbulence. Even worse, she used mobile phone to take pics for the kid. This behavior is dangerous and it happened at least three times during the flight. But there was no cabin crew stopping her all the time.

Route: CKG to CGO

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "insisted we pay or repack"

Review: Arrived at the JKIA an hour before the flight 3 tickets and had excess weight of 3kgs with an option of 6pcs of luggage but had 5. The lady insisted we pay or repack and stated we had no time. Tried to talk to her even her colleague but she refused saying you should have come earlier, any way we did re pack. She insisted we print the PCR test result and I told her we do it digital due to the current covid situation and also we are residents at our destination and had a system in place for that but still insisted we print and time was not on our side. It took me 20 min to do so and when i was back she told me I was late and the gate was already closed. Some efforts were made and we made it to the flight which was empty. Upon arrival in Dubai no luggage. The tickets I had were for 90kgs x3=270 but for sure i had less than the 270kgs with an excess of 3kgs in one pc and no time almost missed my flight. No leniency or situational exceptions, felt really disappointed and couldn't mind the hassle if there was time. I am not giving up on KQ. Staff pls try to accommodate based on situations.

Route: Nairobi to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "money grabbing management"

Review: First time I fly easyJet, I didn't think to check reviews, we were only going to Glasgow and it is just a quick long weekend. So we didn't care to dig into the airline assuming it is the standard stuff. But boy we were wrong, we took a Friday flight 30th of September EZY885, was supposed to take off at 18:05, but only took off around 18:45 or something like that, thankfully, we had nothing planned. Then on the way back on the 3rd of October Ezy6414 @ 9:15, they decided my standard bag was too big for the cabin, because apparently on Feb2021, they shrunk the seats and the cabin size even more, and charged me £24 for it. That bag was half empty, I could have brought a smaller one had I known. Why are they going against standardisation? They actively want to catch you, the lady there could have let it go, it's not like that money goes to her pocket, but some people enjoy letting others down. They must hate their jobs immensely (customer service is difficult, especially with money grabbing management that are paid 6digits compared to people in her level with 1.65bn revenue). My guy friend is 6ft, he had his legs squashed there, I feel terrible, I didn't think he might need leg space.

Route: London Gatwick to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "the worst cabin service"

Review: Larnaca to Copenhagen via Riga. Airbaltic has the worst cabin service i have ever experienced. Both when flying to Larnaca from Copenhagen via Riga, and home trip, there were small delays, which meant we literally ran to gate to make the flight. And even though both flights are operated by air Baltic instead of a quick apology and a smile they bark orders at you, to hurry and are super unfriendly. Only with airbaltic I have experienced that people are having some difficulty with fitting the cabin luggage into the overhead compartment, and the cabin crew are just standing and eyeballing instead of helping. I could go on. But all in all airbaltic is just disastrous airline, and to make matters worse airport in Riga has also lots of issues. So are you flying with airbaltic through Riga, you are almost guaranteed a disappointment.

Route: Larnaca to Copenhagen via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "There is zero leg room"

Review: Never been to Italy before, first time to write a review before take off! Its all about the leg room. I am already in a lot of discomfort and we havent even taken off. There is zero leg room. I am worried that if the passenger in front reclined by even an inch, I will suffer an untimely death. I really should have done my homework, but as this is the National carrier etc, I assumed it would be the best.

Route: London Heathrow to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: Tigerair customer review

Review: Flew Sydney to Gold Coast. On the way there, this airline was fine however on the way back we were waiting in the line and we started to board. All of a sudden the flight attendant randomly comes to the middle of the line (unfortunately right where me and my two friends are standing) and asks to weigh our bags (7kgs allowed). Granted we were over our allowed weight and I would not have minded paying had she done this to everyone in the queue! We were literally the only people in the entire flight to have their bag checked. I was appalled to see people passing me with suitcases much heavier and bigger than mine! I know shes selected us because we were 3 young girls and we were an easy target because we wouldnt make a massive fuss (although I was happy to express my dissatisfaction). I am okay with paying if my suitcase is over, I can take full responsibility for that but if you are going to do one person, you have to weigh everyones! You cant choose easy targets to get extra money. So my annoyance then continued as the women charging us took so long to do so I then didnt have any over head space for my case and was sat the whole flight by a crying baby (no ones fault about the child) but it wasnt a pleasant trip. Overall I would not fly again with Tigerair nor would I recommend them unless they had this issue sorted. Its not professional. I love flying but I have never been more annoyed.

Route: Sydney to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "poor and rude customer service"

Review: Everything has gone wrong with this airline: from a 1 week delayed baggage, to poor and rude customer service. Even the website doesn't work properly and when it continued to tell me that it could not find my reservation number I was forced to once again call the treacherous service desk. Treacherous is the right word, as they can hang up on you at any point in the 45 minute queue to speak to an agent. Even once you do get to an agent they have hung up on me multiple times once putting me back on hold. In conclusion everything about Air Europa is horrible. Honestly shocked that so many people are still choosing to fly with them. I know I will never fly with them again and would strongly advise you to do the same.

Route: Amsterdam to Medellin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "very kind and nice and helpful"

Review: Thank you for all the staff on the Delta Air Lines. I traveled alone with my 4-year old boy and 2-year old baby girl. I had so much anxiety but they all helped me to carry my stuff and the stroller, etc. They all have been very kind and nice and helpful in so many ways. One flight attendant even walked us to the gate. It was the best flight I ever experienced. all!!

Route: Detroit to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "didn't want to engage with anyone"

Review: My flight from Heathrow was scheduled on Saturday 10/12/22 at 1400. But this was delayed. As a result I missed my connection flight at Cairo and had to spend over 5 hours at the airport. The staff at the airport were absolutely rude. No explanation, no curtesy, no respect at all. They simply didn't want to engage with anyone. We were commanded to hand in our passports and the new boarding passes with no explanation at about 22:15 PM. At about 02:20 AM two staff came back and commanded us to follow them through immigration. We were taken to another area and told to WAIT. After 03:00AM a small mini bus arrived and we were told 'bus to hotel' the ride was very uncomfortable with passengers sitting on each others laps. We were served a meal at the hotel and went to sleep. We spent the next day Sunday 11/12/22 at the hotel until 18:00PM when were taken back to the airport to catch a flight at 21:45PM arriving at my final destination at 03:15 AM on 12/12/22. To add to my agony, one of my bags was missing so I had to go through more distress completing paper work for missing baggage. The bag was delivered, though. The experience has by far been the worst ever especially the appalling customer service. Will never ever use this airline and if anyone intends to use this airline consider your options very carefully, after all there is a good choice from other airlines.

Route: London to Entebbe via Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "trouble with online check in"

Review: In both my two flights with them, from Milan to Moscow and back I got in trouble with the online check in. First flight was impossible to online check in because their unfunctional web page and at the airport I had to pay 25 fee. Many passenger got in the same trouble. The staff told me to ask a refund to an e mail addres but still nobody answer me. On the way back I got in trouble on the payment for an added luggage I requested online. Because their website makes my wish to pay unrealized saying some sort of error unspecified occur, even that time the online check in was not possible and I needed to pay at the airport. My demand for refund, another time not answered. Need to say also that the carry on board luggage has no sense, you can barely carry on board a pair of spare shoes because they are already too big. I recommend to avoid use this company, is better pick another one, maybe more expensive, because with pobeda you end to pay more, have a worst flight and waste a lot of time.

Route: Milan to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "its gone downhill"

Review: Hong Kong to Sapporo. As a long time Cathay flyer and Marco Polo club member (14 years), Im afraid to say its gone downhill. It used to be premium service. Now its just as expensive, but with old planes and staff that are polite but theres no caring or warmth anymore.

Route: Hong Kong to Sapporo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "crew was friendly"

Review: I flew Bulgaria Air economy class from Varna to Sofia on an A319. Overall the flight was good. The food was okay, the crew was friendly. The plane wasn't full, so most of the passengers had three seats only for themselves, and the seat was comfortable.

Route: VAR to SOF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "charge was for the seat selection"

Review: I am the last person to complain about cheap airlines. You get what youre paying for, so I am not really expecting great perks, comfort, or customer service as long as they get me safely to my destination. Thats the deal. However, I wont stand dishonest and cheating businesses and Scoot is a great example of that. On my last trip with them, I was told upon checking in, that I had 11 euro credit on my account and the lady at the counter was not able to give me my ticket till I pay. She did not tell me what this payment was for (I asked, but she didnt know) and redirected me to the cashier (who was supposed to give me all the details). There, again, I was told that he didnt know any details of the payment (sort this out directly with the airline), just that I need to pay. So 2 hours before my flight to Australia I was running back and forth between two Scoot desks to find out what was this about with no luck, no one gave me any info. I was naïve enough to think that this was probably just a system issue I gave up and paid, I thought I would resolve the issue with customer service afterward. Wow, how stupid I was. I sent the refund request via Scoot website explaining the situation. I got the reply that the charge was for the seat selection, which I apparently requested and on which I was apparently informed. So, now I am on my 5th complaint email, saying that I have never requested a seat and they are saying that I had. I ended up paying for the service I have never received, and they do not even have the decency to take responsibility for their mistakes.

Route: Berlin to Melbourne via Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "inflight service provided was less than acceptable"

Review: I feel obliged to write a review about the Business Class facility on Egyptair. I am totally disappointed with the type of service provided especially when I paid a lot of money to travel Business Class! My comments - 1) The boarding facility at Abu Dhabi airport was total confusion! As a Business Class traveller I had to go to the boarding counter and ask to be boarded. 2) The inflight service provided from Abu Dhabi to Cairo was less than acceptable especially the food provided and no follow ups. Every time I asked for something I was looked at as if I had annoyed the crew! 3) The inflight service provided from Cairo to Abu Dhabi was no different from the above. I had to ask 3 times for a blanket and pillow! And the food!! Well.... I would get better food at McDonalds! No coffee or tea offered, just a bottle of water and an option between orange juice or water! I am totally disappointed with Egyptair and would strongly recommend anyone wanting to travel to Cairo to fly with another carrier especially when you pay extra for business class service and you don't get it.

Route: Cairo to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "missed their flight with 3 minutes"

Review: My parents booked a flight for the 22nd of September. The queues were so full and no one to help people that they missed their flight with 3 minutes. Their website say to be there 90 minutes before the time which we were. But the queues were so full they were not able to get through. They were placed on standby for the whole day and they told them at the end of the day only to go home and come back again at tomorrow mornings flight. Again no one to help them along with 25 other people also missing their flight because the flysafair staff didnt help them and then there was absolutely no line at customer care ... while waiting for the people to tell them at 5:20 if there is space, no one communicated with them and they waited until 6:15 and even after the flight took off, no one communicated with the passengers on what is going on. Worst service we ever got from any airline.

Route: Johannesburg to George

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "Overpriced low cost treatment"

Review: Mixed bag of two different experiences. Paris to Prague and Prague to Kiev. Booked through travel agent and then wasnt able to access booking on the csa.com to buy options like food or extra bag. Was able to get bag allowance via online check in where it recognized my premium status with SkyTeam. At the airport in Paris everything was smooth and easy including SkyPriority lanes available at every stage. Plane was bang on time. The seat comfort was excellent which is important to me. Didnt have opportunity to try their meal since wasnt able to pre-order it, but no problem for 1 hr flight. When in Prague everything changed dramatically. At the gate there was no flight info at all and no one attended. The screen showed a 2 hr delay. The csa.com has no flight status info and sends you to Prague airport website where flight was shown as leaving on time. One hour later incomprehensible announcement about gate change with exact words The flight is leaving now from Gate X. The crowd ran there to find new gate empty and door closed with no one around. 60 minutes later flight was called for boarding. At their home base CSA dont maintain separate lane for business and SkyTeam passengers. All stood in one line and boarding was a mess. Onboard 2 hr flight nothing was for free, even water. Since security check is done directly at the boarding gate after shopping area you get your bottle of water purchased to bring onboard confiscated but then after the lane they have a vending machine for you to buy previously confiscated water again. When onboard no apologies for delay from the crew. Ticket price was higher than KLM on the same route. Cabin bag allowance was just 1 item of 8 kg vs KLM 12 kg and 2 items plus drinks and snacks for free. Checked baggage allowance is up to SkyTeam standards. Only 3 star for ground service due to good experience in Paris. For Prague airport they deserve no star. Overpriced low cost treatment. Inconsistent.

Route: Paris CDG to Kiev Boryspil via Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Iberia

Title: "I asked her to make an exception"

Review: My flight from Geneva to Madrid got delayed and only left me 55 minutes to make my connection in Madrid to Miami. I called customer support the day before to have them change my flight to make it back to Miami on Saturday night because I had to work on Sunday. They refused to change my flight because the minimum connection time was 55 minutes. I asked her to make an exception and she said she was texting her supervisor and he said no. She then hung up on me. My flight from Geneva to Madrid got delayed 25 minutes leaving me only 30 minutes for the connection. I called support again and asked them to put me on another flight as I have to make it back to Miami on Saturday and I was once again met with a representative that was not helpful at all.

Route: Geneva to Miami via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "Every time is a delay"

Review: Berlin to Riga. Every time I have to fly with Air Baltic is a delay - information is rubbish and in one occasion even after 4 hours delay they insist in not pay even for a bottle of water. One of the worse airlines I have ever had to deal with. If you can avoid please do so.

Route: Berlin to Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "refuse to honor a travel voucher"

Review: They refuse to honor a valid travel voucher that they issued. Don't ever accept one for a reservation or seat change. I emailed customer service and spoke to three different people and none were able to or willing to help. The voucher doesn't expire until July 2023.

Route: Honolulu to New York

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "the experience was not positive"

Review: Although Fiji Airways got us to and from our destination in Samoa recently, I note the following deficits in the service provided by the airline. Seating on the long flight from LAX to Nadi, Fiji was very limited. The nearly 11 hour flight was cramped at best. Carry-on baggage restrictions are very strict with a maximum of 7 kg allowed in carry-on. Numerous passengers, including us, had to take items from their carry-on baggage and place them in their checked baggage. This seemed odd in that the total weight of all baggage taken did not change. Company policy varied by airport. For example, the airport in LAX refused to tag my wife's carry-on bag because, they said, it was oversize. She was, however, allowed to take it as a carry-on. (The attendant seemed to be very afraid of consequence with management.) On our return trip, my wife's carry-on bag was not questioned, but mine was. Also, an umbrella my wife was carrying was allowed to be sent as an item of checked baggage in Apia, but when we arrived in Nadi, they refused to allow her to take the umbrella either as a carry-on or as a checked item unless she was willing to pay $200 to have it checked. The hassle was unnecessary and the result of lack of uniform policies with the airline. I appreciated being able to arrive safely and return from our destination, but the experience with Fiji Airlines was not positive. They need to get their act together and apply uniform procedures at all airports and properly advise customers of their policies, especially the restrictive weight allowance with carry-ons.

Route: APW to LAX via NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sky Airline

Title: "one of the worst experiences I have ever had"

Review: I fly frequently and have never written a review before but was so incredibly frustrated with the experience this morning in Calama, Chile. I was at the airport an hour forty minutes before departure and sitting next to the gate. Right before departure, I heard my name. I went down and they had denied my luggage boarding due to a bottle of insect repellent. In the last month, I had flown with the same luggage from Miami, Santiago, Puerto Montt, Ushuaia, Buenos Aires, Santiago again without issue. They said it was too late to change flights and would put me on the next flight 8 hours later! I said I wanted them to switch me to a different airline but they said they couldn't do it. They even suggested I would need to pay a rebooking fee although they later dropped that. Even if we had hustled, I could have made the flight and we could just throw away the repellent which cost a few dollars. But instead the person at the counter ignored me, after recognizing my presence and helped other people who weren't even flying. I have flown so many times in my life and it was one of the worst experiences I have ever had. Absolutely incredible the complete disregard and ignorance to customer service in a customer service based industry.

Route: Calama to Santiago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "do not go with this airline"

Review: Colombo to Male. I strongly advice everyone not to go with this airline! If you want to go to Sri Lanka, but only this airline is available, better change your destination! We had a flight with them from Colombo to Male. At the check-in gate they told us it is overbooked and we could not board. Due to having expensive connection flights we tried to talk to them about opportunities. We were at the gate two hours before departure. They did not care. Also Sri Lankan people were not able to go on the flight. They let them inside the airplane anyways after talking for three minutes in their language. First they offered us to fly in the night the same day, but 12 hours later. After 30 minutes discussion there was another flight in the afternoon available, how did that happen out of nothing? Our cancelled flight was still bookable in the internet while all of this happened. We tried to talk about compensation. Instead of showing that they were any sorry, they only tried to make us sign agreements, where it said that there would not be any possible compensation, for 50 Dollars Onboard Duty Free. When we asked them about it they suddenly didnt speak English anymore! When the topic came back to compensation, they told that it was not possible at the airport. We should ask the customer support after vacation when back in Germany. Even when I asked for a contact person, the girl was not able to speak English anymore and just stared at me with a smile. I asked for a letter of confirmation that our access was denied. They pretended not to understand. Only the fourth person finally understood and gave us the letter. Afterwards they let again stand us in the airport for one hour before bringing us to a hotel in the airport. We asked for a phone call to our hotel in the destination to inform about not making it there, but they did not give us any opportunity to call. Only said we should try with our mobiles. In the hotel they gave us a lunch Voucher. The joke here is that the lunch started only after our boarding for the next flight would start. There was a Sri Lankan Airlines Lounge, so we asked if it was possible to get breakfast there because we were pretty hungry, already 2:30 hours at the gate. They denied the access. Hotel room was not prepared. The person from Sri Lankan airline just ran off ASAP, so we had no contact person anymore. So for real guys: do not go with this airline!

Route: Colombo to Male

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "flight was delayed for 1h55m"

Review: I was on a flight from Korea to Tel Aviv via Warsaw. A few hours before departure, I received a text message saying that the flight was delayed for 1 hour and 55 minutes, and as a result, I missed my second flight and ended up spending more than 8 hours in Warsaw. My fellow passengers and I were disabled people who use wheelchair services and suffered a lot.

Route: Incheon to Tel Aviv via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "value for money is not even 1"

Review: There is one thing I don't understand about KLM: how can you loose a Business Class luggage on a direct flight? Did it fall out of the plane? Did it get sent to Mars with Elon Musk's rocket? Since I was travelling again (this time, not KLM), I took the time to walk over the Baggage Desk at Arrivals in Schiphol. What I learned is that not only did they never actually check whether it's still at the departure place, or at a stop-over place, no, they suggested I start calling airports in Zanzibar and Dar (where we landed on the way, but I did not have to leave the plane....unlike my luggage, probably)! Once again: a Business Class passenger, member of both private and corporate loyalty programs, gets their luggage lost by KLM and is advised to go look for it themselves. Fly KLM again? I don't think so. BTW, there were queues at that Lost Luggage desk, so... if you care for your property, see if there's another airline that can take you - and your luggage - to your destination. In the meantime, value for money is not even 1: it's negative. As to the rest. The first ever business class flight where I had to ask for a glass of water - twice! And I had to pay for Wifi. In business class.

Route: Amsterdam to Zanzibar

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "A very unhappy customer"

Review: Intention of budget airline was to support poor passengers, however the famous #airindiaexpress now looting their covid impacted travellers in all means and providing the worst service in the industry. Some highlights of the customer support: Cancellation charges applied for all cancelled flights at least 4500/- UAE/India sector, whereas private operators reimbursing full amount a couple of days after cancellation of flights. Rescheduling or refund request (even after deduction) not possible online, still in bullock-cart era, they claim that it is a government company unlike private agencies, they have rules to comply. Customers to call and wait for hours on unanswered call center lines for rescheduling. If you are lucky enough and get through, then after the interrogation, they will send a link where you have to pay the difference in charge, then after the payment again you have to call for rescheduling. Emails are not responded / all requests for refunds through emails are ignored. A very unhappy customer of #Airindiaexpress.

Route: Kozhikode to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "service was really good"

Review: San Francisco to Paris with XL Airways France. I was really concerned after reading all the negative reviews and was pleasantly surprised to have a good experience. There were 3 of us and the money savings was a lot. Since we saved so much, I upgraded our seats to more legroom, very reasonably priced. On the way back, we were able to get an emergency row for the 3 of us, $50 each. The service going and coming back was really good. We had a meal, snacks, coffee, tea, and water free. Of course, there was other stuff for sale like on all flights. Legroom in general is not that different from most of the major US airlines, seat width is pretty narrow. The video entertainment is bad, but they do rent tablets with videos, games and documentaries for 10.00, well worth it. Even with all the extras, it was still a big savings. The worst part of XL is their online booking. It's easy to book your tickets, but if you have any questions, forget getting hold of someone. Reserving your seats - only if your lucky. I was able to book our seats about 3 weeks before our trip from SFO to Paris, but not return. When we went to the airport to check in I asked about getting return seats, they said ask in Paris, they couldnt. Paris said, you can't reserve seats until day of flight. We got to the airport about 2.5 hours prior to flight and easily reserved our seats. On our departure flight I noticed a lot of people angry about an extra charge for overweight luggage. Its shown everywhere what the weight limit is, so we didnt have any issues. The weight limit is very reasonable, 44lbs for a check in bag (no charge) and 5kg which is about 11lbs for carry on. If you've got the money to spend at least $400 and more for each ticket for an airlines with more frills go for it, but I think you would have to pay at least $600 more to really feel the difference.

* WAITING FOR TICKET ****

Route: SFO to CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "baggage was missing the lock"

Review: Flight was 20 minutes delayed. At Phuket Airport they have a huge single check in line for all the flights, it doesn't matter if you do the online check in, it takes a long time. You cannot eat your own food on the plane. When we arrived to Bangkok my checked baggage was missing the lock, I asked customer service why they removed the lock and if they could give me the lock back and they said that the lock was not found but they didn't understand our English. We decided to go and leave it like that.

Route: Phuket to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Japan

Title: "seat was very comfortable"

Review: Manila to Nagoya with Jetstar Japan. Boarding was really quick compared to the other carriers I have flown on recently (e.g. Cebu Pacific and Philippine Airlines/Pal Express). The plane was a brand new Airbus A320. The seat was nice mainly because of the seat pocket being on top of the seat not in the leg area, which of course made a lot of legroom. The plane took off on schedule. No IFE screens, this is usual for a budget carrier so I provided my own IFE through my iPad. Soon after takeoff food and beverage service began my family and I ordered meals through their booking bundles on their website. Food offered was pork and beef over Japanese rice, the meal was really good. After that they gave arrival cards for Japan. The seat was very comfortable to sleep and I woke up 1 hour before landing to catch the beautiful sunrise over Japan - a nice compliment to a early morning flight. The plane landed on time and the deplaning was fast and a bus took us to the arrivals area. Immigration was very quick due to our flight being the first arrival of the day. Baggage claim was quick and we went to the airport train station to look for a train to the city.

Route: MNL to NGO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "Consistency of ground service"

Review: Almaty to Astana. Consistency of ground service, food, cabin service and inflight entertainment are core values of this airline. Sometimes I push myself to have connecting flights to the destinations where they have no direct flights.

Route: Almaty to Astana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "Highly recommended"

Review: Kavala to Athens. Flight departed on time. Smooth boarding. Crew were extremely professional and polite. Snacks and beverages were served. Smooth arrival at Athens International Airport. Baggage delivery was fast. Highly recommended.

Route: Kavala to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "seat in Premium Economy is narrow"

Review: Seattle to Jakarta via Narita. There is some mixed feelings I have on one of the JAL Flights. The flight from Seattle to Narita in Premium Economy was a disaster while the Economy Class is somehow better than Premium Economy. The seat in Premium Economy is narrow while Economy is not that narrow. Food is the same as Economy in both classes, but good. Entertainment should be improved. WiFi is terrible and slow. My advice, if you fly JAL, maybe you should avoid their Premium Economy.

Route: Seattle to Jakarta via Narita

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "the most polite and courteous cabin crew"

Review: Singapore Changi to Tokyo Narita. The best thing about Japan Airlines was that, among other airlines I had flown with, they had the most polite and courteous cabin crew. In other areas, there was not much to pick on either. The seat was quite comfortable with a rather generous amount of leg space (I am 176cm tall). The movies available were quite up-to-date too. The only downside, if I must mention any, was that I was not given the option of choosing my seat.

Route: Singapore Changi to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "we will never fly with Swoop again"

Review: Worst managed, organized, and most frustrating check-in service ever! We arrived at the Toronto airport 3 hours prior to our flight as required by the airline for international departures. We were on a direct flight heading to Las Vegas. We had a few people ahead of us and there were four reps at the check-in counters when we arrived. We waited in line for over 1 hour as the Swoop check-in reps called people heading to 3 other destinations, Montego, Halifax, Kalona, ahead of us as apparently their flights were on last calls. Why there weren't separate lines set up for these 4 flights, how could there be so many people, and all 3 flights where on last call was beyond everyone's understanding who were there on time for the Vegas flight. Instead people who decided it wasn't important to be at the airport on time for their flight where called ahead of those who followed the rules and to add insult to injury we had to wait longer in line because we followed the rules. To make it even better, it was at this point that the check-in reps decided it was time to leave and we were down to one rep for a significant amount of time while the line kept growing behind us. So what this tells us is that the airline has no consideration or respect for customers who comply with their regulations. Truthfully you're further ahead to not inconvenience yourself show up whenever you want, you'll be treated better. The final topper was when our luggage was finally checked-in we had to haul it all the way down to US customs at the other end of the airport. Nice! Thanks Swoop! FYI, we will never fly with Swoop again and don't recommend it either, unless of course you're one of those entitled stragglers that feels the world revolves around you, then Swoop is the perfect airline for you.

They bend backwards to accommodate you. Wonder if there's enough of you to keep Swoop in business??!

Route: Toronto to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Salam Air

Title: "Good value for money"

Review: Dubai to Kuwait via Muscat. I had 2 flights with Salam Air. First leg from Dubai to Muscat was amazing. It was on an A320N aircraft, new seats, friendly crew and very clean aircraft. Probably one of the best lowcosters, or so I thought. Had a 4 hour connection in Muscat, the new airport is stunning, as good as Hamad Airport in Doha. Time flew by very fast in the free lounges in the airport. But my second flight was a whole lot different. The plane was very old, 22 years (A320-200), seats were worn out, plane smelled and during the flight, the inner cover of the window fell out. I called the purser and the following was our conversation: Me: "Hello, your Window fell out" Purser: "My brother, don't worry. Plane Good Quality. Fly 20 years never crash". Noted. But, the cabin crew was still rather friendly. Overall, for the price I would recommend it. My flight from DXB to KWI via MCT with a bad was 309AED. Good value for money.

Route: Dubai to Kuwait via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "an irresponsible airline"

Review: Ive checked in my luggage in good condition, yet when I was returned with a spoilt luggage lock, I was told its not under compensation!? The whole luggage is not usable anymore, what do you mean by not compensable for damage lock? Jetstar Asia is an irresponsible airline!

Route: Phnom Phen to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Its a horrible airline"

Review: Its a horrible airline. 4 hours before departure they delayed flight and when I was already at airport they cancelled flight. And only one that can offer you its refund. Its specially helpful when you lost booking on hotel and need to figure out how to get to destination by yourself and buy overpriced tickets!

Route: Venice to Dubrovnik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Will never fly with Ryanair again"

Review: I had thought Ryanair would have improved over the years, but I was completely wrong. The cheap flights are completely offset by added charges. Firstly with bags, the size they provide as acceptable cabin bags are miniscule - barely enough to fit a days worth of clothes and items - so we purchased a cabin bag. The cabin bag they allow is the size of a usual carry on; the small wheeled suitcases so many people use. However when we got to check in, everyone with us (after the priority boarding) had these suitcases with no problem? We paid to have a bag checked in, when everyone else carried theirs on with no problem. That was £55 extra. We then had to pay to sit next to each other, as I was travelling with my partner. We paid for this on one flight, and for the return flight we checked in as soon as online check in was open. Even though there were only a couple of seats already booked and the entire plane was empty, it deliberately seated us far apart in order to make us pay more. When it says they cannot guarantee you will be seated next to each other, take it to mean they will deliberately seat you far apart in order to get more money from you. Finally on the flight, having a flight attendant scream right next to you, as they yell at their colleague at the other end of the plane was interesting. Even more so was the aggressive way they do anything. I walk using a walking aid, and I called up to check this was ok before I boarded. After being told it was ok and that I would be able to keep the walking aid between my legs, an attendant roughly grabbed it on the flight and shoved it into an already full overhead locker, and then slammed it shut several times until it closed. This cracked and damaged the walking aid and I've now had to purchase another. When I submitted a complaint about this, I was told I needed to have filled in a particular form at the airport. I have never had an attendant damage the items I use to walk around before, and at no point does it say that if anything is damaged you need to fill in a form at the airport. I was then stuck in a loop of calling in to discuss this issue, being told to reply to an email and then being told they would do nothing as this form was not filled in. Ryanair remains a predatory airline - you will not pay the low amount you see online. Avoid them, and give your money to any of the other budget airlines if you're looking to save money. Will never fly with Ryanair again.

Route: Stansted to Venice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "A good flight"

Review: EK135 22 October Seat 46A. This flight was a continuation of the Brisbane to Dubai flight 24 hours later. The flight was not full but paid and was given twin seats for myself and wife. Worth the extra cost as 3 rows of seats behind reserved for cabin crew who never used them on this flight. Took off on time arrived on time 2 meals served on flight and usual water and soft drinks tea and coffee. A good flight.

Route: Dubai to Venice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "have a really bad service"

Review: I had a flight on 24 May 2020 from Delhi to Phuket which was cancelled by itself due to pandemic, but i have been calling and sending mails since last 7-8months now but they never respond to any of my mails. They even booked my flight on 13 dec 2020 which they didn't inform me about. GoAir have a really bad service.

Route: Delhi to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "Will never fly again with Silver Airways"

Review: Will never fly again with Silver Airways. The cliché You get what you paid for holds true for this instance. The issue wasn't the fact that it was delayed twice and then cancelled altogether, but that passengers weren't notified until last minute. We were stranded at the airport for 10 hrs, then to find out that the next scheduled flight was not at 10:30A, but 3:30PM. I lost 12 hrs of work ($512), had to take a rental ($192 + $58 for gas), lost the $89 of the air fare. All because Silver Airways does not care about its customers. The front line workers were excellent, but this company has a poor leadership. They follow the I guess it sucks for you. Figure it out. No refunds. Not good business. Keep your customers informed. They will understand. But what you don't do is leave them in the limbo. I couldn't get anyone at Customer Service, no one was at the ticket counter, and just had to cross my fingers and hope for the best.

Route: Jacksonville to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "flights arrived ahead of schedule"

Review: Had 4 flights in total with Air Europa Munich -> Madrid -> Marrakech and back. All flights arrived ahead of schedule, carry on luggage rules were far better and some other airlines, one regular carry on 10KG plus a little bag it was the first time for me with this airline, before COVID I used to fly a lot for work and leisure with quite a couple of airlines and was positively surprised by this airline. For me its ok to get no drinks for free on the plane, its most important that the flights are on time and this was always the case. Seats were also comfortable, you even could lean backwards a bit, which is not possible anymore in some other low cost carriers.

Route: Marrakech to Munich via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "overall a nice experience"

Review: Beijing to Hong Kong on Hong Kong Airlines A330. 20.00hrs departure Typical Beijing air control. Crowded and a bit delayed. Not the carriers fault. Only 1 hour behind, but would put us into HKG at 1230 and then to the hotel at 0200. In any case, my first time with Hong Kong Airlines. Boarded quickly, separate doors for business and economy cabins. Seat 15F middle of the aircraft aisle. Warm greeting and beverage offered. Got settled and offered a refill. Nice touch. Nice larger aircraft on the run compared to others. Fully lie flat seats. IFE had decent choices for the 3 hour flight. Full meal service - 3 choices. Beverages and nuts provided, meal served quickly. Refills on beverages without having to ask. Deserts were tasty and ample. English flawless and overall a nice experience. Give them a try

Route: PEK to HKG

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Austral

Title: "Thoroughly recommended"

Review: Johannesburg to St Denis. Service like it was 30 years ago, professional, attentive, amenity kit handed out on a 3 hour flight, and the quality and quantity of the catering I've not seen for years. Thoroughly recommended.

Route: Johannesburg to St Denis

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "Absolutely horrible service"

Review: Absolutely horrible service, cabin crew doesnt speak English, they are rude and not friendly especially if you ask them to speak in English. Very uncomfortable seats, dirty cabin, average food and no wifi at all, not even an option to pay for it, it doesnt exist! When I asked if my connected flight was waiting because the original flight was delayed, they were rude and not helpful at all! Entertainment below average, earphones that are not working, usb plug cant be used to charge your phone, no power coming out of it. Blankets and pillows smell bad and dont look clean at all even though they were packed in a bag. Absolutely horrible! I would never use their services again!

Route: Zagreb to Chicago via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "One of the best airlines I have flown with"

Review: Melbourne to Ho Chi Minh City via Hong Kong. One of the best airlines I have flown with. Bit pricey but you get what you pay for. Cathay Pacific has really great customer service. Seats very comfortable and I slept like a baby. Leg room very sufficient and a great food menu on-board. Up there with Singapore Airlines to be honest. Would highly recommend.

Route: Melbourne to Ho Chi Minh City via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "in the check in line for 3 hours"

Review: I waited in the check in line for 3 hours because it was under staffed, after my flights was rescheduled and had to ring Jetstar a number of times to sort it out. Now my flight has been pushed back a day later when I have wedding to attend.

Route: Sydney to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "Silver Airways should be out of business"

Review: On the morning of April 26, 2022 my wife, Daniele, and I were scheduled to depart Dominica for San Juan at 8:15 am on the Silver Airways flight that was scheduled to depart at 8:15. From San Juan we had connections on to Philadelphia and Montreal, our final destination. The PHL connection was at 1:00pm, so plenty of time (3 hours in San Juan) to clear customs and make the flight. We arrived at DOM airport at 6:00am and checked in and were in the departure lounge by 7:00 am. The Silver Airways Saab 340 was there on the ground, visible to all. There was no boarding call for our flight. Time went by. People got impatient. Finally, 4 hours later, at noon we were told to board the flight. There was no communication, no reason given, nada. We, and many others, missed our connecting flights. In our case we had to get a room at the airport hotel and get up at 2:00 am in order to catch an American flight to PHL at 5:00 am. The unofficial reason for the Silver flight delay, supplied to us by airport staff members in DOM, was that the Saab 340 is not authorized to take off on a wet runway - it was raining lightly much of the morning of April 26. If so, and no other excuse was given to us by Silver, then this is the most absurd thing I've ever heard of in 50 years of flying, much of it in undeveloped parts of the world. Simply put, Silver Airways should be out of business.

Route: Dominica to San Juan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "luggage was still in London"

Review: The flight schedule was delayed for one hour. After boarding the plane we were delayed at least another 30 minutes. When we arrived in London, we were delayed again for at least another 30 minutes to find a gate. We were left with 45 minutes only to catch our connecting flight to Barcelona, we needed to run and take the train to different terminal to catch our next connecting flight. When we arrived at Barcelona airport, we discovered that our check in luggage was still in London. Very painful trip (disrupted our vacation). Not flying with BA anymore if I can find alternative Airlines.

Route: Vancouver to Barcelona via London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "more legroom and recline more"

Review: Bangkok to London on EVA Air's Boeing 777-300ER in Premium Economy. Check in has two dedicated lanes for Premium Economy, so check-in was a quick 5 minutes, the queue for normal economy was huge. On-board the seats have more legroom and recline more, IFE screens are a little bigger, however I found the Movie, TV, Music selection really limited and only watched one movie. No noise cancelling headphones. I found the food was low-grade. The most annoying aspect of the trip is for anyone sitting in the last two rows is the constant noise, light and smell from the toilets, and traffic from the economy section behind was constant. The 777-300ER is a noisy aircraft compared to the A380 and A350 I would normally choose to fly on.

Route: Bangkok to London

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: GoAir

Title: "Very poor customer service"

Review: Our flight from Delhi to Kochi on 20/01/2020 has been cancelled without prior information. When we check in they told like they had sent text message to the passengers before 2 days of departure, but we didn't receive any message. Also they have not rescheduled the flight or didn't make any necessary arrangement to drop us. We have booked the tickets around 2 months before for an amount of RS. 9,248/- Due to the cancellation and miscommunication we didn't get a chance to book another flight on that day and we got stuck in the Delhi airport for one day. The next available flight at a reasonable charge was on the next day and we booked the tickets for RS. 15,880/-. It causes around Rs. 6,632/- needs to pay extra from our pocket and we strongly believe it is their responsibility to compensate the extra payment which we made. We had communicated the same with the representative and they informed as to send an e-mail to refund the loss occurred to us. Till now I haven't received any update regarding my refund and compensation. I has been almost 15 days and still have not received my cancelled ticket fare. Very poor customer service they are providing.

Route: Delhi to Kochi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "I'd fly them again"

Review: Bangkok to Hong Kong. Pricing is the reason for round trips. I arrived at the airport kiosk, no queue. The hostess welcome was okay. Boarding time is 08.25 am. They were on time. but waiting so long to take off. Onboard, the seat was clean. but I want to change to long legroom. The hostess said I need to pay an extra charge, so I don't change.

Seat big enough. They have a TV. The quality of the food was not too bad. I'd fly them again.

Route: Bangkok to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "authentically friendly and helpful"

Review: Premium Economy on Latam on some routes seems to replace Business Class. The result is some more legroom, the centre seat (3-seat unit) is unused and bigger, better catering and forward cabin seating. Sometimes the centre seat is just unused, sometimes it becomes a tray. Crew are quite good, authentically friendly and helpful. Catering is ample and simple. Lounge access and priority baggage are included.

Route: Buenos Aires to Santiago

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "just paid that charge"

Review: Dammam to Copenhagen via Istanbul. This is so boring. When we wanted to check in our baggage they did not allow us 1 more kg as we had 1 kg as overweight baggage and they told us to pay for it. Furthermore, our hand carry was allowed in Dammam Airport but Sabiha Airport they charged us because we had bought some stuff from duty-free in both Dammam and Sabiha Airport and our hand-carry got a bit overweight. This happened at the boarding time when a staff member just came from nowhere and asked to check our hand-carry and that time final call notification also started ticking and we just paid that charge.

Route: Dammam to Copenhagen via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "In flight service was attentive"

Review: Family of 5 (2 small children + parents and grand mum) Los Angeles to paris return. Check in was easy Boarding was easy. Great service even though we were late to the Gate. In flight service was attentive, courteous and helpful. Reasonably priced and food was tasty. The aisles are slightly narrower but good leg room. Plenty of overhead storage on both flights. Plane had new entertainment equipment and felt new, great value for money. Pro tip: make booking with hot meal its worth being included or bring ample snacks, drinks, and meal/ cup of noodles from airport/home.

Route: Paris to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "very friendly and helpful staff"

Review: Flew in business class on Adria Airways A319 on this short flight (1 h) from SKP to LJU. Very friendly and helpful staff - excellent business class service including a hot meal, warm bread cheese and marmalade. Better than the LH business class service. Flight arrived 25 minutes before STA - good job. Information about the route, weather and connections were given by the captain. Legroom in row 1 good, nice seats. Highly recommended this small but very functional airline.

Route: SKP to LJU

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: PLAY

Title: "I enjoyed the flights"

Review: Good leg room. Good space under seat for personal item. Better space than TAP or Vueling. I like that the seats recline. The attendants were very good. The pilot gave good information. My only problem was that one male flight attendant unlocked the toilet door at the front of the airplane while I was in it. I think that he was concerned, but I wasn't in there very long. Overall I enjoyed the flights with Play.

Route: Baltimore to Dublin via Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "frustrated by the utter lack of professionalism"

Review: My flight from Zurich to Paris was an hour late. My return flight experience was worse: I paid for a Siège Plus (11D) with extra legroom. However, there were no such seats (no emergency exit seats) on the Embraer 170. I now have to spend time filing an online claim for a reimbursement. My baggage was not delivered in Zurich. This is not the first time my bags have been lost by Air France even in a tiny terminal like 2G in Paris. The bag finally arrived at Zurich airport this morning, one and a half days late. The local transporter never contacted me to schedule delivery. I had to call AF and insist on getting the local transporter's telephone number. I was told the bag was on its way, despite the fact that nobody had called me to check if I was home. I was told it would be with me between 3 and 5 p.m. No bag arrived. I then called the transporter again, who checked and said the driver claimed I was not at home. Hello! I had stayed at home the entire day. I did not even take a shower in case the driver came with my bag at exactly that time. This was a blatant lie by the driver. I then insisted that they make a delivery and I now have another two interval I need to block in the evening. In the best case scenario, I will have spent my entire day waiting at home for a bag. Between AF and the useless local transporter, I have wasted two days. Is this how AF treats its passengers? Is a Flying Blue Gold member impressed by this experience? I am very frustrated by the utter lack of professionalism from start to finish.

Route: Paris to Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "Take your business elsewhere"

Review: Picture this: your flight is delayed for a reroute flight plan but eventually takes off 30 mins later only to land 3 hours later at an unscheduled airport causing you and your wheelchair assist family to miss an international connecting flight and now you are stranded. You cannot rebook your flight using the app as it still says delayed 3 hours later. You are directed to call and speak to an agent which is a 3.5 hour long wait while your connecting flight has already landed! You are not offered even a beverage. You cannot receive your luggage in order to drive to the next airport. And your family cannot receive any updates from the staff who are now mute. But you have paid upfront all of the required fees and taxes for every single facet of these flights. And somehow the courtesy of communication was not included in that cost. Take your business elsewhere. It would be easier to just walk.

Route: Atlanta to Miami

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "Better than Delta or United"

Review: Los Angeles to Manila via Qingdao. Most impressed. Better than any Delta or United flight I've ever used. I was fed many times and received respectful treatment. I was particularly impressed by Xiamen airport. The view from the taxi port was as stunning as a ranked wonder of the world. LAX was particularly unremarkable. For an international airport it was just pathetic. Maybe 40 years ago LAX's art deco design was charming, but it just looks like a roadside tourist trap now. Doesn't even have usable wifi or updated drinking fountains.

Route: Los Angeles to Manila via Qingdao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "all very impressive"

Review: Easy (fast) check-in, flight left Don Mueang airport on time, arrived in Udon on time, pleasant crew, extremely fast debording, luggage arrived very fast too, all very impressive, and much appreciated!

Route: Bangkok to Udon Thani

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sun-Air

Title: "full meal and bar service "

Review: Gothenburg to Cambridge with Sun-Air (a franchise partner of British Airways,). Aircraft are painted in British Airways livery and operate under BA flight numbers. The flight was only half full making the 32 seat Dornier more like a private jet than a small airliner. Full meal and bar service on this 2 hour flight. Crew very good.

Route: GOT to CBG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "price was right"

Review: Flights were very close to on time, cabin service was good, IFE on the Boeing 767 was good. No luggage problems. AEP airport in Buenos Aires is a zoo. Was concerned about the lengthy connection times until I realized that we could access the Admirals' Club lounges using the lifetime membership I bought in 76. Lounge in Toronto was ok, JFK very worn, GRU was wonderful with a great selection of food and wines. All in, the price was right.

Route: YYZ to USH via JFK/GRU/AEP

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "Worst service in the industry"

Review: Im waiting on back surgery. Standing and walking is terribly painful. Went up twice to say I have to please have a wheelchair. Not only no chair but I had to stand in line leaning on my cane for 15 minutes just to have extra time. When I got up to the front and noted I never got the wheelchair, the gate agent dumbly said, theres one over there. I pointed out it was unstaffed and I couldnt push it myself. Got onboard, asked for help putting my little case above me. No, theyre not allowed to handle baggage. Man, do I miss Virgin. Worst decision to let Alaska take them over. Worst service in the industry.

Route: New York to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "could not care less about customer service"

Review: Do not fly on this airline. I know that no airline is perfect and that there are tons of things that can go wrong from a logistical standpoint, but how the company handles this is important. Swoop could not care less about customer service. There is no working phone number to speak with a CSR. Emails are unanswered. Tweets are promised a 72-hour turnaround time. The FB Messenger bot is useless. Do not fly on this airline. We were actually booked on another airline LAS - YYZ but wanted to go home earlier. Swoop had an early afternoon flight (as did AC and WestJet, but we wouldn't be able to sit together). We booked it with extras - checked & cabin baggage, priority boarding. When the agent took our bags only then were we advised that the flight was delayed several hours. Although it was about 2 hours before the flight was originally scheduled to depart Vegas, the inbound aircraft had not even yet left Toronto. The departure was ultimately put off to 5:30 pm and we were each given a $10 meal voucher for our trouble. My originally booked flight, which I had to cancel, departed on time at 5:05. (Flair). When the aircraft arrived at the gate, the boarding process began with our zone 1. We passed through boarding pass scanning, and were met with a long line of people waiting to board in the jetway. We were towards the back of the line, near the entrance to the jetway. We waited there about 15 - 20 minutes before some people in hi-vis jackets passed by us and then quickly came out to abruptly tell us the flight was cancelled. We immediately re-booked on the later, red-eye AC Rouge flight 1704 (which was excellent and on-time, by the way). We had to be in Buffalo by 11am on Saturday. That red-eye was our last chance to meet that deadline. Swoop later emailed us with a link to book an overnight room and rebooked our flight to the next morning, Saturday Nov. 12, at 10am. It ultimately left late, at 11:50 am, arriving in Toronto at 6:30 pm, about 24 hours later than originally scheduled. Do not fly this airline. Literally choose anything else- rent a car one way if necessary. Since we had only just bought our ticket that same morning, I certainly assumed that getting a refund would not be a problem. It has now been well over 72 hours with no communication whatsoever from the airline in response to our many inquiries, and no real way to reach them. You are better off walking. Although Swoop said that the delay was somehow due to customs & immigration delays (even though the passengers on the inbound flight YYZ - LAS would have all precleared US customs in Toronto), I suspect that the real issue was that the delay had taken the crew out of its allowed time for service, and they had a mandatory rest period before the flight could resume on its way back to Toronto. Why do I think so? Because I sure didn't see any new crew show up and I was at that gate literally from 11:30 am - 5:30pm. So, they'll try to avoid having to make refunds by lying about the reason for both delays - inbound to LAS and outbound from LAS.

Route: Las Vegas to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "Very disappointed"

Review: Very disappointed. I purposely packed lightly so I didn't have to check my bag and they overbooked the plane. I had to check my bag even though there was plenty of room to put it.

Route: Boston to Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "been denied boarding"

Review: Moscow to London via Riga. Worst airline in the world! I've been denied boarding to the connecting flight in Riga without an explanation. After spending 6 hours in the airport with my mother, we've been told that are fine to go, then they sent us back to Moscow instead of the onward journey. Avoid at all costs

Route: Moscow to London via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Airlink

Title: "would use this airline again"

Review: We had two flights with is airline Johannesburg to Hoedspruit and skukuza to Johannesburg. We were a bit concerned. If we go back to South Africa we would use this airline again.

Route: Johannesburg to Hoedspruit

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Delays, no explanation"

Review: Worst airline ever. Delays, no explanation. No gate agent, so we sit on tarmac for 45 minutes in the sweltering heat. I have a connecting flight to London, no one even asks or mentions it.

Route: St. Louis to London Heathrow via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "excessive baggage fees"

Review: Copenhagen to Munich via Dusseldorf. I've just been swindled by Air Berlin. When I booked the trip, I was given one piece of baggage in the fare. When I called them to add a second piece they charged me $101 for it. I was stunned. I was expecting $25 - $35 perhaps for the second bag. They even sent me an email advertising extra baggage for 10 Euros if I booked it more than 30 hours out. That's a laugh. They must be into false advertising. Maybe I'm living in an unrealistic world, but with high status on United, I get two free bags on Lufthansa every time I use them and could have flown them more cheaply had I known about the excessive baggage fees. Moreover, I'm flying Air Berlin and Flybe to London City airport a few days later. They told me that I have to book my baggage at the airport because of the interline ticket, which is bound to be even more expensive. I will never fly Air Berlin again.

Route: Copenhagen to Munich via Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "I recommend Brussels Airlines"

Review: I recommend Brussels Airlines. The food and entertainment on board might not be the best in the market, but the company's staff is amazing and willing to fly the extra mile to fulfill customers' needs.

Route: Milan to Douala via Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "Stewardesses are good"

Review: Hong Kong to Moscow. Business class was very outdated, the seats are old. Narrow seats, sometimes not fully disclosed. The food menu and quality is average. Stewardesses are good.

Route: Hong Kong to Moscow

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "attendants were very nice"

Review: Took Breeze from RDU to JAX today. Flight boarded and left on time and arrived 15-20 minutes early. Flight attendants were very nice. No issues with the flight at all. Will definitely fly with again.

Route: Raleigh to Jacksonville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "friendly flight attendants"

Review: Unfortunately there was a delay of 1 hour. Otherwise a pleasant flight. Easy check in, friendly flight attendants and a clean plane. Possibly they could offer more options for food Eg the option of pre booking and pre paying a meal.

Route: Melbourne to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "waiting for my refund for 7 weeks"

Review: Horrible service from Malaysia Airlines. I've been waiting for my refund for 7 weeks now (I was told by their call center agent that I'd receive it between 2 and 4 weeks). This is for an upcoming flight (Brisbane-Sydney-KL on April 25) which I cancelled because they changed my flight (due to route suspension) without first informing me. I booked to fly direct Brisbane-KL and after my complaint to their Customer Relations dept, I was informed by them on 29/12/22 that I could ask for a full refund. Well, I cancelled on 5/1/23 and until today, no refund in sight. I contacted their call center again on 23/1/23, 14/1/23, and 20/1/23 to complain, but it was a waste of time and money.

Route: Brisbane to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "Entertainment on your own device"

Review: Lima to Toronto. Not sure why we deserved a budget airline service when travelling on such a long cross-continent flight. We had a snack and a meal included. The planes are dated, no way to set your own temperature. Tiny overhead cabin storage and small seat pitch. Entertainment was on your own device, which was not clear when booking or checking-in. The ground service was horrendous. At check-in where we were quizzed on our trip to Peru (despite leaving and heading to Canada) with questions designed to trip us up and stickers placed on the passports with sellotape and we were told to never remove them. We were submitted to random patdowns and bag searches at the departure gate, delaying the flight. Apparently this was at the request of Canadian security services (although we saw it set up at gates for US-bound flights too) but it was odd and when happening at 3am local time, quite disorientating.

Route: Lima to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "charged for luggage over 20kg"

Review: They should tell you ahead of time for delayed Luggage. and you get charged for check in luggage over 20kg. If you are taking the last afternoon flight from Chiang Mai to Koh Samui, your checked-in luggage may not arrive on time since the layover at Bangkok (you will stop at BKK) is only one hour and 15 minutes. You may waste an extra 40 minutes waiting in line after you've discovered that your luggage is not on the carousel. It would be nice if they told you in advance to expect this and to fill out the form via computer of where your hotel is located at for the luggage delivery. You can just go straight to your hotel and get your luggage delivered in the morning. Bangkok Airways had poor communications skills. They charge you an extra 1000-1500 Thai Baht (depending on which airport you fly out of) for anything over the permitted 20kg amount. I flew from BKK to Chiang Mai (paid an over-limit fee); Chiang Mai to USM (paid an over-limit fee); then USM to BKK (paid an over-limit fee). The flight attendants on the first two flights did not tell me to sign up on their website in order to request special meals (I asked them if they had vegetarian options). On the last flight, a flight attendant told me to visit their website in the future.

Route: Chiang Mai to Koh Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "Will never fly Flair again"

Review: Absolutely horrible. Flight delayed day before. No food or beverage to buy. On way back the system crashes with me in the middle of upgrading our seats. Had to pay for extra seat. Having a terrible time getting refund and refund amounts are different. Charged one price online and another at the counter. Everyone had to use counter as systems were still down and people were unable to check in. Will never fly Flair again.

Route: Toronto to Saskatoon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "great crew and great food"

Review: Port Elizabeth to London via Johannesburg. Another excellent journey. Both flights on time, both planes almost new with bright cabins, great crew and great food. SAA are a revelation compared to BA.

Route: Port Elizabeth to London via Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "they refused to let me board"

Review: I googled extensively and was flying to see a friend in Barbados who said no entry requirements and that you will fill out the form once you land in Barbados. 30 minutes before my flight leaves I get called to the boarding desk to show the "entry form" and barcode which I of course did not have. I tried the site and filling it out twice but the site was not working. It is not required beforehand and this was from an official immigration officer at Barbados) I'm not angry at the people at the boarding desk because I do understand they were doing their job but they refused to let me board the plane until I had this particular document which I could not get at all because the site is not working. A nice manager walked out and had to get on a computer for 20 minutes and by so miracle got it handled so I could board the plane. I was livid and so upset that I was not going to be allowed to board my plane over something that is not even necessary! Truly the immigration officer at Barbados thought the whole thing was ridiculous and everyone else on the plane (coming from the US) was able to fill out their form at customs. They thought what happened to me was insane and did not understand why the San Jose Airport/Jet Blue demanded I have that and almost denied me getting on that plane. The first plane ride was 4 hours and a red eye and absolute hell. They kept the lights on the entire time, and the flight attendants kept coming up and down the aisle hitting me with elbow/tray at least 20 times. They were angry. 40 minutes before landing they start screaming at everyone to wake up and the person next to me in the middle seat had her seat back and was sound asleep with her hood over her eyes. A flight attendant walked up and stood over me to forcibly yank her seat back, yank her hood off and tell her to "wake up. They then just glared at me to remove the bag off my lap while we still had 30 minutes to land. On my next flight to Barbados, no one asked for this stupid entry form when I was boarding which I thought was super comical. I was in a middle seat and when I sat down there was stuff in the aisle seat but no one around. Flight attendants kept asking me over and over whose stuff it was and I'm like don't know. Finally a sweet older lady comes up with a cane and says everybody calm down, I was at the back of the plane allowing everyone to come though because it's really hard for me to get up and down (come to find out the poor lady had a knee injury). Flight attendants were so rude to her. I had been flying for over 12 hours and was extremely thirsty and kept getting such attitude when I asked for water. I asked one male attendant who never brought it to me & when I asked the female attendant a second time for more water in my water bottle and a sparkling water, she rolls her eyes and fills up my water bottle halfway and doesn't give me a sparkling water and just walks away.

Route: San Jose to Barbados via New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "excellent experience"

Review: Houston to Taipei. This was my sixth trip to Asia on EVA Air in the last three years. I have friends that have recommended I fly on another airline and I honestly just refused. I have always had excellent experience with EVA Air up to now so why change. I am now a Gold Member of their frequent flyer program so I was able to check in using the Gold line. I was given a pass to the lounge at IAH and also for the Taipei Lounge once I arrived there. I was flying in economy, aisle seat first cabin. As always the seat was comfortable with all the required functions and with the pillow and blanket and earphones. First meal came by and as always excellent service and selection. I proceeded to go to sleep for a few hours and missed the mid flight snack but was awake for the pre landing meal. The flight attendants as always very pleasant and friendly. The bathrooms are always spotless and I know they do make various trips to clean the bathrooms on this 15-hour flight. All in all, it was a very pleasant experience as it has always been the case for me and EVA Air.

Route: Houston to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "first flag carrier low-cost airline"

Review: A flag carrier that serves one portion of food from Helsinki to New York, on a more than 8-hour flight...with only water and blueberry juice and coffee. Breakfast? Whatever you buy if you like cheese. Because that's the breakfast option, that is not included in your ticket. Flight crew numbers have been reduced, so restrooms will sure become pretty interesting after the fifth hour. Even crew itself feels it (8-hr flight, you have a chance to talk with them). But talking about the crew, they are trying their best, no issues with the professionalism, Finnair decision-makers on the other hand turned the airline into the first flag carrier low-cost airline, for non-low-cost prices. Avoid it (on long-distance, definitely).

Route: Budapest to New York via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "outbound flight was cancelled"

Review: I booked return flights with Hainan Airlines from Melbourne to Changsha for February 2019, direct flights in both directions. The outbound flight was cancelled due to corporate planning and we were offered an alternative flight on China Southern with an overnight stop in Guangzhou. This meant that our 10 hour direct flight became a 21 hour flight (with stopover). A few weeks after arrival, Hainan Airlines cancelled the return flight. No apologies, no compensation, just an offer to change the flight to a non-direct flight. I would not trust them enough to book with them again.

Route: Melbourne to Changsha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "On time, no hassle flights"

Review: Don Mueang to Udon return with Thai AirAsia. Had previously checked in online so only had to collect my boarding pass at the machine (no checked bags) so check in took 2 minutes, another few minutes at security, then the long walk. DMK Domestic can involve a long walk to / from the gate. Boarding was reasonably well organised by aft / forward zones. There was priority boarding for those who paid extra (presumably allowing them to stow their oversized cabin bags for less than the cost of the bag being checked in). Flights were on time, both full-full. Didn't bother with a meal from the fairly disinterested cabin crew and neither did most of the passengers. Check-in in Udon was the same - a couple of minutes at the machine assisted by helpful staff. Excellent price. On time, no hassle flights. What's not to like?

Route: Don Mueang to Udon Thani

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "a comfortable, cost effective journey"

Review: Flew London to Sydney via Colombo. There is a long wait in Colombo however SriLankan put me up in a pretty decent hotel right on the beach to wait out my 12 hours. If you want a hotel, you have to book it through reservations and once its done its a pretty straight forward process when you arrive in Colombo. So far as the flights. A330-300 has the herringbone layout with lay flat beds which were quite comfortable and I managed a good sleep on both legs. Inflight service wasnt outstanding, was a bit hit and miss but was ok. IFE wasnt outstanding but had a reasonable selection of movies and tv shows sufficient for the journey. Overall, although not high frills, if you want a comfortable, cost effective journey in a pretty reasonable business class give Sri Lankan a go - I will fly with them again.

Route: London to Sydney via Colombo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "dirtiest plane I have ever been"

Review: Jakarta to Medan with Sriwijaya Air. This was the dirtiest plane I have ever been on, and I have travelled a lot. It smelled bad, there was dirt and crumbs all over the seats, it was disgusting. Such poor quality for any airline, and very uncomfortable to be on such a flight. Will never fly this airline again.

Route: Jakarta to Medan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "Worst experience with airline"

Review: This airline delayed my suitcase for 2 weeks and shuffled through my suitcase for personal items. After they return it 2 weeks later they dont even bother to reimburse me for any cost to replace items that were missing. Beware traveling with this carrier as they will not reimburse you as any other airline does. Worst experience with airline

Route: Tel Aviv to New York via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "I cant believe this airline treats their customers like this"

Review: Terrible airline. We found out our flight was delayed 9+hours exactly 1.5 hours before take-off. When we went to contact customer service, we were on the phone for 3+ hours and no one responded. They gave me a voucher for this trip since we wound up having to fly on a different more reliable airline. When I went to use the voucher, it wouldnt work and I contacted customer service with no response for 2+ weeks. I contacted them again and they told me my voucher had been voided. They would not even hear my side of the story and responded with this is the last time we will reply in regards to this matter. I cant believe this airline treats their customers like this. Im out 200$ now not including the price of the new flight, food, books, etc we had to buy while waiting at the airport.

Route: Indianapolis to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "$200 charge for bags"

Review: Tokyo to Denpasar Bali. The worst flight weve ever had. We are on our honeymoon and had to pay the equivalent of $100 for each bag (two 8kg backpacking bags). When we sat on the plane, we were not together. The plane was almost empty - we asked to switch and they hesitated and then told us a specific area we could sit in. Why wouldnt the check in counter seat us together? We had prebooked our seats, but that didnt matter. No water or tea service is served free. We bought one small meal and couldnt afford anything else. The toilet was out of soap and paper towel. Honestly all of that would have been fine if it wasn't for the $200 charge for bags and not being able to get free water.

Route: Tokyo to Denpasar Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "a very relaxed experience"

Review: My wife and I flew with Monarch Airlines from Gatwick to Las Palmas. Due to being a wheelchair user I managed to book extra legroom seats. The whole process from check in to leaving the aircraft went smoothly. What I really liked was that the staff listened to what I needed and went with it. The cabin crew were absolutely fantastic and could not have been more helpful. Everything was done with kindness and a genuine smile. I have taken many flights to various destinations around the world using different airlines and this team were amongst the very best. The seats were not too bad for width and legroom considering I am 6'3" tall and over 280kg. I used my own wheelchair gel cushion and back support so this may have made a positive difference. The aircraft was half empty so we ended up having a seat between us for our bits and bobs. It made for a very relaxed experience. We left on time and arrived ahead of schedule. I cannot say enough positive words about this flight and the cabin crew.

Route: LGW to LPA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "be prepared for screwups"

Review: Check in fine but The TSA pre check did not show up even though I had provided all the info and confirmed that by phone. Lounge shared star alliance at LAX. Tired, dirty, hot, crowded, did find outdoor space which was a relief.

Was there about an hour and a half, saw no one picking up dirty plates, glasses, napkins. Got to gate 15 mins before boarding was to start. Told to wait here and we'll make an announcement for boarding. Boarding started 35 mins after scheduled time. No announcements. Eventually an employee said business line up over there. And there's a long line of people who probably were given different info. Not a huge issue but the bad experience kept getting more irritating. The plane fine, well equipped, very helpful and welcoming staff. But there's poor info on the website about the seats. Seat map shows 2 seats, an aisle and 2 seats. Seat map of TK website is not accurate, it's actually one seat, an aisle, two seats, an aisle and one seat. So we were a couple on a 13 hour flight, separated by an aisle and the two seats were offset by approximately 15 inches so we couldn't even converse across the aisle. Not a fatal flaw but an example of sloppiness. We took off an hour late with no explanation or a we're sorry comment which would have been a nice touch. So trying to balance it out with a real life experience. I'm still answering yes I'd recommend it but be prepared for screwups and if you are two flying together take the middle two business class seats on this equipment.

Route: Los Angeles to Istanbul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "extra nominal fee to pre book seats"

Review: My son who is 8 years old will be travelling with me on a Jet Airways flight to Ahmedabad from London Heathrow. After I completed my booking I called/emailed Jet Airways to help us to pre allocate seats so we can be guaranteed seated next to each other. Unfortunately, they were not very accommodating when it came to a child involved in the travels and in fact told us to pay the extra nominal fee to pre book the seats or wait for 24 hrs prior to departure. It is very sad to learn that such a well known airline seem to least care for passengers with special circumstances i.e Children, Disabilities etc and still want to make more money out of them. We are regular fliers and we fly mainly by British Airways, Emirates and Kenya Airways. These airlines also have similar policies but they do consider passengers with special circumstances and will help to their best to pre book the seats or give us 48 hours prior to departure so we are guaranteed sitting next to each other. When I questioned the gentleman I spoke too on how they would expect a 8 year old to sit with a complete stranger for 9 hours - the reply was it is fine as you will be in the same aircraft! I call this pathetic and clear lack of training on how to respond to customers. I strongly would not recommend Jet Airways for people with special circumstances and very discriminating. Also in addition - seating of young children next to their parents or guardians should be the aim of airline seat allocation procedures. This is because the speed of an emergency evacuation may be affected by adults trying to reach their children. So clearly there is no safety concerns for young children!! Its all about making the smallest "nominal amount" they can and not the principle!

Route: London to Ahmedabad via Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "Back to BA I go"

Review: First of all, a toddler would have been more capable to complete the job than the so-called cabin crew on board! They are absolutely rude and definitely are in the wrong job. The service is non-existent, and they call it premium economy, but its worse than economy on British Airways. The flight was delayed, the TV was broken and the food was diabolical. Will never fly with Norse Atlantic again. When I asked if they had any other food options, the crew member, I rolled at me and walked away. Back to BA I go.

Route: London Gatwick to Orlando

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "Leg room was very good"

Review: Barnaul to Vienna via Moscow. It was the first routing on Aeroflot for me in many years and I was keen to see if and how their product has changed over time. I had flown the Route VIE-SVO-BAX a week before as well. All sectors were operated by Boeing 737-800 aircraft and the planes seemed to be in very good condition from outside and in the cabin. Leg room was very good for economy class, the flight attendants were helpful and service was done in a professional manner. On the flight from Moscow to Vienna several passengers who were influenced by alcohol already when they boarded became a nuisance to all others. They disturbed other guests and started to threaten their neighbours after landing in Vienna. The crew did not react to this and even sold alcohol to them. This event had a negative impact to my personal feeling of safety.

Route: Barnaul to Vienna via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Montenegro Airlines

Title: "worst flight I ever did"

Review: This is the worst flight I ever did in my life. More than 5 hours late. We never reached the right airport. Left in the middle of nowhere, in the middle of the night, alone with other passengers. According to the European Legislation we should have the right to get partially refunded but no answer on their side. Non-existent Customer service. Waiting for an answer for more than 2 years.

Route: Paris to Tivat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "Worst experience Ive ever had"

Review: Worst experience Ive ever had. Check in line was insane, instead of helping us, all people at front service deck were talking and chatting. Bad attitudes as well. Never flying with Lynx again.

Route: Calgary to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "Don't fly Batik Air"

Review: Pekanbaru to Jakarta. Don't fly Batik Air. Starting from the ground service it is the worst. Actually we got no choice as we ran out seat of Garuda Indonesia . The boarding process is the worst out there , there were no specific boarding call for business class passenger, passenger with kids etc . The plane is quite a new A320. At least we took off on time but landed a bit off schedule due to traffic congestion at Jakarta . The service was quite friendly , it offers you a snack box consisting of a pizza bread and a muffin which is surprisingly , quite tasty. There were no hot drinks or soft drinks service as they told us bad weather, however during most of the flight, the weather is pretty fine except when we were about to land in Jakarta. Back to the seat , to my surprise again, the aircraft is equipped with Inflight Entertainment. However the selection is really bad though the screen is very responsive. The seat is also hard unlike Garuda Indonesia which the seat is so much better than Batik. Pricing wise, the ticket is also an overpriced $160 Sing dollar. With that amount of money, I could have flown Silk Air to some parts of Indonesia otherwise. Please think twice before you book a Batik Air flight.

Route: Pekanbaru to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: Monarch Airlines customer review

Review: Booking through a comparison website resulted in a small price hike. I still don't understand why Monarch Airlines charge to check online as it helps the airline to stream the process at the airport. The airplane with new slimline seats were comfortable and cabin crew were helpful. Arrival and departure on time but morning departure at Birmingham was chaotic.

Route: Birmingham to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "refunded 10% of the money"

Review: Do not use this airline. My flight was cancelled and they refunded 10% of the money and refuse to investigate where the remainder is. For the last 2 weeks they have used delay tactics to send me back to the bank. Even my bank has said they're delaying the refund. How can 1 of 8 refund transactions go through but 7 don't. Now Easyjet refuse to investigate it further until I get a letter from my bank saying they don't have the money. So, either I'm a liar or my bank are apparently? I'm pretty sure this is illegal, delaying a refund like this.

Route: Paris to Catania

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "I liked the ground handling"

Review: I liked the ground handling for this airline. I was expecting an on-time departure, but the flight departed and arrived late. One thing that is going good for them is the legroom situation and the meals they provide for a short 1 hour flight. Boarding was chaotic, but I don't mind. In-flight entertainment is limited to a few monitors showing some Thai Smile commercials. This was understandable as it was a short domestic flight. I would fly with them again if the fare is reasonable, but another full-service domestic/regional carrier that flies the same route but with more benefits might be a better option. It's just that the flight time for this route fits my schedule for Thai Smile.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Rai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "gave me such a bad experience"

Review: I travelled in August. Firstly the temperature inside the flight was not good. Sometimes they were increasing the temperature so much that I felt suffocation at times. Sometimes it became so cold inside. Secondly on landing we were inside for about 30 minutes because they did not open the door. Overall a 3 hour flight gave me such a bad experience. Never travel through spicejet.

Route: Chennai to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "I recommend this airline"

Review: Amazing airline. But some things to work on. The carry on bag size is too small and the price to buy an overhead luggage is too expensive. It's a perfectly fine airline except for that. I recommend this airline if you are going for no longer than 3 days. If not I recommend Delta, They had amazing service and that experience was amazing

Route: Pennsylvania to Minnesota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "flight left without our bags"

Review: The flight left without our bags. Customer service have done nothing for us. We are now in Spain for 6 days with a baby and no bags have arrived. They lie and do not stick to the customer contracts. Avoid this airline at all costs.

Route: Manchester to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "you get what you pay for"

Review: Auckland to Tokyo via Nadi. Average airline. Chairs are worn, little food options, entertainment was dated and not a lot of options and also for one of my flights my chair was actually broken so I had to lean back the entire flight except for landing and meals where I had to sit away from chair so it would stay up. Cabin crew were lovely, however I left behind something in my seat, contacted airline and item was "not found". Overall you get what you pay for, want a cheap trip a to b then great value for money.

Route: Auckland to Tokyo via Nadi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Eastern Airways

Title: "most impressed by the service on this flight"

Review: Flew Eastern Airways from Newcastle to Aberdeen. I was most impressed by the service on this flight - a complimentary drink & snack was a very nice gesture. The flight was very smooth even though there was bad weather in Aberdeen! The air stewardess was very polite & professional & could not do enough for her customers. I would recommend this airline and use it again if the need arose.

Route: Newcastle to Aberdeen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "a very bad experience"

Review: The entire experience was a mess with Insel Air. First, they were checking in for later flights for at least 3 hours before my flight. Then, when it was an hour before the flight was scheduled, they started checking us in. At the counter, I was told that the 20h15 flight would now be at 1h45 in the morning. I was also told that I was a standby, which I was not as I had a confirmed ticket (I'm not the only one this happened to). They gave us no food vouchers. This was regulated and then I proceeded through security and at the gate, the board stated that the flight would be leaving at 2h45 in the morning. No reasons were given and no announcements were made. They eventually changed this again to 12:00am, and we boarded at 23h30. During the flight we were given the wrong customs card to fill out. This was overall a very bad experience and I along with many people on that flight will never fly Insel Air again.

Route: Aruba to Guyana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "don't recommend this airline"

Review: We booked this airline through an online agent and when we were at the airport to check in, the staff at the desk told us that flight was cancelled and moved us to other flight. Without notifications email or SMS from airline or agent. It was very terrible if we knew in advance then we could manage our plan or buy a new flight earlier. So this caused us to buy a new tickets with Indigo at very expensive price. I don't recommend to risk your plan with this airline

Route: Bangalore to Mopa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "Cabin service excellent"

Review: Flew to Bangkok Suvarnbhumi to make shortish international connection. Fly this route very often. This time things did not work out so well. Flight took off 20 minutes late. No announcement or apology offered by cockpit crew. (Already I am starting to get nervous.) Shortly before landing in Bangkok cockpit announces that due to congestion we will circle the airport for a while, (My nervousness increases.) On landing luggage takes 40 minutes to arrive. To make it in time to my international connection I have to run to get through security (frequently long lines) and immigration (always long lines). Breathless, but I make it. Next time maybe I will take an earlier flight. Cabin service excellent. I ordered an optional meal - the Asian vegetarian - which was delicious. And, of course, the very convenient and friendly lounges, with snackies, popcorn, beverages (including a cappuccino machine) open to all passengers.

Route: Chiang Mai to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Aeromexico is a terrible airline - buyer beware!"

Review: Aeromexico is a terrible airline - buyer beware! Think twice before you book a flight, and make sure you read the fine print every time. I have traveled to hundreds of cities, and I have never experienced such a terrible level of service. I purchased a ticket, confirmed my flight and I was bumped from the flight at the last minute because they "didn't have enough seats". Of course, one would expect a refund having paid for a flight and being denied boarding, but even this was not confirmed at the gate and the airline said I need to reach out by phone. Here's the catch - Aeromexico has no customer support phone line! They only accept emails. This is incredibly frustrating and borderline manipulative. Do not fly AeroMexico!

Route: Los Cabos to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "Avoid this airline"

Review: Terrible. Avoid this airline. Its now becoming regular practice to cancel flights. Had a cancellation from Switzerland that forced us to spend the whole night in a cheap hotel and had to fly out the next day and then had another cancellation to Spain. The airline only knows how to ask for expensive prices.

Route: London to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LAN Peru

Title: LAN Peru customer review

Review: Our flight was cancelled due to airplane problems. The big problem was that LAN did not have enough people to deal with re-booking the plane full of folks who were now stranded. Over half of us had connecting flights we missed. We waited in line over 3 hours and left the airport at 10pm, hungry, cold, tired and without boarding passes for the next day. They had only one person to do all the rebooking and told us to leave as she could not do them all. LAN paid for a hotel and dinner and breakfast. However, since our flight was early we had only a few hours sleep. Top it off the taxi charged us much more than the allotment from LAN and we had to pay the difference. The online check in system does not work so could not even see if our flight was actually booked or not. Also their baggage weight limitation was unevenly enforced. We wanted to carry ours on. Many others were allowed to do so but we were singled out and not allowed.

Route: Cusco to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "Keep up the good work"

Review: London to Johannesburg. I have been a SAA gold card holder for years and will always support them. However Mango their codeshare internal partner are another story, some times internal flight connections after a long haul are not available with SAA and I end up on Mango who honestly have a terrible ontime record I cant remember the last one that was actually on time. Keep up the good work in the times of change ahead.

Route: London to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bamboo Airways

Title: "they moved the flight to an A320"

Review: Booked travel on the 787 and in the end they moved the flight to an A320 (a very old one). Service of the cabin crew was ok. Food wise, wouldn't pay that much for business if I knew they were going to serve me that. If I was not mistaken, it was 2 choices, chicken rice or the beef udon. Total rubbish. Seat was cramped on business too.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Hanoi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "staff were rude"

Review: Flew Hong Kong Airlines from Hanoi to Hong Kong. Flight attendant rolled her eyes at me when I asked for a glass of red wine. It was a major mission to agree to this request. Staff were rude, dismissive and completely uninterested in providing any type of service. Not recommending this airline to anyone.

Route: HAN to HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "most horrible flying experience"

Review: Pegasus Airlines is your worst nightmare! Never ever take it if you have a choice. Its not only because of impolite crew members who dont even greet their customers on board, horrible sits and 2$ tiny water bottles. I took a flight from Sharm-el-Sheikh to St. Petersburg via Istanbul and since the first flight was delayed we missed the next flight and got stuck at the airport for next 10 hours without water, food or any further information regarding our flight. There was a Pegasus counter in transfer zone with 4-6 absolutely useless and incompetent employees doing nonsense. We were around 30ppl from different flights and it took 10 hours of queuing while Pegasus workers were doing nothing just making a mess with documents (losing boarding passes, taking passports and never bringing them back) and shouting at their customers. Finally after 10 hours of desperation they somehow figured out that a lot of passengers dont even need a visa to enter Turkey and could be delivered to the hotel anytime. Than it took 2 hours for bus to pick us up and additional 20mins standing outside (0C in Istanbul and dozens of people flying back from Egypt in their summer clothes and not expecting winter strolls around snowy Istanbul) The most horrible flying experience in my entire life, choose any other airline if theres an option never fly with Pegasus if you dont want to ruin your day/vacation/physical and mental health.

Route: Sharm el sheikh to St. Petersburg via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "a very good value for money"

Review: The flight was 33 minutes late but arrived only 5 minutes late that was a good surprise for such a late flight. The boarding was speedy, the crew was very nice and the plane was new so in all a very good value for money.

Route: Madrid to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "Experienced excellent customer service"

Review: I am a frequent flyer and normally find service on a flight average. But, this time to my surprise the service on this flight was excellent. The crew was ensuring each ones comfort and the feeling having a "Truly Happy to serve" vibes were there. It was more than just a duty. It was genuine. Experienced excellent customer service after a long time.

Route: Dubai to Mangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "Horrible customer service"

Review: Horrible customer service. Unreliable. No seat recline. No WiFi on board. No airline app. Just a horrible experience all around. They issue weather change permits, but not even their own airport agents can process them and they force you to call their call center and wait on the phone for hours when you are staring right at a check-in agent doing nothing at the airport.

Route: Toronto to Washington DC

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: V Air

Title: V Air customer review

Review: I have taken 3 flights on V Air and found it a surprisingly pleasant experience. The aircraft seemed new, the FAs were very efficient and the meals (pre-booked at a discount) tasty. On the latest TPE/CNX flight I measured the seat pitch at 32". If this is accurate, then it puts many of the long distance flights on legacy carriers to shame. The first flight in May was held up an hour at TPE due to runway maintenance. The other two this month both departed within 10 minutes of the advertised schedule. It's about time there were low cost carriers between BKK and TPE. I will happily take V Air for future trips.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai via TPE

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "We will never fly them again!"

Review: Paid for meals and upgraded seats. We were assigned our original seats (not the upgraded we paid for). When we got to our destination I called the airline and the representative walked me how to request a refund online. I did file a refund request and Iceland air replied "it is not our policy to refund for purchased seat upgrades if you reached your destination". We will never fly them again! You also have to purchase all food. They didn't give away a cracker.

Route: San Francisco to Zurich via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "No professionalism at all"

Review: Worst service ever. Rerouted my direct flight to Lucknow, made my journey 2.5 hours longer, add to that another 1 hour for operational delays. Charged for web check in done online or at the airport both. Bad service. No professionalism at all. No COVID safety precautions. Sprayed disinfectants right next to where passengers were seated. Never flying with GoAir again.

Route: Pune to Kolkata via Lucknow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "Do not fly with these people"

Review: I recently purchased a flight from Boston to Lima through Panama and upgraded to premium economy seats immediately. Within a few days I received notice that the airline had cancelled my flight and required me to call and rebook. After a very long wait I was informed that my only option was to rebook a flight with an additional stop, an additional 5 hours of layover oh and I would have to wake up at 2am to get to the airport in time. I was informed that I had a right to request a refund but they stressed several times that it would be months before they would process it. almost trying to scare me into taking the horrible option B. I chose the refund. Upon finally receiving confirmation that I would be refunded the ticket price within 60 days I noticed that my upgrade purchases were not included. Requesting clarification from customer service, they informed me that those purchases were non-refundable. What do you mean non-refundable? The airline cancelled my flight. Absolute Scam. Unethical Business. Do not fly with these people.

Route: Boston to Lima via Panama

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "food was good, service excellent"

Review: St Petersburg to Kamenogorsk via Astana, flights were in time. Cabin was clean, food was good, especially on the way from LED to TSE and service excellent. Inflight entertainment before I boarded, I got app KCTV to use aboard, this app for cabin WiFi. For me selection of movies should be wider, but when your trip just about 3-4 hours, it is enough. In some planes they still don't have WiFi or captain forgets to turn it on. New terminal in Astana is very good but for passengers flying to countries from former USSR, which now are Customs Union members they don't sell even water in duty free stores because of union's rules (they can't sell alcohol and all stuff with additional tax fee).

Route: St Petersburg to Kamenogorsk via Astana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "its about the principle"

Review: Travelling from New York to Athens and from Athens to Chania I had an extra luggage that I knew I will be charged no problem. The girl charge me by mistake for 2 extra luggage it wasnt enough time to go back for my refund because my plane was leaving, so I email the company. They said its not refundable. For what for their mistake its not fair. Its not about the money its about the principle of the Situation.

Route: Athens to Chania

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: SilkAir customer review

Review: SilkAir isn't the best airline I've travelled with. COK-SIN was on time and the crew was tolerant even though we were a bit late getting to the gate. The crew were friendly and the food was okay (ordered an avml meal). The Boeing Sky Interior was fantastic. The leg space was small. I'm around 6ft and I was cramped up a bit. The crew were friendly and pleasant. The toilet was clean too. SilkAir had no personal IFE screens. They don't provide headphones either. I spent the 4 hour journey reading and sleeping. The inbound flight was pretty much the same as the the outbound. The worst thing was the food. It was horrible. It is an okay airline to travel with provided that it is the cheapest you get.

Route: COK to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Germania Airline

Title: Germania Airline customer review

Review: Nice aircraft interior with moodlighting. Seats narrow (my guess 30" pitch), however unbeatable value for money on the only direct link between Berlin and Tehran. A warm meal is included, but it is rather small portion. Soft drinks and hot drinks served three times on this 5 hour flight. Alcoholic drinks available for sale. Entertainment is available via overhead screens, which means no choice in what to watch. You need to play for headphones and for blankets as well.

Route: IKA to SXF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "Non responsive customer service"

Review: I am still waiting for my points for a flight from two months ago. It was a cross continental flight worth 2700 EUR. Those of us who live in Finland choose Finnair even though it's typically twice the price of Lufthansa or KLM, but we do it for tier benefits and because our companies typically allow it and don't mind the high prices. But then this is the reality. Two months and about 8 emails back and forth with their customer service and I only have points for 2 legs of the flight of 4 in total. Non responsive (or rather non existent) customer service, talking to a different person every time, being re-directed to other departments etc etc. I filed an official complaint on their website now and guess what: after clicking 'submit' the screen is stuck on the 'creating your case' window. Very Finnair. They don't have any proper customer service. It has always been an airline that charges premium prices but the service has always been questionable. In the past few years it has become just non existent. Just imagine, if those of us who have Gold status and have a special email we can reach out to, if we can't get any service, then I can't imagine what it's like for regular travellers. It is so frustrating. They take advantage of Finnish people and charge insane prices. And OK, we can even accept that, but that you then don't even get the benefits is really, I don't know. For instance, the gold level awards you 4 business class upgrades. But they will almost never allow you to cash those in. If there are available business class seats, you can buy them, but if you want to cash your upgrade in then the answer is no, no availability. I've had gold for many years and there have been years like the last one when they would simply go to waste, not used. They just don't allow it.

Route: Chicago to Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "failed at every step of the way"

Review: Qantas failed at every step of the way. Flight was cancelled - leaving us stranded without airport transport. Replacement flight added a stop over - extra 90min of travel. Replacement flight was delayed. Connecting flight (from added stop over) was missed - extra hour of travel. Lost half of our luggage

Route: Ballina to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "recommended? Of course not"

Review: I booked a flight from Bangkok to Frankfurt (with a later connection to Valencia) at 23:00 local time. This flight was departing almost 7 hours later, at 5:50 am. However, when I approached the counter I found out the flight was already delayed to 19:00 pm. 13 hours delay! Ridiculous. And they let me buy the ticket from their own webpage. Most of the passengers accepted hotel and waiting, but ten of us couldn't wait. I explained to them about my connecting flight to Valencia and I accepted any possible route which would take me to Frankfurt on time or any part of Spain but they denied this option for four hours, insisting on my delayed flight with them as my only option (13h waiting in Bangkok airport plus 14h in Astana). Missing my connection to Valencia and being late for work. I even got the chance to talk to someone from management on the phone, but she would only say "I'm sorry". Only good part was their ground staff, which suffered this situation exemplary even though they were lacking the power to do something. Finally I accepted the refund of my ticket, which they signed, and booked a flight with another airline, spending a big amount of money to get to Madrid. After this, I was expecting the refund of the ticket, but they only offer me 3.930THB, which is not even a 1/4 of the amount I paid for the ticket. I have never in my life dealt with a despicable airline such as Air Astana. It makes me feel sad because they have really good staff onboard but, recommended? Of course not. They will ruin your holidays and feel ok about it.

Route: Bangkok to Frankfurt via Astana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "plastic floss pick in the utensil bag"

Review: Taipei to New York in June 2019. My family and I are regular flyers with EVA Air, and part of the reason has been its environmental care through its service. Our recent flight experience caused us some concern about the environmental care. One example was the use of plastic floss pick in the utensil bag.

Route: Taipei to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "Cabin crew and boarding team are not professional"

Review: Crew in the airport were not helpful at all, I arrived to the airport 1h before my flight on 10/5/2023 because of an emergency, but the Aer Lingus boarding staff in Dublin airport terminal 2 didnt understand or try to help even though I had no bag to check in, basically all I had to do is to head directly to the plane, but he didn't want that to happen. I had to pay 300GBP extra to buy a new ticket and the new flight got delayed. Cabin crew and boarding team are not professional at all, rude and not helpful. Not recommend at all and you cant compare them with any other respected air lines like Emirates or Qatar.

Route: Dublin to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "Good budget airline"

Review: Manila to Osaka. Check-in was quick and smooth. We were handed our boarding passes with our pre-assigned max. legroom seats. Our pre-reserved meals were served promptly as soon as the plane reached cruising altitude. My black pepper chicken was hot and tasty. The flight was half full but service was so so. The crew just went about their duties perfunctorily. We enjoyed the lounge access in KIX that came with the fare bundle upgrade. It also came with priority boarding, which was a nice touch. It was pretty much the same story with our return flight after 5 days. Good budget airline. I would fly them again.

Route: Manila to Osaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "a very disappointing experience"

Review: Just had a very disappointing experience flying Etihad's new business class on their A350. First the good: the plane's interior design is very attractive. Now the bad: 1) Etihad uses Air India's lounge at JFK. Seriously? This was one of the dirtiest and least attractive airline lounges I've ever been in. We left within minutes of arriving. 2) Many of Etihad's online systems both app and online - just don't function correctly. It was not possible to manage any part of my booking online or via the app. Not possible to choose seats or check-in. 3) While the plane is beautiful, scratch and you'll discover that beauty is only skin deep. Many of the new plane's innovations do not function properly. Outlets don't work, the silly built-in phone charger didn't work, the entertainment controller was extremely unresponsive and didn't work effectively. Seat was not comfortable compared to other business class seats. 4) The bathrooms were not clean and did not function well. 5) Worst of all on this flight was the service. While the flight attendants were nice enough, they didn't provide some of the basic service I'd expect even if flying economy. Glasses and water bottles were never collected, my empty coffee mug sat on my tray for almost an hour and no one ever thought to ask if I wanted a refill. 6) The cabin was kept ridiculously warm making it impossible to sleep. 12 hour flight without a minute of sleep. In the future, I will stick with Emirates, Singapore and Qatar when expecting a premium airline experience.

Route: New York JFK to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "I have learned my suitcases were untraceable"

Review: Having purchased a business ticket at a rather hefty price I was surprised to learn the aircraft did not have any proper business seating neither when I asked they had a simple blanket nor a pillow. Having arrived after a few unpleasant hours to Geneva I have learned my suitcases were untraceable, long story short after almost 3 days I still did not receive my suitcases and no one reached out to inform me about their status. Having perishable goods in former luggage and having to travel inside EU, it was certainly one of the worst experiences I had for travelling such a short distance. Worst part was neglecting of both airlines and Swisspost bag handling team, very unprofessional and unamicable.

Route: Tehran to Geneva via Vienna

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "food was quite good"

Review: Ho Chi Minh City to Bangkok. The flight was on shedule and on time. Check in very fast, boarding with aerobridge. The food was quite good. My seat was quite comfortable and the view was nice. A lot of magazines.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "no pro-active update"

Review: Johor Bahru to Subang. Flight re-timed with original schedule at 18:10 hours to 19:10 hours and now 21:00 hours - God knows if we are taking off at 21:00 or later. No staff can be seen at the gate to provide pro-active update.

Other airlines are flying without delay. Malindo is far away from being close to a Low Cost airline service & standard.

Route: Johor Bahru to Subang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "Disappointing and frustrating from start to finish"

Review: Disappointing and frustrating from start to finish. Took hours to check all passengers in at Sydney Airport. No one was notified about a priority line for those who had already done online check-in, nor was there signage. We were told by the employee checking us in that we should have waited in that line. She was not a VN Airlines employee. For the whole flight, most people's in-flight entertainment was not working at all, or otherwise malfunctioning to the point that it could not be used. Staff were not able to offer an explanation other than to reset the screens over and over again - no apology or acknowledgment given. (This was also the same experience on my return flight, 7 days later). Leg room is reasonable for economy, but the seating was hard and uncomfortable. Webbing behind the seats that holds things is extremely tight and cannot fit anymore stuff in there - so the extras they give like a bag with slippers, blanket, pillow, bottle of water etc. you just have to figure out where to place. Some people's chairs leaned back way more than others, and it was very hard to get them to go back and forward.

Route: Sydney to Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "very helpful ground staff"

Review: Singapore to Penang. I was running late and met this very helpful ground staff helped to speed up my check-in using the automated system and completed it within a couple of minutes. She does the job with professionalism and a smile. If more airline staffs are like her, it will help take away some of the hassle of air travel.

Route: Singapore to Penang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "No passion in doing their job"

Review: MH you can do better! Why so lousy the service? I had rice with chicken basil. The basil was so salty? The bun given was so hard like a rock. So was the pineapple. What happened to food MA? Also, I was just given one helping of apple juice. Stewardess did not bother to asked if needed a second helping or so. No passion in doing their job. Not bothered to check if the chair was upright upon landing. What happened?

Route: Bangkok to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "crew were kind and efficient"

Review: My flight from KL to London was terrible. The return flight, London to KL was surprisingly pleasant. The crew were kind and efficient - friendly even. Smiles all round and very helpful. Food was marginally better this time round. The crew even heated up the buns that came with the meal! I really have to give this team credit. They did everything to ensure the passengers were comfortable. When we landed in KL, both the pilots and crew got a round of applause. That pretty much sums up the journey. In view of my previous experience with a terrible crew, I would suggest MAS look into teams which are not performing to standard because they genuinely spoil the image for the company. A very heartfelt thank you to the London-KL crew - you really are a credit to the company.

Route: London to Kuala lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "not care about customer service"

Review: I suggest not using Flydubai under any circumstances, the flying route from our destination to Dubai was canceled in their program, and we were promised a refund; we have now been pledged eight weeks by the customer service department that we would handle it escalate and get back to you -however, all empty promises. Flydubai does not care about customer service or is interested in keeping the promises they continuously commit to arranging.

Route: Helsinki to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "cabin crew were not that helpful or engaging"

Review: I had to take this flight as an Emergency replacement flight, was expensive 504 one way Milan to London. The plane was basic, interior from 1970's, seat was uncomfortable and small. Ticket said Air Italia however the plane we boarded said German Airlines? I am 6ft 6 and had to be jammed against the window as suitcases were were put in extra seat, no effort was made to assist me despite asking and the cabin crew were not that helpful or engaging.

Route: Milan to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Scoot

Title: "Overall service was poor"

Review: First time travelling after 2 years absence from Covid restrictions. Overall service was poor. Purchase the pre-departure PCR test from Scoot and the instructions were poor. Send in a query but no reply. Flight to Bangkok from Singapore was delayed. Flight back from Bangkok was delayed even longer when last minute cargo loading took up almost 30 mins. Had deliberately avoided Scoot prior to Covid but with times so bad, I thought it was worth supporting our home airline. But at my expense.

Route: Bangkok to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "baggage has still not been located"

Review: Traveled for a family camping trip and Condor lost our luggage with 3000 worth of backpacking gear. No one wanted to assist or provide any information or compensation for our hardship of missing the first 5 days of our trip. Our baggage has still not been located.

Route: Amsterdam to Portland via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Good value for money"

Review: Good value for money and excellent service, I can truly recommend Thai Smile Airways both for leisure and business travels and I'm sure going to fly with them again!

Route: Udon Thani to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "Good flight, nice hostesses"

Review: Good flight, nice hostesses, the outbound flight arrived earlier than the scheduled time and on the way back, although we left later than the scheduled time, we arrived on time. we had a smooth ride. Buen vuelo, azafatas agradables, el vuelo de ida fue la llegada más pronto de la hora marcada y a la vuelta aunque salimos más tarde de la hora prevista llegamos en hora . Tuvimos un viaje tranquilo

Route: Asturias to Tenerife Sur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "Never using them again"

Review: Worst experience ever! They canceled my flight, the email with options was an error page. The next flight they could put me on was over a day later. Never using them again.

Route: Arizona to Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUIfly

Title: "seats cramped and hard"

Review: Miami to Brussels. I think that TUIfly tries really hard to offer comfort for their guests, but really does not hit the mark. The seats are very narrow, which makes sitting quite uncomfortable, especially for larger people. We were lucky that after takeoff we were able to change seats. Unfortunately there seems to be little padding in the seat cushion.. The food was pretty gross looking, but was edible. The staff offered lots of water to passengers, which was great, but only came around twice with other beverages. I was not expecting there to be any entertainment onboard, thus I was very happy to find that there were a few movies and TV shows available. My personal TV was actually broken, but since the seat next to me was empty, I was able to use that one instead. Overall, the staff were nice, and the plane seemed relatively clean. However, the seats were just too cramped and the seats too hard to be comfortable on such a long flight.

Route: MIA to BRU

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "my worst travel experience"

Review: Air Arabia is the worst airline. They don't care for the passengers. Boarding is totally un-organised. I travelled on 16th Dec, due to delayed & worst boarding, flight was delayed by 45 mins. When it arrived, aero bridge was not used. Passengers were kept waiting in the bus for 30 mins as all three buses were made to go together. Passengers were jam packed in the buses. After completing the PCR test, immigration (which took 2 hours due to Sharjah's Airport's worst management), the baggage hasn't arrived. It took another one hour, the baggage was removed from the belt and scattered around the hall. It was my worst travel experience. Will avoid travelling with Air Arabia to the max.

Route: Ahmedabad to Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "follow up on our lost luggage"

Review: Vancouver to Manila via Taipei. My wife and I called Eva Air Manila office to follow up on our lost luggage. We explained our side about how we lost it and how many luggages we checked in, And this employee the way he replied implied that its our fault that we lost our luggage. As my wife is complaining about it she asked for get his full name, he answered that he cant give his full name and hung Up! This experience from their Manila office is unacceptable customer service.

Route: Vancouver to Manila via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "disappointing in so many ways"

Review: I had booked 4 tickets for a trip from Toronto to Calgary over 8 weeks ago for this coming March break. Two days before the departure date I receive an email saying flight had been cancelled and they would put us on a flight 4 days later after my departure date. When I called, after waiting close to an hour on hold, this was the only solution they could provide. Clearly this was not a solution so I asked to speak to a manager. I was told I would hear back in 24 hr. I am still waiting. For an airline that brands itself so highly, this is highly disappointing in so many ways and breeds the contempt everyone has for airlines - they are no better. To top it off, it will now cost me 3,000 dollars more to fly another airline because of booking it 2 days before departure. They will never get business from me or anyone else that brings up airlines in my presence.

Route: Toronto to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "attendants are practically invisible"

Review: The Boeing 787 is relatively new and the economy seats have great legroom. The food quality is decent and the time between meals is not too long. But don't board the flight super hungry as the food might not be enough. Inflight entertainment is decent and provides enough options to kill time on a long flight. Amman airport is modern and has so decent food options. Also the Petra lounge is very nice and doesn't get very crowded. If you have a tight connection they may hold the flight for you. Luggage made the connection. Amman airport is very poorly organized. There is a serious lack of professionalism. Upon arrival there is an initial security screening for connecting passengers. It looks as though this security station was shoved into a hallway without the architect's knowledge. The line is chaotic and nobody has thought to add ropes. They also don't communicate what is going on so most passengers are unsure of where to go or what to do. Also, passengers travelling to the US & Canada have to have their passports and visas checked before passing security. But when I was there one of the two agents working this counter abruptly left. Leaving about 100 passengers with tight connections in a panic. Nobody communicated anything about what was going on. For US & Canada flights there is yet another security station. And here too nobody has thought about adding ropes to organize the line up. Note this is the third line you have to wait in when connecting. Despite having not appropriately resourced the airport to handle large volumes, for some reason they schedule multiple US & Canada flights within 30 mins of each other. So the 800 or so passengers totally overwhelm the airport facilities during high season. The flight attendants are practically invisible when a meal is not being served. They just lounge in the galley at the back. You need to use the call button to get any service but they seem to resent you for disturbing them when you do so. There are long periods of time (up to 4 hours) between meals where no drinks are served. On most other long haul airlines the cabin crew will walk the aisles to pass around cups of water every few hours. It took almost two hours to remove the meal trays from the seats. They seem to keep the cabin quite war which makes the lack of water problem much more acute.

Route: Dubai to Montreal via Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "ought to be illegal!"

Review: St Marteen to Port of Spain. I arrived at St Marteen airport to travel home via Trinidad as a layover due to the COVID issue. At the Caribbean counter, the representative was not accepting people so my flight was canceled. I asked, so that's it? I can't fly? He said, no. He said I could try another airline and that I could get a refund online, then he turned away, dismissing me. I went home, took back my apartment and rental vehicle, and made plans to just stay and deal with things, told my family to not expect me home due to the developing situation and traveling issues (we had already spent money we don't have trying to get me there and back). The next day, I went online and was told the man had lied. They told me I would have to travel, set another date and that was as good as they could manage. I'm sorry, but I did not cancel my plans. Apparently, Trinidad was closed before the ticket was ever sold. Why did you sell a ticket for a place that was closed to anyone but nationals? That ought to be illegal!

Route: St Marteen to Port of Spain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "crew provided good service"

Review: Flew this new Jetstar Pacific route late October 2015 on its 2nd flight after inauguration. New A320 Aircraft. Flights on time. Service in airport fine. On board there was a very good, proactive crew who provided good service despite flight was full. Lots of things to buy, including airline souvenirs. Food and drinks available and were not expensive, several hot meals offered and served promptly. Major drawback is the online ticket-purchase which manipulates the price up and up and eventually put on a booking and service fees, so the price more than doubles as compared to what you start out with.

Route: Phu Bai to Dalat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "unreachable via email or phone"

Review: The airline canceled my flight five minutes after I was asked to check in. 24 hours prior to supposed departure. They were unreachable via email or phone after waiting online for over an hour. Anyone who rates this airline over terrible has to be related to someone that owns the company because they are the worst.

Route: Tampa to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "attempted trip back was horrible"

Review: Buenos Aires to El Calafate. My initial flight with the company was okay, if nothing to write home or review about; however my attempted trip back was horrible. The flight was cancelled. I received only a notice the late night before with no explanation. I had no way of getting information as it was a weekend and they do not have weekend hours. When I went to the airport I was informed there were no flights due to a strike. Now while this may have effected more than one airline they did not offer a refund or remedy, or even an apology or sympathy for their clients. I was one of the lucky ones that got in before they left at 2 pm and basically every other passengers had to learn via word of mouth why and how long (5 days before reschedule) they had to wait. Basically swarms of people waiting for information. At the very least there should be an email and apology, truly there should be a refund.

Route: Buenos Aires to El Calafate

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Regional Express

Title: "very pleasant and enjoyable flight"

Review: Overall very pleasant and enjoyable flight, especially for the price point. (That basically places it directly against budget carriers like Jetstar and they are just in completely different leagues). The Rex domestic 737 fleets, as you may know already uses previous Virgin Australia planes, and the interior is essentially Virgin themed (Virgin colored head rests, bulkhead covers). Which don't get me wrong, it isn't a bag thing at all. This means at a budget rex price you get to enjoy full service carrier class legroom (same legroom ad Virgin Australia) and everything. There are also snacks provided during the flight (again, something you don't see often at this price point) along with a complimentary drink. Boarding is done via jetbridges for the front section of the airplane and stairs for the back section, to speed up turnover times. Overall, an excellent option that definitely introduces fresh competition to the other carriers serving this short Melbourne-Sydney route!

Route: Melbourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "you run a waste service"

Review: Originally flight was scheduled on 29th June 00:35 (12:35 AM). Interestingly this flight got delayed from 12:35 AM to 1:30 AM. I booked this tickets from Trip.com and I get the notification on 1:35 that your flight departed. Thanks for choosing us. I was like they didn't even start the boarding. It's 2:15 AM Finally made my way to sit inside the plane and pilot announced "We are still waiting for one crew member who is coming from Calgary and that will take more 15 mins". No apologies. Shame on you that you run a waste service that even your staff doesn't follow your rules. I was supposed to reach Toronto before 6:30 AM. Now I will reach there 4 hours later and no sleep for entire night. I frustrated and angry on myself because I paid $350 for my emergency.

Route: Edmonton to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "delayed and missed connecting flight"

Review: Had the worst experience. The flight from London to Toronto got delayed and we missed the connecting flight to Halifax. We were four including an infant and a toddler aged 4 years, despite being delayed and missed the connecting flight the ground staff were not at all helpful. We waited for an hour to get them to talk to us and at 12 am they told us they have not booked any hotel for us to stay that night and asked to go search for a hotel on your own, very nice of you British Airways. At least you guys should have given some consideration to the travelers who travel with children and booked some accommodation. We will NOT to travel on this airline again.

Route: Bangalore to Toronto via London,

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: JetsuiteX

Title: "free drinks great snacks"

Review: La Vegas to Burbank. Cheap flight and free drinks great snacks. Great legroom(I'm 6'2). Lounge in LAS was super nice. No TSA I was put onto another airplane (to shorten the delay) without wifi but plane was supposed to have outlets and wifi. There was a delay but the staff and crew were helpful and informative. The captain even flew a lot faster to shorten the delay. After landing I received an email from JetsuiteX apologizing for the delay and issued me a $50 voucher. JetsuiteX eliminates everything that's wrong with flying. They even tried to fill up the remaining seats on the plane with people on the later flight.

Route: La Vegas to Burbank

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cayman Airways

Title: "Very unorganized"

Review: Plane holds 17 people. They overbooked the flight and 4 pieces of luggage made it on the aircraft. The plane was an hour late. Half of the passengers had a 1:00pm international connecting flight to the USA. The plane touched down at 12:20pm. No one got their luggage. Very unorganized but it's the only access to Little Cayman.

Route: Little Cayman to Grand Cayman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "Lack of staff, pilots and planes"

Review: Bad Communication: Sunwing did not inform passengers with the correct time of departure on its website, on its app or with its emails (more than a 6 hour difference). Lack of staff, pilots and planes : the airline did not have enough people or planes to run its routes, especially if circumstances were not optimal. This was the reason for so many delays. Other airlines, on the same routes did much better without huge delays (days). The airline gave false reasons for its delays to avoid paying passenger compensations, even when it was obvious what the true reasons were.

Route: Cancun to Quebec City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "would fly them again"

Review: Not sure what to expect because of the reviews I have read about them, but since I have a voucher from a cancelled flight, thought of giving it a try. Check in is very long at the time which is no surprise, the A330-300 though old is very clean, seats are comfortable. IFE is at par with other carriers. Meals were fantastic, overall the service for this 8hr flight was very good. Like the fact as well that I flew Nonstop instead of connecting, would fly them again and recommend.

Route: Melbourne to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "gave me absolutely zero alternative options"

Review: Flight was delayed 2.5hrs. There was a multiple car crash enroute to the airport so my 30min drive turned into 2.5hrs but I left early enough that I wasn't worried and that was for the non-delayed flight. I arrived 9 minutes after check-in, they wouldn't let me in and gave me absolutely zero alternative options. As I frantically searched other flights I found my easyJet flight was 2 hrs delayed so again tried to get on my flight, was told that apparently I missed baggage drop by half an hour, this was 1.5hrs after the check in I had modestly missed, sorry 1.4hr as I was 9 mins late for a flight that was 2 hrs delayed!!

Route: Nice to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "Worst service ever"

Review: Worst service ever. I need to change my reservation, and they would not allow me to as I booked through a travel agent, normally that would be fine, but my travel agent had a family emergency (her mom died) and it's a small business of only her. I explained this and they would still not allow me to make any changes. I understand policy, but there needs to be exceptions for deaths or emergencies. I now might not even get to go on my trip. Not that a large corporation cares.

Route: Edmonton to Varadero

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cape Air

Title: "this was a nightmare"

Review: Cape Air canceled both of our flights between Saranac Lake, NY and Boston. And both of these Cape Air flights were booked to connect to international flights into and out of Boston Logan. They at least let us know about the cancellation of the outbound flight from Saranac Lake to Boston and moved up to a much earlier flight (which left us with an 8 hour layover at BOS). But on the way home to Saranac Lake, they canceled our flight from BOS at the last minute while we were waiting at the gate. Their solution to cancelling our Saranac Lake flight was to rebook us into Plattsburgh (a 1+ hr drive away from Saranac Lake) and book a driver to take us from Plattsburgh Airport to Saranac Lake airport (where we had all left our cars). Sounds good but we got into the Plattsburgh Airport and there was NO driver. It was late, the rental car desks were closed. We were on the phone with Cape Air reps for over an hour - none of whom offered any solution. Finally, but sheer luck, a taxi driver pulled up to the airport and found us there. We had to hire him to drive us to Saranac Lake airport and pay the cost. Cape Air says to fill out multiple forms, attach receipts, etc... and they will reimburse us the taxi fare. Honestly, this was a nightmare. No one apologized.

Route: Boston to Saranac Lake

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "now it is fantastic"

Review: Seattle to Beijing. New plane is very comfortable. The service was fantastic as was the food. The flight attendant was very attentive and extremely good at her job. The chef came out and introduced herself to me, and I had the best airline food I have had on an international flight. The main cabin attendant (person in charge) also introduced herself before and after the flight. She told me if anything was amiss to let her know. I have flown this flight several years ago and it was mediocre at best, now it is fantastic. If only Hainan could get it together on the ground (ticketing, check-in, website) then they would be my preferred airline going to Asia.

Route: Seattle to Beijing

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Dragonair

Title: Dragonair customer review

Review: I booked Sydney to HK with Qantas then connecting Dragonair from HK to Beijing. My flight scheduled at 7pm for departure. When I landed at HKG, I was told the flight is late because late arrival of inbound aircraft. At 8pm, I was told the flight will be further delay to 9.30pm, and finally the flight took off at midnight. From beginning to the end, Dragonair did not want to take any responsibility. Service on board is pretty average, staff serviced a meal and never see them again. Hardly anyone cleaned the toilet I could see during the flight.

Route: Hong Kong to Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "Spotless clean plane"

Review: Kigali to Johannesburg via Lusaka. First experience with Rwandair and immediately a hit. Spotless clean plane, warm welcome by crew, leather seats with good comfort and perfect catering. Once Kigali Airport will be a real airport - nowadays only a very small and less inviting building - it will benefit Rwandair in its expansion.

Route: Kigali to Johannesburg via Lusaka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Shandong Airlines

Title: "would never choose it again"

Review: I booked Shandong Airlines Xiamen to Chengdu. After booking, I log in to the app self-service check-in every day. The result is not open online check-in. Arrived at the airport at 5:24, the airport self-service machine could not be checked in. I went to the economy class counter. At that time, I showed the L11-L15 counter. I only opened two counters. When I arrived, I told me that I was late. For three minutes, I requested to apply for the check-in. If I didn't, I went to the window. The duty officer told me that I couldn't solve it. I can only refund the ticket or the afternoon flight, and I can't transfer other airline flights. After that, I can still contact the official website. The same answer. Due to urgent circumstances, other airlines will continue to fly to Chengdu and refund the ticket at the Shandong Airlines app. First of all, the Shandong Airlines app can't be unreasonable in advance. The airport self-service check-in is still unable to handle the self-service check-in. The same is the problem of Shandong Airlines or the problem of Xiamen Airlines Airport. No counters were added in the case of a large queue of check-in queues at the counter. In the case of my advance, I was unable to check in the airport and Shandong Airlines. Secondly, why can't I sign another airline, I also proposed that the payment to sign the mountain customer service still refused, during which the airport staff of Shandong Airlines Xiamen told me If you go to Ctrip where you can buy it, you can sign it. Isn't this the overlord clause? For the sake of trust, the official app booking is not as good as the agent? Strictly request to return the ticket price!! After I dialed 12315, the Xiamen Airlines staff told me that they were not prepared to refund my money, and I deleted the app refund application without my consent. I would never choose it again.

Route: Xiamen to Chengdu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "extremely poor value for money"

Review: The flight experience on this flight AV121 and the return AV120 was very disappointing and reflects badly on the image of Avianca, Star Alliance and Colombia. Inappropriate main meals were served for these night flights. Breakfasts were poor, small and tasteless. The crew were unwelcoming and rushed (training needed) and did not seem interested in giving a good customer experience. The ticket cost more than other airlines on this route, and was extremely poor value for money. Seats are at an angle, and not as good a configuration as other airlines.

Route: London Heathrow to Bogota

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "I will never buy a flight with Delta again"

Review: The airline changed my schedule twice, the second one was at the moment of the check in and I had a connection which obviously would not get. I had a cruise to take in Orlando. I canceled the flight and I had to buy another with United at the last minute. Was a horrible moment. I will never buy a flight with Delta again. I don't recommend Delta at all.

Route: Los Angeles to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "I won't fly with them again"

Review: I checked in 24 hours before my flight so that I could sit at the front window seat but when I went to board, they made me move to the back aisle seat because the plane wasn't full and they needed me to balance the plane. After they forced me to move, they failed to clear an error with my boarding and decided to offload my bag from the plane instead of checking whether I was onboard or not. I landed at 4pm, it's now after 11am the next day, I still don't have my bag and no one is answering my calls. I wont fly with them again.

Route: Durban to Cape Town

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "the worst experience"

Review: Da Nang to Ho Chi Minh city. Had the worst experience with Jetstar and I do not recommend you to fly with them. You get a short amount of time to check-in, 2 hours, they still opened 15 minutes too late. They put you in a overcrowded bus, you could not move an inch. They had a full bus go to the airplane, while I was waiting in the second bus, I noticed another bus (or the bus who got back from the airplane) parking behind us, I knew this bus shouldn't be overloaded. The third had less than 15 passengers, why didn't they just distribute them normally.. They had the bus stop in the blazing sun for several minutes. Now I made a mistake not carrying my ticket on me (I gave it to my girl), but right from the start this flight attendant put up an aggressive tone towards me and I told him, "sorry, my girl (who walked ahead of me) is carrying it" But he ignored what I said and repeated more aggressively "Sir! Can I have your boarding ticket!". So I went to my seat and grabbed my ticket. He then walks to my seat and went off on me and I told him that she had it. He said he didn't know. Instead of giving the ticket back in a normal way, he threw it and walked away.

Route: Da Nang to Ho Chi Minh city

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "you sit on the phone for hours"

Review: My wife and i flew from George to Johannesburg. We paid for a return flight to George for tomorrow 29 Oct. I tried to move our flight with one week. The service at Kulula is so pathetic that you sit on the phone for hours.

Apparently they experience hi call volumes. That was the case for days now. We decided to lose the ticket and money and book one with FlySafair. So unfortunate that we are with Discovery medical and this is the only service they use.

Route: George to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "business class seats old"

Review: Rosario to Barcelona via Buenos Aires with Aerolineas Argentinas. Horrible airplane, no plug in for the laptop. Unacceptable in Business Class. Food was horrible, awful croissant and roll, not eatable. Business class seats old, not possible to lay flat completely. It was possible to sleep, therefore with this respect ok. No Airshow, it was frozen after 30 minutes flight and it wasn't reset, even after flight attendants were notified. No chance to know where we are.

Route: ROS to BCN via EZE

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Nepal Airlines

Title: "I am waiting past 5 hours"

Review: Worst management by Nepal Airline. I am very upset. I am waiting past 5 hours at the Airport. Scheduled flight was of 8 am. Jet airways and other flight scheduled after it already departed. They themselves are not aware of flight. They told us flight will get delayed by 3 hours, but its still 5 hours and I am still waiting. Plus the canteen at the international is overly priced. Airport is overly crowded. Moreover, I have to take off from my office today. I can understand how others might have wasted their important time too. Worst management ever!

Route: Kathmandu to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "unresponsive customer service"

Review: Air France is a terrible airline with deceptive advertising and unresponsive customer service. We remain without fair compensation ($100 offered off a future flight). They made a significant change to my flight itinerary that I deem as an unfair or deceptive practice. The departing inflight entertainment service did not work for all three passengers. We were not informed until the flight was in the air, or we would have re-booked with a proper flight. Furthermore, I purchased these tickets with the promise that we would be served the menu prepared by Chef Mashama Bailey (our co-chef through the James Beard Foundation), but I received horrid food that was still frozen, not her menu or as advertised. Additionally, the staff lied numerous times when questioned if the food was vegetarian, they said yes only to come back and inform me that they served eggs with chicken. We are strict vegetarians, which caused harm. On the return flight from Paris to JFK, again, I purchased the beauty of an Air France flight with all of its luxury and had a significant change of my flight itinerary that I deem unfair or deceptive practice to a Delta Flight. This flight lacked the services, food by Chef Mashama Bailey (or the Delta Business Class menu we were served the economy class menu), wine, airplane, and staff that was purchased. The food, wine, flight accommodations, and staff were significant changes to the flight itinerary. This was terrible! This was my elderly mothers last international flight, and your team should be ashamed for their lack of service, deceptive and unfair practices, while not fulfilling services purchased on this flight.

Route: New York JFK to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "plan for the delays"

Review: Absolutely awful planning by the staff. They havent done one thing to help me and my flights were delayed for 3 hours making me miss my flight and making me travel to 3 other airports. They are a disaster. Im currently 36 hours on the planes my flight from Calgary to Edmonton is 1 hour long but instead Im going to Vancouver, Kelowna then Edmonton with 13 hours of waiting if you have to be anywhere important make sure you plan for the delays.

Route: London to Edmonton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Will never fly this airline again"

Review: This is the worst airline I have ever experienced. We spent an extra 60$ to get better seats at check in and we ended up missing our connecting flight and they gave us awful seats even though we paid to get good seats! The staff was super rude. Not to mention we missed our flight because they didnt get us there in time. Our returning flight was delayed for nine hours. There were other returning flights that were earlier but they didnt put us on any of them. We bought these tickets five months ago. Will never fly this airline again.

Route: Juárez to Puerto Vallarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "a horrible flight for me"

Review: Taipei to San Francisco. My flight was on August 18 2022 on BR 18 from Taipei to san Francisco I have a condition called OAB (over active bladder) and that's why I always wanted to sit near the lavatory because I always have to empty my bladder every 30 mins. On that flight I was on 73H last row, aisle sit right side and behind me was the lavatory. Since I got into the plane I rushed to the lavatory behind my seat and it was occupied. I waited for 15 mins and a flight crew approached me and told me to just use the lavatory on the other side and that was fine with me since it was vacant. But mid flight I noticed every time I went to that lavatory it was always occupied and I was forced to use the left side lavatory or on the lavatory on the middle part of the plane. But one time I caught a flight crew came out on that lavatory behind me and as soon as she came out she suddenly locked the lavatory from outside and make it appear that it was occupied but nobody was using it and the reason they are locking it from outside so that nobody can use that lavatory except for them (crew). It was a horrible flight for me because I badly need to use a lavatory to empty my bladder I have one behind me but that crew on that flight are using it exclusively so I have to use the other side but it always had a long line or the lavatory on the middle part of the plane which is too far from my seat.

Route: Taipei to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "not really interacting with passengers"

Review:

Smooth check-in in business class area, being Star Alliance Gold Member. Could get in their lounge, which looks great but has little food and drink options. Flight with ok seat-pitch and ok food, several rounds of drinks. Crew not really interacting with passengers, I didnt really feel welcome, strangely I always have this feeling with Asiana.

Route: Seoul to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "Adria do not take criticism well"

Review: Gatwick to Ljubljana. Do not rely on Adria Airways to be communicative when anything goes wrong. My luggage went missing and nothing until they wanted to deliver it 10 days later. Adria do not take criticism well. I would say they are in denial most of the time. Their computer systems, like their staff, do not talk to each other. You have been warned!

Route: LGW to LJU

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "a pleasant flight"

Review: Cochin to Abu Dhabi was a pleasant flight with smiling crew. Snack box provided with water. Now started to sell alcoholic drinks. Being on time is a plus for this flight. Before years back the aircraft had many common video screens. But nothing now. I suggest to available this facility.

Route: Cochin to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: I've flown US Airways many times and it always seems like there's some sort of problem. Delays, cancellations, overbooking etc have made it so there's always some issue when I fly with them. A couple of weeks ago, a flight was canceled for some unknown reason and I had to fly into a city that was two hours away from my destination instead of having to wait in the airport overnight for the next flight. For the latest example, my brother and I were flying out of NC and were told by the ticket agent that there were no seats left for us nor another person trying to fly to Charlotte. It's frustrating to be kicked off a flight that was so overbooked and there was no apology or compensation.

Route: EWN to PWM via CLT

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "Staff service was excellent"

Review: Toronto to Copenhagen via Keflavik. Rates were very cheap, I paid for a little extra leg room (still cheaper than the competition). Staff service was excellent, friendliest crew I've met yet. There are luggage requirements that must be met or you pay for extra baggage, do your homework and measure your luggage, no issues here. Meals are not included in the price of the ticket, but food is available in flight at a reasonable price.

Route: Toronto to Copenhagen via Keflavik

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "incompetent and dismissive"

Review: The airline staff is so incompetent and dismissive. Lacked an understanding of things and sounded like robots. I applied for a refund of a ticket I couldnt use due to a family emergency and they didnt refund it for more than 12 months. Then they turned around and told me that they wont refund it before it has been more than 12 months. Their actions were criminal to me. I sent multiple emails even to their HQ to no avail.

Route: Singapore to Lagos via Addis Ababa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "worst airline I have seen"

Review: Bangalore to Mangalore. This is the worst airline I have seen. no responsibility. They dont care of the customer at all. They changed the schedule of flight departures 6 times in 2 months, and at last cancelled the flight. And they are not even responding to calls and mails. Never recommend this airline.

Route: Bangalore to Mangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "no concern or interest"

Review: Manchester to Boston and onward flight to Philadelphia with Jetblue. As a previous reviewer described in their situation, check in for Thomas Cook was mobbed on my return flight originating in Manchester. The only thing that saved me from waiting in the outrageously long que was having paid for a premium seat. As he was checking me in, the representative did not inform me that the flight had had a change of aircraft and would not be offering premium service. He also did not inform me that my luggage was not checked all the way through and that I would have to pick it up in Boston and check it in again, another mob scene. I learned of the change in my flight when I noticed a pile of papers on the counter and read about it there. A refund was promised and a link to an online form to obtain it given. Questions to the company representative "helping" me from behind the counter were met with rudeness. Others were not so fortunate and were informed for the first time while actually on the flight. At this stage I have gone through numerous contortions in attempting to obtain the promised refund of the additional charge for premium service. The online form seems deliberately designed to rebuff non UK residents, it only accepts UK addresses. Thomas Cook has no telephone number in the US. Although I found one listed online as being theirs, the first time I tried it was answered by someone telling me that it was a Thomas Cook line only at a certain time of day. When I called back at the time I was told to, I was informed it is never a Thomas Cook line at any time of day. This is a great way to communicate to your US customers that they are of no importance to you, Thomas Cook. Eventually, I managed to make contact through email, both requesting my refund and reporting about my horrible in flight experience, which included not being offered an unpaid beverage outside the meal service- on a transatlantic flight (while standing in the long line of people attempting to get a boarding pass in Boston, I chatted with someone who'd been in the regular economy class on the same flight who told me they had been offered complimentary beverages twice outside of meal services). When we were offered the chance to purchase beverages, water was not offered. I felt I was reduced to begging for it, and was handed a tiny plastic cup of water each time I did. I eventually did hear back from the company by email, requesting the information they needed to deposit the money into my bank account. There was no concern or interest expressed in the ordeal I had outlined on the flight in regard to beverages or at the connecting airport where I was given incorrect information by the person accepting my luggage back in wearing a Thomas Cook uniform. Her lack of knowledge resulted in my standing in a line unnecessarily and wasting my precious time on the layover. To date, no refund has been provided. When I wrote again to the same email address stating this, I recieved a response stating that I "had been offered a CHAPS payment" and that they considered the matter to be resolved. No payment has been recieved.

Route: Manchester to Boston

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "was terrible experience"

Review: My flight canceled 4 times today, after 9 hours, we get in the plane. Weve waited another 2 hours in the plane due to heavy traffic, then the pilot has announced the plane has so much fuel and they got us off the plane. After we left the plane, they said the flight canceled because there are no crew to flight. I couldnt believe what I heard. My first time and the last time flying with this airplane. The other passengers said it happens all the time. t was terrible experience.

Stay away from this airplane

Route: Las Vegas to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Djibouti

Title: "Okay was our general impression"

Review: Hargeisa to Djibouti. Air Djibouti operates one single Boeing 737-500, leased with crew from a company in Tajikistan, as well as, reportedly, a few smaller aircraft. We flew from Hargeisa to Djibouti in November. The plane had arrived from Mogadishu with a delay but landed in JIB almost on time. It was definitely at least 25 years old but appeared to be in a very good state of repair. Seats were tight but comfortable. Catering consisted of a single bottle of water, which was ok on this 40-min hop. Okay was also our general impression.

Route: Hargeisa to Djibouti

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "pleasant short flight"

Review: SilkAir from Bandung to Singapore Changi SIN. Flight got overbooked. Got an upgrade to business class. Cabin crew polite just a bit rushed in the galley during meal service. All in all pleasant short flight, with great food and good choice of tea.

Route: BDO to SIN

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "best economy class experiences"

Review: Shanghai to San Diego via Tokyo. This just might be the best economy class experiences I've had up to this point. The food was amazing - extremely delicate and exquisite. The flow of the service was great and the crew's interaction between passengers was natural and polite. Though flying in economy, I can see JAL incorporates some unique elements into the flight (such as beverages, magazines, and movies). Japan Airlines is the only airline worldwide offering a 2-4-2 config for B787. The pitch and legroom were way beyond satisfactory. Ground services were efficient in both Pudong and Narita and each boarding group was lined separately. Won't hesitate to fly with JAL in the future.

Route: Shanghai to San Diego via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "attentive and very friendly"

Review: Paris to Los Angeles. I was skeptical about flying with this airline before I booked. I had read prior reviews and the ratings were very low. I felt that I should contribute with regards to the overall service that I received from XL Airways. My fare was excellent. I paid more for connecting within Europe then flying across the world. Crew, attentive and very friendly. I received lunch, dinner and snack, as well as headphones. Basic water, tea and coffee provided with meals and throughout the flight. Anything else, needed to be paid for. I understood that before I booked. It's a low cost airline so basic caffeinated drinks and or specialty drinks as well as blankets incur an extra charge. The blanket came in a colorful pouch with a blow up half moon pillow and eye mask, for 8 Euros. Credit cards are accepted onboard. They provided duty free purchases before landing. As for Internet, there was a fee to watch movies and listen to music for 9.95. You needed to download the airlines app before departure. If you didn't want to purchase internet to view and listen to music/movies, the aircraft did have three tv's on the plane, in which they played 3 movies and a travel documentary on a particular destination for the long flight. I found the movies entertaining and family oriented. The seats were comfortable for me but of course just average, it's economy class. So please consider this if you are tall! If you need extra legroom, economy plus for an extra fee is available before confirming your flight. The aircraft was very clean and facilities were positioned properly on the aircraft with several almost available at a time. The last check-in was an hour before departure, so get there early. No exceptions are made and is a strict policy that the airline adheres to. I witnessed two customers that tried checking in 6 mins after the airline closed the check in counters and were still denied check in. As for carry on, strict 5kg allowance, one personal hand bag and one carry on only. If you exceeded the 5kg weight, the bag is checked to your destination but with no additional fee to do so, which is nice. I'll definitely use XL Airways again in the future. I found the airline to be great for the overall. I was very pleased with their services! I have a disability and the crew was wonderful in accommodating me and making sure I had proper assistance before boarding and when we arrived to the final destination. Thank you for a pleasant flight.

Route: Paris to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flynas

Title: "Avoid this airline"

Review: Delhi to Riyadh. The worst flying experience I had. Two days before my scheduled departure, they rescheduled the flight to be over 10 hours later. Given the time change and that the flight was at 4 AM, I didn't see this until the day of. As a result of this, I was late coming back for work and had to pay top dollar for an extra night at a hotel (booking so close in). They then further said they would provide compensation both at the airport and later when I could call the customer service. In short, the flight cost me more money than the ticket of the flight itself, and I was lied to repeatedly throughout the process. Avoid this airline. If you want to go to Saudi Arabia for whatever reason, don't take this.

Route: Delhi to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Cairo

Title: "crew friendly and professional"

Review: Dusseldorf to Hurghada with Air Cairo. The crew were friendly and professional, they even offered me 2 meals as I was so hungry. The flight had no turbulence and we reached Hurghada safely and on time. Great experience.

Compared to the german company I flew back with the staff with Air Cairo was way more friendly and offered more food and drinks free of charge.

Route: DUS to HRG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: PAL Express

Title: "the crew were amazing"

Review: Legaspi Port to Manila with PAL Express. The flight I was on was full so it was an excellent decision that I checked in online a day before as PAL Express is very strict about being at the airport on the designated time for check in. The flight was on time. But what happened to coffee and sandwiches on this route? We were only served small piece of biscuit and a cup of water. As usual the crew were amazing both on ground and on board.

Route: Legaspi Port to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "they should be providing service and support"

Review: Firstly, the booking system is rubbish, such that passengers are not able to manage their booking ourselves and must call through to the customer service. Though they do pick up the call pretty quick, it is pointless as all they can and will tell you is that they can't do anything for you (when they actually can). My husband booked a ticket for me to fly out on a Thursday to see my father in law who has just been hospitalised. However, something cropped up at home and I could not leave till the next day. I called to ask for a change of flight. First time I called, I was told all flights on Friday are sold and so they could not change it for me. I was naïve and believed in it. I even thanked the staff. But it then dawned upon me that I was checking the tickets online earlier and there are still seats available. So I called back again and the staff (I believe it's a different one) told me the same lie, that no seats are available. I pointed out to her that there are seats available online. She then told me a cock and bull story about how the system is not updated online and if customers were to go ahead and book online, they will get an error message. I then questioned them about truthfulness in their product publishing and advertising. It's a hoax then. I was certain they could do something about it and so asked to speak with a senior staff member. She put me through and funnily enough, this senior staff was able to find a seat for me on Friday, when the other 2 staff had insisted that all tickets on Friday were sold. However, I had to pay another $370 to have that changed. When my husband booked the ticket, it was stated that we are entitled to 1 change. The senior staff said "yes you are entitled to 1 change but you need to pay the difference". How is that considered "entitled to 1 change"? As it was too much to pay, I was not sure if I wanted to go ahead or just simply cancel it, as it would cost about the same. Later my husband called them and explained the situation. They were insistent in "not being able to do anything" at first. But after my husband's persistently requesting, they finally agreed to a refund in the form of a voucher. This goes to show that they are actually able to provide some form of assistance to help us and there are many options. However, they choose to just tell the customer that they can't do anything and turn the customers away, forcing them to accept the flight or to forgo the ticket. I think these staff have either forgotten or didn't realise that airline is a service industry, they should be providing service and support. Even more so, if they expect customers to call their customer service line, there should be some real help offered.

Route: Melbourne to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "the worst airline ever flown"

Review: The worst crew, the worst airline ever flown. USA has a requirement of bags being rechecked at the aircraft and all airport bought drinks had to be thrown out - why do they do that when in the USA you can buy drinks at the airport and take them on board. I asked for water 4 times and the stewardess refused to bring me water. I went to the galley and asked for water and she started at me then got up from her playing on the phone and gave me half a cup.

When I was done and returned the cup to her she asked me to wait on line for the toilet and put it in there. Is this how you train your staff. If I had a choice of airline or seat this would not be the one I would choose - this was part of a package I bought and my flight was changed later after the booking, now know better in the future.

Route: Bogota to JFK New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Iberia

Title: "Crew first, passengers perhaps later"

Review: In three days they lost three bags and wasted days of our trip. They lost my wifes bag on the way to San Sebastián and both her and my bag on the way to Rome. The staff could not care less and in Rome the queue for missing bags was about 70m long. All correspondence was in Spanish which I dont know and my names suggest that! Onboard rubbish service. The crew rush you to buy expensive food and drinks before rushing to the back of the plane to enjoy 3 course meals themselves. This airline is seriously mucked up. Crew first, passengers perhaps later. My advice, take the bus. Truly awful. Never, ever again. And as I write my bags are missing and Ive had to buy clothes and toiletries. Iberia you are special...I add a photo of the queue for lost baggage in the early stages. A great way to enjoy a trip. Never again.

Route: San Sebastián to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "customer service by phone is amazing"

Review: I must say that Copa Airline's customer service by phone is amazing. I'm travelling in December 2022 and had a few problems with my itinerary (cancellation, changes, etc). I initially bought my tickets through Expedia, but they had wrong information, so I decided to contact Copa directly. Both times I called to make sure everything was ok and to fix problems, they were quick, gave me solutions and fixed my problems. Even though another airline had cancelled, they managed to make it work and found a replacement for me. So I didn't need to call a thousand places. Thank you Copa!

Route: Toronto to Recife via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "update name from initials to my name"

Review: I booked my trip via AMEX Web Site to travel from the US to Argentina for the 2019 eclipse. My name on the ticket defaulted to the name on the card using my initials of my first and middle name. I noticed this today, a full two weeks before my flight from the US to Argentina. AMEX and I called Aerolineas Argentinas to update the name on the ticket. The only option was to cancel the flight and rebook to update the name on the ticket. The replacement tickets was $2500 more than the original tickets $3300, plus no refund of any kind. I can't afford to pay another $5500. In addition now I have to cancel 2 more round trip flights that I had booked with Aerolineas Argentinas for domestic Argentina flights for a total of $1500 and I have cancel 7 nights of hotel bookings with no refunds. I'm out $5000 just because the airline could not update the name from initials to my name. Maybe all airlines are like this, but never did I think such a simple change would cause me such a loss. The Aerolineas Argentinas agent first hung up on the AMEX rep and when we called back we got a different rep who seemed to know of my situation and he was unapologetic and extremely rude. He said while I was on the phone that he refused to speak with me.

Route: New York to Buenos Aires

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Safarilink

Title: "Crews were friendly"

Review: Nairobi Wilson to Samburu with Safarilink. The whole operation looked routined, safe and efficient to me. The aircraft is the most widely-used bushplane in Africa it seems, although there are other types used on different routes. The aisle is very narrow, but once you have made it to the front (best seats for visibility, you are ok. No food service, but water bottles available. The baggage goes in an underbelly hold, hand luggage has room in the rear of the cabin. Crews were friendly. The only complaint I, being a hobby photographer, have is the dirty plexiglass windows, which are also tinted to make matters worse.

Route: Nairobi Wilson to Samburu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "Thanks Akasa for a wonderful experience!"

Review: It was my 1st time to fly Akasa Air and was quite sceptical about it since I had read so many negative reviews about the airline. But the experience I got even before boarding the airline till I landed was exceptionally good. Customer helpline operators were really polite, well behaved and really helpful. Flight was on time, no hassle there. The staff were really good. The aircraft, a Boeing 747 was really clean and the inside of it was really colorful and pleasant to look at. The seats were also comfortable with ample leg space for a tall guy like me. The cabin crew members were also very helpful and didn't make a fuss about anything. So overall, the whole experience was positive and made me a happy and a satisfied person. I have absolutely no doubt to fly Akasa Boeing again and I would definitely recommend this airline to everybody. Thanks Akasa for a wonderful experience! (I didn't order any food or beverages and never used the wifi so wouldn't be giving any rating for that).

Route: Pune to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "regret choosing this cheap airline"

Review: Doha to Kuwait. I tried to travel during the heavy rains in Kuwait, had to wait 6 hours to check in and after that 6 hours at the gate. Kuwait Airways representative was hiding, no info, no service at all. I decided to cancel my ticket, went back to the check in counter and after I tried to do the same through their whatsapp as well but no answer at all. Sent email for refund, same story. They are not answering the phone either. I regret choosing this cheap airline, but will never make the same mistake again.

Route: Doha to Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Airnorth

Title: "These guys are terrible"

Review: Absolutely dreadful. These guys are terrible, they have zero care for customers. Flights cancelled without detail and no communication. This is a normal practice for them. Can't express my disgust with these guys, they have no consideration at all,

Route: Echo to Darwin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "no show for my first flight"

Review: I have never been so disgusted and disappointed with the customer service I received from Brussels Airlines. I took my flight from Edinburgh to Brussels with no issue, I checked in online and the representative scanned my boarding pass. The flight was fine, but what I experienced after was a complete disaster. My return flight (with brussels airline) was scheduled for 2 days later. 24 hours before my return flight I received an email saying that because I did not board my first flight, my return flight had been cancelled. I was super confused as I did take my first flight and was now in Belgium without a flight home. I called the customer service line and was connected to a call centre in India. I told the representative over the phone what had happened, thinking there was a mistake, they would apologize and reinstate my existing flight. I was told that I was marked as a "no show" for my first flight and, as per protocol my return flight had been cancelled. I told the representative that there must have been a mistake and that I was on the flight, offering proof, but they didn't believe me. They didn't know what to do. When I asked for my return flight to be reinstated i was told I would have t pay 40 Euros. I refused this option as none of this was my fault and the representative became rude and completely unprofessional telling me that I may have taken another flight. I asked to speak to a supervisor who also told me that they only way I could get my flight back was to pay 40 euros. I paid the 40 euros and went to the Brussels Airline counter at the airport the next day to complain. The representative was very apologetic and understanding of what happened, and gave me the information to file a complaint insisting that I would be compensated for the issue. I filed a complaint and waited for a reply. A few days later I received an email reply. The representative again told me that the reason I had to pay 40 euros to reinstate my return flight was because I was a no show on my departing flight. I replied and told him that I was on the departing flight. He was not apologetic, and seemed to blame me for the error someone made by marking me as a no show for my flight. He said I would be refunded the 40 euros. I insisted that I be refunded for my flights. He told me that I was not entitled to a refund because I was marked as a no show and did not listen to me in saying this was a mistake. AND THEN I was told that when I went to the airport, the representative told me that in fact I was on the flight and that the no show had now disappeared.

Route: Edinburgh to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "Exceptional service"

Review: Exceptional service with this airline. Caring, warm, personable. I mentioned to the crew that I don't drink alcohol. Not only did they prepare a glass of non-alcoholic champagne for me, they brought and showed me the bottle just to reassure me that the alcohol content was zero percent. Then after the main meal, they came round to tell each of us, "The service isn't over!" And many of the ground staff I interacted with were just as impressive.

Route: Sofia to Dubai via Doha

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "poor cancellation policy"

Review: Really poor cancellation policy, totally lacking in compassion. I came out to Canada with my wife as her mother was ill. I pre-booked a ticket back to the UK with Jet Airways as I needed to show a return flight (I am not Canadian). My wife's mother sadly died while we were here, and I needed to cancel the flight in order to stay for the funeral. They charged me $325 Canadian to cancel - and would not waive the fee. Apparently their cancellation policy is for 'close family only'. This feels very much like close family to me.

Route: Toronto to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "Customer service great"

Review: Los Angeles to Milan. Customer service great. Both by telephone thanks to the excellent and patient Mrs Nardina who helped me get all the information regarding my special assistance. I also wish to commend the treatment received at Malpensa airport by Air Italy Supervisor and staff assigned to check in, who distinguished themselves for their kindness, speed and determination in managing my problem, being the undersigned disabled at 100%. As did the check-in attendant at Los Angeles airport. Same treatment for the return. In my numerous flight experiences with different airlines, I had never received similar treatment. I add to what I wrote the great availability, kindness and desire to work of the aircraft crews, in particular the steward. Really top. Servizio Clienti meridiana air Italy Ottimo. Sia telefonico grazie alla bravissima e paziente signora Nardina la quale mi ha aiutato ad avere tutte le informazioni inerenti la mia assistenza speciale. Ci tengo inoltre a elogiare il trattamento ricevuto all'aeroporto Malpensa da parte del Supervisore Air Italy e la signora addetta al check in, che si sono contraddistinti per la gentilezza, velocità e risolutezza nella gestione della mia problematica, essendo il sottoscritto disabile al 100%. Così come Mrs. Sharmilla addetta check-in dell'aeroporto di Los Angeles. Stesso trattamento per il ritorno. Nelle mie numerosissime esperienze di volo con compagnie aeree sempre differenti non avevo mai ricevuto un trattamento simile. Aggiungo a ciò che ho scritto la grande disponibilità, gentilezza e voglia di lavorare degli equipaggi degli aeromobili. Davvero top.

Route: Los Angeles to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Amaszonas

Title: "change my flights 5 times"

Review: Asuncion to La Paz via Santa Cruz. Booked these flights through Opodo as I could not find Amaszonas website. Flight to take off 1330 with 50 minute stopover in Santa Cruz but nobody could tell me if I had to go through Immigration/Customs and if so, in time for connecting flight. Received flight time change a day later: now with 2 hours 20 minutes stopover. Received third flight time change a further day later: now 0820 from Asuncion with 9 hours stopover in Santa Cruz. Phoned Opodo and asked for a refund but was asked to wait and see if another flight was available. Received fourth flight time change 10 days later: take off 0820 from Asuncion with 1 hour 30 minutes stopover in Santa Cruz. Received fifth flight time change seven days later: take off 0820 from Asuncion with 1 hour 40 minutes stopover in Santa Cruz. Checked-in for flight and an Australian family was having a loud argument with staff as their flight time had been changed to the afternoon but they had not been informed by Amaszonas. Flight left on time. Yes, had to go through Immigration/Customs in Santa Cruz. I was the first at both but quite a queue formed behind me. Found Departures at Santa Cruz airport and checked-in for flight to La Paz. Had time for a drink. Don't think the first schedule of 50 minutes would have been sufficient. No complaint when actually on the flights but why, oh, why did Amaszonas change my flights 5 times. Did not inspire me with confidence.

Route: Asuncion to La Paz via Santa Cruz

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "decline in food served"

Review: Flight left slightly ahead of schedule. View along the way was spectacular especially with Mayon Vulcano not covered in clouds. One thing I noticed is the decline in food served. Before were coffee & cupcake but now just a small pack of peas & water which are not ideal for early morning flight/breakfast. On positive note, if you have connection but on a different ticket the ground staffs can connect your ticket along with luggage which saves you time in Manila. Despite decline in some aspect which most airline do these days Philippine Airlines is still a good choice in terms of price & overall service.

Route: Legazpi to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "a terrific airline"

Review: Fantastic journey. Flew on a Q400 turbo prop from Khartoum to Addis Ababa. They served a hot meal in economy on a turboprop 2 hr flight. From Addis Ababa to Kilimanjaro (with a stop without deplaning in Zanzibar) I also had great service in economy with a hot meal. The boarding procedure was very well organized and enforced (by boarding zone). The A350 from Addis Ababa to JRO had a great inflight entertainment selection. Ethiopian is a terrific airline.

Route: Khartoum to Kilimanjaro via Addis Ababa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "staff is super nice"

Review: San Francisco to Papeete. I've flown on French Bee 10 times now and it was always perfect. Aircraft is brand new, seats go very far back, staff is super nice. Movie selection is awesome. Check in in Tahiti was very long.

Route: San Francisco to Papeete

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "$75 for the excess weight"

Review: Brisbane to Sydney. The Airport crew in Brisbane were absolutely rude, demanding and disrespectful. My cabin bag weighted 8.1kg, it should have been 7kg, all good, my bad. The desk lady demanded I pay $75 for the excess weight, I said to her I can take items out and put them in the bin as I did not need them. She said no, there is no time you need to pay now and give the bag to the ground crew. I said it will take me 2mins to take the items out. She again said "theres no time". I looked at her as she checking other paying customers whom she could rip off before she got the EFT POS machine that took her 5 mins to operate. By this time 10+mins had passed and I repeatedly told her, after all your mucking around I could have taken the excessive weight out of my bag, got on the plane and avoided the $75. I will never fly this airline, pay the extra dollars to be treated like a human, its worth it.

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "attendants were extremely rude"

Review: Beijing to Washington. Food has improved over the last flight about a year ago. Last time I wont even eat the food it was so terrible. Aircraft had all the bells and whistles to include an iPhone charging outlets. The toilets were extremely dirty. Most of the flight attendants were extremely rude, conversely, others were extremely polite. My final comment is that even though Air China does not have control over the this, airport security operations in the dark ages!

Of all the airports Ive been to, this is absolutely the worst security operations there is.

Route: Beijing to Washington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "do not know what I did wrong"

Review: At the end of January I wanted to book flights online for the end of April to Turkey in such a way that we first fly from Prague to Istanbul, stay there for a week and then continue to Antalya for another week and then from Antalya back to Prague via Istanbul. But you can't book that online like that, so I called TK customer service and asked how I should book that. The information was that I should book 2 tickets and reserve min 3 hours on the way back for the change in Istanbul. I did as instructed, booked the tickets and also had over 3 hours to change planes, arriving in IST 13:40, departing to PRG 16.45. In the weeks and months that followed, I kept getting text messages from TK saying they were changing the schedule, changing planes, etc. Most of them concerned changes of times because of the time change to daylight saving time, but one concerned the flight from AYT to IST where I was secretly rebooked on a later flight, which I unfortunately did not notice. There remained however still 1 h 45 min for the change, which is well enough. Already on the way to the airport I saw that the flight will be delayed. At the check-in, however, the boarding pass was issued to us also for IST-PRG and the luggage was checked through to PRG. The delay was then according to TK on 1 h 16 min, so quite that is not true, we took a long time to the arrival gate, where we arrived at 16:20. Already on the plane I asked several times how it would work with the connection and the last information was that I should grab the first TK employee at the exit and let him advise me. I did and the TK man at the gate told me to go to the departure gate as quickly as possible. Anyone who knows the new IST airport knows what that means. Nevertheless, we made it to the gate by 16:45 (we are both 68 years old and my last gold medal in the 5000 m run was several decades ago). But of course there was not a soul at the gate. Again I grabbed a TK employee, who referred me to the customer service counter, where of course the obligatory queue was waiting. When I showed the "Pre-sorter" my boarding passes, he told me immediately that no more flight today and I should wait here, so that TK look for a hotel and book new tickets. When it was my turn, the lady looked at my papers only briefly, and explained to me that I had no right to any compensation because I had booked 2 tickets. No one responded to my question about how I should have booked and they referred me to the ticket counter next door, where I had to wait almost 45 minutes for my turn. For 2 tickets to Prague they wanted $700! When I went to book the tickets online, I came up with around $500, but the lady told me she couldn't take that fare and I should book online. With the hotel and cab and dinner this story came me to over 600 about 200 more than the whole original booking. Since then I have been arguing with TK, repeating everything I'm sure 10 times already, but all I ever get to hear is the gramophone record: "You were late at the gate and had 2 tickets, we are not to blame". On my question, how I should have booked differently, is consistent just as little addressed as also to the fact that the TK customer service had advised me to do so. I do not know what I did wrong, except that I flew TK!

Route: Antalya to Prague via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "experiences left much to be desired"

Review: I recently had the opportunity to fly with JetBlue airlines on two separate occasions, and my experiences left much to be desired. While I appreciate that delays can happen, the level of inconvenience I faced on both my outbound and return flights was simply unacceptable. During my initial journey, my flight was delayed for four hours, causing significant disruption to my travel plans. This unexpected delay left me frustrated and feeling as though my time was not valued by the airline. I understand that unforeseen circumstances can arise, but the lack of clear communication and assistance from the JetBlue staff compounded my disappointment. However, my dissatisfaction reached new heights when my return flight was delayed for five hours. The reason provided for this prolonged delay was particularly disheartening: the pilot was allegedly stuck in traffic. It is perplexing to think that such a vital member of the flight crew would not have contingencies in place to avoid traffic-related mishaps. This incident gave rise to concerns about the airline's organizational preparedness and overall professionalism. While I acknowledge that flight delays can occur across the industry, the recurrence of such extensive delays with JetBlue has left a lasting impression. The overall lack of transparency and efficiency in handling these situations left me questioning the airline's commitment to customer satisfaction. I must mention, however, that once the flights finally took off, the onboard experience was pleasant. The flight attendants were courteous and attentive, and the in-flight amenities provided a comfortable journey. However, these positive aspects were overshadowed by the significant inconveniences and frustrations I encountered at the start of both trips. In conclusion, my experiences with JetBlue airlines left me disappointed and hesitant to choose their services in the future. While the onboard experience was commendable, the recurring and excessively long delays I faced at the beginning of my trips, including a delay of five hours due to a pilot stuck in traffic, greatly overshadowed any positive aspects. I hope JetBlue takes this feedback constructively and focuses on improving their operational efficiency to ensure a more reliable and customer-centric service in the future.

Route: Los Angeles to Newark

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "genuinely gone downhill"

Review: My wife was 27wks pregnant when we boarded our transit flight from Bali to Sydney, we were able to board early and my wife went to the rear of the cabin and asked the crew if she could potentially get a row to herself. She asked only IF after boarding and there was a row available. A no would have been fine but the female crew member at the rear of the flight rudely said no and then as my wife turned to come back to our seats she heard the crew mumble under her breath "as if we'd give it to you anyway". Absolutely disgusting behavior and pathetic treatment. Qantas has genuinely gone downhill, I am ashamed to call it my national airline. Shame on you Qantas, charging ridiculous prices and making record profits while providing pathetic service.

Route: Denpasar Bali to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "The service was non-existent"

Review: With Tata having purchased Air India and Air India being a Star Alliance partner I thought what could go wrong. My new name for Air India is Air Never Again. The seats, service, cleanliness and ticketing were all terrible. We flew nine carriers on our month-long trip. None of them were close to being as bad as Air India. The discount air carriers Scoop and Batik put Air India to shame. The direct competitors Singapore, United and Cathay were so far superior that you'd have to drug me and tie to a seat to ever get me to set foot on Air India again. The plane was filthy. The seats torture devices left over from the Middle Ages. My in-seat entertainment system was broken but functional. I pointed it out so that it might be serviced on the ground and got a, "no, one cares shrug". The service was non-existent. The flight attendants made two appearances and then were nowhere to be found after meal and drink service. They just disappeared while leaving water in the open galley. The food was the worst of any airline food I've eaten or tried to eat. The beverage service was miserly. Nope. One and done. Loved India. Been there several times. Will go again just not on Air India.

Route: Newark to Delhi

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "this airline really scrapes the bucket"

Review: Avoid this airline at all costs. They will cancel flights and not provide any information or alternative. Basically will abandon you at whatever airport they wish with no information or help. I guess you get what you pay for but this airline really scrapes the bucket.

Route: Makassar to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Passion Air

Title: "They are extremely unprofessional"

Review: They are extremely unprofessional. If you pay for a ticket for your flight to leave at a certain time, and you tell me there were changes and certain people got an email and others didn't that's a lie. It went from some people got a phone call to emails, then all of a sudden most people knew it would be departing later. How? Because most ppl knew about your reputation about being unprofessional. Now an hour later they announcing the plane is delayed due to weather yet other flights at the airport are flying. It's just unprofessional. They are operating on CPT for flights. Make it make sense. We are paying for a service the least you can do is be professional. We are traveling with children you don't know how long it took us to get here etc.

Route: Accra to Kumasi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "dysfunctional bureaucracy"

Review: Corfu to Skopje via Athens. On August 4, 2022, my husband and I were traveling from Corfu, Greece on Aegean 285 to Skopje, North Macedonia on Aegean 984 operated by Olympic. Upon arrival in Skopje we were informed our luggage had been lost. We filed a lost baggage report at the Skopje airport. Once in Skopje all we had was the clothes on our backs. We spent the first two days of our vacation milling around an unknown city trying to find clothing and personal items and dealing with Aegean Airlines dysfunctional bureaucracy. On August 10, 2022, we returned home to the States empty handed and no word from Aegean regarding our lost luggage. Our calls and emails went unanswered. 10 days later we finally received our luggage that was come how found in Austria. We filed a reimbursement claim for initial expenses accrued in Skopje, for personal items and clothing replacement. Once again no word from Aegean. I repeated this process 3 times to no avail. Aegean airlines is run by sociopaths. They pretend nothing happened on their watch and choose to ignore any problems that happen on their airline. Trust me when I say I am not the only one affected by these grifters.

Route: Corfu to Skopje via Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "I did not receive my money back."

Review: I had booked the flight from DMK to TST, at first they had changed my flight and I did not want to change so I decided to cancel it for to route going to TST. Then after that the flight back from TST to DMK had been changed again so I would like to cancelled because I had limited time so it was not convenient for me. I decided to cancelled for both flight and they told us to refund the money within 45 days or it could be a bit late as now there are so many passengers asked for the refund. I understood that so I was waiting patiently until now it's been 9 months, I did not receive my money back. I sent them email and they said it has been processing but do not know when it will come. Totally disappointed. To whom wish to fly with this airline, please consider again before you purchase their ticket because if there is something happened, you will lose your money forever.

Route: Bangkok to Trang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "over 12 hours of delay"

Review: Our flight from Chicago to Dublin was delayed and our connecting flight to Zürich did not wait in Dublin. No big deal, we thought. Usually airlines would route us to the final destination without much fuss. Not the case with aer Lingus. Aer Lingus doesn't have a relationship with most major airlines. So you are presented with very limited choices. Our best case alternative routing presented was over 12 hours of delay from the original time. We even asked for a direct connection the next day but they didn't have flights to Zürich on Sunday. So the next flight was two days away. We took the alternate route they provided. We were not provided any compensation or voucher. We had to take the checked bags out at Ireland and go through immigration to get the rebooking done and had to check in afresh again. They provided boarding passes only until Amsterdam and not to the final destination Zürich. The baggage tag was also to Amsterdam. I raised concern over that. The agent said we should collect our bags again at Amsterdam and recheck and collect boarding passes at Amsterdam at KLM counter. The flight to Amsterdam was delayed by two hours. When we reached Amsterdam, we had to go through immigration and collect the bags again. We did that and when we went to check in the bags, we were told that their system doesn't show that we paid for the bags and we have to pay again. We paid for 30 kg check in bags. Due to Aer Lingus's fault, we now have to pay again for the baggage (55 euro) and an excess baggage fee of 75 euro. Not only that, we had to visit six different counters to get this issue resolved. We spent well over four hours going from counter to counter with kids and bags. Klm staff asked us to pay them and seek reimbursement from aer lingus. When we contacted aer Lingus via their WhatsApp business account, they asked to register a case at their website and provided a link. After filling out all the details meticulously, the form crashes with a server error. Wow. Please don't ruin your trip / vacation flying Aer Lingus.

Route: Chicago to Zurich via Dublin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "very reasonable price"

Review: Booked last minute Phuket-Bangkok flights. My friend and I had hand baggage only so very reasonable price. Check in and boarding really quick and efficient. Phuket domestic terminal very modern and pleasant. Cabin crew very smart and aircraft in very good condition. Don Muang airport eerily quiet. Return flight equally well organised and efficient.

Route: Phuket to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "22 hours of layovers"

Review: Boston to Ponta Delgada. Worst experience of my life, bought this ticket because it was the quickest route, they have canceled/changed my flight 4 times in the first 5 hours of travel. My flight will now be a total of 12 hours flying 22 hours of layovers. The staff at the check in is rude and no one answers their contact phone number. Im trying to work with my credit card to get the cost of the return flight canceled but I think Im just going to buy a ticket from a reputable airline and cut my losses.

Route: Boston to Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sansa Airlines

Title: "would highly recommend"

Review: We flew from Liberia to San Jose. This was an incredibly easy flight! We left exactly in time and arrived a few minutes early in San Jose. The San Jose Domestic terminal is a very easy and quick experience. Absolutely no problems whatsoever. I would highly recommend.

Route: Liberia to San Jose

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tianjin Airlines

Title: "Staff were great"

Review: Sydney to Tianjin via Zhengzhou. My wife and I could not have been happier with the flight, service, food and entertainment options provided. Staff were great and went out of their way to help other guests. We read a lot of reviews prior to our trip and can honestly say we did not experience 1 negative factor. Great choices on meals and entertainment, pillows and blankets, surprising amount of legroom in economy. We are going back to China soon and don't see any reason to travel with another airline. Great pricing and options for further exploration in China add to the airline's appeal.

Route: Sydney to Tianjin via Zhengzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "I think it's a good airline"

Review: I flew with Corendon Airlines on February 2022 from Nuremberg to Fuerteventura. I think it's a good airline without major disadvantages. The staff was friendly, I was able to buy good food on the board and everything was more or less good. The flight was on time. The plane is not new, but good. I would only recommend to fix all the fans above the passenger, on the way back it was not possible to close it. But all the rest is good.

Route: Nuremberg to Fuerteventura

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "worst airline experience"

Review: Johannesburg to Rio de Janeiro via Luanda. This was my worst airline experience ever. It started a few weeks before the flight with our flight being cancelled. Travelstart confirmed that this happens quite often. The layover in Luanda was dreadful and the airline staff were rude. The ground staff in Rio were exceptionally rude and refused to speak English even though we heard them speak English to an elderly passenger in the queue before us. Our return flight was on an ancient plane. When I asked for a second drink on the eight hour flight, I was told that they did not serve more than one alcoholic drink. Neither my partner nor I had on-board screens that worked.

Route: Johannesburg to Rio de Janeiro via Luanda

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "goodbye Air France!"

Review: I was taking a full-priced Delta ATL-JFK-LIS flight on January 10, 2023. Unfortunately my ATL-JFK flight was delayed, which would cause me to miss the connecting flight to LIS. Delta re-routed me ATL-CDG-LIS via partnership with Air France, and give me an upgrade to "Business" (due to the equivalent class was not available, but the "Business" still shows availability.) At the gate, Air France counter person insulted me: "You have only paid $300 and want to fly Business"? I was trying to inquire if she was looking at my ATL to JFK portion of fare as I actually paid 3 times as much for my round trip. After she downgraded me and issued my ATL-CDG boarding pass, I requested the second portion (CDG-LIS), and told her I wanted to see a manager. She yelled at me: "I am the manager!" when I requested to see her badge (as she was wearing her badge front side inward), she replied: "You cannot see my badge." When I insisted, she said: "I am deboarding you now!" and she did knock on the keyboard to start the deboarding! At this time, a Delta counter person printed out CDG-LIS boarding pass for me. The nightmare continued in CDG when I was told I was not in Air France systems, so I cannot fly to LIS. However, the lady at CDG counter immediately escalated and resolved the situation. What a sharp contrast between the two employees from the same company! The Air France counter person in Atlanta (I still do not know her name) was rude and was all "snappy" and "powerful" when dealing with customers. The moment she said "I am deboarding you now!" I knew I was not talking to a normal person. While waiting to be boarded, a few other Delta passengers complained that she also charged them luggage fees - ignoring Delta policies. "I am deboarding you now!" was the last nail on the coffin, goodbye Air France! No one flies just for fun, we have destinations, schedules, people to meet and things to do. I can accept Delta's delay but the power trip of deboarding at Air France must be stopped!

Route: Atlanta to Paris via Lisbon

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "not one smile"

Review: Flew Fiji Airways from Nadi to Melbourne. The flight itself was comfortable. The care by staff was another story, terrible would be an understatement. Not one smile by the attendants. Gave a duty free order promptly which was ignored. Food tray left on lap for 2 hours. Passenger had a small child that was sick and help button pressed which was ignored so friend had to run down to the back of plane to get help but came back without it until a few minutes later. A bottle of water and a cup was all that was offered. No attempt made to help except to say might have to get border control in. Poor woman was trying to clean up and help upset child. The staff came up the aisle so infrequently we didn't know who they were. Really upset me this flight as most of the Fijian people are helpful and obliging.

Route: NAN to MEL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "avoid Air Serbia"

Review: Milan to Belgrade. I would suggest to anyone to avoid Etihad in general and especially Air Serbia. Often Etihad sells tickets under its name and afterwards flight is operated by Air Serbia (all flights via belgrade) and that is the biggest nightmare you can have. Terrible service in general, flights always delayed for at least 45-60 min. Often longer delays. My last experience - engine got on fire while the airplane was leaving the gate, and following this we had 10 hours delay (2 hours in the plane, 2 hanging around begging for info, 2 further reschedulings of the departure). Air Serbia is keeping the monopoly of Belgrade airport and I need to use it unfortunately, but if you can avoid it, do it!

Route: Milan to Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "customer service was phenomenal"

Review: I dont understand how there are so many negative reviews. Made sure to keep checking the flight for any changes. The customer service was phenomenal right off the bat. The employees were respectful and friendly. The flight arrived on time and everything was smooth. Aircraft was clean and in order. Flight attendants were helpful. We arrived on time. Well worth the price and more. Will fly again.

Route: Newport News to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "Very disappointed customers"

Review: We travelled to Lisbon in business class and were horrified that airlines still use such old aircraft. The flights from and to Jnb were despicable to say the least. The seats arm rests glued to keep them together, seats torn. We couldn't believe our eyes. The crew were unprofessional with no customer care. On the flights from Luanda to Lisbon and back they had new aircraft but the crew couldn't even operate the TV so no entertainment throughout. No complimentary toiletries for business class. Worse still our baggage was lost. We called Lisbon lost and found office everyday and sent endless emails to no avail as no calls got answered and emails got no response. Out of the blue we received an email at the very end of our 17 day holiday telling us our luggage was in Lisbon. We collected our luggage and checked it in again immediately to return home. At least we should be grateful that although we had no clothing, toiletries, shoes, medication our luggage was found. TAAG need to get a face lift by upgrading your equipment, retire your ancient staff, train the new staff and provide better customer care and better lost and found service. Very disappointed customers.

Route: Johannesburg to Lisbon via Luanda

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Bring your own food and IFE"

Review: Venice to Riyadh return. Both flights were on time. If you travel out of Europe you have to represent your travel documents at the check-in counter. The seats are comfortable, but not reclinable. Ground staff and cabin crew are friendly and proactive. Bring your own food and IFE as these options are limited.

Route: Venice to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "Getting seats assigned impossible"

Review: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Hong Kong. I purchased a ticket from an online travel agency, and none of the seat selections was respected, even though the receipt showed them as confirmed. For online check-in instead of using the name and locator number, they require the ticket number, which was not on the agency confirmation. The lounge in LAX was mediocre. On the LAX to Hong Kong leg, the hard product (cabin/seat) at first glance looked quite comfortable enough. The soft product was of vastly inferior quality. The seat was dirty, crumbs on the seat, and stains on the armrest. The service was uncoordinated and slow. The bread came after the main course. The drinks were poured once, and any further request for either a refill or more water was only brought after a long wait or a reminder. The wifi was unusable. One could see the network, but there was never a connection. Getting seats assigned on the return portion was impossible at airport checkin on the outbound, and could only be done 24 hours prior to the last segment departure (not 24 hours before the first segment departure, as is standard). A call to their customer service line resulted in "I cannot open the seat map." There is a lot of competition on these routes, and, I'm sorry to say, for the price, this is the worst option.

Route: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "it was a magnificent flight"

Review: We started off boarding the plane, the crew were very lovely and greeted us professionally. When we got to our seat there was a pillow and a blanket with headphones and cleaning wipes waiting for us. The blanket was very comfy and soft and so was the pillow. The seat was large and very nice for this 12 hour flight. We started cruising and went on the IFE screen, there was a lot of movie options and kid options, a few games, the flight map was excellent. The food options were very good. Chinese and a western option. Either Prawn and potato pie or Chicken thigh with black bean sauce. I chose the chicken thigh with Pineapple juice and Tea. I loved it, it was a good portion, had lots of flavour, it was a good sized meal. Very very tasty. Then I mostly slept. I got up and went to the bathroom, the crew were putting away the trolleys. They were very nice, this very kind crew came up to me and offered me some snacks. Of course I said yes. Then I slept more after that. Woke up and a few hours later breakfast was served. Prawn fried rice or eggs, I chose the fried rice. Again lots of flavour, it was another good portion and it was extremely tasty. I had tea and cranberry juice with it. Then we landed in Bangkok. Overall it was a magnificent flight! It was brilliant. Good food, good staff, great seats.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "2 hours waiting on the plane without AC"

Review: Its one if the worst experience I have had in this past few months. They let us burn and waiting for the Maintenance to do their job. Probably we spent 2 hours waiting on the plane without AC. Its only shows and Approve the lack of supervision and how decision can make a different. This should not happen and we should not waiting for someone to happen and trying to fix it.

Route: Baku to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "full refund received"

Review: We booked way back but guessed it would be cancelled due to covid. 4th July recieved notification of cancelled flight 5th July, completed the on line form for a full refund, 7th July full refund received. I can only guess that those complaining tried to obtain the refund by phone. If they survive, I will have no hesitation in booking for Miami next year. Other airlines need to see how Norwegian deal with things and follow.

Route: Gatwick to Miami

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Uzbekistan Airways

Title: "this is a terrible airline"

Review: New York JFK to Riga. This is a terrible airline. I asked the check-in desk staff about buying an upgrade to business class - they claimed that cannot be done, told me I'd need to buy a whole new ticket. The staff is so incompetent the company actually loses money. Trying to get assistance any from either Air Baltic or Uzbekistan Air both tell you to call the other and claim they cannot help. This is my first and last time choosing Uzbekistan Airways, I blame myself for believing some of these Eastern country airlines would compare to the western airlines. There was no power / USB outlet, no personal tv, and they give you about 6-8oz of water for the 8 hour flight. You have to harass the staff to get more tiny glasses of water.

Route: RIX to JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "treated us without respect"

Review:

Humiliating treatment. It cannot be understood that people who work in front of the public treat people so badly. We did not know that we had to do the check in online. When making the reservation, select an option for which a higher amount was paid but the bags could be checked in. As in most companies, I took it for granted that when you checked in your suitcase, they gave you your boarding pass at the counter, which was bad on my part, we should have been informed and we assumed that the mistake is ours. We had to pay 45 each, 90 in total, but although this is a significant expense for us, the displeasure was the treatment received by the employees, they spoke to us and treated us without respect and laughing. I recommend people fly with any other company, respect and education are being lost. Trato humillante. No se puede entender que personas que trabajan de cara al público traten tan mal a la gente. No sabíamos que había que hacer el c/in on line. Al hacer la reserva seleccione una opción por la que se pagaba un importe mayor pero se podían facturar las maletas. Como en la mayoría de las compañías, di por hecho que al facturar la maleta te daban la tarjeta de embarque en el mostrador, mal por mi parte, deberíamos habernos informado y asumimos que el error es nuestro. Tuvimos que pagar 45 cada uno, 90 en total, pero aunque para nosotros esto supone un gasto importante, el disgusto fue el trato recibido por los empleados, nos hablaron y trataron sin respeto y entre risas. Recomiendo a la gente volar con cualquier otra compañía, se está perdiendo el respeto y la educación.

Route: Tirana to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "Great service"

Review: Lovely Cabin Crew. Great service. Seat is good for a short 50min flight like this but not for a long-haul. Everyone followed the mask regulations. Food (Cookies or lollies) were served at the end of flight due to COVID restrictions.

Route: Kerikeri to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "absolutely no customer service"

Review: Shanghai to London. Awful experience. Rude staff with absolutely no customer service. Food inedible. Poor choice of films for such a long flight. Only saving grace there was adequate leg room. It would seem that there is no customer service training given or the staff simply do not care. I would not recommend this airline

Route: Shanghai to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: "no clear directions"

Review: Flew Naples to London Gatwick with Meridiana. The staff were courteous, friendly and helpful. However, the pilot aborted the flight after two attempts to take off, saying that a problem was signalled. We had to leave the plane and wait in the airport for 7+ hours. We were given a ticket for lunch in the "Meridiana cafe" which does not exist. All the staff at the other restaurants were unfriendly when asked if we could use our ticket. There were no clear directions. All passengers were milling around looking for the café, being directed up and down, most carrying hand luggage, some elderly. Finally, a waitress at one café directed us to a Brioche bar next to where she worked where we were abruptly given a baguette and drink. The plane seemed old. The seat in front of mine was slightly twisted so that the back would not go upright. The flight was cheap but I am not sure that I would risk flying Meridiana again.

Route: NAP to LGW

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "never fly with them again"

Review: Paid extra for seat advanced selection but they changed aircraft type and my seats to something different than what I picked without informing me, only realized the change after boarding the flight. Made a complaint at their ticket office at Don Muang Airport after we landed and was told supervisor would call me to discuss refund. 3 days later and still no call, have tried to contacting call-center and put on hold for 20 mins with no one answering calls. Will never fly with them again and would not recommend them.

Route: Chiang Mai to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "a terrible experience"

Review: Refunds via a 24 hour cancellation service on SriLankan Airlines is a terrible experience. Its supposed to get refunded in 14 working days as per the policy however I have been waiting 2 months for a refund. There is no central number or person you can call to get to the bottom of the issue and the call centres are staffed with people who will pass you to another department. In the end, its just emails to various depts, bookings, customer affairs ..so on without any hope of getting a response or your money back. Be warned ... the experience you are likely to encounter is terrible. We booked with Singapore Airlines at the same time as the ticket on SriLankan Airlines and had to cancel both flights due to covid restrictions in India. The Singapore Airline refund was promptly received while SriLankan Airlines is at best a basket case .

Route: Sydney to Bangalore via Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "no free coffee or tea"

Review: Toronto to Bucharest. Contacted Customer Care at Air Canada and have been provided with links to the policies of the company - very much useless. Paid over 2 thousand dollars for my parents for an international flight, paid about 300 dollars round trip for regular check in luggage below 23 kg. My parents got a piece of bread dipped in maple syrup, no free coffee or tea on the flight to Bucharest last night. Will think twice before booking Air Canada. I will not make that mistake again.

Route: Toronto to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Mahan Air

Title: "service friendly and efficient"

Review: Flew Mahan Air economy class from Dubai to Tehran (IKA) with Mahan Air. A340 felt safe, the aircraft was clean and comfortable. Cabin crew service was friendly and efficient. Quality of food and beverages (non alcoholic) were of good standard. Would recommend this airline to everyone.

Route: DXB to IKA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "Never again"

Review: Due to bad weather in New York at least 30 passengers got delayed. Air Serbia did not find appropriate to have their desk opened at least 15 minutes later to allow us all to board the plane. Worst of all we printed their boarding passes at home and when we showed them to security at JFK they were not valid, what a joke. Never again. So many nice airlines around and I am trying to use Air Serbia just from patriotic reasons. They do not deserve to even consider them as an option.

Route: New York to Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "not recommend this airline"

Review: I just landed Toronto from Lima via Bogota using Avianca. The lady in Lima airport was very rude. I requested her to allow to take my small luggage as a carry on but she refused. When I on board the plane AV74, I saw there are at least 10 percent luggage bigger than mine. I have decided not to use this Airline in future, not recommend this airline to anybody.

Route: Lima to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "couldn't recommend Air Arabia"

Review: Fes to Marrakech. Booked 7 weeks before travel, travel time changed 3 times, last time by e-mail at 18.55 the night before travel. Air Arabia charged extra for luggage. Each time they sent through new flight details, and each time the 30Kg luggage I'd paid extra for in advance disappeared. The last flight time was too late for me to travel, so I took the early train. Air Arabia have refused to refund me, and refused to refund the extra baggage I paid for, even though the extra luggage didn't fly. I couldn't recommend Air Arabia to anyone.

Route: Fes to Marrakech

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Eastern Airways

Title: "this Mickey Mouse airline"

Review: Aberdeen to Humberside via Durham Tees. Once again I have been let down by this Mickey Mouse airline. They are the biggest burglars charging 1st class rate for what I wouldn't even call a second class service. An example £480.00 return from Humberside to Aberdeen you can fly New York at that rate. Been delayed over 2hrs this week 2hrs last week due to "technical issues" real reason is they are cramming all on the last flight due to lack of demand. Bring on Logan Air, give them a run for their money and get them closed down.

Route: Aberdeen to Humberside via Durham Tees

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "I did enjoy my flight"

Review: With so much praise has been given to EVA Air's Royal Laurel Class, I was looking forward to my flight to Bangkok. The experience began at the check-in desk, which was swift and friendly. The boarding was also methodically carried out, with business class passengers invited first. The cabin has a 1x2x1 layout with a reverse herringbone configuration, and mine by the window. The decor was pleasant, with olive green, shades of grey and brown colours. The seat itself looked cosy and comfortable. Settling down, I took a moment to explore the settings. The armrest could be lifted or lowered. There was the usual adjustable reading lamp and areas for storing small items and drinks. The seat adjustments at first looked complicated, but I eventually got the hang of it. The TV monitor was set at an angle opposite and had to be clipped open to be viewed. Headphones were also in their own compartment. The fold-out table was especially large and sturdy. Good quality slippers, Jason Wu designer pyjamas and a decent amenity kit were also provided. PJs were really welcome and should be standard on long-haul journeys. Once boarding was complete, pre-departure drinks came. When I requested Champagne, I was told it is prosecco for now, but champagne with supper. Seemed rather odd! At cruising altitude, the 'supper' service began. The menu was displayed on the monitor, and there was a good selection of soft drinks, spirits, wines, and teas. I had pre-ordered my main course for both 'supper' and 'refreshment' meals. The seafood main course of tiger prawns, with cashews in a spicy bean sauce, vegetables, and rice was delicious. But the choice of wine was just red or white. For afters, it was cheese and biscuits, with walnuts and pieces of fruit. However, I was disappointed to see a branded package of mini Jacobs crackers - it just cheapened the presentation. In my experience, biscuits and crackers should be served loose. The service was rather rushed, with no drinks refills unless asked for. I also had to ask for a coffee before tucking into sleep. Once 'supper' was over, the cabin crew just retreated to the galley area until two hours before landing, when a 'refreshment meal' was served. My main course was an Asian affair - noodles with shrimp won ton, char siew pork and other dim sum items which was tasty, and this time asked for champagne and got it. EVA Air offers an excellent business class hard product. The cabin crew, although polite, were just not engaging. There was a lack of proper etiquette and finesse when serving food and drink or attending to passengers. However, it did not deter me and I did enjoy my flight all the way to Bangkok.

Route: London Heathrow to Bangkok

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Avianca

Title: "a horrible experience"

Review: Unbelievable! Never in my 30 years of flights have I encountered such a horrible experience. I booked one way (thank God) to Ecuador and they had us waiting for about an hour before take off without any info. There was not even a cup of water available. The air vents above our seats dispenses hot air in an already hot cabin. The directions to access the wifi were clear, but no service was ever available. Overall a horrible experience.

Route: New York JFK to Quito

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "our flight also is delayed for maintenance"

Review: Philadelphia to Wilkes Barre. While waiting for my flight 2 other flights delayed by American Eagle for maintenance. Then its our turn, 10 mins before boarding and our flight also is delayed for maintenance. Sounds to me like someone should take better care of their equipment/aircraft.

Route: Philadelphia to Wilkes Barre

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "will never fly with them again"

Review: Delays leaving Dublin caused us to miss our connection and they did nothing to help book our hotel room in Heathrow for the night. They dodged paying compensation and made it as difficult as possible to file for a reimbursement of out of pocket expenses. Eventually claimed they sent us a check but months on, no check and they refuse to respond to our case claim anymore. Their refund call center doesnt actually exist so they can simply ignore your online claims. I suspect we will be left footing the bill at this stage. Feel helpless, Mad as hell and will never fly with them again.

Route: Dublin to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "not been given free food or water"

Review: I flew with them from LA to London recently. Never in my life have I not been given free food or water on a 10+ hour flight. Of course we could have purchased it but its not included in the fare? They also did not provide a pillow or blanket. The headphones had to be purchased to watch movies. I would never fly this airline again, even if it was my literal last option.

Route: Los Angeles to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "best service I have received"

Review: Just flown Turkish Airlines for the first time in business class having previously used several other Airline services from Australia including Qantas, BA, Singapore, Thai and Malaysian. This is the best service I have received, staff, service, food, seating infotainment etc. It was really just what you would expect from a business class service. Well done Turkish, you will become my no 1 choice international travel. And to add their lounge in Istanbul is exceptional, not mention their priority check in lounge solely for Turkish Airlines passengers, no more trying to find the correct flight check in counter.

Route: Istanbul to Bangkok

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "Customer service very disappointing"

Review: Customer service very disappointing. It takes already more than 3 months to get a refund. Every time I call the customer service they tell me some other excuse, after I waited 30 minutes in line. One would expect a better organisation for such a big company. Next time other airline!

Route: Amsterdam to Medellin via Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "My flight with Blue Air got cancelled twice in 2 weeks"

Review: My flight with Blue Air got cancelled twice in 2 weeks. I got a cancellation notification, I had to change my travel plans, lost a lot of money on accommodation, to find out 1 weeks later that my modified flight is cancelled again. They sell tickets, cancelled the flights and operate with our money as it's also impossible to get a refund or reach out to customer support. Extremely unreliable, I can't believe something like this even exists. This really has to stop.

Route: Cluj-Napoca to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "typical budget airline flight"

Review: Jetstar is perhaps my least favorite among other low cost airlines operating in Singapore but they offered a good option to fly from Osaka to Singapore via Manila, so we make the booking. Fast and efficient check-in - Japanese style in Osaka airport, 4 hours of flight to Manila and then another 3 or so to Singapore. Nothing special, typical budget airline flight, no entertainment system, food-to-buy, drinks-to-buy. But compared to the low fare it was just good enough. Basically, it's better to book them on shorter flights.

Route: KIX to SIN via MNL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "not been informed of anything"

Review: First our flight was delayed, then after sending us up and flying for an hour they sent us back because apparently our plane needed scheduled maintenance. After returning to Dallas we waiting in the runway for hours. Our flight was scheduled to arrive in Cancun at about 12:50. It is 1pm as I type this, we have not been informed of anything, have not moved are just smelling air plane fumes, and have had our vacation start off terribly. I thought that it would be a cheap alternative to American Airlines but I think paying that extra for less delays will be worth it. Save yourself some time and fly another airline if youre going to Cancun from Dallas.

Route: Dallas Ft Worth to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "most uncomfortable seats"

Review: Denpasar to Perth via Kuala Lumpur. Previous 6-hour flight from Kuala Lumpur to Perth: most uncomfortable seats ever - narrow seats with minimal leg room! No charge for carry-ons. Water confiscated by Malindo security [3rd security check-in airport]. Consequently, water would need to be purchased onboard at an inflated price. A four-hour flight from Denpasar to Kuala Lumpur: charged us $179.00 for two checked bags [for total weight]. The seats, however, were more comfortable than on the 6-hour flight from Kuala Lumpur to Perth!

Route: Denpasar to Perth via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "Avoid Virgin at all costs"

Review: Flight cancelled the night before, rescheduled for the next day. That flight was then delayed for 4 hours so we missed everything we had planned to do on our family trip. Avoid Virgin at all costs.

Route: Brisbane to Adelaide

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "our seats were not available"

Review: We purchased our business class tickets in January of 2023. When we arrived at SEA, we were told that we had been notified of an airplane change (they didn't notify us) and our seats were not available. We flew the 757-200 plane that had been booked (lie number one). Our seats had just been assigned to someone else. I book Business/First Class seats because that is the way I want to fly. There was no equipment change. IcelandAir overbooked Business Class and too bad for the people that they have to bump.

Route: Seattle to Barcelona via Keflavik

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Skymark Airlines

Title: "best budget airline I've flown with"

Review: Flew with this airline today from Sapporo to Kobe and the leg room was larger than most airlines I've flown with and the service was impecable. For a budget airline, it included 20kg luggage as well as a complimentary small snack and coffee during flight. I however purchased a Coke and Soup for 200 yen (approx $2.50 AUD). Unlike most Australian airlines, the cabin crew remained inside the cabin for the majority of the flight, making sure everyone was okay and at one stage offering lollies to any needy sweet-tooth pax. I'd fly with them again and can safely say they were the best budget airline I've flown with.

Route: Sapporo to Kobe

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "rip-off airline"

Review: This was the worst flight experience I have ever had. First, they charged $120 to choose a seat. I understand there's a charge in general for this, but that seemed excessive, but let that pass. What I will not let pass is the fact that Norse charged 59 euros for the pleasure of stowing my carry-on bag over my seat! I have never had to pay to use the compartment above my seat before. Then, I learned that one had to pre-order (at cost, of course) 24 hours ahead of time for a meal. I received no email from Norse about this ahead of time and only discovered this once I got to the gate - so I had nothing to eat for the entire flight. On top of that, in order to use the in-flight entertainment, they charged 6.50 euros for headphones (I couldn't just use my own earbuds, because they wouldn't work). They even charged for water! Virtually nothing was complimentary. I've never encountered such a money-grubbing enterprise in an airline before. And the flight staff was rude on top of it. I will never fly Norse again, and I will make sure to relay my experiences to others so that they are not subjected to this rip-off airline and its nasty staff.

Route: Paris to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "I never will fly with them again"

Review: Very bad airline. 2 delays on both flights. Better off with budget airlines as easyjet or Ryan Air. No food on flights and aggressive hunting for overweight cabin cases going thru passengers and call them to weigh and pay. I never will fly with them again.

Route: Athens to Berlin via Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Every step of my trip was phenomenal"

Review: I fly from coast to coast at least twice a year and have always had layovers, I'm used to it but when I saw that Breeze Airways was offering direct flights to Los Angeles, I booked it immediately. I didn't expect my experience to be so outstanding. Every step of my trip beginning from checking in on the app, checking my luggage and the trip itself was phenomenal. Icing on the cake, we got to my destination 45 minutes earlier! How often does that happen. The price was almost the same as the airline my bags fly free but it made up for being a direct flight. I will definitely fly Breeze Airways again.

Route: Norfolk to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "not use Czech Airlines again"

Review: Lisbon to Skopje via Prague. I was traveling first time with Czech airlines, and I will never travel with them again. I was returning from a trip, from Lisbon to Skopje via Prague with my fiancée. The tickets we bought were called Economy LITE but were not cheap at all. Although we bought them 4 months in advance we paid for a round trip 298 EUR and 288 EUR for the both tickets, plus 50 EUR for 1 bag checked in baggage. When we were checking in in Lisbon we were told that they will have to give us separate seats, because they are charging to give you seats next to each other. Although they had many free seats in the aircraft they gave me seat in the front of the plane and they put my fiancée at the tail. They told us try to change the tickets later, but of course, it was not possible because the plane was full, and I noticed, that many people are set randomly, and separated from their friends. They are separating the people that travel together just to charge for connected seats, you pay normal price and you receive low budget flight service. You don't receive free meal or drink during the flight. You have only 7kg hand baggage. It doesn't even include personal small bag, where you can keep your passport and money. They told us to put these small bags in the hand baggage suitcases, otherwise they would have to charge us. So we put these small bags in the suitcases and later during the flight we spent the all time hungry and thirsty, because it was too difficult to take out money or credit card out from the suitcases in the bags compartment. The flight Lisbon to Prague was late almost one hour and we almost missed our connected flight, we had to run like crazy through the airport. The thing we had separate and distant seats made the situation more difficult, we had to wait and search for each other. Fortunately the connected flight to Skopje was delayed too, so we arrived in last moment, all sweaty and tired of running. Regardless of this, at the boarding entrance, they told me to open and rearrange my suitcase, and I had to do it at the entrance on the floor, because it had one small lump of 3cm that was not fitting in the allowed dimensions, which they wanted to charge me for, although it was clearly obvious that the size of the suitcase fits perfectly, even the lump fitted if pressured, because the suitcase was not full, just one item was not set perfectly. It was my personal small bag that they told me to pack in the suitcase at the previous flight. After all this, we arrived in Skopje, but my checked in suitcase didn't arrive, although I paid extra 50EUR for this service for a checked in baggage. I made a complaint, but the web baggage tracking still can not find it after 3 hours. I hope that at least, this problem with the lost suitcase will finish well, and the suitcase will be found in the next days. I would totally not use Czech Airlines flights again. Instead making your travel easier and more comfortable, they are making it more difficult and exhausting. You pay a normal ticket price for this ticket they call "EconomyLITE" and you receive low budget flight service, even worse. Completely not worth for the money.

Route: Lisbon to Skopje via Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "Domestic flights are always delayed"

Review: Domestic flights are always delayed, they announce it at the very last minute to avoid making people too angry.

Super annoying. Air Asia or Cebu Pacific are better in my opinion.

Route: Caticlan to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "A very cheap product in general"

Review: Unacceptable policy for damaged luggage: since they dont have partners for replacement of the damaged suitcases to all their destinations, Vueling imposes to passengers whose luggage is found damaged on arrival a reimbursement limited to only 50 euros, regardless the type, size and price of the baggage concerned. Bad value for money too: a rough low-cost service at a not necessarily low-cost price. A very cheap product in general.

Route: Barcelona to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "The worst airline I have been on"

Review: The worst airline I have been on. The main problem are the checkin procedures in Seoul which were pathetic. The staff would not let us put in 1 x 23 kg bag even though we paid for 2 x 14kg bags. Apparently it breaks the rules even though we technically paid 30% more doing it this way. They also made us take out 3kg and put in our hand luggage because of some random policy. They then make you wait for 5-10 minutes while they check your bag for some unknown reason. None of it makes sense and is totally out of line with every other airline process globally. Avoid at all costs.

Route: Seoul to Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "A decent experience"

Review: A decent experience. Check in was fast and easy, lounge was comfortable with good food offerings. Boarding was slightly chaotic but not awful. The aircraft is wonderful with comfortable seating and leg room. IFE was good. Meal decent for a two hour flight. Had to ask for an amenity kit. Flight was basically on time. Not stellar but better than most. Wifi wasnt working.

Route: Bangkok to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "refused to give us back our money when the flight was cancelled"

Review: My flight was from Montreal to France and was schedule to depart in September 2020. Due to covid 19 the flight was cancelled. Vouchers were sent for us to make reservations in the next 2 years instead of giving us back our money. The reservation was for 4 people and was nearly 3K Can. dollars. We had pay well in advance approx. 6 months before the scheduled flight, Air Transat did not make any effort in re-paying its customers. They kept our money for over 1 year, until the government of Canada bailed them out. We have finally received our money back in May 2021. I am very upset that Air Transat kept our money and refused to give us back our money when the flight was cancelled. I will never, ever, ever book a flight with this company again, and I will never, ever recommend anyone from using Air Transat for a vacation or a flight, and this goes for all of the Canadian airline companies which use their customers money as a bargaining chip to negotiate with the government!

Route: Montreal to France

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "don't expect any smile"

Review: A319 from Cape Town to Mauritius and ATR72 between Mauritius and Réunion. The staff was not friendly. They serve the meal without watching you, don't expect any smile. The food was poor. The A319 looks old inside, no modern entertainment like personal screen. On the ATR its the same, but flights are short so it's not a problem. The real good thing with Air Mauritius, is the number of lines from Mauritius. And prices are correct. I know the company is going to change some aircraft soon. A good thing for sure. Let's hope that will bring back smile on crew's faces too.

Route: Cape Town to Mauritius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: Brussels Airlines customer review

Review: Warsaw to Brussels. I had a great experience with Brussels Airlines. Legroom and seats very comfortable. There was one disadvantage-no snack, you had to purchase it but they were good quality. I would recommend their service.

Route: Warsaw to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "Cabin crew polite and efficient"

Review: Flew Kigali to Dar es Salaam (on 8th November 2020) and back a week later. Convenient flying times (mid-day out, and afternoon home). Both flights were on the same aircraft, a De Havilland DHC-8, called Dash 8. This is a propeller, which is small (80 seats?) and noisy. Not many passengers on the outbound, but full on homebound. Cheap, promotional ticket (250 USD) with generous luggage allowance, 2 x 23 kg plus handluggage. Both flights on time. Free seat selection at check-in. Special seafood meal accommodated both ways and extra food provided on request. Check-in smooth and Cabin crew polite and efficient. A short stop in Kilimajaro airport on the way back went smooth. The Covid tests requirements (both ends, and again on arrival Kigali, total 3 tests!) are a nightmare and costly (150 USD); further comes 1-day quarantine at arrival in Rwanda, but one cannot fault the airline for this.

Route: Kigali to Dar es Salaam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "Everything about this company is poor"

Review: July 23 flight cancelled then gave us a hotel, gave us a new booking for July 24. Super delayed that it messed up the connecting flight. If I can count the changes of that flight was 6 times! Then hours of waiting to check in at Manchester. Then now we are trapped at Canada looking for our baggage that we are unable to find because of their poor operational activity! Everything about this company is poor! Just dont continue the service anymore not until you guys fix your problem! Its embarrassing to the country since you guys carry their flag! From your resources issue to your customer service and all! Fix it all!

Route: Manchester to San Francisco via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "a pleasant experience"

Review: I flew Play in December 22 to Paris from Boston. What a pleasant experience. No delays friendly staff and ahead of time arrival in Iceland and Paris. No issues with luggage. The best part for me was clearing customs in Iceland so I avoided the long lines at major hubs. I will definitely fly Play again.

Route: Boston to Paris via Keflavík

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "Would like to thank all staff"

Review: Las Palmas to Bristol with Titan Airways. Would like to thank all staff for getting us home at this difficult time due to the collapse of Thomas Cook Airlines. Very helpful, free water and a lovely tea and biscuits after queuing for hours in airport. They were fab, thank you again.

Route: Las Palmas to Bristol

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "disappointed with the service"

Review: Front counter staff was so rude and charged $88 each for mine and my mothers personal bag. I flew with Lynx from Vancouver to Winnipeg they didnt charge me single penny for the same personal bag. I am very disappointed with the service never gonna fly with this airline.

Route: Winnipeg to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "they are changing flight"

Review: I've booked tickets to my wife and myself from Myanmar to Bangkok - decided to pay more (compare to low-cost airlines that operate the same route) for better service and to avoid any hassle. As dates are public holidays, I booked tickets in advance to ensure normal prices. Month later Bangkok airways sending me a mail saying that they are changing flight to have it 6 hours earlier. So it's destroying my travel plan and putting overall travel schedule under risk. After I got notification about flight change I've sent back request for refund. After 1 week of silence and several mails from my side I've called to their call center and requested refund. They confirmed that they got it and will send me a confirmation letter. 3 days after - still silence but they refunded.

Route: Mandalay to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Pegasus does not answer my mails"

Review: Pegasus Airlines lost my bag. I filed a report at my destination airport, but even after multiple mails and calls, they didn't seem to care at all. I applied for a refund, but was offered a ridiculous amount of money. After three months, I finally received one half of the refund, but the other half is still missing. Pegasus does not answer my mails. I will never fly with this airline again, even if they offer the cheapest prices.

Route: Frankfurt to Tel Aviv via Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "Zero marks for customer care"

Review: Our luggage is lost. It was supposed to come on next flight and be delivered to us last night or else by 9am this morning. There is still no sign of it and absolutely no communication from the airline. The phone number I was given is not working. They are not responding to my emails. We have a six day holiday in San Diego and the first day is already destroyed. Well done Air Alaska. Also, they were "left short" on restocking so the only refreshment we received on our flight was a 250ml carton of water that tasted vile. A relatively minor complaint but another example of lack of concern or regard for customers. Zero marks for customer care.

Route: San Francisco to San Diego

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "did not have vegetarian meals for us"

Review: Three of us booked with RwandAir from Johannesburg to Brussels via Kigali. We pre-booked vegetarian meals and received confirmation from the airline that our meals were booked, but they did not have vegetarian meals for us on either flight. When we arrived in Brussels, four out of our five checked bags were missing, and there was delay and confusion with getting our fragile/oversized item. We were also informed that RwandAir does not deliver our bags to us, which is absolutely unacceptable as the negligence was on their part, yet we are expected to travel back from Leuven to Brussels to collect our bags. As an international student relocating to Belgium for studies, the contents of our luggage are all vital for relocation and relocating without them (even temporary while waiting for the bags to be found) is extremely difficult and expensive.

Route: Johannesburg to Brussels via Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "still waiting for a refund"

Review: Booked business class tickets to India based on the cheap fares they offered. Clearly, there was a reason as to why the fares were cheap. The entertainment system wouldn't work and the seat lost power during the flight. The flight from Colombo to Kochi broke down and we had to wait in the flight for two hours whilst the engineers fixed the engine. I have no complaints about individual staff, who were all courteous. I then cancelled my return tickets as I didn't want to fly Sri Lankan again. The cancellation was made through their office in India in December. I am still waiting for a refund, even though it's been 3 months. Have sent multiple e-mails to their reservation office with no response either. Will never fly Sri Lankan again and I would recommend that you use one of the other airlines flying to India.

Route: Sydney to Kochi via Colombo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: WOW air

Title: "very disappointing incident"

Review: Copenhagen to Keflavik. I recently had a very disappointing incident concerning luggage with WOW. At the gate I together with quite a number of other passengers was charged round $US100 extra because my carry on case was marginally larger than the extremely small dimensions specified by WOW. As an international traveller, I can't possibly have a specially small case just to suit WOW. My case is on the small side if anything and to my knowledge acceptable to all reputable airlines. Having paid the excess, I was directed to go on board where of course my bag fitted perfectly into the overhead locker. No need to put it in the hold apparently. As someone who has run a business for over 40 years, I know that firms that pull cheap stunts like this are well down the highway to insolvency. Customer satisfaction and their recommendations are the backbone of a successful business. What else is going on? Think carefully before choosing your airline?

Route: Copenhagen to Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "Best ever airline I have seen"

Review: Best ever airline I have seen. Best crew members, loved to travel through Vistara. Great service both at airport counter as well in airplane.

Route: Delhi to Srinagar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "Avoid this airline"

Review: Avoid this airline like the plague. They cancelled our flight, said they'd organise another then just ducked us for 6 months. We've lodged 4 claims, messaged on social media, sent someone into the local office in Chile and no response. I literally have no words for how backwards this company treats its customers.

Route: Madrid to Santiago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "Disappointed and would not recommend"

Review: Disappointed and would not recommend if you have a connecting flight. They will board the plane and make everyone wait until they fill in more seats before the plane is willing to take off. Held up the plane 30 minutes waiting for more passengers to be added resulting in unnecessary delays. Then sat on tarmac another 15 minutes. So inconsiderate for the passengers who count on the plane leaving on time.

Route: Maui to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Germania Airline

Title: "crew was very friendly"

Review: Dusseldorf to Sharm el Sheikh. I checked in at 6:15 in the morning and the line was already very long. There were two check in counters for the flight but only one was open. It took nearly half an hour until the second staff member came and opened the second counter. When I got to the counter to check myself in the check in staff informed me that the aircraft type had changed and that the seat that I had paid extra for was not available anymore as it did not exist on this aircraft type. An A319 was the original planned aircraft but a A321 was actually being used for this flight. So I told the staff member to provide me with a similar seat somewhere else on the aircraft. According to her she gave me a seat with extra legroom as I am over 2 meters tall that is what I always need and that is what I had paid for. When I got onto the aircraft she had assigned me a normal seat not an extra legroom seat. Luckily the plane was only half full and therefore the crew changed me on a extra legroom seat straight away as I could proof that that is what I already had paid for. The crew was very friendly and caring. The plane arrived on time and I received my luggage very quickly as well.

Route: Dusseldorf to Sharm el Sheikh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "go with anyone else but Lion Air"

Review: Dreadful in every sense of the word. Two flights were summarily canceled by text message in the last ten days: No apology, no reason given. Lion Air cares nothing for their passengers and customer service is non-existent. Quite apart from having our flights canceled, we paid 1.3J for PCR tests (that's about £77 each) which were then rendered useless. If you have a choice who to fly with, go with anyone else but LionAir.

Route: Denpasar to Kupang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "Never again Sun Country"

Review: Terrible, always being delayed. Twice within a month apart our flight was delayed. We are currently sitting on the plane before take off, we've been sitting here for over an hour because of weather. If the flight wouldn't have been delayed we would have beaten the storm and taken off on time. Never again Sun Country!

Route: Dallas to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "worst experience possible"

Review: Moscow to Milan. I am used flying low cost companies in Europe and Asia, but had the worst experience possible with Pobeda. I had a small backpack only with my headphone, a computer and a jacket and it could not fit in the cabin baggage size. I was forced to pay for my backpack, but after this, they did not checked in my bag because they were out of time!! So I paid to take the bag with me. The staff is unfriendly and can not speak English, even for the World Cup. I will never fly this company again.

Route: Moscow to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Central Mountain Air

Title: "all want to get to our destination"

Review: Prince George to Vancouver. I thought to support a small business. The free checked bag is cool, as is going directly to Vancouver south where my car is parked; however the 40 min delay on a sunny day? I dont like to complain but time is money. We all want to get to our destination, we shouldn't be delayed.

Route: Prince George to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "just headache and waste of time"

Review: Last time using this airline. My first airplane was late 10 hours reached Istanbul, to understand that i have to wait 24 hours to take my other flight. No one cared about us, no hotel, no food, they gave us nothing just headache and waste of time and ruining our vacation.

Route: Kharkiv to Beirut via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "They offer excellent value for money"

Review: Another excellent flight with Oman Air. This was part of my return trip having vacationed in the Philippines for 3 weeks. Oman Air is new to me still, and I really like their long haul product. They offer excellent value for money, their aircraft's are young compared to many airlines, and the cabin interior is lovely. The food on-board was fine for Economy Class, the seats comfortable and the staff friendly and helpful. I've also noticed that Oman Air is very punctual, which is a massive plus these days! Overall, very happy, and already looking at booking another trip with Oman Air next year.

Route: Manila to Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "Cabin crew are not very efficient and chaotic"

Review: SV 829: KUL-MED, Pretty standard flight. Cabin crew are not very efficient and chaotic. Toilet wet and overflowing and uncleaned. Saw a cabin crew pour leftover coffee into the toilet bowl with drips on the toilet seat and didn't bother to clean it up. Seat, food and entertainment are otherwise pretty standard.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Medina

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "wonderful inflight experience"

Review: Thank you for the wonderful inflight experience we had during our flight from Zagreb to Dubai via Doha. This holiday I got to experience 3 popular middle Eastern Airways Etihad & Emirates includes. I must confess the openness and welcome my wife & I felt at Qatar Airways is unparalleled to any other. Middle of the night when I went to use the washroom inflight crew with a long smile, simply asked if I need anything, probably some midnight snack or drink, Own me Over that was unexpected. I never saw them without a smile on their face during the entire flight of 6 hours. Specially I want to narrate this incident. I had some liquid items which I bought from Zagreb Airport, a Duty-free store. At Doha transit security when I explained the situation with proper receipts/bills, they were kind enough to call Qatar Airways staff who arranged special packaging and did all the security procedures to get that in the check-in baggage. All that they managed to do, when my flight had only 15/20 mins left for boarding. We could be nothing more than, offering our gratitude and thank you for going above and beyond.

Route: Zagreb to Dubai via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "EasyJet have no customer service"

Review: EasyJet have no customer service. I was at the airport early. I had already checked in and all I needed to do was a baggage drop. I was good for time and then EasyJet staff were calling for people to come forward first for the Faroe islands and then for Copenhagen, which allowed them to skip the line and go ahead of me and other passengers. I subsequently missed my flight to Tel Aviv and now have booked with KLM for that evening. EasyJet customer service has been a disgrace to deal with and I wish that after 2 calls to your call centre and emails I was given zero customer support.

Route: Amsterdam to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hi Fly

Title: Hi Fly customer review

Review: This airline replaced our scheduled Thomas Cook flights. The aircraft cabin layout was different to the advertised Thomas Cook one so the reserved seating was no longer suitable. Luckily we were able to change. The Hi Fly crew were good but there were also some Thomas Cook crew on board which led to a disorganised feel. I think it would have been more appropriate just to let Hi Fly crew operate the flight.

Route: Stansted to Antalya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Privilege Style

Title: "staff were very nice and caring"

Review: Flew Zanzibar to Milan with Privilege Style. The only bad thing was the absence of entertainment during the flight, which is disappointing when you have to fly for eight hours. The route map was shown just one hour before landing. The staff were very nice and caring. One meal and two snacks were offered.

Route: Zanzibar to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "worst airline company ever"

Review: This was the worst airline company ever. Check in staff are not properly trained. The girl that was suppose to be helping me check in doesnt know hat to do, she keeps on asking the manager for help and her other colleague. Manager and colleague also doesnt know what shes doing. She keeps making phone calls then she came back to confirm that yes I as in-fact correct that a lap infant has a free check in luggage allowance. We missed our international due to their lack of knowledge, negligence, and irresponsibility. They refuse to book us with another flight so we dont have to miss our flight, they didnt. I told them that we dont have money to pay for extra since we struggled just to pay for our existing tickets. This is the only time that I felt that if youre poor, they dont care, people or company will just step all over you. I was willing for them to fix the problem so that we can still leave to go to Philippines. I even told them that we can sleep at the airport floor and willing to fly the next day. Both EVA air and Alaska air will not do anything about it.

We ended up staying at hotel hampton inn and picked the cheapest room possible and kept making phone calls after phone calls because Alaska air said this.

Route: Chicago to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "We had a great flight"

Review: We had a great flight with air new Zealand. Easy check in online and selecting seats. The flight was slightly late departing due to cyclone Gabrielle coming in. The cabin was clean and crew were really welcoming and efficient. The seat was comfy for me (5 ft 4inches) and with the foot rest up I was able to nap. The food was from part of the business class menu and was tasty and a good size serving. Slight negative was entertainment as not a large new movie selection but the flight was only 3.5 hours. Happy to recommend.

Route: Auckland to Melbourne

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "Extremely disappointing"

Review: Absolutely unpleasant and the worst flight I've ever had. They delayed flight and caused me to miss the connecting trip, which I also booked from Lufthansa (bus express). In addition, I lost my baggage because of it and nobody at the customer service point could help out. Person A (from Lufthansa) would say a completely different thing to person B, and so on (I talked to a number of Lufthansa employees, and each of them said different things). I had to get my connecting bus ticket three times (they made me miss my bus three times because of my lost luggage). The worst was when I was approaching one of the employees and with a very unfriendly tone, she said: "Nobody can help you now. Come back tomorrow morning." I was roaming around the airport at midnight for hours asking them and that's what they told me. They even do not give me any compensation during the lost baggage period. Extremely disappointing.

Route: Warsaw to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "they won't help you if you need support"

Review: Warning: If you are shopping around for flights and Breeze shows up on the list, keep looking! My dad's flight was supposed to leave at 3.40, and it was delayed around 10 times. It was tough to keep up because each time they sent an email, they would send another email. The flight finally left at 11.54 last night. They do not have customer service, meaning you can't just call a number to get support. This airline is an absolute nightmare. We ended up buying another flight to ensure that he was able to get home. We lost all trust that this company would actually take off from the ground after so many delays. We will never fly with them again. Don't let the lower airfare sway you. There's a reason it's cheaper. They won't leave on time, and they won't help you if you need support.

Route: Richmond VA to Jacksonville FL

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "cabin crew friendly and helpful"

Review: Our flight from Auckland to Los Angeles via Nadi (and back) with Fiji Airways was great - we didn't encounter any problems with checking in and getting our luggage and both flights was smooth. The food was not so bad. The seating is a little cramped but it wasn't like I was onboard for long. The cabin crew were friendly and helpful. I would definitely fly with them again.

Route: AKL to LAX via NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "absolutely no communication"

Review: Due to high winds in Manchester the plane diverted to East Midlands. We were to be bussed to Manchester. That seems to be as much as Monarch were going to be responsible for. No announcements were made once we got into the very depressing East Midlands airport. We stood around outside in dreadful weather waiting for buses. Absolutely no communication. OK the weather, no one to blame. But absolutely no excuse for the abysmal lack of communication. First flight with Monarch, don't anticipate a second. East Midlands airport was inundated with diverted planes because of the weather. They had an unenviable job.

Route: Alicante to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "customer service became condescending"

Review: Deceptive gate agent in origin city resulted in over charge for baggage upon arrival to Keflavik. Obtuse customer service became condescending and did not resolve my issues. I do not recommend traveling with them.

Route: Seattle to Dublin via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air KBZ

Title: "Really good flight"

Review: Yangon to Mandalay. Really good flight, the seating was 2-2 and actual seat numbers given on boarding pass, plenty of space even at 6'4" inflight catering offered, light snack and good coffee. Nothing to worry about despite ATR aircraft type and would definitely fly again.

Route: Yangon to Mandalay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lubeck Air

Title: "Great little airline"

Review: Great little airline. The direct flight from Lübeck to Bergen is perfect for me and my schedule, will definitely use it more often in the future. Even got snacks, which I usually don't get on this distance. Very pleased with the speed and efficiency.

Route: Lübeck to Bergen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Belavia

Title: "does its job pretty well"

Review: Moscow to Saint Petersburg via Minsk. Belavia is not a particularly fancy airline in terms of additional services or features, but it does its job pretty well. All flights were on time, crew very polite, online check-in worked as expected. The planes were not particularly new, but well maintained. The seat comfort could be better, but for short flights it is sufficient.

Route: Moscow to Saint Petersburg via Minsk

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Swoop

Title: "This company has the worst customer service"

Review: This company has the worst customer service - I want to change a name on a flight, simply remove a middle name so that the ticket matches the passport. It has taken me 3 weeks of trying to contact customer service via their messenger platform. The phone number provided simply states we can't take your call and visit xxxx online for Bot assistance, first attempt I provided flight info, booking confirmation # and the request, the rude reply was unbelievable. The cost of the flight after all the hidden fees, turns out to be equal to or more than AC or Air Transat. Hire staff or truly make this a discount airline instead of roping customers in and then hidden fees! Seriously $15.00 charge to speak to someone! Just remove the name so the ticket matches the passport (btw the name was auto populated on their booking site from the previous name booked. I have never written a negative review about anything in my 65 years, this is unacceptable and I will never fly with this airline again.

Route: Toronto to Punta Cana

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "zero sense of urgency"

Review: Well maintained aircraft with a crew desperate in need of basic service training. Totally don't understand how business travelers are about efficiency. Messed up my coat return and zero sense of urgency. Its a cultural issue.

Route: Jakarta to Kota Kinabalu via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "$40 dollars for boarding passes"

Review: I have been so ripped off in my life. $90 for one bag going out and another $50 on the return. $40 dollars for boarding passes. I ever consider this airline again even if I have pay more up front.

Route: Las Vegas to Eugene

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "service not as good as it should be"

Review: The snack served on flight was pretty cheap comparing to another airline which serves a whole meal. The service was not as good as it should be. I did not feel any warm welcome for the flight attendants. Flights also delayed. Kept change departure time twice.

Route: Chiang Mai to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Flight was delayed 2 hours"

Review: Terrible airline. No flexibility and really poor customer service. Flight was delayed 2 hours due to operational circumstances. Missed our check in at our hotel which I made them aware of and didnt bother putting us in a hotel.

Route: Langkawi to Penang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Comair

Title: "would try to avoid this airline"

Review: I had high expectation as Comair flies under the banner of British Airways and considers itself a full-service airline. Reality was different. Cramped seats, very dirty cabin, the staff were the unfriendliest I have experienced, perhaps they had just a bad day but they seemed not to be smiling at all. Food was average. Forgot a picture onboard which was fortunately handed over to me later, thank you for that. If possible I would try to avoid this airline and go for Kulula or South African Airways.

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "the usual budget flight"

Review: Jakarta to Singapore. Perhaps thanks to the coronavirus panic, the flight was half empty and everything went faster than usual. I got an entire row of empty seats to stretch out on and we both left and landed a bit early. Otherwise, it was the usual budget flight with no freebies.

Route: Jakarta to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "seats are very old and uncomfortable"

Review: The flight was in the morning and on time. The cabin is acceptably clean, but the seats are very old and uncomfortable. The crew is professional but particularly nice. There is a very limited option of food and drinks, but they do offer you a small cup of water.

Route: London Gatwick to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "downgraded us at the last minute"

Review: They downgraded us at the last minute to make room in Business Class for their own employees. I ended up in coach and no way to get compensation for their deliberate overbooking. They have no problem moving your flight or cancelling it whenever they feel like it with absolutely no remorse or concerns for their passengers. This will be the last time I ever book with them.

Route: Frankfurt to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: "An absolute disaster"

Review: An absolute disaster. I booked a flight from Paris to NYC, I was leaving on a Sunday afternoon and booked on Saturday night. My flight (with a different airline) from Warsaw - Paris that morning was cancelled, therefore I contacted La Compagnie to let them know I would not make my flight. To my great surprise, their Paris office was closed on Sundays and their voicemail stated that the NYC office opened at 9am which would have been an hour after the scheduled flight. When I was finally able to reach out to a representative, they gave me the run around and finally said "sorry, it was a no show". I tried explaining them several times that I had no way of contacting them to reschedule since their office was closed. They were rude over the phone and claimed they would call me, but never did. When I finally reached out one more time to get my flight reimbursed, they once again blew me off with no rational explanation. As the saying goes "you get what you pay for". While it's cheaper than a business class seat on a real airline, it's NOT worth it.

Route: Paris to New York

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "not be changed due to policy"

Review: Inadvertently whilst booking online the child's surname was incorrectly entered. I tried to get the changes made through the airline as well as the agent, the only answers I got was could not be changed due to policy. I lost close to 1800$, tickets for mother and baby. Plenty of time almost 20 hrs in calling the agent and Airline.

Route: Sydney to Bangalore via Colombo

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "everything was great"

Review: This is my second time flying with Viva Aerobus and both times I have been pleasantly surprised with my experience. It's a budget airline so it's typically cheaper than Aeromexico (Aeromexico = worst airline in the world), but the value to me has been so worth the experience. The gate staff was super efficient boarding everyone in and he seemed to go above and beyond to ensure a timely and organized boarding process. Most other Mexican airlines from my experience have been way more chaotic. The flight experience was great. I really have no complaints about this airline - everything was great!

Route: Tijuana to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "Pleasant experience but could be better"

Review:

Pleasant experience with nice and clean Boeing 777. Seat had a decent legroom and the seating part was moving forward giving you an extra reclining feeling. Very comfortable, on the seat was a blanket and earphones, NO pillow. Pity they do not have inflight magazine due to covid, (same excuse to save money and weight, a lot of airlines are using the same excuse). IFE was good but a little outdated selection of movies. I found a couple movies to keep me busy. No welcome drink offered. After takeoff service started (two option) which was tasty with selection of wine, beer and drinks. No ice-cream for desert. During flight the crew was passing by with little bottles of water for the passengers. At the galley there were some sandwiches and drinks during the flight. No amenity kit and at the WC were toothbrushes and hand cream. One hour before landing the second meal was served also two options. Pleasant experience but could be better.

Route: Bangkok to Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "most congested seating"

Review: Service was ok, on time boarding and departure and so was arrival. Cabin crew were courteous but with respect to any other airline in India it has the least legroom, most congested seating configuration I found in India. This is one reason which makes me rethink before booking next flight with them.

Route: Delhi to Jaipur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "I recommend this airline"

Review: Bangkok to Colombo. Great flight with free meal. All passenger get 30 kg baggage allowance and a free meal, tasty too. Everything smooth and on time, very cheap flight too. I recommend this airline.

Route: Bangkok to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "This is a very unreliable airline"

Review: This is a very unreliable airline. Our first flight to Toronto canceled, we rebooked for 3 hours later and that flight was delayed for another hour so total of 4 hours delayed for first flight. Then the second flight delayed for another hour and half. So about 6 hours of delay in one trip. If you are on right schedule do not risk it and avoid this airline.

Route: Montreal to Washington via Toronto

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Azerbaijan Airlines

Title: "outstanding comfort and relaxation"

Review: This was my 2nd trip on Azerbaijan Airlines, had a previous trip in December of 2015, New York JFK - Baku - Tbilisi - Baku - New York JFK. On all 4 legs of my trip it was a fantastic experience as both the Cockpit and Cabin crews did an outstanding job and provided an outstanding comfort and relaxation. Baku and Hayden Airport are world class with very friendly people, my family and I will always travel to Tbilisi via Baku all the time as we always get a fantastic flight with a very professional crew all around hands down. Thank You for a great experience again as we traveled on September 25 2017 and returned on October 28 2017. I encourage other family and friends to fly Azerbaijan Airlines whenever they travel towards Georgia and other points in the region.

Route: Tbilisi to New York JFK via Baku

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "worst customer service experience"

Review: This is the worst customer service experience I have ever had in my life. They should be banned from running their business. I had a flight scheduled for 630PM to CGK booked for Lion Air on august 17th. The night before the flight they sent me telling me the flight had been cancelled with no information on the new departure. I started to worry, I ended up going to sleep and at around 10am the sent me the schedule for the new flight. It was leaving at 7:15pm but from another airline Super Air Jet. So we arrived at the airport on-time and waited for boarding at 6:45pm - we didnt board until 7:20pm and didnt take off til 7:45pm. By the time we landed in CGK our connecting international flight had already boarded and was leaving. We were left stuck til 2:40pm the next day.

Route: Denpasar to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Belavia

Title: "food good and service too"

Review: Great flight from Minsk to Tel Aviv with Belavia. The food onboard was good and service too. The plane was very clean. Only complaint is the age of the plane but this is not a big problem. I flew back from Tel Aviv to Minsk too and all aspects of the flight were very good - would recommend.

Route: MSQ to TLV

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "served refreshments very late"

Review: Chennai to Singapore with SilkAir (MI435). Flight attendants served the refreshments and meal very late as there appeared to be many trainees. I had to wait for almost 3 hours to be asked by one of the flight attendant if I had been served. When I asked for vegetarian food, they said that all the vegetarian meals are over and only non-vegetarian is available. I asked if there was an alternative and they provided me with a cup noodles. They had totally missed out serving some seats - it was poor service.

Route: MAA to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Mahan Air

Title: Mahan Air customer review

Review: Barcelona to Bangkok via Tehran. Cabin attendant spills by accident a cup of coffee over my legs causing me minor burns and stains on my trousers and shirt. Purser writes a report and apologized. This caused great inconvenience because It happened on the first leg of the flight and could not change until arrival in Bangkok where I had a business meeting. I made a formal complain to Mahan Air customer services and do not even answer. They should compensate this inconvenience. Terrible customer service that do not answer any complains.

Route: Barcelona to Bangkok via Tehran

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Meridiana

Title: "might be cheaper but it's not worth it"

Review: We had a 1.20 flight booked from Venice to Olbia with Meridiana. Flight was delayed for 2hrs then at 3pm cancelled. At no stage was any explanation provided for the cancellation. There was 1 staff member for the whole flight trying to sort out who got on another flight from Bologna (65 places) and we didn't manage to push our way to front of queue to get on. We had to pay for a whole new flight with Volotea as there was no way out of Venice otherwise. Getting our luggage back was an absolute nightmare and took 2 hrs. We finally landed in Sardinia 8 hours after our expected arrival and 900Euro poorer. Absolutely disgraceful and will never use them again. and have no idea of how to get our money back from cancelled flight. Don't fly with Meridiana. It might be cheaper but it's not worth it

Route: VCE to OLB

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Germanwings

Title: Germanwings customer review

Review: Germanwings is a very mediocre airline. Compared to Lufthansa, their standards are quite low. They are not terrible or anything, but their food product is the worst.

Route: Cologne to Palma

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "cabin staff really polite and friendly"

Review: Was flying yesterday from Amsterdam to Athens with Transavia but the flight was operated by Corendon Airlines. I was not happy at all with this because I was not informed for this and also I had never heard of Corendon before - this was not Corendon's fault of course. I have to admit that the flight was very good, I was pleasantly surprised to see that the pilot was a woman (first time to fly with a woman pilot). The best impression was made by the the cabin staff who were really polite and friendly, maybe the best I've ever met. Also the plane was very clean and the seats comfortable with sufficient leg space. Well done Corendon.

Route: AMS to ATH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "had my fill of their stupidity"

Review: I have flown Cebu Pacific multiple times only because Philippine air did not have many choices for our flight plans. You cannot talk to anyone on the phone to resolve problems. The website and app are terrible. They give different options that either include baggage or don't. No matter which option you choose they send messages saying you didn't pay for checked in bags. The first time I believed i was allowed 2 bags. My excess baggage fee was $300 for my wife and I. The last time, I purchased the extra baggage thinking i had no bags. Paid $75 extra for 2 bags each. Then they said oh you didn't need that, your bags are included. But a message was sent to me saying that if i needed to check a bag, I needed to purchase it. I have really had my fill of their stupidity. And they are never on time.

Route: Legaspi to Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "Ill definitely fly again"

Review: I read reviews about this airline prior to boarding I seen a bunch of bad reviews but fortunately that was not my experience. We had no delays, seat was comfortable and staff was very nice and helpful. I really enjoyed Avelo as a first time flyer and glad they brought it to Lexington. I hope they bring some more locations for us to fly to other than Tampa soon, Ill definitely fly again!

Route: Lexington to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "recommend Hainan Airlines"

Review: Beijing to Boston, as an international student, flight comfort and ticket price are primary for me, and Hainan Airline achieved my standard. Great food and drink, 2 mean meals and free light meal between these with snacks. The cabin crew service is professional. I recommend Hainan Airlines.

Route: Beijing to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "really horrible travel"

Review: Toronto to Cancun. That was really horrible travel with this airline, 2 hrs delay when we had a flight to Cancun, more than 4 hrs on the way back to Toronto. So unorganized and unprofessional. We usually go vacation 4 times a year and the first time flight with Sunwing but never ever again travel with Sunwing, worse experience ever, feeling really sick and exhausted, I missed my workday because of the delay.

Route: Toronto to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Absolute joke of a company"

Review: AVOID IF YOU CAN!! Absolute joke of a company. First time flying with them. We were due to depart from Baku to Rome around 14:20. Not only the flight was delayed and we almost missed the connecting flight but the online check in link also did not work. Tried checking in the night before twice and the morning of (5 hours prior) the flight, but still the link did not work and notified that we need go to the gates. Which when we did they heavily insisted that we had to pay 120 euro for Airport check- in and if not they refused to give us their ticket. The employee also insisted that he was not a Wizz Air employee but he had the right to demand such payments on the company's behalf also refused to give us any info on how to contact Wizz Air and refused to call anyone from Managerial level. We checked the website and is stated that if links did-not work airport check-in will be free but the employee insisted this is not the case and that we had to pay as there was no other choice if we wanted to fly. We have been trying to contact them for the past 2 days now. The phone numbers do not work and they charge crazy for them. Online chat is also brushing off all the options that you select and refuses to connect to a live agent. I have contacted them though other socials as well but just from the Instagram comments I can see that I will never get any answer or refund. Again if possible do not fly with them, better off paying a bit more for other decent airlines, since Wizz is still going to scam you out of the money you saved by booking with them. Hope this review helps someone.

Route: Baku to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "should be ashamed of the service"

Review: I wouldn't waste my time going on a United flight. They are horrible at doing their jobs. I had a toddler with me who was supposed to sit on my lap. We were traveling with my spouse and the kiosk wouldn't allow check in. We came in two hours before our flight and got tossed around. We were advised to see a kiosk with an attendant on it waited 30 minutes and we still couldn't get checked in. At this point we had a little under an hour to get everything done yet no one knows how to get my boarding pass printed with my lap baby. My husband was able to board but I missed my flight. They told me to wait on a line that took over 2.5 hours to get to a rep and that as far as they are concerned I missed my flight even though there was still time. I had two employees bicker in front of my family because the employee asked another employee to assist and she didn't like that we were thrown on her. After I waited for 2.5 hours to get this situation rectified the rep told me there was nothing he can do because the confirmation was split once my husband got his pass and I essentially lost my reservation and had to wait 1.5 hours to get a hold of a reservation specialist on the phone. FYI they don't have reservation specialists in the airport. United employees don't take responsibility or try to correct the situation. I was left to make other plans with another airline company as being stranded in an airport with a toddler wasn't going to work. I went to JetBlue and they had zero issues with processing my lap baby's pass. United doesn't care about their customers, if they had it their way I would have been stranded for two days. Also they are unbelievably understaffed and were cancelling a lot of flights. There was a mob of angry people. Save your money, they may be worse than Southwest and Spirit at this point. I will never purchase from them again & they should honestly be ashamed of the service they provide.

Route: Newark to Santiago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "missing from my hand carry baggage"

Review: I took Kuwait Airways from London to Dhaka which had a 1 hour transit in Kuwait. I always have my hand carry baggage with me everywhere I go and I never let it out of sight but right before we boarded the plane from Kuwait to Dhaka, the staff forced me and some other passengers to hand over our hand carry baggage saying that there is no space in the aircraft. They said they would keep it with the other baggage and promised to take the responsibility. I had things in my hand carry baggage. One passenger was unwilling to hand over his hand carry baggage and staffs of this airline was behaving extremely aggressively towards that man and told us all that we have no other option but to hand over our hand carry baggage because the plane was full. Later when I reached Dhaka and checked all my bags, things were missing from my hand carry baggage. This would have never ever happened if my hand carry baggage was with me all the time. When I emailed the Airline telling them my story and demanding compensation, they wrote 'KAC is not liable for valuable items and, as per the rules and conditions that mentioned in the ticket that the passengers shall not include the valuable items and hand carry baggage is passenger own responsibility.' I only carry important things in the hand carry baggage because I never let it out of my sight. This was the first time my bag was taken from me, the first time I lost anything while travelling and definitely the last time I will ever book a flight with this airline.

Route: London to Dhaka via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "runs a pretty good operation "

Review: It is my impression that American Eagle runs a pretty good operation out of Chicago O'Hare. I must admit that although ORD was a complete mess due to a prior snowstorm, the American employees we dealt with did a great job helping us out. The flight down to Louisville from Chicago was fine, good service, arrived on time clean plane etc. The return flight to Chicago O'Hare was in the weather the entire one hour so no drinks etc. Crew did a good job. I have no complaints with this operation - using O'Hare though does tend to try ones patience - too many people. Next time I will try Nashville and drive north instead.

Route: ORD to SDF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "Definitely recommended!"

Review: I had read bad reviews about Royal Air Maroc so I was pleasantly surprised! The flight from Manchester to Accra via Casablanca was fine, the food was good, there was entertainment available if you had a device to link to their wifi and all of my luggage made it! The security check at Casablanca was tense and chaotic but that is not the airlines fault. Definitely recommended!

Route: Manchester to Accra via Casablanca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "crew were grumpy and definitely unhappy"

Review: Tel Aviv airport was a nightmare as you need to pass through strict security in order to approach the check-in counters and there is no fast track facility at this point for business class passengers. The staff were very nice and I got checked in very quickly. The lounge is a shared one and the lesser said the better as it was just an awful dump. The flight was not one of the ones that I would ever like to repeat again. The crew were grumpy and definitely unhappy in doing their job. The seat is supposed to be a flatbed but it literally squeezes your legs in a cubby hole space and you are trapped. The hot meal of mushroom risotto was a joke compared to the description on the menu and you need to search for the mushrooms. Toilets are appalling and you can barely squeeze yourself inside. An experience that I really would never like to repeat again with this awful airline.

Route: Tel Aviv to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wingo

Title: "The service is terrible"

Review: Aruba to Bogotá. 1 hour before boarding I was informed that the images I had of the yellow fever vaccination card were not enough for the Aruba authorities, who would require me the physical document. I asked them to allow me to go through migration again, since I could only do so in the company of an airline person and they told me that they would accompany me when the flight had closed. If I had counted on your collaboration I would have been able to request a copy of the card and have been able to address it in a timely manner. It makes no sense to use a low-cost airline to miss the flight. The service is terrible. 1 hora antes de abordar me informaron que las imágenes que tenía del carné de vacunación contra la fiebre amarilla no era suficientes para las autoridades de Aruba, quienes me exigirían el documento físico. Les pedí que me permitieran pasar de nuevo por migración, ya que únicamente podía hacerlo en compañía de una persona de la aerolínea y me dijeron que me acompañarían cuando el vuelo hubiera cerrado. Si hubiera contado con su colaboración hubiera podido solicitar una copia del carné y haber podido abordar en el tiempo justo. No tiene sentido usar una aerolínea de bajo costo para perder el vuelo. El servicio es terrible.

Route: Aruba to Bogotá

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "food trays etc, in the emergency exit"

Review: Had an aisle seat by emergency exit, after meal was served passengers piled up the rubbish ie food trays etc, in the emergency exit. It sat there for hours, along with a large passenger bag. The flight attendant who walked past many many times, just ignored it. I had to complain before reluctantly anything was done. Obviously passenger safety does not include economy class.

Route: Sydney to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "Stay far away from this airline"

Review: My friend and I were planning a trip to Halifax, Nova Scotia. We both purchased our tickets in early February for our trip in June. I rec'd booking confirmation within moments. Fast forward to the night before I was to leave, I went to check in to find out my booking had been cancelled. Shocked, I tried to get ahold of the company with no success. So I purchased another ticket and could still go on my trip. At that point, I rec'd an invoice stating the payment was made, and again I thought I was good to go. But nope, when I went to check in again, again my booking had been cancelled due to a balance remaining. Checking my C/C payment had gone through. I called again, and they said that according to their computer, they have not received payment, and if it does register, it will take 3-5 days to refund. So I booked through another site for the same flight. That site did not send confirmation until 10 minutes before the flight left. So I could not make the flight. I ask Lynx to refund that as well; they are not responsible for anything of that nature. So I spent 1478.20 with Lynx and went nowhere. So I rebooked on a different airline for 660.00. and have a direct flight. To NS and return to Alberta. My friend did make the flight. It was to leave Calgary at 6:20 am with a connector in Toronto. They left Calgary at 2:00 pm, and when they landed in Toronto, they learnt that the flight to Halifax was cancelled, so they were stranded in Toronto. Again had to book another airline to get to Halifax. Stay far away from this airline.

Route: Calgary to Halifax via Edmonton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "cabin service extremely poor"

Review: Gatwick to Riga. Comfortable plane and excellent take off and landing. But, cabin service was extremely poor - attendants simply failed to offer any food or beverage. Could not understand announcements in English. And airbaltic is the first airline Ive ever known not to offer free water to customers. Absolutely shocking.

Route: Gatwick to Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "Worst experience ever"

Review: Worst experience ever: 140$ for the checked bag (way too greedy). Earphones for 10$ (are you serious?)

They charge for everything water, snack. Was surprised toilet was free. No customer service - zero Lost my bag on direct flight and after 24 hours sent me email saying that it wasnt lost and I didnt pick it up upon arrival. (We were looking for the bag with 2 persons from lost and found) So they are not going to deliver the bag, you have to go to airport to pick up.

Route: Oslo to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "outstanding customer service"

Review: I would like to express my gratitude for some outstanding customer service I experienced from ground crew from Las Vegas to Vancouver. I am an 80 plus-year-old lady that was not looking forward to all of the walking and stress of going through customs when we reached Vancouver. I was blown away with the attentive ground staff that whisked me through customs and made it so enjoyable and so stress-free, thank you so much for your assistance. Happy Thanksgiving to you all.

Route: Las Vegas to Vancouver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "Seats so close together"

Review: New York JFK to Gatwick. Seats so close together, it was the worst long haul I have flown. I did not see cabin crew other than to dish out two of the worst inflight meals I have had. One was a sandwich. Not sure what the other was (I paid 3 x £25) for them. No tea/coffee served to me. Save your money and buy something from the airport before you board.

Route: New York to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "No complaints whatsoever!"

Review: Bangkok to Udon Thani. Fast check-in at Don Mueang airport in BKK, flight on time, enough space for hand luggage, friendly staff, seat ok, short flight. No complaints whatsoever!

Route: Bangkok to Udon Thani

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "do not recommend it to anyone"

Review: A number of European airlines have significantly reduced quality lately, and Finnair, alas, leads the list. Our Premium class, which we booked in advance on a long flight to Asia, was canceled without explanation and without an offer to upgrade to Business, we were transferred to Economy. Our numerous calls and letters did not help. We were told that they could not help. When boarding the flight, we saw that the Premium class seats were replaced with Business class, and the Business class was half empty, and seats were sold there at the check-in point with an additional payment of 600 euros per person! In general, we ended up in Economy. Finnair's modern Economy Class is stuffy; uncomfortable narrow seats and lack of legroom; food that you don't even want to touch (they now call it light meal); free alcohol (only wine, very average quality) only with meals; the absence of flight attendants for most of the flight - exhausted passengers are left to their own devices; poor screaming kids - Finnair doesn't even provide any baby kits for them. We will try to avoid Finnair on long flights in the future, characterize it as extremely unreliable and do not recommend it to anyone. , Finnair, , . Premium , , Business Economy. . , . , Premium Business, Business , 600 ! , Economy. Economy Finnair - ; ; , (light meal); (,) ; - ; - Finnair . Finnair , .

Route: Bangkok to Tallinn via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "nobody explained whats happening"

Review: Malta to Palermo. Our flight was suppose to leave at 5am on 9th September. We were a whole family, with 3 kids aged between 2-9 years old. At 3:30am we were at the airport, everything looked fine, the gate opened as well. At 4:30am, the flight was delayed to 6:10am. A few minutes after our flight was marked as More info at 8 at 8 it got marked more info at 9, and so on until it stopped More info at 11. In the meantime nobody explained whats happening. Excuses ranged from no staff available, to no plane available, to no coach to take us to the plane. After hours fighting and arguing, the flight got delayed to 10PM. They offered accomodation for all of us, only to spend 2 more hours just to take us there. The issues escalated as we ended up with police and RIU officers around us. Finally at 2pm we arrived at our hotel, slept and showered and at 7pm were picked up again. While waiting in our gate for our flight at 10PM, it was once more delayed to 10:40pm.

Route: Malta to Palermo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: fastjet

Title: "flight never took place"

Review: Mwanza to Dar es Salaam. The flight never took place. The staff told us to take a flight next day which was not possible for us. Still don't get our money back. Will never use fastjet again because every time we have big problems.

Route: Mwanza to Dar es Salaam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "Worst customer service ever"

Review: Worst customer service ever! After receiving an email that my return flight was cancelled, it was absolutely impossible to get in touch with Customer Service. I tried calling the numbers listed online several days in a row, however, to no avail, as I was kept on hold for over an hour each time, after which I hung up. They do not respond to emails, and take over a week to respond to messages sent via the online form on their website (which is unacceptable, considering the time-sensitive nature of rebooking flights for business trips). Would not recommend or travel with them again.

Route: Zagreb to Berlin via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Worst travel experience"

Review: Istanbul to Kuwait. I had arrived the airport 2 hours and half before the flight and though we could not make it to the plane. I was surprised when first arrived pegasus counters to discover the all flights are served together, no matter when and where the flights go. No employee to arrange the crowd, everybody was just waiting his turn. Finally we got our boarding pass and to find out 45 minutes left to fly . Even the direction signs were not clear to differentiate domestic from international passport control. Few minutes later I found myself standing in another long row. I had finished that stage and got the departure stamp on our passports to catch up the gate after 5 minutes behind schedule, but the plane and the shuttle bus were still avail. I could not get in. then I went to Pegasus office and they let me and my family go into Turkey again to stay for any upcoming flight and stay in any hotel on my charge. Worst travel experience for a family ever. Never try this low cost company.

Route: Istanbul to Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "Wonderful cabin crew"

Review: Good experience. Wonderful cabin crew, decent pre-ordered meal and okay recliner seats for a five hour trip. It seems some effort is being made to upgrade the experience. Flight left and arrived slightly early the cabin crew actually worked the cabin for the flight, not just for the meal service. You must have your own device with the United app downloaded in order to enjoy any entertainment but they made several announcements prior to leaving so we all knew.

Route: San Francisco to Kona

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ASKY Airlines

Title: "the worst airline ever"

Review: My flight got canceled without any notice and they did not care at all or even apologize. They changed my itinerary and refused to pick up my call on their so call called WhatsApp call Center. This is the worst airline ever, please do not fly with them ever! They have no respect for their clients

Route: Kinshasa to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "did not receive my luggage yet"

Review: I was booking the ticket from Kansas City to Dallas, Dallas to San Francisco, San Francisco to Hong Kong and from Hong Kong to Da Nang (24/3/2020). The airline did not say anything about only Hong Kong residents can fly. When I got to San Francisco they email me the ticket is canceled. Why didn't you tell me for the first time? Then the airline said I can get a full refund immediately, but now it is nearly 24h after that. Also, the airline didn't rebook for me for another flight or at least buy the ticket for me to get back in Kansas City and left me back overnight in the airports. Nonetheless, they keep my luggage and I did not receive my luggage yet. Now I'm like a homeless in San Francisco airport.

Route: San Francisco to Da Nang via Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "impressed with this airline"

Review: I really was impressed with this airline and the plane it was so clean and comfortable. The staff were very nice.

Route: Orlando to Providence

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "ground staff were very helpful"

Review: I traveled to China in March. When arrived I had trouble with bag claim, the ground staff were very helpful. They were working hard on covid19 safety, like help to sanitize personal items and let everyone keep social distance.

Route: Los Angeles to Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "no welcome Champagne"

Review: The check-in was a very long queue. The Air France lounge was very nice. Onboard no welcome Champagne. Aperif none. Drinks with the food were two mediocre wine bottles were ushered, one Côte du Rhone and the other was a bad Chilean wine. Our dinner was mediocre if not worse. The seats are bad, the legs are in a very narrow tunnel which makes it impossible to turn your feet/legs. We could not sleep more that 2 hours;. Then we were in transit in Delhi to catch the Vistara flight to Bombay. No Vistara lounge available and we had 4.30hrs transit time. We will never fly Vistara again in our life.

Route: Paris to Mumbai via Delhi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "left my luggage behind"

Review: Amsterdam to Taipei via Xiamen. The airline left my luggage behind in Amsterdam when I had one of the transfers, probably due to short time to change planes. The beginning was fine- they took all the details, they knew exactly where my luggage was left, so they looked very professional. I could not be at home at the time they had scheduled the courier to arrive, so I asked if the luggage can be delivered at a specific time, which was still within their working hours. They agreed to that. The courier has not arrived. They did not leave any message about that. Then, the next day when I called, they were surprised the luggage was not delivered, and they asked me to wait at home all day (9am-5pm) to receive the courier, despite I mentioned I need to go out and get something to eat. My friend who speaks Chinese called, and my luggage will not be delivered today. The staff has misinformed me and I would have waited in vain all day sitting in the flat. At one point one staff member because he did not seem to understand what I am saying just hang me up. Before the flight, I also send an inquiry, and they did not answer at all. Thus, the airline completely lacks communication. Otherwise, the flight is well-attended, 2 hot meals and one breakfast for 10.5 hour flight, and comfortable seats.

Route: Amsterdam to Taipei via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "scary and costly experience"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Shanghai. 48 hrs into our hazardous experience trying to get home, I wish I had known about China Eastern Airlines. My husband and I arrived in Kuala Lumpur on April 18th around midnight to catch a connecting flight on our way home from vacation (leaving Borneo headed for Reno, NV). Our connecting flight was to leave approx 2am. I was held up because my ticket said Jill Hansen and my passport said Jill A Hansen. No amount of common sense would apply. No matter how many countries or check points I had crossed. Nor would China Eastern change the name on my ticket per my authorization. They insisted Malaysia Airlines needed to make the change. My husband requested by phone that Malaysia Airlines make the change and they refused saying China Eastern could make the change. We were effectively trapped in the Kuala Lumpur airport. Also China Eastern said we had missed the connecting flight much earlier (anyway) as their flights close one hour prior to take off? We found that quite unusual, but the front staff supervisor insisted this was accurate. China Eastern staff also assured us all flights were booked the next day. We could not understand what was happening and grew very frightened of this company and their staff. We called another airline, Cathay Pacific and booked a flight out. It cost us $2400. We were not alone. Several other families were being trapped under the same ruse. We escaped, but a warning needs to go out to US travelers. It is very scary and costly experience. Please start communicating this. Im still not home after almost 3 days of travel, but wanted to share this story. When we asked them to provide a letter or some documentation on our missed flight and the reason we were not allowed on the plane, they directed us to an office on another floor. They assured us someone would be there to assist us. We hiked to this office only to find a dark hall and a locked door.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "was no reason to be rude"

Review: We had a wonderful holiday in Italy which was dampened by the treatment of Ryanair staff at the Fiumicino airport. Ryanair disguises their prices as low, but they purposely try to trick you and find everything wrong with your booking when you are at the airport in order for you to pay extra fees (which you are forced to pay because you are desperate to get onto the flight). I first witnessed an older couple so excited to be on holiday but rudely told by the counter staff that they did not check in on time so they have to pay 100. I was saddened by this as the couple looked so old and were taken advantage. They make it very difficult to check in online (you can only do it within a ridiculous timeframe) so once again you are forced to pay the fees. The staff at the counters before boarding also treated my sister like a criminal because her bag was a little larger then regulations. Screaming at her and embarrassing her, it was so sad. This is not how people should be treated when they are happy to go on holiday and work very hard to get time off. I implored with the staff that there was no reason to be rude. To top it off, when we arrived in Athens, our friends suitcase was broken. I would not recommend Ryanair and it would be better off going with another airline even if it costs more as you end up paying more with Ryanair after the additional fees they trick you into paying once you are at the airport.

Route: Rome to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Tahiti Nui

Title: "we must respect distancing, it is just impossible"

Review: Food: the food from a quality standpoint, from Tahiti to Paris, had nothing to do with being in Business Class. Seat comfort: having selected a six abreast configuration on an ultra long haul flight it is just a no sense choice. I was lucky enough to be seated on an aisle seat but for outboard PAX on LH & RH side, it is just a headache to get access to the aisle. This seat does not have enough personal belongings storage and feet area is just too narrow to have a great sleeping position. Lavatory: the airline decided to lock the forward lavatory exclusively to crew. It means 30 PC PAX + 30 PYC PAX are sharing only two Lav's near door 2. During these times when we must respect distancing, it is just impossible. This airlines needs to remember their revenue is coming from passengers.

Route: Papeete to Paris via Vancouver

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Their behavior is appalling"

Review: Twice in one trip they boarded us knowing there was a maintenance issue. Then deplaned and delayed us for hours. They lied about resolutions and refused to give concrete answers when asked direct questions about an updated departure. Employee behavior is unprofessional across the board. We drove from Texas to Monterrey to fly out enticed by the savings but have been robbed over a day of our vacation. We will be spending the extra money to fly a more expensive carrier direct next time. Their behavior is appalling. But its okay. We got $6 for a snack while we waited for our next flights.

Route: Cancun to Monterrey

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "three seats to myself"

Review: New York to Dubai via Kuwait. Before booking, I had read many reports about the improved Kuwait Airways and unbeatable price. I was unsure what to expect. The check-in was a breeze at JFK and the agent said it was a light flight with about 35-40% load factor. That was surprising being just a day before Eid. Boarding was easy, and the aircraft pushed back 15 min before schedule. JFK-KWI flight, the aircraft very clean and seats comfortable. Legroom was fantastic. I managed to get a window seat and had all the three seats to myself. Rather almost everyone in the aft cabin had 3 seats to themselves. Individual TV screen was very responsive with a decent collection of programming. The crew was friendly and courteous. Menus, blanket, and basic amenity pouch handed out. Food was ok but can improve in quality. Was concerned about the short 45 min connection in Kuwait, but the flight arrived about an hour early. Kuwait airport is medieval and dirty with a few coffees and duty-free shops. Security checks are not centralized but occur at each gate leading to long lines and delays. My KWI-DXB flight (B 777-300 ER) was packed and was delayed more than an hour due to long lines at gate security. The short flight was uneventful and were handed out in a takeaway Iftar meal boxes. So, an in all a rather good flight. Return leg: DXB-KWI (A320) was short and uneventful with breakfast boxes handed out. KWI-JFK via Shannon was painful with an 85% load. Long security lines at the gate in Kuwait. One of the Kuwaiti pax who I chatted with was like - this flight is always delayed. Multiple security checks and verifications. Lotta connecting passengers mostly from South Asia and some of them didnt know the flight had a stopover at Shannon. Lunch served, and amenity kits handed out. My choice of meal had run out but was nothing great. All pax deplaned at Shannon to go through multiple hellish security points and get back in about 2 hrs. It just gave time to stretch and use the toilets. Cabin crew was cheerful and courteous but I asked for blankets and was told none remain, however at the time of deplaning at JFK found an open overhead bin full of blankets. Verdict: Decent airline but Kuwait airport needs an urgent upgrade. Shannon stop over is painful. Yes, fantastic price, beating some of the major middle east airlines by 35% on this route. If you're not budget constrained choose a better airline for this route.

Route: New York to Dubai via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Azur Air Germany

Title: "seats extremely uncomfortable"

Review: Düsseldorf to Palma. Azur Air Germany operates a fleet of two worn out Boeing 767 (25+ years old, various previous operators in Asia, Africa, South America) and a single Boeing 737-900 of formerly black listed Lion Air from Indonesia. The 767 is configured very tight. Seating is all economy in a 2-4-2 configuration. Seat pitch is the tightest I've seen on any airline and feels extremely uncomfortable, even though it was just a 2 hrs flight. They used these configuration even for flights to the Caribbean - hard to imagine this on 10 hrs flight. Passengers are mostly party tourists visiting Mallorca for drinking. Which makes sense for Azur Air's very low budget target group for their flights. Service aboard was rather poor. Drinks and meals on purchase only. They didn't provide a menu because the plane is also operating in Ukraine. Therefore all magazines were in Cyrillic and they didn't have German ones aboard. That's why it was even unclear which meals and beverages they offer. No inflight entertainment and no Wifi. Cabin crew seemed pretty new in the job and unexperienced. There were no clear procedures on board and even while boarding, creating an overall unprofessional impression of Azur Air. You could tell how Azur Air staff "disliked" the clientele on board. They were also rather harsh when speaking to passengers. If you have the choice, go for any other airline.

Route: Düsseldorf to Palma

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "Overall a very nice flight"

Review: Flew them before and despite low cost, business class is a joy. I booked economy but on check in I was able to purchase an upgrade for a really small fee which included lounge access and pre-boarding. Seats are a bit cramped for someone over 1.90 meters, but with an empty middle seat, not an issue. Service was great: staff was very attentive, though not fluent in English, they cared for their passengers. A really nice warm lunch was provided with beverages. Spanish products are served and I like this pride for their county. Wifi was available for a small fee. Overall a very nice flight (2.15 h) and perfectly on time.

Route: Amsterdam to Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Georgian Airways

Title: "absolutely shocking"

Review: Gatwick to Tbilisi. Horrific experience. We booked in January for a 50th birthday - Georgian cancelled our return flight with a week's notice. No apology. Refused to rebook us on an alternative carrier despite this being in their T&Cs. Said they could not book us on Baltic Air - even though they have a code share. offered us very slightly over half the total that we had paid as a refund, giving a precise sum that we could expect - so we went ahead and paid more to book a return flight with Baltic ourselves. Georgian then paid only 577 euros out of the over 800 euros that they had said they would pay, and claimed the 800+ was a mistake. How, when 500 was only 1/3 of what we paid originally? They were also exceptionally rude on the outbound flight, refused to serve one of us a meal, no idea why. The food was truly appalling. And the flight was 2 hours late. All in all, absolutely shocking and I would not touch them with a bargepole.

Route: Gatwick to Tbilisi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "facilities and food were atrocious"

Review: Flew London Gatwick to Cancun. TUI should stick to short haul - they obviously have no experience of managing long haul. Apart from messing up our extra legroom seats, we then had to pay to 'downgrade' to get seats together. This was an 8-10 hour flight, but the facilities and food were atrocious - the cheapest, disposable, plastic earphones were totally unsuited to listening to a film - we both gave up. The quality of food served was on a par with airline food 30 year's ago - plastic chicken served going out and same on return. There are absolutely no frills whatsoever despite high prices. There is no comparison with recognised long haul carriers such as Virgin, Emirates, BA etc. This is short haul behaviour at long haul costs, with the added issue of paying to sit together (a Ryanair Scam). Dreamliner? Nightmare liner would be more apt.

Route: London Gatwick to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "They refused to forward our bags"

Review: We paid an additional $100 each (x2) for Sun Country Door-Door service which included pick-up from home to airport and assistance checking our bags through to our destination in Costa Rica. Shockingly, our bags never arrived. Sun Country admitted that our bags were not placed on the aircraft and advised that we could pick them up in Minneapolis on our return in 1 week. Imagine, no clothes, toiletries, meds, snorkel gear etc. They refused to forward our bags as they only fly to Liberia once a week. They made no effort to utilize another carrier. Strongly advise that you avoid this new, dysfunctional "Door to Door" service (provided by Landline Services) and be aware of Sun Country policy regarding your misplaced luggage.

Route: Minneapolis to Liberia, Costa Rica

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Juan

Title: "a very bad airline"

Review: Flight cancelled. Cancellation after check in. Bad weather! Sipalay hotel confirmed weather quite good. Only 4 persons on flight. All of us were thinking cancellation because of lack of enough customers. No compensation at all. We all lost 1 night in Sipalay and had to book a hotel in Cebu. Air Juan is a very bad airline.

Route: Cebu to Sipalay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "My nightmare with WOW"

Review: Berlin to Cincinnati via Keflavik. My nightmare with WOW starts the 26/10/2018 at Berlin, not only because I was traveling for almost 2 days without any support from WOW air what so ever, but also because my bags are still lost somewhere between Berlin and San Francisco. It all start in Berlin when my flight to Keflavik was delayed by almost an hour, from 12.25 pm original time to 13.45. That meant that my connecting flight was almost impossible to reach. Before boarding, I got another email stating that my SFO flight was also delayed but only by 40 min (WW161 KEF-SFO 26OCT18 original time was 15.10 delayed to 15.50) Once landed in Keflavik it was imposible to reach my flight, even when my boarding to SFO was announced I was denied to cut line in customs by WOW personal. They stated that I had time. So when I lost my flight, I went to the WOW counter and was given the solution of flying to Cincinnati even when there was a flight from another airline to SFO that same day. The flight to Cincinnati was at 21.00 the same day. Also, they didn't give me a connection from Cincinnati to SFO, they stated that they where working on it and that we where going to get help by a WOW representative once we got to Cincinnati (other people where in the same position). This never happened, no WOW representative was there once we got of the plane, simply because WOW cease to exist in Cincinnati a few days ago. So, I never got a confirmation of a suppose connecting flight to SFO (some people did and others like me didn't. Their connection was from Cincinnati to Newark to SFO adding a 10 hour plus journey also there was a DELTA flight directly to SFO but was denied by WOW costumer service - I talked to WOW support to try to fix the situation but it was helpless, they even gave me a wrong booking number for my supposed connection, it was named to another person. Luckily I was helped by the United counter, an after an hour of back and forth, they could figure out what WOW messed up. Of course that I had lost my chance to get into the 6 am flight to Newark, so I had to wait for the Cincinnati- Denver 9.25 am flight, and then catch the Denver- SFO at 11.55 am local time (both of this flights where on United) And also, another layer to this nightmare, is that my bags are still lost. They never arrived to Cincinnati in the first place. So to summarize, I was traveling for almost 40 hours, with my bags still lost, and of course the total abandonment of WOW (no food vouchers, no personal, no nothing)

Route: Berlin to Cincinnati via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "I was too late to check in"

Review: Sydney to Brisbane. Tried to online check in before hand but the system wasn't working, got there 50mins before flight, then got to the kiosk at the airport where that equipment wasn't working, then had to line up as nothing was working, then told at the counter that I was too late to check in. 5-10 people were turned away for the same reason.

Route: Sydney to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Never flying with Tigerair again"

Review: I was informed that the return Flight will be delayed by 3.5 hours, and there was no way to change it as it falls within the 4 hour period that they deem acceptable. I was basically forced to accept the delay or waste my ticket. While boarding the staff made me weigh my laptop bag, which came as a shock since laptop bags and ladies purses are never counted under cabin baggage limits. My hand bag was 7kg which was the limit but they forced me to get an upgrade for $46 to carry my laptop bag on board, which weighed 1.5kg. Never flying with Tigerair again.

Route: Melbourne to Cairns

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Buta Airways

Title: "definitely the best Low Cost Carrier"

Review: Baku to Kiev with Buta Airways. I have to say after travelling for 10 years this was definitely the best Low Cost Carrier I have ever flown with. On time and sharp. Plus you get free water and a free sandwich. But saying that, for a 500ml beer is 1.5 and a pizza 2. Incredible value you money. I had flown them for a 55min flight, so was interested to see what a 3.5hour flight would be like. But it was absolutely perfect.

Route: Baku to Kiev

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "a horrendous experience"

Review: I recently flew from Ahemdabad, Gujarat, India to Tbilisi, Georgia by Air Arabia and the experience was so horrible. The ground staff was so rude. I had 30 kg allowance. And, 10 kg cabin bag. I had 9 kg in my cabin bag, and laptop in hand bag. I was trying to add extra baggage from 3 days prior to my flight. There was no option where I could add extra baggage. I called up the call centre, and even the lady was so rude. She told me the flight is booked. I asked her if what If I'm told at the check in to lay for my extra baggage? To which she replied, I don't know. So, this clearly means the flight was not booked and the customer service so nicely lied. This is not the first time it happened. I was travelling from Tbilisi to Ahemdabad in June'2022; and I was faced with the same issue. I wanted to add extra baggage. And there was no option to add. And when I called up the call centre, they said the flight is booked. This is not the way to treat the customers. This is such a bad service! I was holding my medical book in my hand. I told them I have to study in the flight. They did not let me carry the book. They made me weigh my laptop bag and my cabin bag. They asked me to pay for my laptop bag. The airport price for per kg is 1300 inr, which is comparatively eay too expensive than online prices. They clearly only wanted to loot us customers. When I told the check-in authorities about it, they clearly blamed me that I'm lying. I showed them my student residency card, telling them that I'm a student and I need my book. They didn't listen to anything. No airline checks the laptop bag. Yet, they do this to us everytime. I tried explaining them so much, no one was ready to listen. It was a horrendous experience. I would not suggest anyone to travel from this airline. And, especially if you are travelling from Ahemdabad, Gujarat I'd suggest you not to take this airline. The staff is obnoxious and ill-mannered!

Route: Ahmedabad to Tbilisi via Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "The walker never arrived to Verona"

Review: My mother has reduced mobility and has to use a walker. At the check-in in Barcelona the staff told us that we have to check it. The walker never arrived to Verona. Ok, it can happen. What can not happen is that, the Volotea staff told my mother that, once the walker will arrive to Verona, she has to go and take it (she lives 100km far from the airport) because they don't send anything. (I live in Spain by the way, so I don't know how she would be able to go and take it.)

Should I add anything else?

Route: Barcelona to Verona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "moved me further up the plane"

Review: Shanghai to London via Moscow. The crew were about to bring out drinks when the turbulence stopped and were standing around for over an hour. I got up to speak to someone she advised that everything was ok there was just a lot of condensation from the air conditioning. I took my seat again and the captain told cabin crew to get in their seats due to turbulence. I found the lack of information from the captain ridiculous. Barely any announcements during the flight. Whereas some airlines even advise of the weather etc. I was sat between people who brought their own food and spat their food into their cups etc. When asked to move they werent 100% that I could as there was an entire row free near to the emergency exit however these were for premium members. They dealt with the matter quite well in that in an hour they moved me further up the plane as luckily one of the premium members had agreed to switch to the empty row for me

Route: Shanghai to London via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "bordering on criminal if not unethical"

Review: I had the misfortune of booking a flight on Emirates for my daughter to fly as an unaccompanied minor. All flights were expensive so I used an app to find some cheaper flights and booked on line. I must mention that I checked with their terms and conditions to make sure I could call and change the flight to an unaccompanied minor. Firstly I never received the itinerary so I called Emirates to get this sent. Secondly I could barely understand the operator as he mumbled and had a strong accent. Once I had the itinerary I then told them I needed the unaccompanied minor added.

Because I had booked flights operated by Emirates but run by Qantas, I needed to call Qantas to make the change. So I called Qantas, they had no record of the flights, then told me I need to change through the airline I booked. I called Emirates again and explained, they then said I assure you it needs to be done by Qantas. I went back and forth from airline to airline multiple times until Emirates then said there is no way I can change to unaccompanied minor and Qantas would not change it either, I finally had enough and asked to speak to someone who knew what they were doing. I spoke to a supervisor who was not rude or anything but stated I'd need to cancel the flight, take the hit and rebook via phone. I don't think so, referring to their website that says booking electronically then adding a service is perfectly acceptable. So now I have return tickets in my daughters name that we can't use. This is bordering on criminal if not unethical, Airlines are supposed to be helpful not members of the Wit family

Route: Brisbane to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "staff were super friendly"

Review: Singapore to Ipoh with Tigerair. It was a short flight of about an hour and a half. The flight took off with a 5 minutes delay but arrived Ipoh before the scheduled time. The captain was fantastic as he greeted us warmly when we alighted the plane. The staff were super friendly. The price I feel is a bit high because Firefly offer a cheaper price and I might choose Tigerair if Firefly is not available. The seat was not comfortable for long journeys - it feels like you are sitting on metal. The inflight entertainment was so so but overall a good flight to Ipoh.

Route: SIN to IPH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "dysfunctional pre-paid bag drop"

Review: San Francisco to Kahului. Long lines (should arrive 3 hours early), dysfunctional pre-paid bag drop (stood in line for over 30 min). Customer service by phone in regards to flight change was poor. Flight attendants were rude on a previous flight from SFO to LAS. Only good thing is the inflight movies for free.

Route: San Francisco to Kahului

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "refusing to refund flights"

Review: They are refusing to refund flights cancelled because of COVID 19 from 15 March onwards. They are giving us false options to choose between full refund and travel fund in their official site, but actually you are forced to accept travel fund which 90% of people won't be able to use anyway. What's even worse, their customer care is not even replying on multiple emails and complaints for weeks. They really deserve the lowest possible score. Tourists should boycott this airlines 100% for all their lies and I definitely won't use it again.

Route: Manila to Puerto Princesa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "extremely unreliable and very rude and clueless staff"

Review: Worst airline ever, extremely unreliable and very rude and clueless staff, treating people with no respect. We had a delay for 18 hours for a reason they wouldn't tell us and couldn't care less for the passengers - the worst!

Route: Paphos to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "friendly, kind, helpful"

Review: Palembang to Jakarta. The cabin staff were friendly, kind, helpful, and respectful. Their smile was warm like they did their job from their heart even though it was a full plane.

Route: Palembang to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "very pleasant crew"

Review: Almaty to Bishkek. Have flown this route number of times in past year sometimes via TSE, the older version of Embraer used which in my view is more comfortable than the new model in their fleet. All Sectors on schedule, very pleasant crew.

Route: Almaty to Bishkek

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "worst staff attitude"

Review: The worst staff attitude ever. I was on my way from US to Montreal via Toronto and forgot my portable charger in the NY to Toronto flight with 2 credit cards on the backside of it. As soon as I was at security check for my connecting flight to Montreal, I realised it and informed the porter desk in the lounge. They called the aircraft staff and got to know that they found the stuff. Since I had a flight in next 15 minutes, they told me to jump on the flight and that they would send my stuff in the next flight which was just after 30 mins of this flight. They asked me to speak with the portal staff in Montreal. I contacted their staff at the Montreal airport and they said we did not get any message about any such stuff left. I said pls check my file and that they would put the note on my file as they assured me at the Toronto airport. The lady did not even bother to check this and asked me to wait for 30 mins till the next flight arrives. I waited for almost 40 mins and then asked the lady again so she said she is going to check on the flight which just arrived. She comes after another 10 mins and does not even bother to inform me as to whether she found it or not. I go to her again and she carelessly says that they haven't sent anything in this flight. I told her that I have my 2 credit cards in it and no cash left. She suggested me to contact the manager in the departure area. When I went there, the manager contacted the staff at Toronto airport and he was continually asking me to whom I got in touch with at the Toronto airport. I said I did not ask the name. He said that he is not able to know whom I contacted and that they don't know whether they found my stuff? I said that I am sure that they had found it and they were going to send that in the next flight. Finally, they just gave me a receipt of lost stuff and asked me to wait for a call.

Route: Newark to Toronto via Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "wrong and very intimidating"

Review: Apparently, I was flagged for an extra security check when I checked in for my flight at the Barcelona airport. They didn't do the security check there, however, they waited until later after my initial flight on Lufthansa from Barcelona to Frankfurt, and a 2-3 hour hot and humid race and wait to get through customs and boarding lines. They waited until I was boarding for my long haul flight on Condor (Frankfurt to Seattle) to take me away from my gate, leaving my husband waiting, and search my belongings. To give them credit, they didn't lay their hands on me, but did search my backpack and carryon. I understand the need for extra security checks and have been so far lucky to avoid them on any of my flights, but to wait until before boarding to do it in a foreign airport with very police everywhere and to be taken away from my gate and travel partner was just wrong and very intimidating! Then after I was the last to board the airline, Condor had the audacity to blame their delay in departure on a passenger (myself) but still didnt depart for another 30 minutes! I had always heard good things about Lufthansa which is why I booked with them and Condor, but never again.

Route: Barcelona to Seattle via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "happy their service"

Review: Frankfurt to Berlin, our first flight was cancelled but they arranged me other flight. Next day I use Air Berlin also this time their service was on time and good service and cabin crew - they are very friendly and helpful. I was very happy their service.

Route: Frankfurt to Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "all the bells and whistles"

Review: Flew business class between Kunming and Shangri-La. Excellent 55 minute flight. I had lounge access in KMG and was the sole passenger on the KMG-DIG flight. Coffee (Nescafe gold?) was quite good for inflight coffee. The flight attendant kept me up to date with arrival times and pointing out interesting scenery along the way. The plane itself was a brand-new B737 with all of the bells and whistles. I was surprised to find it on an intra-provincial leisure route. J seating is generous 2-2.

Route: Kunming to Shangri-La

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "check-in experience was good"

Review: Taipei to Hong Kong with Cathay Pacific. The check-in experience was good. Although the terminal space of Taipei airport is very limited, there were many counters for this airline so there was no long queue for check-in. The departure gate was close to the immigration/security check point so no long walk at air side. However, the ground staff at Hong Kong airport were not as friendly as those at departure.

Route: Taipei to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "excellent flight"

Review: London Heathrow to Malta. Excellent flight. My only comment is that boarding was chaotic. Boarding should be according to seat numbers with rear seats to be occupied first. Passengers should be asked to be seated until there numbers are called. Also elderly and children should board first. Otherwise one of the best flights I have had.

Route: London Heathrow to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "I must pay for my hand bag"

Review: From Dublin the flight was very good, the crew since the check-in was kind and friendly. I could not make my check-in on line, and they were very helpful. However, in Keflavik the staff checking passports asked in very rude way that I must pay for my hand bag. I was very surprised because no one in Dublin asked me for it. How after one flight I should pay for that. Never happened to me even in Ryanair. It was shame, he was very rude. (22nd Dec Dublin - Iceland - New York)

Route: Dublin to New York via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "Delta mistreats its customers"

Review: Months ago I bought these tickets, a single reservation paid with a single credit card. To our surprise, at the time of pre-check in the day before the flight, my husband appears assigned to row 30 of the plane while I appeared in row 18, I think. We decided to arrive at the Boston airport early to try to get seats together and there they tell us that we should try to do it at the boarding desk, we were waiting there until a Delta employee showed up there and with a very bad attitude told us that we had to wait until 3 PM without guarantee to talk about this and he got to talk on the phone for an hour and a half. After 3 PM, he simply left and left me and 4 other people waiting in line because their boarding passes did NOT have assigned seats. We waited and waited and when we saw that the screen said that the boarding process would start in 20 minutes and there was no one there, I went to the desk of the next flight to tell the lady from Delta that there was no one to attend us and the screen It said that the boarding began in 20 minutes. She called on the phone and finally another employee came running and told me that if my husband and I were on the same reservation, she would try to seat us together and she kept both boarging passes. The passengers began to board and I had to remind him that I did not know which group I belonged to because I had 2 assigned seats in very distant rows and it was there that he verbally told me that we would be together in Main Cabin 1. When they called that group, we still did not know what were our seats but in the middle of the row the employee finally printed the tickets that I show in this review. In the middle of the flight, when I went to the bathroom, I saw that all the people who were in line with me waiting to see which seat they were going to be assigned, were sitting in the last rows. The truth is that I do not understand why Delta mistreats its customers like this. I think that everyone, even those of us who pay for cheap tickets, deserve a minimum of respect and consideration.

Route: Boston to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "internet was not available"

Review: Beijing to Seattle. English speaking skills very poor. Boarding with too much checking, keeping people in a long line outside the plane (before going up the stairs, taken to the plane by bus) and then checking again when entering the plane. Though I could hear the movies loud enough on a low volume, crew messages were very quiet and could not be heard properly. They could not understand the order, had to show on the menu. Asked for tomato juice 2 times and the guy gave me orange first and then tomato juice. My seat was coming back up straight by itself after reclining; couldn't be fixed and the plane was full. Automatic Chinese subtitles for the movies. The wifi / internet was not available during flight. After landing early we stayed on taxiway for more than 10 minutes with no info on why were not going to the gate. The leg room was not amazing. The amenity kit was quite nice (socks, toothbrush and toothpaste, eyeshades, earplugs and earphones). Food was good and plenty, beverage options were nice and of good quality.

Route: Beijing to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "flight was one of the nicest"

Review: Vienna to Bangkok. We were travelling with my Mom (she's in need of a wheelchair) - Check-in in Vienna was done within 5 minutes, the agent reseated us to the first economy class row which means a lot more room and comfort (especially for an elderly person). Cabin crew was very nice, attentive and supportive right from the beginning. The flight itself was easy going, I was amazed by the amount of cabin crew members because you do not find that onboard of western airlines anymore. Food was above economy standard, the only downside was the entertainment system. It was sufficient but nevertheless limited. Wheelchair service at Bangkok airport was very well organized, the cabin crew informed us right before landing about the available ground staff services. Everything said applied also for the return flight, this time the transfer agent at Bangkok airport changed our seats and so we had again the pleasure of bulkhead seats. This flight was one of the nicest we ever experienced in economy class. Thanks EVA and well done!!

Route: Vienna to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: Cebu Pacific customer review

Review: Cebu Pacifics mismanagement cost me 21.5 hours and approximately 200$. I had taken a return ticket from Bali to Dubai via Manila. (Pointers to keep in mind if youre booking) - Initially the flights were such, Bali- Philippines (2.5 hours halt) - UAE. They cancelled that and gave us a halt at Philippines for 18 hours. - Initially when we asked at our check in counter in Bali about this they said, sorry we cannot do anything as Cebu pacific doesnt have any office or personal there. - There was no easy way to get in touch with them that, we even tried the Facebook messenger which was completely managed by the bot and not helpful at all. - Once we arrived at the Philippines airport, the staff of Cebu pacific had made us wait at the transfer desk for almost 1.5 hours and then they just left to hide from the other passengers in distress. - As per the immigration rules many passengers couldnt exit and were stuck in the airport for 18 hours. - They tried offering us compensation after repeated complaining from our end, After making us wait for 2 hours additional We could see it was a ruse as they offered us 3 hotels. Out of which two of them were 2 star hotel and one of them was a 2.5 star and extremely far from the airport. Crisis management was extremely weak, we were given statements such as you took the flight from Bali to Philippines , that means you accepted our conditions , You can take your own hotel , You can post whatever you like etc. in short, they did not care about the passengers concerns, wellbeing or comfort they just wanted to do escape from the situation.

Route: Bali to Dubai via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "the most unprofessional group of employees"

Review: After the last time I flew Virgin, I promised myself I wouldn't do it again but my travel companion convinced me otherwise so I gave Virgin another chance. Unfortunately, my trip back home was more unsatisfactory. Upon purchasing a small meal pack (I'm guessing the options were limited since it was only a 1.25 hour flight) and a cocktail, we were the last ones served (last seats on the plane). I feel as though delivering purchased products would be more of a priority. Perhaps assigning one person to deliver products while the other offers complimentary drinks would be more effective for customer service and efficiency. Maybe operationally that doesn't work for them because of cost but it compromises service. After receiving our order, the steward forgot an item and when I said excuse me and tried to tell her, she turned and said "you have to wait". I completely understand that but the way she said it was in a tone and look that I could only receive as annoyance. It was as if I was a nuisance to her. After reaching the back of the plane, I could hear loudly the other steward complaining and bad mouthing about a gentleman who wanted 2 diet cokes. I understand people talk shop but wow, in ear shot of other guests? We only received our purchases after the plane started to descend and before we knew it, we were forced to give up our purchased wine and cocktail. When my companion said "I didn't even get to finish. I'm going to get a refund." The steward retort with a "you do that". All I could think, and pardon the language, was "what the heck?". I have worked in customer service for over a decade, and this is by far the most unprofessional group of employees I have ever encountered. They were rude, unpleasant and just seemed so unhappy. Perhaps they are not suited for this kind of work but the airline needs to acknowledge that.

Route: San Fransisco to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "Worst customer service experience"

Review: Worst customer service experience I ever had. I tried for several days to change my flight (I booked a flexible ticket) which was impossible. I couldn't do it online so I called several numbers and all of them didn't know how to help me or gave me other numbers that didn't work at all. I spend lots of money and time on the international calls and no one could help me. The after sales service told me to use the Whatsapp number, the WhatsApp number told me to call the After Sales Service. I will now cancel my flight and never ever use this airline again.

Route: Cairo to Seoul via Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "My flight was cancelled without any reason given"

Review: I was returning home from a trip to St. Croix. Delta partnered with Silver for this leg of my trip. My flight was cancelled without any reason given. This cancelation caused me to miss my connecting flight. I was told there was reservations made for me at the Marriott Courtyard in San Juan as I was going to have to spend the night. Long story short. They issued me hotel, taxi and meal vouchers. None of them were accepted with the exception of the taxi drivers and they probably won't get their money either. I had to pay for my hotel as well as my food. I sent an email to their customer relations department but from reading their so-called "customer care plan" I won't hear from them in another 60 days. From reading the complaints on this site, I think we should all ban together and file a class action for our troubles.

Route: Saint Croix to San Juan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "they outright canceled my flight"

Review: They are canceling flights more than most other airlines right now. They rescheduled mine, from a non stop to a 1 stop, with a lay over so short we wouldn't have been able to make the connection even if they were run perfectly on time (which they never are). So we ended up canceling that flight all together. Gave them another shot, and they outright canceled my flight less than 12 hours before take off, at 9pm. Thankfully I was still up, otherwise I would've been screwed in the morning. Now I have to pay double for a last second flight. I'm done with them. Save yourself the hassle and never book with them.

Route: Spokane to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "I will fly Avelo again"

Review: Return leg of my last review. The mentality stays the same. You're getting what you pay for and nothing less. This leg was considerably less eventful than my last trip. I did not check a bag or have a carry on as they are quite pricey. Tweed was a small airport and I was in and through TSA in about 10 minutes. There was no jet bridge at Tweed for this flight and we entered via airstairs. I have absolutely no issue with this but be advised. Plane boarded and departed on time. This was a former SWA 737 and had a better, more comfortable interior than my last flight. It wasn't particularly clean but no worse than my last AA or Spirit flight. Cabin crew greeting us when entering the plane but outside of that were nowhere really to be found. They did offer a small bottle of water on this leg about halfway through. If you're looking for an economical, no frills carrier this is a fairly good one. For the price I can return to where I used to live to visit family monthly if I wish. I will fly Avelo again.

Route: New Haven to Wilmington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "absolutely worthless"

Review: If you're looking to get to your destination on time, JetBlue is absolutely worthless! They are apparently now among the list of worst airlines for cancellations and delays. Not only was our initial flight from SLC to FLL (and then to PUJ) delayed 4 times, it was finally cancelled, for something not only under their control, but something they would have known about for hours and didn't let the passengers know until about 3 in the morning (their phone support even attempted to say it was due to weather, but there were no weather issues in SLC or JFK where the flight crew was coming from, and we even verified that with the airline). Which means we missed our connecting flight. Then they rebooked us taking a completely different route to our final destination (JFK instead of FLL), which was then delayed and delayed and delayed, making the connecting flight a problem once again. We spend HOURS and HOURS on support with them, trying to get everything situated. We missed out on about $1000 in resort time that we had paid for, not including our time, gas, and other things we had to pay for. And JetBlue's response? Too bad, so sad. They took zero responsibility, and very rudely said they wouldn't do anything for us, even after being very calm with them. Pathetic airline. Will never use them again, and will be cancelling our JetBlue card. Not worth the extra legroom if you can't get to where you need to be on time.

Route: Salt Lake City to Punta Cana via New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "an impressive airline"

Review: Just completed a flight from LA to Incheon and it was excellent. Korean Air's strong points are its catering, leg room in economy and in flight service. The bibimbabap I had was super good and you get to enjoy it on nice Korean Air silverware. There's also Shin ramen for those who would like to enjoy a mid flight snack. I also have to give a shout out to the hardworking cabin crew that were vigilant about anticipating pax needs and for defining great hospitality. This other point may not be all that relevant for most, but I found their inflight magazine to be top notch! Not riddled with useless advertisements and boring content, but with excellent editorial pictures of destinations and useful travel tips. Conversely, this is really minor, but compared to major global carriers, the lack of entertainment choices and Wi-Fi is the airlines weak point. Still got to watch a few good flicks though. Overall, an impressive airline where the 13 hours just flew by!

Route: Los Angeles to Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "food was a very small portion"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Perth with AirAsia X. Midnight departure and the boarding gate was crowded and cramped, managed by a solitary attendant. The PA system was scratchy and he could hardly be understood. Boarding was not organised. On board, attendants were efficient but not overtly friendly. They were a bit slow in giving out blankets but once done, the lights were switched off and the whole cabin was horizontal. Announcements on the plane were awful, especially the safety announcement. The flight attendant spoke fast and her words were not clear. There was only one attendant displaying the safety procedures in the business cabin and I could hardly see him from the other side of the aircraft where I was seated. They seemed rushed in everything that they did, or were they trying to be efficient? The food was a very small portion of coconut rice and spicy sambal (nasi lemak) which was gone in five spoonfuls. Not worth the money for that tiny meal. The rest of the flight was uneventful.

Route: KUL to PER

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "300 USD for cancelling"

Review: My family and I had a flight from Cebu to Dallas via Seoul on March 4, 2020 but due to the Corona Virus, we had to cancel. The customer service rep said they were going to charge us 300 USD for cancelling. I need more clarification about the refund process but I can't seem to connect to their US hotline. Sad. I love Korean Air. I always have a good experience with them but this really disappoints me.

Route: Cebu to Dallas via Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "Will never fly this airline again"

Review: Paid for 1 piece of luggage. Never arrived. Filled out A lost form, No contact to me about lost luggage status for 4 days. The airline has no phone number. Can they track luggage? Will never fly this airline again.

Route: Westchester to New Orleans

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Namibia

Title: "customer service is non-existent"

Review: Paris to Windhoek via Frankfurt. We have flown Air Namibia a few times. Their inflight service and on-time arrivals were quite good. The way they handled connecting flights for us however was incompetent and the general customer service which was needed as a result, was incredibly poor. We booked our 13 year old son to Paris on Air Namibia. While the connection via Frankfurt (connection flight on Lufthansa) was o.k. on the way back Air Namibia booked him on an Air France flight from Paris to Frankfurt, with onward connection to Windhoek on Air Namibia. In Paris he was denied boarding on the grounds that Air France unlike Lufthansa - has a minimum age requirement for alone travelling juniors of 14 years. (Lufthansa's minimum age is 12). Air France check-in staff said that he should have never been booked that way by Air Namibia as the age of the traveler is obviously known when the booking is made. When he was denied boarding we rushed to the Windhoek Airport asking Air Namibia staff for help and to re-book our son on LH connecting flight for the next day. We were surprised that while admitting their mistake they charged us for the re-booking (LH instead of AF) and said we should contact Customer Service for a refund. Apart from a holding reply after 2 days we have not heard back from them in more than 3 months. Reminders were ignored. Not only a very incompetent booking system but also a customer service which is non-existent. Sad for an airline which otherwise tries hard to compete. We might fly them again for any easy non-stop flights, but certainly not for any trip that requires a connecting flight.

Route: Paris to Windhoek via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: Worst airline ever. The website doesnt work properly, manage booking or check in or change bag allowance. Planes are never on time. Theyre too cheap to pay for the airbridge, so you have to board via bus. When I arrived at my destination all of my clothes inside suitcase are soaking wet. So they mustve left my luggage in a huge puddle for quite a long time in order for that to happen. Baggage takes forever to come out. The food is terrible. And there are no monitors in the back of the seats for entertainment. Its not worth saving the money to fly on this airline.

Route: Brisbane to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "waste of money traveling"

Review: As a 1st time customer I was very disappointed with the poor service I received at the Orlando Airport. The agents are very unprofessional, very rude and don't take the time to properly outline important information. On arrival to the airport I was left to find my way around the airport, the staff told me they can't move to help me to check in, the machines were not scanning the information. On checking in I was not aware that flying Frontier the weight limit was 40lbs. I was of the belief that all airlines was under 50 pounds. I was not allowed to reorganize my bags I was demanded to pay over 600us for 4 bags. If I was told on entering the counter that the weight is 40lbs I would have restructured my bags, the staff was rude pay now, give me your credit card, bullying me without giving me the information forehand that the limit was 40lbs. I will not recommend anyone to fly Frontier and the flight over 20 seats was empty. I would prefer signs posted in the airport to share information with customers. The plane did not even offer water and I was traveling with 3 small children. No form of entertainment for passengers flying nothing. A waste of money traveling and being treated like dirt.

Route: Orlando to Montego Bay

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "I was so grateful"

Review: I left my iPhone in the check in kiosk. My husband and I were being helped by Tan who retagged our bags and was so helpful. Once I was through security I realized Id left my phone on the checkin kiosk. I made my way back to Tiger checkin but no phone. Staff was extremely sympathetic and helpful. I then visited airport security also helpful. They sent me to the TigerAir main desk. Two women there contacted Tan personally and he had found my phone and told them exactly where hed secured it. Back to Tiger Air checkin and they had my iPhone. I was so grateful I cried. To a person everyone at Tiger Air was concerned and helpful! Thank you from a forgetful American.

Route: Mebourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "how miserable flight attendants were"

Review: Flew from Sofia to LHR with Bulgaria Air. This route is served by Easyjet, Wizz, British Airways and Bulgaria Air. Having tried the rest this company is by far the worst of the lot. Check in attendants were pleasant and efficient. The gate however was from 6 which means that you wait downstairs for boarding where there is no wifi. We were bussed out to a rather dated and tatty A320. The seats and interior desperate for a refit. No briefings were given on use of emergency exit doors. There was no cross checking of doors being properly locked. and no greeting on arrival. We taxied out behind British Airways that departs at the same time. The announcements were not audible due to poor pa system and very poor English. Once airborne the Flight attendants proceeded with the food service. One roll which was out of date, and could have been used as a tennis ball. And one piece of chocolate. The food was literally chucked at you. I was offered wine which was terrible. No entertainment at all. The main thing that stuck with me however was how miserable the flight attendants were, they were not only rude, but just didn't smile the entire time. When I compare this airline with British Airways, who operate on the same route and serve a proper meal, with decent wine, and nice friendly flight attendants. Even Wizz and Easyjet are better than this miserable bunch.

Route: SOF to LHR

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Emirates

Title: "appreciate the service given"

Review: This review is to appreciate the service given by Emirates flying cabin crew Ms Maria during my flight EK648 on 24-06-2023 from DXB to CMB. Her service was exceeding expectation and was supportive at every occasion.

Route: Dubai to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "The food was excellent"

Review: Amsterdam to Seoul in business class. The seats are ok and good enough for a 2-2-2 configuration. The food was excellent, especially the Korean food that was served very authentically. English speaking of the cabin crew was not sufficient for an international flight. This should be improved to let the customer better communicate with the crew. Nevertheless cabin crew compensate that by high attention and very short response time. Infotainment was bad, choice of movies was very limited from the point of view of an European.

Route: Amsterdam to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aigle Azur

Title: "simply not worth it"

Review: Just don't travel with this company. It's simply not worth it. It's not a trustful company. It was my first try with it, but they have already disappointed me. They cancelled my return flight Paris to Sao Paulo with a message saying only: "your flight is cancelled. If you need to contact us, go to our webpage or call us on xxxx number (0,06 euros per minute)". I tried to call immediately, and I didn't get any answer. I tried many times. Then I requested a refund through the online form and I'm waiting to see how much time they will take and how much they will actually refund once their policy says they do not refund services fees, which they put up the double price of the actual flight. My guess is that they do that very often to oblige costumers to fly with them when they want, or when they have enough passengers. They cancel your dates and then you will have to rebook your flight to another date which they will impose to you and which may be the one there are enough passengers. I won't do that though. I will get my refund, whatever they refund and never deal with them anymore.

Route: Paris to Sao Paulo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "the most horrible experience"

Review: We were scheduled to fly on Monday 24th July at 8:30pm, on getting to the airport, I realised the flight had been changed to 11:15pm without any prior notice from TAAG. We did not start boarding until 1:00am Tuesday 25th July. After being in the plane for over an hour, we were asked to come down without any proper explanations. It was like they took us on the plane that wasn't working just to stop the passengers from getting more agitated. The plane was full of mosquitos and very hot while we were seated. We came out of the plane and waited until around 3:30 am before we were taken to an hotel. I was traveling with my 2 kids aged 14 & 11 and I can tell you the experience was nothing short of trauma. Imagine being at the airport for over 9 hours? Airline did not even offer water to the children nor any any empathy from the staff on ground. This is the most horrible experience I and my children have had traveling.

Route: Luanda to Lagos

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "a fair to poor experience"

Review: Traveled in business on three Aeromexico flights on this trip AMS-MEX-GRU-MEX. Overall a fair to poor experience. The biggest positive is the seat is quite comfortable, and that's important. The negatives include an absolute horror show at Mexico City Airport T2 (and an even worse transit to T1). Nothing is particularly easy or smooth and Aeromexico does little to nothing to help ease transiting passengers through the madness. The lounges are third rate and overcrowded. As a result ended up finding a few cafes in the terminal which were far superior than the lounges. The really surprising negative were the Aeromexico business class cabin crews. While efficient in serving meals and performing basic tasks, not one crew had warm, friendly people that either welcomed you or smiled. They come across as some combination of angry and arrogant. It's surprising to me because it's not reflective of Mexico itself, which has some of the warmest, kindest people on earth. Not sure where they find these crews or how they train them but they don't do a particularly good job.

Route: Sao Paulo to Mexico City

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "a flash back to the 80's"

Review: Johannesburg to Mauritius. Flying South African in coach is a flash back to the 80's. Food (appetiser and main hot meal) was good compared to other airlines on a 4 hour trip. The service was very nice, and the bar well stocked. The seat had a lot of legroom (at least 33") for a person as tall as me (6'2"). The only downside was the entertainment, small scratched screens.

Route: Johannesburg to Mauritius

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Armenia Air Company

Title: "worst and non-reliable airline"

Review: This is by far the worst and non-reliable airline I've ever used. They departed 3 hours before the departing time shown on the ticket without notice. When I asked for the refund, they are keep saying we will pass this email to specialist but didn't hear from specialist for almost one months. Of course they did not refund the ticket. Do not use this airline if you want to ruin your holiday. Also, whatever they say, you won't get the money back since they will never reply your email.

Route: Yerevan to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "they only had one choice of meal"

Review: Due to code sharing with Cathay Pacific I was downgraded to BA on my return leg. I cant describe how cheated I felt. I booked and paid for an airline with great entertainment, food and service, instead, I was forced to go hungry because they only had one choice of meal and it was inedible. To ensure the passengers didnt get any funny ideas and assume that as the vegetarian option was unavailable they might be given a cracker or a small packet of nuts. The cabin crew announced in their uniquely aggressive and dismissive way You wont get anything else for 12 hours you know! the entertainment is compiled mainly of B movies so I paid £11 for Wi-Fi so I could watch Netflix on my laptop. Unsurprisingly, the signal was so weak I couldnt even send an email. To add insult to injury, the earbuds provided the cheapest and lowest quality I have ever seen. Since the last time I used this airline the crew are less rude and obnoxious and are now just impatient and unhelpful. What I dont understand is why it seems that British Airways look for these characteristics as desirable attributes for their crew.

Route: Hong Kong to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "smallest space between seats"

Review: Paris to Madrid. This airline has the smallest space between seats, I can't even open a notebook to work during the flight. I avoid this airline just because of that - their competitors (low-budgets) have more space. So if you fly for business and you hope to work during the flight, then choose any other airline.

Route: Paris to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "worst airline I have ever flown with"

Review: This was the worst airline I have ever flown with. We went from Auckland to London via Shanghai and returned the same route. On two out of the four flight out onboard entertainment did not work, so we had no entertainment whatsoever. The airline staff did not seem to care and said theres nothing they can do. They also ran out of meals as we were in the back of the plane and so gave us tasteless vegetable with dry rice. On the flights where we did have onboard entertainment, they only had a handful of old movies of which we had seen most years ago already. The table tray was also broken on one flight so the food kept sliding off and the window shutter was filthy.

Route: London to Auckland via Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Dolomiti

Title: Air Dolomiti customer review

Review: I was flying from TRN-MUC last August, the overall flight experience was good. I booked the flight through Lufthansa where Air Dolomiti is their carrier operating from Turin. The cabin crew were polite and helpful. The flight was on time, but the ground crew delayed it a few minutes with moving passengers from the aircraft to the terminal. I flew thrice in the same month on the same route where my overall satisfaction was good.

Route: Turin to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: TUI Airways customer review

Review: Superb service from start to finish. Clean cabin, pristine in fact. Light blue mood lighting. Plenty of cabin storage for luggage. Two cabin crew teams doing meal services and a duty free run at the end. Pilot kept us informed throughout with regular updates. Smooth boarding and disembarkation. An absolute joy compared to some Short Haul carriers.

Route: Mahon to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "lack of communication and assistance"

Review: We are now with lost luggage and no response from the airline. We have had zero communication other than a generic no reply email advising that they have received our cost baggage claim. We have advised them if the location in terminal 1 which we are aware of by way of air tag and still no assistance and no communication. There is no way to reach an actual live person, no direct email. There is no representative to speak to and they have advised there is no email to direct our concerns to other than through the general complaint site. Our emails have gone unanswered. We will never fly Lynx again. There should be no reason luggage cant make it on a direct flight from Toronto to Florida and no reason for this lack of communication and assistance.

Route: Toronto to Florida

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "always ask you to show the credit card"

Review: Taipei to San Francisco. Overall experience is fine. The worst part is at the check-in counter they always ask you to show the credit card used for purchasing the ticket. When I purchased tickets for my kids and they travel alone, they almost got stranded at the airport and couldnt get on the flight

Route: Taipei to San Francisco

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "I would fly Cubana at any time"

Review: Toronto to Caya Coco. Flight out, on time. Staff provided a lovely breakfast sandwich with juice and dessert. Coffee/water served for free. Beer wine offered at a very modest price. Touchdown early. On return, again flight on time, arrival very early than expected - sandwich lunch again for no charge and coffee and water. With all the other airlines charging for every scrap of amenities I dont understand what people complain about, And the washrooms did not smell!

I would fly Cubana at any time.

Route: Toronto to Caya Coco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "offered an awful service"

Review: We booked return tickets from Dubai to Doha for the 2022 FIFA World Cup, what they called "Match day Tickets". From check in all the way to the actual flight the experience was terrible. Flying Dubai to Doha the Check In we did online went successful in the website but was not recognised as valid when we turned up to the airport. Staff told us they don't know why this happened and made us check in again, there was a massive line we purposely wanted to avoid by doing online check in. Anyway after doing the line and check in we finally get to the gate and surprise surprise due a mistake they allocated our seats to someone else therefore they asked us to wait for the next flight as the one we booked was full. Waited until next flight which obviously delayed our arrival to Qatar by almost 2 hours and messed up our itinerary. Flying Doha to Dubai we enjoyed the football games and almost forgot the awful initial experience, but little did we know Flydubai could top that bad time for our departure flight. We looked at our booking document (issued by flydubai) which stated the flight in Doha would depart from DOH airport, so we head to that airport and staff told us no flydubai flights were departing from there. They were actually departing from DIA. So we rushed to the other airport and arrived 30 min before boarding. We get to the front desk and the Flydubai staff tells us the flight is closed and now we need to buy another ticket (3x the original price) to return to Dubai. After a long discussion, there was no other option than buying the other ticket, but staff told us to not worry as we would get a refund as the booking document they issue stated the wrong airport. As expected after contacting flydubai about this issue, they denied any responsibility and when they ran out of arguments closed the case saying: "Any communication on the same subject will be considered as feedback only." In short, Flydubai impacted our trip itinerary, offered an awful service and stole our money through a scam of producing erroneous info so you miss the flight and they charge you 3x times the price for a new one. Never again.

Route: Dubai to Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "I was quite happy with this airline"

Review: As I got to the airport early, I was cueing in their check-in line. I've never seen the ground staff lining up few minutes early before the open the counter to greet the passengers. I thought it was a nice gesture from their part. They were also accommodating with my checking needs as my luggage was heavier than limits. The flight attendants were polite. The plane strangely didn't have screens for each seat but it provided wifi access so people can use the entertainment platform via their own devices. Overall, I was quite happy with this airline.

Route: Phuket to Seoul Incheon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "Poor timing between connecting flights"

Review: Poor timing between connecting flights. Had to rush to make the Bristol leg. Discovered my luggage was delayed on landing at Bristol. Ground said baggage was getting loaded when asked at the gate.

Route: Salzburg to Bristol via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "ripped off I feel"

Review: Horrible experience. Although we paid in advance for our luggage, I just had to repay for it at the airport in Madrid! No one of their staff had a clue - however some lady at the luggage counter finally found our reservation and proof of original payment, but was unable to reimburse me! Ripped off I feel.

Route: MAD to AMS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "A pleasant experience"

Review: We travelled light, with the smallest cabin baggage allowed (a rucksack). Boarding was efficient, via bus. I paid extra for extra legroom seat. Departure late due to weather condition, but still arrived on time. Cabin crew friendly and responsive. Did not buy food or drinks. A pleasant experience.

Route: Cluj to Dortmund

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "Worst experience in my life"

Review: Lisbon to Bucharest. Worst experience in my life. No online checkin available, extremely bad service. One person was trying to check a cart car and 2 small garden trees and frighted with with the checkin person for 1 hr while everybody else was waiting so we barely made it. Extremely bad organizing, we had to wait outside near the plane to get in. Whey they took us out before having everything prepared is a mystery. There were 2 entrances the plane but initially they forced everybody to use the first one just to change their minds midway so people already on the stairs were going back down to go to the end of the plane. People were allowed with too much luggage and in the end I had to fly with one backpack under the seat and one on my knees. It was just incredible. I just felt mistreated and I swore myself never to travel with this company again. And it's constantly like this. Worst flight yet but I already traveled 10 times with Blue Air and it was never an ok experience. The staff tries their best but seams to be all inexperienced and juniors, with no experience ones to guide them. I am yet to find a worse airline company.

Route: Lisbon to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "No explanation, no compensation"

Review: Disgusted. We bought our tickets with them because they were cheap. Within days they had changed our stopover of a few hours in Manila to overnight. They had the audacity to call it a simple re-accommodation. Having to stay overnight in Manila was not simple or pleasant. At check in in Sydney the staff were rude when they told us we need a Manila ecovid certificate. No help was provided. Now we find our return leg is similarly affected with a 7 hour stopover (was 2 hours) in the awful Manila airport during the hours of 1935 to 0330. No explanation, no compensation, no assistance - just last minute changes. If you can help, it never fly with them unless you like nasty surprises and rudeness.

Route: Sydney to Tokyo via Manila

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "been an absolute nightmare"

Review: Booked the flight 2 months in advance then out of the blue canceled and changed to a different day. Trying to change it was impossible let alone cancel it. When we got after we got delayed for 2 hours and then once we got there our luggage was missing. We reported to get it back but it is apparently still in Canada even though we are in Mexico, not to mention with this we lost our connection flight because of this, didn't even offer a hotel or food, just $100 dollars for the lost luggage that used need to wait 48 to even use been. Has been an absolute nightmare and don't recommend. You are wasting more money then you are saving with them and you ONLY buy the seat nothing else.

Route: Toronto to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vanilla Air

Title: "last time I fly with them"

Review: Tokyo Narita to Okinawa. This is the third time that I have taken a flight with this airline. This is also the third time it has been delayed over 2 hours. This will be the last time I fly with them.

Route: Tokyo Narita to Okinawa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India

Title: "Never flying Air India again"

Review: Probably the worst airline. I flew from the Milan airport to New Delhi. The aircraft was extremely dirty with a foul smell from the toilets. We noticed that the toilet doors were broken and the door panel stuck which looks like temporary tapes. Twice the door was opened when someone was inside because of the door. Our seats were broken as the recliner didnt work. In addition the touchscreen and controls of our inflight screen didnt work. We spent 8 hours staring at air India logo on the screen. The croissant served for breakfast had gone off and very chewy so not edible. On a positive note the cabin crew were polite and professional. Never flying Air India again.

Route: Milan to New Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Japan

Title: "crew attentive and polite"

Review: Tokyo Narita to Sapporo. I found Jetstar Japan to be a good option for Japan domestic travel. As a low-cost/budget airline there is a fee structure in place for most items beyond the initial fare paid, depending on the package purchased - baggage (checked and carry on), seat assignments, beverages and food, etc. There are also strict weight limits in place for baggage, again both checked and carry on, but in-line with other airlines of this type. (In the Japanese domestic market think Peach and Vanilla.) If you can accept the carrier is not full-service, like ANA and JAL, and is a budget option, right down to the terminal facilities at certain airports, then the trade-off in fare paid will be acceptable to you. On this trip I found a short line for baggage drop at Terminal 3 at Narita Airport, agents who spoke fluent English, which was appreciated, and proficiency in performing their duties. The walk from the check in area to the gate was long, probably 1,200 meters, so be prepared for that if you have mobility issues. This is a budget experience and Terminal 3 at Narita reflects this. Once you pass security there are virtually no airport amenities though there were free charging stations, which were appreciated. At the gate our flight was boarded quickly, professionally, and on-time. Staff announcements were in Japanese and English. One thing I noticed on another Jetstar Japan flight at the next gate, the staff gave a warning that, due to volcanic ash, their flight may divert to another airport. After over 2-million miles flown I've never seen that done before and felt it was a courteous gesture. Back to my flight, once on-board the aircraft was clean and the crew friendly. Again, all spoke English, including the pilots, beyond that required for air traffic control functions, and two of the four flight attendants spoke it fluently. We departed 4 minutes early. The only negative aspect of my flight comes on board and that was the seat. It was uncomfortable, the reason being it had almost no lower-back support whatsoever. Even the legroom was fine, but the seat comfort just wasn't there. This is an area where Peach has Jetstar Japan beat. Other aspects of the flight were fine - safety protocols were carried out diligently and the crew were attentive and polite. Once on the ground at Sapporo the taxi-in was short, with our flight arriving 1 minute past scheduled arrival, deplaning was fast, and baggage was delivered quickly, within 10 minutes of arrival. Overall I found Jetstar Japan to be a good option and I would travel with them again. There was good value, as compared to the full-service airlines or the train, and that was my main reason for flying them. If you can accept this is a budget experience, and the price reflects such, you will be happy. In regards to safety and in-flight crew attentiveness, there was little difference from a full service airline. If, however, you desire better airport amenities, more personalized service, better operational integrity; for example, the ability to recover after a cancellation or irregular operation, you may find a full service carrier more appealing, but at a price. In the end, it's a value proposition, and if saving money is your goal, Jetstar Japan is a fine way to go. If you're curious about the distinction between Jetstar Japan and Peach/Vanilla, soon to be merged into one carrier, Peach, I find each to be acceptable with both having a very similar product offering.

Route: Tokyo Narita to Sapporo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "Better than other low cost airlines"

Review: While booking it all seems to be a very nice airline mainly because its cheap. I flew from Berlin to Amsterdam on November 18, flight EJU5107 seat 12A (exit row). Immediately I noticed that the flight was seriously delayed. During boarding, the easyJet ground staff is very unclear about who should board first. Nothing was announced either. As a result, it turned into chaos. After I boarded the plane, certain staff seem to speak very bad English. That shouldn't be too much of a problem, this becomes dangerous when there's an emergency and you need to communicate. I have flown with easyJet on a regular basis and all easyJet flights are always delayed (over an hour). Therefore I'm not recommending easyJet, especially for passengers who have a transfer where there is a high chance that they will miss their flight. The good thing is that the seats are very comfortable. Better than other low cost airlines.

Route: Berlin to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "they assumed I would not return"

Review: Brussels Airlines cancelled my ticket and did not take responsibility. They said they could not do anything about it and that I would need to buy a new ticket. Yet they cancelled my ticket without asking me if I wanted the flight, having travelled a different way to Lisbon, they assumed I would not return so cancelled my ticket.

Route: Lisbon to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Eastern Airways

Title: "They did not disappoint"

Review: My wife, daughter and I used Eastern Airways to fly from Humberside Airport in the UK to Esbjerg in Denmark. We had a number of reasons for choosing Eastern: The proximity, as Humberside is only a 10 minute drive away; and our daughter has a disability that requires her to have lots of medical equipment with her in the cabin; she requires mechanical ventilation, via a trachea when flying and it was our daughters first flight. We believed Eastern as a small local airline could provide the service we would need to make the trip a success. They did not disappoint. From my initial communication with customer services, to our 2 flights, all the staff were helpful, considerate and went above and beyond. Nothing was too much trouble and they pulled out all the stops to ensure the medical equipment could be accommodated. At one point the captain of the plane enquired with the air steward about our daughters welfare. Very impressed and would not hesitate to use the airline again. We have told friends and family about the route offered by Eastern and recommended them for a break to Denmark. Cannot praise the airline enough and special mention to customer services, the staff and the captain who was on both journeys.

Route: Esbjerg to Kirmington

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "Horrible experience"

Review: I had a flight from Madrid to Hamburg via Brussels with a stopover of 40min on the 12th December. I only took what was necessary for me in my carry on. The flight was delayed 30 min and I was stressed because there was no other chance for me to go to Hamburg on that day since I was taking the last flight. I needed to be there next day early in the morning. When we finally started boarding the ground staff told me that i needed to check in my carry on because there was no more space in the overhead lockers. I advised the ground staff that the connection in Brussels was too short for the bag to make it on time to Hamburg. He assured me and reassured me that my bag was going to make it. When the doors were closed for take off there was plenty of space in cabin for many other people to bring their carry on. When I landed in Brussels I had to run to make it myself to the flight which was ready to go. so obviously my bag wasn't going to make it. Once landed in Hamburg I went to the baggage belt to pick up my bag and of course it wasn't there. I had to go to the baggage counter and fill up a form and then go without any of my belongings. It was so frustrating the next day because the time I had to prepared myself for my meeting I had tom use to buy more clothes and toiletries. The bag only arrived at the door step next day 8:00 pm all my plans were ruined by this. Claiming the expenses to this airline is a nightmare. i am sure their system is set up so people get tired of filling up the same details over and over. I had to do and re-do the complaint probably more than 7 times because the when you are in the final step to send all documents the systems says: error. Horrible experience with Brussels Airlines. Here I am spending money on international calls because after submitting the claim they told me they would refund me with the money I had to spend. However they did not receive the second receipt. When I sent it via email, no more replies from them whatsoever.

Route: Madrid to Hamburg via Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaColombia

Title: "I had not selected baggage"

Review: Santa Marta to Bogota. Shocking airline, misleading. Spent 2 hours on the phone to change a reservation then at the end the lady said it was not possible. When I logged in to select baggage purchase what I didn't realize is they automatically select all the extra services so when I clicked on the baggage I was actually un-clicking it. The result was I paid 150K pesos for a bunch of charges and then when I arrived at the gate they told me I had not selected baggage and they charged me 200K pesos for 2 bags at the gate. I fly budget airlines in the USA and Europe and they play fair.

Route: Santa Marta to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "No Inflight Entertainment"

Review: No Inflight Entertainment. When I asked the staff regarding this they clearly said that the airline knew about this and they have taken the aircraft from the Hangar and deployed it. The journey was 12 hours and with no in flight entertainment, it was a nightmare. The return journey from Delhi to Melbourne was the same if not worse. No7 Inflight entertainment again, No reclining seats. With my ticket purchase I paid to have the In flight entertainment as a part of what this airline advertised. This is False advertising

Route: Melbourne to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "I am very disappointed"

Review: I am very disappointed about Kenya Airways. No tea or coffee on any of 4 flights I had with them. Ended up with most humiliating customer service representative in Nairobi Airport. She threatened not to let me on flight if I did not show her my EU settlement status. And this is at the boarding gate after passport control! My partner showed his passport and boarding pass to another representative and was let through with no questions. Some French people were told to go away and come back in 40 minutes, as I was still standing there trying to get Internet working and figuring out how to get my prove of EU settlement status, which I don't need to fly to London anyway if I am EU citizen. Avoid this airline whenever possible.

Route: Nairobi to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "Disappointed about Jetstar"

Review: Melbourne to Auckland. Disappointed about Jetstar overall. Aircraft is old, uncomfortable, seat dirty, most terrible is about their staff service. Ground staff easily show up annoyed face. I did not order food and beverage on board, so no much comments on crew members. I will try to avoid this airline for my next journey.

Route: Melbourne to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "worst flight I have ever been on"

Review: I booked a ticket from an airline from Muscat to Batumi round ticket. My original flight from Dubai to Muscat was canceled, and I was forced to have 11 hours to transit which, if I had known from the start, I would have picked another option to fly. This caused me to rent a room outside the airport to sleep before my morning flight. My flight from Batumi to Dubai was delayed 4 hours, and no compensation or apologies was offered. At 5 am, 2 hours before my flight from Dubai to Muscat, I received a message that the flight would have a further delay from 7 am till 14:45. No apparent reason why, although there were no more sandstorms, and all flights were operating just fine. Someone decided this flight could delay, and other flights could go on. This delay caused me to miss another flight from Muscat to Salalah scheduled at 11:40 am with Salam Air which was not refundable. At the airport, I was trying to find ways to leave before 14:45, so I could meet my commitment in Salalah before 17:00. I checked if I could be offloaded from the flight so I could take my bags and leave on a flight with Oman air at 11:00 am. At first, they told me I could, and I went and purchased the flight from Oman air and another flight from Oman air from Muscat to Salalah at 16:30. I asked them to offload me and directed me to the arrival area to collect my bag. I went there and discovered that it was impossible because I could only collect my bag after the flight takeoff after 14:45. This means that both flights I purchased are now useless. I spoke to the people at the airport, and they only advised me to wait for the flight; otherwise, I would lose my bag. 5. I waited for my flight at 14:45. I have been in transit at the airport for 19 hours with no apparent reasons and no clarification. They started to board people at the gate at 14:20. Here, I realize another delay is happening. The flight only took off at 15:35, which again caused me to miss my flight from Muscat to Salalah at 16:30. Overall, this is the worst flight I have ever been on and caused me so much money for a hotel, transportation, and missed flights.

Route: Batumi to Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "Worst ever flight"

Review: Cape Town to Tel Aviv via Kigali. Worst ever flight - first and last time with Rwanda air. Delays of 2- 6 hours unexplained. No customer care at that delay time. Broke luggage - thoroughly broken and missing parts. Old plane, broken seat, no entertainment beside a Pakistani movie in a loop. Food is an Insult for airline food. Staff is friendly but need lots of training. Never again.

Route: Cape Town to Tel Aviv via Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Qatar Airways

Title: "exceptional hospitality"

Review: I was travelling from Miami to India via Doha and from Miami to Doha flight no Q778. Qatar Airways is known for its exceptional hospitality. Cabin crew name Hisham was excellent on his job. Not only he endeavoured his duty by serving the customer but his generosity and courteous towards the passenger makes me overwhelmed. It was very long flight for me but i feel relaxed because of the crew like Hisham who were there to serve us. Thankyou so much.

Route: Miami to Kolkata via Doha

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "All flights without exception were delayed"

Review: I went through three flights to reach my destination. All of my BA flights without exception were delayed, both on my way to my destination and back from my destination which is understandable to an extent. What's not understandable is that they weren't prepared for one of the flights and delayed by almost an hour so I ended up missing a flight and for that they rebooked me 24h ahead providing only accommodation which they messed up as well and after 30 hours of traveling I had to wait and hope that the hotel would find an extra room since BA didn't communicate properly with them. I gave BA a chance to correct their mistake by contacting them after the flights but all they did was answer once with a lot of serious complaints that were involved with their flights and all they did was tell me to contact their partners that I had the last flight with, which went smoothly and they had nothing to do with the previously addressed complaints. I contacted them and gave them over a week asking why they didn't address any of my complaints that their partner could have nothing to do with and they just ghosted me. 2/10 for the kind personnel that's holding this airline together though.

Route: Athens to Durban via London Heathrow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "rude replies from staff"

Review: Delhi from Ahmedabad with one hour Stop in Mumbai. Suddenly we came to know that Mumbai Delhi Flight 9W 346 of 7.30 am got cancelled from Mumbai to Delhi. The new flight boarding pass has been given was of 8.45 pm. Which means we 11 passengers from Ahmedabad has to wait in airport for almost 12 hrs. No support, rude replies from staff of Jet Airways. We 11 passengers waiting from 7.am in Mumbai Airport and not sure if our new flight of which they have alloted boarding pass will fly at 8.45 pm. How can a Connecting Aircraft got 12 hours late and still No facility and no regret of Jet Airways staff.

Route: Ahmedabad to Delhi via Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "abandoned by Thomas Cook at Orlando"

Review: Cancun to Glasgow via Orlando. We had a great holiday received a call on the Friday morning saying our flight was cancelled and that we were boarding a flight from Mexico to Orlando on the Saturday morning. Paper work was deployed through our door in the Friday night half our last day was taken up by helping the 14 other people in our party who didnt have ESTA for USA. We were chartered to airport at 9am in the morning for our flight and landed in Orlando at 16:20. We were instructed to go to a phone call the hotel and await our shuttle. After over an hr a shuttle appeared took around 6 people to Marriott hotel and came back. The driver asked if we were all going to Marriott airport hotel which all 60 of us said yes. He promptly called the hotel who advised we had no hotel reservations and there were no rooms for us. We were at this point very anxious and stress no to mention over heating. We were outside this airport for 4 hrs getting dark no water or food and no rep in sight. We managed to track down a Swissport employee who helped us with food vouchers and after another hour in airport we were told a hotel had been found and we would be picked up at airport. In the morning the management at our hotel eventually managed to get it touch with Thomas Cook and at 12am we were informed a bus would pick us up at 1pm to go to airport for our flight. On arrival to airport the flight had been delayed until 18:30 On return from our ordeal I called and complained I was offered compensation but turned it down my case was immediately cancelled by the airline and I was instructed to get in touch with CEDR. We had 2 disputes one the cancellation the other abandonment lack of information and stress and anxiety. We were awarded the flight delay money but rejected £100 compensation CEDR looked at our claim and awarded up £29 compensation what an absolute joke and disgrace I will be fighting this so will the other people abandoned by Thomas Cook at Orlando airport.

Route: Cancun to Glasgow via Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "made our trip so much fun"

Review: Me and my friend have to say that our trip from Antalya to Stockholm 21 of October 2019 was perfect! I traveled also with my dog in the cabin. The staff was excellent. A special thank you I have to give to Bugra, you made our trip so much fun and unforgettable. We looking forward to fly again with Pegasus.

Route: Antalya to Stockholm

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: Worst airline ever! They had the best time and airport for a direct flight from San Francisco to Paris so I bought a direct flight end of June 2021 for a 9/18/21 departure. On 8/4/21 they canceled the flight. I was still emailing them in September to get my money back! I had to be proactive to do all the research on how to get reimbursed, had to call them then fill a form and email it to them and despite all that it took about 2 months for them to actually refund the cost of the tickets. I always get tempted to buy an SFO to only French Bee flight since landing in Orly is convenient for where

I'm going next, but it's just not worth the risk.

Route: San Francisco to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: " it's very poor management"

Review: Worst airline in Asia, in terms of punctuality and service. I have encountered flight cancelled without refund (as nobody answers your queries its just a stupid bot), flight delayed without announcement, they irresponsibly made passengers wait and wait for hour at the boarding gate knowing connecting flight or arrival pick up would be affected. As a passenger, it's very poor management overall which made me concerned about the safety too. They also has a very lousy baggage weighing system that slows everyone down by making passengers repack their duty free into another bag but not necessarily cutting any weight. Price wise is good. But no value as they frequently cancel or delay flight without any refund. They should change their tag line from #everyone can fly To #fly at your own risk.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Singapore via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "pay 400 in total to carry our bags"

Review: We flew from Athens to Mykonos and the way back to Athens on June 2023. We have tried to add bags via Voloteas website and app for both flights but the system was not working / not allowing us to complete the purchase. We have tried then to contact via e-mail and phone their client attention service and have just received general / protocol replies. No human interaction existed. We had to pay 400 in total to carry our bags, while buying them online would cost only a fraction of that. A real extortion, we were left with no option. The worst service I have ever received from an airline.

Route: Mykonos to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "web system could not handle request"

Review: Toronto to Gran Canaria via Ponta Delgada. Administration and ticket sales were a huge disappointment. I wanted to fly in business class, but since we had legs of our trip with no business class availability, their web system could not handle the request. There were only 4 seats left for our international legs on the day we were ready to buy (several months in advance of the trip), so I booked through a re-seller (SATA's Toronto office hours are not great on weekends). However, I first checked via email with the Portuguese office to ensure that I would be able to upgrade after purchase. Bought the economy seats for all flights (Toronto to Ponta Delgada to Gran Canaria via Madeira return with a short stop in PD). When I attempted to upgrade our international legs (Toronto to Ponta Delgada return) I was given a price about 50% higher than the business class premium should have been. Eventually one staff member told me that the upgrade now included a fee for changes. The only remedy they offered was for me to check on flight days to see if there were any upgrades available. Of course there were not. (In fact the only response I got in Toronto was a condescending smirk.) I tried contacting customer service and appealing to the logic of other representatives with no good result. I understand penalties for changing dates or downgrading seats, but they should really rethink policies that prevent a passenger from upgrading reasonably. I am unlikely to use the airline again because of this policy. As for the flights - they were on time, or within reason with no threat of missing connections. Flight attendants were pleasant. The food and drinks were not great, but always provided. No hot drinks on short flights; complimentary wine with meals only. There is no on-board entertainment or USB plug ins. There were monitors on the Toronto to Ponta Delgada return flights, but did not work. There was a credit card slot, so perhaps you could pay for service, but I did not see anyone attempt it. Economy seats were not bad for size and comfort. Our Toronto to Ponta Delgada flights were in row 22 just in front of the washroom. This was great for the night flight but not great when passengers are awake. Lots of crying children. (I have no idea how they have the energy to cry so much and so loudly and how their parents can stand listening to it without remedy.) Washrooms were abominable and smelled strongly of urine after about 3 hours into the flight. They did replenish toilet paper and hand towels immediately when made aware of the need.

Route: Toronto to Gran Canaria via Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "Sriwijaya Air never again"

Review: We booked a flight from Denpasar to Sorong with transit in Makassar. The transit was supposed to be 8.5 hours over night so we booked a transit hotel in Makassar with free cancellation until one day before. Today when we arrived at the airport we were told that our flight to Makassar had been cancelled already weeks ago and that we can take another flight 5 hours later. They insisted that they had informed us via SMS but it never arrived, other tourist had exactly the same problem. I showed them my phone for proof, still the only thing they offered was refunding the ticket so we can book with another airline. This didnt make sense because all other options did not save us much time (especially with the luggage check-through) and were more expensive. I expected them to at least refund our hotel that we could not cancel anymore (in Europe you even get money if you have no damage claims and a delay; just for the inconvenience). They also called me but only short beforehand with an unknown number, when I tried to call back, nobody answered. In the end all we got was an indifferent apology and two boxes of plane food. Oh and the flight we got in exchange was also delayed for one hour - this time I got an SMS. Thank you Sriwijaya Air, never again.

Route: Denpasar to Sorong via Makassar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "such poor behaviour from an airhostess"

Review: When exiting from flight Joburg to Cape Town FA204 I experienced your airhostess are exceptionally rude. The flight was busy disembarking and after standing up to proceed to the back of the plane she ordered me very disrespectfully to return to my seat. I was four rows forward and had no options to return back to my seat as there were people behind me. I had to ask her repeatedly to let me pass. She again insisted - deeply embarrassing me in front of everyone. As a 44 year old disabled woman I was left feeling deeply humiliated - like a child being shouted at by an adult. I appreciate that staff need to keep order, but this was taken way too far. In all the years that I have travelled I have never ever experienced such poor behaviour from an airhostess.

Route: Johannesburg to Cape Town

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "Seat was very comfortable"

Review: Denpasar to Jakarta. At gate was driven to the aircraft by van. Hand luggage taken onto the air by staff. Shown to my seat 2F by cabin crew. Seat was very comfortable and was asked if I would like juice or water. Once airborne the cabin crew handed out hot towels and headsets. Food was delicious served with bread roll entree dessert which were all delicious. Entertainment had a good variety also. Looking forward to flying them again.

Route: Denpasar to Jakarta

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "By and large a good flight"

Review: I had to purchase this flight at the very last minute when Jetstar cancelled my flight. I enjoyed the flight.

Service was friendly and efficient and the flight left on time. The meal was ok, although the taste was a bit dry. The wine served was both delicious. and generous. By and large a good flight.

Route: Melbourne to Adelaide

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "missed the connection flight"

Review: If flight did not have delay and we missed the connection flight I would have said it is an OK airlines. Instead I had a whole day nightmare. Flight BKK-Helsinki had a delay. We missed our connection flight to Milano Linate. A rude lady at the airport told us that we had already our new flights rescheduled, via Vienna. I was not okay with this solution. For two main reasons: instead that landing at 6.30 now we were supposed to land at 10 pm. I do not live in Milan but 3 hours away and at that time there are no transportations to go home. I asked them to let me stay in Helsinki for the night, airline is supposed to pay for it, right? And the rude lady told me it was not possible, I had to pay the hotel because I had the opportunity to arrive to Milan (but not as I had planned and paid for). She pressured so much, and I had little time that found myself on the flight to Wien (she literally said to me: you now go to Wien!) And found out that the Milan Airport is Malpensa. Even further from home.

Route: Bangkok to Milan via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: StarFlyer

Title: "extremely friendly and quick"

Review: We flew the wonderful StarFlyer aircraft from Kansai to Tokyo Haneda. The check-in staff was extremely friendly and quick and their security line had nobody in it. The boarding was speedy we timed it and we got on and took off within 25 minutes. We were dissatisfied by the fact that we could not redeem United miles as the airline is partly owned by ANA. overall the flight was above and beyond.

Route: KIX to HND

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "The worst airline experience"

Review: The worst airline experience we have encountered in 40 years as a tour operator with thousands of flights under our belt. Horribly slow check in (hidden baggage costs in excess of $500), unfriendly and rude staff, ridiculous deplane and third security check in San Salvador. Onboard the seats are tiny, dont tilt and have no headrests. There was no control about the boarding process and seat selections were not honoured or followed. Essentially a free for all. There are no inflight movies and they charge $3US for water and serve instant coffee for a fee. The only food available was an inedible wrap or sugar foods. I booked my flight through Air Canada and was surprised they partner with Avianca who should be removed from the Star Alliance as they do not honour status. Overall the worst flight and airline company.

Route: San Jose to Toronto via San Salvador

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "Appalling treatment"

Review: Appalling treatment following cancelled flights and no customer service response. We travelled from London to Colombo over the Christmas period. We booked our tickets earlier in the year and paid a premium to fly back on Saturday 4 January and ensured the flights had one short stopover as we were travelling with 2 small children and 2 elderly grandparents. Oman cancelled part of our flight on the way over and put us on a 2 stopover flight which added an extra 6 hour delay to arrival time and inconvenience at the additional stopover in the Maldives. Oman cancelled the entire return journey on 4 January and the next available flight provided was on 7 January but did not inform us that was a 2 stopover flight! Despite paying a premium for a Saturday one stop flight and getting transferred onto a Tuesday 2 stop flight, no compensation has been accepted. The complaints service are non responsive and simply do not respond to a complaint. We will never be flying with Oman again!

Route: London to Colombo via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "hate flying with Wizz Air"

Review: As always, they show no respect on messing with our lives and our plans, on our money and our time. Shame on you for these "2 hours" delays. Just hate flying with Wizz Air! Same experience on my previous trip with you from the same location.

Route: Mykonos to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "flight a little rough"

Review: Charlotte to Coastal Carolina Regional. The flight attendant was less than desired. We had quite a few older passengers on this flight and she couldn't help them up the steps, saying I can't leave the plane. We had passengers in row 3 or 4 get sick and she couldn't get up to help them saying the crew told her to stay seated. We had passengers getting up to use the bathroom and the only time the flight attendant got up was to find a ring on the floor of the cabin between rows 3 and 4. She never made an announcement she had found the ring or anything. No beverage service, flight a little rough at times but I've had service with rougher air.

Route: CLT to EWN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "very good service"

Review: Flew Xiamen Airlines from Beijing to Hong Kong via Xiamen. Provided a very good service. I had the opportunity to fly in its newest aircraft, the Boeing 787 Dreamliner which had very comfortable seats, a complete entertainment system and a beautiful cabin. I was surprised that good food was served on a domestic flight (PEK-XMN). The cabin crew was very attentive and professional. My next flight from Xiamen to Hong Kong was operated by a Boeing 737-800. The flight was delayed for two hours, so that wasn't good. Anyway, the crew were very attentive and good food was also served.

Route: PEK to HKG via XMN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "No empathy, no apology"

Review: I arrived 3 hours before boarding time at the airport so I can do some work. I made sure that I paid my luggage fees ahead of time and I checked in with a boarding pass already issued. Not to mention that the online check-in process was painful. It took me almost 90 minute to drop off my luggage. The check in process is very slow, inefficient. Customer service employee were inconsiderate of peoples time. Not to mention that the terminal where PLAY is located the AC was turned off. When I asked the check in desk person, whats the advantage of checking in online if I have to wait 90 minutes to just drop the luggage. She was rude and disrespectful. She was like go complain to the company. No empathy, no apology. When asked for the email contact to file a complaint her answer was go find it online. I paid for the flight and I'm expecting a fair respectful and decent service. Check in process is inefficient and workers are unprofessional and rude. First and last time I use this terrible airline. I would pay double the money and fly with different airline than to use play airline. I am sure if this continues it will be an historical airline such as wow airline.

Route: Paris to Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "not getting what was advertised"

Review: If you are an occasional international traveler, here is a watch-out when booking thru UA. If your UA travel includes international partners and your fare includes advanced seat selection, know that you very well may not be able to select seats on those partner airlines without paying additional fees. UA does disclose this under their website's FAQ area (rather buried) but totally does not disclose this when the ticket is purchased. If traveling with others and sitting together is important, such as for long overseas flights, then know that for UA partner airlines you will probably have to pay more for advanced seat selection. A bit of a bait-and-switch, not getting what was advertised. Shame!

Route: Jacksonville, Florida to Florence, Italy

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bahamasair

Title: "your flight will be late"

Review: Fort Lauderdale to Nassau. If you even remotely care about being on time, do not fly with these guys. It is a 100% guarantee that your flight will be late, you will get no information about it and the airline will not care one iota that your flight is late.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Nassau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corendon Airlines

Title: "it is just better to avoid"

Review: Corendon Airlines should be avoided. Its services are poor even in the low-cost segment. I got nice deals, so I flew 4 times with them recently. One flight was delayed by 2.5 hrs due to technical failures, the other one was delayed by an hour due to late boarding start. The other two were delayed by 30 mins, which seems to be a standard for Corendon. Nobody really cares about that. They have online check-in for only a handful of airports and you need to be early to check-in personally with all the others. Their website is old, unintuitive and you cannot even access your generated boarding pass after online check-in closes. Onboard you are not allowed to use headphones or mobile phone for takeoff/landing, which is a bit inconvenient. If you get a really good deal, it is manageable to fly with them, in all the other cases, it is just better to avoid.

Route: Nurnberg to Funchal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hainan Airlines

Title: "the flight was pretty good"

Review: Beijing to Seattle. I was sitting for over ten hours and I felt relatively no aches or pains during the whole trip due my seat. However, the flight attendants were not quite organized or consistent. For example, they served one meal from the front to the back and the other meal from the back to the front. Overall the flight was pretty good taking into account the food and drink selection.

Route: Beijing to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: I am 76 and require a cane to walk, our seats were changed after we had adjacent aisle assigned seats 5 months prior thru our travel advisor. My wife was put 12 rows behind me, I was put into a window seat between 2 bulkheads, I am 6'2" and 315 lbs - no room and cannot move my feet because bulkheads went to the floor. Tried to get the seat changed at the counter, after 40 minutes, they basically advised me to accept the seat or wait for another plane (to Portugal?). On board the service personnel were in a race to complete service and were somewhat rude to passengers, none of them seemed happy to be working that day. The plane had no video/TV screens and I had no tray available for the poor food service provided, could not even eat the "meal" provided. Talked to seatmate and found out his travel companion was also "relocated" elsewhere on the plane after they had seats together when they bought their tickets. My wife came up and changed seats with me the last half of the flight, found out that other passengers had their seating also changed at the last minute as well.

Route: Tampa, FL to Lisbon, Portugal via Philadelphia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "need to get better at communicating"

Review: We were delayed an hour but no mention of it at all. Not while we were waiting or no apology on the plane. Like it never happened. Now Im dealing with the same thing on the way home. I wouldnt have known unless I asked. No email or text or nothing. This is the fourth time Im flying with Avelo and it has happened 50% if the time with no communication. It really sucks when someone is waiting to pick you up. They really need to get better at communicating.

They ask for all your information, but for what?

Route: New haven to Tampa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "nothing to complain"

Review: Ok experience, on time departure and arrival, okay meal on board, clean cabin, nothing to complain. Meal can be improved.

Route: Mumbai to Bhubaneshwar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "Terrible service and flights"

Review: Tokyo to Bangkok. Terrible service and flights. They had an engine problem in Tokyo which delayed me for 3 hours. Missed all connections and they said it wasnt their problem. Dumped me in the middle of the night in Bangkok with no accommodation. Also, they run a no outside food and drink policy. Will not let you on with drinks. Then they try to sell you food on the plane. One sandwich for a 9 hour journey. Joke. They have films to watch, but no earphones! You have to buy them. But if youre connecting you probably wont even have Thai Bhat. Staff are rude and aggressive. And no toilet paper in the toilet.

Route: Tokyo to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "Terrible airline"

Review: Terrible airline. Not only overbooked our flight but also that of the next days as well. They didnt compensate me for the return flight either. Will never book through this airline again, I shouldve known since everyone has talked so badly about it. Lesson learned.

Route: Venice to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "we missed the Chengdu flight"

Review: Xiamen to Los Angeles. It was the worst experience ever. We had 2 flights, the one we did not take which was Chengdu to Xiamen and then Xiamen to LA. The persons who dealt with us were extremely rude. Saying we could not take our flight to LA because we missed the Chengdu flight. They told us it was not their problem and if we wanted to leave the airport we would have to pay almost one thousand dollars. The flight was not even full. We were on time at the check in and they treated us badly. I would never flight on that airline again.

Route: Xiamen to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alliance Air

Title: "unable to provide better service"

Review: This is new airline but unable to provide better service. Their schedule time was 09.05 for take off but till 11.05 am there was no chances to take off. On their counter no. 112 they given the delay if 1.40 hrs means showing delay schedule timing 10.45 hrs. This is vary cunning strategy to avoid penalty or free meal, because if they wrote 2 hrs they had to provide free meal or refreshment. I do not suggest to fly again in that airline

Route: Hyderabad to Kolhapur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "attentive, professional, efficient"

Review: This is my first time flying first class on the Cathay Pacific. Baggage check in was smooth as expected. The ground staffs were courteous and handled with my baggage with care. The in-flight service manager quickly greeted me and brought me to my seat as I stepped onboard the aircraft. The stewardess offered me a welcome drink and I ordered a glass of champagne Krug 2004 Vintage Brut. The stewardess offered me mixed nuts, a small cup of sparkling tea, hot towel, and Bamford amenity kit. The flight took off as scheduled and meal was served. I ordered the Caviar Venice and it was extraordinary with a rich taste. After the meal, I asked for flattening my seat into bed as I wanted to take a nap. Mattress is soft and duvet is fairly comfortable. I also requested soft pillow. Overall, the stewardesses are attentive, professional, efficient.

Route: Hong Kong to Tokyo

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SpiceJet

Title: "each time the flight is delayed"

Review: Most pathetic airline. I was travelling 2nd time and each time the flight is delayed. No help and support for delayed on airport. We were just waiting for hours to depart on the flight.

Route: Leh to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "a very big queue at check in"

Review: There was a very big queue at check in. It's a pity that passengers who check in via the internet or kiosk have to line up again for "bag drop". With QANTAS the bags can be dropped off by the passengers. The plane left on time and the staff were friendly and helpful. Food had to be purchased.

Route: Sydney to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "mistrusted, non-ethical"

Review: Bangkok to Kathmandu. I think all the other comments summarized the kind of service you can expect from this airline. It's a mistrusted, non-ethical, not reliable and non-authentic company. I received an email only 24 hours in advance saying that if I had more than 6kg of baggage we should pay at least 4 hours before. I had another flight that day, was sick, without counting the fact that wifi isn't available everywhere in Asia, the chances I saw this email were low. Plus, at the airport, the employee only stated that the policy had changed and I even managed to bargain my overload carry-on baggage with her, reflecting the absence of transparency within that company. Seriously, it's not the fact that I needed to pay the expensive amount that changed my opinion about this airline but mostly all of the process and because as a consumer flying in couple of hours, you absolutely need to pay the amount they ask you. The right of customers should be defended in those cases and I will try my best to advise future/potential customers about that horrible company.

Route: Bangkok to Kathmandu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "Worst traveling experience"

Review: Worst traveling experience in last 20 years of business and leisure traveling. They tried to force me to give my hand carry bag to luggage. To do so, they wasted my time, asked me to stand on the side and made me go and talk to lot of different people. They argue that I can not have hand carry bag and laptop bag separately. To make the situation worst another ground staff at the time of entering plane stopped me and pressurized me to board the plane with just laptop bag (which anyway going to be in my legroom). On many occasions, I paid extra and chose Emirates for the service and comfort which seems to be a thing of a past. From now on I will never choose Emirates if I have an option.

Route: Karachi to Sydney via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "would never recommend Egyptair"

Review: Cairo to London. At Mansoura Egyptair Office I paid more than 10000 egyptian pounds to change the date of my and my wifes tickets since the imminent suspension of airports because of Corona virus. Despite saying that changing travel dates is free, the staff were playing games, and bargaining with customers to charge the largest amount if money. Initially they denied any economy seats left and asked for 23000 eg pounds per seat i.e. 46000 for 2 seats business class for only to change the travel date. When I complained to the manager I found out that there are many economy seats and asked to pay over 10000 per ticket i.e. over 20000. After arguing this was reduced to 10056 Egyptian pounds which I had no choice but to pay. This is illegal since the closure of the airports was the government decision and not a mind change. This is giving the company and the country bad name. I come across tens of angry passengers who would never recommend Egyptair to anyone. This is sad situation at a time other companies are helping their passengers.

Route: Cairo to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Joon

Title: "Overall not satisfied"

Review: Rome to Paris. No entertainment on board, no food! Not even a snack for a 2 hours flight - Only water or coffee. The cabin was cold and they do not give you blanket. The crew was young, and seemed not serious in their post.

Overall not satisfied.

Route: Rome to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rex Airlines

Title: "it just keeps getting better and better"

Review: Just want to congratulate all of the staff from the gate to the crew on ZL309, Brisbane-Sydney, 9th June. You made a very stressful morning at Brisbane Domestic so much better. Each time I fly with you it just keeps getting better and better! You are showing the others how flying should be done.

Route: Brisbane to Sydney

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "others given the seats for free"

Review: Manchester to Punta Cana with Thomson Airways on the Boeing 787. Premium Economy was super, although they gave everyone the wrong menu so the food they offered was not available. There was not availability in Premium Economy on the way back so we had to go economy with extra legroom. The room was okay for me because I am only 5'1" but even with the leg room my husband struggled. Plus we paid extra for these seats and other people around us and in the exit row seats were given the seats for free (surely people who have already upgraded should be given these options before the people who have not upgraded. Food was OK as were drinks.

Route: MAN to PUJ

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "Worst customer service"

Review: Mumbai to JFK via Kuwait. Worst customer service. I didn't get a blanket even though I was feeling very cold and on requesting - I was told first older peoples would get and finally I was told all blankets are over. Coming to food I am a vegetarian and cabin crew ran out of vegetarian food and were asking me to try other options as they don't have vegetarian food. When I insisted I don't want non vegetarian food then after half an hour when everyone finished their meal they gave me vegetarian meal and that too it was very very limited quantity. Same thing applies to soft drinks. Very cheap and unprofessional staff. You have to tell them 2-3 times at least if you need anything be it water or any other help.

Route: Mumbai to JFK via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "Total garbage"

Review: I flew with numerous airlines, but I gotta admit, British Airways is by far the worst airline ever when it comes to customer support. I waited 3 weeks for a ticket change. Call center workers are giving you false information just so they would make you hang up. They told me I was supposed to get an email from them with the flight changes, but never got. They don't have a live chat just like American Airlines do, they don't have a online form to submit your questions, they don't have a working international number. Total garbage.

Route: Bucharest to Dallas via London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "very underrated airline in my opinion"

Review: A very underrated airline in my opinion, it boasts a very new and updated fleet of Boeing 787s and 737s with well-trained and competent crew put in charge of the flights. 4 flights in total and none of them were late, as others have pointed out they are surprisingly very good with being on-time. They also provided additional snacks and drinks on top of the regular meal service. Decent legroom in line with international-standard full-service carriers. The only two minor gripes I may have is that the selection of movies and IFE is somewhat limited, and connecting flights as Muscat Airport involve a lengthy wait to get through security.

Route: Bangkok to Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "one of my best flights in recent years"

Review: My flight was good, both were. Cabin crew was nice and helpful. Even the food was ok, I ordered special gluten free meal and my travel partner had pasta. Leg room in the first, small plane (Embraer) was like really good. In the Boeing 777 it was comparable with the other air lines. Flights left on time. Overall that was one of my best flights in recent years. One thing to flag is that there was no WIFI though it should have been. And the second meal was only a sandwich and little desert, could be more.

Route: Krakow to Newark via Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "never flown one as bad as this"

Review: Samara to Moscow. I've flown a lot of budget airlines in my life, but I've never flown one as bad as this. At check-in we were told to put our cabin bag into a metal container to see whether it fit the cabin bag policy. It did, fantastic. Not our first time on a budget airline as we made sure ours was compliant. But then the our check-in person tried to close a lid on our bag! At first we were a bit confused, then we realised that our Ryanair/Easyjet/Air Asia cabin sized bag had to fit into this tiny box (I've attached some pictures) which I honestly doubt a standard sized knapsack could fit into. We then realised we weren't alone in complaining about this. The staff were unsurprisingly unhelpful and told us it was in the T&C's. After much scrolling, we found it and by the way, it's not obvious. The only suggestion was the stated dimensions of the hand luggage which gave it way. Hence, we and essentially 95% of the flight had to march to the office on another floor to purchase check-in luggage allowance. If you want to limit cabin luggage to tiny dimensions, make it explicit so consumers can make an informed choice. Fellow travellers, don't make my mistake.

Route: Samara to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "everything was in order"

Review: Kuwait to Bahrain. Was a short flight of 50 minutes. Departed on time. Snacks and beverages served though it was low standard. Overall everything was in order, nothing to appreciate or to criticise.

Route: Kuwait to Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "money still isn't back in my account"

Review: The leg from Melbourne to Abu Dhabi and Abu Dhabi to Melbourne was the worst flight of my life, both ways. I've flown the route from Melbourne to Vienna many times with Emirates, Qatar, Qantas, this was hands down the worst experience by far. Not only was the plane for this 13 hour flight 20+ years old, the seats were unbelievably uncomfortable, the bathrooms were filthy, on the first flight the toilet flushing button was smashed and covered in filth. The food was awful. On returning home, I looked to see if I could book a premium economy seat to alleviate the discomfort. The website told me the seats I selected were unavailable, but charged me 222.00 $ each time I clicked a seat. I was charged multiple times for seats that were unavailable. I immediately called Etihad and asked them to refund me. I was told I wasn't charged and my bank would release the funds in 24 hours. On the flight in question I was given one of the worst seats, in the very back of the plane in a seat that didn't recline. 5 days later, the money still isn't back in my account. I call again and say I'm going to dispute with my bank, they ask for 24 more hours to reverse the charge. It's been three days, a total of over a week. They're still keeping my money.

Route: Vienna to Melbourne via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Swoop

Title: "by far was the worst experience"

Review: This by far was the worst experience I've ever had on a airline. Our plane from Edmonton to Toronto was 135 min late. The lady couldn't do a tag for our luggage to get switched at the swoop desk. This is new to me same airline multiple places should be able to switch luggage on a connecting flight. We landed I had less than 1 hour to switch luggage because Edmonton was unable to. The swoop check in bag person just looked at me said nothing I can do. So I guess it's acceptable as a airline to be 135 min late. Half the people on our plane missed flight to Vegas. I guess I'll have no clothes in Jamaica for a couple day's and that's all good for the people who work at swoop. Save yourself the hassle not the money don't fly swoop first experience was Terrible. Zero customer service zero help people just looking at me and making me feel stupid.

Route: Edmonton to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "delayed for 2 hours"

Review: Istanbul to Beirut. Crew was really friendly but the plane got delayed for 2 hours without any explanation. Turbulence was really bad.

Route: Istanbul to Beirut

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "a horrible experience all together"

Review: They get you with their cheap ticket prices but then you have to pay for any and every thing else you might need! And for a way higher rate than any other airlines. Our flight was late 40 mins also! If your personal item or carry on bag is even 1/2 " too big, they make you pay for it at the gate! Just a horrible experience all together.

Route: Calgary to Québec City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "nothing has changed in 5 months"

Review: Flew with Silk Air to Colombo from Singapore for the second time this year and nothing has changed in 5 months. The food is palatable but insufficient and nothing exceptional. Aircraft mainainance is practically non existent. There is no inflight entertainment except that you can purchase the Silk Air studio app and watch a limited range of a fairly pathetic selection of movies. The flight crew however are very friendly and can be chatted with easily. In short, Silk Air should not charge its premium fare because it is practically a budget airline with free meals and marginally better legroom. In conclusion a dissapointing experience and forgettable to say the least.

Route: Singapore to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "I asked for a refund and they said no refunds"

Review: We booked flights to Mexico City for July 4th weekend, and today I get an email saying our flight is cancelled. I called into Viva Aerobus customer support and they said that there was no reason listed as to why the flight was cancelled but that they can book me a flight out of a different city (San Antonio), which is about 100 miles away. I asked for a refund and they said no refunds. They offered a voucher to be used within 80 days but I refused this offer. Why would I want to book with this carrier again if they cancel flights with no notice and don't offer refunds? The agent wouldn't allow me to speak to a supervisor and was very rude and not helpful. I went ahead and disputed the cost of the tickets through my credit card company. I hope if this happens to other travelers that they each let their credit card company know so that eventually VISA or Mastercard stop providing payment services to them. Worst airline ever.

Route: Austin to Mexico City

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "give us half the money"

Review: What a sad day! We have tried so many attempts to resolve our situation. My mother died from COVID-19 and we had to cancel the trip, but they decided after two months to give us half the money and a voucher for the amount. This voucher is to be used within 12 months. It sickens me to know how evil these people are after knowing that no one has control of this virus, and it affected my family without warning.

Route: Medellin to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "ashamed and embarrassed"

Review: A lovely flight from Dublin to San Francisco - could not fault it. Things went rapidly downhill after that, and Aer Lingus complete lack of regard for paying customers became all too apparent. Our luggage went missing and Aer Lingus have been rude and unhelpful. As a customer I am so disappointed in the customer service provided by my national airline. As an Irish person I'm ashamed and embarrassed to think that other people may be subjected to this treatment.

This is not the image I want my national airline to be portraying of Ireland and Irish people. We have a short six day holiday in San Diego; Day 1 is now gone because of Aer Lingus complete and total lack of regard and concern for paying customers. We paid 2808.50 for our flights (2 people) and it is disgusting to think that once they got our money they no longer care. Shame on you Aer Lingus.

Route: Dublin to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "Worst airline ever!"

Review: London to Kochi via Mumbai. Worst airline ever! Never choose this airline even if you had to pay a few more extra for a decent one. The connection flight to Kochi was found cancelled on reaching Mumbai and was offered the next day's flight due in 24 hours. Reduced to provide accommodation/lounge access. They kept sending messages every week that flight number and times from London changed until the day of travel but I never expected this treatment.

Route: London to Kochi via Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "shockingly bad customer service"

Review: From the moment we purchased tickets, we had the most shockingly bad customer service. Be aware: you can do nothing online, including book or change seats and must call Customer Service for everything. They do not respond to emails, customer service is outsourced to overseas Indian or Eastern European countries where some do not speak English well enough to answer your query. They always say you have to email but you never receive a response (this after 24 emails over 3 mths and no responses). We flew business and they ran out of food. They offered economy meals. Flight attendants clearly did not like their jobs. The food (when you did manage to get any) was horrible and it was next to impossible to get a second drink, even water. Finally, we arrived in SFO to hear my husband's name called - they put my bag on the flight from Dublin but not his. We were leaving and checked through from Paris. They promised it would arrive next day, next flight. 10 days later it is still listed as tracking and in Dublin. We phoned several times to be told it was still in Dublin as far as they could see. We went several times to the airport and checked Lost Luggage -also finally went a 3rd day to see the same flight coming in and found a helpful man on security who phoned around. He left to go to an 'office' and came out with our bag. Fully tagged. It is still listed as 'being tracked'. We have contacted Aer Lingus to advise this but still listed as being in Dublin. . This has been one of the most horrible airlines we have ever flown.

Route: Paris to San Francisco via Dublin

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "cramped into the shuttle bus"

Review: After the 50 passengers were cramped into the shuttle bus, we were told the pilot requested mechanics to deal with a technical issue and we would have to wait a "couple of minutes". 10 min later, with doors closed it was hard to breath. The driver cranked the AC to full blast and opened the doors and now we were freezing. After 30 min standing in a cold, packed bus, we were told we would go back to the terminal. Another 10 min later the issue was solved by an off duty mechanic, and we were lucky to be on our way. In short, it was disrespectful, and a health hazard experience.

Route: Washington DC to Toronto, Canada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "both were top quality flights"

Review: I flew with AirAsia twice this month, 1st from Penang to Langkawi, and then from Langkawi to Kuala Lumpur, and both were top quality flights. The 1st flight arrived at the destination even earlier than the stated time, and the 2nd one was punctual as well, their cabin crew are all professional, well dressed, respectful and beautiful too! unlike Malaysian Airlines staff which were disrespectful and not good looking, If you're looking for domestic flights within Malaysia, they're the best option to choose imo, don't let the negative reviews scare you away, I bought one 25kg luggage and when I weighed it at the airport, it was 2 kg above that but still they said it was fine and didn't charge anything extra for it.

Route: Langkawi to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "A350 is a great plane"

Review: Denpasar to Rome via Taipei. The first leg on our return journey (DPS-TPE) was by an old 747- 400: the aircraft was pretty rundown, with a bad smell and very narrow seats; the old IFE didn't work properly and FA tried to reboot the system multiple times but my personal screen didn't work properly. Food average. The second leg (TPE-FCO) was a different story: the A350 is a great plane : plenty of space, great IFE and I could stretch my legs and sleep almost the whole flight, wonderful mood lights and smiling FA made this 13 hours journey very pleasant.

Route: Denpasar to Rome via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "I had a great experience"

Review: I flew to Bangkok, Thailand from Surabaya, Indonesia with this airline for the first time. In my opinion, I had a great experience. The cabin crews are very kind and helpful. The seats are comfortable and I like the design as well. The food is tasty. There is enough legroom for me. Besides, I like the inflight entertainment since the movies are updated so it's not boring at all. The aircraft is clean and smart looking. However, it would have been much better if all the aircraft of Royal Brunei Airlines are equipped with personal inflight entertainment, not just overhead TV or WiFi connection because it would be so boring and not pleasant. Basically, I would like to recommend this aircraft to my friends and I would love to fly with Royal Brunei Airline again.

Route: Surabaya to Bangkok via Bandar Seri Begawan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tropic Air Belize

Title: "This company is horrific"

Review: This company is horrific. We had a cancelation of our flight back home and this airline refused to refund our money. Fly Maya Island Air. They are exceptional, less expensive and very flexible. The planes are also shady. You will not regret flying Maya Island Air! Have a wonderful and safe flight.

Route: San Pedro to Belize

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "product was very good"

Review: First time I had flown Eva for about 7 years. The product was very good. The flight was roughly on time, which I thought was good as I was flying out in Christmas Eve. It was actually the fastest flight Ive ever done at just over 10hours. Food was ok, movie selection has gone down hill.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair

Title: "definitely better than expected"

Review: Ho Chi Minh to Singapore. A great experience traveling with tiger air. It was a first for all of us, experiencing such good service from the staff at the service counter and on the airplane. We were pleased with customer service especially with the well wishes upon knowing it is one of our member's birthday. Also, the cake which was presented onboard the plane by the staff was unexpected and surprising. Travelling with Tigerair was definitely better than expected.

Route: SGN to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "comfortable seat on Boeing 787-82"

Review: Singapore to Los Angeles via Xiamen. Enjoy when inside aircraft which clean and comfortable seat on Boeing 787-8. Plenty of food and drinks provided. The only problem when check in to the flight from Xiamen Airport to Singapore Changi Airport. Long queue as many other tour tourist line up. Ground handling spoil / damaged my baggage but Xiamen Airline replaced new baggage for me.

Route: Singapore to Los Angeles via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "It was a huge disappointment"

Review: I always travel by Emirates and liked it but this was my first time traveling with my 14 months old baby. The seat I got was too small to fit us both. I didnt know I have to carry my baby even when hes asleep. I asked for bassinet and they said if babys legs are not straight while lying in bassinet then its not for the baby. I had to carry him throughout the flight because he was mostly asleep. When they provided me meal I couldnt open my table as while holding baby table couldnt be opened. I barely ate a little and gave up. Meal for baby was also not provided although it was included in the ticket. It was a huge disappointment. I couldnt use inflight entertainment either for baby because there was no room.

Route: Peshawar to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "seats although adequate were so much smaller"

Review: Full flight. Check in was busy, business class full. The lounge in Melbourne was okay, bit old and dated but the food was good. Boarding protocol was strictly adhered to. We were warmly welcomed. This medium haul aircraft was far different to the A380 in business. The seats although adequate were so much smaller. I was surprised to see not only a blanket and pillow but slippers, face mask, socks and amenity kit on my seat. The storage bin overhead is very high up and 158cm me needed help to stow my bag. Not much storage at the seat, just under the footstool and a tiny cubby hole once the headphones and water are removed. The staff were very friendly but reactive rather than pro active. They didnt check the cabin during the flight but would respond to pushing the button for an attendant. The food was okay. Nothing special, steak was tough but the dessert was lovely (cheesecake). Entertainment was pretty good, quite a lot of choice, and the flight map was excellent. The refreshment before landing was not nice, chorizo and pasta. Quantity not quality. We arrived slightly sooner than scheduled. Altogether it was good for a day flight but not sure it will be comfortable enough for an overnight flight.

Route: Melbourne to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Citilink

Title: "seats were comfortable"

Review: We used Citilink to travel from Jakarta to Denpasar Bali. Check in was handled nicely. However it was a bit confusing since our boarding pass said we would have to proceed to have C1 whereas the TV screens indicated that our flight was leaving from C6 and the information staff at the gates didn't seem to know the gate either. Having eventually arrived at the right gate (C1), we were waiting for boarding which commenced on time. Boarding was done quickly and efficiently. The flight experience itself did not feature anything unexpected from an lcc. There was a selection of drinks and food available for a little money. In spite of the limited leg room, seats were comfortable. After arriving in Denpasar, we quickly received our luggage. Overall an ordinary lcc experience.

Route: CGK to DPS

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Airlink

Title: "attendants were efficient"

Review: Johannesburg to Bulawayo in Zimbabwe on SA Airlink. Seats were comfortable and a meal was served flight together with drinks on this 1 hour 20 minute flight. Flight attendants were efficient and pleasant. This was a very nice trip.

Route: JNB to BUQ

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Iran Air

Title: "Iran Air staff in Lar airport were nightmare"

Review: Unfortunately this flight was my only option (time), and I already heard almost only negative reviews from whoever I asked from regarding this airline. The staff in Dubai airport were lovely but Iran Air staff in Lar airport were nightmare. Absolutely disrespectful, just trying to make up for their loss during COVID. They had respect and sense unlike them. Save your money and dignity and do some planning ahead. They dont care about their customers not even the least.

Route: Dubai to Lar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "$50 for being 1 kg over our allowance"

Review: They use to be quite good. However, lady at the Sydney domestic service desk said wont be allowed on our flights if we dont pay $50 for being 1 kg over our allowance via eftpos. I opted for a cash payment. Worth mentioning we booked seats for row 11 but were assigned seats in row 30.

Route: Sydney to Sunshine Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ITA Airways

Title: "Appalling customer service"

Review: Appalling customer service! I arrived at the airport and when I tried to check-in for this Royal Jordanian Airlines flight I was told that they had cancelled my ticket and re-issued it for a day earlier! They did not communicate this change to me. ITA ground staff were unfriendly and unapologetic. I managed to get on a flight departing at a similar time but with one stop rather than direct. Wrote to ITA Customer Service / Complaints but yet to receive a response.

Route: Rome to Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ural Airlines

Title: "flight to Bishkek was nice and safe"

Review: Purchased a cheap ticket and the baggage was included. Flight was delayed by two hours, which was not what we expected, but the almost 5 hour flight to Bishkek was nice and safe. There is no entertainment, but the sandwich we got was very tasty. Drinks only water and tea, but ok. The plane was clean, the flight safe, the crew was professional but did not look very happy. All in all, recommended, but as it seems they have a record of delays, perhaps if using them one needs a plan B in case the flight is late.

Route: Moscow to Bishkek

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "The absolute worst"

Review: The absolute worst! I will never fly with United again. Our first departing flight was canceled and rescheduled for the following day which then had an additional layover. Our returning flight was delayed almost 12 hours and we were told all flight problems were due to "weather." Complete lie!

Route: Jackson hole to Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: VLM Airlines

Title: "arrived on time both ways"

Review: My wife and I flew VLM from Southampton to Antwerp return on a Fokker 50. Left and arrived on time both ways. Only about half full on way out and three quarters on the return. Had a free beer and snack. Fokker 50 is on a par with more modern turbo props on these short flights. Antwerp airport is a breeze, in a rental car and away within 15 minutes of landing.

Route: SOU to ANR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "they have lost our luggage"

Review: Flew into Dublin arriving at 6am for our connecting bought ticket flight on Vueling at 1:40pm! thinking we had TONS of time to check luggage. Dublin airport does not have Permanent desk check in counters for their airlines, they all share desks. So no one with the airline you are flying other than BA and Ryan have desks you can speak to anyone. Was told where Vueling might be but not until 10:30 am, we had no way to check bags early. We stood in line at 9:15 to ensure we were first in line waiting to see Where Vueling might be. when it tells you counter 11, that means the Entire counter which is really 3 airlines long and shared by all. For our 1:40 flight, which Vueling recommends 3-4 hr early check in, one lone lady shows up at 10:45 to post the Vueling sign on two monitors! she then says, someone will be here in 10 min to start check in. 35 min later not 10, ONE lady/girl shows up to check in the entire flight! Now being the very first customer we are being checked in at 11:30 for a 1:40 flight, less than their own company recommendation! Being the first customer to check in bags, they have lost our luggage for a 2hr flight Dublin to Paris. One man at customer service who spoke broken English, filed our claim and told us to call back. We are now 48hrs from our flight and there is no calling. the phone is permanently off hook and busy. we have emailed and gone on Vueling customer service with no response. Because Vueling has super strict online luggage rules, we believed them and put Everything in our paid checked bags. NO help is anywhere from Vueling. Having to spend money on brand new shower items, make up and at this point, we now have to ruin our holiday more, go shop in Paris for clothing which of course are quite expensive!

Route: Dublin to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Extremely unpleasant experience"

Review: Keeping in mind that Ryanair is a low cost airline I have never had many troubles with it. That was until I departed from Valencia airport. The Ryanair staff at the airport was truly horrible. They made me pay almost 50 euros for a tiny purse I was carrying in my hand. They wouldn't give me the time to reorganize my backpack to have my purse fit into it, threatening me that I would miss my flight. I'm wondering if they get a premium for trying to milk extra money from their customers. They also forced me to put check in my backpack with my laptop in it. This had never happened to me before and I fly with low cost airlines multiple times a month. Extremely unpleasant experience.

Route: Valencia to Manchester

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Malaysia Airlines

Title: "useless customer service"

Review: While we were departing from Dhaka, the overhead compartments being full, the crew simply took our carry-ons to do gate check (no tags were given) and we were told we would get it at our destination. We are still waiting and Malaysia airlines have not responded to a single email we have sent. Apparently they are trying to find the baggage, by the pictures we have, among the hundreds of other bags they have lost. Zero accountability, ridiculous process and useless customer service - that is Malaysia Airlines it seems.

Route: Dhaka to Sydney via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "require mask in a 14h flight"

Review: Can't expect much for premium economy so the seat, meal and inflight entertainment was fine. What was horrible is the policy to require mask in a 14h flight. What made it worse was the flight was midnight but the counter was only open 2 hours prior, which is normal, but made passengers unable to use lounges. What's the use of paying the additional fee? Also they only opened 2 counters for non Business. Very slow and long 1h wait

Route: Tokyo to Houston

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "failed to meet even the most basic standards"

Review: If you ever consider flying with Aeromexico, I strongly advise against it. In my personal experience, this airline has demonstrated a lack of professionalism and reliability. One of the major issues I encountered is their frequent changes in flight areas without providing sufficient means for passengers to stay informed. The availability of screens displaying these changes is limited, and there is a notable absence of announcements in English or bilingual employees to assist non-Spanish speakers. During my journey, which involved a stopover in Mexico City on both the outbound and return flights, I encountered a distressing situation involving my 87-year-old grandmother. Aeromexico staff separated her from the rest of our party, despite the presence of completely vacant seats on one of the flights where we could have easily been accommodated together. When we approached the employees for assistance, they claimed there was nothing they could do, leaving us feeling frustrated and disappointed. Regrettably, the most appalling customer service experience occurred on our return journey, as well as on our way to our destination. All members of our travel group contracted a parasite during our trip. As we were boarding the flight, the airline initially announced that they would wait for a passenger in the bathroom, only to abruptly change their decision and close the doors, leaving us behind. It is common for groups traveling together to prefer not to leave anyone behind, and this unexpected action forced us to endure a gruelling 12-hour wait at the airport. Even after spending approximately $580 per person for the return trip, we encountered further rudeness from the Aeromexico staff during security procedures. Considering the involvement of three countries in our travels, one would expect a certain level of customer service, but unfortunately, Aeromexico failed to meet even the most basic standards. I strongly recommend exploring alternative airlines and investing your money elsewhere for a more satisfactory travel experience.

Route: Mexico City to Guatemala City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "Never, ever, travel with them"

Review: Zero stars like many here. Promised refund after 12 months of booking after cancelling a flight due to Covid, but then went into hiding. No reply to e-mails, 12 months have come and gone. But they were able to challenge the charge back that VISA originally authorized, but then had to withdraw again because Oman Air objected. Never, ever, travel with them!

Route: Munich to Colombo via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Shaheen Air

Title: Shaheen Air customer review

Review: Although a low cost airline, Shaheen Air was quite nice, although the airport check-in was pretty bad with only one line and the agents taking forever. The flight had a gate change 4 times, and we had a one hour delay announced at the last minute before boarding was to finish. The flight attendants were very friendly during the flight and the aircraft was decent, also the meal (some chicken mayo bun with a chicken leg along with marble cake) was pretty delicious and filling. The plane was leased and originally from SpanAir so the cabin had grey leather seats, but it was comfortable though. Also a nice touch from Shaheen Air was the pre-takeoff water which was provided and newspapers in English and Urdu.

Route: Karachi to Multan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "flights have been excellent"

Review: Manchester to Preveza. I have flown with Monarch twice recently and both flights have been excellent. We chose seats with extra legroom in row 10 where there are just 2 seats together rather than 3 so ideal for a couple traveling together. It was worth the 15GBP each way for the seats. Both flights on time even arriving early and the first plane had been refurbished with really comfy modern seats. Great staff on board and on the ground, Monarch seem to be that bit better than other budget airlines and more professional.

Route: MAN to PVK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Boutique Air

Title: "Very unreliable airline"

Review: They took by bag at Pittsburgh and then came out and told us that our flight would either be a few hours delayed or canceled. This was at the time of departure 5 PM - last flight out for the day to AOO (I later learned that the plane was still in AOO with mechanical problems.) Returned in about 10 minutes to tell us it had been canceled and then vanished. We were what do we do now - no one there, no bags. It took him at least another 15 minutes to return with our bags. He should have told us where he was going. No other options were given. No cars were available one way to AOO so I had to contact someone to drive from Everett PA to Pittsburgh airport which is around 120 miles away. While I waited, after waiting there 3 hours for this flight after my flight had arrived from DFW. They are so unreliable and I have been trying to get a refund on my flight or travel expenses which seem to be impossible. Very unreliable airline - no customer service.

Route: Pittsburgh to Martinsburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "It was a total nightmare!"

Review: The aircraft had electrical, engine problems while we were on board so it was delayed over 3 hours from the original flight time. It was a total nightmare! The seats was so cramped, no leg room, very old aircraft that makes a squeaky noise every time someone makes small movements in their seats. It was full when we are still in this covid situation. Terrible experience! I will never ever use this airline again.

Route: London to Incheon via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "This was a first, and not in a good way"

Review: This was a first, and not in a good way. I book my flights well in advance to get the seat I want. Like for a lot of people, this is very important to me, I especially wouldn't fly in a window seat long haul as it would be like being in prison. So I booked the seat I wanted. I looked a couple of days before the flight and it was still ok and checked in as soon as I could. At the airport, Bangkok, I checked in my luggage at the desk about 2.5 hours before the flight, and was given a boarding pass, still showing my choice of seat. When they announced boarding, about 40 mins before take-off, my boarding pass was refused and the KLM staff said I had been kicked out of my seat for a, "family". When the business section was full I had a look and there were no children so they must have called a family just a couple who couldn't be bothered to book their seats in advance. This is the only time in doing this route for 33 years with various airlines that this has happened and, even as a platinum member, I will not put myself at risk of it happening again as it ruined the entire flight. Bye Bye KLM.

Route: Bangkok to Newcastle via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Tanzania

Title: "regret to have travelled with Air Tanzania"

Review: On August 10, 2020 we were scheduled to take flight TC 105 from JRO to ZNZ, this was a confirmed flight. We were planning to start our vacation stay on Zanzibar on August 10, 2020. Since our original flight has been cancelled (or changed, or had been wrongly advertised from the beginning) we had to postpone resp. had to shorten our stay for one full day (we took flight TC 137 on August 11, 2020, instead). This incurred costs on Zanzibar for at least our hotel (126 US dollars). I wrote to and received some initial response from your incidence handling team. But in the end there was no answer of any substance at all. There was some redundant email correspondence where one person from Air Tanzania haphazardly tried to make another person take some action (which action remained unclear). What I wanted was an explanation, an apology (for ruining one day of our holidays that we spent in lovely Tanzania in spite of the troubles we went to be able to travel abroad at all at these difficult times), and US$126 for the day we could not spend at Zanzibar (but had to pay for anyway) but instead at the miserable hotel near the airport. It only remains to express my severe regret to have travelled with Air Tanzania. I also think of their customer complaint handling as being quite unprofessional. When I tried to use the contact form on the Air Tanzania website it turned out to be unusable because it would not send my text. Then I tried to contact with the same text. The mail bounced immediately because, as it turns out, Air Tanzania blacklisted my email address! That's quite a impertinent way to deal with your customers.

Route: Kilimanjaro to Zanzibar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Astana

Title: "Service was excellent"

Review: Almaty - Saint-Petersburg is my favourite route. Flight was on time. Aircraft was brand new A320NEO (2 months old). Service was excellent, food was very good, choice of beverages perfect. Now airline using eco packs for amenity kits and it looks so good! And also inside of the kit they even put neck pillow, because flight was longer than 5 hours.

Route: Almaty to St. Petersburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "We were promised a refund"

Review: I was booked to fly but travel restrictions prevented our even getting to Bulgaria. We were promised a refund but never heard more and Air Bulgaria stopped responding to emails.

Route: Sofia to Wilmington via Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "a cattle call boarding experience"

Review: Granted flights were delayed, so the SW terminal was packed. However, my flight was on time. Because of the droves of people around the woman calling out boarding information, I could not hear her. She used a tiny microphone which actually none of us could hear. She then chose to yell out information which no one could hear either. Being my first time flying SW, I unfortunately, hadn't researched how they board people. I had no idea where C was and asked around to finally find where my boarding area was. There was a fellow C woman who moved around, so I followed her. She said that since A loaded, C could now line up. It was then I figured out what the other number was on my ticket- so I lined up in that spot that was on a sign. As I got on the plane, I asked the flight attendant how I get a seat, you just chose anything open. I had no idea. And I had checked my boarding pass and even pre-boarded. How did I miss this information? It truly was a cattle call boarding experience. Luckily there were some very nice people to help me along in the boarding process as to where to go. What a joke. What has happened to public transportation?

Route: Colorado Springs to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "crew were friendly and professional"

Review: My flight on 26th of August, from Johannesburg to Lisbon via Luanda, was as good as my return flight a month later on 25th September. Four planes of 777 and 777-300 used for my journeys. The food was tasty, the cabin crew were friendly and professional. Most important was the fact that the take off and landings where the best I have experienced in recent years. The price was good value for money. Luanda airport is poor, no shops to pass the time, but at least we don't walk kilometers to change terminals, which is a plus. The waiting time between flights is only about two hours and bearable. Another plus is the weight you are allowed to take. I will definitely fly TAAG again.

Route: JNB to LIB via LAD

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "definitely not worth the save"

Review: Arrived around 1:15 hours before my check-in and noticed they had a huge line due to only one court having an employee attending people. Decided to wait in line as they were not calling to check-in for our flight yet. Waited for more than 30 min and when finally arrived my time they said that the check-in was closed and said that kept calling people in the line for the last call and even took pictures, which was a total lie, I requested the pictures and they started making excuses that could not show me that. The worst part was that the airplane only left the airport after 2 hours, so if they really wanted to fix the things, they had plenty of time to figure it out and accommodated us. After a lot of coming back and forth, I was told by a supervisor that they would include us, without charges, in the next flight. He mentioned to talk to the customer service and, after I did it, they said that needed a note from this supervisor, and surprisingly, he disappeared. Lynx court just had nobody to talk to the clients and their online and phone costumer service have only 2 people to solve problems to the entire country. Found other people in similar situation and everybody was really upset with what was going on. In order to not delay my life due to a totally disorganized company, I decided to pay for our flight tickets (that at the moment were costing 3 times what we originally pay for the flight that I lost). They offered me a $50 voucher, which the agent said that was going to be applied to my total amount. However, when I finally arrived home and had some time to see my bank statements, I noticed they charged me the full amount (without the discount applied) and promptly contacted them to have that fixed. They said that could not do anything other than give me another $50 voucher. I told them that that was absurd and it doesnt make sense to me as will never fly with lynx again. After threatening them with a sue, they finally issued my refund. Long story short, if you want to save money, try perhaps Flair because Lynx it is definitely not worth the save.

Route: Toronto to Calgary

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "was a great travel experience"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Perth. Best low cost airline. On time departure, nice clean aircraft, excellent options in food and beverage, staff with excellent service attitude, decent pitch between seats. It was a great travel experience at a very low cost, excellent value. I will travel and recommend Air Asia anytime

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "terrible treatment of a customer"

Review: I have flown Icelandair numerous times in the past, its been my preferred travel route to Europe. Ive always had a good experience, until recently. I am so incredibly disappointed in the poor customer service my boyfriend and I have received recently. I booked a trip to Europe to visit friends and naturally, I booked with Icelandair. My boyfriend decided he wanted to fly out to join us a few days into my trip. Per my recommendation, we booked him with Icelandair. During the time of booking, there was no travel restrictions for American tourists traveling to the Netherlands (our destination). For layovers in the KEF airport, it was required for American tourists to provide a negative COVID test OR a proof of vaccination. My boyfriend was scheduled to depart our local airport on September 5th. On September 4th the travel restrictions were altered and suddenly both a negative test and proof of vaccination was required. When my boyfriend arrived at the airport, he was denied boarding onto his plane. He is not vaccinated, but was able to provide the negative test. This was no longer sufficient. This caused numerous issues and loss of funds for both of us, throughout my entire trip. When we contacted customer service regarding the refund, we were told that he would not be issued one! I am just besides myself at the unwillingness to help us due to the circumstances. This is completely ridiculous. Not only was this of no fault of ours, we also purchased the Travel Protection Plan! We were still told that he has been listed as a No Show and our situation doesn't fit into the policy for any of the refund guidelines. I understand that times are strange, and restrictions change almost daily (why we purchased the protection plan). I can't believe this company is profiting off of passengers who have already been inconvenienced tremendously, at no fault of their own. We are being forced to pay for a series of flights that were never taken, refused a refund for the because of what? The airline wasn't inconvenienced at all. The airline lost no money by him not being on the flight. This is terrible business, extremely unethical and terrible treatment of a customer. I will never fly Icelandair ever again. I will make sure no one in my family, my friends, or anyone in my industry flies with Icelandair again.

Route: Boston to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "Miserable experience"

Review: Miserable experience: very expensive, online booking guides you to purchase 20kg allowance when it is included already. Asked for refund, no help. Never again

Route: Manila to Dumaguete

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "charged for the extra luggage"

Review: Colombo to Sydney via Kuala Lumpur. My wife and I have travelled from Sydney to Trichy in July. I purchased the baggage for 25kg each but the actual weight was only 15kg each. The airline said that they cannot downgrade the allowance once it is paid. When we came back from Colombo to Sydney in August, we got 6kg over weight. Therefore I have tried to increase the allowance from 25kg to 30kg for each. I have spent about 5 hours in my phone and several attempts to increase the allowance, but the Airasia system did not allow me to do so. Although it is their system issue, I was charged for the extra luggage at very high rate at the Colombo airport and I was advised to get the refund at KLIA. The customer service person at the KLIA advise me to try the telephone customer support team. The telephone customer support team asked me to fill an eForm to get the refund. But the airline has treated me with suspicious instead of investigating the failure of their system. I have only requested the refund of surcharge fee at the airport (i.e. difference between the online fee and the airport fee for the additional luggage).

Route: Colombo to Sydney via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "Never will I fly Hawaiian Airlines"

Review:

Never will I ever fly Hawaiian airlines even if they let me fly for free! Our family was stop at the boarding gate because we had shopping bags and purse, saying they only allow 1 carry on 1 personal items. So if you went shopping they count that as a personal item so you cant bring it on the plane. Doesnt everyone go shopping for souvenirs? How is one suppose to bring it back? How about food n snacks if you carry the snack in your hands its also consider as a personal item. Even my small Fanny pack was consider a personal item so I ask what do they want me to do they rudely reply as thats for you to figure out! While rolling their eyes. Never will I fly Hawaiian Airlines.

Route: Hawaii to Sacramento

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "non availability of bus"

Review: Raipur to Delhi on 28th November. After reaching Delhi Airport the cabin crew forced us to stand in flight for around 40 minutes due to non availability of bus. When we try to discuss this to crew members they did not respond and ignored us.

Route: Raipur to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Zambia Airways

Title: "Nice staff, water served ad libitum"

Review: Flew Lusaka to Ndola via Solwezi 11 Sept. 22 on an old De Havilland Dash 8 propeller aircraft. The airline has been revoked by financial infusion from Ethiopian and appear to be very reliable according to statistics and my experience. Zambia Airways has only this sole aircraft only but 2 new aircrafts are ordered incl. a B737. Flight on time. Luggage generous, but no space for hand-luggage, it has to go as inscribed (except my laptop). Nice staff, water served ad libitum which was welcomed on a hot day. Noisy, but cosy. Luggage no issues. Price cheaper than the private competitor Proflight Zambia which further have only 15 kg luggage allowance. Homepage excellent, fast and friendly. Recommended.

Route: Lusaka to Ndola

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Shanghai Airlines

Title: "don't choose Shanghai Airlines"

Review: Tianjin to Shanghai. Terrible service, terrible food and terrible airplane. Dirty and smelly, the cabin staff so miserable and horrible. Delays again with no announcement or no apology. If you come to China and you fly on a scheduled not budget airline, don't choose Shanghai Airlines.

Route: TSN to SHA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "the worst airline ever"

Review: This is the worst airline ever. Could not check in online, called a dozen times and the call would drop, and when I arrive at the airport, the crib service is not available because of that. I had to fly 10 hours with my baby on top of me. They should close.

Route: Madrid to Miami

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "rather disappointed"

Review: The First Suite has a lot of space and a lot of gadgets, and some fellow travelers might be impressed. I was rather disappointed by the outline and design of the suite. The bed is not in the direction of the travel, but across the suite. It is narrow and very hard. If the bed is in the non-sleeping position, then it just hangs at the wall to the next suite like a white chunk of wood. In order to dine from the table one has to turn the chair towards the aisle, or towards the fellow traveller in the opposite suite (which is not very private, when, as in my case, the door does not close properly).

On both legs to and from Sydney there were technical issues in the suite: either the door could not be closed properly, or the entertainment system did not work at all, or not properly, the seat belt did not fit into the mattress, etc. To add as well, that Singapore Airlines seems to have cut the quality and diversity of the food and wine on offer. Only the Caviar was nicely presented and met the quality standard of First Class food. (On my way to Singapore I have enjoyed Swiss and their First Class product. For a frequent traveller their product was First Class all over, (only with the exception of the bathroom).

Route: Singapore to Sydney

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Never again on Tigerair"

Review: Never again on Tigerair. Our flight from Sydney to Gold Coast was delayed for 7 hours from 12:00pm to 6:25pm which took off at 7:05pm. All they could do is offering us a refund on a condition that we fly with another airline which was impossible to find. When I complained they never apologized but instead they said this is a budget airline which means that long delays should be expected. It was more disappointing that they offered us $15 vouchers per person for lunch and diner. And they had the guts to sell drinks on board instead of giving complimentary drinks due to the 7 hours delay.

Route: Sydney to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "Horrible customer service"

Review: Horrible customer service, they told me to get a cabin bag as a personal item bag, but I had a doubt and got a duffel bag which didnt fit in their scale but it was less than 7kgs, and thats what customer service team told me, that it doesnt matter what kind of a bag you get but it should be upto 7 kgs which I made sure and my bags weight was 5.5kgs. At the time of check in they charged me $80 by saying that my duffel bag will be considered as a carry on bag, this is so frustrating thats I had to pay for my personal item. And also at the time of check in the guy from flair airlines told me that you should check it online instead on calling at the customer service, why the hell you would even have a customer service if they cant give me any kind of services.

Route: Toronto to Abbotsford

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "willing to pay to get the upgrade"

Review: Paris to Chennai. I asked if they can upgrade to business class and the amount. They said it would be $625. After thinking I said yes. But by then they started take off procedures and later the air hostess came and said that they didnt do it because of paper work. I was really frustrated as I was willing to pay to get the upgrade.

Route: Paris to Chennai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "bad experience with baggage"

Review: We flew from Sudney to Los Angeles on Fiji Airways. The overall service was okay, however we had a bad experience with their carry on baggage demands. Before we flew, I had contacted Fiji Airways and specifically asked about their baggage policies. We measured our carry on bags and they were within their limits. We were told an oversized piece would be 100AUD. On checking in at Sydney they claimed my wife's bag was oversized. It fitted into the metal bin with two wheels hanging on the lip by 1/4 inch. They were adamant it was oversized, told us we would have to pay the fee to receive boarding passes and then charged 120AUD to add insult to injury. The bag met their weight and size requirement. We filed a complaint with American Express who refunded our fee. Fiji also made me count a medically necessary device as a carry on item. Fiji Airways forced us to pay unwarranted charges, were rude and refused to let us board until their fees were paid. We will never fly with this airline again.

Route: SYD to LAX

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "line which moves very slowly"

Review: Milan to Toronto. At Milan Airport you have to stay in a line which moves very slowly to get your boarding pass. If you like to check in online I believe you have to pay a fee.

Route: Milan to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: S7 Siberia Airlines

Title: "The flight was really good"

Review: Moscow to Mineralnye Vody. It was the first time that I bought simple economy class without any luggage. Previous experience with Russian low-costs was far from successful, but before that I used S7 services a lot, so that made me choose that option. Also regarding the fact, that tickets were the cheapest ones at that moment. The flight was really good. Punctual, with friendly cabin crew and nice green airplane (I like their design and its an important factor for me). However, I want to leave some life hacks for that tariff option, that may help future passengers to avoid some undesirable obstacles and enjoy the flight as I did. Ive seen here some critic about that proposal of S7 and I guess often the reason is, that were are not used to such types of flights. First of all, be aware what is included in your ticket and what isnt. In the case of basic economy class it food, beverages and 10 kg of hand luggage. You have to pay for a normal luggage and choosing the place in plane. Important thing - if you bought tickets together, it makes no sense to pay for a place to sit also together. A system will make it automatically, so just save your money. In case of additional luggage - its better to purchase it in the internet. It will be cheaper than in the airport. In the airplane there isnt always a lot of free space for hand luggage, but if you have a problem - just ask the stewardess. They are pretty friendly and always here to help. Also if food portion was small for you - you can always ask for additional one. Regarding my experience with S7, cabin crew will never say no.

Route: Moscow to Mineralnye Vody

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "Terrible customer service"

Review: Worst airline I have ever flown with. Chaotic, unorganised, unhelpful. Lost our bags twice. Said they would email or phone me when arrived. Still hadnt heard anything after 4 days so turned up at airport and bags were sitting in a corner! Ruined my holiday. Terrible customer service. After traveling to 49 countries, this is the worst airline I have ever experienced. Would avoid whenever possible.

Route: Maui to Honolulu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nature Air

Title: "Thanks for the personal touch"

Review: Puerto Jimenez to San Jose. Yesterday we returned to the US from Costa Rica. Our flight was scheduled to depart from Puerto Jimenez 10:15 a.m. but the plane schedule to pick us up had some difficulty and would not be able to pick us up. The gate attendant was very helpful and was able to call in a small plane from another domestic company, Aero Bell. We had paid the flex fare to allow us to carry a bit more luggage (which was well-discussed in our confirmation letter.) The 6-seater plane that replaced our original was able to get us to San Jose with an extremely tight connection. We were met at the Nature Air terminal by 2 attendants who carried our luggage to a waiting bus to get us to the main terminal. We were the only 2 passengers on that bus. The same 2 attendants carried our luggage to the United ticket counter and waited until United agreed to get us on the waiting flight. Again, the same two Nature Air employees grabbed our luggage and shepherded us through security and directly to our departure gate with only minutes to spare. Without their constant attention, we never would have made the connection. They went above and beyond to make an unfortunate situation a good one. That was especially important since departure options for later that day did not exist. As we waited to confirm we could get on the United flight, the attendant called his boss and offered to pay for a hotel room and shuttle in case we were not able to make the connection. That is what we would expect from a large airline, and it was nice to see it in this regional carrier. We have made 2 trips to Costa Rica with Nature Air, and we would do it again. Thanks for the personal touch and a job well-done.

Route: Puerto Jimenez to San Jose

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jin Air

Title: "this airline is not worth it"

Review: First of all, I flew with this airline in 2018 and early 2019 a few times. Let me tell you, don't be fooled by its low prices, this airline is not worth it. The most glaring weakness with Jin Air is its lack of in-flight entertainment. There are absolutely no TV's in sight, as well as no trays to put any devices you have on. Even the airline safety consists only of a pre-recorded message played over the PA system. Your Jin Air flight will probably be one of the most boring flights you will ever have. You could try to sleep, but Jin Air has a very bad problem I have experienced in other airlines: overheating. There was one flight where as the flight was approaching Seoul, the temperature suddenly got very hot (around 28 degrees Celsius). It lasted for around an hour. There were also no accommodations of any sort: no water, no food, no service. In the end, I do not recommend Jin Air unless you really want to save a lot of money. It will be a very unpleasant few hours.

Route: Hong Kong to Seoul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "hope I never get near Aeromexico again"

Review: A thousand words are not enough for me to describe how horrible it was for me and other hundreds of people the experience we had with Aeromexico during the weekend of May 20 and 21st - 2023. Apart from the fact that Aeromexico lost my luggage (then LATAM recovered it), I had to wait in line for literally 6 hours so I could ask "where's my bag?". Other people waited for much longer than 6 hours, I was a lucky one. The, when I finally got my turn in line the woman tells me it's not their fault and that I have to look for my luggage again elsewhere or talk to LATAM (which was responsible for my next flight). That weekend while other companies were also having trouble because of some unfortunate climate events, Aeromexico was the only company which made people wait for more than 30 hours so they could take off. Their website is trash. Their app is trash. And based on other's reviews it seems they don't invest enough in tech so they can offer a better and more automated service. Not to mention the fact that they offer flights in international airports and when you ask their staff if they speak english they just shake their head and turn their backs for you. I hope I never get near Aeromexico again.

Route: Cancun to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "apathy and terrible customer service"

Review: I booked a flight for November in July. Booked seats, meals, baggage insurance et all. There were non existent choices for food but a 16 hour flight required some nourishment so we made do. Its a specific visit for a day - for a wedding. A very long distance and time required for such a short visit. But one that cant be avoided. So I book the flight and book other requirements like taxis, hotels, meals etc. including hair dresser etc cause I have that little time. And they cancel the flight 2 plus weeks later. I was offered a flight the next day. The same time in the night. After the wedding is over. Makes no sense. I explained that and was told I will get a full refund. I scramble around and find another flight an hour later than this was to depart, pay more of it and ask for a refund for the one cancelled by the airline. 12 days now. Nothing. No refund. No response. Im going bonkers calling a pathetic call centre. There is no customer service. There is zero empathy. Zero understanding of the situation and no refund for a flight that I didnt cancel the airline did. And forced me to pay more to get another ticket for the same day. Its a clear situation. They cancelled the flight. And we dont have an option to go later. Its not a leisure visit. Its an event. Never ever going to use this airline ever again no matter the situation or what they offer. This is the first time I have ever come across such apathy and terrible customer service. Such a complete failure of a service provider.

Route: Sydney to Delhi via Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "one week later cancel flights"

Review: You will reach your destination faster by walking. They charge for tickets, one week later cancel flights, then you wait months to get your money back, if you will ever receive your money back.

Route: Bucharest to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "They are not paying me!"

Review: I've wrangled for a year unsuccessfully with Sri Lankan Airlines for a refund of my parents' and my flight on 17 May 2019, weeks after Colombo's Easter 2019 terrorist attacks. On 28 and 30 Apr 2019 I called their hotline twice. The situation then was very uncertain after the blasts. Both times, I asked the personnel on the hotline if it was possible to cancel our 3 return Singapore-Colombo tickets due to the blasts. I quoted our 3 booking reference numbers and our names. I was told both times by the personnel who answered that I could cancel our tickets immediately on the call but had to complete and submit the refund request on Sri Lankan Airline's website to get my refund. On my call on 30 Apr 2019 I told the lady to process the cancellations of our tickets. I submitted the online request using the webform but i did not get any confirmation email and I did not receive any refund. I called again to follow up and was told to email the airline. When I emailed I was initially told that my tickets were non-refundable. When I asked why I was told twice when I called that our tickets could be cancelled and I could be refunded the airline emailed back stating "Please be informed that the company has offered a full refund only for the flights which departs from 21st APR- 15TH MAY 2019 and since your travelling dates are in 17th MAY, we regret to inform you that we are unable to offer a full refund. However we will be able to refund the unutilized taxes of the same, if you wish to proceed with the refund, please send us your confirmation for further assistance." I refused to accept just the tax and continued emailing them a few times. The customer service division eventually passed me to Customer Affairs Supervisor who flatly pressed on denying a refund. On 13 May 2021 after months of frustration I finally told the airline to refund just the tax, stating that I reserved my rights to the airfare. They took awhile to reply, then finally told me that past one year of issuance of the ticket, even the refund of the tax portion was invalid! To this, I reasoned that tax was payable by the airline to the government. But if we didn't fly, the tax would not be paid and the fact that the ticket was issued a year ago could not bar me from receiving the amount of tax the airline collected from me. I have not heard back, but with the airline's outrageous stance so far, I am not hopeful. Sri Lankan Airlines may be going through tough times financially with the Easter blasts and now with Covid. Be extremely careful about believing anything they say about refunds. They are not paying me!

Route: Singapore to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Turkish Airlines

Title: "They are very unorganized and unhelpful"

Review: When I reached Casablanca, I couldnt find my luggage. So I went to the baggage department and asked them. They informed me that the luggage was still in Istanbul and it would arrived the next day. I called the next day to check my luggage but the staff said they didnt have any information of the whereabouts of the luggage. This is very unacceptable. How it is possible that they couldnt give me any information of the whereabouts of it. It took many phone calls to finally get any information that the luggage was arranged to be delivered to Casablanca the next day of my arrival flight but the airport staff couldnt confirm it was received or not and this is already the fifth day from the day I lost my luggage. They are very unorganized and unhelpful. The system is full of flaws. No information, no updates, they couldnt help with anything. They only thing they said, we will call you once we receive the luggage and until then there is nothing we can do. I am staying in Casablanca for only 6 days. It took many headaches because I am here in Casablanca for someones birthday as well for a familys wedding. I had to run around to find clothes, make up, shoes. All the gifts and important things are in the luggage. I even got sick and my medicines are in the luggage. I am really not recommending Turkish Airlines.

Route: Dubai to Casablanca via Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Rp. 223,009 for additional 10 kg baggage"

Review: Tried to buy additional 10 kg baggage from AirAsia website <https://www.airasia.com/member/mybookings#tab-flights> on 18 June using my credit card. After 3 fail attempts due to my cc wasnt able to be verified, I gave up. Checked my email the next day before my flight, didnt receive any email confirmation that my additional 10 kg baggage purchase has been approved. I decided to only bring one check in luggage weight only 19 kg When I checked in in jakarta airport, i was forced to pay Rp. 223,009 for additional 10 kg baggage which transaction wasnt successful or been confirmed. Tried to ask for my refund from AirAsia customer service at Denpasar airport was told to go through AVA which were very helpful airasia customer service hosted by AI, after waiting waiting for more than an hour, my queue was terminated, Without email confirmation whether the transaction was successful, they just forced me to pay something you didnt purchase?

Route: Jakarta to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "I was pleasantly surprised"

Review: I was very sceptical about flying Viva due to the low rating online. However I was pleasantly surprised the plane was very comfortable, The crew was nice and friendly, The flights were on time and I had Zero Issues. I would definitely fly Viva again.

Route: Guadalajara to Mazatlán

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "Staff was unprofessional"

Review: Tokyo to Rome. The airplane was dirty and poorly maintained. Me and my neighbor had broken seats and our screens were small and not functioning properly. Staff was unprofessional. Chatting loudly with each other throughout the flight, even during the service. As I move to the back of the plane to get something to drink, they were sitting there having their loud conversation and minding their own business. No one asked me if I needed something.

Route: Tokyo to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "wouldn't travel this airline again"

Review: This flight was sold to us as one stop. However, there were in fact 2 stops. London Heathrow to Bandar seri Begawan stopping in Dubai, and we later connected to Bali. This should have been sold as 2 stops as it is misleading to say it's one and very wrong. We wouldn't have bought this flight if we had known. Brunei BWN airport has nothing in it. We had an 11 hour stop over which was torture. There are no restaurants or bars in the departures lounge and the whole airport smells of urine, partly due to the revolting toilets. Onboard the flights, the evening meals were tasty. Choice of chicken or beef (chicken lasagne / stir fry ginger beef - chicken chausseur / beef biriyani). Lunch was a disgusting and sour lemon chicken wrap that repeated on you. Breakfast was disgusting chicken sausage or beef sausage with a vile baked egg style thing. Due to being an airline based in a Muslim country, this is a dry airline and all food is halal. A 2 minute long prayer is said before each take off which is quite in your face for people that don't follow Islam. Seats are reasonably comfy - ok leg room. In flight entertainment was good, quite recent films. The cabin crew were very attentive and polite. I wouldn't travel with this airline again.

Route: LHR to DPS via DXB / BWN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Peruvian Airlines

Title: "how bad Peruvian Airlines were"

Review: We (a couple in our sixties) had booked a return flight without knowing how bad Peruvian Airlines were. On the way from Lima to Cuzco we were bumped twice and left hanging at the airport with no food, changed gate twice, and eventually left 7 hours later. The excuse was 'weather' but approx 6 flights from even the smallest other airlines continued to fly - it was perfectly clear when we eventually landed and the locals said it was fine all day. So total lie by this airline. No service whatsoever. On our return journey arrived at airport 3 hours early only to find a line of approx 160 people (I did a head count) whose previous flight had been cancelled. Stood in line for over 1 hour with one junior at the desk, not one bag or check in was done. All staff abandoned desk and refused to talk to anybody at all. Crowd was angry and baying for blood. Found out our flight was also likely to be cancelled with no reason. I went to windows and noticed no planes from this pack of idiots anywhere so ran to LAN and bought two new tickets - yes, more expensive (plus I lost my other airfare) but perfect service. The lady from LAN told me it happens almost daily with Peruvian.

Route: CUZ to LIM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "worst airline I ever used"

Review: it is the only connection that safes me from driving to Berlin Tegel to fly to Munich, I wanted to use British Midlands from Rostock to Munich. However the first booking I had was outbound 27.7. from Rostock. The takeoff was 2 Hours delayed, the arrival in Munich too. I lost my reservation at the car hire and had to pay double. At the inbound flight on 30.7. we drove to the airplane by bus, where waiting there 20 Minutes in front of the airplane, until bbeing told there is no crew here yet. The actual departure was 3 Hours delayed. Today the filght was cancelled completely with the notice 2 hours before take off. The worst airline I ever used. It feels as if they are one step away from closing down. Unfortunately I have two bookings pending from November. I think I will cancel them on my costs and accept the drive to Berlin Tegel.

Route: Rostock to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "avoid using them in the future"

Review: Didn't like this flight or airline. The airline had no blankets and the plane was cold. They didn't even have any to buy from them. The seats don't recline at all so forgot using a neck pillow. Couldn't change my ore ordered food. The options are shocking anyways so we turned ours down at 4am. Would try to avoid using them in the future.

Route: Manilla to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "old-style side-by-side seating"

Review: At a time when many airlines are improving their product, Kenya Airways appears to be going in the opposite direction. Getting onto the aircraft in Nairobi was chaotic with no priority given to business passengers for the airline Sky Priority means nothing. From the boarding gate we then went on a long bus journey around the airport before returning to part of the terminal to climb up stairs to get onto the aircraft. Although the cabin crew were very pleasant and offered a pre-flight drink (champagne, water or apple juice) no more drinks were served until after the meal arrived. This was a total disappointment with my beef option consisting of two small pieces of beef, some sauce and a mini samosa. It was complemented with a glass of wine in a thimble-sized glass which was only refilled when we asked the crew. One of the mysteries of the flight was why the lavatory at the front of the aircraft permanently had an engaged light on. When we asked we were told that the captain had said that it was reserved for the crew and passengers could not use it. Another mystery was a man who spent the entire flight sat on the crew jumpseat in the middle of the business section. I asked him what he was doing and he explained that the crew could not find me anywhere to sit. Given that airlines flying into the UK have a legal obligation to provide advance passenger information 24-hours before arrival it would be interesting to know how this requirement was met. Although the aircraft was clean and the flight was smooth, Kenya Airways 787 are let down by their old-style side-by-side seating which was worn and, in some cases, not functioning properly. The fact that the flight was full suggests that the airline has no problem selling tickets and therefore little incentive to improve its product.

Route: Nairobi to London Heathrow

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "don't trust them anymore"

Review: It was a terrifying experience from Etihad. I have booked my ticket on Etihad from Manchester to Kochi, via Abu Dhabi, on April 2013. The ticket was confirmed and when I reached the airport the airline people give me only one boarding pass, and said that the next one will be issued at Abu Dhabi. I didn't feel anything unusual about that. When I reached Abu Dhabi the transfer desk crew told me that I cant travel on the flight which I have booked and the flight is over booked. I was shocked and I found a group of people who were in my situation, fighting with the staff as they were nearly 24 hours in Abu Dhabi for the next flight. The reason was economy travelers have seats only after other class, and this was not mentioned during the ticket was booked. After a long fight I got my seat, after all the passengers boarded. This was the first time I travel on Etihad and will be the last time. I don't trust them anymore.

Route: Manchester to Kochi via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "Absolutely atrocious"

Review: Flew SmartWings from London Gatwick to Prague. Absolutely atrocious, do not fly this airline. I was due to fly for a holiday over the easter break. When I got to the airport they put me on standby. Then the plane was delayed by four hours. Then I was refused boarding due to overbooking. Have been trying to claim compensation but the claim form on their website doesn't work and no one replies to the emails.

Route: London Gatwick to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "Gluten Free meals are excellent"

Review: Brisbane to Dubai. Paid for seat selection and was given correct seat aisle 84c was fortunate there was empty middle seat on 14 hour flight. The Gluten Free meals which Emirates serve are excellent. The flight went smoothly and landed safely. Perhaps the only negative was water given with 2 meals and snack no cabin crew coming around with extra water between you seem to have to ask. Then stayed overnight at Dubai Airport Hotel before onward journey to Venice.

Route: Brisbane to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "do not book Tigerair"

Review: Melbourne to Brisbane. No hassle flying to Melbourne however departing is a different story. Original departing flight delayed, then cancelled and no other flights available for two days. At this rate, we had been at the airport for 6 hours, it was nearly midnight and no accommodation was available as they were completely booked out. Our flight was now scheduled two days later. Not only did we have to find accommodation an hour away, but we had to pay an extra $550. Next, our new flight get delayed and then we miss our flight due to the sky buses taking two hours to get to the airport (We will take the blame for that part because we should have researched). So we finally arrive, flight missed but still optimistic because the service desk lady told us there would be another flight available at 1. The lady at the service desk then asks us to come back 30 mins later to book the new flight. When we come back, she tells us we cannot book the flight because its full and check-in time is closed. Why tell us to come back when the check-in time would be closed and the flight is booked out? Anyway, the next available flights are nearly $400 each. Two emotional breakdowns and new flight tickets later, we are finally coming home with Jetstar. If you want to keep your sanity and have a hassle-free flight that doesnt include wasting an extra $600 because of cancelled flights then do not book Tigerair. Might I add, when we were stranded at the airport at midnight after the cancelled flight, visibly shaken because we are young girls that are basically homeless, nearly all of the Tigerair employees had left and the one thing they told us was to just book a DiDi for half price. Thanks Tiger Air.

Route: Melbourne to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "unprofessional and liars"

Review: Chicago to Cebu via Shanghai. I had knee replacement 13 weeks prior to this trip so I ordered and paid extra money for bulkhead seats. Upon arrival in China my knee was sore and swollen so I asked for a wheelchair. I was promptly told no, you don't need a wheelchair. On the return flight we did not get the bulkhead seats I paid for. I asked for an upgrade or a refund for the last leg of the flight. I was told the plane is full and that to get a refund I need to call this number. I took pictures on the plane of 12 empty business class seats. I called the number and gave them the confirmation receipt and was I ordered the upgrade too long ago and their is nothing they can do now. They are rude, unprofessional and liars.

Route: Chicago to Cebu via Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "never fly this airline again"

Review: They don't answer your calls, respond to live chat or even turn up at the airport to tell you your flight is cancelled. What I witnessed tonight at Ho Chi Minh Airport deeply disturbed me. Old people, families, budget travellers - queuing up in preparation for a flight, coming to the realisation after no one turned up or messaged up or contacted anyone, that no flight was leaving. I will never fly this airline again.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "onboard experience for these short flights is top notch"

Review: Goa to Bombay in an A320neo in Business Class. Vistara's onboard experience for these short flights is top notch. Good seats, good service, good snacks. My one complaint is the choice of music in flight: India is a land with a great musical tradition and instead of featuring an Indian music selection, Vistara for some reason has decided to go with bad Western music. Also - when is Vistara going to provide inflight wifi?

Route: GOI to BOM

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "dont ever fly LOT Polish Airlines"

Review: Please save yourself and dont ever fly LOT Polish Airlines. They have the worst customer service. My round trip to Europe started and ended in a horrible way because of them. I am used to delays and realize certain things are out of their control but the way they handle them is unacceptable. My flight out of Chicago was delayed over 6hrs and they didnt have a gate agent there until halfway through delay to provide any info and help with re-booking, even when she came she was useless. Didnt provide any water or snacks either and most airports concessions were closed. Same for customer service on phone, you wait 2hrs to talk to someone and when you do they are not helpful and even yell at you. Coming back to Chicago same experience, waited for baggage for 3 hours after an almost 10 hour flight with a little one and when it did not show up, cant find any of their representatives to help out with filing a claim and tracking where it is. Also their food is in-edible and they had no regards of my sons allergies. I had called to let them know hes allergic to tree nuts and sesame and they bring me a peanut free meal which is not helpful and they dont even apologize or try to offer solution.

Route: Warsaw to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "Swoop is a joke"

Review: Got to London no issues, flight on time, weather perfect in both locations. 100pm they cancelled our 120pm flight. Set it back up for the next morning at 7. Reason being they set the flight times to late and they can't get us through Sanford customs before 5pm when they close. I see I'm not the first person to have this review. They won't do anything about expenses in Florida or the lost time for the travel day in London. Gate staff were good but just minimum wage employees that have just about as much info as we have. In the shop and I don't care about the flight quality or leg room because if you can't even set up a flight schedule that works I don't have a lot of faith in anything else you can do. Swoop is a joke.

Route: London to Sanford

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Boutique Air

Title: "dragging their feet on refunding"

Review: Purchased a book of 10 flight vouchers for the Phoenix to Show Low route in December 2021. Boutique dropped this route in July 2022 and are dragging their feet on refunding my 7 unused vouchers. Have spoken with customer service twice in July and September and been told they would be refunded but as of October they have not.

Route: Phoenix to Show Low

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "had a horrible experience"

Review: I travelled JetBlue for the first time and had a horrible experience. Firstly the flight was delayed and they lost our luggage. We had very important material for our fair and as exhibitors we did not have items to showcase. More so it was so difficult to reach them, we dont have an update yet its Been 2 days. Its been a bad experience, so disappointed, would never take this flight again.

Route: New York to Milwaukee

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "so unfriendly to me"

Review: Phuket to Oslo via Moscow. The crew on board were so unfriendly to me, and the ground crew were worse. I have never had such a negative experience with any airline. They were not lifting a finger to help me, even when the flight was delayed and security process on transit was so slow that we missed our flight. They had no procedure of how to take care of passengers that missed their connection flight, and we were stuck at Moscow airport with two toddlers.

My advise is simply to stay away.

Route: Phuket to Oslo via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "It was the worst travel experience"

Review: We traveled with Kuwait Airways recently for the first time from JFK to go to Chennai, India, specifically for a friends wedding. We had a group of 7 of us traveling to the wedding, including the bride and groom. Our flight left 3 hours late from NYC and we were told by the team on flight that we wouldnt miss our connecting Kuwait flight to Chennai and that they wait for even 1 passenger. Sure enough when we got to Kuwait the connecting flight had left and they said they cannot wait for anyone. The next flight was a day later and after pleading they switched the 7 of us to a SriLankan Airlines flight and advised us to travel to Sri Lanka and then to Chennai and told us they were issuing the 7 of us the same flight. After waiting 6 hours in a very disorganized airport, the 7 of us arrived in Sri Lanka to find out that 2 of the members of our party (my husband and I) were issued the wrong flight that left 7 hours later from Sri Lanka. We begged the airlines there to let us on the earlier flight but since it was Kuwait Airways mistake we couldnt get on the flight. After 33 hours of traveling to the other side of the world, we ended up missing our friends wedding in Chennai and the bride and groom lost money on several events they had to cancel leading up to their wedding. It was the worst travel experience we have ever had and we are frequent international travelers. Dont fly this airlines unless you enjoy nightmares.

Route: New York to Chennai via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "They sold me a fake ticket"

Review: Booked a ticket from Bali to Jakarta departing at 7am. But there is not flight until 10am same day. They sold me a fake ticket. Missed my meeting and lost my money.

Route: Bali to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "overall a good carrier"

Review: My wife and I travelled from Cape Town to Barcelona via Zurich in November 2017 with our 8 month old baby on Edelweiss / Swiss Air. My review is in connection with the long-haul flights between Cape Town and Zurich. Edelweiss is overall a good carrier. The aircraft was new, clean and engendered trust in the airline, however there are two points which the airline has to improve upon: Accommodating babies. On the Cape Town to Zurich leg, there was insufficient time to book a seat at the bulkhead with a Bassinet, however the Cape Town ground crew assisted us and upgraded us to 'Economy Max' which provided us with bulkhead seating and a bassinet for our baby to sleep in, which was appreciated and not expected. However upon our return trip, which ironically was when we had the foresight to try to book a bulkhead seat in normal economy, we found that in trying to book a bulkhead seat and a bassinet (both on the website and via email correspondence) ,the airline did not accommodate us. We even paid 58CHF to secure 2 seats, however there were no bulkhead seats available and NO provision for parents with babies who actually need those bulkhead seats due to the bassinet facilities. Upon arrival at both Barcelona and Zurich Airports - on return to Cape Town - the ground crew would not or could not help us. We therefore had to travel 12 hours with a baby on our lap between Zurich and Cape Town and noted that the bulkhead seats were not occupied by people with babies. A most uncomfortable arrangement, with airline crew not assisting in making it any more easy for us or offering more suitable seating with a bassinet. It is totally unacceptable that no provision is made for booking with infants on the website or via email. We did send an email about 3 days prior to our trip, but this was only answered upon retuning to Cape Town. Not acceptable. The boarding system is chaotic. Not only in Cape Town, but Barcelona and Zurich. Everyone rushes at the same time to board the aircraft upon announcement of boarding. Why does the airline not look at what Singapore Airlines or other airlines do in boarding in a systematic and orderly fashion - thereby reducing an anxious and chaotic boarding process. They are a Swiss Airline after all - one would expect it! Ironically, upon getting into the aircraft, the aircrew constantly harass passengers with an announcement basically saying that passengers much step aside and get in their seats as soon as possible to allow other passengers to board. Surely if they instituted an orderly boarding system, this would actually be far more efficient, and this announcement would be unnecessary?

Route: Barcelona to Cape Town via Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "Sunwing treats you like livestock"

Review: Sunwing used to be good. Now they make you take a bus in Toronto to a terminal that is far. Both ways. When you arrive back in Toronto you have to wait an hour for bags. They only include water, coffee and tea for free. Soda you have to buy. They have tickets where you fly to different airports to pick up passengers. For our flight from Toronto to Cayo Coco we went to Santa Clara first to pick up people and in Santa Clara we had to leave the plane, go through security, take shoes off and board plane again. One hour+ process. Our flight was also delayed so our whole trip Toronto to hotel took 10 hours. Fly to Cuba, but use a better service provider. Sunwing treats you like livestock.

Route: Toronto to Cayo Coco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "never book with this airline"

Review: Paid for a flight at the airport to fly out shortly after, only to be immediately put on standby because they overbooked the flight. When asking for full refund, they hold $5000 for 45 days (and still not received) and only offer of refund was with a no show fee deducted, despite being at the airport when making the booking! Frankly unacceptable behaviour and no urgency to refund in full. Strongly advise to never book with this airline!

Route: Nairobi to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "Worst customer service"

Review: We arrived at SFO Air Italy desk to see staff was just standing around and talking, it was as we where inconveniencing them. I was trying to ask questions but they would over talk me and not take the time to listen to my questions. I just gave up on asking about our seats. Worst customer service ever. On our flight, the attendants stood in the back galley talking. This is not an airline I will be flying in the future.

Route: San Francisco to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Mauritius

Title: "staff unhappy and unmotivated"

Review: Mauritius to London. Checkin was chaotic leading to long queues with not enough staff to deal with it and looking visibly unhappy too. It took about 1.5 hours to get to front of queue for checkin. We boarded late only then to sit for about an hour in swelteringly hot and airless cabin before takeoff as the auxiliary power unit was not on, probably to save the airline money as the crew were unwilling to say more than they were suffering too and encouraged me to complain to the airline. Once again, staff unhappy and unmotivated. Requests to talk to senior crew member were ignored and they only came to answer my call button to switch it off, muttering 'later' or words to that effect. No choice of breakfast offered but what came was the most unappetising on any flight I have ever had. The entertainment was very outdated - tiny screen with picture shaking so much that it was unwatchable. And also poor choice of films. On the plus side, the seats were relatively comfortable but only for normal-size passengers. On our outbound flight, the rather large gentleman behind me was in visible pain due to lack of room for his girth/legs. Not that the stewardesses offered any solutions. Luckily, I found another seat so I moved instead to give him more room. As our chosen seats when booking had been unceremoniously reallocated to others by the time we checked in (another first experience for me) this wasn't too much of a hardship.

Route: MRU to LHR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Luxair

Title: "Worst airline ever"

Review: I booked a flight LUX-DUB, which was cancelled. As an alternative, I was offered LUX-Paris with Luxair and Paris-Dublin with Aer Lingus. When I arrived at the airport Luxair told me after the check-in and (extra-) baggage-drop, that I was not checked in for the second flight and that my luggage was just paid until Paris. I would thus have to get my luggage, get out of Charles de Gaulle, go through security again and drop my luggage again while having to pay for it a second time. Since I did not have time to do so until my connecting flight, the Luxair staff recommended simply booking the next flight out of Paris for 400 on top. I thus booked a direct flight from Ryanair, cancelled my luggage and asked for the money to be returned. Not only don't they return the 550 for the flights, they don't even give me back the 75 I paid for the extra luggage. Worst airline ever.

Route: Luxemburg to Dublin via Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "flight went smoothly up to Oslo"

Review: We had an early flight out of Vienna, we bought fast track, cause we were not sure about how long the lines were, and there were a lot of departures. We arrived into the airport, and long lines in front of security. An officer opened up fast track for everybody, but we were pretty lucky, only around 10 people in front of us. We left on time, and the flight went smoothly up to Oslo Torp. What i do not understand is why the crew is not interested in selling their products. They said something about offers, we did not hear, and they went through the isle, with their trolley. We asked to buy a whiskey, they had only brought perfume and cosmetics with them, they said they should come back to us, which they did not. We asked him another time later, and he said ,oh yes, then still nothing, and we landed without any whiskey. We could not see they had not sold anything on their way down the isle.

Route: Vienna to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "spacious seats and good service"

Review: I was impressed with how good the planes were, spacious seats, and good service. The only thing I didn't like much was the food. The problem with Saudia is the ground services and check-in services at the airport in Jeddah which is very slow and quite chaotic.

Route: Jeddah to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "wonderful in-flight staff"

Review: No overhead space to speak of, wonderful in-flight staff. Flight on time, and very comfortable seats. These planes are really too small for people of my stature. It is very sad what American Airlines has done to STL, with sad and disgruntled staff.

Route: STL to ORD

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Airlink

Title: "state that they allow one free date change"

Review: On their website they state that they allow one free date change due to covid. I reached out to them 8 days prior to my flight to make the change (since my previous flight was changed too) and they initially confirmed that I can do so for free, just pay the difference in fare. When I accepted it and asked them to proceed with the payment they went completely silent. No response to my emails that I sent daily. No one answered phone calls! 36 hours prior to my flight I made the change myself, paid outrageous difference since the flight was so close and also paid the penalty fee. Reached out to Airlink and asked for the refund, and they did not reply again!

Route: Johannesburg to Port Elizabeth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Batik Air

Title: "don't book a flight with Batik Air"

Review: My flight OD178 from MEL to DPS was cancelled because of technical issues with the plane when all passengers were waiting at the gate for boarding. The agent at Melbourne airport promised that I will be reimbursed for all costs that result from this, including hotel, meals and transfer and that I would automatically be booked on a flight the next day and that information will follow via email. For this reason, I decided not to go for the option of claiming a refund and booking a different flight. Well, I did not receive any information that day about when I would be flying. Also the service hotline was not picking my call until I gave up after more than 2 hours waiting on the line. I just went to the airport again the next morning and ended up flying with the same plane I was supposed to be on the morning before. I arrived at my destination 24 hours late. Costs for another night in Melbourne etc. resulted and I handed in all invoices to the Customer Care service email address that was mentioned on the flight cancellation letter I got at the airport. And now they are telling me that their terms and conditions state "Malindo Air reserves the right to cancel or change the planned departure, schedule, route, aircraft or stopping places of any flight for which fares have been paid, at any time and from time to time, for any reason, without notice to any Passengers affected thereby and, in connection therewith, the Carrier shall not be liable to any Passenger in respect of such cancellation or change, whether or not resulting from an Event of Force Majeure which includes but not limited to bad weather and Acts of God." If their agent on the airport would not have lied to me, I could at least have saved a few hundred bucks!!!! Customer Service only replies within more than a week not being a help at all. I'll probably end up losing 500 Euros. Do yourself a favor and don't book a flight with Malindo Air or Batik Air or whatever they will call themselves in future.

Route: Melbourne to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "JetBlue is exploiting the Caribbean"

Review: JetBlue is exploiting the Caribbean with extremely high fares for the poorest service in return. The tickets economy class are 1700usd one way, in return most of the flights are over 1-4 hrs delayed on a constant. The agents are extremely rude not even a welcome on board, no ice for any of the beverages and the list goes on. I hope that they wont find themselves in the same situation as American Airlines that did the same thing in exploiting the Caribbean countries, and now no one from the islands make them 1st choice when traveling. Also there is a fee attached to everything.

Route: New York to Barbados

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "would not recommend travelling with Lufthansa"

Review: We had a flight from Brussels to Vancouver with a change in Frankfurt. Normally we would board in Vancouver 4th of June at 11am to start a cruise. Our flight in Brussels had a delay of 70 minutes, so we missed our connection in Frankfurt. Still on the plane, taxiing to the gate, we received an email that our flight to Vancouver was rebooked to Monday 5th June, that was not ok because the cruise started on the 4th. At the customer desk, after a waiting time of 90 minutes, the lady was very rude, she gave us a flight with a stopover in Chicago and a (theoretical) arrival in Vancouver on the 4th at 11h 33am. That was too late, by no means we could arrive on time to board our cruise ship (11am). The lady was constantly pointing her watch to make clear that her shift was over, she only spent 10 minutes to solve our problem. She threw the new flight schedule on the desk, turned around and went away. I was totally in shock. In our life we have made a lot of travels to all kind of continents and with all kind of carriers. Never, never were we treated in such a brutal, disrespectful manner. We took a train back home, a sad ending of our dream cruise. I would not recommend travelling with Lufthansa.

Route: Brussels to Vancouver via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "struggling trying to find ticket"

Review: I booked 3 tickets in March 2021 on Alitalia for trip in July 2021 to Cairo via Rome. In June 11th I learned that the airline decided to cancel my the flight from Washington to Rome due to COVID19 as they stated without notifying me not until a friend of mine who's flying on the same flight told me about receiving an email indicating the cancelation.

Called customer service, they offer me options : either I pay $1600- $4000 per ticket to change my flight to New York-Rome-Cairo or they can refund me my money back. What's more interesting that they operate flights back from Cairo-Rome-Washington. I guess that COVID19 only works on the flights from Washington to Rome but not on the flight back or on flights from New York. Now I am struggling trying to find tickets to my destination as I am very close to my trip and all the prices went up.

Route: Washington to Cairo via Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "No complaints with Bulgaria Air"

Review: FB431 on 30 June from Sofia to Paris CDG. Check-in lines were long but for baggage drop it was quicker and they let you use the Business Class counter. Bag tagged to Paris and thru security and immigration to the gate. Boarding was via bus on the tarmac - strange as only 3 of the 10+ jet bridges were occupied. 2 buses filled up the plane. Greeted upon boarding and the attendants checked everyone boarding pass. Bottle of water in the seat for each passenger. Departed on-time and smooth flight. Drink service 2 x and a snack provided (similar to the DUS-SOF flight I was on a few days earlier). Landed on-time in Paris and off the plane quickly - bags took a bit long but overall good flight. No complaints with Bulgaria Air - very nice service and on-time flights for a good price.

Route: SOF to CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jeju Air

Title: "the plane was very dirty"

Review: Seoul Incheon to Tokyo Narita. Cheap ticket and wasn't expecting much but the plane was very dirty and tired looking. My seat back tray had clearly been used as a kids colouring book at some point on a previous flight and was covered in long stripes of multi colored crayon. I didnt purchase any food on the flight so I didnt need to make use of the tray so not a big deal though. The seat pocket and the sides of my seat were utterly gross, caked deep with crumbs, food fragments and assorted gunge that was all a bit nasty. No entertainment screens but there were in flight radio channels available which I didnt use as I had my iPod to listen to as usual. The seats were a bit cramped with my knees touching the back of the seat in front (Im 6ft tall so nothing particularly new on an LCC flight). When I put my bottle of water in the seat pocket I had to sit at an angle so I could fit in the space as well. The flight itself was smooth enough, the cabin attendants were polite and friendly and we got to our destination without any delays or troubles. Not the cleanest plane Ive ever been on but we got from A to B cheaply

Route: Seoul Incheon to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "faulty seats in business class"

Review: Luanda to São Paulo. Faulty seat, did not allow me to adjust the seat at all! The worst issue is that the staff knew about various (at least 3) faulty seats in business class. The staff avoided my request to try to resolve and offered no solution as business class was full. I had booked a family of 5 passengers all on business class and to say that this ruined my holiday is an understatement. First class was 90% empty, but no offer at all was entertained. I am a frequent traveler and must say this has been my worst trip ever, stayed awake throughout the night and no apology received at all.

Route: Luanda to Rio de Janeiro via São Paulo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Uganda Airlines

Title: "a really pleasant experience"

Review: Flying with Uganda Airlines was a really pleasant experience. The Bombardier CRJ900 was more than adequate for the task of flying from Dar es Salaam (Tanzania) to Entebbe (Uganda) and back. The aircraft was perfectly clean in both flights, and the cabin crew quite professional and kind. I especially appreciated the leg space available, far better than on most European economy class seats experienced. A snack was served during the 1.50 minutes flight, that included a chicken sandwich, a fruit juice, a small bottle of water and a banana. More than enough for a mid afternoon flight. Worth mentioning is the kind support that I received at Uganda Airlines office in Entebbe, when facing an administrative issue that could have badly affected my trip. Very effective personnel, who did more for me than it was their duty. Thumbs up!

Route: Dar es Salaam to Entebbe

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: S7 Siberia Airlines

Title: "left at Alicante airport"

Review: Alicante to Almaty via Moscow. March 15, 2020, checked in, received a boarding pass. Before boarding, they were taken off the flight and left at Alicante airport, explained their actions by the situation with coronavirus. Tickets were bought back a long time ago, is it really impossible to somehow manage humanly in this situation. Does the whole world in a difficult situation really need to do this? I'm standing at the airport opposite the office of this company. They all left the phone. I'm calling the offices, nobody picks up the phone.

Route: Alicante to Almaty via Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "Those who consider traveling it should beware"

Review: My wife travelled this airline from Johannesburg, South Africa on 14 January and had a really terrible experience. Departure was delayed by 2 hours. Connecting flight information at Frankfurt was ambiguous which meant she was not even sure of when her next flight will be or where it will be boarding. She was also served breakfast that did not meet her dietary requirements. I also was quite concerned for her safety and wellbeing. I think that this airline should not be operating. Those who consider traveling it should beware.

Route: Johannesburg to Frankfurt via London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "disappointing experience!"

Review: You have a great pilots, that's the only point where I may put 5*. Lets start: the crews are extremely poorly trained, turbulence doesn't give you an excuse to not serve ordered and prepaid lunch or at least to get that poor bottle of water, at least do it once landed. Connected flight...departing delay for almost an hour, crews are chatting, laughing - no one bothered to explain passengers what's happening, unless you ask, next: the passengers walking, standing for almost over an hour and talking loudly to friends or whatever - why are the crews quiet? Again lets go back to prepaid food allowance - why the sandwich was served frozen cold and the Bottle of water 200ml only? Oh these delays. Last year had the same experience, plane arriving late for an hour then definitely will depart with delay, spoiling passengers mood, can you think of those who has short time connecting flight later - why cannot you follow the time schedule. Why SHJ bus driver giving passengers instruction to leave hand luggage outside the plane under rain, my hand luggage bag suiting all the parameters and allowances, what was the bus drivers problem with it? Other luggage I received after a long wait - same Sharjah flight, was full of water inside and arrived unwrapped, can't imagine how did they kept throwing it as all new bottled stuff has been opened, absolutely every single tube opened and leaked out all the liquids. That WiFi even didn't work. $500 ++ ticket, disappointing experience!

Route: Doha to Tashkent via Sharjah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "Shame on you Southwest"

Review: Ridiculous disaster that is embarrassing to say the least. They didnt update their scheduling software! I have had to buy another ticket with another airline two days later than I was due home. Ive missed work, had to pay for two more nights in a hotel than expected. The weather was bad in some parts of the country, but other airlines are up and on schedule. Not Southwest, because of all those canceled flights, Southwest was responsible for 90 percent of those cancellations. This was my first and last time flying Southwest. Shame on you Southwest, you have failed a lot of people in this country .

Route: Chicago to Ontario

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "The worst airline we've ever taken"

Review: The worst airline we've ever taken. Being experienced travelers, Air Europa is in our opinion the worst airline we've ever taken in our lives. They cancelled our outbound flight Lima - Madrid without any notice - not for covid reasons, the customer service is unreachable and even at their office they refused to help us and to propose us comparative flight alternatives, besides the fact that my wife is pregnant (for that reason we bought business tickets) and needed to quickly reach home. They limited themselves to offer us an alternative flight 12 days after our cancelled flight.

Route: Lima to Zurich via Madrid

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aurigny Air

Title: "have been a good airline"

Review: Been going with Aurigny Air for years now to fly over to Guernsey and they have been a good airline. Did have a delay in 2015, our flight from Gatwick to Guernsey was supposed to fly out at 10:00 and was delayed till 12:30 so we got the minibus to the plane (as my relative is disabled) got to the place and the plane wasn't even there and was still in Guernsey so we came back into the airport and then got called back down at around 3 - we didn't get any vouchers. A 5 hour delay is nothing compared to other reviews about Aurigny however the flight back was peaceful and the new jet makes the journey quicker - even had a chat to the pilot and cabin crew whilst waiting on the plane to get the minibus and they were all very friendly and pleasant

Route: LGW to GCI

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "boarding was very confusing"

Review: Flight full and boarding was very confusing we were told to get in then had to wait for more then 25 minutes in the sleeve that was very cold with no explanation. Once authorized to get in it looked like a race to get us to our seats, but arrived on time.

Route: Milan to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Laudamotion

Title: "staff were not friendly"

Review: Düsseldorf to Málaga. Our flight was operated by Ryanair, but at least the legroom was good. The crew and boarding staff were not friendly and did not smile for a second. We also couldn't put the back of our seats back.

Route: Düsseldorf to Málaga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Avianca

Title: "absolute garbage quality"

Review: Terrible airline - not sure why they come across as a major airline, absolute garbage quality. Zero recline on the seats and no neck support, which is shocking. No snack service on a 6.5 hour flight, not even a pack of peanuts. Even water costs money. Stay away if possible.

Route: Bogota to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lao Airlines

Title: "service is pleasant and professional"

Review: Check in at the Vientiane domestic terminal is quite chaotic. However, the on-board experience with Lao Airlines is generally very good. This is a very short flight but Lao Airlines serves water and a snack. Aircraft are quite new and service is pleasant and professional. Overall, it was a very good experience and I would happily recommend the airline.

Route: VTE to LPQ

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "recommend the airline"

Review: Incheon to Auckland. Im impressed with the way cabin crew serve me with veg meal when I told her that Im a veggie. Crew was friendly, great food and for the service I would recommend the airline in future.

Route: Incheon to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "Worse experience with an airline"

Review: Terrible airline. The staff review documents multiple times and give imprecise instructions to passengers. No call to announce departure and seems like purposely want passengers to miss the flights. Worse experience with an airline.

Route: Mexico to Houston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "received no attention whatsoever"

Review: Being unfamiliar with eastern European airlines, and booking myself from Canada, I chose AirBaltic for times and cost. A huge mistake! My dislike began at checkin at Gatwick airport, when the young woman at the desk looked at my passport, determined that I was a North American, and was therefore beneath contempt. She screamed at me, "Do you have a visa for Russia?" I said, "I am not so dumb as to go to this country without one." Then she put a tag on one of my bags, but not on the other. When I pointed this one, she grabbed the untagged bag, and nearly ripped it. On the aircraft I received no attention whatsoever. At Riga things improved somewhat, as a staff member met me and showed me where to board my connection. The flight from Riga to Moscow was without any assistance or comment from the staff. At Sheremetyevo it took ninety minutes for my luggage to be delivered, at 1.15 a.m.

Route: Gatwick to Moscow Sheremetyevo via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: South African Airways

Title: "filthiest plane I have ever been on"

Review: Johannesburg to Durban. Flight was on time, no great shakes for a 50 minute domestic flight. A drink and a sandwich served during the flight. However - this must have been the filthiest plane I have ever been on and I have been on hundreds. The dirt, grim and filth on the table and seats was beyond a joke.

Route: Johannesburg to Durban

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "Nice short trip on time"

Review: Nice short trip on time. We were even served a sandwich and drink on a 45 min flight. Outstanding: due to train delay I arrived at airport just 40 min before flight. Pulled me through first and even baggage arrived.

Route: Düsseldorf to Paris CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "The food service needs to improve"

Review: The food service needs to improve. I was offered a cold veg roll from Dubai to Bahrain with no other choice. And from Bahrain to Dubai some were offered a choice between a chicken or veg shawarma. However, as they ran out of chicken, I was told that the veg roll was the only thing on offer. The flight was quite empty as I had three seats to myself. I think catering could have been more effective.

Route: Bahrain to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "refuses to refund my ticket"

Review: Due to the Covid 19, I had to cancel a flight to Nairobi. The cancellation was done on time early march. Well Kenya Airways refuses to refund my ticket and proposes a voucher to be used in the next twelve months. On top of that no one responded to my email for over a month. I really believe that this is not acceptable.

Route: Paris to Nairobi

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "Not what I expect in business class"

Review: Not what I expect in business class. Booking process, transfer and food was horrible. Seat less than average 2-2-2 configuration seat had no storage possibilities. Service was average. Food had not the selection and quality of economy standard. The drink selection was limited and of low quality, especially the wine. Lounge in Addis Ababa is also useless and overcrowded.

Route: Accra to Geneva via Addis Ababa

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TUI Airways

Title: "helpful and very friendly"

Review: First time flying TUI long haul, this time from Manchester to Orlando Sanford. Very impressed on both legs. Staff genuinely helpful and very friendly. Flights left bang on time. Two rounds of free drinks 0 food not bad for economy. Afternoon Tea great. On return leg we had a row to ourselves. Would make it a priority to fly to Orlando with this operator again.

Route: Manchester to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "They lost my bag"

Review: They lost my bag. Call center was busy all the time, unable to contact them. No priority boarding row for business class in Casablanca: stood in line for 30min at the gate and 10min on the stairs of the plane. When asked for explanation ignored by ground personel! Seat was filthy, tray table dirty, not cleaned from previous flight leaving Casablanca.

Route: Milan to Accra via Casablanca

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Ravn Alaska

Title: "give away your seat"

Review: Anchorage to Kenai. They will give away your seat even if you are in the airport. Not worth the risk to fly with them. I give them the lowest rating possible. Who gives away a paid for seat? These guys. Shouldn't I be able to use or not use my seat as I see fit?

Route: Anchorage to Kenai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "the crew was friendly"

Review: The flight was on time, cabin was clean and the crew was friendly, flight crew announcements were clear and understandable. We ordered a kosher meal, and got water, banana and apple but crew kindly replaced it for a regular meal. I wanted to purchase some souvenirs onboard, initially cabin crew said she will come back to me, but finally said they didnt had any. Strange, if you dont have any, why do you offer it in a separate public announcement at the beginning of the flight.

Route: Bangkok to Ko Samui

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "staff were friendly and trip was smooth"

Review: Everything but the airline website was great. Departure was on time, staff were friendly and trip was smooth.

Only issue was the booking website, where you need to pay an extra 500 baht or $18 USD fee for credit cards, essentially acting as a hidden fee. Also, the Nok website on a mobile is very poor. The drop-down menu gets in the way when you want to do anything, rendering the website useless. Much better and cheaper to book through an agency like Klook or Agoda.

Route: Bangkok to Nakhorn Si Thammarat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "refused to board me and my family"

Review: Lahore to Dubai via Bahrain. Gulf Air refused to board me and my family. They refused to give reason of refusal in writing. Verbally they told it is advise from Bahrain office. We had valid family visa and traveled 3 days later on a different airline. Gulf Air further applied cancellation charges. They never responded to my complaint lodged at their site. This complaint has all details and contact information.

Route: Lahore to Dubai via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "totally not worth the money"

Review: In December 2022 I travelled from Sydney to Dubai with Emirates First Class. I was contacted by the Emirates car transfer company prior to collection and informed them the number of passengers and luggage, but the car that arrived was too small and the driver was rude and unhelpful. Check-in was ok, but was not given an express pass and was directed to the business lounge not first class as available for gold members. At boarding time most of the other passengers from economy were boarded before the priority boarding due to lack of staff at the gates. After boarding I asked for my meal after take off but after 1.5 hours nothing had arrived I had to call twice before someone came to me, it took nearly another 20 min before I got my meal, As my teenage children were flying in Premier economy, I checked on them but on both occasions was rudely told to return to seat my by the same cabin crew member and on the second occasion was questioned about my seat, this was totally embarrassing. After landing in Dubai I was not able to enter the first-class lounge unless I paid $420.00 for my son for 20 min, my sons airmiles were missing at the end of the trip. I complained to Emirates about the service and after 8 weeks was told the transfer company was a third party, boarding was a strict policy, that it was my fault not to help myself to some sandwiches, policy on lounge entry, and that my son was not an air miles member (he is), No apology or mention of the cabin crew behaviour, after responding to their response I basically told by them basically Emirates did not care about my business (over $250k) per year. Totally not worth the money or air miles.

Route: Sydney to Dubai

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Arabia

Title: "they seem not to care at all about passenger rights"

Review: I bought a ticket with Air Arabia in March for a vacation in Morocco. Because of COVID the flight got cancelled. I requested a cash refund but their call center charges crazy amounts. I sent numerous emails to their customer service only to receive standard reply messages. I did not give up and after some time their customer service center finally answered my messages only to let me know that Air Arabia's policy is not to offer a cash refund for COVID-cancelled flights. They said they only hand out a voucher that has to be used within 1 year. Since we couldn't go on vacation, this is completely of no use to me. Moreover, travel to Morocco is currently forbidden by Belgium. EU regulations clearly state that they are obliged to offer EU passengers the choice of a cash refund, but they seem not to care at all about passenger rights. This is the last time ever I travelled with Air Arabia, and I strongly advise anyone to not do business with this company.

Route: Brussels to Tangier

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "I am very grateful for this"

Review: I forgot my passport in my seat after the first leg from Chengdu to Guangzhou Airport due to my own negligence and only realised I had lost it when I arrived at the international counter to check in abroad. The staff were very attentive and patient in calming me down, and they were able to locate my passport and confirm that it was mine in just 20 minutes. As the cabin was about to close, the staff reduced the process to ensure that everything was normal, allowing me to successfully take my flight. I am very grateful for this.

Route: Chengdu to Auckland via Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "refund form returns an error"

Review: For weeks, I've been trying to contact EVA Air regarding a refund or rescheduling of four flights between NY and Tokyo in July 2020 because of the COVID-19 travel ban. The refund form on the website returns an error although I put in the valid ticket numbers from the reservation that were on the same website. They removed all email addresses from the contact so that it is impossible to contact customer service. Left only phone numbers that, if you call, play a recorded message that they can't take your call. I sent a message on Facebook and they said you have to call us. After I told them the phone number plays a recorded message, they won't reply.

Route: New York to Tokyo via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Jet2.com

Title: "long hard and unfriendly stare"

Review: I missed my flight from Leeds to Geneva airport as I was late. My though is the customer service clerks of Jet2.com at Bradford-Leeds. The two women working that morning at the customer service desk were so rude to me. The customer service clerks in Geneva were so professional, gracious and nice. Geneva to Leeds the airhostesses only smiled and said hello to the white customers but not to customers of color - all I received was a long hard and unfriendly stare! I paid my air-ticket and I believe that I deserve to be accorded the same hospitality as other passengers. All my experience with jet2.com is a zero star. One thing I must say is that the aircraft was clean, comfortable and value for money.

Route: Geneva to Leeds Bradford

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "event feels like a scam"

Review: San Francisco to Boston. I changed a connecting flight from Seattle to San Francisco so Alaska cancelled my San Francisco to Boston leg. When I went to check in, I was told my ticket was cancelled and to get back on the same flight I would have to pay a $125 change fee and $328 for a fare difference - for the same flight they cancelled and didnt notify me of. Then, my seat assignment gets unassigned in the hour and a half between repurchasing my ticket amd getting to the airport. Now, I have to wait until 30 minutes before departure, lose any overhead space for my carryon and hope I have a seat. While im sure I'll be told there is some rule that allows the airline to do this, the entire event feels like a scam.

Route: San Francisco to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "Just stay away"

Review: 10 hours flight, AC so high it feels freezing and they don't give you small blanket. Just small pillow. Monitors without headphones. Coffee without sugar. Delayed 5 hours because there was no staff to clean the plane. And now waiting for a gate for 20 minutes after landing. Just stay away.

Route: Frankfurt to Salt Lake City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "Very poor service"

Review: At boarding time from Singapore to Bangkok, I requested a wheelchair upon arrival for my 69 year old mother who had a bad knee. When we arrived, nobody said anything about whether they would provide a wheelchair. When we arrived at the airport, we had to walk down the stairs of the plane, take the bus, walk up the stairs again in the airport (lift wasnt working) and then a long walk to immigration. We didnt see a wheelchair. I was even told to pay $20 but at least they didnt ask to pay in advance. Very poor service.

Route: Singapore to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Viva Air

Title: "$170 CAD for carry-on luggage"

Review: Worst Airline Ever! I will never fly with this airline again. I checked in online where it said I was allowed a carry-on and personal item. When I get to the gate they charged us $170 CAD per person for carry-on luggage! I was told if I did not pay I would not get on the flight. Didn't want to get stuck in Medellin! Paid almost as much for carry-ons as I did for the flight.

Route: Medellin to Miami

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "travel plans are ruined thanks to them"

Review: I have not actually flown on Silver Airways. My family were scheduled to fly last April which of course was the beginning of the real shut downs on travel. Obviously, things were going on that following up on the ticket was not top of mind. In November, I had enough bandwidth to go back to revisit. At first I was told it had been refunded and was sent a receipt with the date of refund and the CC# that I had paid it on. After some research, I found it had not been refunded. I then emailed guest relations as another avenue since I was not getting anywhere with the initial rep and asked what was going on. I was told via email that the money had actually been put in a travel bank with a user ID to login and check. After multiple attempts at requesting a password, to no avail, I called back to find out what was going on since the date I was hoping to travel was fast approaching. The rep on the phone discovered that the User ID I had been provided was in fact not me. Days pass and I'm given a new User ID and successfully manage to log into the travel bank only to see that there was nothing in it. I ask what the status is once again through email and am told it should be resolved in the next few days. Three days after the date I was told it would be resolved by, there is still nothing in my travel bank and the prices keep going up beyond the value of my former ticket, which, if they had done this correctly in the first place, would have been covered by my balance. Now, it is looking like I have to cancel the trip again because of their incompetence. I don't have my money and I don't have a flight. It's appalling. I'm actually trying to book another ticket with them (lawd knows why) but I can't even do that. And sadly, they are the only player to the destination. So now my travel plans are ruined thanks to them. They also cancelled my sister's flight that she had managed to rebook without another option, so she may also be screwed.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Eluthera

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "very poor service"

Review: Manchester to Portland via New York JFK. Good points: Smooth flights and food okay. Bad points: Booked premium economy at approx £500 extra, as it was our first long haul journey. Arrived at the airport and checked in, no problem. After going through security, found that our first flight was delayed by two hours. No problem as we had a four hour layover at JFK. During the flight, drinks were "included" but they only came round once except for a wine with our meal! I know it doesn't specify how many drinks but you do expect more than one service! Just before landing we were informed that a representative from Thomas Cook would be there to assist us with our onward journey, once we had cleared immigration. At immigration we were told we had to collect our cases and check them in with JetBlue for the next leg of our journey. Baggage transfer was also supposed to be included in the premium package. We collected our bags and looked for the person from Thomas Cook. We couldn't see them so found our way to the correct terminal and to the JetBlue check in desk. The queue was so long that we missed the flight, despite them putting us in the priority lane. When we reached the desk we were told that we had already been booked on a later flight - instead of travelling at 4.59pm we had been booked on to the 22.40pm flight! Not impressed as you can imagine as we reached our final destination over five hours late. When we arrived at Portland Jetport for the first leg of our return journey we couldn't check in as there was a problem with the ticketing. Even though we had the paperwork and it was showing on the airlines system that we were booked on it, they said a change had been made and they would have to contact Thomas Cook to rectify it. This was taking ages and at one point, the JetBlue staff said it would be unlikely that we would make the flight. We eventually got our boarding passes and made it to gate just 15 minutes before it opened! After a five hour layover at JFK we were finally on the last leg. Only one drinks service on the return journey, even though it was a night flight, would have been good to be offered tea or coffe or other soft drink. Stressful, annoying and very poor service considering we paid £1600 inc the upgrade to premium.

Route: Manchester to Portland via New York JFK

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "imposed a liquor ban on me"

Review:

Tokyo to Singapore. The cabin was very warm and stuffy and no improvement was made after feedback to cabin crews. The cabin crews imposed a liquor ban on me when I only drank 6 cans of beer. I was neither drunk or behaving disorderly to warrant such a ban. I have flown in many airlines and this was the first time that I was humiliated with a liquor ban.

Route: Tokyo to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "it was trying to say the least"

Review: Flight from OAJ was delayed by an hour due to bad weather (which is understandable) departed at 7pm, didn't get to CLT until 8:10 pm, CLT is huge and it takes like 15 minutes to get to my gate, causing me to miss my connecting flight to BWI at 8:28 pm. But I managed to arrive 2 minutes left at B9. However, I was notified that my gate changed to B12. It's 8:29, so I run over and now the door to my connecting flight is closed. Too late to board. Gate agent couldn't help me, so I was directed to AA Customer Service, which took 2 hours to wait in line. Waited in line, and on the phone for an hour. I couldn't get a flight change on the phone, luckily I was near the end and got told that my flight was actually delayed? But it literally left when I arrived. Then was told that I was checked in, meaning someone was checked in with my seat before I arrived late. That I paid for. Odd. Finally I got another flight which was delayed by an hour. It took 5 hours to get me home. This was my first AA mishap, and it was trying to say the least.

Route: Jacksonville to Baltimore via Charlotte

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peruvian Airlines

Title: "delays were dreadful"

Review: Peruvian Airlines has a total lack of respect for the passengers travelling from Cusco to Lima, flight 0213. First of all, in Cusco Airport, the flight changed gates from 4 to 1 but every passenger was unaware until some of us saw the flight number in gate 1. The staff didn't even bother telling us about the change. Then, the boarding was delayed for half an hour. The flight was supposed to leave at 6:50 but the screens indicated we should board at 7:22. Once we got on the plane, another half an hour (or more) waiting inside with no explanation at all. When I descended from the plane, I asked the staff to introduce me to the pilot so I could ask what happened. They said he was "busy" and said they had problems with the air traffic control in Cusco, but they didn't say anything when I asked them why they hadn't explained it to the passengers: we were all looking at each other wondering what was going on and no one of the staff was around. The top of the cherry: once we got to Lima, the luggage was supposed to arrive at 9:22 to the baggage belts (we arrived at the airport around 9:05). The luggage didn't arrive at 9:22, obviously, but the biggest problem was that there was only one person from the airline that couldn't handle the situation at all. He didn't know what to say, didn't offer an apology and never explained clearly what had happened to our luggage. We left the airport of Lima at 10:05 with our bags that came with another flight's bags, on another baggage belt (not the one that was indicated) and at more than 45 minutes after we arrived. Not only the delays were dreadful, but also the staff didn't offer explanations and never apologised for all the inconveniences.

Route: Cusco to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LAN Colombia

Title: "a pleasant experience"

Review: Medellin to Palonegro via Bogota. The Colombian subsidiary of the Chile-based LAN Airlines. It was a pleasant experience to fly. Although the check-in/baggage drop process was a little slow, personnel was kind and professional. LAN Colombia mostly operates A320s, which are well-kept, clean and spacious. No complaints about punctuality. Luggage delivery was fast. IFE was ok considering the short duration of the flights as was the cabin service. Good choice if you ever need to fly any of their routes.

Route: MDE to BGA via BOG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Pacific Airlines

Title: "on time and fairly uneventful"

Review: Return leg of my round trip. Again, the great thing about this airline is the departure from Bangkok's main airport rather than the budget terminal across town. Check in was done smoothly and boarding is by passenger ramp instead of being bussed about the airfield so is very convenient and quick. Flight departed on time and was fairly uneventful. Flight arrived 10 minutes ahead of scheduled time. The only let down of the journey was de-planing at Ha Noi was by ground service ramp and bus to the terminal.

Route: Bangkok to Ha Noi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "One of the worst airlines"

Review: I and my wife, the first time I was going to fly ever. I had flights booked from Cancun to Havana via Interjet website. Interjet cancelled our flights because of COVID-19. They did not send a voucher or any information e-mail. I have been calling Interjet all week from Turkey and no answer at all. One of the worst airlines ever I have seen

Route: Cancun to Havana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "cabin crew were splendid"

Review: Shanghai to Hong Kong. Nice catering with my favorite ice cream. The service provided by cabin crew were splendid. After knowing my Mainland Chinese identity, they would like to speak Mandarin, even if a bit hard for them.

Route: Shanghai to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Fix it urgently!"

Review: Cabin crews service mind is in a critical status. Fix it urgently! Compared to Thai Vietjet Air cabin crews service mind, Thai Smiles is much worse.

Route: Bangkok to Ubon Ratchathani

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Regional Express

Title: "a very enjoyable experience"

Review: Monkey Mia to Perth. The flight attendant Kiara was such a delight. She was so welcoming and made every effort to make the flight as comfortable and enjoyable as possible. Her personality was a delight. I was lucky enough to have her on my return trip to Perth. So much nicer than the Virgin staff (Melbourne to Perth) who could barely crack a smile. Thank you for a very enjoyable experience.

Route: Monkey Mia to Perth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wideroe

Title: "definitely do not recommend"

Review: Bergen to Tromso. I had a flight the past 18 March (my honeymoon) and due to obvious reasons I could not travel to Tromso and I tried sending a lot of emails to the airline. They were not helpful at all and they do not refund the money. Every airline in the world is helping customers in every way they can by giving vouchers for another flight or even doing full refunds. But Wideroe doesn't seem to see that there is a world pandemic going around and decided to not change at all their policies. I will never use this airline in my life, and I definitely do not recommend it to anyone!

Route: Bergen to Tromso

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "Nobody will respond or answer"

Review: Amman to Cairo. I flew to Cairo on Royal Jordanian on 5/20/22 and never got one piece of luggage. The other piece arrived back in Charlotte on 6/17/22. I had to buy clothes in Cairo and have never gotten any response from the airline on how to file a claim for my missing luggage or obtain a statement for proof of loss and delay in getting bag.

Nobody will respond or answer a phone.

Route: Amman to Cairo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "expect more from Star Alliance"

Review: Austrian is regular low cost airline. On time performance, friendly crew and relatively new aircraft. Reminded me lot of Laudamotion which is another Austrian low cost airlines. Overall I would expect more from Star Alliance and Lufthansa group member.

Route: Vienna to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "a very uncomfortable and expensive trip"

Review: Flew Thomas Cook from Goa to London Gatwick. Will never use this airline again. My partner and I booked our very expensive premium economy tickets 11 months in advance of our trip so that we could have a two seat together. Unfortunately he had to return to the UK unexpectedly a week before our trip was up. There was no flexibility in his ticket so he paid for another full price ticket. Fair enough, his choice. Problems started when I went to the airport alone a week later. Was refused entry into the airport as mine was not the lead name, after a panicky 40 minutes, myself and the police finally found someone from Thomas Cook and I was escorted into the airport. At the check in I was asked if I wanted seat 2a or 2c as they were in the process of selling my partners ticket for which he had not been able to change or gain a refund. I was fairly dismayed that I would have to sit next to a complete stranger on a night flight as we had booked these tickets specifically to avoid this. As it happened, I ended up with an empty seat next to me. This was a night flight taking off at 2am, so I wanted to settle down fairly quickly to try and sleep, 30 minutes into the flight, there was a lot of commotion in the seats behind and a stewardess woke me up to tell me that someone's TV screen wasn't working and so she was going to be moved to sit next to me. It took another thirty minutes to move her, after another few minutes I was tapped on the shoulder once again to be asked by a stewardess to move to the seats behind as she was travelling with her husband and I was alone. This was now 3.30am. I explained that I was now starting to get very irritated as we had paid for two seats together and neither of us would be sitting in either, and I didn't really want to move to another seat in a longer row. Eventually due the pressure and awkwardness I felt I did get up and move. Needless to say, I did not sleep on this flight and it was a very uncomfortable and expensive trip. A complaint was made to Thomas Cook. The reply was in badly written English with spelling mistakes saying that I should have made a request for any compensation to the air stewardess! And as I had moved "voluntarily " then they didn't see what the issue is. The crew on the plane were good, the customer service and ethics of this company is unacceptable. People should vote with their feet, which is why I shall never use this airline again. To not have even received a sorry shows the arrogance, and contempt for their customers. We are not treated as human beings at all by this company.

Route: Goa to London Gatwick

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bahamasair

Title: "Extremely disorganized"

Review: Never again will I fly Bahamasair. Extremely disorganized. Told they only have 5 airplanes and 2 are out of service yet they did not delay any planes and refuse to find new flights for customers. FYI you can keep your $10 to Wendy's. If we get out at 9.30pm it will be a miracle. Agents at counter area completely incapable of communicating to the masses and their attitudes are only making every other passenger even more angry. They even stated "you can get your voucher at the managers office because I don't have time for you."

Route: Nassau to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "disappointed about both flights"

Review: I am very disappointed about both flights - from Riga to Frankfurt and return. On both flights they changed my 5 years old daughter's seats, so we needed to wait when they change our seats, but we still could not sit all family of three together (on both flights!). And on return flight they took away my bag from cabin because there was not any free bag space on plane. So now I am sitting with some stranger next to me who is not my husband and I don't have my bag with me. That's good that some necessary items I have in my daughters bag. I feel really angry and disappointed! And plane is still not going, there is still delay.

Route: Frankfurt to Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "three major complaints"

Review: Good service generally but three major complaints. Because limited business class space, had to fly economy. After two legs in business class (Johannesburg, Dubai, Miami) this represented huge challenges with luggage, which cost a fortune. Did nobody foresee this disconnect? Loyalty program is a total con - none of benefits (priority boarding, first bag free) materialized. So why bother? Blatant profiling at boarding, clearly rules apply only to certain passengers

Route: Miami to Kingston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Bulgaria Air

Title: "nice for short haul flight"

Review: I've always flown with them, and they're nice for short haul flight. Welcome on board with a bottle and after that given a small sandwich compare to other airlines which will even make you pay for it. Sometimes they do have delays but which airlines doesn't? For the price your paying I think its worth it, I've always picked them in front of other companies.

Route: Sofia to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "very cramped in the seat"

Review: Ho Chi Minh City to Bangkok. Worst airline ever. My friend and I were traveling all over SE Asia for two weeks when I first flew AirAsia, instead of taking buses and trains all over we decided it would be best to fly since the prices weren't bad at all. Several of our flights were close to an hour late, I was very cramped in the seat, and if the people in front of you want to lay their seats in your lap the seats recline far back enough to do so. The flight attendants have no problem getting uncomfortably close in an attempt to have you turn your phone totally off.

Route: Ho Chi Minh City to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "Didn't find the crew very friendly"

Review: Very disappointed. Didn't find the crew very friendly. We flew from London to Singapore and Singapore to Brisbane. Two weeks later did the return trip. On all flights I found unfriendly crew. Not enough leg room on a 14 hour flight. Charger port for mobile phones didn't work in our 3 seats. Found the plane was in need of good maintenance. Flew same route in 2019 and was definitely a better experience.

Route: London to Brisbane via Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "service has improved"

Review: Nok Air are still using quite old aircraft but service has improved since last time a flew with them a few years ago. It is a cheaper alternative to Bangkok Air on route to Samui. Free snack was provided that seems to be a nice gesture especially the flight took just over 50 minutes.

Route: DMK to USM

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "probably one of the best experiences"

Review: Reading the reviews for this flight before we left on our trip I was a nervous wreck expecting something to go wrong. After my experience with this company I felt it was important to leave a review for those like me that have severe flying anxiety. My first interaction with this company after booking happened when I noticed that I failed to put middle names on my booking so our boarding passes would not match our passports. I called the service number and left my call back number. I had already read that no one answers the phone so I was prepared to be disappointed by not receiving a call back. A couple of hours later a young lady called me back and I explained my mistake. Her response was "Well let's get that corrected so you can be at ease have a great trip." She corrected 4 middle names on my booking and emailed me a new itinerary while staying on the phone with me to make sure everything looked ok. Disaster averted. We then got to the airport on Sunday to find out our flight was delayed. Again, after reading the horror stories of delayed flights being cancelled and people being left to fend for themselves I began to feel very high anxiety. One of my adult children would be flying from a different airport but same airline into Mexico and I was afraid she'd be in Mexico by herself. The flight was an hour late but finally showed up, they very calmly unloaded the passengers coming into Houston and got us all on the plane as quickly and well organized as I've ever seen. The flight attendants personally apologized to the passengers as we boarded for being late explaining that there were severe storms at their last stop and that they had to wait it out. I don't even know where to begin about our experience with our flight home. From Mexico, coming back into America, you must check in at the counter to show your negative covid test. Of all the check in counters, it was the shortest line, the staff was friendly and very patient with everyone, and they went above and beyond to help us get checked in and to our terminal in time. Wonderful service. I have flown on several airlines and take several trips a year and this is probably one of the best experiences I have had flying (that included set backs). There's a lot of bashing this airline for things that anyone could avoid just by doing their research or reading their booking information. The seating is no different than other airlines. The drinks come with a cup of ice just like every other airline. Oh there's phone chargers on the backs of the seat legs which I have never seen before. That was cool. We got free WiFi. Being surprised by carry on and check bag fees baffles me. This isn't uncommon. Check these things BEFORE you book and there will be no surprises with this airline. If you are flying from Houston out to Mexico this is the way to go.

Route: Houston to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "going to lose out big time"

Review: I had booked a flight with Flair Airlines back in December from Puerto Vallarta to Vancouver on 29th April.

Then 2 weeks ago I received a notification to say that the flight had changed to the 4th May. This obviously is not convenient being that it's a whole week later. I'm already in Mexico so it's not like I can just cancel my trip all together. There was no way to respond to them via the email so for the last 2 weeks I have been trying the online chat, Facebook and other email addresses that I have found for Flair but I'm getting no where. I need to be back in Canada by the 28th April so I'm looking to see if they can still provide the original flight (I have no idea why it changed). Or if they can ideally book me with another airline or provide a full refund. The annoying thing is also that I paid a fair price for this flight and now because the flight is just over a week away prices have tripled so if I have to book another flight I'm going to lose out big time.

Route: Vancouver to San Jose

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "crew was nice, helpful and very friendly"

Review: Dubai to Oslo. The check in went smoothly, the gate was remote though. We waited almost an hour, cause they waited an answer if they could bring transit passengers to Norway, which closed the country for foreigners that day. The plane was almost fully booked, but some free seats here and there. We sat in the second last row, and had a free middle seat. We sat pretty comfortable, the seat is not that narrow as i have experienced on other LCCs. The crew was nice, helpful and very friendly. I tried the free wifi only, it worked part of the way, pretty slow. We could have bought more speed for 5 eur, but i prefer reading books. We landed 20 minutes after schedule

Route: Dubai to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "first preference would be Vistara"

Review: I was traveling from Dubai to Ahmedabad connecting Mumbai airport. On Mumbai airport my bag was damaged, I forgot my luggage on arrival waiting lounge and went directly to Vistara desk where Ms. Pooja helped me a lot I really appreciate it because I was extremely tired on that moment but she really made transition very swift & easy. My first preference would be Vistara.

Route: Mumbai to Ahmedabad

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "no news about your luggage"

Review: First of all I received an email from Elal informing me that the check in counter opens 4 hours before the flight due to the high number of passengers. I arrived at the check in counter with my 4 years old daughter and waited 1 hour before the staff finally opened the check-in, the staff was sitting at their counter but not doing anything. I checked in two suitcases. Few minutes before landing, a flight attendant came to me and told me "for security reasons your suitcase was sent in the flight, please approach the lost and found counter at the airport" I had 2 suitcases and the flight attendant could not tell me if both luggages were left behind. When I filed a report for the missing suitcase the El Al staff told me "your luggage will be send in the very worst case in the third flight from Paris to Tel Aviv, I am exaggerating, 3 flights is the maximum". So I tracked all the El Al flights from Paris to Tel Aviv and after the fifth flight I called the hotline for luggage irregularities, "sir, no news about your luggage". That is crazy to be so incompetent, they are abusing the passengers, this is not abusive security, this is a pure example of people abuse. I had fresh food carefully packed in an isotherm bag, it's all wasted. I have important documents for an appointment at the consulate in Tel Aviv. No clothes for few days. At the time of writing, my luggage is still in Paris for security reason. I won't fly El Al again, terrible airline, disgusting service. Few words about the flight itself, it was a very old boeing 737, dirty plane 0 comfort with their dirty seats. No flight entertainments, no drinks and no food.

Route: Paris to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "shame for such well known airline"

Review: I flew from Cairo to Heathrow on what they call euro club class which is a cramped coach seat with the middle empty seat. Horrible service. I get to Heathrow airport 40 minutes late so I had to run around looking for my connecting flight. Finally jumping through escalators and train to another building where is my gate. Given a seat that is different than what I paid extra for ?! Its a shame for such well known airline.

Route: Cairo to London

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nepal Airlines

Title: "delayed by over 5 hours"

Review: Kathmandu to Hong Kong. The flight is constantly delayed and is over price. The flight is 3-5 hours late. The previous time I took the flight which was delayed by over 5 hours and did not provide any good reason for it. The same this time, but the situation is worse because we had to get to airport before 8 and the flight was supposedly should fly at 11:30, which did not happen. I wouldnt mind if they gave a valid reason for why they are late, but yet again they give no reason to why they were delayed or even if they were aware of it.

Route: Kathmandu to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "poor information from the cockpit"

Review: The flight caught a lot of delay caused by the arguments about the luggage of one passenger. So after 55 min we were finally in the air. Apologies were said in a way "we must do it" unfriendly FA, poor information from the cockpit. You have to pay for drinks and even in business the drinks are served in carton cups. In Hamburg 40 minutes waiting for the luggage;

Route: Brussels to Hamburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Boutique Air

Title: "two thumbs down to Boutique Air"

Review: What a terrible experience! We booked our son on a flight from Altoona, PA, to El Paso, TX. The first leg of his travel was with Boutique Airlines (BA) to Puttsburgh, PA. BA said they couldn't fit my son's guitar on the plane and told him it would be shipped on a plane the next day by United Airlines (UA), which meant we would have to drive an hour and a half back to El Paso the next day to pick it up. The customer service rep offered no alternative solution other than to contact UA the next day to see if they would ship it. Then we had a text from our son saying that he missed his connecting flight in Pittsburgh because the flight departed late from Altoona and the UA connecting flight in Pittsburg left early! The UA rep told our son they left early because BA did not enter his name into the system, so UA thought all passengers were onboard! There were no more flights to El Paso that day so UA kindly put him up in a hotel and gave him a food voucher. Since the flight to El Paso the next day would have our son arriving too late to attend a planned event, we are now driving 3 hours to pick him up in Albuquerque! UA said they will arrange to have his luggage delivered to our door from from El Paso! So kudos to UA and two thumbs down to Boutique Air!

Route: Altoona to El Paso

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "planes are quite old and dirty"

Review: Sydney to Stockholm via Beijing. Really old and rugged airplanes and very little leg room. But the worst part is that the cabin crew makes constant in-flight announcement. Each time there is a little bump of turbulence there is an announcement in Chinese and English. It is impossible to make use of IFE system and I recommend a good pair of noise cancelling headphones. Cabin crew speaks poor English but are nice and let me change seats to the emergency seats without having to pay extra. (I am 192 cm tall so very worth while.) Lounge staff in Beijing were OK but one woman went out of her way to change our seats in the lounge making sure that we got better seats and even bumped us up to emergency row also on the second leg of our trip. Very appreciated. I have never had any issues flying with Air China but I know that Chinese ground services customer service can be very inadequate and unhelpful so happy I have not had to deal with that. Overall planes are quite old and dirty and food is poor but value for money is great and it got us to our destination back and forth without any mishaps.

Route: Sydney to Stockholm via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "caused me some serious concern"

Review: Okinawa to Hong Kong. In general, this little budget airline get you from A to B, serve is ok and menu offer is nice and not too expensive at all. However, the low rating concerns their safety standards. There were three things that happened during the outbound and inbound flights that caused me some serious concern. When landing in Naha airport at night I was shocked that the cabin light was not dimmed. Usually in exit rows, for safety reasons, people with disabilities, mother with infants are NOT allowed. Yet with Peach, a mother was allowed to sit there holding her baby, and no infant seat belt was even provided. Landing back into Hong Kong, a few people didn't put their window shades back up, and the crew didn't care, she was more concerned about where they put their bags. Tried to contact them via email, there is actually no email address to write to them. I do like this little airline which offer very cheap tickets to Japan, but their standards leave me wondering.

Route: Okinawa to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Bangkok Airways

Title: "They cancelled my flight"

Review: Chiang Mai to Hanoi. They have cancelled my flight for February 2020 that was critical to my itinerary by email. Just cancelled it. No explanation. You wait ages for a refund and have to do all the running around to get it. Will not use again.

Route: Chiang Mai to Hanoi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "joins the race to the bottom"

Review: When flying from Brussels to Malta on December 27 I was once more confronted with the total incompetence of Air Malta. Official Air Malta luggage voucher was not recognized (by incompetent check-in staff) and caused a 30 min delay at check-in. Special sized luggage did not arrive with the flight (they said, but very probably badly handled by incompetent luggage handlers at Malta Airport). This is my conclusion because was found back before any other flight from Brussels arrived. Air Malta was not capable to make the late luggage delivery in time (before 17:00) driver could not be reached, and after 18:00 nobody of Air Malta answers any phone. Only after 19:00 the luggage was delivered by a driver that was not even capable to ring a doorbell or use a mobile phone, but made his presence clear by claxonning.

I did not receive any calls back after 18:00 from Air Malta, so there is a general incompetence to pass any messages between staff, or even in a general sense. So even with staff quality Air Malta joins the race to the bottom of the cheapest airlines.

Route: Brussels to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "disappointing experience with Blue Air"

Review: Rome to Bucharest. Booked a flight for myself my wife and 2 children from Rome to Bucharest. Two hours prior departure at checkin we found out that on the reservation ticket, instead of my wife's last name was mine, although family name and date of birth were correct. The ground staff kept us waiting till closing time when they told us that we need to buy another full price ticket for my wife. Apart from keeping us waiting, after buying a new ticket we had to run to catch the flight. They were asked to give me both tickets reserved on my name and they said is not possible. Of course it wasn't possible, the extra ticket sold to my wife was one of my tickets (same seat no), so as conclusion I had to pay for one seat twice. All in all, I had a very bad, disappointing experience with Blue Air. There was no supervisor to talk to in Rome and the complain was given in Otopeni in written as there was no supervisor there as well with response time of 60 days.

Route: Rome to Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "All round good value for money"

Review: This was the first time I flew Play and I was happy with all aspects of their product. I flew out of Stansted and had to get from Gatwick by bus which was a bit of a struggle. Seats were nice and flight personnel were pleasant. We flew to Stewart, USA via Keflavik. We had a two hour stopover and I just sat in transit area and waited. Play is a low cost carrier so you pay for what you need. I usually travel with an under the seat bag so I bought no extras. At Stewart there is a bus that meets the plane and takes you to Manhattan for 25 dollars. I had a friend meet me though. All round good value for money.

Route: Stansted to Stewart via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "choosing KLM was the biggest regret"

Review: We fly frequently on long haul flights to Brazil and choosing KLM was the biggest regret. The seats are horrible, we paid for an upgrade which wasnt worth it a single bit. The food on board is tasteless, a block of hard cheese on bread is one of the meals. We paid extra also for our baggage and when we have arrived into Dublin and our luggage is lost. Both of our cases are gone. My wife is pregnant and tried to use another toilet but the staff yelled at her to go to another toilet even though the line was very long. Ill never and I repeat never fly on this terrible airline ever again.

Route: Rio de Janeiro to Dublin via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "book with a different airline"

Review: Pisa to Amsterdam. I do not recommend this airline. After having a three hour delay for my flight over to the Netherlands I didn't love the airline. After they cancelled our flight back to Pisa merely hours before we were supposed to board and leave without reason. When asked we were met with vague scrambled explanations and told there was no other option to fly back that day. Not only that, but they said they couldn't do anything for at least 48 hours! As a student who's studying abroad and needed to get back at least by Monday afternoon for class (which doesn't allow excused absences because of travel issues like most programs) I was very stressed. They finally after much arguing, to a representative who didn't even work for Transavia we were able to get a flight for Monday night .. which was delayed also. They did provide us with meal vouchers, though not enough to cover all of the meals we needed, and a nice hotel we still had to spend money on transportation to a different airport to fly home. This rant just barely covers what we had to deal with while traveling. I will be calling to get a refund. Definitely book with a different airline.

Route: Pisa to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jazeera Airways

Title: "Worst service ever"

Review: Jeddah to Mumbai via Kuwait. Not recommended if travelling with children. Worst service ever experienced by airline and in-flight staff. No declaration of meal included or not included on ticket. Also no information on baggage check-in counter staff. Restrictions for entry to duty free at Kuwait airport. No support from ground staff at Kuwait airport.

Route: Jeddah to Mumbai via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SereneAir

Title: "truly terrible experience"

Review: I recently had a truly terrible experience with them from Islamabad to Riyadh on June 17, 2023. From start to finish, it was filled with disaster and discomfort. The ordeal began with an unannounced 8-hour delay, during which the airline provided no facilities or support for the passengers. I tried visiting their office and calling the helpline to understand the reason for the delay, but I was met with indifference and blame, as if I should have known about it in advance. To add to the confusion, when I checked the official website for updates, it indicated that the flight was on time. However, the flight did not appear on the airport screens for several hours. Finally, it reappeared on the screen with misleading information that the delay was only one hour. Throughout this entire ordeal, passengers, including families with children, were left scattered in the airport, feeling helpless and hopeless. There were no refreshments, meals, or any facilities provided. It was a time of extreme inconvenience and trouble. When we approached the airline team at the boarding counter for confirmation, their response was so bad. They informed us that the aircraft was currently loading passengers in Dubai and that the flight's departure time would only be confirmed upon its arrival at Islamabad airport. This lack of clarity and professionalism caused further frustration. Eventually, the flight was delayed for another hour. Despite the numerous challenges faced during the journey, the flight attendants stood out for their attentive and helpful approach. This small act of responsiveness was truly commendable amidst an otherwise disappointing journey" Based on my experience, I will never fly with this airline. Even if it were the only option available, I would opt for an alternative.

Route: Islamabad to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "not even water is served"

Review: Easily the worst airline of the Lufthansa group, not even water is served. Luggage policy leads to delays as they asked a lot of people to check in the luggage leading to a delay and then the luggage racks were free. At other Lufthansa group airlines you can pay with miles for the buy on board. Also delay, personal experience, are more frequent. On the flight I was reviewing my seat pocket was broken.

Route: Copenhagen to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "will never fly them again"

Review: My flight was scheduled to leave at 7:17 am. Since I am supposed to get to the airport 1.5-2 hours before the flight, I was up early and arrived at 5:15am. At 5:36 am I received a notification from American that this flight was delayed until 9:45am because of "logistical issues". As a result I missed my connecting flight. I was supposed to get into Little Rock for 11:15am and now have a connecting flight putting me in little rock for 8:26pm. Having read the reviews on American Airlines before booking this flight, I should have heeded the warnings. Lesson learned! Wanted to give American Airlines a chance to prove the reviews wrong. I was wrong, American lives up to its subpar reviews. Because of "logistical issues" rearrange my transportation, reservations and housing. I have never flown American before and will never fly them again. I tried to call American Airlines and was on hold for 36 minutes. Never got to talk to a person. I fly 6 times a year on average, United, Delta, Jet Blue have been seamless. American is in the bottom tier for a reason, great way to put yourself out of business.

Route: Hartford to Chicago O'Hare

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "the crews and the meal saved the day"

Review: Jakarta CGK to Manado on board GA600. Frankly, if it was not for the service aspect of this flight, I would've given this flight a 6/10 max. The service itself was the boosting factor of this flight. The check-in staff at Jakarta was fast, friendly, and efficient so all of us were able to check in real fast despite the crowds flocking each check-in counter. Boarding was orderly despite stumbling a bit on the jet bridge - and upon boarding the plane, I spotted several product issues: the cabin was clean but was kept at a high temperature during boarding, the windows and the right wing of the airplane were undermaintained for so long that I was barely able to see the window clearly and the paintings to peel off, and the headrest of my seat had shrunk to the point that I felt like I was leaning against a piece of metal. Adding insult to injury, the in-flight entertainment experienced a major downgrade - no more live TV shows, no more games, and my headphone jack was nearing its breaking point. The selections were excellent if this flight was taken in 2018, but they were severely outdated by 2022 standards. Its responsiveness was not any better. The aircraft took off late, and we queued for a very long time at the taxiway with a scorching hot temperature inside the cabin. At this point, I was already about to give this flight a 4/10 - but then, the crews and the meal saved the day, both adding 2 points each. The crews were extremely friendly, polite, and proactive. It all started when they escorted me from the seat, and even during disembarking, they were still in a happy and energetic mood. They apologized when they forgot my order. On this 3-hour flight, they also proved that they're still above anyone else by serving not one, but two meals. The first one was a grilled fish with rice and vegetables, while the second one was a piece of strawberry bread. We were also given two bottles of drinks - a bottle of water and a bottle of tea, with other options still available upon request. Overall, this flight was salvaged by the service aspects of the flight. Had the services been as bad as the product, I wouldn't have given this flight an 8/10. Garuda really should consider balancing its service and its product. I know that they're experiencing a hard time nowadays, but who knows that the act of balancing service and product can save Garuda. This flight was a true representation of the following statement: "A+ grade service with a B- grade product".

Route: Jakarta Soekarno-Hatta to Manado

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Wideroe

Title: "Handles the current strike very poorly"

Review: Handles the current strike very poorly. There is extremely little information. We were worried about the strikes but got no info that any flight would be canceled the same day so we went to the airport. Once there, the gate will not appear on the screen until about 20 minutes before the flight is to leave. Then the flight is delayed 1h. Finally, half the airline is canceled 10 minutes before departure. Then about 30 minutes later the other half. O.m we and other travelers could get info earlier at least in the morning the same day we could have booked a train or similar to take us home / to our destination. But since we do not get any info, we lose at least one day on travel / miss important scheduled meetings etc. The staff does not know much more and we are referred to check our mobile phones to get information about hotels. Do not recommend! Hanterar den rådande strejken mkt dåligt. Det är extremt lite information. Vi var oroliga för strejkerna men fick ingen info om att något flyg skulle vara inställt samma dag så vi åkte in till flygplatsen. Väl där kommer inte gaten upp på skärmen förrän ca 20 min innan flyget skall gå. Sen blir flyget försenat 1h. Sist blir halva flygsällskapet avbokad 10 min innan avgång. Därefter ca 30 min senare övriga halvan. O.m vi och andra resenärer kunde få info tidigare i alla fall på morgonen samma dag hade vi kunnat boka tåg eller liknande för att ta oss hem/till vårt resmål. Men eftersom vi inte får någon info så förlorar vi minst en dag på att resa/missar viktiga inplanerade möten etc. Personalen vet inte så mkt mer och vi hänvisas till att kolla på våra mobiltelefoner för att få information om hotell. Rekommenderar inte!

Route: Bergen to Göteborg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "their customer service is awful"

Review: As I started to read through these reviews I felt more and more angry as the same issues were happening with me. Had flights scheduled in October 2020 which got cancelled due to the pandemic. We were automatically given Cashpoints which we did not want. Now they no longer fly to/from the United States so I asked for a refund so I can actually use the tickets I purchased. I have now gotten their boiler plate email response twice, like others have attached photos of. This is ridiculous and their customer service is awful. Like others have said, they have stolen our money and have no plans for us to fly with them.

Route: Orlando to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "now youre a legacy carrier"

Review: I ordered two coffees, with three sugars each, repeated three times; Im first row window seat on left behind door. The cabin steward hands me two coffees with three creamers each, no lids; and no tables to set them on. Why couldnt lids be provided? It took three hours to get my first beverage, Im up at 5 to make 630 flight, and coffee providers are closed. Thanks for really screwing up a mornings start. I also appreciate that Southwest wants my feedback. Click on the feedback tab to ask what did you use app for? Id honestly like to know why I did too? Feedback is static, please make no comments; submit. You used to be low cost, now youre a legacy carrier; and as soon as Ive exhausted my points using my companion fare; your credit card goes in the back of dresser. So spent on the lesser quality of flying southwest now, used to be fun exuberant staff; but now they treat you like a McDonald's employee would treat you. All the draws that made me loyal are falling to the wayside. You can tell the employees look at this like a job instead of a career.

Route: San Jose to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Bahamasair

Title: "The worst customer service ever"

Review: They charged me 25 USD for a checked-in bag and then it arrived ripped off on the side to FLL. It was just 5pm however a guy at the baggage claim said that they closed and that he is the only person related to the company at the airport at the moment. He made a claim for me and said to send it by email that he indicated. Well, nothing was happening for a couple of months until I wrote to a contact email from their official website. Again, a long wait and many emails, and in the end, they issued a 75 USD travel voucher for a damaged nearly new suitcase that I got for over 200 USD. Plus, I live in Mexico and went to the Bahamas once, and don't see myself going there anyhow soon, so their travel voucher is useless. I wrote them about that and haven't heard from them ever since (a few months passed). The worst customer service ever, try to avoid this airline at all cost. And well, don't trust them with anything more valuable than 25 bucks duffle bags.

Route: Nassau to Ft Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "my worst experience ever"

Review: It was my worst experience ever. My flight was from Greece to Dublin via Munich. We were not aware that in the Munich airport had some technical issues and the majority of European flights, were being cancelled. Although the pilot prior take off from Greece and due to a flight delay mentioned about these issues in Munich no one bothered to inform us that we might lose our flights and be stuck in Munich. The following 2 days it was known that the staff in Munich airport was in strike so no flights. During the flight I found out that my flight from Munich to Dublin was cancelled. When I asked the flight attendant what am I supposed to do and why they did not inform us earlier to find another option to travel to Dublin, she replied you may be able to travel to Dublin on Tuesday, 3 days later.

Route: Thessaloniki to Munich

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Go First

Title: "dont expect to be pampered"

Review: After booking this ticket I read the reviews for this airline which are pretty negative, especially about delays. So I monitored my flight in the fortnight before my trip. Of the 14 flights only twice did it go on time, but 10 of the flights the delay was only between 20 & 35 minutes. Once it was just over an hour and once it was 5 hours! Go First is a low cost airline so dont expect to be pampered. You will be herded on at the airport. They also maximise the usage of the airplane so if its delayed on the first flight of the day (say fog at Delhi) then all of its flights for that day will be delayed. So I suggest if you need to be somewhere at a particular time (meeting, wedding, flight connection) then maybe look elsewhere. However if it doesn't matter too much if you arrive an hour or so late at your destination then use them. The plane was clean, crew courteous, a reasonable choice of purchase food/drinks were available and I would use them again.

Route: Ahmedabad to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "staff were friendly, professional"

Review: I was pleasantly surprised by the service I received during my recent flight. The staff were friendly, professional, and went out of their way to ensure my comfort. The in-flight meals were delicious and served promptly. When we encountered some turbulence, the pilots kept us informed and made every effort to minimize any discomfort. I would not hesitate to recommend them..

Route: Guangzhou to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Kulula

Title: "check-in grumpy and idiotic"

Review: Cape Town to Johannesburg. Ok flight, take-off delayed by 45 minutes due to late arrival of aircraft, check-in grumpy and idiotic (demanding to weigh a small framed painting that did not even weigh 500gr, despite ample luggage allowance not used up), supervisor felt staff did the right thing, amazing.

Route: Cape Town to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "my flight was late for one hour"

Review: This airlines don't respect thier passengers, my flight was late for one hour, after gathering passengers for boarding they discover that they don't have a staff for this flight, after one hour they call to start boarding again, passenger stand in a queue and they let us waiting for more 30 min.

Route: Sao Paulo to Florianopolis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "haven't received my baggage"

Review: Rome to Pisa. My first experience with this company was really bad. First, the flight is delayed for one hour and the second I haven't received my baggage and still waiting to be found.

Route: Rome to Pisa

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "Ridiculous, non-professional, rude"

Review: I'm a Brazilian, I already visited Israel flying with Aeroflot. The day before yesterday I bought business class for the flight from Vienna to Tel Aviv. During check-in (I was one of the first to make check-in) procedure I was informed my luggage gonna go in another airplane and come later. I need to show my phone, search my name in google and explain why I bought a ticket at the same day as the flight is, why my flight was booked from the Russian travel agency (my wife is Russian so she used to book for me tickets for the last 6 years - nobody ever asked it). Despite I booked business class I am allowed travel only in economy class. When I refused and ask to give me any document where will be written that they dont allow me to travel - they refused - saying that they allow and that I am refusing. I asked to write that they offered me to travel in economy instead of business and I refused - They said that they cannot give me anything because they dont need explain the security reasons. After me insisting and calling to the agency - they asked airport security to check cameras of the airport and check what I was doing before approach check-in. Of course my luggage was checked 3 times. I felt myself like a suspect to be a terrorist or something like this, despite the fact that I have 1000-s of stamps from all over the world - yes there 2 stamps from Emirates - but even if it could be because of them - its not the representative of the airlines who decide to allow the entrance to the country- and this stamps are old - after this I already visited Israel. Ridiculous, non-professional, rude - worst service I ever saw in my life.

Route: Vienna to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "has gone from bad to worse"

Review: Palm Springs to San Francisco. The experience has gone from bad to worse and we havent even boarded the flight yet. Making the reservation ended up in my having to cancel what I had already booked because they wouldnt let my small dog on that flight. So an agent in Denver assisted me in canceling that one and booking a new one. However he forgot to assign seats. When I discovered this error 2 days before the flight, I was told there were no free seats left and would have to pay $60 for premium seats. I should have fought it because it seemed like an agent error but I paid it. Then we got to the airport and paid another $100 for the bags. So for a short flight, we paid $160 just for seats and bags not including the actual flight which was around $475 including $100 for my dog. I kept getting flight status emails for the canceled flight, nothing on the new flight. Once we arrived at Palm Springs airport, the flight was to board at 4, take off at 4:42. At 4:15 and no plane at the gate, we asked the agent for an update. Then we were told theres a mechanical problem, no plane will arrive until 5:30, take off around 6:10, an hour and a half past the scheduled time. When I expressed how horrible Virgin is, the agent agreed and said it will all be Alaska Airlines after April 2018. We finally left Palm Springs 3 hours after the scheduled flight at 7:20. Once in SF), we waited 30 mins for our bags. Worst experience in the US ever!! Oh and no free drinks, no apologies, the customer service was very sad.

Route: Palm Springs to San Francisco

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "a complete disaster"

Review: I had the nightmare flight experience from Delta Airlines. My recent trip from Boston to Shanghai was a complete disaster. Delta Airline flight DL509 got delayed 3 hours and made me arrive late in Los Angeles from Boston. This made me miss my connecting flight to Shanghai with China Airlines. Second, Delta Airlines changed my entire trip without notifying me. I found out my flight changed the next day from my travel agent. Delta changed my entire trip and made me use their airline to fly back to China instead of flying with China Airlines. The new trip now forced me to fly to Seattle and then fly to China through Delta Airlines. This forced me to stay in a hotel for 2 nights and the 2nd night hotel I had to pay out of pocket. Third, Delta Airlines then tried to make me purchase a Main Cabin class ticket for the 3rd day flight to China on their Airlines. This was an $800 ticket which they said I have to purchase in in order to get on the only next available flight to China. So, for them making me miss my connecting flight I had to pay $800 just to fly back and also I had to spend $200 the second night for a hotel in Seattle so I can catch the flight to China the 3rd day is ridiculous. Finally, when I took their flight to China on the third day and arrived in China they lost my luggage. I had important items in my luggage which I had to give to my relatives and now its gone and they are still trying to find it. Delta mentioned specifically that I did not need to worry about my luggage when my flight got changed by them. This entire trip made me feel like a helpless homeless person for 3 days and as an old 70 year old man my health deteriorated greatly from the stress they caused me. Theres no shame in the horrendous customer service they provided and I was never compensated by Delta Airlines for the distress they caused me.

Route: Boston to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "cancelled the flight for no reason"

Review: They cancelled the flight for no reason when all the other flights from other airlines were functional. They just get your money pay themselves and say they had to cancel it when there was no lockdown. In fact this is second time.

Route: Chennai to Pune

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "customer service team is horrible"

Review: Flight Attendants were good but their guest experience / customer service team is horrible. Long wait time and generic responses and lack of empathy, Being in customer service, emotional intelligence is important. Another thing to note - if they offer you travel vouchers due to flight cancellations or rescheduling, BE Careful. They misrepresented by not telling me full info when I opted for voucher and when I tried to redeem a $20 meal, they took my flight amount.

Route: Berlin to Sydney via Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "treat their customers like dirt"

Review: Insel is a poor excuse for an airline. They treat their customers like dirt. Flight from Curacao to Havana was informed to be 1 hours 10 minutes late at check-in October 3. The plane was present at the gate. 1 hour and 20 minutes after the original departure time the screen went black, no audio information. New sign on screen, the plane was now due for Miami! Asking about our flight to Havana we where informed it was delayed 4 days! come back on Friday. Most stupid thing ever heard, who on holiday can change their plans like that? It cost us approx. 200 USD on phone to get new hotel room at Curacao and to cancel our hotel in Havana. We still had to pay for the first night, another 115 USD. Also tried to call Insel Air which have so rude staff on the phone just saying no refund then put you back in the phone queue. Before this flight not taking place, we flew from Miami via Curacao to Bonaire, both flight very much delayed, arriving at Bonaire after rental cars had closed so we could not pick up our car. Also from Bonaire back to Curacao, delayed. So before cancel to Havana three flights all delayed. We noticed that the flight to Miami that was announced instead of Havana was three hours late, so we realized that we had to rebook our return ticket from Curacao to Miami as we had connecting flights going back to Europe. These new tickets by another airline company also cost us. After trying to communicate with Insel, which is more or less a one way communication, we finally got information that our flight CUR-HAV-CUR is valid one year, same for our flight CUR-MIA. However they do not understand that people in Europe very seldom have the possibility to travel this far every year, we cannot afford it anyway, so we have absolutely no use off that offer.

Route: CUR to HAV

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aircalin

Title: "they're proving to be unreliable"

Review: This review is written from the viewpoint of not actually being able to fly AirCalin, despite wanting to. One of my favourite airlines pre-Covid but right now, they're proving to be unreliable. A real shame. Booked my ticket through Air NZ utilising the AirCalin operated flight for a late afternoon flight home on Thursday 27th April, arriving early evening. And why not? A nice leisurely morning a swim at the beach before lunch, then heading to the airport. A pretty decent early dinner onboard with a good red for the 2 hour flight. Sounds good right? But AirCalin has other ideas. First flight reschedule received was to Friday (28/4) morning at 9 o'clock. Not exactly stellar having to leave the hotel at 5 am but ok, I'll just book another night at hotel. Now today, one week from holiday, the Friday flight has been cancelled outright and rebooked on Air NZ (still pretty good but lacking that certain je ne sais quoi these days). Two things grate. I now miss a friend's wedding on Saturday afternoon and I need to schlep my bag to another hotel (since the other hotel is now full on the Friday night). A shemozzle but at least Air NZ have rebooked flights, veg meal and seat selection without drama on the Saturday lunchtime flight. Thanks AirCalin for messing me about, not once but twice. If and when independence from France eventuates, AirCalin won't be able to hide behind Paris' largesse. It'll need to stand and deliver. That'll be interesting.

Route: Noumea to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia Zest

Title: "happy with the service"

Review: Manila to Kalibo. I am a frequent flier of AirAsia. I am always happy with the service that I am getting. Staff are really friendly. This is a short trip to fulfil a holiday and fantastic service. The best part is being able to sit within the exit row without paying for this.

Route: MNL to KLO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "a great experience"

Review: Excellent service. I flew Dubai- B'Ham- Dubai in economy class. Emirates has common counters where you can check in your luggage. Initially, I was skeptical (particularly on the DXB-BHX route) but Emirates made no mistakes. This is quite convenient as you can check in quickly and go to the lounge. The flight departed on time, the crew had a smile and were quite professional. Food was sufficient in quantity and quite good with metal cutlery in economy class. There was another snack service followed by juices/hot drinks 1.5 hours before landing. The seating is quite good and has a seat [pitch of 32"]. B777s in use by Emirates are getting old and you can see the signs. Their ICE system was excellent. I am not sure I would like the Business class seats here as they weren't lie-flat but I was flying economy. Families with kids were well taken care of with flight attendants distributing amenities and offering to take and share instant pictures using Polaroid cameras. The in-flight wifi was free for text messaging using WhatsApp, even in economy if you have Skywards membership. My only complaint during the trip is that the plane was parked far off and required considerable walking at Terminal 3 in Dubai to reach immigration (which was a breeze). Overall, it was a great experience but flights are quite expensive compared to the competition.

Route: Birmingham to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "flight was delayed 24 hours"

Review: We booked a Cubana Airlines domestic flight from Baracoa to Havana. The morning we arrived at the airport, a lady came to tell us the flight was delayed 24 hours. No more explanation, no other options, no accomodation to stay. Next we arrive again at the airport with the other passangers. They check us in and after check-in they anounce the flight is canceled again for that day. But we are advised to wait as the airplane might still arrive. From the local Cubans waiting with us, we hear the airplane has been broken for 3 days already and waiting for repair in Haiti. There was no communucation from the Cubana Airlines staff about alternatives to get to Havana whatsoever. They just kept us waiting again. All the tourist passengers decided together to go away and find an alternative ourselves. Several of us already missed our connnecting flights back home, which are not refunded by cubana.

Route: Baracoa to Havanna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "Service onboard was okay"

Review: Bangkok to Vienna on 22 March. Ticket Booked, could not check in. No Customer support desk open only Mon - Fri. Could not choose seat even though was in tariff from ticket. Service onboard was okay and staff good. Flight on time. Flight changes random due to coronavirus and little support. And as no more premium economy on route Vienna to BangkokI will be flying with a different Carrier.

Route: Bangkok to Vienna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aer Lingus

Title: "Very pleasant staff"

Review: Just flown Dublin to Alicante. Couldn't find a fault. Very pleasant staff on ground and in the air, but I still think hold luggage costs are pure theft.

Route: Dublin to Dublin via Alicante airport

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Edelweiss Air

Title: "was given a meat dish when I had ordered vegetarian"

Review: Was not happy with this flight, leaving from Birmingham to Vancouver we booked a vegetarian meal, but was given a meat dish and when asked for a vegetarian they said we needed to book it, which I did on my online check in. The same happened on my return, I was given a meat dish when I had ordered vegetarian. Check-in at Vancouver nearly took 50 min with 15 people in front, they had no ground staff. I will not be flying with Edelweiss Air again, very disappointed with this.

Route: Vancouver to Birmingham via Zurich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "it's always delayed"

Review: Jakarta to Yogyakarta. All the times I've flown with Lion Air it's always delayed up to the point where I have expected that it's going to be late this time around. I was scheduled to board the plane at 5.55pm but the plane got delayed for who knows how long. I haven't heard on whether the plane has arrived or not and it's 7.20 pm now. The most baffling thing is that it's written on the general boarding screen that it's on schedule when it's definitely not. If you have no choice but to fly with Lion Air cause it's the only airline available, never make plans to arrive on time or it'll be ruined like how mine has been ruined. Oh well, lessons learned.

Route: Jakarta to Yogyakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "a huge inconvenience"

Review: This is the second time this year Swoop has caused flight cancellations disrupting important family events. It is impossible to contact Swoop to speak to a representative. My daughter bought a Swoop ticket from Toronto to Victoria for a reasonable price. She was flying out for our family reunion and her sisters milestone 50th birthday and was coming 4 days early to help us with all the plans. The day before she was to leave, Swoop cancelled, "Due to Unscheduled Maintenance", without the courtesy of a 24 hour notice. (Swoop sent a second email stating the reason for the cancellation was incorrect and then gave a second reason for the cancellation!) The flights Swoop offered to re-book were all a minimum of 9 1/2 hours as opposed to her original 5 hour direct flight. Swoop said she would also have to pay the fare difference at this very late notice. The only flight she could get to Victoria to make it on time for the family reunion, arrived late afternoon, on the day of the family gathering. She arrived here at 2:30 pm. As a result we had to scramble to do all the event planning which our daughter was going to take care of. My husband just had a knee replacement and I am working in my older years so this is a huge inconvenience and disruption for all of us. After the stress and disappointment, if you can imagine this, there was a second cancellation at 4pm Saturday. She was to leave at 8:00am the next morning with no possibility to re-book. In order to get to Victoria on Sunday, the day of the family celebration, she had to book a one way ticket with Air Canada and Lynx Air from Toronto to Victoria with a 2 1/2 hour stop over in Calgary for $800. The original Swoop flight was listed at $120. My daughter investigated her cancelled flight and discovered the Swoop flight was not cancelled but was "fully booked" (see screen shot). We believe that Swoop bumped her lower fare ticket in order to accommodate later higher priced tickets. This poor treatment has happened to many people. We've spoken to a large number of friends about Swoop's unprofessional business practices and now both a friend and another family member have just decided to cancel their Swoop tickets because they are afraid their plans will be ruined too.

Route: Toronto to Victoria

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "Leg space was reasonable"

Review: I was really sceptical about Wizz, but I followed the rules and online check in process and all went well, no extra fees. I already paid for my checked in baggage when I bought my tickets and stuck to the weight category I chose. The plane was clean, had basic features, safe and comfortable. Leg space was reasonable, I was able to sleep during the flight as well.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Al Madinah Al Munawwarah

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "it turns out to be very expensive"

Review: Worst flight experience of my life. From the service at the airport to the boarding, you are angry. The airline sells cheaper tickets but manages to charge 90% of passengers for luggage. They even complain about the size of a personal document bag. They measure and weigh your bag at check-in and at the boarding gate, they walk around looking at backpacks and handbags and barring several passengers who are forced to pay for the bag to board. I've never seen that anywhere and on any company I've flown. When I went to check in online I had a problem because my reservation contained 2 passengers, but when adding hand luggage (charged) the system only allowed me to add one and not one per passenger. So when I arrived at the airport, I explained the situation to the counter attendant and she super arrogantly told me that the system is very simple and clear and that she monitors all its operation, making it understood that I did not have the capacity to do what I needed. In the end it turns out to be very expensive.

Route: Halifax to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "I will definitely fly with you again"

Review: My experience with Avelo Airlines was one my family and I would never forget. We had a great time flying from Orlando to new haven. But coming back to Orlando my family and I were surprised when the flight attendant recognized my daughter for her upcoming birthday on November 28th. She had the passengers flicker their lights to congratulate her which was very special as this was our first time flying in years. I was one happy mama and proud as well. They also gave her the wings that the flight attendants wear and to top it off the captain himself came out and wished her a Happy Birthday. That was very kind of him and such class. I never got to take a picture with him and my daughter which was a bummer, I didn't want to hold up the line behind me. Thank you Avelo for such an amazing experience I will definitely fly with you again. Shout to Avelo Airlines Flight XP 721 and the Captain.

Route: New Haven to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "First and last time"

Review: Worst experience ever! Paid for upgraded seats and discovered that 3 other people had paid for and been assigned the same seats. On our return we were booked to leave Halifax at 4 p.m. A friend happened to call us at 9 a.m. to say they had received an email saying that our flight had changed to 11 a.m. We had a mad dash back home, grabbed our suitcases and flew way above the speed limit to get to the airport on time. Also had to return a rental car and then run to the gate. Too much for a 68 yr old! Imagine too, not even a coffee, tea or water was offered, except for sale. Never fly Flair again! First and last time.

Route: Toronto to Halifax

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hi Fly

Title: "wouldn't choose to fly with hifly"

Review: Hi Fly operated the route Brunei - Melbourne on behalf of Royal Brunei, due to RB having some sort of issue with their usual fleet for that route. We were told this at Heathrow (full flight was London- Melbourne via Dubai & Brunei).

It stated the flight would be as comfortable, and the same high standard as RB. Not the case, sadly! Plane was older, more cramped and I felt not very clean. In-flight entertainment consisted of about 6 or 7 films, and 2 TV shows. I was lucky to have a vacant seat next to me, but the screen wasn't working; I asked the flight attendant to see if it could be reset, and I doubt she even checked, as it never worked and no-one came back to me to update. Food service was incredibly slow, with warm drinks and nothing explained. I had to ask for my water bottle to be refilled 3 times (over 1 hour!) and finally, to get it refilled, I had to use the call attendant button, as the lady who insisted she hadn't forgotten, clearly had! Also, loads of passengers had to ask about the seatbelt sign, as it was on after take-off for a very long time (smooth flying so no need) and we weren't able to use the toilets. The sign went on again after a period of short turbulence, however again took a long time to go off, so people were just disregarding it to use the toilet (no cabin crew in sight at this time) Upon arrival, it was a brief message of thank you, but no local time update - something which is necessary upon arrival in a new time zone! All in all, a shame to have had this flight as a last leg of a long haul - you need to be comfortable. They were no way near up to RB's standard or service. I wouldn't choose to fly with hi fly, and I'd be hesitant if I knew they were stepping in as a replacement service provider

Route: Bandar seri Begawan to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: Austrian Airlines customer review

Review: Booked Hamburg to Phuket via Vienna and Bangkok on one OS ticket. All legs were in C, HAM VIE operated by Eurowings and BKK HKT by Thai Smiles. Was travelling with my partner. We are both status members with LH. In Hamburg and otherwise than stated on their website, Eurowings refused to check luggage through to HKT; reason given we are not Star Alliance and as such we do not. This meant we would have to get luggage in BKK and check it in for the BKK HKT leg. This is more than annoying, not seamless at all and in addition, the check-in desk lady was more than rude. Unacceptable for a business class experience. Flight on Eurowings was a little late with some nice red wine topped up twice by a very friendly purser. LH lounge in HAM the typical LH standard with some good food and beverage selection. Did not make it to the Austrian lounge, unfortunately. The Austrian flight in VIE left an hour late, due to snow and de-icing. Cabin crew was very nice and charming, absolutely personal and present. Food and wine above LH standards; had booked two "throne seats" which were amazing. IFE sub-standard. C cabin was fully booked. Arrived in BKK half an hour late. When arrived in BKK we were told by ground staff that our luggage was NOT on the plane and that we should directly go to the Thai smiles gate; also got an e-mail saying that Thai Smiles was re-scheduled to over an hour later than the initial booking. We left almost two hours later than planned already then knew, things would be bad. Thai Smile offered water, juice and noodles options in the premium cabin. Far away from premium. When we arrived in HKT it was far too late to catch the latest ferry to Kho Yao Yai (that we had already paid); it took as more than two hours to verify our luggage would not arrive and sort things out with the Thai baggage service counter in HKT. Had to book a hotel room, buy clothes and a new transfer to the island. It took Austrian four days to ship our luggage to BKK (although there are several daily flights within Lufthansa group) and another 24 hours to ship from BKK to Kho Yao Yai. In the meanwhile, no information was given by Austrian, no reaction to calls, mails etc. The only information we got was from Thai Smiles we not not know, we have to wait. I expect an airline like Austrian to be more supportive, responsive and reactive. What I really hate is, that within Lufthansa group, one family member (i.e. Eurowings) behaves like the unloved child and lets customers exactly feel this. That's bad behaviour. No need to pay premium prices if you do not get premium service. Things went as bad flying home.

Route: Vienna to Phuket via Bangkok

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "space was pretty cramped"

Review: Nadi to Adelaide. Ground service very good, very fast check in. Business class lounge was new, nicely decorated and well stocked with food/snacks, drinks and newspapers. Only thing: loud music. Flight: a very tired and old plane, seats very uncomfortable for a 6 hours flight. Seat controls did not work properly. Personal space was pretty cramped; sleeping impossible. Blanket and small pillow were provided. No amenity kit. Service was OK, nothing special, the same for food. Very small portions and service was over within less than 1 hour after take-off. We had expected more reading other reviews. That this flight is a direct one is a plus, however for better seats and service I would not mind a stop.

Route: Nadi to Adelaide

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "flight was overall fine"

Review: Flew on China Eastern from Hong Kong to Shanghai Pudong in October. The flight was overall fine and I didn't really have a reason to complain. The food was average, nothing to win prizes with, but given that they offer a full service on a two hours flight that was competitively priced I assume this is not a drawback. Seat pitch appeared to be above average on this airplane as well. Would fly them again.

Route: Hong Kong to Shanghai Pudong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vueling Airlines

Title: "told there is no seat for you"

Review: How can this company take your money for a flight then when you check in, to be told there is no seat for you. Then take no responsibility. So our holiday is ruined as they don't offer an alternative flight because they overbook seats and assume a certain amount of people are not going to turn up for their flight. They say you can wait for the next flight but they do this for every flight, so you won't get on the next one either. Very poor customer service and they should be closed down.

Route: Gatwick to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "All flights were adjusted and changed"

Review: During our two week stay in Vietnam we booked three flights weeks in advance. All flights were adjusted and changed within 48 hours of departure, one we weren't even told about until we arrived for check in. Our final flight which was scheduled to get a connecting flight back to Australia was changed with less than 24 hours notice and put us at risk of being unable to get home. Customer service was impossible to reach on the phone and took hours to respond to multiple emails and Facebook messages ruining the last day of our trip. When we went to check in on this final flight we were told by the staff that we were not in their system even though we had an email confirmation, had chosen seats and had ticket numbers allocated to us in the app. I had to literally cry and beg so that the staff would acknowledge their mistake so that they would issue us with tickets for the flight we needed to be on to get home. I've been given no actual apology or compensation for the immense amount of stress they've caused over the last 2 weeks, just auto-generated responses from the customer service team.

Route: Da Nang to Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "told that the ticket had not been paid"

Review:

This review is about the ticket purchase. On September 30, 2022, I purchased a ticket from Aeromexico, in my partner's name to fly from Tijuana to Puerto Vallarta. The ticket price was $169.04. I paid with my Capital One credit card, but the transaction was held because my bank questioned the charge. I responded to the bank immediately and the charge went through. All this within 10 minutes or so.. I then received an e-mail confirming that the flight was booked and he was ready to fly. Great, no problem. In the meantime Alejandro got the notice that it was time to check in. When he attempted to check in on line he was unable to do so, and instead was notified that he had to see a gate agent. On Monday October 24, Alejandro got to the airport and went to the ticket counter where he was told that the ticket had not been paid, and hed have to pay about $436.00 for a new ticket. Not having any other recourse, and needing to get home, he reluctantly paid the exorbitant amount that Aeromexico required. The next day, he called Aeromexico and told them that the money had been originally paid for the ticket and that he wanted a refund of the more than $400.00 that he was forced into paying. Their response was to offer to refund the $169.04 that was the original cost of the ticket. Note that offering that, indicates that they know they were paid originally and they knew how much. Its hard to think that this is not a scam, but it is highly unusual that an airline would release the ticket and then turn around and claim it was never paid.

Route: Tijuana to Puerto Vallarta via Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "satisfied with their service"

Review: We bought a package to Cuba for the first time at this company. We got a lot of alerts about the flight time before our flight to Cuba and when we flew back. Both flights were on time. In general, we are satisfied with their service. I would just recommend them to create a live chat for addressing customer's inquiries who are abroad.

Route: Winnipeg to Varadero

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: "This airline is truly sad"

Review: Cape Town to Luanda. TAAG improved dramatically under sponsorship from Emirates but all that is gone. The issues start even before you get on the flight. I have been trying for over 4 weeks to get my name corrected on the ticket I paid for. They booked me under my suffix Jr. and even though they have promised to fix this maybe 5 times now they do not. They have offered to book me on another flight or even for more money but not just change my name. I will always choose another airlines going forward. This airline is truly sad.

Route: Cape Town to Luanda

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "Terrible check-in experience"

Review: Terrible check-in experience. The flight WE588 was scheduled for 7.45am departure. I arrive at the airport and straight to check-in counter Row G since 5.30am. However, there was already a very long line of passengers to check-in for the morning flight for international route while only 3-4 counters were opened. One counter for online check-in counter was opened with very short queue of 10-15 passengers. Unbelievable, it took me 45 minute to reach that counter to have my passport checked and receive boarding pass. There were staff sat at the closed countered but only for passengers who nearly miss the flight because of waiting too long for check in. This is irresponsible of airline management. They do not care about passengers at all. The boarding was late as usual for Thai Smile. Take off time was more than 15 minutes late. In-flight service was nothing special. Food was unacceptable as usual. They still serving pie with sloppy, soft, and moist pie crust which should be flaky pie crust. Also they over-used packing. To serve a small piece of bad pie and 100 ml of tap water, they use 2 thick paper boxes.

Route: Bangkok to Krong Siem Reap

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "efficient, polite and friendly"

Review: Rome to Luton return with Monarch Airlines. Outward and inward flights on time and arrived ahead of schedule. Despite a fairly full aircraft the cabin crew were efficient, polite and friendly. I ordered extra leg room seats and an inflight meal, which was of a good quality. I was most impressed by the way one stewardess managed a particularly difficult passenger who was quite rude and aggressive, and that efforts were made to juggle seating to allow a last minute couple to sit together. Monarch Airlines is every bit as good as it's larger contemporaries, just a bit friendlier!

Route: Rome to Luton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "same as all the other airlines"

Review: Paris to San Francisco. Read the reviews after purchasing my ticket and was quite worried. Ive flown to Europe multiple times on multiple airlines and this flight was just the same as all the other airlines. Economy seats are the same size as United/Delta. Our flight was several hundred dollars cheaper per person than any other alternative. Yes, boarding is a bit chaotic and unorganized (but that was not that big of a deal to me). Yes, there are no screens on the seats, however, they offer free WiFi with access to their entertainment (on your own device) that includes movies, tv shows, games, and music. They do not have charging in seat so bring your own portable charger if necessary. Food was delicious and they had good options for purchase throughout the flight. Flight attendants were very friendly and provided great service. We sat in the back of the plane with 2 seats together and that was great because the aisles were a bit roomier back there.

Route: Paris to San Francisco

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Sun Country Airlines

Title: "Getting worse and worse"

Review: Getting worse and worse. Over an hour late taking off with no explanation as to why. Then had an issue with the number of the bags loaded onto the plane VS the number they checked in so delayed again so they could count them all again, an additional 45 minutes from the time we landed until the time we were actually at the gate to deplane, and after waiting another 40+ minutes, there were still no bags at baggage claim. Two other flights before us were also still waiting for their bags. The woman announcing info about the baggage over the loud speaker actually said that if anyone had any questions about their luggage to please not come ask her about it but to wait until tomorrow to ask any questions - she was not joking! They didn't have any ice on the plane for drinks and had no snacks or pretzels. I finally left the airport and will go back tomorrow for my bag as it'll be at least 3:00 AM before getting home and I have early meetings tomorrow. Thanks Sun Country. This is becoming all too common on your flights.

Route: Fort Myers to Minneapolis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Japan

Title: "have to fight their policies"

Review: This flight was booked as the final leg of an international series from the US. However, they insisted on applying their domestic baggage rules rather than acknowledging that they were part of a larger booking and allowing the most permissive of the rules. Twenty four hours of travel, and rather than having a relaxing final leg you have to fight their policies and rearrange all of your belongings. Extremely bad form, avoid at all costs.

Route: NRT to KIX

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "Definitely my airline of choice in SE Asia"

Review: In my opinion, Scoot is one of the best low-cost carriers in SE Asia. Little sister to Singapore Airlines, they deliver a diluted version of a five-star airline to the budget-conscious traveller. The seats are just fine, and the legroom is better than on most budget airlines. Definitely my airline of choice in SE Asia.

Route: Singapore to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "No nonsense and professional"

Review:

No nonsense and professional. Delayed several hours getting out of JFK, but once you're on it's a comfortable, clean flight. The tint control on the windows of the Dreamliner aircraft kept the ambient light in the cabin nice and dim until the approach into the afternoon light of CDG. If you can manage to keep yourself occupied (i.e. asleep and/or entertained), it's a quick slip across the pond.

Route: New York to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "I had a terrible experience"

Review: I had a terrible experience with this airline - it was undoubtedly the worst I've ever flown with. My flight was delayed by three hours, which was highly inconvenient as I had to catch another flight right after. I requested the staff to book me on an alternate flight, but their service was incompetent and careless. Based on my experience, I do not recommend it.

Route: New York to Boston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "Air Europa is not as bad as people suggest"

Review: Air Europa is not as bad as people suggest. With budget airlines I am a great believer that one should start at 10 and take of points for what you don't like rather than with "posh" airlines the opposite. Bought my one way ticket for around £150 worth of airmiles so cheap as chips and consequently in fairness I should rate this airline with consideration to the fare paid. I've read reviews about Air Europa and feel like I must be flying a different airline. Check in was efficient and both members of staff were very helpful. I got given an exit seat at no charge (I am skyteam elite plus this probably helped). Air Europa use the cibelles lounge in T2, I had a very nice lunch in a relaxing setting before my flight. Boarding straightforward, plane new and clean. Flight left on time, we are scheduled to arrive on time. Meal was basic but tasted good. Reasonable selection of drinks, I am not an expert on wine, I guess it was cheap but was fine, the little dessert was delicious. Staff are friendly on this flight. Seat was old fashioned but consequently more comfortable than others I have sat on recently. Entertainment also not the best but some good films on a nice screen. So starting at 10 where do I dock points? I don't like they charge for ear phones but the next cheapest flight was a 100 quid more so money in the bank to pay 3 euro for earphones. There simply is nothing wrong with this flight so I am going to give it a ten.

Route: Madrid to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "It was my first and last time flying LOT"

Review: I am appalled by how poor the customer service was with this airline. Poor communication and attitude by staff. A few observations during my round trip travel from NY to Hamburg. Hardly any of the staff initiated a smile or smiled back - I did not once hear staff say youre welcome. I consistently said thank you with each helpful interaction, and its lovely and polite to return with youre welcome -staff looked inconvenienced when you asked for help - no communication on boarding process. People were crowding around the gate and when I did not follow the expectations on how to board (which was not communicated), the gate agent literally yelled at me in front of other passengers. It was embarrassing. It was my first and last time flying LOT. I would recommend paying more to fly with an airline that values customer service.

Route: Hamburg to Newark via Warsaw

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Amaszonas

Title: "customer service extremely poor"

Review: La Paz to Uyuni. Due to weather issues the airline understandably cancelled our flight to Uyuni, upon learning that rebooking was not an option due to tour constraints we were assured we would be reimbursed and provided the link to give our information. That was June, and in November we still have not received the reimbursement much less any information about it. Despite filling out the paperwork multiple times and sending followup inquiries, they are incredibly unresponsive and have not provided any indication that we will ever see this reimbursement. If you book this airline, be aware their customer service is extremely poor.

Route: La Paz to Uyuni

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "Thanks for making a stressful travel day"

Review: So my ticket was zone 3 Priority. My question was will they call a priority line to board or is it just zone 3. This agent yelled at me telling me my ticket says zone 3 over there! (I can read and write) I follow up with, it also says priority boarding so Im just asking to make sure I board with the right group or doesnt really mean anything? Zone 3 over there in an unnecessary loud yelling pitch once more. There is no reason to yell at any passenger. She has the wrong temperament for her job. I was Embarrassed and boarded my flight very upset in Hawaii of all places. Then, There were issues with plane and we were boarded and de-boarded 2x so we had to stand in line. Just my luck we get her again. Patiently waiting, finally our turn, We wait to be summoned to approach her desk after watching her handle all people before us just fine. She looks up and say do yall have a question or what? After standing in line all that time, yes we have questions and need a connection flight issues. She told us she doesnt know anything we dont have any option and just to sit tight, sorry. For Another 6 hours. This has been the rudest experience Ive encountered and added unnecessary stress to a stressful travel day on their part. Now if I would have conducted my self with the same volume and shortness reminding her that Im not a child. Dont yell at me Im standing right here, they would not allow me to board their plane. So I have to take the mistreatment and deal with it after spending my money with this airlines. And I'm sitting here looking at her in her computer helping every guest after me. She didnt even look at anything in the computer to me! I love coming to Maui. We come every year and this is my first time flying with Hawaiian Airlines (Honolulu was my transfer flight) Never Again. Thanks for making a stressful travel day with Hawaiian airlines more uncomfortable and have me sitting here angry instead of relaxing to get through this next 6 hours in the airport. They announced they were helping with connecting flights over the speaker yet at her desk she advises calling the airline my ticket is with. So why did I stand in line 45 mins at 1 am.

Route: Honolulu to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Pacific Airways

Title: "the bathroom was dirty"

Review: Very disappointed after having flown Cathay Pacific previously with good experiences. My flight out of SFO on April 30, 2023 was uneventful except the Stewardesses made the flight miserable by serving the meals and disappearing for 2 hours. You couldn't get up to use the restroom and they were not attentive, checking on the passengers. The worst part was that the bathroom was dirty, and there was no toilet paper or paper towels. Flew home on JAL, had excellent service and clean facilities with normal size restroom.

Route: San Francisco to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: XL Airways France

Title: "20 hours later than schedule"

Review: My daughter booked a one-way trip to Paris. XL Airways France was the clear cheapest ($500 instead of $1800). Before leaving for the airport we checked online that the flight was still scheduled on time. Arriving at the airport it was scheduled with a 2-hour delay. Check-in was fine. We knew they were very strict with luggage size and weight so we had been careful when packing. Eventually the flight boarded on time but the plane did not leave the gate. After waiting for two hours, we were told that passengers were missing and they had to deplane the aircraft and everybody had to take their luggage back. The plane would leave the following day. We go back to the airport the following day. Plane finally left JFK but it did not go to Paris as planned it first stopped in Montreal to pick up crew members. Flight finally arrived in Paris 3 hours later than the revised arrival time (ie 20 hours later than the original schedule).

Route: JFK to CDG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Juan

Title: "delayed by 2 days"

Review: Puerto Princesa to Cuyo. Looks like a fraud airline. First my flight delayed by 2 days, later delayed again by day. In the end we did not fly, had to arrange a ferry lost 2 days of holidays. Worst thing is that we are still waiting for a refund that is already way after deadline

Route: Puerto Princesa to Cuyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "Thank you Air France!"

Review: Excellent service at Bengaluru. Due to the short time in b/w transfers one bag did not arrive. However Air France had already sent a list of missing baggage and they informed us whilst we were at the luggage carousel, this saving us time. They tracked where our baggage was and sent it on the next flight. It arrived safely. Very helpful staff at Bengaluru who helped us when we were tired and stressed. Thank you Air France! Re food though it's a different review as the quality was poor, food passed off as Indian, really wasn't food any Indian would eat!

Route: Manchester to Paris via Bangaluru

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Austral

Title: "great little airline"

Review: Great little airline. Although we left one hour late, the service for a 4 hour flight was outstanding from Johannesburg to Reunion. Even in Economy Class, you receive an amenity kit, a hot towel, and a full hot meal with first course, desert, and free wine and liquors. This was followed by a great French movie with subtitles on drop down screens every 4 rows. A great way to start a magical vacation on a paradise destination in the Indian Ocean.

Route: JNB to RUN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: Air Niugini customer review

Review: I flew with Air Niugini, 24 August 2015 from Port Moresby to Bali with a B737-700. Overall not very good in service and the flight attendants did the minimum. Check in at POM Airport is very poor, just 2 ground staff to do that and they are very strict with baggage handling and baggage weight. On the B737-700 there were 7 flight attendants but just 2 working in Economy Class causing a very slow service. Inflight Entertainment, seat and toilets were ok.

Route: Port Moresby to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "mishandling my delayed luggage"

Review: Unbelievably disappointed for mishandling my delayed luggage and offering completely insufficient compensation. Unacceptable service and lack of empathy. Avoid at all costs!

Route: Vilnius to Munich via Berlin

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Loganair

Title: "the attitude was abysmal"

Review: Islay to Glasgow. Through no fault of ours the flight was delayed which meant we missed our connecting flight to London. To say the attitude was abysmal and non caring is an understatement. We were treated as if it wasn't anyone's fault but ours. An absolute disgrace with regard to customer service.

Route: Islay to Glasgow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "very rude towards guests"

Review: This review is for the 11:20 flight RJ111 from Amman to London Heathrow on 10 Feb 2022. The lady at the boarding gate for the economy line was very rude towards guests. She needs retraining on her on how to interact with customers politely.

Route: Amman to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Europa

Title: "overall a very bad experience"

Review: Madrid to Punta Cana. First time to travel with Air Europa, overall a very bad experience. Family with a toddler in emergency row seat. Horrified to find no entertainment system for travellers - a 9 hour flight with no entertainment in this day and age is simply antiquated. The plane was very old and shabby. The main meal was actually OK and free of charge. One drink was provided and a small plastic cup of water too if requested. If you wanted another drink it had to be paid for, yet this service was not always available and only when the cabin crew had finished their duties could we even begin to pay for another drink. The 2nd meal was paid for. During the flight I was so thirsty and with a baby sleeping on my arm I had to get up and try to get a drink of water. The cabin crew were sleeping or reading a book - it was a big ask to have some water - they were rude and sullen and begrudgingly relinquished a small cup of water. Never have I had this experience, normally cabin crew happily walk up and down the aisle with drinks on a tray. The service was absolutely diabolical. On the outbound flight our baby was refused a meal, despite the fact that he eats too. We were told that we should have specifically requested it yet nowhere was this information available. Imagine refusing to feed a baby! On the way back I made sure to request a baby meal in advance. Unfortunately no water was provided, when I asked for water the cabin crew refused until their current duties were complete. Unfortunately even after this no water was forthcoming. Imagine refusing water to a baby! This is a basic human right. What type of people are they? Simply the worst long haul flight I have ever experienced. The with-holding of basic human rights for a baby is simply beyond belief. I would not recommend travelling with this airline and will never fly with them again.

Route: Madrid to Punta Cana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "couldnt find the payment for the extra luggage"

Review: My flight was in the early morning from Addis Ababa to Copenhagen. I went to the airport 2hrs prior to my flight as the airport is not busy at all. I bought an extra luggage through the travel agency I booked my ticket, however when I was trying to check in, I was told they couldnt find the payment for the extra luggage I added in their system, though I showed them the confirmation email I got from the travel agency. But still I was asked to pay for the extra luggage, otherwise I wont check in. So I was like okay its fine, I will ask for a refund when I go back to Copenhagen. So the total amount was almost 300 dollars, and I took my credit card from my pocket and I was told they dont accept credit card, but only cash. I was like how am I supposed to have that amount of money in cash when Im leaving the country I had been staying for 3 months. There were no ATM around so I couldnt check in and missed my flight, tho I had money in my credit card. That made me book another flight with Ethiopian Airlines and I payed for the extra luggage by credit card . I was so disappointed, but I also learned my lesson on the hard way that to never ever fly with Egypt Air.

Route: Addis Ababa to Copenhagen via Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: French Bee

Title: "they refuse to discuss the matter with me"

Review: French Bee lost my bag and is now refusing to refund me for the expenses I incurred while the bag was lost, despite saying they would do so. Let me explain: 1) French Bee stewardess took my carry on bag out of the overhead compartment without telling me or giving me a baggage claim ticket, and then left it at my departure airport. French Bee customer service admitted this was unacceptable and not part of their normal procedures. 2) It took 4 days for me to get my bag back. 3) I was told by French Bee staff to save and submit my expense receipts so that I could be reimbursed for clothes and toiletries I had to buy while waiting for my bag. 4) When I submitted these receipts French Bee staff tells me via email they will only honor 50% of my expenses without any explanation why. I was never informed only 50% of my expenses would be covered prior to incurring my expenses. 5) When I call French Bee customer service line, they refuse to discuss the matter with me, telling me they dont handle customer service complaints like this over the phone and I can only handle it via email. When I ask to speak with a manager/supervisor they hang up the phone on me. 6) Im a college student in over $100,000 USD of debt and because of French Bee airlines mistake I am out a few hundred euros for expenses incurred while waiting for my bag to arrive. I dont understand why the French Bee team is treating me so disrespectfully and not offering to pay 100% of the expenses I incurred due to the complete fault of their airline.

Route: Los Angeles to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "the worst airline experience I've ever had to deal with"

Review: My itinerary was supposed to be Las Vegas-Chicago-London-Venice. When I landed in London Heathrow, I was stuck on the aircraft for 2 hours with no explanation as to why and because of such a delay I missed my connecting flight to Venice. Getting off the plane was when the real nightmare took place. Our flight had over 300 people aboard meaning many were in a rush to get to their flights or had already missed their flight. They put us into two lines, one of them being for people who missed their flight. I waited approximately 10 minutes just to come up to a clerk who told me "Since I missed my flight I would have to go to the connecting flight BA service desks for further assistance." If I were to have known that was the only information I would receive I would have skipped being in that line altogether. When I went to the service desk where there were more than 60+ people standing in line, I waited 30+ minutes until a clerk came by passing everyone a pamphlet telling people to create an account online and to book our flights through the BA site since their systems were down and couldn't rebook anyone. It was a hassle doing anything through the BA site so I ended up calling the helpline. After waiting to be connected to a BA rep. I spoke with a woman who said I would have to call Iberia Airlines for a rebook, I called Iberia and they said since I booked through Expedia I would have to call them. Expedia then said I would have to call BA for the rebook so when I called BA again, the rep. said the only flight he could get me booked for was for the following Monday, mind you I was travelling since the 25th which was a Friday. All the hotels in the vicinity of the airport were booked, I was trying to figure out where my checked baggage went (I still don't have it), most of the customer service I got from BA reps was horrible service as if they could care less for the predicament their company caused me. They acted like I was inconveniencing them with "my issues". I also had to sleep in the airport waiting for my flight the next morning because hotels were booked. Overall my experience with British Airlines has been the worst airline experience I've ever had to deal with. I will never book with this company again. I would rather pay more money for a ticket in a different airline than buy through this company again.

Route: Las Vegas to Venice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Staff weren't interested"

Review: Paid extra for an extra room seat and didn't get it. Staff weren't interested. Very poor. I'll make a complaint when home. Staff tried lying to me until I showed the seating plan.

Route: Dublin to Murcia

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "So not impressed"

Review: The staff service was alright but what's not alright was that my luggage was broken and all I got in return was an offer of 500 Baht (less than 15 USD) or let them fix my luggage which would take around 3-4 weeks. Honestly, it would cost me more than 500 Baht to fix the luggage and in case if it cannot be fixed I couldn't even buy the new luggage with the given money. =The ticket is more expensive than other airline but the responsibility is not as high as the ticket price! If this is how they handle your luggage, think about how they will handle other important stuff. Highly not recommended. So not impressed.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Rai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "on time, with good food and comfort"

Review: New York to NurSultan return via Moscow. Review covers SVO-JFK, SU100/24Sep as this was the best of the four flights. Ground staff in all cities are surprisingly professional. Flights board well in advance of departure and airplanes, when loaded, depart. Schedules are not padded for time and flight time is accurate. Premium Economy is excellent value with comfortable seats, decent amenities, and big, filling meals. The only alcohol served is beer and wine; drinks service is followed immediately with meal. Oddly, the second meal on both transatlantic flights is served 3 hours before arrival which interrupts the chance for some hours of sleep. Announcements are continuous and interrupting; first, pre-recorded Russian/English followed by crew Russian/English announcements repeating the same message. Crews are typical, ranging from disinterested senior to pleasant, willing, smiling junior cabin staff. Services SVO-TSE-SVO on Airbus equipment with no IFE are similar with nice food, disruptive announcements and decent level of comfort. SVO is sprawling, transiting without visa is easy but you cannot linger between flights due to crowds and distance. Aeroflot was ok on time, with good food and comfort. The nonstop announcements and timing of meal services however are offputting and would cause me to look at other airline options.

Route: New York to NurSultan via Moscow

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Caraibes

Title: "try to avoid this terrible airline"

Review: The worst airline ever! They don't speak English and rarely do they ever reply to you (and even if they do, that will be in French of course). Online check-in is fake - it doesn't work before the flight and they refuse to help you with that over the phone or email. Their employees at the airport are very unfriendly and completely unhelpful when met in person - you see that you are a burden for them when you need help at the airport. Besides, the airline lost my baggage and it can't be traced any more at all. Conclusion: if possible, try to avoid this terrible airline, it's the worst French airline for sure, low-costs show you more respect and understanding than this horrible airline. Don't fly them if you want a pleasant flight and good pre-/post-flight experience.

Route: Fort de France to Paris Orly

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "tired business class product"

Review: Berlin to Chicago. Pretty basic and tired business class product. Terminal at Tegel is little more than a hangar and there's no lounge. You do get a 15 euro voucher for food but that doesn't go very far. You have to walk to the plane. It's not far but it wouldn't have been pleasant if it was raining. Plane was a bit tired, food was adequate and entertainment was ok. Also flew with them economy from Copenhagen to Berlin. Both flights were part of a round the world trip so not sure how they compare cost wise. Suspect they are relatively cheap compared to others. In two minds as to whether I'd fly them again.

Route: TXL to ORD

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Luxair

Title: Luxair customer review

Review: Luxair operates 5 per week flights between Málaga Costa del Sol and Luxembourg City. Prices on Luxair can be high for this route but the value for money is excellent. We had a true tray with a complete meal on board with Luxembourgish specialities (which were pretty good). Cabin crew speaking in more than 4 languages and even in Spanish (very good point for a Spanish passenger like me). Seats and leg room were excellent and the plane was new and clean.

Route: Malaga to Luxembourg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Spirit Airlines

Title: "Rip-off for anything extra"

Review: Dregs of the airlines! Every time I get suckered in with their low rate, I vow to never fly with these incompetents again. $4 for water or coffee. Seats feel like you're sitting on a 2x4. Rip-off for anything extra. Baggage claim taking over 30 minutes!

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Dallas Ft Worth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Transavia

Title: "service was incredibly good"

Review: Staff and service was incredibly good, especially in a difficult time as no due to staff shortage. Im getting married in Spain soon and I took a flight yesterday from Rotterdam to Malaga in the morning, HV5023. I was carrying my dress and was very nervous about keeping it well during the flight. The staff was really helpful and kind. It already started at Rotterdam airport while checking in. Also during the flight everyone was taking good care of us and the rest of the passengers! Big shout out to this incredible team! Thank you so much! You gave us an amazing experience!

Route: Rotterdam to Malaga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "this is the worse airline"

Review: Singapore to Frankfurt via Ho Chi Minh City. This is the worse airline by far that we have flown with. First they sent us a change of flight time 2 days before departure (Singapore - Frankfurt) by 2.5 hours earlier! We do not live in Singapore therefore we naturally had pre-booked weeks before a different flight into Singapore, arriving at approx. 3 hours before our original connecting flight with Vietnam Airlines. The gap then didn't allow for 2.5 hours of flight change time. Trying to contact Vietnam airlines by phone is a futile effort. They are worse if not as bad as bargain airlines where it's impossible to get a hold of anyone by phone. Their automated phone system tells you to press X for English but nothing happens. It goes in a loop in Vietnamese. I then had to be creative and called up Singapore airport and asked to be transferred to Vietnam Airlines check in counter. Still didn't get a hold of anyone. Singapore then suggested I contact them via FB chat. So I did...oh my gosh, let me tell you, if I can gouge my eyes out it would have been less painful. Their English is so poor they cannot understand my concern. They kept insisting (for over an hour) that the flight time didn't change even after I sent them screen shots after screen shots of email confirmation and email notification of change time. Why did you send me a notice of time change of flight if the time didn't change?! But they kept insisting they are right. At the end (after 2.5/3 hours of chatting) they realized they did change the time. And the answer for that was - we are sorry for the inconvenience. That's it? No offer to cover the cost of our new flight booking in order to connect to their flight, clearly all their fault. Unbelievable! Anyway, as far as business class goes, this airline is poor. The seats, while typical business class cabin, are old, dirty and need new upholstery. There are hardly any nooks and crannies to put away your stuff. Flight attendants are friendly enough but they hardly spoke English. They need to train their staff better if they want to be a global airline. Lounges are sub-par. You get better foods at the restaurants in the airport and seating much cleaner outside the lounges (in Vietnam). Stains on their seats and chairs and tables not cleaned on a timely basis. Disgusting. Never again.

Route: Singapore to Frankfurt via Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "baggage fee was excessive"

Review: Ljubljana to Split via Belgrade. 50 euros baggage fee for 1 checked 10 kg bag was excessive. Also, my last 3 messages to their Facebook page about my flight were never replied to. One part of my flight was 25 minutes late, no explanation.

Route: Ljubljana to Split via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "not recommend this airline"

Review: Booked a flight from Vancouver, Canada to Melbourne, Australia via Shanghai Pudong with a 7-hour layover. Due to work demands, I needed to stay in Shanghai for a few more days. At the check-in counter, I asked for my checked baggage to be taken out at Shanghai, instead of being shipped straight to Melbourne, with the intention of rebooking once I landed in Pudong. This is where the nightmare began. The check-in personnel told me that they could only ship my baggage to Melbourne. Quoting verbatim: You have two choices, either rebooking your flight this instant or shipping your baggage directly to Melbourne. On top of all this, I was not able to rebook my flight with the China Eastern customer service, so I was forced to wait over the phone to rebook my flight while the minutes ticked by. When the flight was rescheduled, I was informed that it was too late for me to board the Vancouver to Shanghai flight. At this moment, I was informed that as a last resort, I could have signed a waiver to take out my baggage in Shanghai. Why couldnt China Eastern have told me this before the check-in counters closed?! Due to the utter ineptitude of the customer service personnel over a minor matter, I missed my initial flight, was made to forfeit my entire round-trip itinerary, and on top of all this, my work obligations were forcibly delayed. No apologies and/or compensation were offered, but there were plenty of finger-pointing and shrugging off responsibility. I would not recommend this airline under any circumstances. Please save your time, money, and sanity and choose a better alternative.

Route: Vancouver to Melbourne via Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirSWIFT

Title: "choose any other airline than AirSWIFT"

Review: After I booked a flight from Manila to El Nido, I read a slew of bad reviews regarding last minute cancellations that are common with this airline. And that was concerning to me, but what could I do at that point? Sure as heck, 24 hours before my flight from Manila was supposed to depart, I received an email from Airswift saying my flight was cancelled due to maintenance issues as well. If you choose to go to Palawan, I would choose any other airline than AirSWIFT even if it means a long bus ride to El Nido.

Route: Manila to El Nido

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "staff service was good"

Review: Delhi to Dubai. Seats were comfortable and had good leg space. The air conditioning and cabin lights were good. The staff service was good. The food provided was a snacks box, but for the price we booked. its justified. Flight took off late by 50 minutes that was a disappointment.

Route: Delhi to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "5 hour flight was really delightful "

Review: I flew Hong Kong Airlines for the first time in business class, due to a special promotion. My Hong Kong to Denpasar Denpasar flight was slightly delayed for 45 minutes. But we were only 10 minutes late on arrival in Bali, so that was acceptable. On return flight was right on time. Check in was very easy they had a dedicated counter for business class passengers which was almost deserted (beeline at economy!). Their lounge is fantastic, with nice view of the tarmac and freshly made to order food. Ample space to relax and free speedy wifi. Boarding is orderly. Their service is every bit as good as big companies like Cathay and Dragonair. The menu has two choices, and with the local flavour of Hong Kong which was a nice touch. I had two types of seat go to and back. I had the recliner type seat which was actually very comfortable and spacious. Coming back was their new flat bed, much like the smartium seats of Asiana or Emirates business class. Plenty of storage space and comfortable to take a nap on. For a 5 hour flight, this was really delightful considering the great price. AVOD has somewhat limited choice, but for a flight shorter than 5 hours, that doesn't really matter. All in all, they have a very solid product, great to try if the price is kept low.

Route: Hong Kong to Denpasar

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "a nice flight overall"

Review: Recently flew from Phnom Penh to Washington via Seoul, in their "Prestige Class" (joined First and Business into one), the flight from Phnom Penh to Seoul, was approx 5 hours and none eventful (Slept most of the way), the flight from Seoul to Washington was a nice flight overall with one of the smoothest landing I have had in a number of years, well done captain. The crew is a different story, they have a preset menu, that includes steak, after ordering the steak medium rare (I understand English is a secondary language, but it took an effort to order including having to point at the menu for the item). Approx 10 min later they came back and told me that they had run out and I needed to order something else, a bit annoyed but I complied, I was in row 9, after the flight speaking with one of my traveling companions, the did the same thing to him and he was up in row 5 or 6. I had red wine with dinner, when the meal was complete my tray top was cleared, without even the offer of a refill on the wine, however I did notice that on the far side of the cabin they were walking up and down offer to that side. I know I could have requested a refill, but when you are paying full fare for round trip tickets (close to $12K) you shouldn't have too. If an item is offered on the menu, it should be available.

Route: Phnom Penh to Washington via Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "combined two flights"

Review: Worst Airline ever! They combined two flights to save costs. Instead of flying Pristina - Ljubliana - Zürich we now fly Pristina - Ljubliana - München - Zürich. Now we arrive 2.5h later at our destination.

Route: Pristina to Zürich via Ljubliana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lynx Air

Title: "airline falls far below all standards"

Review: Avoid this airline at all cost. They delayed my 12:35 am flight flight 7 times 2 hours prior to takeoff, and then cancelled last minute. I called them multiple times at between 7 and 9 am after the flight was cancelled but could not get through due to "Technical issues". After finally getting through to their phone line, I have been waiting on the phone for 3 hours for a customer service representative so that I can ask for my refund. I also have been waiting on their live chat for 2 hours, there were 72 people ahead of me in queue. These wait times mean - many many customers are unhappy right now and that Lynx air has maybe 1 employee working in their entire customer service department. Even if other airlines charge a bit more, it's worth it to pay the extra price for peace of mind and better service. This airline falls far below all standards I have for air travel, I would not recommend this airline to my worst enemy, even though my worst enemy today is Lynx Air.

Route: Edmonton to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cebu Pacific

Title: "Choose another airline"

Review: Worst. Cebu Pacific send me a message that my flight time is changed from 1805 to 21:50 April 18 2023. No option but to accept. This happens not once but several times this year. Unfair to the passenger. When a passenger change the flight, a back charge almost same ticket price will be applied. When the Cebu Pacific chance the flight the passenger will bear the consequences. I highly recommend not to fly with Cebu Pacific. Choose another airline.

Route: Manila to Davao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "To good to be true"

Review: Avelo set the bait now theyre yanking on the hook. Reel everybody in with low fares for the first year then raise the rates so you cant afford them next year. To good to be true. Prices are going up up and away see ya. So much for the little guy!

Route: New Haven to Myrtle Beach

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "won't be giving me my partial refund"

Review: Probably one of the worst airlines to travel. They called me 2 hours before my flight to inform me that my flight is canceled when I was on my way to the airport and upon asking for refund they told they won't be giving me my partial refund for the flight that got cancelled by the airline. I'd honestly request everyone not to ever ever travel through GoAir.

Route: Goa to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "employee didnt accept her luggage"

Review: My wife evacuated from Ukraine yesterday. Today at 7 a.m. on registration, LOT employee didnt accept her luggage, 33 kg, when she was allowed to bring 2 x 32 kg. She was exhausted and stressed and you made her reorganize her luggage because of 1kg? Are we talking about business class service? Other companies can let you in even with +2-4 kg.

Route: Warsaw to Barcelona

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: WOW air

Title: "continued to ignore our complaints"

Review: Toronto to Barcelona via Keflavik. We never did get to fly with this airline but seeing other reviews of the actual flights, glad we didn't. Our horror story is all about their customer service and flight cancellation process. We had flights to Barcelona and discovered after we called them to look at extending a layover, that they were in the process of reviewing the flight and it likely wasn't going to fly. We were misinformed on multiple occasions about how we could seek compensation for the additional cost of another flight this late in the game. Long story short, they have continued to ignore our complaints (both written and over the phone) and have yet to compensate us as they should. Will never recommend WOW air to anyone.

Route: Toronto to Barcelona via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "Very disappointed with the customer service"

Review: Rubbish airlines which change out the flight without calling. Last minute reschedule and cock up the itinerary of people. Suggest not to book. Not really responsible. Tried to fly to Spain today for a important meeting up but unfortunately not able to make it due to last minute changes. Very disappointed with the customer service in CDG airport. Too rude.

Route: Paris to Spain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nauru Airlines

Title: "charming cabin crew"

Review:

Nauru to Pohnpei. Small but friendly airline. The seat configuration was 3+3 and the legroom was OK for my 6ft frame. No real in-flight entertainment. On the relatively short-haul island hopping, only snacks were served but there was beer and wine. The best feature of this airline were the charming cabin crew, clad in blue and I thought of them as Angels in Blue.

Route: Nauru to Pohnpei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "airline doesnt care about their customers"

Review: This is the worst airline ever. First you cant check yourself in at a kiosk you have to go to the desk line. If you wish to print your boarding pass you have to pay them to do it, 25 dollars to print a boarding pass. Then the agents are all rude and unprofessional. When at my gate trying to board after the desk agent had said you can bring a backpack or purse on without paying, I had to pay 99 dollars for my backpack. This airline doesnt care about their customers. This is the first and last time I will ever fly frontier. With the money I had to spend in extra fees I couldve booked a better airline with better customer service, planes, and overall attitude. Its truly disgusting how this airline operates.

Route: Las Vegas to Oklahoma

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "Staff were simply rude"

Review: Booked a return flight BRU-ATH. Away flight fluent: clear check-in procedure, calm flight, about 1/3 Seats occupied. Leg room and seat recline were limited. No inflight entertainment and food menu was limited. No WiFi. Return flight check-in procedure at ATH was below every standard: arrived 2+hours before departure, only for bag drop. 7 counters (3 bag drop, 3 check-in, 1 special assistance), only 3 actually in service for 12 departing flights. Late passengers were awarded with immediate check-in, we waited 90 mins and eventually also got called as our flight was set for departure. Staff were simply rude. Other people in the line missed their flight because of bad management at check in. Ground staff didnt care.

Route: Athens to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "the flight was pleasant"

Review: The flight was awesome and amazing. Crew should improve their behavior little bit. We loved the flight meal was also average. TV was also big enough and the flight was pleasant.

Route: Mumbai to Kuwait via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: " A great job by all"

Review: Arrived at Dulles and had to declare a firearm in my checked baggage. AA employee Sahira assisted me and she was training at least 8 new employees. She was efficient, pleasant and quick even while training. My bag was unintentionally put on the conveyor before it was X-rayed by TSA. Sahira and the entire group disappeared and retrieved the bag in only 15 minutes and helped us finish our processing through TSA. The entire group of new employees were eager and happy and it was the best airport experience Ive had in years. A great job by all especially Sahira! She is a credit to Alaska Airlines.

Route: Washington to Spokane via San Diego

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Fiji Airways

Title: "inconsistency of service"

Review: Los Angeles to Nadi. There is still a lot of work to be done by this airline, but don't get me wrong it is my favorite airline and will always be my choice of airline. I am still disappointed with the inconsistency of service, and on this flight some cabin crew just do not live up to the mark. When boarding started one of the cabin crew was standing at the entrance barking at passengers to have their boarding pass ready to show, the other cabin crew welcomed everyone on board with a smile. During the flight the same cabin crew woke me up rudely to serve my dinner. I asked for a vegetarian meal on this flight from Los Angeles which was just steamed veggies with rice. Apart from two crew, all the rest were wonderful, smiling and making their rounds of the cabin. The ground staff at LA were more friendly and efficient compared to the staff at Nadi.

Route: LAX to NAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: LATAM Airlines

Title: "I almost missed my flight"

Review: I arrived 3 hours in advance as required by all international flights but no agents for LATAM. They didn't show up for an hour. I was fourth in line. I showed LATAM my booking, itinerary confirmed my flight. They refused my booking. Customer service was useless as they wouldn't even call Air Canada to confirm booking. It wasn't until 4 other people were booked on the same flight did they react at the last minute. I wrote a complaint with a ticket number just to never get a response. What a useless airline. I almost missed my flight.

Route: Medellin to Bogota

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Horrible customer service"

Review: Melbourne to Sydney. Horrible customer service. I understand you get what you pay for however based on how horridly unhelpful the supervisor was today (3:30pm on 11th January), I will never fly Tiger again. I understand the person I dealt with is possibly not working in what they would call their ideal job but I personally felt they took that out on me. No matter how cheap your flights are this isn't good enough. Life sucks but people like this (and the workplace environments that enable them) make it worse.

Route: Melbourne to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "they were unaccommodating and uncaring"

Review: Virgin Australia has scammed me. They offered me a credit, $800 however I cant even use it as they no longer offer flights from the US. When I asked if they could somehow transfer it to Virgin Atlantic or make it so my credits are actually usable - they were unaccommodating and uncaring. Thanks for crediting me when I cant even use it.

Route: Los Angeles to Sydney

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "love this air company"

Review: Monastir to Budapest. Everything is okay. This is the third time if I fly with SmartWings. The food (little sandwich) is so tasty, and the water is cold, and everything is okay. I love this air company, and if I fly, I want it to be with the SmartWings.

Route: Monastir to Budapest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "Canceled our flight out of nowhere"

Review: Terrible. Canceled our flight out of nowhere and offered no explanations or alternatives. Say they give refunds for the flight but what about the accommodations that are already booked and paid for? We had a rental car and airBnB already paid. No flight until two days later even though it was only a 4 day trip. Dont book here, its unreliable and will waste your money.

Route: Las Vegas to Portland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "very polite and courteous"

Review: Jakarta to Tokyo Narita on 13th January 2021 on the way home to Houston after a SE Asia trip. Checked in online and was able to secure bulkhead seats. Bag drop counter person worked very quick and professional, and put a priority tag on our luggage. Boarding was done in an orderly fashion, Business Class first, then Economy by row from back to front. The aircraft was a 5 year old B789 (JA875A). The seats were spacious, with footrest and leg rest, and a small tray for holding drink in between the seats, and an individual reading light. Aside from us, there is only one other person in the whole Premium Economy section. The aircraft is clean, but we still use the Clorox wipes to clean the tray table, seatbelts, armrest and the screen when we got to our seat. The tray table and screen in the bulkhead seat is folded into the seat and the touch screen is quite responsive. There is enough movies and TV series to occupy us for this 6.5 hours flight. We left 22 minutes late because we have to wait for some late passengers. But we arrived at 3:13 PM local time, a good 27 minutes ahead of schedule. FAs for this trip were very polite and courteous, and quite helpful and cheerful, a better crew set than the previous ANA flight from Tokyo 2 weeks before. We were given rice crackers, drinks and wet wipes after takeoff, then the breakfast cart start making their rounds. Choices are pancakes and white fish, and I chose the pancake. The pancake was fluffy and infused with syrup, and the accompanying chicken sausage and veggies are quite decent. The drink cart making its round again with the lunch/heavy snack before we arrived in Tokyo. Altogether this is a nice flight with ANA, and everything was going very smoothly during the trip.

Route: Jakarta to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: ANA All Nippon Airways

Title: "best airline I've tried"

Review: First time flying with this airline with my family for a trip to Tokyo and back to Manila. Have to say, economy service here is better than some business class in other airlines. Tasty Japanese food, not sure if they have other menus for other routes Very polite, trained, patient and efficient crew with little to no language barrier. Seats had pretty good space with good inflight entertainment from the regular movies, episode of series but they also have current news, sports and my favorite touch, helpful how-to act, culture videos for Japan I am trying to think any negative or inconvenience and there was really none for these flights. I guess ground crew wise, there was a couple of gate switches but when I approached the ground crew they directed me promptly. Maybe they can just improve on letting the other passengers waiting know instead of waiting for people to come to them but no worries. Overall, best airline I've tried so far.

Route: Manila to Tokyo Narita

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "wait for landing to eat"

Review: I booked flight for my parents from Delhi to Vancouver via Beijing. I prebooked my father's wheelchair (he can not walk or stand for longer because of permanent leg injury) and their meals AVML since they are pure vegetarian. It was connecting flight through Beijing. All was going well until they reached Beijing. The wheelchair assist guy took advantage of their age and language barrier. He took them to gate no 32. He then asked for money. My parents told him that they couldn't understand, so he wrote on a paper in English that he wants money to take them to gate. They Didn't know what was happening, after trying to understand him they gave him 400 INR. He asked for more, my parents were not carrying more cash in their hand baggage so they denied outcome of which he left them at gate no 32 and went away saying something in Chinese which they clearly don't understand. They waited there for 2 hours and then my mother decided to go for a walk around and look for the gate number for their next flight because they eventually figured it out that they are stranded on wrong gate. She found a few Indians sitting near gate number 19 who guided her and told her that they are supposed to reach gate number 16 which was really not anywhere near gate number 32. She rushed back to my father and told him the scenario. They couldn't find any other ground staff near by who could understand them so she decided to take my father on a wheelchair by her own along with the 2 hand bags they were carrying. They made it till gate number 20 when someone showed up to help after maybe observing them struggling. The nightmare didn't end there, after taking off for next flight, they were offered Fish to eat. They told the crew that they are vegetarian (I booked AVML which is reflected on their tickets too) and can't eat fish. The crew told them that since there is no vegetarian option available, they have to either eat it or wait for landing to eat in Vancouver. They didn't eat for 12+ hours of flight. I have read about people sharing their experience but never imagined that something like this could happen to my family. How does some big airlines do such kind of money business without having feelings for their passengers?

Route: Delhi to Vancouver via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "English skill needs improvement"

Review: Los Angeles to Xiamen. The flight was delayed due to unknown reason. The aircraft is relatively new, bright, clean and modern. The interior was specially decorated for this inauguration flight with LAX symbols. The crews welcomed us with big smiles and everyone gets a little gift for the inauguration flight. They personal entertainment system has a large screen, and the system worked just as I wanted without struggle. A safety card, two magazines and a menu in the pocket; a blanket and a bottle of water on the seat. But the menu missed a translation for breakfast. The food is not bad but can be improved. The crew were trying to act as friendly, but lacked some sincerity, but they did a great job. Their English skill really needs improvement. As a Chinese airline they followed the CAAC rule, which restricted people to use their laptops and other devices only when the aircraft reached cruising attitude and didn't allow passengers to switch on their phones at all. And they locked the 787 windows to a certain brightness which make them impossible to adjust by passengers. Another problem is that I had a transfer flight at XMN, but I had to pick up my luggage and recheck it again.

Route: Los Angeles to Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "Painfully long delay"

Review: Pekanbaru to Penang via Kuala Namu. Painfully long delay during transit in Kuala Namu, Medan. There were complaints about it in the past reviews, and the delay seems to have been very consistent if not worse. The airline seemingly waited until the seats were full to board. Loading/unloading of cargo baggage was seen to operate manually without conveyor, causing damages to the baggage. Those who travel with tight schedule and family are advised not to choose this airline. Besides safety, my hope for Lion Air is to be punctual in the future especially when catering domestic flight. Please make sure also that client's baggage was handled with greater care. Thank you.

Route: Pekanbaru to Penang via Kuala Namu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "the crew welcomed us warmly"

Review: Flying Garuda Indonesia on a short-haul flight along with my wife and 8-months old son in Economy Class. It was a busy Sunday afternoon in Adi Sucipto airport, but the ground staff processed our check in with genuine hospitality. On board, the crew welcomed us warmly, engaged with my son and consistently demonstrated helpfulness and friendliness despite the flight being full both in Business and Economy Class. The snack served in Economy Class was two breads, a pack of nuts and a bottle of mineral water. Garuda has added to capacity in some of its Economy Class planes, making the seat pitch and leg room less narrower and for me personally less comfortable. The flight could also have been more enjoyable if Garuda added more movie selection in its in-flight entertainment system. The flight departed and landed on time. We appreciated Garuda for bringing us back to Jakarta safely.

Route: Yogyakarta to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "worst flying experience I have ever had"

Review: I never write negative reviews but in this case my review will be scathing. We flew from Washington Dulles to Reykjavik and then onto Bergen. Return was Reykjavik to Washington Dulles. The international flight offers no food. You can purchase on line but all you get for a 5 1/2 hr flight is coffee, water or juice. They did serve some sort of chocolate marshmallow roll up that absolutely no one ate. It was an indescribable mass of I am not sure what and I wont tell you what it looked like, unless you have a pet and then you can imagine what it looks like. The staff have a pasted smile on their face. Poor people working for a horrid airline. The seats are at a bad angle so the pressure is on your lower back. They managed to squeeze more people into a cramped space. There is no legroom, arm room or seat space. I sat next to a tall guy with long legs. Not his fault but I couldnt sleep and he couldnt find a comfortable position for all 64 of him. Upon our return there was no one at the gate to take luggage. No one cued, there was no guidance, no signage, no direction. So, when two people opened their kiosk, it was a mad dash. What a mess and dangerous too! Understaffed, poorly run, horribly executed check in. There was no process. I recommend that you never fly this airline. It was the worst flying experience I have ever had and I am an experienced world traveler. Perhaps if people stop booking on Iceland Air they will get the message. Choose any other airline. Buyer Beware.

Route: Washington to Bergen via Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "I've been waiting eight months for my refund"

Review: Airline cancelled my flights due to Covid. I've been waiting eight months for my refund. Every time I call, the agents are unnecessarily rude. I will never, ever fly this airline again.

Route: London to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "you can get good price"

Review: Prague to Helsinki. My 2nd flight with CSA, actually it was SmartWing's plane as they now operate many CSA flights. 14 yr old Boeing 737. Many times CSA flights are delayed, so i was a little bit worried. But this was on time. The price (50eur) included one normal size cabin bag of 8kg. Service was ok. No complains there. Food and drinks were available to buy. I bought some Czech beer and a delicious panini, not expensive at all. CSA has a little bit bad reputation (mostly because flights are delayed) but many times you can get good price, so they are worth trying.

Route: Prague to Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "first and last experience"

Review: Nairobi to Kinshasa via Kigali. This was my first and last experience. The plane seems consistently late for boarding. 30% of passengers had to file a baggage claim and over 50 bags sent on our flight were left unclaimed. They were for previous passengers. T Still awaiting my bag 3 days later!

Route: Nairobi to Kinshasa via Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "flight was cancelled 1hr before departure"

Review: The flight was cancelled 1hr before departure. I received a text message when I was already at the airport. The customer service desk is understaffed, and absolutely incompetent and slow. I was rebooked on a next day flight that in no way fitted my needs. I made a request of refund, and 6 months later still havent received it.

Route: Lisbon to Nice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "Worst airline I have flown"

Review: Ponta Delgada to Gran Canaria. Worst airline I have flown so far. Two out of two flights would be allocated a week earlier, so I arrived at noon instead of noon. Both flights were delayed. The food on board was lousy and the aircraft old. You really can not recommend this airline.

Route: Ponta Delgada to Gran Canaria

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "best flight I've ever been on"

Review: I was on Flight no 1018 Delta From Fort Lauderdale to Raleigh and it was the best flight I've ever been on. The reason it was so good was due to the steward Vincent What a nice, pleasant man. He was professional, entertaining and made my day. More people should be like him. Thank you for a great experience.

Route: Fort Lauderdale to Raleigh Durham

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "polite and professional"

Review: Subang to Singapore with Firefly. As departure airport is a small airport with little traffic, pushback was quick and flight took off on time, and landed before time. Light refreshments in the form of a snack and a drink were served. There were only 2 cabin crew on this short flight and small aircraft, whom were polite and professional.

Route: Subang to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "staff were extremely friendly"

Review: On our flight with LAN we had to change flights in Sao Paulo to TAM Airlines, retrieve our luggage and check it in again as we were flying a domestic flight to Rio and then to Santiago. There wasn't much time between the connections in Sao Paulo and going through immigration and changing terminals made it almost impossible. With 30 minutes before departure we didn't have our luggages checked in and there was a big line at the counter. The staff on ground made a great job in checking our baggage and then taking us to the plane in a minibus as we were the last ones to board. The luggage arrived safe in Santiago and both flights were on time! On the way to Rio there was a new A319 with lots of leg room and for Santiago an old A320 which gave us a lot of trouble with many turbulences. The food served on TAM wasn't different from the one of LAN but the staff were extremely friendly. Still, the experience in Sao Paulo looked very chaotic to us and we would prefer LAN for further flights.

Route: GRU to SCL via GIG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "service is efficient"

Review: Ground staff at Qingdao are prompt and responsive. My request for an aisle seat was granted. An A330-300 configured into 3 class cabin was deployed for this flight. Boarding call was made not long after the in bound flight arrived. Such process begins with row by row, elderly and special needs passengers are given priority to board first. The cabin of this aircraft is relatively old despite that the seat has been refurbished and fitted with IFE. Nonetheless, it is neither the latest screen or higher density (HD) one. The flight path map doesn't come with 3D. In flight catering is satisfactory consider that the flight time of approximately 2.5 hours and meal is complemented with Haagen Dazs ice cream. Cabin service is efficient. I had sufficient time of rest throughout the entire journey.

Route: Qingdao to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Buddha Air

Title: "No updates on board"

Review: Pokhara to Kathmandu. 12h35 pm take off time. Now nearly 4 pm. No updates on board. Simply states delayed. Total BS. Nobody can provide us info. Meanwhile Yeti airlines has been flying to KTM since we have SAT here.

Route: Pokhara to Kathmandu

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sky Express Airlines

Title: "charge me more for our bags"

Review: My new fiancé and I arrived to an empty airport for our flight back home after a beautiful trip to Santorini. We walked up to be checked in by the available ticket agent who just looked at us in awe that we were even in Greece. She never called us over, so we took the initiative to walk up to her since she was the only ticket agent available. She never greeted us. She proceeded to charge me more for our bags even though my original purchase included our bags on our first flight to santorini with the SkyJoy package, which means nothing by the way because their is no priority class on these flights and people were able to move wherever they wanted to during the flight. She refused to give me a rundown of the reason we were being charged more. She refused to give me her name (which she forgot she wrote on my receipt). She printed tickets without a gate. She gave us no direction as to where to go.

Route: Thira to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "off-loaded because they are overbooked"

Review: Flight VA609 Friday 25. November 2022 11:15 When Boarding, at the gate I have been told that I will not fly today, I have been off-loaded because they are overbooked due to another cancelation. No alternative has been offered, I had to find out on my own. To mention I am flying frequently and spend quite a lot of money with Virgin. I claimed to be put back on this plane (thanks to the lovely ladies from ground staff in the lounge), that is where I am now but not sure where my luggage is or will be. Plane is already 35 min late due to unloading and reloading of luggage.

Route: Sydney to Brisbane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "Most uncomfortable economy class"

Review: Most uncomfortable economy class flight I have ever had in my life. Seats have been made smaller. Every person in economy, left the plane and commented about how small the seats were on the new planes.

Route: Johannesburg to Athens via Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "so bad and customer unfriendly"

Review: My wife and I, we are really outraged by the way we have been treated by the EVA AIR BR75 team. The flight times have been moved up to 5 times, due to technical issues. Finally it was the next day. In the meantime we received 2 food vouchers, which could be used at a limited number of shops. The route from the gate to the shops was a long walk and then back. We are an elderly couple and not very mobile. By the time we got to a snack shop, there was already a queue of 50 people. Reason: many of those kind of shops were closed due to renovations. So we had to walk even further. At the end of the day we had to go to another gate; we had to wait again, without further information. Finally, we followed the whole group of people to the immigration gate, we had to hand over our passports. It is therefore forbidden according to the Dutch government to hand over your passport. Only if there is legal approval for this. A copy of our passports was not accepted. If we refuse, they wouldn't help us any further. So we had to do this. After a 30 minute bus ride we arrived at a hotel. Waiting endlessly again. We got a very basic room, no hot water, no luggage. We got a meal, went to bed exhausted at 11 pm, got up at 3 am, because we had to take the bus to the airport at 4 am. Waiting again, no one from EVA AIR was there to explain anything. 500 passengers, in small groups, were searching for information or help. The flight was not listed. And only around 07:30, the staff arrived and boarding could begin. We had to wait a long time for our passports, because a pile of numbered passports had been dropped. We are regular customers of EVA AIR, but we don't recognize the service anymore. This was so bad and customer unfriendly. This brings down the reputation of the company way down. We have submitted a complaint but unfortunately, have not received any response.

Route: Bangkok to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "putting me on a Finnair flight"

Review: I booked a premium economy ticket with Japan Airlines from Paris to Sydney. My flight leaving Paris with Finnair was delayed. There was only an hour between connecting flights so I missed my connecting flight from Helsinki to Tokyo. Upon arriving in Helsinki I was met by someone from Finnair who said they were putting me on a Finnair flight. I asked them what class I was being put in as my ticket was premium economy and I knew Finnair didn't offer premium economy. They told me it was economy and that there was nothing they could do. I queried this with several people before I boarded the plane which didn't seem to go down well with anybody. I was told I was holding the plane up, to get on the plane and to contact customer service when I landed. I did get on the plane and endured 9 hours of a cramped seat. I contacted Japan Airlines when I got back to complain about this and to ask for a refund for this part of my flight. Japan Airlines have told me it is not their problem and I have to contact Finnair. I asked several questions in my letter - who decided I was being put on a Finnair flight, was Japan Airlines given the option of waiting for my flight, why wasn't I asked if I wanted to fly the next day on a Japan Airlines flight. None of these questions have been answered. I am slightly confused why I would be writing to an airline that I have not paid for a ticket to ask for a refund - ie Finnair. My tickets were booked through Japan Airlines so surely it is their responsibility to deal with issues/complaints from their tickets holders. I have written to Japan Airlines three times and got the same response each time, with one response finishing with "I do hope you will fly Japan Airlines again". My flight from Sydney to Paris which was actually with Japan Airlines went without a fault. They have a fantastic premium economy product. Plenty of space and legroom. Even though the food served is the same as in economy it was some of the best airline food I have tasted and the service was fantastic too. I actually thought I had found a really good value for money alternative to business class. I am aware things can go wrong and sometimes missing connecting flights is out of anyone's control. However the way my complaint has been handled left me astounded. There has been zero care factor or empathy.

Route: Paris to Tokyo via Helsinki

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "meets all the expectations"

Review: Flew from Osaka to Hong Kong with Peach Aviation. Peach meets all the expectations of a low cost carrier and exceeds some of them. Check in was very simple and straightforward. It only took a few minutes and was totally automated. Staff on board were friendly and efficient and the food and drink was reasonably priced. Seats were comfortable. For short haul flights like this the lack of inflight entertainment isnt really a problem, just bring a good book or your ipad and youre all set. Overall, I highly recommend Peach and will use them again next time I go to Hong Kong

Route: ITM to HKG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Very terrible experience"

Review: Very terrible experience with the check in crew. They wanted me to find a dust bin and put in the extra weight items which were sweets removed from my suitcase. They did not offer any support and the manager threatened me that she will not issue boarding pass if I don't do it.

Route: Visakhapatnam to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: VivaAerobús

Title: "never book with them again"

Review: Do not book with them - Chances are flights will be extremely delayed or cancelled. We were supposed to fly with this airline on a Sunday night. We were sitting at the gate already when we were told our flight is delayed two hours. Okay, not a big deal. After two more hours of waiting we were told the airplane has technical issues and they're fixing them now and that they're updating us very soon. Another two hours passed. People were starting to get angry, everyone had been waiting for over four hours already. Finally after midnight we were told that the flight is cancelled and that we should all go home and come back at 9am because the flight will leave at 11am the next day instead. We had to pay our own transport to the closest hotel (which in Tuxtla is a 40min cab ride) and also our own hotel. We came back the next morning at 9am as they told us to (after not getting a lot of sleep) and we were told right away that the flight will be another two hours delayed. In the end that wasn't even true- We had to spend all day at the airport and the flight finally went at 5pm (so another 9h at the airport). Absolutely awful experience. Employees are terrible and were deliberately withholding info from us. We weren't offered any sort of compensation either. They basically wasted 1.5 days of our lives for no reason. I've also heard from other passengers that Viva is always delayed for hours (in our case it was a 21h delay!). Will for sure never book with them again.

Route: Tuxtla to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "best domestic transcontinental equipment"

Review: Ground service at EWR was mediocre, as expected. That was probably more about the airport than the airline. However, the new United Club was nice. It was spacious with many food choices (by American carriers' standard). The flight departed on time and arrived early. The 787-10 was the highlight. I purposely booked this flight because of it, and it was perhaps the best domestic transcontinental equipment available today. Service was fine, not over the top but was enough. In-flight meals were quite a step up from my previous UA flights.

Route: Newark to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Virgin America

Title: "most unprofessional crew"

Review: We took the red eye from Los Angeles to Fort Lauderdale, about 5 hours. Unfortunately we were seated at the back of the plane where the flight attendants spent the majority of the flight talking so loud, nonstop, we couldn't sleep. We had two small children with us so my husband asked them to please keep their voices down so that at least our children could try to get some much needed sleep. One flight attendant acknowledged him, and obviously felt bad, while the others decided that they should talk and laugh louder than before. The worst, most unprofessional crew I've experienced.

Route: Los Angeles to Fort Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Etihad Airways

Title: "No water or food provided"

Review: Athens to Singapore via Abu Dhabi. Firstly paid for a flight that we thought was at least 787. Its a 787 between Singapore to Abu Dhabi however to Athens either way you get a 320 with no screen. Delayed our flight whilst on the tarmac by 2 hours missing our connecting flight. No correspondence given from ground or on air staff. No water or food also provided for four hours. Best option was us to fly to India and then fly with Air India paid by Etihad. We rejected and had to buy our own flights home with Singapore Airlines - currently awaiting reimbursement.

Route: Athens to Singapore via Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "They lost my baggage"

Review: They lost my baggage as there was no one to help you at the carousel I tried asking multiple officers and other officials all were looking for the El Al associates who just didnt care to show up today. Barely missed my flight to Boston all because these people working this airline cant figure it out.

Route: Tel Aviv to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "lost a day of our holiday"

Review: Flew Air Malta from Gatwick to Malta for the 1st time on 28 October. Flew with them as they included 20kg baggage and they had a mid morning flight as I hate to arrive any where after dark. Flight was due to leave at 1155. Display boards said gate information at 1105. Checked at 1105 and it now said information at 1715. Went to airline desk who were not that helpful only saying food vouchers would be provided. Finally took off at 1845 or thereabouts. Captain apologised said the Incoming flight had tech problems and that they had to change aircraft. The aircraft was clean, cabin crew friendly, one guy went out his way to help the couple in front of us with a child in distress. Inflight meal was a snack but fine when the flight is only 3 hours. Arrived at our hotel about 1230 am woke up late so effectively lost a day of our holiday. I guess these things can happen I had a similar experience with Thai Airways years ago, that caused us to miss connecting flights and taxis. Flight home no problems same clean aircraft good cabin crew. I would use them again and would not tell any one considering to fly with them not too. However I was disappointed in the lack of information at Gatwick and the indifference of the staff at the airline desk. I guess a lot of passengers will b claiming delay compensation under the EU 216/2014 rule myself included. Wonder how airlines make a profit on a flight when it goes like this one.

Route: LGW to MLA

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Delta Air Lines

Title: "A glorified bus ride"

Review: Their international product is terrible, compared to other European airlines such as Lufthansa, BA or Air France. Its very difficult to elaborate this in a few sentences since there are many small issues across the full experience that ultimately will impact your body, quality of sleep, mood, etc. Everything from planes condition, served food, utensils, FES, pillows, blankets, lack of basic toiletries (they used to provided in the past), crews behavior and attentiveness, quality of seats - all mediocre to poor. A glorified bus ride. Whats more upsetting is the whole going green charade to cut cost on elements that are so fundamental to the passenger such as food. They provide meals with this sort of pre-packaged configuration where you get useless wood silverware that makes eating completely difficult. Lack of trays makes eating a super annoying task. The portions are a joke for a 10 hours flight, and breakfast is just replica of the American beef pockets. So make no mistake, Delta international economy is no different than Condor or any other budget intercontinental airline that sticks to a schedule. Period. If you really care about a well spacious seat, top service and good food on a long flight, go with a European top airline.

Route: Seattle to Frankfurt via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: El Al Israel Airlines

Title: "could not fault the service"

Review: This was my first time on El Al's 787 in Premium Economy, a modern version of what Business was when it was introduced over thirty years ago. The seat was very comfortable, there was plenty of leg room, the video screen was large and very responsive and there was a good selection of movies. The seat had a pop up footrest but I didn't use it as I always find them particularly useless. I fly quite a lot and am sick of the regular meals served on all the airlines so I ordered a Vegan (VGML) meal. It was very nicely presented and was delicious. My husband joined me on the return flight and chose the fish (there were three main course options) and also said it was delicious. There were regular cabin patrols by the cabin crew who were very friendly. We could not fault the service. Outstanding flights. El Al was never my first choice of airline but I would not hesitate in the future. Wifi was available but I didn't need to use it.

Route: Tel Aviv to London

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Aeroflot Russian Airlines

Title: "not refunding cancelled tickets"

Review: Aeroflot is not refunding cancelled tickets due to Corona. I booked many flights in the past months, all were refunded in a couple of months. Aeroflot refuses to do that, I am so disappointed.

Route: Hamburg to St. Petersburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "so smooth and comfortable"

Review: I recently flew return from Sydney - London. As a family of four with 2 children. (17 month year old, and a 3 year old). I can't thank JAL enough for the exceptionally high standards they provided. From check in at the front desk to the plane journey. It was so smooth and comfortable, and the food was delicious. I also want to mention how they let us board first due to having young children. We are very grateful for this- it was a fantastic experience. Thank you so much, look forward to flying with JAL again in the near future.

Route: London to Sydney via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Standard low-cost carrier experience"

Review: They rescheduled the flight to depart 5 hours earlier than I'd initially booked and didn't even notify me. Only when checking in online the day before, did I notice it had changed. Communication seems to be a recurring issue with Volaris, when I've had flights delayed 2-3 hours in the past, even though it shows the delay on their website and in the Volaris app, they don't send any email/SMS/push notification about it. Their customer service via WhatsApp takes hours to respond. That being said, the bag drop process at MEX was surprisingly quick and efficient. The cabin crew were nice, the flight departed on time. Seats were okay, no recline and not much leg room. Snacks on board for purchase. Standard low-cost carrier experience, in my opinion.

Route: Mexico City to El Salvador

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "the best customer service"

Review: Fantastic airline, with the best customer service ever! I had to change my travel plan at the last moment, I call the customer care and they change all my flights between the islands without charging anything. It took few minutes, I received the new flight plans immediately.

Route: Lisbon to Flores via Ponta Delgada

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Smile Airways

Title: "very good service"

Review: Flight Bangkok-Khon Kaen. Lovely staff, smiling, bright, very good service, clean plane. The flight was on time, no delay, when landing, it landed very softly. Impressed. Will definitely use the service again.-

Route: Bangkok to Khon Kaen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India

Title: "scammed me for such a huge amount"

Review: I first travelled in May 2022 and had return flight Aug 20th 2022. As per the itinerary I reached the airport and stood up in the line and when I reached at the checking counter after looking at my ticket the rep. simply directed me to the manager working on that day. I was informed that the flight has been cancelled from Tel Aviv from where I had my connecting flight. After all the trials and everything I was directed at the reservation counter of air India and assured that I have received the refund on profile but need to contact agent who booked my flight because amount goes back to their account. For almost an year of a try they have not initiated the refund and the reason they have is of no show? Literally theres no other answer they have which is clearly they are lying and basically scammed me for such a huge amount?

Route: New Delhi to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "rude guy at the check in"

Review: Prague to Nice. Extremely rude guy at the check in desk. First could not find my ticket and straight asked me to pay extra for my luggage - found me after and asked me why I did not check in my luggage all the way to Nice. I am very disappointed and the flight was delayed for 1.5 hours of top of that. Horrible company.

Route: Prague to Nice

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "Scoot did the job"

Review: My first time flying with Scoot having read so many negative reviews for this airline. I found a great deal one way to Bangkok and just couldn't resist, so I took a chance. Around 200 AUD one way. Overall my experience was not too bad. If you expect something fancy from this budget airline, you have to ask something, what is important? Is comfort important or simply getting from point A to B? I chose the latter. Most of the time I took a nap while listening to music, so I wasn't in too much discomfort. Leg room was decent. My advice bring your own pillow if you have trouble sleeping on the plane. Overall Scoot did the job. This isn't Singapore Airlines in any manner. If being economical is important for you, give Scoot a try.

Route: Melbourne to Bangkok via Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "a very good product"

Review: Used Thomas Cook Airlines from London to Cape Town Return in their Premium Class. I was worried as their reviews were very mixed - I must say I was impressed by their Premium Cabin and the staff looking after it. Priority check-in, priority boarding and a decent sized seat - wider than BA's Premium product although only 35in legroom which felt spacious enough. A few small issues - they ran out of a specific meal choice by the time they came to us (we sat in Row 1A/C) which was annoying but nothing big as the meals were tasty and drinks were plentiful. Row 1 does not have the same leg room as the rest of the Premium Cabin, due to the bulkhead in front, you cannot stretch your legs out! The in-flight entertainment system is basic in terms of offerings but it was included in Premium (in economy you have to pay £4.50 to unlock it). On the way back we had row 7 and it felt much more comfortable being able to stretch out your legs under the seat in front. All in all, a very good product which I will definitely use again and highly recommend - being able to fly direct from Gatwick to Cape Town and still pay the equivalent BA economy fare and get Premium is an added bonus. Well done Thomas Cook - see you again soon.

Route: London to Cape Town

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAAG Angola Airlines

Title: TAAG Angola Airlines customer review

Review: In January 2023, I was originally supposed to go to Cape Town with Taag via Luanda. When checking in, I had the problem that I had to confirm that I had a yellow fever vaccination. Since I couldn't do that, I contacted the airline. She told me that I really need one. So I had to cancel my flight a few hours before departure and book a new flight and now have 809 euros + 350 euros additional costs. Ultimately, after IATA and the Embassy of South Africa, I wouldn't have needed one. The contact runs via Whats App, which is more than catastrophic. The embassy from Angola has also been blazing with absolute ignorance for the past 3 weeks. I would definitely not fly with them again and I can really advise everyone against this airline. Im Januar 2023 sollte es für mich ursprünglich mit Taag über Luanda nach Cape Town gehen. Beim Einchecken hatte ich das Problem, dass ich bestätigen musste, dass ich über eine Gelbfieberimpfung verfüge. Da ich das nicht konnte, habe ich mich mit der Airline in Verbindung gesetzt. Diese gab mir gegenüber an, dass ich wirklich eine benötige. Ich musste also ein paar Stunden vor Abflug meinen Flug stornieren und einen neuen Flug buchen und habe nun 809 Euro + 350 Euro Mehrkosten. Letztendlich hätte ich aber nach IATA und der Botschaft von Südafrika doch keine gebraucht. Der Kontakt läuft über Whats App, was mehr als katastrophal ist. Auch die Botschaft von Angola glänzt seit 3 Wochen mit absoluter Ignoranz. Ich würde auf keinen Fall mehr mit denen fliegen und kann jedem wirklich dringend von dieser Fluggesellschaft abraten.

Route: Luanda to Cape Town

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "very bad airline and service"

Review: Singapore to Jakarta. I was supposed to board on 20.40 pm and got delayed until 00.50. I'm writing this while waiting and still hasn't boarded. A very bad airline and service. No one told me if it got delayed I have to asked the information desk each time it got delayed, again and again and again. There is no compensation given as well nor any apology said from the airline. I don't recommend ever taking this aircraft.

Route: Singapore to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "There is absolutely nothing to complain about"

Review: This was my first time flying on Air France business class product and it was nothing short of spectacular. The airplane has been in service for 21 years but extremely well-kept. The business class used on this particular aircraft was the extra legroom seats section in the very front of the aircraft, so the row had three seats, but the middle seat was not sold so it was the aisle seat and I had the window seat. The flight lasted under two hours however, the proper business cabin service was still offered. A cold towel pre-flight, and a full gourmet meal as soon as we reached cruising altitude. There is absolutely nothing to complain about, we left on time and arrived on time. Great job Air France! Merci!

Route: Barcelona to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "employees do not care about customers"

Review: After 3 weeks of visiting my family in Washington, two of my children were returning to Texas today unaccompanied. My wife's and my names were added to the unaccompanied minor packet, however, the desk agent only added my wife's name into the system, preventing me from being able to get a security pass to meet them at the gate. The ticket agents at DFW airport told us of the error, but made no effort to attempt to find a way to rectify the situation or even show a basic level of human empathy. They said it was the fault of the SeaTac branch and was not their problem. They refused to take any company blame and instead continually tried to push off responsibility and without making any effort to solve a problem. I understand the original problem was created by the SeaTac ticket agent, and they need better training and attention to derail, but the lack of even average customer service at DFW ticket counter really irks me as with just minimal effort on their part, I would at least not be writing poor reviews about Alaskan Airlines. I did file a complaint directly with their company, but after seeing the way they Alaskan's employees represent this airline, I will be looking at taking my business to their competitors in the future. Dont fly with Alaskan Airlines, their airport employees do not care about their customers.

Route: Seattle to Dallas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Qantas Airways

Title: "waited a year for our first business class experience"

Review: Plane delayed 5 hours, first notification when 10mins from airport. Spent 5.5 hours in Business Class lounge, packed. Food for the full 5.5 hours was three hot dishes, rice, butter chicken, pumpkin soup. Four salads, one being a tub of lettuce, sweets being two stale frozen cakes possibly Sara Lea. Bread rolls and butter (which ran out after two hrs). The menu did not change from lunch to dinner. One coffee station, one food station, others closed or needing repair. The overall lounge is shabby and uncomfortable chairs. We waited a year for our first business class experience and this was it. Once at board staff were welcoming but being served dinner at midnight was not enjoyable. Madly trying to contact pick up in Singapore, nightmare.

Route: Sydney to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "Clearly they don't need customers"

Review: I flew to Toronto from Montreal with Flair on March 10th 2023 and upon arrival in Toronto I realized that my suitcase did not arrive with me. I was told that it was left in Montreal and that I may receive it by March 12th. Now I was in town only from 10-13 for a Wedding. Obviously I did not receive my suitcase while I was in Toronto so I had to purchase new clothes to wear to this wedding. My suitcase was only found and returned to me on Mar 23th. I was told to contact them if anything was missing from my suitcase as well as to be reimbursed for the clothes that I had to purchase. I emailed them on March 29th providing all the details of what happened as well as my receipts. They responded with a generic message asking me to describe what my suitcase looked liked (they clearly didn't even read my email since I already told them that I now had my suitcase). I have been emailing them back and forth since then and every time I do I get a new person asking me to describe what my suitcase looks like. I have yet to receive an email from someone who has any kind of customer service training or experience. It's been two weeks since they bothered to respond to my last email. Clearly they don't need any customers. I will never fly with Flair Airlines again even if it was for free.

Route: Montreal to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: "flights were spacious, and service okay"

Review: Recently we have been to Orlando from Philly. Our flight got delayed by 2 hours and we got the notification call just 40 mins before the departure. Obviously we were not happy with this. During our return flight, we had one stop and we missed the first one. It was US Airways flight but managed by American Airlines now I guess. I approached the ground staff and told them how we missed it. When I was preparing myself to pay extra money, to my pleasant surprise they gave us different flight with no extra charge. We were so happy that we would use American Airlines (US Airways) in our next tour again. Apart from that flights were spacious, and service was okay. More courteous behaviour from crew would make it more attractive.

Route: Philadelphia to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SATA Air Azores

Title: "experience was terrible"

Review: Ponta Delgada to Toronto. The worse flight and airline I have taken in my extensive 43 years of extensive travel. A 2 hour delay became almost a 6 hour delay in total between issues with crew, boarding, gate availability and more. The food was horrible, the crew were rude and the experience was terrible. On top of everything we are still on the plane after landing 45 minutes ago as we taxiing from gate to gate being told that there are issues (on our way to our 3rd gate now). I dont understand how an airline can be so poorly run and how they coordinate so poorly with its crew. I dont blame SATA for the gate issues (thank you Pearson airport) but everything else has been their fault. Its 2019, all other airlines are doing better than you. Glad theres more competition to the Azores. Stay away from SATA

Route: Ponta Delgada to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "charge of 70 euros for luggage"

Review: Heraklion to Athens. My husband and I were very disappointed with the unexpected charge of 70 euros (35 each) for our luggage. We were on our way back to Athens from Heraklion after almost 2 weeks of travelling to different islands with our 2 luggage (where are you supposed to leave them?). Finally, we were returning to Athens to catch our flight home and the attendant at the desk told us we had to pay for the luggage. After trying to explain to her, unsuccessfully, the situation, she kept going in circles. Wheres the courtesy to tourists who are coming to the country to spend their money, sounds like abuse to me. Well, I know I sound bitter, and I am. I dont think is fair.

Route: Heraklion to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "a very pleasant flight"

Review: We had a very pleasant flight aboard Sri Lankan Airlines. From check-in right through to transit / hotel and the onward journey was great. We are glad we chose to fly Sri Lankan,

Route: Melbourne to London via Sri Lanka

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tianjin Airlines

Title: "couldn't be any worse"

Review: Moscow to Melbourne via Chongqing. The flight with this airline couldn't be any worse. There were not a single movie in English (or Russian), not even with subtitles; at the Chongqing airport passengers flying to Melbourne were not allowed to leave the airport for 20 hours, not even with Australian passports. We lost money paying for a hotel in the city, and had to seat in a small terminal with only a couple of shops and cafes for so long. The airline didn't bother to offer a food voucher. The staff of the business lounge at the terminal tried to rip us off charging $50 just to take a shower, food was awful as well. My tickets was very expensive due to the soccer word cup in Moscow.

Route: Moscow to Melbourne via Chongqing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "relatively price worthy"

Review: Long trip to get from Europe to Jakarta, but relatively price worthy. Wonderful interiors on both flights, with nice welcoming colours. Food out of Frankfurt quite poor in quality and quantity. In between the meals, no snacks offered on this very long flight, except for some crackers. Generous offerings for drinks if you asked. On the contrary the proactive mid-flight runs to keep passengers hydrated (trays with water and orange juice) werent many. Unproblematic transfer in Taipei for the onward journey to Jakarta. Food served on this quite turbulent flight was far better (and larger) than the longer one from Frankfurt to Taipei. Very impressed on how for both flights the boarding process was organised, efficient, clear and quick!

Route: Frankfurt to Jakarta via Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Peach Aviation

Title: "know nothing about student visa"

Review: Sapporo to Taipei. Im disappointed that the staff seems like know nothing about student visa. They were questioning my visa, when I have Japanese resident card! Can I even become a student in japan if my visa is invalid? They keep opening their manual book, calling the other staff just to make sure my visa is valid. I showed them my resident card but they still wanted visa sticker, stating that I will stay for X years. That is written in my resident card.

Route: Sapporo to Taipei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "Absolute awful experience"

Review: Absolute awful experience, they cancelled my return flight in January 2022, and no offer of alternative unless I flew by March 2022. I had already booked with alternative airline so only option was to request a refund, did this on 15th December 2021 and have heard nothing since, tried to email in January asking for update, no response. Will never recommend Egyptair.

Route: Johannesburg to London via Cairo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "SriLankan Airlines is really poor"

Review: Doha to Colombo. SriLankan Airlines is really poor. The planes are old, the food is bad, the staff is not helpful. They run out of blankets and keep the plane really cold. Unless it is very cheap, avoid it!

Route: Doha to Colombo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Corsair

Title: "Good service in business class"

Review: Paris Orly to Pointe-à-Pitre. Good service in business class. 2-2-2 layout. 12 business class seats in total. The outbound flight was quiet, so each business class passenger had two seats on his/her own. Food was good though I thought they served the 2nd meal a bit too late as I was getting a bit too hungry. Inbound flight business class cabin was full. Service was a bit more hurried but was still good and acceptable. There was only one toilet in business class and at times there was a wait as several passengers from premium economy were coming forward to use the business class toilet. I have no problem with this but Corsair should probably have 2 toilets in the business class cabin if it is too be shared with premium economy. The music albums in their entertainment system were surprisingly shocking. I did know any of the artists and I happen to follow French songs/music. For a French airline not to have any mainstream artists like Matt Pokora, Shy'M, Amel Bent or more seasoned stars like Julien Clerc (who happens to have connections with Guadeloupe as well) is quite surprising.

Route: Paris Orly to Pointe-à-Pitre

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "no personal TV"

Review: Cebu to Xiamen return. Economy: food OK service okay but no personal TV. Business class: food OK service good but still no personal tv, I was given an ipad to watch movies.

Route: Cebu to Xiamen

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "never fly with China airlines again"

Review: Los Angeles to Jakarta via Taipei. Will never fly with China airlines again, flight attendants are rude no common courtesy, get into your personal space without warning no "excuse me" no nothing! Felt like a harrasment because I purchased a premium economy seats for my infant and have to argue back and forth about it because they didn't believe my 1,5 year old is not 2 years old, I bought 3 premium economy seats for my 2 kids and I but they only gave me 2 meals and not counting my other kid! Their excuse is they don't have infant food even tho I told them my 1,5 year old can eat anything, asking me to show my kid passport all the time because they thought my 1,5 year old is too big for her age. Told me to deflate my flytot even tho other passengers in economy class are allowed to using theirs, even after I deflated it they keep coming back and woken me up because they thought I was still using it! I have to literally show them I didn't use the flytot anymore! Again I will never fly with China airlines ever again. The only reason I gave 2 stars for cabin service and not 1 star is because one of the flight attendant actually felt bad for keep asking me about my child. But out of 4 flights we've taken only 1 was bearable.

Route: Los Angeles to Jakarta via Taipei

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "no more room for cabin baggage"

Review: Just flew Jetstar Bangkok to Singapore on April 1st. Paid for additional $48 cabin baggage. When in plane, the staff says no more room for cabin baggage, they started carting the baggage out to the hold. I protested politely to the crew, I paid for that cabin space. They kept silent and continue to cart my bag out. Another passenger offered to make space by moving his luggage from top compartment to under his seat. I told the crew to bring my bag back as there is space, they relented and carted my bag back from outside the plane.

Route: Bangkok to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "worst in customer service"

Review: Zürich to Madrid. Is the worst airline in customer service and loyalty program. Ive been flying with them weekly since September 2021 and I put at least one claim every month. And forget about calling, waiting times of 20 mins and not a single time they solved my problem.

Route: Zürich to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "unnecessarily complicated procedure"

Review: Hat Yai to Bangkok. Since air fare can be reimbursed with the organization (foreign government development agency), I turned up at their counter in Hat Yai to ask for the receipt/taxi invoice or any kind of document that has my name, flight detail, air fare and the organization name on it, for the reimbursement purpose. The staff informed that no document can be issued here, which for me was a bit strange because other airlines I have used could have done this process in literally a minute. After the trip, I sent the request through their e-mail system. Having waited for a week without any contact back, I decided to contact the call center. The response received was that the consideration was in the process (for god sake, I am not applying for job, just a receipt,, what exactly do you need to consider). Then a week later and still no contact from Nok air, I decided to call them again. This time they said they will follow the case and contact back. I did specifically ask them to contact me back today because I got tired of the chasing. Kindly enough, Nok Air contacted me back on that day, informing that my information for issuing tax invoice was insufficient (took them two weeks to realize that). Then, I explained that what I need is just a document from the airline, not necessarily tax invoice, just a receipt is fine. Then, I was told that a receipt cannot be issued after the travel. In sum, the unnecessarily complicated procedure, lack of customer service, poor case/request tracking system, and inability to solve customers' problem had made Nok Air uncompetitive with other airlines.

Route: Hat Yai to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "it did not disappoint"

Review:

First time trying this 4 star airline and based on the prices it charged, it did not disappoint. First flight to Ho Chi Minh City was in a A350 with 1-2-1 lie flat staggered seats. The seats were visibly narrower than the Boeing 787s reverse herringbone seats. Food was almost inedible but since the Changi Airport Terminal 4 lounge was quite good, we did not mind. Once in Ho Chi Minh City, the 3rd floor lounge was filled to the brim and we were brought to a first floor lounge. Food was below par except for spring rolls. Second sector in Boeing 787s reverse herringbone 1-2-1 full flat seats (very similar to Finnairs). Slept OK. All flights were on time and we even arrived in London 45 mins earlier than schedule. On each flight, there was 2-3 very attentive FA with the others being less helpful (more training needed). Did not take the supper but breakfasts was tasty, albeit too small portions. Toilets not as clean. Entertainment not as varied with only about 5 Chinese movies. Overall, recommended to give this airline a try. Keep on improving, Vietnam Airlines.

Route: Singapore to London via Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "checked baggage did not arrive"

Review: Worst flying experience I have had. Hand luggage was weighed prior to boarding, and a lot of hand luggage was checked-in right before boarding. There was no air conditioning in the flight until 30 minutes after take-off. Even after that the entire flight was very warm. No COVID protocol was followed on board with most passengers wearing masks under their noses and some not wearing one at all. Our checked baggage did not arrive in Kigali. Waited for 3 hours to enter the airport and collect my luggage when the next flight arrived 2 days later, and missed work because of this. Never flying with RwandAir again.

Route: Dubai to Kigali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: "ground staff dismissive"

Review: Once on the plane, Cubana Airlines is no better or worse than any other low cost airline. The issue arises, as noted in several reviews, in getting on the plane. Flights are subject to very short notice delays and cancellations, the ground staff are at best dismissive, at worst outright rude and are more interested in chatting with their friends than serving customers. Booking tickets is a nightmare (the office in Santiago closes when they feel like it, the website crashes if you try to use the english version) however you can bribe the ground crew at the airport to get on a flight, tickets sold to non-Cubans seem to cost twice as much as those sold to Cubans. Overall, were there other options for internal flights in Cuba I would not use this airline again however Cubana Airlines seem to have a virtual monopoly, leaving us with no option but to suck up the poor service. This is a shame as the rest of Cuba is populated by the most friendly people who are always happy to help where they can, this airline really let the side down.

Route: HAV to HOG

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "Terrible experience"

Review: Terrible experience. Firstly, the initial "low" prices are a loss leader only. Once you pay for the ability to change or cancel your ticket it's more expensive than SIA business! (Unfortunately we needed a direct flight and Jetstar was our only option). Flight postponed a few hours with email notification. Later postponed again with no notification (found out from our relatives who checked their status page for us). Went from leaving at 9.30pm to 12.30am to 5.30am (check in at 2.30am). So we booked a hotel and rushed to the airport so we could check in so early the next day. Flight cancelled just as we checked into the airport hotel. They refunded the hotel, but there is no compensation for stress, running around, etc. of course. We changed to the flight leaving 9.30pm next day and fortunately this one took off. But late, and not before 90 minutes standing in check-in line (despite being early) because they only had one economy checkin counter open. Staff is abrasive, curt, unfriendly, both on the ground and in-flight. At the other end the wait for our bags was over an hour. My advice - if you travel with Jetstar you're doing it at your own risk. I would advise anyone to take a longer route to get to their destination by choosing any other airline. Jetstar's only redeeming feature is that their economy seats are more comfortable than Emirates economy seats.

Route: Kansai to Cairns

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "Will never travel with them"

Review: This flight is 17 hour long and the seats in economy are not suitable for this long journey. There is no foot rest which was so surprising and very uncomfortable for this long flight. Even in our US domestic flights we have foot rest. Space between seats are tight. Passenger sitting next to you is almost touching and no way to put your arms on arm rest without touching. And most unfortunate is their food. In such long flight they only offer one meal and a small breakfast not to mention both of them taste bad. There were no snack where other airlines offer snacks in between meals in their 14 hour flights. We are frequent international traveler and flown so many different airlines, so we can compare easily. Will never travel with them when I go to Australia again.

Route: New York to Sydney via Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "The food and wine was extraordinary"

Review: I was very fortunate to fly business with Air France, first Toronto to Paris, after being bumped by WestJet, and taking a flight a few hours later, which was excellent. Then even better was my flight Paris to Vancouver, with the lovely and very efficient flight attendant. I felt her performance alone deserved attention for how special it was. The food and wine was extraordinary, no request was too much, and I enjoyed getting to try to converse in French. I dont write a lot of reviews, and I usually travel Star Alliance, but for Air France, Ill gladly make exceptions going forward! I will see Air France in business again in April, to Paris and Lisbon, I cant wait!

Route: Paris to Vancouver

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Egyptair

Title: "challenging to get adequate information"

Review: I was booked to fly from London to Douala via Cairo and EgyptAir did an excellent job to contact me four days before my flight to inform me the flight was cancelled. I was directed to get to the ticketing agent to initiate a process to get a refund. It was been challenging to get adequate information from the agent that issued the ticket to me. I have made several attempts to know the next steps to get this sorted out without success. I need to get a refund.

Route: London to Douala via Cairo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "simply cannot be trusted"

Review: I recently had the unfortunate experience of dealing with Frontier Airlines, and let me tell you, it was an absolute nightmare from start to finish. The pinnacle of their incompetence came in the form of a tardy email, attempting to apologize for their abysmal service. Frontier Airlines' late apology email is merely a feeble attempt to pacify disgruntled customers who have suffered through their abysmal service. Their claim to strive for the "best travel experience possible" is nothing short of a hollow marketing slogan. If you value your time, money, and sanity, I strongly recommend avoiding Frontier Airlines at all costs and strongly advise against choosing Frontier Airlines. Their empty promises, lengthy refund timelines, and overall incompetence make them an airline that simply cannot be trusted.

Route: Phoenix to Detroit

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Tahiti Nui

Title: "we had no reimbursement at all"

Review: Los Angeles to Papeete. We used this airline to reach Polynesia for our honeymoon. We read good reviews about this and that's the reason why we opted for this company for the most important trip. When we arrived at the airport in Los Angeles we found out our flight was cancelled without any previous warning. Reason: there was no pilot! Bad organization at the airport and had to wait hours in a queue and lost one entire day of honeymoon stuck in LA. Worst thing is that we had no reimbursement at all as the company is not European and doesn't follow any European rule for reimbursement as the flight doesn't leave or reach an European country. Won't use with company anymore! Much better to prefer Air France to reach Tahiti, as prices are the same, but customers are protected as I found out Air Tahiti Nui often behave like that.

Route: Los Angeles to Papeete

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Ethiopian Airlines

Title: "We had to sit separately"

Review: This was the worst airline I have travelled long distance. Neither flight was I able to sit together with my partner (all together we had 4 flights). We had to sit separately. The seats were broken. The seats in the last row were absolutely ruined, full of springs, on the way back my seat was not fixed - I could remove seating area. I also could not lean back my seat so for 5 hours I needed to sit straight up, sitting between two strong men who took up even 1/4 of my space from each side - it was the same on 2 flights. The seating area is narrow, not comfortable. One plane did not have entertainment so they say we can watch it on our smart phones but it did not work. The food was not good, they ran out of white wine. Stewardesses were not as kind as other airlines. Overall I hope I would never fly with this company again.

Route: Vienna to Seychelles via Ethiopia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "forced to check in hand luggage"

Review: Amsterdam to Malta. I was forced to check in my hand luggage. They said there was no room in the plane, so it had to go in the hold. It was opened and things stolen. The whole reason I only took hand luggage. No compensation, it wasn't their responsibility they said.

Route: Amsterdam to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wings Air

Title: "Horrible customer service"

Review: Tambolaka to Denpasar. They are never on time. Which is normal when you dont pay the price - however there is no information. Two hour delay and there is no representative to explain us the situation. So we are late, and not sure how long more we will be. Horrible customer service.

Route: Tambolaka to Denpasar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "have been ignored each time"

Review: My flight in July 2021 from Malaga was delayed by 9 hours. The check in desk person gave me an email address to claim my EU compensation. I emailed their customer service to request a claim form and have been ignored each time.

Route: Malaga to Dammam via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air India

Title: "first and last flight with Air India"

Review: I travelled in direct flight from Toronto to Delhi with my brother on 26 June 2023. The entire plane smelled like public washroom. It was so disgusting. The entertainment screen was not working for me and my brother and for many more people. We informed the crew member and she assured it will be fixed soon. Two hours later when I asked them again, all they had to say was "sorry, we tried but only technical person will be able to fix it". The meal they served was not fresh. My brother had booked non-veg option for meal when booking tickets and he got vegetarian meal, that too, 1 hour late than others and had hair in it. When we asked the crew, she said their economy meal was over so they are serving whatever they could arrange. You guys are not even aware how many people are flying with you, forget the rest. WE PAID $2300 CAD for the ticket which I think was not worth it. This was probably my first and last flight with Air India. Never travelling again and won't even recommend it to anyone.

Route: Toronto to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "an acceptable experience"

Review: Arrived at Gatwick to face a tediously slow 45 minute queue to check-in, before proceeding through the well renovated security clearance in North Terminal. Swift boarding, although flight was delayed an hour whilst sat onboard due to an ATC issue which required a rerouting. Frequent updates provided by a friendly Captain. Once underway food and drinks service prompt and although not generous, tasted good. PTVs are good but the fim/tv selection is very poor

(c. ten films). Seat pitch good (33") and decent recline, although seats are narrow and can be uncomfortable when you've a large person seated beside you, as I did. On the return flight, smooth boarding by bus, timely departure and landed 45 minutes early. Meal service and duty-free took four hours to be completed, which left less than five hours to sleep before being awoken for a reasonably good English breakfast. All in all, an acceptable experience - you get what you pay for, value for money, and we only opted for Thomson due to the direct flights to Puerto Vallarta to visit friends - preferable to a two-stop option via MAD/MEX.

Route: LGW to PVR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "a pleasant flight and service"

Review: Tromsø to Oslo. Easy online booking engine. Everything stored in a own personal account, which is accessible through their homepage or own built app. Online check-in was made available 24h prior to departure, and as I had no checked luggage, I checked in online. 2h prior departure, I got a friendly welcome onboard sms with flight details. As I'd checked in online, I could easily walk thru security and wait at the gate given in the sms. Boarding was quick, as I had priority boarding bought and could get quickly onboard the aircraft. Crew greeting friendly, and inflight entertainment was what we could expect from a low cost carrier - want more wifi speed, you have to pay for it. Flight was ok, some turbulence but nothing to complain about. Pilot gave good information on why the turbulence occurred. All in all, a pleasant flight and service according to the low cost carrier expectation they gave me upon booking the reservation. Not reaching 10/10 as the fee's was a bit to harsh if you'd like to build your own reservation and fee for wifi usage onboard.

Route: Tromsø to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wingo

Title: "airline is by far one of the worst"

Review: After flying sometimes as often as twice a week on all airlines across the globe for the last twenty years, I can conclude this airline is by far one of the worst. To make matters worse, they manage to confuse me with repeated and different random requests that seems to serve no purpose except to upset their guests. Other passengers on the same flight were equally confused and shocked. Just fly Avianca to expect normal service levels, Ive paid the same amount if not less for much better service.

Route: Medellin to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "best thing was the legroom"

Review: Prague to Brussels. The best thing was the legroom, you had enough space (i'm 187cm). It was a good flight and the cabin crew was friendly and will try to help you if you have a question. It was an A319 without entertainment. Maybe the company can give one free beverage because they are a traditional airline.

Route: Prague to Brussels

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "Not sure whether they will refund or drag on"

Review: I have booked my tickets in Feb-2020 to fly out in July and due to covid the flight got cancelled. When asked for a refund, the Airline assured refund - but only after one year of booking. Now a year has passed and they only keep issuing request number on mails without any official communication. Not sure whether they will refund or drag on.

Route: Dammam to Bengaluru via Muscat

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "avoid especially if you are traveling with kids"

Review: Worst airline I have ever traveled with. Delayed baggage on both ends. Delayed carry-on for a week on the way back with all my essentials in it. Broke one of my suitcases on the way back. Customer service keep lying and then stops responding to emails altogether. They ignored the reports and the proofs that were sent to them by email. Very disappointing experience, the staff were very rude and not understanding. They made me bring a toddler car seat to the plane door while I had a stroller and a baby with me. I have never done this with any airline. The car seats get checked in with the rest of the luggage in general. It is more than 10kg and you can't expect a person to carry that to the plane door in their hand. Please avoid this airline especially if you are traveling with kids.

Route: Montreal to Turkey

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "Overall not a good airline"

Review: Food was lousy. Who ever is planning the Asian Hindu Vegetarian meal is clueless as to what this meal includes. The snack was also lousy. It took us 2 hours just to go from T5 to T3 and clear security check. The place was chaotic. We get to our boarding gate and again a long line with 40 minutes wait for someone to check passport and boarding pass. Seats in Premium economy was ok, but when the passenger in front reclines, there is very little space for the window seat passenger to cross over. Overall not a good airline.

Route: Seattle to Zagreb via London

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Blue Air

Title: "pay for my checkin"

Review: I booked a flight from Lisbon to Cluj (via Bucharest, both flights with Blue Air). In Lisbon I was only issued the boarding pass for Lisbon-Bucharest. Upon arrival in Bucharest (with a 1h layover) I was told I had not checked in and need to go to the agency and pay for my checkin. Mine was not the only such issue. I finally paid 40 eur for the checkin and nearly missed my flight.

Route: Lisbon to Cluj-Napoca via Bucharest

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "both flights are my all-time best"

Review: At Changi, despite still being 5 hours prior to departure, the ground staff team let me check in early, and I was glad that I did even though I had checked in online because the process took quite a long time due to this being a US-bound flight. Eventually, I was sent through the automated gates of passport control, and after some rest, I made it to the gate. Boarding was made on time, and strangely, neither I nor my other family members was allowed to accompany our travel party who needed wheelchair assistance, something that was not the case on the Haneda-Los Angeles leg. Having purchased this ticket through American Airlines, JAL and AA made a miscommunication that eventually led to me and my other family members being seated separately from each other on the Singapore-Haneda leg of the trip, but I believe that was a fluke because the seats on the Haneda-Los Angeles leg was set correctly. What I got on both legs were friendly cabin crew despite the agonizingly long duration of the flight, sumptuous meals, in-flight entertainment system with a great selection of contents and old-school but easy-to-use layout, wide legroom and seat width for economy class, friendly ground staff service on all airports, and adequately air-conditioned cabin and mood lighting. I arrived early at Haneda but arrived late in Los Angeles, and on the latter flight, the crews just couldn't stop apologizing for the delay, something seemingly textbook when it comes to Japanese culture but very appreciated. When one of my family member's IFE system stopped working, the flight attendant, as a gesture of apology, gave him another form of in-flight entertainment through the very stable in-flight wi-fi. Overall, I would surely try JAL again, and I have never said this before - but I learned a lot from this airline. I hope other airlines can also learn from JAL, too, because I can confidently say without a shadow of a doubt that both flights, SIN-HND and HND-LAX, are my all-time best so far. No wonder they're a 5-star airline and in the top 5 best airlines in the 2023 list.

Route: Singapore to Los Angeles via Tokyo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: SriLankan Airlines

Title: "SriLankan have no concept of customer service"

Review: Poor service. Dirty plane. Awful food. Cabin crew were good. SriLankan have no concept of customer service. On return flight changed my flight to a stopping flight without consulting me. If I wanted a stopping flight I would have gone Qatar. Cheaper and much better. Will never fly with them again. I travel to SL at least 5 times a year.

Route: London Heathrow to Colombo

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "first and last time to fly Pobeda"

Review: Istanbul to Moscow. Pobeda supposedly started their online checkin procedure several days ago (today is 30 October 2018). Only problem - it doesn't work. I arrived at the airport today to find it was "my fault", and the fault of every other Pobeda passenger at the check in. Due our "fault" we all had to pay 25Euro check-in fees, but they only take Turkish Lira for credit cards at their cashier. They then charged 200 Turkish Lira (32 Euro), but said that if we go file a complaint "in person" at a Pobeda office in Moscow, they will reimburse us (25 Euro). No apologies at all. This was my first and last time to fly Pobeda. I flew Pobeda from Moscow to Istanbul 5 days ago. While it was not chaotic, their customer service was poor. None of the seats recline. If you pay more to board early, they simply let you board the bus to the airplane first; you don't get to the airplane any more quickly!

Route: Istanbul to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "attentive service non existent"

Review: Milan to Bangkok. They appear to me to be a no frills Business Class. Food is poorly presented and attentive service non existent. One of the crew on the return leg was quite rude and uninterested. Upon boarding I walked past him and turned right towards economy but there are one row of business there in between the galley and economy. My locker was full of crew bags. I walked back to inform him there was no space and he said surely not. I stood for minutes while he continued to mess about with trays and eventually came with me to investigate. He got a shock when he realised I was a Business Class passenger. My short list of what I feel is not in keeping with a proper business product. Staff attitude. 2) Food quality and presentation. Movies very limited. No fast track cards issued for Bangkok Immigration. WI-FI not working. Lounge in BKK pretty poor and lunge in MXP worse.

Route: Milan to Bangkok

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "We will never fly with Lufthansa again"

Review: We flew from Cape Town to the UK via Frankfurt, the out bound trip was okay. The food was terrible, almost inedible. The return trip was a disaster. The flight out of the UK was delayed causing us to miss the connecting flight home. The flight eventually landed at 22:30. Frankfurt airport shuts down at 22:00, including the in transit hotel. We were forced to stay in the transit terminal without food or water until 6:30 the next morning when the Lufthansa service desk eventually opened. We were put on to a Qatar flight departing at 17:00. 19 hours in the transit area. We will never fly with Lufthansa again and never pass through Frankfurt airport again.

Route: London to Cape town via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "seats are surprisingly comfortable"

Review: Compared to many low-cost airlines in Europe, the service is much better, both ground service and onboard, reasonably fast boarding, and none of the usual struggles with luggage that one sees with other low-cost carriers. The A220 really makes most of the difference, the cabin feels more spacious and bright, than A320 and B737, there is plenty of room in the overhead compartment, and the seats are surprisingly comfortable (at least in short-haul flights), with ample legroom and the possibility to recline the backrest. There was a decent selection of food for purchase onboard but nothing special. There is WiFi onboard but no internet, so you can only access the same sort of information that you have on the onboard magazine, it seems like a lost opportunity.

Route: Riga to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "not worth the savings"

Review: Ho Chi Minh to Bangkok. They will not let you book a ticket without having a return flight. The website is horrible to book a ticket as well you cannot add check in baggage with just one person only. The website made me buy 2 check in luggage for two people. and then when I try to book a second ticket separately they blocked me from being able to purchase a second ticket. I had to go to the airport customer service and they charged me double the price of the ticket. It is a cheaper airline but its not worth the savings.

Route: Ho Chi Minh to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "airline seems to ignore everything"

Review: Excessive delay of my baggage (>30 days). I went through the whole process and claims for my luggage in the airport, as well as in the airline's website. I have been trying to contact the airline ever since this incident happened and no one has responded to my phone calls, the customer base even hung up the phone multiple times after being on hold for more than 2. I have sent several emails and submitted tens of complaint forms and the airline seems to ignore everything.

Route: Belgrade to New York

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Regional Express

Title: "reassured and comforted them"

Review: My husband, 2 young boys, aged 4 and 7, and I flew to Merimbula for a holiday and we were allocated 2 x 2 seats in consecutive rows. My boys chose to sit together and my husband and I sat directly behind them. As we ascended, both of them started to panic, one feeling sick, the other saying he couldn't breathe. There was quite a scene which all passengers were witness to. I'd leaned forward to reassure them, but was obviously constrained by my seatbelt whilst the seatbelt sign was on. Our flight attendant, when safe to do so, came directly to my children's side, knelt down to their level, and reassured and comforted them. She was completely forthcoming and generous in her care. My boys were instantly calmed.

Route: Melbourne to Merimbula

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Flynas

Title: "a terrible airline"

Review: Flynas is a terrible airline. Always late and never any explanation by cabin crew. A no frills airline with ageing fleet at very high prices. Over $300 single from Dubai to Riyadh. Stay clear of this airline.

Route: Dubai to Riyadh

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "pleasantly surprised by the Virgin Product"

Review: Having flown with Qantas many times previously I was pleasantly surprised by the Virgin Product if anything comparing to my last Qantas experience the Virgin was a better product. Checking in while busy was okay. The lounge is comfortable and comparable to the Qantas Club lounge. Boarding was prioritized and you received a beverage prior to take off. The seat was comfortable and larger than the economy seat. The service was very good with a hot meal and multiple beverages offered. The cabin crew were friendly and diligent. On landing my bags came out with priority, something Qantas has been unable to do for a while.

Route: Brisbane to Canberra

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Airlines

Title: "Very unfriendly on weight"

Review: Hong Kong to Singapore via Taipei. Very unfriendly on weight for Business Class. We are first time travel on this Airline on Business Class which was recommended by Flight Center. We booked our Round the World all on Business Class, of course, a lot of shopping which resulted overweight for check in Luggage of 9 kg per person. Check in service insisted us to pay for the 9kg fees and later I had spoken to a friendly Supervisor but not much help. She manage to get us extra 1kg free only per person. We have no choice, open up luggage, throw away 8kg of stuff per person to made them happy but not us. We should have stick to our Singapore Kris Flyer may have avoided all these. China Airlines are too straight to Business Class, moreover, we are travelling Round the World.

Route: Hong Kong to Singapore via Taipei

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "There was literally no leg room"

Review: I have flown with Thomson now Tui before to the Canaries and it has always been okay. The staff are friendly and there was very expensive food and drinks on offer should you want to buy anything. My biggest issue on my latest flight was the size of the seat. There was literally no leg room. I am only 5'5 and my knees were touching the seat in front and they were so narrow they were almost impossible to sit in. When I was told to put my bag under the seat in front it left nowhere for my legs. It was the most uncomfortable four hours of my life - never again.

Route: London Stansted to Las Palmas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Southwest Airlines

Title: "rarely on time"

Review: I have been flying out to Colorado Spring every month for the past 7 months for medical reasons and almost all my Southwest flights are delayed which is costing me more money on wasted hotels, rental cars and stress. The only thing I can count on is them being late. They are rarely on time. Their flight times are merely suggestions not actual times you can count on.

Route: Ontario to Colorado Springs

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LOT Polish Airlines

Title: "do not follow their own policies"

Review: On March 13 2023 I bought the tickets and within 3 hours after purchase I filled the refund form on their official website. After 8 days (21st of March) I received an email confirmation of my refund request which would be processed within 14 days. As per their official website, they have a policy called Procedure 24H, which allows clients to get full refund for tickets if request is filed within 24 hours after purchase and the ticket number begins with 080. My ticket matched both of these criteria as I filed request form within 3 hours after purchase. But on 21st of March I received a refund of 68$ which is not even half of what I paid for tickets (419$). Their support team takes ages to reply, both on Facebook messenger and Whatsapp. They do not follow their own policies, just trying to rip off.

Route: Baku to Vienna via Warsaw

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Nostrum

Title: "check-in our hand luggage"

Review: Porto to Madrid. A small aircraft and we were asked to check-in our hand luggage or to leave it by the aircraft and pick it up upon arrival. I find this irritating, as I had one piece of luggage, within the rules. Other people didn't. Those should be asked to do this. Besides this, staff were nice. Seating was OK.

Route: Porto to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Hong Kong Airlines

Title: "very pleasant 2 hours"

Review: Hong Kong Airlines from Hong Kong to Okinawa with a friend, and bought their biz tickets 6 months ago at an excellent price. We were both impressed with the ground service, the lounge and the inflight service, etc. Crew were polite and efficient, meals were average but still a good 7 out of 10 with 3 main choices. The spacious flatbed and 1-2-1 configuration makes flying a pleasure. Aisle access for everyone, that's a plus. A very pleasant 2 hours and we have reached our destination on time. Return flight was more or less the same. They worked hard and maintained their high standard even on a full flight. This is a great airline to travel with on biz class if the prices are right, which often is the case.

Route: HKG to OKA

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Finnair

Title: "old, untidy planes"

Review: Finnair sells flights from Helsinki to Barcelona. However, without any notice to the passenger beforehand they are flown by Iberia with old, untidy planes, the only serving during the 4 hours flight coffee and a muffin. No sales of any additional food or drinks. On the way back they ran out of toilet paper in one of the tourist class toilets.

Route: Helsinki to Barcelona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "Both flights were delayed"

Review: Flew Air Canada Rouge twice this week. Booked thinking I was flying Air Canada. Knew nothing about the rouge brand. Both flights were delayed. They did not have sufficient time between flights to properly move planes or service them. Both flights were delayed. So 100% chance of delay. Rude staff who will cut the customers needing extra time off. The flight attendants made a guest put two bags below their seat so they could accommodate one guest who wouldnt find her own open bag spot. Very rude service. First flight, boarded an hour late then sat for an hour waiting to push back as they didnt have weights to fly. No offer of drinks or anything.

Route: Moncton to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Onur Air

Title: "impossible to lower tray"

Review: Onur Air cabin crew and flight deck spoke poor English. Seating was bad, no legroom and I got stuck, seat 15B was 2 cm further forward than A and C (see picture) my girlfriends trousers got a rip because of broken plastic in armrest. The tray could only be lowered so it stood in an upright positions of 20-30 deg as it would hit my chest, even for my 3 yr old daughter it was impossible to lower tray. Cabin was old and not clean. It was a charter flight. Entertainment was Turkish commercials.

Route: Antalya to Copenhagen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "a pleasant surprise"

Review: Fly from Brisbane to Port Moresby with Air Niugini in Economy class today. Leg room in economy was a pleasant surprise! Food was first class. Cabin crew were very friendly & helpful. Let's be honest, no-one really likes flying economy, but it's so much cheaper than Business Class! But over all, I thought the trip was excellent! The only 2 negatives I have are: 1: Only 3 check in staff to book in a plane load of people. (There were 2 customer service staff working, well one was working & the other was surfing the web) 2: Excess baggage charges. You get a 30kg limit in Economy, but if you go over that they charge $21.00 per kilo.

Route: Brisbane to Port Moresby

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Philippine Airlines

Title: "What a huge mistake"

Review: I decided to try Philippines Airlines as an alternative of getting from Bangkok to Melbourne. What a huge mistake. The flight connected via Manila, which when I booked had a very reasonable 2hr transfer. After booking I received an email advising that 2hrs was now 6+ hours with no apology or explanation. On arrival in Manila, we went to the transfer desk, and were met with shrugs and total apathy regarding the delay. We were offered access to their transfer lounge, which was a horrifying basement, we asked about hotels but are not allowed out of the airport. We had to wait in the departures area of Manila airport, terminal 2. This was a very dilapidated terminal, very dirty and no facilities, stores are kiosks, which sell some sketchy looking products, and sometimes cash only and sometimes closed. Very little variety. We were then asked to head downstairs to identify our already checked baggage? After this we were re screened again into the boarding gate. When we finally boarded the flight to Melbourne, we were greeted by unfriendly cabin staff. No explanation for the delay . I asked if there was any option that did not include meat resulted in the cabin crew telling me the options are pork or fish. No further offers of beverages followed the initial service. When we landed, the cabin crew had to awkwardly push aside premium economy passengers to allow business passengers to disembark first. Never again.

Route: Bangkok to Melbourne via Manila

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "Everything today was pathetic."

Review: KQ257 from Antananarivo getting late for more than an hour causing passengers missing connections at their own costs with bad customer care and in addition, poor bag management. Passengers losing bags with bad tagging. We had to spend more than 2 hours waiting for baggage tracking. Incompetent staff on duty with no respect towards passengers. Everything today was pathetic.

Route: Antananarivo to Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "I wouldn't recommend British Airways"

Review: I wouldn't recommend British Airways at all. I tried to call to customer service for 3 times in different days and time and I waited for more than 30 minutes on the phone! I ended hanging up. They are excusing themselves in the high volume of calls. I write an email and I am still waiting for 2 weeks! Website is difficult to navigate. It is not easy really to have an invoice of proof of receipt or look for another service. They sent you online but you don't receive a PDF file. So if you need a proof of flight, you need to do screenshots. And, once the flight is flown, you have no access to that booking again to reprint any document or try to create a PDF. You need to contact with a customer service which I did it online, long waiting time, and had to wait more than a week to receive it. Expensive and poor, almost inexistent customer service and difficult to use their website. An airline that definitely wouldn't recommend. It is such a shame that in 2023 they are still in this position and sleeping when they have competitors around

Route: Santorini to Gatwick

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Pacific Airlines

Title: "Seats very hard"

Review: This is a low cost carrier code shared with Vietnam Airlines who own 98% of it. It used to be Jetstar. We paid for a full service flight with Vietnam but got this instead. Bit of a con. No inflight entertainment, no service except for pay to buy. Seats very hard. Glad it was only a 2 hour flight. Got us there at least. Full flight but uneventful.

Route: Phnomh Penh to Saigon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SmartWings

Title: "They are consistently late"

Review: Prague to Paris. CSA flights are operated by Smartwings. I really can't see anything "smart" in that company.

They are consistently late, comfort onboard is is that of a charter company. Today's flight from Prague to Paris was 1 h late (which for the 1st flight of the day is a performance) and for a complete pleasure we had to wait 20 mins in a bus to disembark in Paris. This company is simply unreliable. The most terrible is that they boast being members of the Skyteam Alliance although their total lack of quality is miles away from any Skyteam Alliance company.

Route: Prague to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "Plane very cramped"

Review: Had booked and paid for priority boarding and extra leg rooms seats each way. No priority boarding either sector, told by check in on outward journey by priority desk to go to the other main queue! Did receive allocated seats outward, but not on homeward for our 4 passengers. Staff at PMI seem to ignore any prebooking and allocate as they see fit. No priority homeward either. Plane very cramped and one of us could not even get his drinks tray lowered at all, as it was so cramped and he is not obese. Staff were helpful but a very disappointing end to a nice holiday. Have spoken to Cooks who are arranging a refund but I really do not like this hassle over what should be a straightforward booking. Won't use this airline again.

Route: Birmingham to Palma de Mallorca

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Dolomiti

Title: "Pleasant flight and great meal"

Review: Catania to Munich. Overall a great flight experience. The cabin crew is very attentive and the plane equipped with an excellent entertainment system that can be used with the on-board wifi on your smartphone, all included in the ticket price. Pleasant flight and great meal.

Route: Catania to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Condor Airlines

Title: "unacceptable handling of the matter"

Review: The flight was booked for my father, a Ukrainian refugee, fleeing the horrific reality of what is going on in Southern Ukraine. He was denied access to the flight because Condor wrongfully told him that he has to be vaccinated / have a negative covid 19 test to enter the country. According to AMENDED NATIONAL INTEREST EXCEPTION FROM PRESIDENTIAL PROCLAMATION 10294: ADVANCING THE SAFE RESUMPTION OF GLOBAL TRAVEL DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC, and I quote: " (President of US) determined it is in the national interest to permit temporarily the entry of noncitizen nonimmigrants who (1) are traveling with a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident; (2) were physically present in Ukraine as of February 10, 2022; and (3) possess valid travel documents allowing them to travel to the United States". He had a valid Ukraine passport with a visa that covers him under this mandate. They dismissed him in the most disrespectful manner and misguided him into staying in the airport without means to flying and German language deficiency to escalate the issue to proper channels to get on the flight. It is unacceptable handling of the matter by Condor as a company and its employees. We had to rebook a flight on United at triple the cost and he was able to fly with no issues or any Covid-19 constraints.

Route: Frankfurt to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air New Zealand

Title: "What a bunch of scammers!"

Review: My November flights were canceled and instead of providing a full refund or offering to replace the tickets for other dates, they just credited the amount online - it means that I can use the money within 12 month since cancelation (27 Oct 2021) and guess what - new tickets 5 month in advance for the same time of the day are more expensive now.

What a bunch of scammers!

Route: Queenstown to Auckland

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "staff pleasant and hard working"

Review: Return flights from Birmingham to Dalaman. Aircraft clean, staff pleasant and hard working, service good, and as has been said extra legroom seats well worth it. Return flight equally as good, I only wish the baggage service at Birmingham was as efficient. Well done Monarch Airlines.

Route: Birmingham to Dalaman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "staff were very helpful"

Review: Me and my wife were satisfied. We had a lot of leg space, staff were very helpful and ground staff in Chicago the best, and landing was smooth.

Route: Chicago to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "no longer allows online check in"

Review: This airline no longer allows online check in, you must join a queue with only 2 staff while over zealous staff check size and weight of bags to try and charge you. After 45 minutes queuing we then had to run to security and the gate, which I would frankly pay a bit more to avoid - so use only if you really have to.

Route: Palma Mallorca to Luton

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "making my flight so pleasant"

Review: Casablanca to Istanbul return. Can't ask for a better company, Royal Air Maroc is the best and the crew for my both flights were so perfect. Thank you RAM for making my flight so pleasant.

Route: Casablanca to Istanbul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "12 hours waiting my second flight"

Review:

4 hour late in Las Vegas. I spent 12 hours waiting my second flight. Nobody had answers. First time I get a flight with this airline and last too. Terrible.

Route: La Vegas to Spokane

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "incompetent customer service"

Review: First, they changed the tyre; then engine, then another issue - why didn't you check the night before? The plane has been in overnight! Do you know how many people's trips are impacted, and how many plans you have ruined? Please, just do your job. Been a frequent flyer, and Air Canada Gold member for 10 years I can't help but giving AC a 2/10 star. Since the pandemic was over, from 2022-2023, AC has lost my luggage TWICE (it took them 25 days to get my luggage back; and I found it; and they didn't compensate my extra flight to look for my luggage). Also, there have been multiple delays - NOT because of weather. It's terrible management and incompetent customer service. I wonder if it would make any difference if there were a competitor in this territory. We, as consumers, sadly, have no choice. Also, AC workers have union's protection - do we, consumers have any protection?

Route: Toronto to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: flydubai

Title: "Don't expect any level of good service from the customer service"

Review: I was supposed to fly from Qatar to Dubai on the coming weekend and due to personal issues, I had to cancel my booking with FlyDubai. After deducting the penalty (which is understandable), they gave me a refund as a voucher. Who needs a voucher? I can't get back the money that I paid and that too after deducting the penalty? Don't expect any level of good service from the customer service. It was just horrible and they refuse to give information or pass on the situation to a higher authority. I have flown with FlyDubai last year from Georgia to Dubai and they have rescheduled my flight twice and that is just how pathetic their services are. I am so disgusted by their service.

Route: Doha to Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "food is simply inedible"

Review: I haven't travelled Jetstar previously and doubt I will again. The ground staff, crew and aircraft itself are good but that's where the positives end. The food is simply inedible - atrocious. To have the gall to charge what they do for it is beyond an insult. Had something akin to a quiche but basically stodge, couldn't even eat it even though I was hungry. Seating is a joke. How anyone is supposed to actually sleep in these seats and not wake up with muscle strain or similar is beyond me. It seems to be an airline whose management wants to abuse its customers or milk them at every opportunity. Sad really.

Route: Melbourne to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Transavia

Title: "check-in policy is ridiculous"

Review: Verona to Amsterdam. One-and-a-half-hour delay on the outbound flight and three-hour delay on the return flight. On top of that, the online check-in policy is ridiculous: there are only a fixed number of free seats. When those are reserved, either you pay 10 for a seat, or you "conveniently" check-in at the airport desk. This experience with this company counts twice for me: first and last. Ryanair feels like Emirates compared to Transavia.

Route: Verona to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Virgin Australia

Title: "Huge waste of time"

Review: Gold Coast to Melbourne. Absolutely terrible. I was meant to fly to Melbourne from the Gold Coast the morning of the 5th of July: my flight was cancelled and rescheduled 2 days later with a 4 hour layover in Sydney with 2 hours notice. As if that wasn't inconvenient enough, they cancelled that flight too, rescheduling it to another day later. My 5 day trip was cut in half and then half again. I was meant to arrive 9am on the 5th and now I am scheduled to arrive at 3pm on the 8th. Huge waste of time and massive waste of money. Save your money, time, effort and happiness, fly someone else.

Route: Gold Coast to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "never recommend it to anyone"

Review: I booked our round trip flight me and my husband on May 11 2023, Toronto to Cancun. Our return trip was a huge surprise that they gave a seat beside other nice strangers and my husband was also was in another spot which is around five rows behind me with other nice strangers. Is this a joke. I tried to explain at the plane entrance to flight attendant this problem she promised to talk to someone but never did. Very bad customer service with no apology. They made a mistake at the cus service no big deal they don't care about the customers. No entertainment at all, no screens. I rate your airline service as zero. Will never recommend it to anyone.

Route: Toronto to Cancun

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "I've emailed again and still had no answer"

Review: On 20 November 2022 the flight from Kigali to Johannesburg was delayed by several hours causing me (and many other passengers) to miss our onward connections. In Kigali I was assured that an agent would assist me in Johannesburg, but when I arrived their desk was empty. I had to book my own hotel and rebook a new onward flight, all at my expense. I have since tried to contact Rwandair by email (one address bounced back and to the other they never responded), by phone (no answer). Finally I asked a friend in Rwanda to go to the office. I got a number where someone picked up, but they repeatedly hung up on me and ultimately only referred me back to the email. I've emailed again and still had no answer. The delay cost me approximately $500 USD.

Route: Kigali to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Frontier Airlines

Title: "Booking with frontier is a gamble"

Review: Booked flight with Frontier 3+ weeks prior. Checked in 10 hrs before take off. Received notice flight was hour and half delayed. 3 hours before boarding received notice flight was canceled. Went thru all options, no offer to assist with another flight, no phone number to get a Re-booking, website routing just kept popping up with do you want a credit or a refund. Tried for hours, only could reach robots with standard response like go to manage flights! Cant manage a canceled flight! Kept trying every avenue. Finally, 6 hours later, after booking a flight that cost 6 times more than my frontier flight I asked to write a complaint! I got a chat agent that gave human responses which were Sorry we had to cancel flight we do this to ensure passengers safety Sadly, I do not see where you contacted us. When I asked for help getting home, rep offered me a flight 3 days from my original date at twice the money Word to the wise. If you can afford another airline, take it. If you have to fly frontier, take snacks and water, they wont give you anything and may strand you and they will not help you to your booked destination. By the time they cancel, you could have booked first class tickets on a dependable, customer friendly and professional airline. As I told frontier, I may be slow but Im not stupid. Booking with frontier is a gamble but you will eventually loose!

Route: Portland to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: EVA Air

Title: "an excellent airline"

Review: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Taipei. EVA Air is an excellent airline. I have flown them almost exclusively. Great service, food is decent, and they are highly recommended. However, in this era of COVID, they appear to be using the virus as an excuse for some sort of bridge loan, from their customers. I had to cancel a recent flight to the US, and they tell me it will be fully refunded. Within 90 days! Yes, you heard that right. They are going to keep my money for three months, even though they have agreed to a refund. Is any other airline doing this? I can understand that they are busy. But three months?

Route: Los Angeles to Bangkok via Taipei

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Volaris

Title: "Never again Volaris"

Review: At the gate B-18 two staff from this airline asked to line up and weighted our luggage and asked people to pay. I did pay 1500.00 Mexican pesos approximately. Due to the chaos and many people surrounding the desk the lady asked to pay and proceeded to place a tag in may luggage. They did not gave me a receipt or anything and I was able to fly to Guadalajara. In Guadalajara when I was about to board another Volaris staff demanded me to pay for my luggage again! When I try to explained that I had pay in Mexico for my luggage he stated that if I would not pay I would not be allow into the plane. He would not hear my arguments at all and would not let me talk and instead he continued threatening me with not allowing me into the plane. Also he decided to send me to the security inspection which is something they do randomly. He did it as a way to punish me. I had to pay again 1584.00 to allowed me in. Rude person, abusive and felt humiliated. Never again Volaris.

Route: Mexico city to Seattle via Guadalajara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: TAR Aerolineas

Title: "worst airline on the planet"

Review: This is the worst airline on the planet, they canceled our flight two day prior to our flight and only one day after purchasing the ticket. I called in to get a refund and they insisted I email them a copy of my bank statement in order to get a refund. I don't know what kind of scam this company is running but don't book with them.

Route: GDL to PVR

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alliance Air

Title: "4+ hour delay with zero information"

Review: 4+ hour delay with zero information to passengers on cause of delay. No apology, no regret, no information and complete disregard for passengers' time and comfort. Shame on this airline and its operations.

Route: Delhi to Jaipur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Surinam Airways

Title: "I'm still trying to get a refund"

Review: Do not book with them! Couldn't travel due to COVID last year and I'm still trying to get a refund. I got an email in July saying there's a delay in getting refunds out and then I sent two more emails in October with absolutely no response to either. It's December and I'm still trying to reach them. Don't do it. It's not worth it. I'm out over $600 for an unused ticket.

Route: Miami to Georgetown,

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "I appreciate the staff help"

Review: I booked a flight from Guangzhou to London on 14 September 2022. On the morning of 14 September, I received a call that my seat had been canceled. I was so angry and confused, so I went to the airport after I got the call. I arrived at the airport and spoke to the duty manager at the check-in desk. I was told that there were 4 passengers who have the same problem as me and he could help me to see if anyone cancel his seat before the departure so that I could get on the flight. I was so lucky that someone canceled the tickets and I successfully boarded the flight. I appreciate the staff help.

Route: Guangzhou to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Rwandair

Title: "disaster for night flights"

Review: Flew on a narrowbody B737-800 at midnight on 2 March 2019 from Kigali to Dubai. Direct flight (in contrast to fly opposite direction). This aircraft has no lie flat seats which is a disaster for night flights. I purchased the ticket in faith of their refurbished A330, but they made an equipment change obviously due to low load. Check-in online is a joke and waste of time: after filling some 7 pages with info online they eventually laconically inform that check-in must be done in Airport. Worst: landed in T2 in Dubai, which is a messy LCC terminal and fought my way to T1 for onward flights. Homepage misleading and systematically hide info on booking class. Even their most expensive bis-ticket give only few miles which furthermore only can be used on Rwandair. Lounge in Kigali is fine but they have blindfolded all windows with tape to deprive passengers any view of tarmac which is painful, embarasing, and a misunderstood security issue. Luggage checked in to next destination only, thus had to fight again in Dubai for further luggage transfers. These 6 issues deprives rating 6 points of 10, leaving us with a poor score of 4. On the brighter side is the nice atmosphere onboard, great traditional Rwandan decorated interior in business cabin: FAs were great and well caring. Champagne and welcome drinks provided. Menu cards and drink lists provided. Sparse supply, e.g. only one kind of beer and only two dishes offered for supper (only 2 options). The food was only passable but plenty. Breakfast of poor quality. Punctual airline with stunning, tall statured FAs. However, their flight equipment is limited and they are not attached to any airline alliance, thus miles earning is only for their Dream Miles Program, which is very stingy with miles even for full fare business tickets. Will chose Kenya Airways and Ethiopian in future despite detours (over NBO or ADD) as they are considerably cheaper and mostly have a better product.

Route: Kigali to Dubai

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Peruvian Airlines

Title: "staff seemed very disinterested"

Review: Flew Peruvian Airlines from Arequipa to Lima. Departure was only slightly delayed (10 minutes). Plane was old, with uncomfortable seats. This was a short flight and OK overall, however staff seemed very disinterested and even rude (i.e. attendant sneered at me when I asked for milk in my coffee and generally smirked the whole way). The price was also quite high I find for a short trip. For these reasons I would choose another airline.

Route: Arequipa to Lima

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Asiana Airlines

Title: "not given priority to board first"

Review: Seoul to Singapore. I am appalled that with a 2 year old daughter we were not given the priority to board first. This resulted us bashing through the seats with passengers already settled down, especially those by the aisles as my belongings might have hit you while I navigated through the chaotic cabin. I sincerely apologised for the unwanted encounter.

Route: Seoul to Singapore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "Quality was decent for a budget carrier"

Review: Berlin to Copenhagen on an Airbus A320. Quality was decent for a budget carrier. Check-in staff did the job, but the counters of Air Berlin on TXL were understaffed. There were issues with getting the aircraft prepared on time. The aircraft was bare and just "the norm." Seats were alright for the short flight. There was no cabin service or beverages, but given that this was a short haul flight on a budget carrier it was understandable. Recommended only if you are really on a budget. I would take SAS if I was to do this again.

Route: Berlin to Copenhagen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Icelandair

Title: "transatlantic avoid them"

Review: This was our second Icelandair go and back flight. Since their fleet of Boeing 767 and 757 is getting old and worn out they had to find a replacement, and, obviously not being willing to change to Airbus, the only option they had was the ill-fated 737Max, which still needs to regain its reputation. The last grounding was in April, but now Icelandair claims everything is under control. This plane is just new but not more advanced inside or more comfortable than their old planes. Seats are leather and about the same comfort as we had many years ago on old 737s, with not much recline. The galleys are tiny, and so is the room for the toilet cubicles. The first row in Economy is with more legroom, but you pay extra. Noise level is not better than in old planes. The TV screens in that first row are lowered into a pocket between the seats, and the crew has to help everybody to retrieve them and pull them up. The food service is typical Icelandair, just minimal. We flew Saga class last time, and it was the same. Advice: do not fly Saga class, the price difference is too much. Bring your own food. Cabin attendants were friendly but not extremely keen on making you feel comfortable. If you need something you have to tell them. Pilots only announced the bare minimum they are required to. Ground service provided by agent at Zurich was excellent as always, but at Keflavik it was low quality. On-time performance was good, but easy to achieve in low Corona passenger numbers. Fly Icelandair if you go to Iceland, but transatlantic avoid them, the change of planes in KEF is an ordeal.

Route: Zurich to Keflavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "Total incompetence from all"

Review: London to Colombo via Kuwait. Awful airline, completely inept to provide a service. We missed connecting flights to and from our destination, due to delayed planes on the first flights, even though all were provided by the Kuwait

Airways. On the return journey we arrived with the aircraft in view, and were told the gate was closed, despite the screen still saying proceed to gate, and being told the flight would be held for us. The plane was there for 30 minutes while we protested, and one gentleman's passport was taken from his person by a security guard when he tried to take a photo of the plane. Following this, there was no communication provided, we were left to gather our own information from the transit desk, where there was over 1000 people we were told. The result was a delay of over 30 hours on the flight out to Colombo, and 20 hours on the way back, and 3 unwanted nights in Kuwait airport's hotel. At no point were we offered an apology. Total incompetence from all involved, each individual shrugged off the blame elsewhere. Do not use.

Route: London to Colombo via Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "customer experience is not important"

Review: I think, it would be a very beneficial eye opening experience for Scott Kirby to fly as a regular customer during bad weather conditions. Spend time in a long line for the travel assistance for rebooking the flight, and then trying to figure out where to spend a night or few nights before the next flight. I was coming from a wonderful European vacation on July 9th. As soon as I arrived to the Newark airport, I received a very unwelcome message that my connecting flight was canceled. The next 4 hours were extremely frustrating. The United App was not working. Long line to the travel assistance full of frustrated customers, elderly people, and parents with young crying children kept growing. A travel agent informed me that a seat for me is available no earlier than July 12th. I registered for the standby for the earliest flight the next day as well. I, as every other person in that line, needed to find a place to spend a night, possibly 3 nights. The agent was kind enough to give me 3 vouchers $15 each. I am a full time employee and have responsibilities. So, I had to inform my manager about my encounter. The next day I spent camping out at the Newark airport on a standby list. The overbooking practices help maximize the profits and brings hefty bonuses to the top management of the airline at the expense of their customers. In Europe airlines are penalized with high fines for overbooking. The airline should be able to develop a backup plans for bad weather, and not use it (bad weather) as an excuse for inconvenience, keeping travelers stranded for days, passing down the operating cost to customers. Seems like customer experience is not important for United airlines.

Route: Newark to Phoenix

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetblue Airways

Title: "very disappointed"

Review: My family and I have been Jet Blue customers for years and I am wanting to simply change a flight, not looking for a refund or a credit of any sort. The original flight that was booked was MORE expensive than the flight I am looking to change to. However, Jet Blue is wanting to charge twice the amount with all of its fees. I am very disappointed in how customer service treats its customers and will think twice about booking with your airline in the future.

Route: Boston to Denver

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Malta

Title: "shameless overbooking"

Review: My flight was deliberately overbooked and despite having booked my tickets 10 months prior and arriving at the airport 4 hours early I was turned away despite having a ticket. We were persistently told different things by different members of staff. I rang Air Malta customer service who said they would call me back and then literally hung up on me. The Air Malta representative at the airport then refused to speak to us. When I rang the day before I was guaranteed the flight was not overbooked and there was no problem. I have never been subjected to such dreadfully poor customer service. Offers of remedial compensation will not make up for the inconvenience and distress caused by your airlines shameless overbooking.

Route: London Heathrow to Malta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: Delayed due to hydraulic issue. We're not given any food or drinks as outlined in their policy. Missed connection to Glasgow and were put on same flight the following day. Despite the fact they advertise as being part of one world they could not fly us to Glasgow via London as they are not partners with British Airways. Queried food and drinks policy only to be told they were not a canteen service and wouldn't be looking after a grown man! Had to fight to get food voucher - $10! Needed to get dinner, breakfast and lunch before the flight. Couldn't even get our luggage out of baggage reclaim. Sent to a terrible run down hotel. Not exactly the end we wanted to the holiday we wanted!

Route: Orlando to Glasgow via Philadelphia

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air China

Title: "plane brought back memories"

Review: Vancouver to Guangzhou via Beijing. On my Boeing 744 trip, the plane brought back memories. Normally, I like a updated and brightly lit cabin, but the Boeing 744 really brought something special. Their food is questionable and their inflight was entertainment system can have more selections. They also have good value of money as my round trip costed just over $500CAD. Overall, they have great crew and value but can improve on the food and IFE.

Route: Vancouver to Guangzhou via Beijing

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "Alaska is my airline of choice"

Review: Gate check in was short staffed and not overly helpful. In fairness it was a full flight and they looked busy. Flight Crew was a different story, they were beyond amazing! Thomas, Becca and the other 2 attendants were all so kind, and helpful. There was a medical emergency on the flight and all of them worked together to provide support. I have so much respect for the crew and Alaska is my airline of choice!

Route: Honolulu to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aegean Airlines

Title: "a very bad experience"

Review: Santorini to Athens. We had a very bad experience with Aegean Airlines. I bought two tickets and by right have combined baggage of 46kgs - however, when we dropped off our baggage, the staff told us Aegean don't combine baggage and charged us for excessive baggage charges although our actual bags combined only 43kgs. Also they dont accept one of our hand carry suitcase as well which have been travelled through so many airlines like Qatar and Swiss with no issues and charge us another baggage charges. Unless you want to be ripped off by this airlines otherwise I highly unrecommend Aegean because they will find all their ways to rip you.

Route: Santorini to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "worst customer service"

Review: Bangkok to Chiang Mai. Never fly with Thai Lion. They charge you 300 baht per Kg for your baggage. They do claim on their website the premium economy allows 20kg baggage for free, however, they don't even have premium economy seats. If you want to experience worst customer service, delayed flight, pay hundred bucks for your baggage - then fly Thai Lion.

Route: Bangkok to Chiang Mai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Firefly

Title: "cabin crews were attentive"

Review: Kota Bahru to Subang. This was my second time on Firefly, the first was the journey from SZB to KBR earlier in the day. The flight was delayed, supposed to depart at 8.45 pm, but only by 9.30 pm that the plane left the airport. Notwithstanding, the flight was okay all the way to SZB. The cabin crews were attentive and landing was smooth.

Route: Kota Bahru to Subang

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: TAG Airlines

Title: "Very friendly staff and crew"

Review: A Saab340 plane in good condition, both flights were on time. Quick check-in at airport. There was no service on the 1 hour flight. No e-check in. Very friendly staff and crew

Route: Guatemala City to Flores

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Alaska Airlines

Title: "delayed arrival of airplane"

Review: An almost 2hr delay with super clear skies because of their own reasons: delayed arrival of airplane and then waiting 50 min in the plain to get a lane to fly.

Route: San Francisco to Seattle

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: GoAir

Title: "avoid using this airline"

Review: Jaipur to Bangalore. Just before 4 days of journey, we got message that the flight got cancelled. For further processing, we tried to call their customer care numbers. But as usual, there is nobody in other side to receive the call. Now because of their worse response I am forced to book ticket in another flight by paying three times of actual cost. But still so far there is no call or mail from GoAir about apologize or sense of fault. Consider if customer is in some critical situation, how would he reach for help. As per me, if possible, we should avoid using this airline, who doesn't care for their passengers.

Route: Jaipur to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Iberia

Title: "I was sorely disappointed"

Review: Hoping for better on the return leg of this roundtrip, I was sorely disappointed. The boarding process was chaotic - everyone lined up in the jetway and then delayed as wheelchairs were wheeled slowly past us. My outbound experience with being unable to reserve a seat (the American codeshare should have entitled me to American premium economy options which Iberia ignores and wants to charge for) was repeated. Fortunately I arrived at the airport so early that I was given an aisle. As I had waited for boarding, I heard from several other travelers who had booked directly on Iberia in coach and premium economy with the same seat selection complaints and even worse: they had been assigned seats well before but were changed at the airport for no reason, even having paid the assignment fee. The food from Madrid was just as bad as from Boston. My choices were beef and pasta. I was seated in the second row of premium economy and there was only pasta after the first row of 7 people had made selections. The pasta contained some pasta and a wilted indeterminate vegetable with sauce, lots of sauce. The end-of-flight snack was equally poor - a soft roll with pressed white something in it, probably turkey but certainly not Serrano or Iberico ham. What I can say is that the flight arrived ahead of schedule, non-stop, and I was thrilled to be back home. Next time no codeshare and no Iberia.

Route: Madrid to Boston

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: " Horrendous experience"

Review: We booked the new Premium Comfort Class tickets for our flight at the time of booking. However before the flight we were told that this was no longer available and we would be seated in economy. We were not even offered extra leg room or premium economy seats but put back to basic economy. I was advised that we should claim compensation for the difference in price after the journey, which I did so. KLM have since refused our claim on the basis that we used the economy seats. What else were we meant to do as we needed to fly. I just want the difference between what we paid for Premium Comfort and what we should have paid for economy back? Customer service has been zero help in resolving this, and At one point an agent tried to claim that Premium Comfort and economy are the same class! I am now having to waste more time taking this to the ADR to try and get the money I'm owed. Absolutely terrible customer service. They knew before we flew that they would not be able to offer us premium class so the refund of the difference in cost between tickets should have been ready to go for when we got back. It has put me off ever using this airline again as they seem to think they can charge what they like and not offer what you pay for. Horrendous experience.

Route: Manchester to Bogota via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "flight experience Lufthansa was good"

Review: Our flight experience Lufthansa was good. The app was very useful and worked perfectly, we were able to check in and download boarding passes without any issues, information via the app was useful not having travelled via Frankfurt before and directions we needed to follow on arrival were of particular use. Our flights were reasonably on time and flight attendants on both legs were pleasant and attentive. We were given a small bottle of water and a tasty Lufthansa branded chocolate. Having had a large breakfast at Manchester this was all we needed.

Route: Manchester to Ljubljana via Frankfurt

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "I have not yet received compensation"

Review: A Jetstar flight was booked for me by a travel agency as part of a package from Vienna to the Cook Islands. Flying with this company was the worst experience of my travel life. The ticket was unreasonably expensive and cost 1/5 of the total amount for the entire trip. Auckland to Rarotonga was already delayed for almost 2 hours without an answer as to why. I sat in seat 1A and the seat was reasonably comfortable. After take-off, the flight proceeded normally. The food served on board the plane was bad as I expected. The flight was turbulent, but the staff handled it very well. On the flight back, they informed us that 27 pieces of baggage were not on the plane. That we don't have to worry about our baggage. I checked in 2 pieces of luggage and both were lost. I dealt with the situation at the airport in Auckland, because I flew back to Vienna on January 10, 2023. One piece of my luggage was returned to me after 42 days damaged and I had to pick it up at the Vienna airport. Everything was soaked and moldy as if it had been soaked in water for a long time. Communication with customer service is complicated and without real answers. In the e-mails, they claimed to have found the luggage and asked for the delivery address. I have not yet received compensation. Despite the increased expenses as we had to buy new winter clothes for the trip back. Not to mention damaged luggage. The second piece of lost luggage was not delivered to me and I still do not have an answer when it will be delivered to me. The only thing I can positively evaluate is the onboard staff, who are pleasant despite the total incompetence of the airline.

Route: Auckland to Rarotonga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAM Airlines

Title: "just hope things improve"

Review: London to Sao Paulo with TAM Airlines. Left London on time. Cabin staff very helpful and plane clean and comfortable. Food served for dinner and breakfast ok although only 1 alcoholic drink offered with dinner. VOD worked with latest films and water offered during the night. Arrived on time at Sao Paulo and then disaster struck, eventually informed after 1 hour wait that onward flight to Santiago would not be departing at 7.30am but 10pm. After walking around the airport and queueing for 2 hours and retrieving luggage we were eventually given vouchers for a taxi to dump of a hotel on the outskirts of Soa Paulo. Stuck there all day, no leisure facilities, industrial buildings surrounding the hotel and having to arrange hotel shuttle bus back to airport. Have several more flights booked with TAM Airlines on package holiday to South America so just hope things improve?

Route: LHR to GRU

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: US Airways

Title: US Airways customer review

Review: Our flight to Charlotte was delayed due to weather in Charlotte. The pilot and flight attendants told us there was going to be a minimum of one hour delay and probably more. They never advised us to check back every 15 minutes like they are supposed to do as I found out later. We went to get something to eat and when we came back in much less than an hour we found the plane had left without us. It also left with our valuable instruments we had gate checked! We finally convinced the customer service lady to please have somebody meet the plane and store the instruments until we could finally get there. The return trip was no better as they cancelled us from the return flight because we had missed our original flight from Phoenix. We had to fight to get back on the plane. The return flight was no better! If you fly US Air be ready to hear "We are so sorry but your flight has been delayed because of 'insert reason' and we will get you in the air as soon as possible". I heard this so many times when I was stranded in the airport in Phoenix. The flight attendants don't really care either and the whole company seems to display this kind of attitude.

Route: Bakersfield to Charlotte via Phoenix

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "flight times are also convenient"

Review: Breeze specializes in flights out of secondary markets, like my home airport of Richmond. I would probably fly them just for the direct flights to the west; being able to go directly to Arizona without needing to connect is a gamechanger. The flight times are also convenient as well - unlike JetBlue, which showed its disdain for Richmond by scheduling its (since canceled) flight from Richmond to LA at 9 PM, Breeze schedules its west coast flights so that they leave east coast mid-morning and get back before it's too late at night. But what I really like is that upgrading to their Nicest cabin with a first class seat is very reasonable - maybe $100 each way. The ability to fly nonstop and in comfort makes Breeze a winning proposition. There are some things they could do better - there's no wifi or IFE on the plane, and the flights only run twice a week, so it's not always possible to use Breeze if your schedule doesn't match up. But I hope these are growing pains that they will resolve as they continue to grow and become more successful.

Route: Richmond to Phoenix

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "Excellent price performer"

Review: Excellent price performer. Reclinable seats. New, quiet aircraft. Reasonable baggage fees (just dont go overweight). No power. Must pay for snacks. No app. No inflight entertainment or power, but thats fine for the price paid. Crew was friendly and efficient. I would like to see an app for the airline for easier access to tickets.

Route: Boston to Reykjavik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "best low cost I have used"

Review: Bangkok to Chiang Mai with Nok Air and very impressed. Definitely the best low cost I have used : 15kg luggage allowance, boarding and departure in advance as all passengers were in, brand new plane, free snack onboard and free wifi (I am making this review as we just started our descent).

Route: DMK to CNX

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "Do not purchase the insurance"

Review: Sydney to Gold Coast. Do not purchase the insurance with Chubb Insurance, the recommended insurer by Tiger. I have had the worst experience. After 9 months of being asked for more details, (receipts not efficient enough type them out) (send airline report again) and long delays. Has been the worst experience and obvious that the company has been trying to avoid or find an error which has meant they do not have to pay. I advice getting insurance elsewhere.

Route: Sydney to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "stunned about how bad this airline"

Review: Athens to Helsinki via Belgrade. Our company booked the trip trough Air Serbia website. I was travelling together with my boss and colleague who had return flights from Helsinki to Athens but I flew to (Athens) from Rome. We booked one-way ticket from Air Serbia website. After filling the payment information we got the "Trip Confirmation" to our e-mail with Confirmation code. This was only e-mail we received from Air Serbia. We printed out this document and showed it at the check in desk on 29.10.2019. They replied "there is no such booking and the aircraft is overbooked". We did not understand what they meant by "overbooked" and why a confirmed flight did not exist. There was no help at the airport to sort the situation so we called Air Serbia. They repeated "we have no such booking". For a reason or another this trip was cancelled and we never got a good answer for why. There was enough credit on the card, the trip was confirmed from the company, we had the necessary document from the confirmation but could not check in. I had to get back to Finland soonest possible and the airline did not do anything about this so my boss booked me a return ticket to the next available flight (Air Turkey) 724,51 that is quite much for a trip that should cost around 100. Later at the airport I contacted Air Serbia again and now they replied that "we can see the booking but maybe there has been some problem with Air Serbia website". They did not give any explanation about why this flight was cancelled?! Maybe because they had overbooked the plane and had to drop out someone?? I am stunned about how bad this airline handled this situation. The rest of the evaluation about the flight comes from my boss whose reservation was valid.

Route: Athens to Helsinki via Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Norwegian

Title: "we absolutely loved it"

Review: New York to London Gatwick. First time flyer with Norwegian, hopefully not the last. When I booked this flight, I read reviews after I had booked the flight and was horrified. This was for my husbands birthday. However, we absolutely loved it. The airline was prompt, clean, all the staff were courteous from check in to leaving the plane. I would totally recommend flying with them. Flying home, we bid for premium seats and we lucky enough to get them, big seats lots of leg room, attentive staff. Please ignore all the horrific reviews. They were amazing.

Route: New York to London Gatwick

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "I was treated well"

Review: I was disappointed with the staff at the counter check In at Delhi airport. However, their manager was very cooperative and helped me with my seat assignment. I was treated well by the in flight attendant and was met with all requirements. The take off and landing was very smooth. Baggage clearance was smooth. Just the check in free seats availability should be improvised and worked on: Pls keep all seats available for everyone who has booked tickets as you guys want to be an airline with a tag - affordable for all. Pls dont charge unnecessarily on extra baggage and seats .

Route: Delhi to Mumbai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "must make passengers feel secure"

Review: I flew for business from Kavala to Athens. For a domestic flight I paid the same price as for going to Paris or Frankfurt. They packed us in a tiny airplane filled with passengers. Between the arrival and its departure there was not enough time to disinfect the aircraft. During the flight some passengers had brought their own dinner on board, spending as a result almost all the flight without masks in a jam packed environment. As if this was not enough when arrived in Athens they packed us in busses in order to reach the airport. Very disappointed. If companies want to survive the pandemic in the long term, they must make passengers feel secure.

Route: Kavala to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Royal Jordanian Airlines

Title: "not good customer service"

Review: They left my luggage in Jeddah, arrived in Amman not good customer service, and they said will deliver my luggage to the hotel but lied. The next day I want pick up my luggage at the airport they make it hard. I believes if that reviewing all the service will bring improvement, especially with their human resources quality.

Route: Jeddah to Amman

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air India Express

Title: "crew surprisingly good"

Review: Trivandrum to Abu Dhabi. I am a doctor booked the ticket one week prior to my journey online. Only requirement mentioned in the ticket was check in before 3 hours. I telephoned the customer care several times on the day before the journey, busy all the time and if we get a ring the no one picks it up, wasted almost one hour in vain. On the day I had suffered like anything at the check in. Mental stress was huge. Air India staff behavior were not pleasing at all at the airport. But on board crew the on that day were surprisingly good. My experience at Abu Dhabi airport was extremely good that prompted me to write a review regarding the customer care Air India Express.

Route: Trivandrum to Abu Dhabi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "definitely fly Breeze again"

Review: My husband and I were very comfortable and happy with everything about Breeze Airways. Our flights took off and landed on time, flight attendants were very professional and kind. Will definitely fly Breeze again.

Route: New Orleans to Norfolk

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "Change the name from Pegasus to Pega-bus!"

Review: I had a flight from Manchester to Erbil via (Sabiha Gökçen airport) SAW. My flight delayed by about 12 hours at Manchester airport - then, my flight delay at my connecting point was 24 hours! My bag was not transited to the next airport, instead, I had to buy Turkish visa and then check in and out to change my bag! Worst airline ever! Change the name from Pegasus to Pega-bus! A bus is a better than this airline indeed!

Route: Manchester to Erbil

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "unbelievably bad service"

Review: Lombok to Surabaya. By far the worst airline I've ever encountered. The person checking us in didn't even look at us, she was too busy flirting with someone else. Just unbelievably bad service. Previous times I've flown Lion air have been equally as bad. Terrible customer service and the flights are nearly almost always late. I will never be flying with them again.

Route: Lombok to Surabaya

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Dragonair

Title: "crew were very attentive"

Review: Dragonair flight KA 854 from Hong Kong to Wuhan was slightly delayed. A refurbished A320-200 registration B-HSP aircraft with new smart bin and seat. An apology was made by the Captain once on board. It was a full flight. The crew were very attentive and helpful. Inflight meals were served and we were given a choice of chicken or fish. As for beverages, only coffee, tea and mineral water were available. I would suggest that a variety of juices are served too. A big thank you to the crew for their professionalism.

Route: HKG to WUH

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Alitalia

Title: "I recommend this airline"

Review: Geneva to Rome. Adorable personnel, helpful, I recommend this airline, my flight was cancelled one day ago and they allowed me to the lounge to wait, offered me breakfast and lunch.

Route: Geneva to Rome

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "crew made a good first impression"

Review: I didn't have high expectations from Malindo Air but despite this my flight was a disappointment on various fronts. New Year's Eve is not a busy time to fly and as expected the flight was only 60% full. The crew made a good first impression but the flaws started appearing early in the flight. Both lavatories had not a drop of soap in them and the crew confirmed they have no soap at all. The temperature inside the cabin was very cold and if this wasn't bad enough the air conditioning was blowing at full force. This was true even once we landed and waited to disembark. The onboard meals are reasonably priced but they come with only one a 350 ml water. The menu doesn't display prices for water bottles (only soft drinks) The cabin was clean and the crew provides good service.

Route: Mumbai to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Iberia Express

Title: "they refused to return it"

Review: I had a flight Tenerife - Madrid - Paris on 7th on June. Customer service told me I can buy additional baggage during online check-in. I did it once which cost me 40 euro. But baggage wasn't added. Okay, I called customer service again and asked why. They advised me to try again, 40 euros were withdrawn from my bank account. After that there were still no baggage in my order. I had to drive to the airport the day before my flight to buy baggage manually from the Iberia desk. Everything went good, and I finally got my baggage. But they still couldn't see two of my other attempts to buy it. So I tried to return money with the help of bank. After two months they refused to return it as they see the service as it was provided.

Route: Tenerife to Madrid

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "terrible Customer experience"

Review: Charlotte to BirminghamShuttlesworth. PSA an American Eagle operator is killing the American brand. I have been rescheduled twice today on different flight to Birmingham because planes have maintenance issues and all they do is keep moving times out .. both have been knows for hours.. and now they are saying they dont have the manpower to go get a new plane that is parked at another gate As a concierge key member of American Airlines I just wish the American leadership would start looking at these operators in American Eagle and cancel their contracts due to poor performance and terrible Customer experience. The worst I have seen in my 30 years of flying

Route: Charlotte to BirminghamShuttlesworth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Copa Airlines

Title: "frustrating in the extreme"

Review: We booked a roundtrip from Atlanta to Lima (CM881 & CM263), and Lima to Atlanta (CM338 & CM880). Both flights included a brief layover in Panama City. We also booked flights from Quito to Lima (Booking No. SP6MHI, Flights CM158 and CM337). This flight also included a brief layover in Panama City. The scheduled itinerary would've had us fly from Quito to Panama City, then from Panama City to Lima, then from Lima back to Panama City, then Panama City to Atlanta. It occurred to us that the flights from Panama City to Lima and Lima back to Panama City might be able to be skipped, so when we entered the Quito airport we spoke with a Copa Airlines desk agent about that possibility. She worked on the computer with another agent for about 15 minutes and printed our boarding passes only for Quito to Panama city and assured us that we could stay the night in Panama City and board our flight from Panama City to Atlanta in the morning. We stayed the night in Panama City as planned but when we arrived in Panama City airport this morning to board our flight to Atlanta, we were shocked to find that because we didn't board the flight from Lima to Panama City our tickets from Panama City to Atlanta had been cancelled. We had been given assurances by Copa representatives in the Quito airport the previous day that this would not happen. We spent about an hour talking with Copa representatives in Panama City about this but they were unwilling to help or honor the assurance that we were given in Quito. We were forced to pay a $535 penalty fee to re-instate our cancelled tickets to Atlanta. This is frustrating in the extreme and totally unacceptable given that we sought and were given permission and assurances in Quito that everything was in order

Route: Panama to Atlanta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Transat

Title: "dysfunctional website and app"

Review: A dysfunctional website and app that doesn't allow ticket change or booking a special meal. It leads to errors all the time. No technical support. No one answering the phone after hours of waiting and dozens of attempts. Therefore no possibilities to change my ticket or do with an agent what I can't do online. No warnings about anything, no one telling you anything. The worst airline I ever flew with.

Route: Marseille to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "unfairness of this company"

Review: Blown away with the absolute rudeness and unfairness of this company and its customer service. I brought a guitar as a carry on from Bali to Singapore with no issues on a jetstar flight. On my flight from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur, they refused to allow me to take my guitar as a carry on and required me to check it. They told me it was the previous attendants mistake on the flight from Bali. I asked for a free bag check and wrap to make sure the guitar would be safe, and they declined, and insisted I pay for their mistake. The guitar was not padded and was not ready for checking. I ended up leaving the guitar in the airport since cost of wrapping the guitar and checking it was almost as much as the guitar, and the wrapping likely would not have kept the guitar safe. The staff was incredibly rude and talked back to me when I was just trying to find a solution to my problem. Never flying with them again. Check bags are incredibly overpriced as well and the weight limit for carry on and checked bags is ludicrously low. Seats are tight and uncomfortable. We almost missed our flight from Oahu to Sydney because the staff didnt communicate that our bags were going through to Bali even though we told the first attendant that they were and she told us all was set.

Route: Singapore to Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Caribbean Airlines

Title: "good value for money"

Review: My wife and I travelled with Caribbean Airlines in August 2015 from Port of Spain to New York JFK Airport. We did not experience any problems with check in (having previously used the web check in service), the flight was on time and the staff were friendly and professional. The flight was on time. The flight experience was mostly comfortable and staff very polite. The complimentary meal was tasty and the entertainment being offered was satisfying even though, with one screen located above for every few seats, one has to strain one's neck and eyes to view it. The seating space was also a bit small and I felt there should have been a few extra inches of space between myself and the seat in front of me. Nevertheless, the flight overall was enjoyable and there were no major issues. I would definitely fly with this airline again as the cost was reasonable and the experience was good value for money.

Route: POS to JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Allegiant Air

Title: "I will never fly this airline again"

Review: My experience flying with Allegiant is my first and last. The ticket agent who checked our bag for the flight down was incredibly rude and tried to bully us into paying 50 for my carry on saying it wouldnt fit under the seat and threatened it would be 80 at the gate. My bag was smaller than many on the plane. Ended up being fine but she added a lot of stress and irritation to the flight down. Also their bag weight is 10 lbs less than almost every other airline in an effort to squeeze more money out of the passengers who are already flying this airline due to limited funds. On the flight home over thanksgiving weekend we arrived 3 hrs before boarding to reduce stress and ensure no issues getting on the flight. We waited in line for 30 minutes only to be told they would not take our bags until 2 hrs prior to check in. All other airlines are 4 hrs. I was uncomfortable with this and asked about the long line at security as well as boarding being so early and doors being closed 10 minutes before departure on way down. She said you can do priority bag check and the lines at security shouldnt be that bad. So I am currently stuck outside security with no seats, no food or drinks and stressing out as I watch the security line hoping we can rush through in time to catch our flight. We certainly wont have any time for dinner before our 8 pm flight so maybe its another way to make us spend money on the plane? Not sure but I am certain I will never fly this airline again.

Route: Ft lauderdale to Grand Rapids

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "A321 Neo was amazing and neat"

Review: With regards to terminal experience, I hope they put out a queue for those who have done online check-in in Abu Dhabi airport. I also like to express my appreciation to the airline for it's cabin crew for doing their jobs well in my recent very short flight of 1 hour. I know they had a bit of a hectic schedule since they also provided snacks during the flight given that it takes a while to serve and clean up in between take off and descent/landing. Aside from that, the A321 Neo aircraft was amazing and neat.

Route: Abu Dhabi to Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: LAN Airlines

Title: "will get a very old aircraft"

Review: After taking two more South American flights with LAN after incident reported here with loss of my suitcase etc, I can safely say LAN has a problem. The flight attendants are very friendly and the food is not bad, but ground staff is not helpful, arrogant and indifferent. But what is more worrying is that this airline is frantically buying new planes but sends its very old ones to the Lima, Bogota or Quito based local airlines. So from Lima to Miami I had a very very old 767. From seat 1A the toilet smell was pretty strong and unpleasant. So while you will travel in a lovely Boeing 787 (to USA, Australia, Europe or Brazil) if you depart Santiago, if you depart Lima or Bogota you will get a very old aircraft. The business class seat on the 767 was extremely uncomfortable, one of the worst ever.

Route: LIM to MIA

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thai AirAsia

Title: "food fresh, cabin staff professional"

Review: Even though AirAsia is not my favorite airline (because it is always more expensive than Lion Air and Thai Smile) I had no other choice to fly from Utapao to Chiang Mai. Hot seat was nice with enough legroom, food paid on board fresh and cabin staff very professional. I do not understand the meaning of priority boarding of hot seats if all passengers are boarding to the same bus.

Route: UTP to CNX

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "Onboard great service"

Review: Johannesburg to Kigali via Nairobi 5-6 Feb 2020; on Boeing 787-8 and Embraer 190. Almost on time; first flight fell 25 Minutes late. I had made a low, but successful bid for 2nd leg to be upgraded as it also gave access to Kenyas Lounge in Nairobi which is good and spacious. Ticket cheap, bought from an online travel company. Kenya Airways have reduced luggage allowance for regional flights, with Silver level in their Flying Blue FFP I eventually managed to get a 2nd, huge suitcase, added to be check-in (first one included in ticket). Check-in, transfers, and communication went fine. Onboard, great service, lots of drinks as there seem to be a Happy Hour going on at afternoon/evening flights. Whenever passengers ordered juice, beer or wine they were instantly handed double up without discussion. I love that attitude. It gives a feeling of luxury. I have experienced this before with KQ (on their Dubai route). Food was good, two options with the possibility to add up more as long stock lasted. FAs were fine. Call bells answered. Duty free sales onboard worked well. The Dreamliner is great but space provided in economy is humiliatingly small. I was lucky to have 3 seats to myself to survive lack of leg and breathing space. Pride lounge in Nairobi is a breeze and I slept well till next morning to catch last leg as being upgraded. Last leg morning flight NBO-KGL was uneventful. Of 9 business class seats (1 x 2 configuration). No complaints apart from a joke of breakfast consisting of a tired, reheated croissant. No cheese, only jam to supply. Champagne and coffee/tea given on request.

Route: Johannesburg to Kigali via Nairobi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Regional Express

Title: "We were most impressed"

Review: This was a 4 day Southwest Gourmet Tour of Tasmania. The same aircraft stayed with us the entire time. It was a great size and seemed very efficient. All staff were very friendly and professional. We were most impressed.

Route: Melbourne to King Island via Kingfisher Island

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Flair Airlines

Title: "don't care about their passengers' time"

Review: I agree with one of the reviews. They don't care about their passengers' time. Our flight was delayed for more than 5 hours. They said it was for passengers' safety, they need to do maintenance. That's a lie, probably, there flight is not full so they moved it to a later time. We need to go to Toronto just for 3 days, that's why we got the latest flight so we'll get to Toronto by 1am the next day. Take a few hours rest then start our day. But because of this, our tight schedule is even tighter now. Their website said that you'll be compensated for the meal or hotel accommodations but when I try to fill out their compensation form, there's no option for it, just rebook or refund. I was hoping to atleast get a nice hotel room while waiting for more than 5 hours so we can rest comfortably and near the airport. Their checked baggage is so expensive as well as their hand carry.

Route: Winnipeg to Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "experience is very basic!"

Review: Casablanca to Kuala Lumpur via Muscat. One of the worst airlines on the planet! Unreliable! They cancelled our flight and delayed it 2 days, no apology no nothing, they didn't even inform us, we had to check to see the change! Very bad service, it's nearly impossible to contact them, and when you do, they are extremely unprofessional, they can't help with anything but waste your time on the phone. The flight experience is very basic! All on all I don't recommend! Their prices are not that different from similar airlines like Qatar or Etihad so it's better to fly with them! You have to pay for WiFi! Even some budget airlines have free WiFi!

Route: Casablanca to Kuala Lumpur via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "the flight has been missed"

Review: Moscow to Baden-Baden. During the check-in there were no separate table for baggage drop off. Therefore, there was one queue for the people who was not registered and for the people who had been already registered. We spent 40 minutes in the queue in order to leave a baggage. According my opinion the number of staff from the air company who were involved in registering passengers was not sufficient at all. We dropped off the baggage nearly at the end of the registration to the flight, ie. it means the only 15 minutes left to go through the customs and etc. As a result the flight has been missed.

Route: Moscow to Baden-Baden

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "one of the worst airlines"

Review: AeroMexico is one of the worst airlines I've ever had to deal with. They have a horrible customer service experience. We called them regarding our flights being canceled and they refused to give us other options. They also refused to give us a refund. When they refused to give us a refund, we asked for a future credit, which they also denied. I will never book any flights through AeroMexico as they don't try to work with you in any shape or form for any cancellations or reschedules, even when things were on their end to fix. For us, our flight got cancelled due to volcanic activity in Mexico City, which I understood it was out of everyone's control. But the fact that they were unwilling to give us a credit / refund / alternative flight it's just outrageous. They essentially just kept the money. Please do yourself a favor and never book through them. Not worth the fight.

Route: Los Angeles to Ciudad Juarez

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "Terrible experience all around"

Review: The worst airline I have ever dealt with. They would not allow me to book a pre-flight bag and then charged me $80 for a bag that was slightly overweight (10 kilos). I had no choice but to pay as I was on the way to the flight. They were totally disinterested in helping. Terrible experience all around.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "awful Titan Airways aircraft"

Review: Gatwick to Dubrovnik. Booked BA but got this awful Titan Airways aircraft. Terrible. Very cramped with little legroom. Knees wedged into the back of the seat which is made of a hard plastic. Reminds me of flights from the 1980s. Seat also too short on the backrest so no head support. Worst flight I've been on for years. Certainly would not use them again. Flights were fairly expensive. Budget airline quality for BA prices.

Route: Gatwick to Dubrovnik

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "everything went smoothly"

Review: I had no delays or cancelations, everything went smoothly, and the staff was friendly. I worried that I'd have a bad experience based on other reviews, so I wanted to be sure to include a positive one on here.

Route: Charleston, SC to Providence, RI

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Hawaiian Airlines

Title: "flight's service was appalling"

Review: I flew to Hawaii from Las Vegas on Hawaiian Airlines. Only the ticketing and customer service are excellent. The flight's service was appalling. There was no options for vegetarian and vegan. I just napped on the plane from Honolulu to Las Vegas while they served dinner. They didn't bother to call me. When I inquired about food after 5 minutes, they abruptly informed me that no food will be served at this time. The strangest thing is that if I purchase with a credit card, they would deliver the food. This is inexcusable. During the journey, I only received a small amount of juice. The flight attendant was quite haughty and unprofessional. In general, they treat passengers as though they are travelling free of cost. In the future, I would not fly with Hawaiian Airlines.

Route: Honolulu to Las Vegas

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "will never fly this airline again"

Review: This airline is a joke. I have a disabled child and our passports havent scanned properly anywhere in Europe and because I didnt check in online I was charged $150! Of course they close online check-in 3 hours before. I will never fly this airline again. Flyers beware.

Route: Venice to London

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Ryanair

Title: "Ryanair cabin crew makes me worried as a passenger"

Review: Ryanair cabin crew makes me worried as a passenger, they seem to be under enormous pressure, anxious, worried, sometimes with unnecessarily alarmed speech, other times with too slow or prostrate diction. The company tries to save on everything even when the passenger asks for a simple receipt for the service provided. The Irish authorities need to be brought to the attention of the EU to comply with consumer rights, particularly in terms of taxation. While Ryanair is largely responsible for stimulating the local economy, the social, tax and environmental cost is also very high. I will continue to complain to the Portuguese Tax Authority for this company to fulfil its obligations, not least because it is very keen to take advantage of national financial funds when available. Boarding on time, unfriendly crew and dirty planes.

Route: Madeira to Lisbon

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "great value for money"

Review: My wife and I flew Melbourne to Kuala Lumpur with Air Asia X on an Airbus A330. We were in Premier Flex which includes what is called a hot seat in the front row of the child free quiet zone, priority check in, boarding and exiting, 20kg baggage, one hot meal and a bottle of water. Any thing else you pay for. Left and arrived on time, crew fine. Great value for money.

Route: MEL to KUL

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Serbia

Title: "horrible customer service"

Review: Because of the airline horrible customer service i am left stranded in NY, having to purchase a ticket with another airline to be able to make it to Serbia. My connection was in NY, and I was erroneously informed at check-in to pickup my luggage in NY, which was not the case since the luggage went directly into the plane to Belgrade. I reached out to the customer service and informed them i will make it to the flight, even though will be close, however they decided not to work with me. I wanted to extend my appreciation to the TSA personnel in NY, who were willing to let me through expeditiously through security , and to let Air Serbia know that I will not fly with them again.

Route: New York to Belgrade

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "They delay for no reason"

Review: American has literally managed to screw every one of my family members on three separate occasions. They delay for no reason. And when they delay, it is so excessive that connecting flights are missed. Do not fly American, you will regret it. It cost me $830 to rebook with another airline. I only got a refund of $300. Worst experience ever. My son is now going to be stuck in New York because of their stupid delays.

Route: Cleveland Ohio to Portland Maine

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Aeromexico

Title: "the most miserable travel experience"

Review: This is my 5th flight I've taken with Aeromexico. (All within the same itinerary). Currently, waiting for my 6th flight and I don't have high hopes. I had to take 3 one way tickets to fulfill a wedding schedule. LAX to MEX to GTO GTO to MEX to Cancun Cancun to MEX to LAX This airline was not on time once. 5 flights ALL delayed. And I'm sure the 6th will be as well. Apparently the only flight to leave on time was my connection back to LA from Mexico City. 2.5hr delay LAX to MXC 1.5hr delay MXC to GTO 3hrs delay GTO to MXC 2hr delay GTO to Cancun (resulted in a missing my first day at the resort) 1hr delay Cancun to MXC (resulted in a missed connection) My first 2 flights were First Class, the 3rd Economy. The staff is friendly enough, but the food is atrocious. In Cancun, once I finally arrived after being delayed leaving GTO and MEX, my suitcase did not come out until near the end of the baggage, even though it should have been priority as I was First Class. I am assuming it's because the priority tag was ripped; but I feel that the Ground Staff should know what their Priority tags looks like. All and all, I will never fly this airline again. This was the most miserable travel experience I have ever experienced.

Route: Cancun to Los Angeles via Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: BA CityFlyer

Title: "stress free experience"

Review: BA Cityflyer from London City to Madrid. Stress free experience from online check-in to arrival. No departure or arrival delays, 15 minutes early landing at Madrid Barajas. Comfy seats, good complimentary sandwich and several drinks runs: we had a couple of wines each, bottled water and coffee. Very competent mixed British / Spanish cabin crew had a smile and a friendly word.

Route: LCY to MAD

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Nok Air

Title: "I was disappointed"

Review: Flew Nok Air from Phuket to Bangkok. No priority at all. This time I was disapointed. I tried for the first time their premium seats. As from the banner to their web site they offer priority check in, boarding and baggage. In Phuket airport no special counter for premium. No priority boarding at all. Seat was ok with enough leg room. Aircraft as usual dirty outside but clean inside. Nice and gentle staff inflight but its true that they do not smile anymore as once upon a time. Snack improved. Extra coffee or tea as premium. No priority baggage at all. I took my bag last after 40 mins. Nice surprise the Wi-Fi. Recommend? Yes for the leg room in premium seats (if to the first row or next to emergency exit) and Wi-Fi. No for the rest.

Route: HKT to BKK

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Titan Airways

Title: "smooth and uneventful"

Review: A very professional outfit. Kept fully informed when flight from Gatwick diverted to Grenoble as a result of security alert at Chambéry. Both flights with Titan Airways smooth and uneventful with excellent landings. A welcome change to have pleasant and obliging service from cabin crew and informative announcements from the flight deck.

Route: LGW to CMF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: SilkAir

Title: "service is quite good"

Review: Singapore to Bandung. I call SilkAir "premium-lowfare" because my base is in South East Asia, so my choice is SilkAir rather than AirAsia for low cost. The service is quite good, seat comfort is standard, the entertainment is accessible on your own device, and they served food too. The cabin crew also nice.

Route: SIN to BDO

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Silver Airways

Title: "I would never recommend this company"

Review: The first flight was over two hours late, getting to our destination. On the way back home., the flight was two hours late departed the gate again. Where I was finding out about the rescheduling, the girl at the desk was very rude, and did not seem to know what she was talking about. When we got on the flight, everything seemed Okay, to about the halfway point to our destination. Then the power came. The intercom said that if the disability was too bad too land, then, the plane would have to turn around and head to Tampa. As we arrived into Tallahassee, they started to descend the aircraft. Then all of a sudden they brought the aircraft back up again in a very jerking movement. Then they got back on the intercom and said that the plane would be diverted back to Tampa. Then I asked flight attendant, would they arrange hotel accommodations for everybody since we had to turn around? She said they would take care of the hotel combinations and then get everybody back on the plane, for the next day. As we arrived in Tampa pilot got back on the intercom, and made the announcement that the plane would leave you in Tampa, then head back to Fort Lauderdale. I asked the pilot and another flight attendant about the hotel accommodations, and they said that, they will not be responsible for hotel accommodations or to arrange for the return home flight. We would have to make all the accommodations ourselves. Those who want to get off in Tampa when they were refueling, would go ahead and get off the plane. And those who wanted to go back to Fort Lauderdale, would just stay on the plane. There were other major problems problems when we arrived inside the building. The ground crew told us, that we had three choices to make. Either get back on the plane and go to Fort Lauderdale. Or we stay in Tampa, and take our chances and fly out the next day on a flight that could only seat 56 people and they were already at least 30 people who decided to get off the flight. And, the last choice was., go back inside and go to the desk and request a refund for the meaning of the trip. They said, if you purchased your ticket through a website that was not the airlines website, then they would put a reference on your account, so is the agency where you bought your ticket from, can see it, and they can apply the refund. Once we got inside, we were told that those who bought tickets off of another website, would not get a reference on our account for them. Every bit of information that weve been told, what is wrong. They have no idea what theyre doing as a company they should not even be in business. Weve also had other problems with the company in other areas that they told me something and it was the wrong information also. Itll be the last time I ever step foot on their aircraft again. I would never recommend this company.

Route: Tallahassee to Ft Lauderdale

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "it was a dreadful journey"

Review: Manchester to Barbados. Disappointed before we started. Tried to change seats using online system 1 week before, which was not possible. We were advised to do this when we arrived at the airport, which we did. My husband suffers with back problems and for long journeys need extra leg room. We were told he could have a seat with additional leg room which cost £70. We were told if you book in advance it is a lot cheaper. The seats were uncomfortable and did not recline. There were additional charges for upgraded films as well as the necessary earphone. We have never had to pay additional charges for these facilities on the many other long haul flights we have done. There were also charges for drinks and despite pre booking a vegetarian meal, I was told I will have wait to see if there is one available. I was made to feel a nuisance. It was a dreadful journey. Before leaving Barbados my husband, as advised tried to pre book a seat with additional leg room. Again this was not easy and had to ring the following day. After 23 minutes of being on the phone he was told it would cost £65 which we refused to pay. As with the outbound journey, there were available seats, including seats with extra leg room which others were offered once airborne despite asking before the flight took off. Flying with Thomas Cook was no better than flying with a budget airline which is not acceptable for long haul flights. We will not be travelling with Thomas Cook again..

Route: MAN to BGI

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

Title: "Low quality airline"

Review: Low quality airline, always delayed, small seats, no communication about delays. Takes up to 8 months to get a voucher after a delay.

Route: Bangkok to Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "changed their schedule frequently"

Review: Had a booking for a direct flight and they changed their schedule frequently and even took money for direct flight and converted with lay over of 6 hours. I do not suggest to go with Go First. Slogan needs to change to Go Last and Nottogo.

Route: Mumbai to Phuket

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Asia

Title: "a disappointing experience"

Review: Flew on 3K664 from Kuala Lumpur back to Singapore with Jetstar Asia. I purchased this ticket for its cheap price, but I think I made a big mistake. I can say that this airline has entered my avoid list. It is so much worse than AirAsia which I have always flown and relied on, and I think even Tigerair is more enjoyable on this short flight. The boarding process was extremely chaotic and unorganized. The cabin and windows were extremely dirty, I can imagine the cabin will look very dull if it is a night flight. All the onboard refreshments are overpriced and the cabin crews always advertising the different services. I will never fly with Jetstar Asia again after such a disappointing experience.

Route: KUL to SIN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Cubana Airlines

Title: Cubana Airlines customer review

Review: On the way to Cuba, the wait time was two hours for check-in. Baggage took an hour to arrive as well. On my return flight, I showed up 3 hours early as recommended for my 6am flight. We stood waiting until 5am when they told us the plane was delayed until 9pm. I had a flight at 8pm that night and asked for a refund. So many things went wrong with this flight but the customer service or lack of was ridiculous. I arrived to Mexico city at midnight and ended up having to purchase another ticket out of pocket for the flight I missed.

Route: Habana to Mexico City

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Eurowings

Title: "Absolutely shocking"

Review: A colleague and I flew with EuroWings on Flight EW9331 from Birmingham to Dusseldorf on 17th June 2022. After we had been on the aircraft for about 30 minutes, we were told we would be leaving for our destination without our luggage. We were travelling for a week of business in Dusseldorf. Inside the cases was not only our clothes, but personal effects, laptop chargers, business cards and everything you could imagine when travelling to a business exhibition. Once we arrived at Dusseldorf, we could not do anything about our luggage at the time as it was nearly midnight and the only people on duty were cleaning staff. The aircrew and this was a Baltic Airlines flight simply told us to see customer service, and this we had asked details of as we got off the flight. They did not pass a single piece of information to any passenger unless they asked. On Saturday 18th June we returned to Dusseldorf airport and sought out the help of the EuroWings customer services team. We were then told to go to building P3 (lost and found) and search for our cases, which were clearly not there. We returned to customer services, gave all our details (email, mobile telephone numbers, the hotel name and address we were stopping at and kept a record of the reference we were given. We were told that the luggage would be transported to Dusseldorf on the next available flight from Birmingham and not just the next available Eurowings flight, which we knew would be in the evening of 19th June. We had colleagues booked onto this flight as well. Despite having our contact details we received no email, text message or telephone call throughout the weekend. We then had to go shopping for alternative clothes and basic essentials such as toiletries. My colleague and I tried calling several times on Saturday and Sunday from 6am onwards (once we had purchased a phone charger), but the telephone number for Eurowings customer services in Dusseldorf constantly rang without being answered. We both tried calling for about an hour before giving up. Our colleagues were asking about the luggage before they boarded their flight on 19th June but staff at Birmingham were unaware that there had been an issue on the Friday night flight. My colleague and I then returned at 6.45am on Monday 20th June to the customer services at EuroWings in Dusseldorf airport. My colleague stayed at customer services while I went to search for our luggage, again in building P3. When I got to building P3 I was told our luggage was still logged on the computer system as being in Birmingham, UK. We were finally shown to the luggage belts airside where our luggage was waiting, along with a lot more abandoned luggage. I have contacted Eurowings customers service three times via the online contact form and have heard nothing back at all. The online check for whether we are entitled to compensation or not cannot be done as this flight was operated by Baltic Airlines, and I am told we have to wait to be contacted by Eurowings. Absolutely shocking, not only in the service from the company themselves, but to not receive a reply from contacting them three times since my return to the UK is appalling. Will never, personally or business wise, use this airline again. Shame I cannot give a 0 on the overall rating.

Route: Birmingham to Dusseldorf

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "far below standard expected"

Review: I recently flew with Thomas Cook Airlines to and from Barbados from Gatwick Premium Economy with my wife in seat 5F/5G. I paid £300 pp. I have never had such an awful pair of flights. I have to say the staff were great but the food was terrible with plastic cutlery. The extras ie earphones were disgrace and in general the whole experience was far below the standard expected for this service. I have traveled using Thomson/Tui and found them to be at a different level of service and comfort. This is a sad reflection to the airline and was never worth the money,

Route: Barbados to Gatwick

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Oman Air

Title: "They postponed the refund process"

Review: In January 2020, I bought two round trip tickets from Istanbul to Manila for December 2020. They cancelled the flights and promised me a full refund. They postponed the refund process, wasted my time and energy by employing different time-consuming tactics. Finally, they promised me a refund exactly one year after the issue of the ticket, which was due last January the 21st. It did not happen. What they did was to ask for additional documents. I am disappointed by the way they treated me during this process.

Route: Istanbul to Manila via Muscat

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Cathay Dragon

Title: "Very spacious and good IFE"

Review: Phuket to Hong Kong. New terminal in Phuket and it is much better than before. Spacious and airy. I missed the earlier Thai Airways flight and they directed me to the Cathay Dragon counter. The staff was sympathetic but asked me to buy a ticket online instead of directly from them as it would be cheaper and it was indeed of very good value. Check in was done quickly as I was very early for that flight. The ground staff also told me not to go inside too early as the lounge they use was not 'up to the usual standard' as the proper one wasn't open yet. Very honest and good advice as I found out later, it was merely a cordoned off area. The flight was full but boarding was orderly with priorities well respected. Smiley flight attendants greeted all passengers and the economy class seats were the same as their bigger brother Cathay Pacific. Very spacious and good IFE. Once level off, the crew immediately served a hot dinner. It consisted of a ham, potato and cheese salad (too creamy) and a chicken curry rice which was served piping hot and very delicious. They came round with ice cream and tea later. The whole meal service took less than 40 minutes - very efficient. Call bells were answered promptly and the flight attendants were kept very busy on this full flight. Landing was on time but parked at the far end of the terminal. Despite that, it took 25 minutes from disembarkation to collect bags to boarding the airport express train.

Route: Phuket to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air Canada

Title: "No remediation or assistance"

Review: Frankfurt to Toronto was over 1 hour late arriving. Scheduled for 1915hrs actual was 2030hrs. Air Canada (AC) knew this would cause EVERY USA bound connecting flights to be missed because the US Customs would be closed before we could get off the plane. Not to mention the sheer distance between our gate and customs would require landing at least 15 minutes minimum before closing to even try to reach customs before closing. No announcement that we would be stuck in Toronto. No offer of assistance to get us re-booked on a flight after Customs opened again at 0410hrs the next day. No help desk at the airport that apparently CAN help us. 2030hrs When arriving at the closed US Customs the security guy said, "we're closed. come back at 0430 when we reopen" When I told him that we had connecting flights to catch, he said "Welcome to Canada please go downstairs and go through Canada immigration." I thought that meant we could go through that process and still make our flights, but turns out he was actually welcoming us to Canada as we were stuck there tonight and weren't going to make our connecting flight. We were actually told to talk to the person at the desk when you get off the elevator for additional information but that turned out to be a grumpy older man telling us he's not there to help anyone, just go through the line over there. Which was Canadian Customs and Immigration. Several flights were cancelled on the same night to the US. AC claimed would be handled automatically and notified via email about their new flights, but since my connecting flight still left as scheduled but without me or my family, it wasn't like that situation for us and we didn't get automatically rebooked for the next possible flights via email. Waited in the luggage location line for about 45 minutes about our luggage to be sure it wasn't going to the US without us. After learning the luggage was staying in Toronto, they said it would be safer to keep it in 'the system' and get the luggage assigned to your new flight and it will make it there. Otherwise it would take HOURS to locate and get them to us and we would have to check it back into the system anyways once we were rebooked. This was actually true in the end. We asked around for help and were directed by announcement to follow the "connections" signs to get help there. After waiting a while, that staff was clearly overwhelmed and actually started yelling at the customers about how they were NOT going to help anyone about rebooking or vouchers or anything. The line started getting very long when the staff started shouting over the public address, "we are only two people here and we are not going to help anyone get rebooked, or hotel vouchers, or meal vouchers. You need to go upstairs where there are 15 people up there to help you. That turned out to be a lie. We followed the instructions, which ended up being the ticket counters on the departure floor, but eventually were yelled at again by a queen bee in charge stating that their only job is to help people check into their flights and since we didn't have any flights to board as our flight left without us, it was NOT their job to help us get rebooked. No remediation or assistance was given as to how we could resolve the situation either. I tried asking the special assistance table how I might get help and, after explaining our situation, she told us to go to the other area of ticketing counters for my spec

Route: Frankfurt to Atlanta via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: PLAY

Title: "wide seats and ample leg room"

Review: The plane was quite comfortable with wide seats and ample leg room. I prefer Plays planes that Ive flown 6 times so far over the more compact seating. The overhead compartment is also nice and large. I would like a hard cider on the menu but I have had canned soda and a canned vodka seltzer drink. The soda was flat but the vodka seltzer was really good. The crew is very pleasant. Our flight back to BWI was moved up due to weather and it was very windy. There was a minor maintenance item that held us up for 10-15 minutes and then we rocked our way into the sky. I don't mind that there are no seat screens or power outlets. I downloaded my own movies and used my phone and own headphones on the plane.

Route: Keflavik to Baltimore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Xiamen Airlines

Title: "new and fresh airline"

Review: Los Angeles to Seoul via Xiamen. We booked this airline because 3 of us could go round trip for the price of 1 major carrier! Such a deal - R/T LAX to ICN (Seoul Korea) for $450 per person! If you are not Asian or don't like Asian food - please pack your own food. Found this airline to be just as professional, efficient, and friendly to fly with. Our flight did have to go thru 2 Chinese ports of entry (Qingdao & Xiamen). The flight was very comfortable due to the new airplane (Boeing 787-9). I noticed the increased air pressure (6000 ft elevation) and increased humidity did not dry me out and felt good at the end of 14 hours in flight. The flight staff was very courteous, attentive, and tried their best with English but Google translate came in handy to communicate. Wifi was available but not very good - too many people using it and not enough bandwidth for streaming. Food was good - 2 hot meals and 2 cold snacks in-between kept you full and satisfied. Very Chinese cuisines on all 4 legs of the flight (2 international, 2 domestic). Just remember, the airline is Chinese and therefore will serve Chinese food - don't expect Panda Express type food like the US. The food is primarily pork based with some fish, chicken or beef offering. If you elect vegetarian or muslim or any other special needs food, make sure you request this 24 hours before your flight. I saw some western folks unhappy with seeing unfamiliar Chinese food being served on a Chinese airline - I had to chuckle watching them eat the bread and desert for their meals. The only issue which is not the airline's fault was going thru Chinese immigration. We did not have a Chinese visa which is normally required for landing in China, but 50+ countries can "transit" thru China if you can prove your final destination is outside of China. The government issues a temporary transit visa for those that are going thru the country - it's good for 24 hours. At our 2 hr layover for refueling, Qingdao was the worst - they scrutinized and held up the entire non Chinese group of passengers looking for errors & past problems. They pulled 2 passengers out of the group for failing to register with a local Chinese police agency the last time they were in China. Military uniformed people surrounded them making you feel like you are in a communist country.... The airline staff was very good at preparing you for Chinese immigration - having your itinerary with you, boarding pass with correct name spelled, etc. Landing at Xiamen was much easier and nicer immigration folks. We even had time to visit the First class airport lounge using our Amex Plat card. Return trip was good and we even had an overnight layover and the airline provided a hotel for the night at no cost which was nice. We did have to pay the taxi rides both ways so remember to bring some Chinese Yuan (RMB) currency. We got to also go on a tour of the city on a double decker sightseeing bus that took us all around the perimeter of the island. Overall, a very nice new and fresh airline to fly with for many Asian countries.

Route: Los Angeles to Seoul via Xiamen

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Thomson Airways

Title: "forget all the hype"

Review: Cancun to Manchester on Thomson Airways B787 Dreamliner - this aircraft should have been called the sardinliner. Forget all the hype - they still shoe horn you in your seat and slap a nice review of how much legroom you've got. On takeoff, in the window seats water drips down from a corrugated air channel above your head and you can actually see were people have stuffed paper towels into the vents. As for the mood lighting and bigger dimming windows I don't understand the hype. Inflight entertainment and free drinks but Thomson pale into insignificance compared to Virgin - I hope I never have to fly on sardinliner ever again.

Route: CUN to MAN

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Interjet

Title: "had a very bad experience with Interjet"

Review: Me and my family had a very bad experience with Interjet. We were going to fly to Mexico but the airline did not let us. They changed our flight and later they also said they were not flying anymore and gave us a voucher to fly in the future. Up until today we have not being able to fly and have been like this for almost a year. The worst part is that once the voucher expires, we will lose our money, Interjet will not be responsible for giving us an extension and they will keep our money.

Route: San Francisco to Guadalajara

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "two pleasant domestic flights"

Review: Chicago OHare Dallas Fort Worth return in Economy (Main cabin). Self Check-in in Chicago and Dallas were fast and efficient with helpful staff. Both flights were delayed, the first one 1.5 hours, the second one 20 minutes. Onboard experience was fine: FA's were friendly, cabin was clean and in a good condition. Seats in A321 were comfortable, but in 737 they felt much smaller when someone is sitting next to you. Inflight WIFI worked well with great entertainment options on your own device. There was also one free drink and snack service (cookies or pretzels) on each flight. I thought I had to pay for alcoholic drinks, but to my surprise I got a free beer. Overall I had two pleasant domestic flights except the delays.

Route: Chicago O'Hare to Dallas Fort Worth

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Saudi Arabian Airlines

Title: "different impression between first and second leg"

Review: Once again different impression between first and second leg. Lahore airport is old, a lot of security, a little bit disorganized, Checking counter staff was kind and once again she put us in the row with big leg-room. The boarding gate area is a mess, no priority lines. Its like the wild west and after passing the boarding pass control another security control in the finger just before get onto the plane. So delayed, one hour. Lahore-Jeddah, B-777, in ECO, totally full, majority of passengers were pilgrims to Jeddah. Service on board - this time there were no amenity bag for red eye flight. I had bad luck with the pax next to me, big and his arm reached over my side, that was very uncomfortable. I didn't eat nor watch any movies, just slept or tried to. Flight attendants attitude was totally different, less kind. Transfer in Jeddah, this time was better, because there were hardly any people so it was very fast. Jeddah-Amsterdam, B-787 upgraded by bidding system (paid 370 eu.) and totally worth to pay it, totally different business class than Jeddah - Lahore. Nice seat, comfy. A plus, chef on board. Amenity bag from Missoni. Nothing can compare with Emirates or Qatar Business.

Route: Lahore to Amsterdam via Jeddah

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "the most clown show boarding"

Review: Arrived with excess time, boarding was called and everyone rushed and got in line. A bunch of people had priority but there was no designated lane for priority nor was there anyone working aside from the gate to ask where to go. Some people waited in the spot that the sign said for priority but they were ignored. So they pushed past the line of everyone else and the gate agent helped them next. Which meant the rest of us with priority were left wondering if we should do the same? Chances are half of us had priority and it would feel fair to cut in line because of that. When I asked about where priority was supposed to have been as I was boarding, the lady just shrugged with an exasperated look. It was the most clown show boarding Ive ever seen. Luckily there was still overhead space but I imagine many priority passengers had a hard time finding space. It shouldnt be hard to make an announcement to explain what to do. Good news is the plane departed on time, shockingly but it was still an overpriced 1 hour direct flight at almost $150 with one carryon and a personal item.

Route: Catania to Tirana

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Singapore Airlines

Title: "really nice for a sub 2-hour flight"

Review: The Silver Kris Lounge at SIN T3 was big and nice. However, finding good seating during peak time was still challenging. The lounge offered good selection of food including Western, Chinese and local options. The flight was on SQ regional A350-900, which has similar flatbed seats as other premium airlines' long-haul equipment. That was really nice for a sub 2-hour flight. In-flight food service was very nice for such a short flight.

Route: Singapore to Ho Chi Minh

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Air France

Title: "service in business class was horrible"

Review: The food and service in business class was horrible. For the dinner flight we were served a tasteless, overcooked and fatty piece of pork and the next morning the staff on the left side of the aircraft failed to serve several business class passengers, including me, our breakfast! Instead they stood in the front of the section talking to people and then cleaning up their trays before the rest of us had even been served! During the flight they never came around offering us any water. We had to go the galley and request it.

Route: Miami to Paris

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Scoot

Title: "I can't fault Scoot"

Review: Seated in window seat 23K, Flight number TR606, January 8th 930am flight from Singapore to Bangkok. The plane was spotless, and passengers were well spread out. Maybe 15% full. I was on an SQ ticket so I got the meal: a chicken lemak, with a bottle of water, and some chocolate brownies for a sweet. It was delicious; I've had a few nasi lemak on Air Asia, and this was much better. The chicken came in a rich and unctuous sauce, with the right level of spice, the ikan belis was delicious, there was a generous portion of rice. After a near 5 hour transit at Changi I needed that. I mentioned the cabin was immaculate. I gave Scoot a tough review back in early 2019, but that was pre Covid and it was a long haul from Singapore to Berlin. I'm still of the opinion that for long haul you need a modicum of comfort. For this flight though, less than 2 hours from Singapore to Bangkok, I can't fault Scoot. Good job. I came from Melbourne to Singapore on SQ, on an Airbus A350, so I can make a immediate comparison with the Boeing 787. I prefer the 787, the cabin feels more spacious, the wing is more elegant.

Route: Singapore to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "quality of food was lamentable"

Review: A very disappointing experience and Gulf Air has deteriorated greatly since I used it regularly 5 to 10 years ago. Cabin crew were reasonably polite but not particularly helpful and couldn't solve any issue. The quality of food was lamentable. Even though my flight via Singapore was very long and at night, no blankets or pillows were available. Toilets were dirty and cabin crew did not seem at all concerned to keep them clean. Gulf Air seems to have become on a par with the most basic budget airlines.

Route: Dubai to Bangkok via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Air India

Title: "Such a bad experience"

Review: My flight was scheduled from Amritsar to Delhi and from Delhi to New York. The flight was delayed to the point that every passenger missed their connecting flights. On top of this I had another flight from New York to Vancouver the next day which I missed and had to book a new flight for 400$. I talked to the airline staff and they said that the flight to Vancouver is not with their airline so they couldn't provide me any compensation. They didn't even care to look for any other flights from Amritsar to Delhi to help the passengers catch their connecting flights. Such a bad experience that I'll never travel with this airline in future no matter what. e.

Route: Amritsar to New York via Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia India

Title: "Awesome polite cabin crew"

Review: Great fares. Excellent ground staff who calls you to let you know gate is closing. Awesome polite cabin crew. Comfortable seats. Excellent service. Good food.

Route: Bangalore to Kochi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vietnam Airlines

Title: "seat was very comfortable"

Review: LHR to HCMC in Premium Economy. Seat configuration was 2-3-2 on the B787 and as we were travelling in a group of 3 so had chosen the middle three seats. Legroom was good for Premium Economy and better than we had experienced in either BA or EVA. Although the plane was only around 5 years old, the interior seemed slightly tired and some of the seat recline functions were very stiff, however the seat was very comfortable. The flight left on time and drinks service followed by lunch was soon served. Food was ok, I chose the braised codfish with noodles, which was tasty. Inflight entertainment worked well and with reasonable selection. Flight landed on time and luggage delivered quickly. We paid £500 extra over economy for LHR to HCMC return, which we thought good value.

Route: London Heathrow to Ho Chi Minh City

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: easyJet

Title: "never had a problem with any other airline"

Review: I have always travelled worldwide with my hand luggage suitcase, I have even worked for an airline and I have never had a problem with any other airline. My actual suitcase was brought as hand luggage dimensions requirements, only to find when boarding my flight from Manchester to Ibiza, a man, was standing where we pass with the boarding pass holding a credit card machine and stopping everyone with a hand luggage that didn't fit in which looked like a child size baggage gauge and apparently easyJet don't allow the wheels or handles to be included in the dimensions stated on their site. I wasn't the only one questioning this it looked like an easy money racketeering business going on threatening passengers that they cannot board until they have paid.

Route: Manchester to Ibiza

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Pegasus Airlines

Title: "didn't offer any free drink or snack"

Review: Beirut to Istanbul. We left at 6 in the morning. We stayed around 2 hours flight to Istanbul, they didn't offer us any free drink or snack. All drinks and snacks are priced in euros. While they can at least offer us a free cup of coffee or tea.

Route: Beirut to Istanbul

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Thai Airways

Title: "Im very disappointed"

Review: Ive grown tired of this airline now. Ive flown in total 6 long haul flights with them and the quality of the product is extremely poor. Every single flight has been completely different, not for the good. The cabin crew arent polite, you are very much seen as an inconvenience. The food was terrible. The breakfast on the flight was the worst Ive ever had. Inflight entertainment is poor, small random selection of films/tv programmes to watch. I was flying with Thai Airways purely because they are direct. However I will now avoid them. Im very disappointed. Only positive is the direct flight.

Route: London to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Volotea

Title: "love traveling with Volotea"

Review: Asturias to Seville. I love traveling with Volotea, I fly with them frequently, especially the trip from Asturias to Seville. What I like the most is the quality-price ratio they have. The stewardess are very friendly, and they always help you with your luggage and the flight is always short.

Route: Asturias to Seville

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Aerolineas Argentinas

Title: "aircraft in very good condition"

Review: Check in was flawless, aircraft in very good condition but rather small for a three hour red eye flight; on other positive aspect, flight was scheduled for 0150 am but departed around 50 min ahead of time, which is not always desirable specially when People are meeting you at destination airport But what the heck, would you rather be late?

Route: Santa Cruz to Buenos Aires

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Garuda Indonesia

Title: "I was impressed by the service provided"

Review: Flew on the GA863 from Sorong to Jakarta. Check in and boarding process was well organised. Got the usual warm Garuda welcome when boarding. I ordered a special meal and I had no need to remind the cabin crew as it was presented to me when they were serving the meals. I have flown Garuda many times, mainly in premium class, however I was impressed by the service provided in economy class and the cabin crew came around several times offering soft drinks, tea and coffee. Overall good flight and service.

Route: Sorong to Jakarta

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Vistara

Title: "I had missed my flight"

Review: I had missed my flight due to service from the check-in team. For a flight of 8am, I was in the check-in line, having done mobile check-in earlier, before 6:45am. However, the check-in process took more than 30 min. By then, the person at the counter had refused to take my luggage and suggested that I just try 'my luck' by taking my luggage through security. I has asked in case the team can help me with security or thereafter through buggy. He said he can't help with either and this service was offered later once I missed my flight.

Route: Delhi to Kolkata

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Canada rouge

Title: "disappointing customer service"

Review: Los Angeles to Warsaw via Toronto. Really disappointing customer service - when they ran out of hot tea in my aisle, I had to ask for it couple times and still didnt get it. I was shocked, this attitude is something that cannot be explained. Little leg room, old aircraft, no entertainment in seats and bad experience. No snacks included on a 5,5h flight to San Francisco, meals served only on Europe to Canada flight. Tickets werent cheap and thats why all those mentioned things were more than frustrating.

Route: Los Angeles to Warsaw via Toronto

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: CSA Czech Airlines

Title: "not really an on-line check-in"

Review: Copenhagen to Prague. The airline is offering on-line check-in which is not really an on-line check-in as you have to get your ticket at the baggage counter. This is a big step back as I have travelled a couple of times with this airlines the same route (Copenhagen to Prague) and before August it was possible to save your ticket to your phone wallet or print it at home. Moreover, the staff is rude and always has troubles with some people's cabin baggage even though the cabin storage room is completely empty.

Route: Copenhagen to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Porter Airlines

Title: "Seats not that clean"

Review: Toronto City to Montreal. Flight was late departing. No option to select seat at check in (only for a fee). Over the years this airlines meals have decreased from a sandwich into a pack of almonds. Seats were not that clean and it smelled bad (my seat was near the bathrooms).

Route: Toronto City to Montreal

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Moldova

Title: "they remain silent"

Review: Air Moldova are hiding behind 'flight cancelled for safety reasons' to avoid delay compensation for a faulty engine leading to a 3 day delay which requires compensation to be paid under UK law. Despite numerous emails they remain silent on this matter.

Route: Stansted to Chisinau

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: La Compagnie

Title: La Compagnie customer review

Review: Fantastic airline featuring Business Class only seats, flying from Luton to Newark. We paid about £900 each return, cheaper than BA economy on the dates we flew. It is a small airline but one of the best flights I've had. It's not going to compete with the likes of Qatar Airways but you can't beat the value. The seats aren't completely lie flat but the seat pitch is 60" and very acceptable. The staff were exceptional and the experience was like being a guest on a small family outing. They couldn't do enough to help and we were really impressed. I hope they succeed.

Route: Luton to Newark

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Breeze Airways

Title: "The staff was friendly"

Review: Pleasantly surprised at how nice our trip was on Breeze Airways. The plane seemed newer than other planes we had been on. The staff was friendly. The flight was smooth with no delays. We will be flying with them again.

Route: Orlando to Charleston

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Lion Air

Title: "not book a fight with you ever again"

Review: Jakarta to Bali. Despite the dire reviews, my wife and I booked flights from Jakarta to Bali with this airline. Flight departure time was supposedly 5.55pm. At 5.25pm, the posted boarding time, nothing happened. Passengers shuffled their feet hopefully, then at 5.40 an announcement came. Due to operational reasons the flight would be delayed by 2 hours! So we went back through security and got something to eat. Then 1.5 hours later, we negotiated security again and arrived at the gate - and there was a further 1 hour delay. But the man behind the desk couldn't even guarantee that and so we left and caught a taxi back home, weekend ruined. Thanks you Lion Air, we shall not book a fight with you ever again. I knew this review will make no real difference to the shoddy way they treat their passengers, but if just one person decides not to book with them and instead goes with Garuda (like we should have done) then my job here is done.

Route: Jakarta to Bali

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: FlySafair

Title: "option to purchase priority is an absolute scam"

Review: Overall a comfortable flight but extremely frustrated that I paid for priority check in and boarding and received neither on both our flight there and back! Feel ripped off and like the option to purchase priority is an absolute scam. Still had to wait in all the queue both at the check-in counters and on boarding the flights. If you can't deliver the service, don't offer it and certainly don't charge your customers for it. I had 2 other passengers with me who I also paid priority for. What a waste!

Route: Johannesburg to Durban

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: Austrian Airlines

Title: "worst airline experience I have had"

Review: It's 8th days since I hand my family 6 baggages to Austrian Airlines and missing since then. I have been calling every day but they are not willing to provide update. This is the worst airline experience I have had. Austrian Airlines where's our baggage? We have the right to know.

Route: Vienna to Chicago

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: American Airlines

Title: "at least have the decency to be honest"

Review: American Airlines itself is a decent airline, but the fact that approx. 5 - 7% of their flights are direct flights is a capital crime. Almost every trip requires a connection, with about 85 - 90% of those connections being in Charlotte. It is kind of funny that lot of the budget airlines, like Spirit & Frontier among others offer a majority of direct travel all across Canada & The US. How is American Airlines not jumping on this. Honestly, a stopover is not bad, especially if you love flying, like I do. However with American, a stopover is a bittersweet thing. Firstly, a stopover could be anywhere 40 minutes to 1 hour. Hearing that you initially think "OK, not bad at all" then you have your first flight delayed for a bogus reason, rendering your connection pointless, which is frustrating. Frustration increases usually because with American Airlines, your first flight will be an evening flight, and after the delay, you get to your connection 1 hour late if not more, and you have to stay all night in the airport to get your connecting flight first thing in the morning. Yay! If you are lucky to get a representative at a ticket booth, which will be few & far between if that, you will be given some sort of miss-information in regards to why your flight was delayed. After finding out that upgrading my seat from aisle to window, would be $54, US as well. That's fun! American Airlines screws up and still wants to charge for trying to rectify the situation. Like us customer are the inconvenience. After saying no, I actually had a representative tell me "You can certainly book a flight with United" what kind of answer is that. Your airline messes up and your advice is have a customer pay more money with a different airline. Alright then! WiFi on American is not the best either, unless you are a Xfinity or Verizon member. If not, don't expect any internet access besides the American Airlines site allowing you to check other American Airlines flights to see your connecting flight is on time and knowing you will miss it. Prices for WiFi on the airline range from $15 - $20, just to use the WiFi on 1 device only. Oh Joy! I do realize airlines screw up sometimes, it's a part of travel. The whole "it's about the journey, not the destination" thing. However, at least have the decency to be honest with customers about what is going on and try to accommodate them. The very least you can do is try to keep the customer. At least with your own airline. As much as I love flying, a direct flight is certainly better than this headache I endured. American, please get your stuff together. Remember, you are not the only airline in the skies. Simply put, I almost missed a friend's wedding because of the American Airlines headache.

Route: Atlanta to Detroit via Charlotte

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thai Lion Air

Title: "the trip was really good"

Review: Denpasar to Bangkok. Our flight was perfect, check in was 5 minutes, departed on time, crew were polite, arrived on time. Plane was not super comfortable but was fine with sufficient leg space. Considering the flight cost us 100 dollars the trip was really good.

Route: Denpasar to Bangkok

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "ruined my whole trip"

Review: Amsterdam to Delhi. I never got my baggage and the airline staff had no information about it. The staff said I will be contacted on any updates about it but never heard anything from them. They have ruined my whole trip.

Customers have to take care of their baggage on their own.

Route: Amsterdam to Delhi

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Thomas Cook Airlines

Title: "seats extremely uncomfortable"

Review: Manchester to Los Angeles. We flew premium outbound and economy inbound as no premium seats available. Premium ok for what we paid and tolerable for 11 hour flight. Economy seats extremely uncomfortable despite having exit seats. Don't recline, narrow and not tall enough for tall people. On both legs, food portions and type were inadequate for the length of the journey. We were hungry. Not enough drinks service. Lights are put out and you're encouraged to sleep. Only pro is cost in comparison to other airlines, direct flight and on time. Staff were fine.

Route: Manchester to Los Angeles

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Uzbekistan Airways

Title: "it proved to be a fine experience"

Review: I flew from KL to Tashkent economy class, 7.5 hours each way, departing late November 2019 and returning mid December 2019. I had some apprehension about the flight but it proved to be a fine experience. The well experienced 767s were smooth and comfortable and on the first flight had a rudimentary IFE system which had its quirks that nearly resulted in a finger tip blister! (On the return flight on another 767 there was no seat back screen but instead had roof mounted screens that were quite useless). The cabin crew were friendly and the meal service was very adequate and I certainly wasn't hungry afterwards. Perhaps because of the age of the aircraft I felt that there was more room as they had a 2-3-2 seating configuration and on both flights there were many unused seats and even complete center rows of 3 seats left vacant for sleepers had I wanted to. All in all a good experience with Uzbekistan Airways.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Tashkent

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Korean Air

Title: "business class product is sub-par"

Review: Auckland to Seoul. I found a lot of the business class service systems of Korean Air quite odd; whilst the crew were polite and responsive, they are working within a set system that means their business class product is sub-par. For example, your menu - which includes the wine list - is taken off you immediately after departure, so you cannot refer back to it. This makes ordering wine particularly difficult. Another thing is that if you order the Korean meal options, then you are deprived of the additional food - such as a soup starter, and bread - that people ordering Western meal options receive. They are not even offered, and as a result, I was starving after my small bowl of rice porridge; I've never been left hungry after a meal, even in Economy class. There was no indication of what snacks were on offer; luckily I was sitting next to a frequent flier and he kept ordering interesting snacks and so I followed suit. On a 12 hour, day-time flight, during which two meals were served, there were only two 'drink runs' by the crew - and they were both during the second meal service. I had to constantly request a drink, and at one stage even went to the galley to see what types of wine were available. I really didn't like this approach to service; I much rather have the drinks offered, rather than have to proactively request for them. However, this seems to be the way they do things - you won't be offered anything beyond the bare minimum, but staff are happy to respond if you do request things. The IFE was poor - a very limited selection of main-stream movies, and little in the way of reading materials. The seat was comfortable, and the cabin was spotless - including the toilets which were regularly cleaned. So whilst the hard product was good, and the service was polite and efficient, I really felt it was a 'bare bones' service culture and therefore, I did not feel pampered or spoilt, as I usually do in Business class. It really felt they were trying to minimise costs by keeping the food and drink away from the public eye.

Route: Auckland to Seoul

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Eastern Airlines

Title: "did not see a single flight attendant"

Review: Bangkok to Shanghai. I received an email message from the airlines stating that my flight was canceled and for me to contact them. In the email they sent me, they never provided a contact number. I had to google for their website and contact number. I called them more than 15 times on different occasion and all I got was answering machine with no option to leave a message. The email they sent me says do not reply as it was sent through an auto-messaging system. It was difficult to reach them through the phone. I have no other option but wait until I get to the airport and talk to them in person. When I get to the airport and ask them to issue me a new itinerary since the original one was canceled by the airline. They still can't help me but provide me with another phone number to call customer services. I finally got a new itinerary for my flight with China Eastern. The flight was a little more than 4 hours. The minute we boarded the plane, I can feel the air inside the plane was extremely warm. I thought the Flight Attendant will turn on the air conditioner once the plane starts to leave the tarmac but they did not. I waited for a long time for the Flight Attendant to come down the aisle so I can ask them to turn on the AC but I did not see one came by. I looked for a call button on my chair but did not find one since it was so dark in the plane. I waited for a long time no flight attendant came down the aisle. I felt exhausted and fall back to sleep. I sat in the middle seat so it was hard for me to climb over another passenger to find the Flight Attendant. On my way to the lavatory, I tried to look for a flight attendant and hopefully have them turn on the AC but did not see a single flight attendant around. Its been like this throughout the entire flight. We were never offered drinks or meals. The seats are tiny. Even with my arms close to my body, my arms still rubbed by other passengers sitting next to me.

Route: Bangkok to Shanghai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Swoop

Title: "Checkin system seats everyone in the back"

Review: Checkin system seats everyone in the back. Upon boarding, the flight is delayed because they have to shuffle passengers to the front of the plane because of a weight imbalance. Safety first right. Just a coincidence how all the front seats are more $$ to sit in then the back and people dont wana pay to sit in the front so the system seats 90% passengers in the back. So we spend 10 minutes shuffling passengers from the back free seats to the front paid seats then the flight is delayed due to a airport issue. Go figure. Profits over safety is the underlying moto for all low cost airlines.

Route: Edmonton to Kelowna

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Airways

Title: "Avoid Jetstar!"

Review: An absolute disgrace. Less then 5 hours before the flight was due to leave, the flight was cancelled. The only other "alternative" flight involved an overnight stopover in Sydney. Avoid Jetstar!

Route: Melbourne to Gold Coast

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: AirAsia

Title: "I will never take AirAsia again"

Review: I will never take AirAsia again if there is a choice. Worst ever airlines I have ever experienced. They rescheduled my flight and changed me and my kids' seating from first row (hot seat) to a normal seat in the back row. And there is no refund for this change. I tried to chat in Airasia App multiple times but the only response I got was 'we are experiencing technical issue, please try again later.' It is really frustrating when the planned schedule was simply changed by AirAsia and the seat row (I bought first seat for the comfort of me and my kids as I was travelling without husband) was changed to normal seat. And is there is no refund for this row change.

Route: Bangkok to Kuching via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "worst service ever"

Review: Riga to Bordeaux. Terrible airline, worst service ever, humiliating experience! Don't recommend anyone this airline, but especially if you are musician. Stay away from them.

Route: Riga to Bordeaux

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Sriwijaya Air

Title: "flights are outdated"

Review: Sorong to Makassar. This month, I flew four times with this airline and and all four times we started late. The delay was on average one hour. The flights are outdated and the food was not good either.

Route: Sorong to Makassar

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "Everything went smooth"

Review: I was pleasantly surprised by level of service and experience on this flight. Everything went smooth, food was very tasty, great choices of dishes and beverages. Overall, staff was very helpful always trying to accommodate the customer needs

Route: Warsaw to Phuket via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Go First

Title: "Most horrible airline"

Review: Most horrible airline. Rescheduled flight 3 times on the day of departure before finally cancelling it. Had to book an Indigo flight at the last moment for double the price to get back to work. Am really ashamed that the government allows this so called airline to operate in India.

Route: Kolkata to Bangalore

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Sunwing Airlines

Title: "all-round bad organisation"

Review: Montreal to Puerto Plata. Delayed 11 hours, short of staff and just all-round bad organisation. Sat on the plane for 3 hours after 5 hours delayed in the airport only to be moved back to the airport for another 3 hours. Will not be booking with them again.

Route: Montreal to Puerto Plata

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Royal Air Maroc

Title: "I would recommend this airline"

Review: This review relates to the second Royal Air Maroc flight I took, on a Boeing 737-800 from Casablanca to Paris Orly Airport. The gate staff were rather bureaucratic and unfriendly and I saw one staff member walk away from an elderly woman who needed and asked for assistance. Boarding was fairly orderly and one gained the impression of a very clean and nicely set out interior reflecting Moroccan designs and culture. The crew were a little cold but very correct in terms of their service. It was great to see a proper breakfast served to the passengers. My concern was that a clearly very sick woman was allowed to board the flight. She hardly stopped coughing for the entire duration of the flight and did not use a face mask at all. The captain did not give much information and announcements were made only in Arabic and French. Disembarkation was via a bridge and there were some uniformed RAM staff waiting to assist needy passengers. Overall this was a good experience and I would recommend this airline without hesitation!

Route: Casablanca to Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Royal Brunei Airlines

Title: "staff were so polite and pro-active"

Review: London to Bandar seri Begawan via Dubai. I was so pleased but the service and hospitality being given to us. The cabin staff were so polite and pro-active to provide service and help. Foods and drinks were supplied adequately. I strongly recommend travellers to take an experience of flying from it.

Route: London to Bandar seri Begawan via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Norse Atlantic Airways

Title: "my bag was too large"

Review: I booked two Norse Airlines flights and it is doubtful that I will ever be booking another one. A great budget airline if nothing goes wrong; however, any complaint will go unresolved. My flight from NYC to London Gatwick was all right. You can only receive your official Norse boarding pass 2-3 hours before your flight actually arrives, so expect to be waiting in yet another line at the airport. The movie selection changes often and is lackluster compared to most other airlines. To their credit: they are a budget airline. If you're flying Norse, the goal is to get from point A to point B as cheaply as possible. At least that was my goal, and it was going great! That is until I tried to fly from Berlin to my home country of the United States. Here's where my real complaint begins. At Norse, you are at the mercy of the employee who gives you your official boarding pass (if something goes wrong, you're on your own because they have very few staff members to help you). After waiting in the Norse line for ~1 hour, they finally began signaling for prospective passengers to receive boarding passes. Unfortunately, I approached the most unfriendly woman I have met in my entire life (and I worked in food service for 2 years). From the beginning, she was impatient and rude, rolling her eyes when I asked simple questions and asked if she spoke English. Then she proceeded to claim that my bag was too large to count as a personal item. I was backpacking in Europe for 22 days and boarded multiple flights using budget airlines like easyJet and Ryanair. My backpack fit in all personal item containers, including the Norse Airlines' container from NYC to London Gatwick. It is also worth mentioning that all 3 of my travel companions (with the same size backpacks) were met with Norse employees who happily provided them with personal item tags. This service worker charged me $65 and classified my bag as a carry-on item (it also fit underneath my seat on the flight). When asked for her employee ID number so I could file a complaint, she declined.

Route: Berlin to New York JFK

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Omni Air International

Title: "no leg room in comfort class"

Review: Honolulu to Las Vegas. I purchased a first-class as I have a disability and overweight. The seat was so small I made to sit sideways the entire flight. On my return flight, I changed seats to sit in comfort class, that was a joke. I felt unsafe on both flights as we had no leg room in comfort class and no room in first class. The people I changed seats with said that they would never pay for first class on this airline again. All in all, this was the biggest mistake I ever made, this was a joke. I felt the staff were wonderful, the service was great, but that's where it stopped. Just to let you know how bad my first-class seat was when I got to Las Vegas I could not walk for 2 days. I don't write reviews but this was so bad I thought you needed to know.

Route: Honolulu to Las Vegas

Seat Type: First Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Tahiti Nui

Title: "flight crew was excellent"

Review: The best airline I have flown with. Everything was as expected for business class. The seats were to die for! I actually slept and I never sleep on a plane. The flight crew was excellent and the landing was the best Ive experienced. Definitely recommend flying with them.

Route: Los Angeles to Papeete

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: British Airways

Title: "downright rude and abusive"

Review: Obviously many airlines have gone downhill in recent years. Prices have increased and services have gone down. The most disappointing thing about BA is that aspects that really dont need to get worse have. The check in staff at Heathrow are downright rude and abusive, shouting at passengers to line here and there and rolling their eyes if passengers get confused with the constant shouting and bullying. Airlines are now competing globally more and more and this behaviour is particularly noticeable in Asia where the service industry is next level. I wouldnt want to suggest that all the staff are like this and many younger employees are polite and helpful. However there were a couple of older staff that were downright rude and obnoxious.

Route: London to Hong Kong

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: American Eagle

Title: "service was adequate"

Review: The service was adequate, food (beef salad) was adequate. Equipment old and tired. Cabin crew friendly. However, there appears to be something jinxed about this flight. Second time in 18 months we have flown this route and both times significant delays. This time it was 90 minutes. The frustrating aspect was the number of gate changes; six of them (three of them in the last 60 minutes before departure), the same number as the last time.

Route: DFW to QRO

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Omni Air International

Title: "the comfort was amazing"

Review: Malaga to Birmingham. Originally a Monarch Airlines flight, this was operated by Omni Air International chartered in by the CAA. The aircraft was excellent, and spotless and the comfort was amazing. However the reason for my review is the excellent staff. They were kind, polite, helpful, considerate and lovely people, it was only a short flight from Malaga to Birmingham but we all said that we wished it was a longer flight, they gave us drinks and the most lovely toasted sandwiches which were fantastic. Please pass on the thanks of the passengers and myself.

Route: Malaga to Birmingham

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Emirates

Title: "treat every passenger the same"

Review: When travelling from Dubai to Srilanka and from Srilanka to Dubai with Emirates and from London to Dubai and Dubai to London is travelling with 2 different Airlines. Aircraft, the service, food is 1st class when travelling from Europe but completely different services when travelling to Srilanka. I am requesting Emirates hierarchies to review this and treat every passenger the same. Honestly I thought I was travelling with EASYJET when I travelled from Srilanka to Dubai.

Route: London to Colombo via Dubai

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Insel Air

Title: "change our flight by 2 hours"

Review: Aruba to Bonaire via Curacao. We booked in April 2017 for a flight Feb 22 2018. By chance I decided to look at the flight schedule 2/14 and found it had change our flight by 2 hours so we would not make the connection. I got Insel to change us but given the late arrive into BON would not get our hotel to get us. So I tried to cancel only to find they sent me a clause: 9.2 CANCELLATION AND DELAYS 9.2.1 InselAir will take all necessary measures to avoid delay in carrying you and your baggage but times shown on timetables or elsewhere are not guaranteed and form no part of the agreement. Insel Air may at its own discretion, with or without notice and in order to prevent a flight cancellation, substitute alternate carriers or aircraft and if necessary may alter, add or omit stopping places shown on the ticket or itinerary. Schedules are subject to change without notice. InselAir is not responsible for or liable for failure to make connections or to operate any flight according to schedule or for a change to the schedule of any flight. Under no circumstances shall InselAir be liable for any special, incidental or consequential damages arising from the foregoing. I did not read the contract of carriage, no 1 does. Anyway no refund.

Route: Aruba to Bonaire via Curacao

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: United Airlines

Title: "seats did not recline"

Review: Paid to upgrade our seats and felt like we got a downgrade because our seats did NOT recline. Supposed to have been electronic device charging stations between the seats and there weren't any on the plane at all. One of your flight attendants was very rude! Will NEVER fly this airline again. There was also supposed to be onboard WiFi and it wouldn't work either.

Route: San Francisco to Indianapolis

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Italy

Title: "no apologies for the delay"

Review: Miami to Cairo via Milan. I purchased through Orbitz Economy Premium for my trip with them. My ticket said that I can check-in up to two luggage and I will have priority boarding. When I got to the airport I was denied to check in two luggage even though both of my luggage were under 50 lbs each and that my ticket said that I can check two luggage. The Air Italy staff told me that they have a policy which says that I can only check in one luggage if I am heading to Cairo. After waiting for more than 40 minutes, the head of staff came in and let me check in my two luggage and said to me that there was a confusion about this. There were no apologies for the delay. During boarding, I went and staying in the priority line but the staff started checking in regular economy before they got to us.

Route: Miami to Cairo via Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Japan Airlines

Title: "best airline I have traveled with"

Review: I traveled back and forth from Paris to Tokyo with Japan Airlines and it is by far the best airline I have traveled with. I am a great traveler, since I work in tourism. I found the staff at check-in and on board, welcoming, helpful, attentive and available. The meal trays were plentiful and very good as well as the snacks between each service. Finally the space between the seats is wide, which allows the legs to unfold well, the size of the screen was also perfect. I have traveled pleasantly, I would take over this company without hesitation and for my customers too. FR: J'ai voyagé en aller/retour Paris -Tokyo avec Japan Airlines et c'est de loin la meilleure compagnie avec laquelle j'ai voyagé. Je suis une grande voyageuse, puisque je travaille dans le tourisme. J'ai trouvé le personnel à l'enregistrement et à bord, accueillant, serviable, à l'écoute et disponible. Les plateaux repas étaient copieux et très bons ainsi que les en-cas entre chaque prestation. Enfin l'espace entre les sièges est large, ce qui permet de bien dérouler ses jambes, la taille de l'écran était parfait également. J'ai agréablement voyagé, je reprendrais cette compagnie sans hésitation et pour mes clients également.

Route: Paris to Tokyo Haneda

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Kenya Airways

Title: "they decided to cancel the flight"

Review: We boarded Kenya Airways to Seychelles at 3.45am from Dar es Salaam to catch our flight to the Seychelles at 8.15am. We reached Nairobi to find out that our flight has been delayed to 2pm without any notification. When we argued about the 8 hour plus delay, they offered us a croissant and tea. After spending 8 hours, they further delayed the flight to 4pm without any notification. When argued again they called the manager and the manager didnt do anything except tell us its a technical issue. The truth was that they didnt have enough passengers so they decided to cancel the flight.

Route: Dar es Salaam, Tanzania to Mahe, Seychelles

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Brussels Airlines

Title: "another unpleasant experience with this company"

Review: The flight had a delay of nearly 40 minutes - that was entirely caused by the fact a large group of passengers from a connecting flight from Africa was boarding. One attendant at the gate had to do an inspection of all the passports, boarding passes and vaccination proofs or covid corona tests for a fully booked plane. All the passengers were taking far too many and too heavy cabin bags on board so some had be checked in as extra luggage. FA had to do a lot of work. Flight was smooth - at the airport in Hamburg another delay: 50 minutes waiting for the luggage - Once again another unpleasant experience with this company.

Route: Brussels to Hamburg

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Berlin

Title: "do not recommend Air Berlin"

Review: San Francisco to Munich. I started flying with Air Berlin from Germany to the US for business during a period of strikes by Lufthansa. I did a few flights with them with a few minor problems (delayed flights, delayed luggage); I kept using them as I had already a bunch of miles and a gold status, but the last one was very bad and is the last drop. Connecting in Berlin will require you to change terminals by walking outside and going over security again. Their lounges are so bad that are almost always worse than the comparable regular waiting areas from better airlines. A lot of their web site is not working, specially if you are accesing it from outside of Germany. Their phone app is buggy and of very limited functionality. It is very hard to get hold of them on the phone, you have to navigate a maze of menus to get there and then wait for long periods of time. Their phone service is very fragmented, once I get to talk with someone it often happens that he or she can not do what I need and I need to call again. My average has been four calls to get anything done; this is in total with waiting and menu navigation about 45 minutes. Their phone service is not 24 hours, if you are in a different time zone than Germany you may have to actually wake up in the middle of the night to call. It is practically impossible to make use of miles for flight upgrades in their own flights. It is effectively impossible to use their miles to upgrade or buy any service from other airlines on the network. Booking an award fligh on their own flights requires you to call them, again, this is difficult; you cannot do it online. My last return flight was cancelled and I arrived with a 12 hour delay back home, losing a whole work day; they didn't offer lounge access during my 12 hour wait at the San Francisco airport. Now they are delaying and dragging their feet with lots of bureaucracy to pay the compensation mandated by EU regulations. This is just what I can remember in one go, the list can go on. I definitely do not recommend using Air Berlin.

Route: San Francisco to Munich

Seat Type: Premium Economy

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Airlink

Title: "wouldn't fly this airline again"

Review: There was a single person manning the counters at check-in. My bags were overweight so was directed to another counter to pay for the excess which is no issue. But that took 20 mins as they kept allowing other customers in front of the line. In flight food was a joke. Now have been waiting at the baggage conveyor for over 30 mins and no bags have come out. I expect this is due to the fact we arrived earlier than scheduled and were redirected to a parking bay other than the one designated for us and therefore assume this has caused some confusion and delay with the luggage being off loaded and reclaimed. I wouldn't fly this airline again to be honest.

Route: Durban to Johannesburg

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "recommend this with reservations"

Review: I was a bit wary reading the reviews here after I purchased my one way ticket (I usually book a round trip with one airline but I booked two one way tickets due to the holiday period). Check in crew was fine and had no problems checking my prepaid bag in. Boarding process was a lot less orderly than Southwest and the seating was tight (Avelo does acquire used 737-700s from SWA, but uses another airline to buy 737-800s). I knew they didnt have snacks so that didnt bother me. But the flight was bumpy due to the weather and flight attendants were ok. The flight was on time, I made it in one piece and my bag was fine. I recommend this with reservations since they keep SWA competitive pricing wise.

Route: Raleigh to Orlando

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Tigerair Australia

Title: "arrived 8 hrs 3 mins late"

Review: Hobart to Melbourne. We arrive at afternoon 1:30pm to check in. Only one hour trip and we arrived 8 hrs 3 mins late. The airplane delay till middle night time 12. When we went to asked staff reason, they said that Tigerair Australia is budget airline. So what? Budget doesn't mean terrible and unavailable.

Route: Hobart to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: LAN Airlines

Title: LAN Airlines customer review

Review: Flew from Santiago de Chile to Easter Island and back and from Santiago to Frankfurt, Germany in Business Class on Boeing 767 and Boeing 787. On all of the flights, announcements in the boarding area were in Spanish only, even at an International flight. Inflight reading material (Newspapers, Magazines) as well only in Spanish. Flight to Easter Island was very poor service, for almost 6 hours flight - 1 Omelette and that not of any decent quality. No additional offers of anything. Cabin crew enjoyed apparently their free time. On return flight and the intercontinental flight, service was good.

Route: Santiago de Chile to Easter Island and back and from Santiago to Frankfurt, Germany

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Air Niugini

Title: "dont trust the airline to compensate"

Review: The outbound journey was delayed 10 hours in Port Moresby. The delayed flight was organised to leave at 2am, however no ground staff at airport were organised, so we sit on tarmac until ground staff arrive at 5am. The return flight from Pohpei was supposed to leave Pohnpei at 2 am and actually left 9.45am. I turned up to airport at 2 am and found out the flight was rescheduled to 9.45am. I contacted AirNuigini twice via email prior to departure to confirm that no changes had been made. I received an email saying that your servers were not working. I was not contacted about this change, but others on the flight all new about this change a week before, as they had booked flights only a week earlier. Therefore, you new about the changes a week earlier, did not advise me or even book me on the forward leg of the journey. The flight leaves Pohnpei at 9.45am, but we are not booked on the continuing flight from Port Moresby to Brisbane. This flight leaves half empty, and several passengers are not booked on this flight because Quants reservations are not open on Sunday. People who booked the week earlier are however on the flight. We were then sent to Sydney Airport and a connecting flight arranged to Brisbane. When we land in Sydney, Qantas advise us that Air Nuigini connection to Brisbane is illegal because there is less than an hour between flights. The checkin had closed and there are no more flights that day. We are then stranded at Sydney Airport with no contact available from either Quantas or Airi Nugini. We then go to Flight Centre and are told there is only one flight left to Brisbane at a cost of $800. Some passengers take this option, but I dont trust the airline to compensate me. So I am stranded with nobody to contact In Sydney at 7pm at night. Luckily some stranger took pity on me and let me sleep on their couch for the night. I contacted your airline in the morning and I was rebooked to Brisbane at 11am with Qantas. Qantas then advised that my 2 bags of 15kg were subject to excess baggage fee of $70. Eventually I got home at 12pm in Brisbane.

Route: Brisbane to Pohnpei

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Malindo Air

Title: "hard to recommend this airline"

Review: Bangkok to Kuala Lumpur. This flight run 4 hours late, causing me to miss my connecting flight also with Malindo Air to Perth. ON inquiring with a representative of Malindo Air in Bangkok Airport, I was told there was nothing they could do, and I would have to wait to sort things out when I got to KL airport. They did give me a letter stating the plane had been delayed, I would have thought they could have made arrangements before I arrived in KL though. On arrival in KL I went straight to the transfer desk. As i discussed the issue with your representative a very dissatisfied mob formed behind me, while a very upset elderly lady experienced a massive misunderstanding with another Malindo representative. In time, things were sorted for me, and a hotel, food and a flight the next morning was organized which was great. However I didn't reach my hotel until over four hours later. Some staff were very good, however, it became obvious that processes and staff training were in need of being fine tuned. After only 4 hours at my hotel i was driven back to the airport very early. Jay at KL was very helpful, and although he assured me my luggage would be handled by them, when arriving in Perth later that day, there was no sign of it. I arranged to have it sent to my address, however, this didn't happen, Instead, it was flown to Albany airport where I had to drive an hour there and back to pick it up. While on the flight from KL to Perth I found the crew to be less than helpful. I had paid for a meal, including a drink of water for the second flight that I had missed because of the delayed flight. I showed them evidence of this, but they still argued about providing me with a meal. I also outlined the bigger picture. They were still very reluctant to provide me with the meal I had paid for. They tried to tell me that the document I was showing them was for the cost of the flight. It was an add on, which it clearly stated. They even told me i should not be arguing with them. All i was doing was asking to have a meal provided that was paid for. Under the circumstances, it would have been wise to make it complimentary anyway. (the food was horrible) Even though the airline did some good things and some of their staff performed well; late flights, (yes the second flight didn't run on time either), lost luggage, argumentative staff, and slow processes its makes it incredibly hard to recommend this airline.

Route: Bangkok to Perth via Kuala Lumpur

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Akasa Air

Title: "Very happy with Akasa Air"

Review: Very happy with Akasa Air services. This is the 2nd time I've flown from Agartala to Guwahati and vice versa and was happy to note that both ground and onboard staff were helpful, courteous and well trained and maintained their standards. They had ontime departure and the aircraft was clean and seemed new. I would fly it again.

Route: Agartala to Guwahati

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Lufthansa

Title: "Second time Ive had problems"

Review: For reasons of bad weather we were redirected to Nuremberg, we are now sitting on the tarmac for over an hour, waiting. No water is being passed out, the engine has been turned off and we are sweating like pigs. Complete silence. Second time Ive had problems with this airline.

Route: Bologna to Munich

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: China Southern Airlines

Title: "demonstrated great hospitality"

Review: It's a brilliant journey to travel with CZ308 of China Southern Airline from Amsterdam to Guangzhou. Ground and Cabin staff service demonstrated great hospitality, they were really willing to help. Treating everyone nicely and giving instructions as detail as they can, which I appreciate so much during this pandemic. Great thanks to all the staff.

Route: Amsterdam to Guangzhou

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: TAP Portugal

Title: "tried to charge us for seats we already paid for"

Review: Its a shame that I had an amazing experience in Porto however not with the airline staff checking me in. The young lady was very rude and took the smaller bag that was only 9 kilos and checked it before the bigger bag with 3 kilos overweight. She didnt give me a bag ticket for the smaller bag. Put it on the belt to go to the cargo. I asked her to wait so I can put other items in the lesser weighting bag and she told me to bad. So unprofessional, how can you take my bag and then ask me to move so I can take items without giving me a ticket. She told me I can pay 130 euros but usually with an airline that would do something like this they would take the total weight. Give you the opportunity to fix your bags but not with the young lady serving me at TAP Portugal. She also tried to charge us for seats we already paid for in advance. Shame to have such a bad taste at the end of my trip. I would come to Portugal again but on a different airline.

Route: Porto to Newark

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Kuwait Airways

Title: "my experience was great"

Review: Manila to Kuwait, my experience was great. The staff were very friendly at ground and throughout the journey. The seat was very comfortable and the leg room was great. The food was great and plenty. The entertainment system was good but could use some improvement in more variety of movies and music. All in all I would say it is 9/10 but considering the ticket price.

Route: Manila to Kuwait

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jet Airways

Title: "aircraft was deplorable"

Review: Toronto to Delhi via Amsterdam. The condition of aircraft was deplorable, 20+ hrs journey no entertainment system was provided, and the staff neither good either. They were having fun mingling amongst themselves, instead of serving and taking care of customers. Wont ever fly again, and not like they seem to be in business anytime soon.

Route: Toronto to Delhi via Amsterdam

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: ZIPAIR

Title: "ZIPAIR staff seem clueless"

Review: This is a warning about checkin at Narita. The self checkin machines dont work. If you are not automatically checked in by the airline, dont bother trying to use these machines. We were sent on a run around by their ground staff and by the time they tried to help us self checkin, there was a huge line for the counter. Fortunately we got to the airport early. The ZIPAIR staff seem clueless & kept asking folk to use the self check in. Not typical Japanese efficiency. I guess you get what you pay for. Note too that biz class doesnt have a separate checkin line. Id recommend this airline only because they have the cheapest lie flat biz class seats on this route

Route: Tokyo to Singapore

Seat Type: Business Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: S7 Siberia Airlines

Title: "onboard the product is quite good"

Review: Moscow to Samara with S7. Staff at check-in don't speak much English but the service is quite efficient. Outbound flight delayed with minimal communication - eventual boarding via bus was particularly unpleasant in the Moscow snow. Onboard the product is quite good - reasonable legroom for a 1h30m flight. One bar service (juices, water and hot drinks) and a decent sandwich. Staff onboard spoke English and all annoucements in Russian and English. Return trip identical and again good - would recommend for short domestic flights.

Route: DME to KUF

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: Pobeda Airlines

Title: "read the rules and conditions"

Review: Berlin Tegel to Moscow Vnukovo. The cheapest ticket doesn't include any checked luggage and only a small piece of hand luggage. There's a possibility to buy checked luggage in advance - but no such feature for hand luggage! According to this - a person travelling with, for example, a medium-size backpack, should drop it at check-in. Well - it's OK for a LCC to omit any luggage for the cheapest ticket, but why not to let additionally buying an option for large hand luggage? So, if you're travelling with anything bigger than a purse, it's strongly recommended to buy an item of checked luggage in advance - because at check-in desk this will be very costly. Online check-in is tedious, with lots of advertising (do you want to buy an insurance policy? to assign a seat? etc..) One needs to visit the check-in desk for dropping big hand luggage off, for visa check - so a very long queue occurred. Surprisingly, but currently they don't coerce passengers to online check-in as it used to be some months ago - it's also free at check-in desk, but they also accept mobile boarding passes. Tegel terminal C, disorganized, with enormous queues anywhere - is a real nightmare, but that's not Pobeda's fault. They don't provide any meal service onboard, one cannot buy anything, even snacks - some passengers complained on it. Only drinking water is served. However, the aircraft is new and tidy, the seats are acceptable (Ryanair-like), though not reclining, the ground and cabin crew are polite and helpful. As for me, there were too much announcements, especially about smoking prohibition - this was repeated more than 5 times. Usually the flights are punctual, but this time we had a small delay (30 min), due to heavy traffic at VKO, I guess. Generally - for such a price the product is absolutely acceptable. The only recommendation - before the flight read the rules and conditions carefully, in order not to goof.

Route: Berlin Tegel to Moscow

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Jetstar Pacific

Title: "delay flight for over 10 hours "

Review: Raratonga to Auckland. Nearly left us stranded on the Cook Islands after delaying a flight for over 10 hours due to crew issues - something fully in their control. Zero communication before arriving at the airport (no SMS, no email). Nearly ruined our honeymoon, except for the fact that we could buy a ticket on New Zealand for an extra $800. JetStar did not attempt to make this right by me.

Route: RAR to AKL

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: flydubai

Title: "airport staff were friendly"

Review: Will fly again. The flight was on time and the airport staff were friendly. In-flight food and services was good. Since I'm short, leg space didn't matter much, but even a taller person would have found it comfortable. I'd travel with Flydubai again if I am visiting Dubai again.

Route: Dubai to Tel Aviv

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Wizz Air

Title: "worst company I have traveled with"

Review: Several hours before the flight we find that electronic check in is not available, as the online system does not complete the process. Arriving at the airport 2.5 hours before the scheduled departure, we are informed that the electronic check in is already closed and can only be done at a counter and after an additional payment of 45 eur / person. To our protest about the unfair and disgraceful charge and the complete lack of relevant information, the employee replied ironically that if we want to fly we have to pay the extra amount. To pay we had to wait at another counter with a huge queue and then back to the first counter to check in, where now only two employees (one of them extremely rude) served the 400 people who were anxiously waiting to catch their flight. While we were waiting, in the queue we realized that many of our fellow passengers had also fallen victim to the same fraud. To top off all the hassle and the charge of 90 Eur (2 people) was the additional delay of the flight for about an hour. Probably the worst company I have traveled with in the last 10 years.

Route: Athens to Milan

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Avelo Airlines

Title: "do not fly Avelo"

Review: Agree with other reviewer, worst experience ever flying. Flight was delayed for 4 hours then cancelled last minute. Leaving us all stranded in Eugene. We were all told that another flight would not be available for another 2 days! Several other passengers had been canceled the 3 days previously 3 times cancelled in a row!! 2 of these were young girls flying alone and were sobbing in the airport after hearing they were being cancelled for a 3rd time. No offer of help from the gate agent, he said he didnt work for Avelo. Hundreds of additional $$$ spent on a hotel for that night (flight was cancelled at 8:00 pm) taxis and cost of 2 flights home the next day, we couldn't wait 2 days for a flight home as we have jobs, children, pets in boarding, and lives to get back to. Hours upon hours spent on the phone trying to reach customer service (what a joke!) to then be told by a surly agent that you have to email in a claim, not call it in. Have heard nothing in nearly 2 weeks after we went in our email claim, nothing. Called them again and asked for management, was told the managers name but he does not take phone calls. The moral of the story here is you get what you pay for do not fly Avelo. On the plus side, Avelo did distribute a generic email offering us $100 worth of travel credit towards a future flight with them.

Route: Eugene to Burbank

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Air Dolomiti

Title: "lost baggage reports is disgraceful"

Review: Air Dolomiti's customer service and handling lost baggage reports is disgraceful and is a display of the ultimate incompetence of one airline to it's customers belongings. On a long business trip after a flight from Frankfurt to Verona the bag is missing for almost two weeks, Air Dolomiti is putting not even a minor effort to find it or at least reply all the emails. All you can get from Air Dolomiti, after following their lost and found procedures from their website and submitting all their claim forms, baggage content forms and costs reimbursement forms, is a generic email reply. Which gives you no updates, no reimbursement confirmation, no deadlines, no phone number to call. They just don't want to bother. Very frustrating for any traveller as their customers.

Route: Frankfurt to Verona

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "Terrible service!"

Review: Riga to Oslo. Terrible service! All passengers checked and charged 60 euro for overweight, even if only 1kg, jackets, pocket contents and the book in your hand included. Passengers that took their clothes on accused by the company representative for being childish. If checking in less than one hour before departure you get charged 35 extra euros.

Route: Riga to Oslo

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Monarch Airlines

Title: "herded around like cattle"

Review: Birmingham to Fuerteventura. Flight was delayed for nearly 4 hours, we were boarded onto an aircraft that had flown in with a known fault so we sat in our seats with technicians running around for 1.5 hours, we were then disembarked given a £5 voucher and sent back to departures. Another aircraft was flown in and we finally departed at about 18.00 hours - original departure time should have been 14.15, arrived at destination airport 22.00 getting to hotel at 23.00. I had spent nearly an hour on the phone at Birmingham ringing the transfer company and hotel with updates as departure times kept changing,. We paid for priority boarding, that didn't happen on boarding either planes (when I queried this one of the cabin crew I was told not to ask), we expected to arrive mid evening, relax have a nice meal and start our holiday, instead we arrived absolutely shattered and went straight to bed. There was a lack of information, we were herded around like cattle, we should never have been boarded onto an aircraft with a known fault.

Route: Birmingham to Fuerteventura

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: Gulf Air

Title: "missed the connecting flight"

Review: I've flown with them on 25 Sep 2019, when the plane suffered from technical failure. We have to wait on the plane for 2 hours and the gate (another 3 hours). They provided us with sandwiches and beverages (which not enough). Service on the plane was no problem though. We arrived at Bahrain 6 hours late, thus I have missed the connecting flight, at least they gave us a hotel and meals. We forced to stay in Bahrain for 22 hours. They do have a flight to BKK in the morning but didn't relocate the seats to us.

Route: Frankfurt to Bangkok via Bahrain

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Adria Airways

Title: "very unpleasant experience"

Review: A very unpleasant experience for my family. We bought two return flights (Ljubljana-Prague-Ljubljana, Ljubljana-Warsaw-Ljubljana), and several days before departure both direct flights from and to Prague were canceled and a flight to Warsaw was merged with Prague flight (so added necessary stopover). Instead of a direct flight to Prague Adria Airways finally offered a transfer via Munich. When we arrived at the airport (21/6/2018), we found that the flight to Munich had more than an hour of delay, and therefore it was not possible to catch the next flight from Munich to Prague. The flight to Munich was full of people from the original canceled flight to Prague, who subsequently wanted to continue to Prague. Although the Adria Airways staff were present at the airport, no one came to inform the passengers and the result was tremendous confusion and lack of information. Ljubljana airport servicing staff finally informed us that Adria Airways staff refused to come! Also wasn't possible to call the Adria Airways hotline. Maybe it had been overloaded due to the number of disgruntled passengers because the next gate was full of people waiting for a delayed flight to Vienna, where there also wasn't anybody from Adria Airways who could provide any information. Unfortunately this flight left without us and we were all forced to ride from the Munich airport to a more than 30 km distant hotel and the next morning at 6am again back. Permanent cancellation of flights and subsequent ignorance of passengers are surely a way to reduce operating costs, but in the long-term this will cause the outflow of passengers to other airports around Slovenia, especially to Graz and to Zagreb.

Route: Ljubljana to Prague

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: bmi Regional

Title: "enjoyed the small plane experience"

Review: Stansted to Derry . Nice old fashioned regional airline! No extra charges for baggage, reserved seats or emergency exits. Comfortable regional jet in 1-2 configuration and plenty of leg room. Once flight attendant managed to serve the whole cabin with a complementary drink and snack an hour, offering second drinks before we landed. Very different to what we have become used to with other, larger airlines! The Embraer jet is small, and no it was not brand new but it departed and arrived on time and all in all, I enjoyed the small plane experience - no crowds, more leg room and a nice free G&T. I would recommend bmi Regional without hesitation.

Route: Stansted to Derry

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Couple Leisure

Airline: AirAsia X

Title: "if approved I will get my money back"

Review: Kuala Lumpur to Melbourne. Upgraded to flatbed only to be advised on boarding that the seats were double booked and sent back to cramped seats with no leg room. Advised I need to request them to investigate via e-form to get my monies returned. Told the investigation may take a week or so and then only if approved I will get my money back for a service they never supplied. So far its cost me $800.00 for nothing. Not sure if they will refund or not. Thought I would give them another chance this time, what a mistake that was.

Route: Kuala Lumpur to Melbourne

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Business

Airline: airBaltic

Title: "Soviet heritage customer service"

Review: Gatwick to Vilnius via Riga. Terrible customer service. We was denied our flight to Riga from Vilnius due to delay of their inbound flight from Gatwick. It was explained that we missed our last flight and should go to collect luggage and go to ticket office for travel re-arrangement. Lady in reception told that air Baltic offer for us can offer only ground transportation to Vilnius airport. When one gentleman asked for flight next day it was told that there is no chances to stay overnight ("no available hotels in Riga that night") and that all flights from Riga to Vilnius on next day are fully booked. Then after doubts how it can be that all flights and hotels are overbooked in Riga she told that probably there is 1 seat, then "maybe 3 seats" in morning flight, but hotel for sure she cannot book, and if we wish we can do it on our own money and then apply to refund of 70 EUR. When we started negotiate ground transfer, story continue very interesting way - it was told that cab cannot bring us to hotel/home address, only to drop off in Vilnius airport. After emotional complains why we need to go by cab to Vilnius airport and then back to city by taxi at 5AM, she firstly told that it is because our destination is Vilnius airport, and we will be delivered right here (even if it is after 4 hour drive and no taxi in Vilnius airport at that time). Then after 5 min of emotional discussion she once again changed her mind and told that OK, we may take taxi in Vilnius airport and then to submit receipt to refund. When we told that this is stupid, that we need to cross all city and then go back, she told that ok ok you may ask transfer driver to drop off in your destinations only if this is on way to airport. No consent was given to sign for us, just she gave voucher to driver, and that's it. Now I have problem with insurance company. I not even mention kindness words used like "sorry for inconvenience", "I will do my best" or any provision of refreshments, etc. When we finally asked surname (name was on card) of receptionist she told that this info she is not obliged to provide. So, all long story short - airBaltic represented as its best Soviet heritage of customer service with "Service provider always right" and "No, we can't" attitude. If you want this experience, you may try to travel with this airline. For me enough is enough! I chose airBaltic to London via Riga instead direct flights Vilnius-London with WIZZ and Ryanair because I was expecting more intelligent and kind attitude, and paid for it extra 100 EUR per ticket. How naive I was!

Route: Gatwick to Vilnius via Riga

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure

Airline: HOP!

Title: "staff were friendly and helpful"

Review: Couple of short flights with HOP! An Embraer to Paris then a Bombardier down to Perpignan. Both aircraft cabins were nice, staff were friendly and helpful and the snacks/drinks on board were satisfying. Flights were on time.

As a platinum cardholder my connection between CDG and ORY was without charge saving 23 Euro which is a really practical and helpful perk of Flying Blue membership, thanks Air France for that. I fly a lot with HOP! and they always do a good job, well done again!

Route: Newcastle to Perpignan via Paris

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Solo Leisure

Airline: Olympic Air

Title: "had to document the luggage for 40 euros"

Review: At check in, the agent reviewed our carry on luggage and said it was fine to take to the airplane. But the door another agent said it was too big and we had to document the luggage for 40 euros. We explained the situation but agents at the door keep ignoring us, just wanted the payment. The plane had many empty seats and a lot of room for carry on luggage but none of that matter.

Route: Thira to Athens

Seat Type: Economy Class

Traveller Type: Family Leisure
